FLOYDADA, FLOYD COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1938.

NUMBER 29

Light Vote Marks Election In Floyd County Saturday

Two-Thirds July Vote Registered In August Races

Tendency To "Pour It On" Incumbents Shown In Official Returns

A vote that was approximately two-thirds that registered in July marked Saturday's run-off primary in Floyd county, and a tendency to give the "outs" the advantage over the ins is indicated in the totals for all state offices.

Thirty Years Old, G. A. Jerry Sadler, Gregg county, aided by his redoubtable cousin, Harley of the same name, beat Judge C. V. Terrell, of Wise county, one of Texas' long successful and most resourceful campaigners, for the office of railroad commissioner.

Leaf Worm Loss Reported In Few Cotton Fields Here

County Agent Explains Ways Of Control By Poisoning Cotton Field

The leaf worm which has wrought considerable damage in a number of South Texas counties has invaded Floyd county and has begun its destructive march according to reports by farmers to County Agent D. F. Bredthauer this week.

In South Texas it is found that at least seven generations of this insect are found annually. The early brood of the worm by destroying the leaves of the cotton may prevent bolls from maturing.

For the first few days after a worm hatches it feeds on the under side of the leaves and eats clear through the leaves but leaves the upper skin. Then spots thus made turn brown and are early indications that worms are present.

It is recommended that Calcium arsenate be used for dusting or spraying on the cotton plants.

Mrs. Blanche Rutherford, Antelope teacher, was employed at Dougherty to fill the position of Miss Mary Ann Kimble, resigned.

The Antelope trustees purchased a small bus in order to transport the Antelope pupils to Dougherty.

This is the first time such an arrangement has been tried in Floyd county and in this case applies only for the school year 1938-39.

Nelson and Finley Winners In Local Run-Off Contest

Re-Elected Justice Of The Peace Precincts 2 And 3 D. C. Lowe

In a vote Saturday that was considerably lighter than on the last Saturday in July, H. J. Nelson, of Lakeview, was nominated for Commissioner of Precinct No. 4, over C. M. Lyles, W. L. Finley was chosen for weigher in Precincts 1 and 4 over Harold Terry, and D. C. Lowe

Election Party Draws Hundreds Sat. Night

The Hesperian's election party Saturday night drew hundreds of Floyd county people here to see the returns.

As the returns began to come in South Main street was blocked by interested spectators at the board.

The party was arranged at heavy expense to make it possible for Floyd county residents to obtain the results in Floydada, both on local and state races.

was re-elected justice of the peace in Precincts 2 and 3.

Unofficial returns give Lowe a majority of 2 to 1 over his opponent for justice of the peace, H. T. Prickett.

The unofficial figures in the three races are as follows:

For commissioner of precinct No. 4: Nelson, 209, Lyles 201;

For public weigher precincts 1 and 4: Finley 833, Terry 538;

For justice of the peace precincts 2 and 3: Lowe 362, Prickett 181.

Football Training Goes Ahead At Rapid Pace

Coach Odell Winter and Assistant Coach Brady Thomas continued this week to whip the 1938 Whirlwind aspirants into shape for the coming grid wars.

Skull practice was held each morning at 9 o'clock and continued until 11 o'clock. In the afternoon beginning at 1:30 o'clock the entire team suited out and got down to fundamentals of blocking, tackling, and handling the ball.

The boys have been shown only about four plays to date but last year's lettermen have their old plays in mind but not so the new ones.

Freddie Beard seems to be the shining light in the backfield in early practice with no particular standstill in the line since there has been considerable swapping about.

It is possible that there will be new faces in the Whirlwinds line up in the first game if some of the new hands continue to advance as rapidly as they have started.

Two lettermen, Martin and Gibbs, guards, had not reported for practice this week. Coach Winter said Wednesday afternoon.

The first game of the year with Slaton will be played at Slaton, contrary to reports that have been passing around. Although Floydada played there last year, a new contract was begun this year with the provision that the Whirlwinds would go there with Slaton here in '39.

Four Taken To State Reformatory By Sheriff

Sheriff Fred Clark left Tuesday for Gatesville where he took "Buck" Wilkins, Jesse Bell, W. V. Smith, and Billy Sears for confinement in the State Juvenile Training School.

The boys had been charged with being delinquent child by the county and had been found guilty in county court.

"Buck" Wilkins had plead guilty to the taking of $22 cash and a $3 check from the cash box belonging to Home Oil Company Friday night. The money was recovered.

Conference Tomorrow REA Plans

Rural Electrification Officers And Field Men To Go Over Plans

Beating time while the local organization is being perfected and office quarters arranged for, has been the principal occupation of the Floyd County Rural Electric cooperative this week.

Tuesday the directors in session named subject to approval a project supervisor and discussed other matters pertinent to rounding out their program. This program is expected to take electric energy to some 600 families in Floyd county at a cost of nearly $200,000.

A. H. Kreis, president of the organization, said that little in the way of publicity is available this week. "Most anything you say will not be of any value to our work at this time," he said. "Right now we do not need a lot of publicity."

However, it became known the committee had voted to employ L. W. Chapman as project supervisor subject to approval of the loaning agency, and Mr. Kreis said that tomorrow a state field representative of the Rural Electric administration will be here to confer with the directors of the Floyd county project.

At this time it is thought that approximately 90 per cent of the easements for high lines has been obtained, but all the proposed routings are subject to approval. The visit of the field man tomorrow is viewed as a beginning point for activities in this connection.

Activities of the highway department in and near Floydada during the next sixty or ninety days will proceed at a marked increase in tempo, it is indicated this week, and the highway department is putting a resident engineer here who will have general supervision of these activities. He is R. T. Roane and he comes here from Brownfield. Here are the jobs the department will carry forward this fall.

Construction of a division warehouse on recently acquired property in northwest Floydada to obviate the handicap under which the maintenance department has been operating since last September. First carload of materials for this job reached here yesterday. A. J. Hamilton, maintenance foreman said;

Bids will be received at Austin on this proposal on September 6, it is officially announced. Usually ten days to three weeks elapse before a work order is issued and the contractor gets to work on the ground on a job of this kind. A very good road is to be constructed. District Engineer G. M. Garrett has advised members of the commissioners court.

Sanitarium To Re-Open At Early Date With Dr. Guthrie In Charge

Dr. A. E. Guthrie this week announced he will re-open the Smith & Smith sanitarium on South Main street, recently acquired by Thos. Montgomery, and which has been completely re-conditioned.

Date on which the hospital will be opened had not been determined late yesterday, Dr. Guthrie said. New equipment, now being awaited, is to be added to the facilities at the hospital, Dr. Guthrie said. He expects to have an associate in the operation of the hospital but had no announcement on this to make.

Re-conditioning of the sanitarium was begun some 6 weeks ago and was completed last week at a cost of $1,000 or more.

Airplanes, Motorboats Are Banned By Law as Dove, Duck Hunting Time Arrives

Only Three Shells In Gun; Two In Magazine And One In Barrel

If there is a Floyd county hunter who plans to hunt doves in an airplane or ducks in a motorboat he had better change his plans because the game wardens will be hot on his heels as soon as it leaks out.

Also the hunter who plans to hunt with an eight-gauge shotgun, army rifle, 22 rifle, machine gun or repeating or automatic shotgun without a plug had better start building his bank account to pay heavy fines for the law says that "it just ain't done."

What To Do

The law says that Texas dove hunters may begin shooting mourning doves on September 1 and continue until October 31, provided the hunter begins not earlier than 7 a. m. and ceases firing at sundown of each day.

The hunter must also refrain from killing over 15 doves per day and while he is hunting he must have his magazine plugged with a wood or metal plug so that the magazine or clip will hold only two shells and one shell may be placed in the barrel for immediate use. All sorts of rifles, and heavy artillery are barred, although the old splatter-gun, 16-gauge, may be used if the hunter thinks he can stand up under its recoil for 15 doves.

Also doves may not be hunted from any sort of boat, automobile or airplane.

Duck Law

The open season for duck, goose, brant, coot, and snipe opens November 15 and closes December 25, according to the Game, Fish and Oyster commission at Austin.

The law provides that the hunter must not kill over 10 duck per day nor may he possess over 20 duck at one time even though he is attending a duck dinner at a friends house. However the hunter may shoot five geese or brant, 25 coot, or 15 snipe each day.

The hunter must not get on the job before 7 a. m. and must cease firing at 4 p. m. each day and a live decoy must not be used to lure the ducks into gun range.

Uncle Sam must be paid for a federal hunting stamp and this stamp must be carried on the hunter's person if he is hunting migratory fowl (ducks).

The game rules for weapons hold true for the hunting of duck as for shooting doves and duck must not be shot from a boat, raft, auto, or airplane and the gun must be held at the shoulder when fired.

More Law

Where there are signs stating "game preserve" it is advised that the hunter observe the sign and refrain from shooting birds on such grounds, unless of course he desires to contribute to the state funds.

Cows, horses, sheep, etc. are not fair game and the hunter is liable to the owner if he mistakes such cattle for dove or duck and kills one by mistake.

320 Applications Signed For Wheat All-Coverage Here

A count last night indicated that 320 applications for wheat crop all-coverage insurance offered by the Crop Insurance corporation had been signed by Floyd county wheat raisers, a figure 70 or more greater than was anticipated by O. L. Allen, supervisor.

Allen's office has been a very busy one for the past two weeks and when the books were closed on this year's applications last night there was still a mass of detail yet to be done. However, more than half of these policies have already been cleared from the state office at Amarillo and others are being hurried through the Amarillo office before going on to Kansas City for final approval.

The more the wheat men looked at these policies the more the plan appealed to them, it seems. Allen said last night, "And where the farm history was sufficiently good to warrant the applications were made."

The all-risk coverage is intended as a long range plan of protecting the operator against ups and downs of ordinary wheat operations.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

Nellie Witt Spikes

It is not easy to sit down and write this column this week. Hurred trips to town for more paint, sheet rock and groceries. Everything in disorder. My pencil at the shack, paper out of its usual place and "where do you want this door?" and "is this the way you want this closet?"

I go from the two old south rooms out of familiar doors only to be hemmed up by the new rooms or I go into the pantry. I must feel somewhat like the British must have felt when the American army caused them to play the music "The World Has Turned Upside Down."

How long will it take me to feel that I am not a stranger in my own home? If you can not travel there is always someone that has just been placed and can tell interesting stories. My daughter, Wilma, and her husband James, made a trip to Caribbad Cayern. With awe they viewed the wonderful cave that was hidden from man for so many centuries. "We seemed to have no feeling at all when we first came out," Wilda says, "Just imagine lofty huge rooms of rock, narrow passage ways, sometimes we went single file and had to stoop to get through, lakes of water, echoes of voices, the boys singing 'Rock of Ages' in the distance."

It must have been a wonderful sight for the girl that has grown up on these plains. They brought me a lovely silver ring set with Mexican fire stone, a white clip hand, a beautiful scenic pillow top and some rock for my rock fence.

Mrs. Oran Wheeler has been visiting in California. She thrilled me with tales of high dangerous mountain roads, black tunnels, little towns way down in the valley, about the ocean, the endless towns, Ames McPherson's wonderful church building. Her music and stage settings. It is so much better to have friends describe things they have seen than to read descriptions in books.

No wonder the girls are thrilled over the cowboy. Cowboys make pretty fair husbands. In cow camps, the one who complained of the cooking soon learned the cook would not stand for it. The cowboy's wives hardly ever hear anything said about the cooking. The cowboy worked long and hard hours in the heat and the cold and the rain. Whenever he got an hour off he was asleep under the chuck wagon. Now when work is done and his wife wants to go places, he is usually asleep in his chair.

The cowboy learned to wait on himself and be as little trouble as possible. My good husband is still the cowboy at heart even if he plows the land where he once punched cattle.

Do you of my age remember the ironing days of old? Mothers and sisters ruffled tucked lace petticoats hanging with dad's white shirts on the back of a cane bottomed chair in a sunny door way. Little sister's lace trimmed white aprons and her plain gingham ones—little brother's shirt with the horseshoes and anchors, the mother Hubbard dresses and the fancy wrappers. Higher and higher the pile grew. Baby's long dresses and petticoats, trimmed with lace and embroidery. How the smell of freshly ironed clothes fills me with a longing to be a child once more.

Margie Wheeler and I are friends. She is just entering young womanhood, and I am entering old womanhood but we have much in common. I like to hear her pleasant laughing voice, to see the golden lights in her Titan red hair. It is so nice to get the viewpoint of youth when your own youthful days are gone.

Taking home what I have borrowed has been my part this past week. So many things we do not own have been needed. Will life ever be normal and hum-drum again? If you would just stop in at dinner time and go over to the shack—I assure you, you would get a good dinner.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON. — Pressure will be brought to bear on Congress next session to do something to help the farmer regain his place in the export markets, or to provide compensation in a domestic allotment plan. Many groups feel this is the major problem confronting the American farmer and that we should not count the cost of any solution that can be found.

The gist of a report issued by the agricultural committee of one of these groups, the National Association of Manufacturers, is that a shrinkage in exports of grains, meat and cotton is due to low prices prevailing in 1936-37 for all goods, and to other "special conditions."

Special condition in the case of cotton, according to the committee, is "our domestic policy of curtailing production and setting our cotton out of line with world levels." In the case of grain exports the report attributes the decrease to "the series of drought years" and adds, "recovery of the market depends on production, marketing, loan and price features of the new Agricultural Adjustment Act."

Thirdly, in the opinion of the committee, meat exports declined because population increase and drought created a meat and meat products shortage which cannot be balanced "unless substantial domestic expansion takes place."

Department of Agriculture officials believe that higher tariffs not higher prices have closed foreign markets. They say also that increased foreign production is largely responsible, and are convinced it has not been much affected by the size of United States crops. Statistics they have compiled on cotton show that in China, Russia, Brazil and Uganda production increased continuously from 1921-27 and in this period the world price of American cotton was reduced by more than 50 per cent, which should have made it attractive to foreign buyers.

In the case of beef, they point out, that when Argentine cut into our last export trade to the United Kingdom, Swift & Company, Wilson & Company, Armour & Company invested in the Argentine, and our exclusion from the export meat markets was largely due to American participation in the Argentine meat packing business.

They have no faith in a domestic allotment plan which would dump United States surpluses on the world market at the world price, and return to the producer more than sold abroad. Nevertheless, it is anticipated that the government's next move to adjust export subsidy, with extension of credit to foreign buyers through some such agency as the existing Export Import Bank. It is considered likely that next in line may be a subsidy which would help dispose of the over-weight cotton crop.

Close Shave—Men with whiskers, who use more than a billion and a quarter razor blades every year, according to the latest Department of Commercial estimate, will be interested to know the tax collector is nicking them, too. One blade in every ten purchased by bewiskered brethren—there must be about forty million of them—goes to the tax collector in the form of hidden taxes. When 45 cents is paid for a package of blades, more than four cents is taken by taxes, and 37 hidden taxes are included in the price of every package of blades, according to the tax report of a leading razor blade manufacturer. — Quannah Tribune Chief.

Man has always been wasteful of natural resources. He has wasted the timber by ruthless destruction. He is wasteful of wild life. Every year millions of dollars are spent by the game commissions of the several states to restore the game that man has slaughtered beyond his needs. It has been said of the American Indian that no matter how plentiful game was he never killed more than he needed. In the early sixties the Plains of the west were inhabited by hundreds of thousands of buffalo. The Indian hunted and killed the buffalo only as he needed it for food, but when the white man came he shot them by the thousands, merely for their hides. Thousands of skinned carcasses were left on the plains of the west, stark evidence of the ruthless greed of civilization. Man has never been able to justify his senseless and foolish destruction of wild game. — Foard County News.

There is one single factor which is coming to mean more and more in politics—and that factor is voice culture. The experts say that in 1940 we will be voting for a voice, rather than for a man. Pet Ideas About Traffic Safety Jolted by Experts

Wearing blinders, this student of traffic safety drove a car under conditions simulating dirty windows at the Ann Arbor Safety Institute.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—A good many pet theories about traffic safety were given a severe jolt at the two-week session of the National Institute for Traffic Safety Training held on the University of Michigan campus here in Ann Arbor.

Most of the 125 persons who signed up for the course and whose business is traffic safety learned one or more things that clashed with popular notions about who is a safe driver and who isn't.

For example, you can expect a "high grade moron" to be a better and safer driver than an intelligent person because intelligent people are likely to be thinking of other things while at the wheel.

About the time the traffic experts had finished swallowing hard on that one they were told that people who have poor eyesight and are slightly deaf drive better than people who hear well and get nervous about every queer noise the car develops, and who can't keep their eyes from wandering to every pretty girl they pass.

But the biggest surprise to most of the 125 was a demonstration to refute the popular belief that governors on autos would take the hazard out of driving by limiting speed.

Three demonstration cars almost crashed when a governor-equipped car, overtaking another, did not have sufficient emergency speed to pass as another auto came in the opposite direction.

Less novel was the information that it is dangerous to apply the brakes after a blowout, just as after a skid, until the car has slowed and is under control.

A variety of tests were made by those taking the safety course and conditions under which a person with poor eyesight or dirty car windows drives were simulated. A double control car was used with the driver wearing glasses that caused faulty vision and in another instance a driver was equipped with blinders to simulate dirty car windows.

MR. O'DANIEL HAD HIS FUN

Mr. W. Lee O'Daniel, nominee-elect of the democratic party for governor of our state, found he had four out of his six chosen "co-operators" to work with him in Austin come January 17, and said he was glad he battled as good as .666. An Irishman would think of something like that.

Mr. O'Daniel had his fun and probably a lesson, also, in the second primary. Country folks especially got heated up over his meddling.

Over-zealous, perhaps, and flushed with victory Mr. O'Daniel was an easy victim for the fixers who filled his office before he knew what had happened. It was a natural thing to happen to any man, and now that it is all over, we hope the people will not hold this single mistake against the governor-elect but give him a chance to do his stuff.

THICK COTTON, SHORT STAPLE

If farmers in this section are to have a good staple every season and not take a big loss due to short lengths of fibre in the product they take to the gins, it appears that thick cotton must be a thing of the past. If this be true, then the old, old practice of "chopping" cotton will have to come to Floyd county.

It is certain that short staple must be eliminated sooner or later to avoid docking for poor quality, and a small, runty boll on a stalk that is crowded by its neighbors can't have the good lint found on a bigger one. This may be just a "book" idea, but it looks like it is, instead, a "field" idea.

A MONOPOLY NO LONGER

One good reason why the many restraints put on the railroads in the past fifty years should now be taken off is that the railroads no longer have a monopoly. The railways have to compete for business against every other form of transportation. The Association of American Railroads says:

"What the railroad men want is simply equality and the same freedom of judgment and initiative in running their business enjoyed by every other successful business in America."

Which sounds reasonable enough. In the interest of better business in Floydada and all the other Floydadas, of the farms in Floyd county and all the other counties, important changes should be made before our railways are bankrupted and the lines on which they run become streaks of rust.

WATCH THE SIGNS

If you are a graduate of a college with a B. A. or B. S. degree or even a masters, you will be interested especially in the observance of signs of nature which they may not have taught you there. As for instance:

When you go to have work done on your teeth, especially when it is a tooth or teeth to be pulled, be sure to observe the Zodiac before you begin. It will save you aches and pains and possibly a sleepless night or two. It is always best to have dental work done when the sign is going down from the heart. Do not have the work done when the signs are in the heart or above.

Warning Is Made On All Sleep-Drugs

Drugs Long Believed Harmless Have Been Found To Be Dangerous

AUSTIN, Aug. 31.—"Thirty-five years ago, a German scientist produced a derivative of barbituric acid possessing hypnotic qualities. For years it was considered as non-habit forming and harmless, and the type of drug was sold freely over the counter without a doctor's prescription. But more recently the medical profession has realized that barbiturates such as alonal, amytol, luminal, vironal, neonal et cetera are far from harmless and definitely habit forming when used indiscriminately," warns Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"It is true that these slumber-producing drugs play an important part in certain insomnia conditions, as well as in the promotion of sleep when pain makes it impossible to obtain it otherwise. However, it is one thing to have this type of drug prescribed by a physician and administered under his supervision and quite another to employ it regularly without professional sanction.

"It cannot be too strongly stated that the prolonged use of those sleep-inducers can produce serious reactions including skin affections, impairment of speech and gait, paralysis of the eye muscles, and in extreme cases have been known to cause death. Plainly, any drug that possesses such possibilities should not be self-administered by the general public.

"Moreover, it should be understood that insomnia is a symptom of an underlying condition which may be due to any one of a variety of psychological or mental causes. The absurdity of habitual self-administration of any hypnotic to remove insomnia becomes apparent.

"Consequently, if the temptation arises to use a sleep-producing drug on the say-so of a friend, it should be avoided. And if already relying on sleep-producing medication, the brakes should be applied at once with the assistance of your family physician," Dr. Cox further advised.

"To quote a recent author on this subject: 'The only safe rule regarding sleeping pills or potions is to realize that if anything of that kind is needed, one definitely needs a physician's advice first.'

The Deadline

(By Bill Hams)

Seemingly the followers of the Floydada Whirlwinds are impressed with the snap and power displayed by the boys at this early moment in training. Apparently the Whirlwinds will have more weight and experience this year than last.

There's many a slip between early fall training and the end of the grind in November, but speaking from the present, the Green and White should live up to expectations as to strength and championship caliber.

No matter how much the fans would like to make the Whirlwinds district champions in early season, it will be difficult to do so locally.

Spur has almost identically the same team back that played Wellington in the regional, plus that year's experience that counts for so much. Flomot has her complete 1937 backfield on the greensward but a practically new line will have to front it. Turkey has a dearth of material boasting plenty of weight and sufficient experience to make them rough. Lockney has the material and "might" click for a successful season although no one seems to count them in the running. Silverton, Matador, Paducah, and Quitaque are unknown quantities at present but probably dangerous when least counted upon.

Therefore, here is the way this scribe places them to end up the football season (sight unseen).

1 Spur 2 Floydada, 3 Flomot, 4 Paducah and Turkey (tie) 5 Lockney, 6 Matador and Silverton (tie) 7 Quitaque.

At present Floydada's schedule looks something like this:

Sept. 9 Open
Sept. 16 Slaton (here)
Sept. 23 Tulla (there)
Sept. 30 (open)
Oct. 7 Estelline (there)
Oct. 14 Flomot (there)
Oct. 21 Quitaque (here)
Oct. 28 Paducah (there)
Nov. 4 Lockney (here)
Nov. 11 Matador (there)
Nov. 18 (open)
Nov. Spur (here)

Floydada is due four home games with the remainder away from home according to the present arrangement.

Little drops of water

A preacher one Sunday morning was on his way to the preaching house to preach and he saw a bunch of little boys playing marbles and he said:

"Boys, this is not the way to seek salvation."
"See here, old hoss, if you had been salivated like I have you wouldn't be seeking more salvation."

The preacher said one of them jumped up and down and clapped his hands like a rooster when he goes to crow and said:

"I'll swear and be-danged if I ain't fat."

The preacher said if they hadn't been blinded by sin they wouldn't have mistaken him for an old hoss.

International Sunday School Lesson For September 4, 1938.

DEDICATION TO SERVICE

Golden Text:—Prepare your hearts unto the Lord, and serve him only. I Sam. 7:3.

Lesson Text:—I Samuel 7: 1-17. Printed Text:—I Samuel 7: 3-13.

3 ¶ And Samuel spake unto all the house of Israel, saying, If ye do return unto the Lord with all your hearts, then put away the strange gods and Ash-ta-roth from among you, and prepare your hearts unto the Lord, and serve him only; and he will deliver you out of the hand of the Philistines.

4 Then the children of Israel did put away Ba-al-im and Ash-ta-roth, and served the Lord only.

5 And Samuel said, Gather all Israel to Mizpeh, and I will pray for you unto the Lord.

6 And they gathered together to Mizpeh, and drew water, and poured it out before the Lord, and fasted on that day, and said there, We have sinned against the Lord. And Samuel judged the children of Israel in Mizpeh.

7 And when the Philistines heard that the children of Israel were gathered to Mizpeh, the lords of the Philistines went up against Israel. And when the children of Israel heard it, they were afraid of the Philistines.

8 And the children of Israel said to Samuel, Cease not to cry unto the Lord our God for us, that he will save us out of the hand of the Philistines.

9 ¶ And Samuel took a sucking lamb and offered it for a burnt offering wholly unto the Lord; and Samuel cried unto the Lord for Israel; and the Lord heard him.

10 And as Samuel was offering up the burnt offering, the Philistines drew near to battle against Israel; but the Lord thundered with a great thunder on that day upon the Philistines, and discomfited them: and they were smitten before Israel.

11 And the men of Israel went out of Mizpeh, and pursued the Philistines, and smote them, until they came under Bethcar.

12 Then Samuel took a stone, and set it between Mizpeh and Shen, and called the name of it "Eben-ezer, saying, Hitherto hath the Lord helped us.

13 ¶ So the Philistines were subdued, and they came no more into the coast of Israel: and the hand of the Lord was against the Philistines all the days of Samuel.

Time and Place: The time of this lesson is B. C. 1121-1101. Kirjath-jearim was about seven miles from Jerusalem; Mizpeh belonged to the tribe of Benjamin, north of Jerusalem; Ebenezer was also north of Jerusalem between Mizpeh and Shem.

The man whose devout mother, Hannah, had dedicated him as a babe to the service of the temple came as a saviour of the people in the crisis of the defeat of the Israelites by the Philistines and the carrying away of the Ark of the Covenant with the tragic death of Eli.

Samuel struck at the very roots of the trouble of Israel. He did not begin by amassing a great army, but he began first of all by attacking the moral condition of the people. He urged them that, with all their hearts, they should put away the foreign gods from them and the base and corrupting forms of idolatrous worship, and that they should serve the Lord of Israel.

The people responded to his appeal, and then it was that Samuel gathered them together and began to marshal them for the victory that they were ultimately to attain. He called all the people together at Mizpah, and there, with the ritual practice of drawing water and pouring it forth on a day of fasting, he confessed the sins of the people.

Samuel became, by strength of personality and moral conviction, the judge of Israel. Word of the massing together of the people at Mizpah came to the Philistines, and they came up against the people whom they had conquered.

It was a trying time for Samuel. Would his leadership suffice? Could he inspire the fear-stricken Israelites with the will and the power to resist the Philistines?

In the presence of the people, performed a sacrificial rite and at the same time prayed earnestly for the deliverance of Israel.

There came a great thundering, and the Philistines—fearstricken and discomfited—went down before the aroused people of Israel. New heart and courage took hold of the Israelites and they had feared so greatly.

It was in the hour of this great victory that Samuel took a stone and set it up as a monument between Mizpah and Shen, calling it Ebenezer, signifying that hitherto the Lord had helped the people.

The closing verse of our lesson is very significant. It tells how the Philistines were subdued and came no more within the border of Israel. When one measures against that the defeat of the time of Eli, when the Ark of the Covenant was captured and when Israel was put in a position of fear and bondage, one can appreciate the meaning of this great deliverance.

And the lesson is not far to seek. Moral discipline and moral character is the ultimate strength of nations and peoples as it is of individuals.

A nation may seem to flourish in greed and corruption and disregard of justice, truth, and right. But the downfall inevitably and surely comes, while just as truly and inevitably righteousness exalts a nation and a people.

Social Security THROUGH Individual Thrift

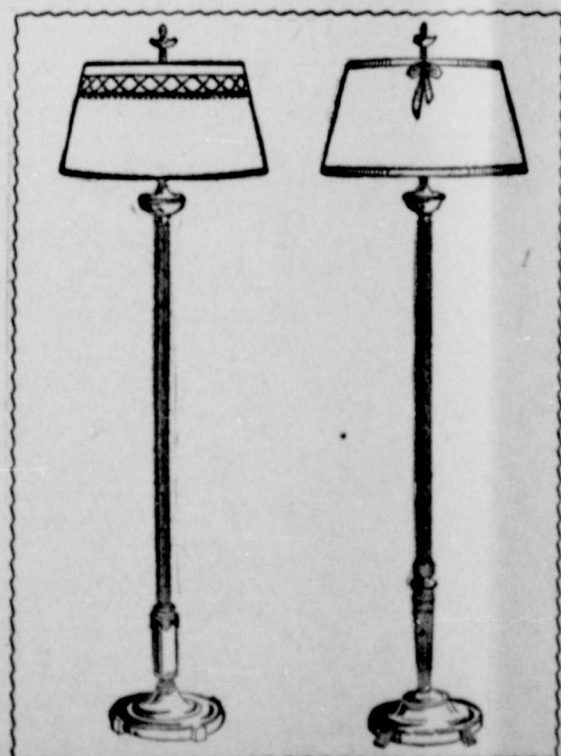

The American standard of living is higher than that of any other country. Young people and older people alike, expect more and require more in the way of comfort, luxury and entertainment.

It is true that pensions for the aged, relief for the unemployed, and other sound measures for social security, when well-conceived and honestly administered, do have their place. But they can never take the place of that upstanding personal independence which every normal individual craves above all else.

Thrift, therefore, still offers the average man and woman the best chance for living their lives safely and enjoyably in the American fashion.

Jassonkey Ball Game Plans Go Awry; Plainview Skeered

Plainview Lions challenged the Jassonkey to a "Jassonkey" ball game to be held sometime this fall but according to undergound reports had managed to dig up a valid excuse to prevent their carrying out the part of the challenge.

Therefore the Floydada Lions are seeking an opponent for the September 9 donkey baseball game. The Plainview just couldn't make the "cause", which has been interpreted a number of ways by the high-riding, ball playing Lions and the donkeys will make it rough for any opponent, tough or otherwise.

If there is a citizen who has an inkling of a donkey ball team anywhere which wishes to tangle with the Lions it will be appreciated if the information is passed along to the scouts so the contract may be officially made.

HOOTERS FAIL TO KILL IDEA AND RESULTS OF SHELTERBELT

WASHINGTON.—For four years the hooters—including many congressmen—have been trying to kill that shelterbelt idea in the western plains country.

But there stand the shelterbelts—84,000,000 trees swaying serenely in the prairie winds. Trees have been planted on 13,000 farms, in strips 115 feet wide. The total length of these strips is 7,000 miles—in a north-south line 100 miles wide.

And now the government has announced it plans to plant trees this year in 6,000 more miles of strips.

Trees—But No Hooting. You don't hear so much hooting these days—because the government isn't going in for mass publicity. Most of the jobs came from people who thought there was going to be sold, 100-mile-wide forest stretching from Canada to Texas. Because of that misconception, the forest service had to do a lot of explaining.

It explained that shelterbelts are really short strips of trees and shrubs usually planted 10-rows wide. From a quarter to three-quarters of a mile long, they run along the sides of a farm which the most damaging winds blow. The purpose is to deflect the wind so it won't blow the soil away, to lessen evaporation of temperature, and to save moisture.

The fact is, the forest service pointed out, that prairie farmers for generations have been doing haphazard shelterbelting on their own.

Farmers Must Help. Now the forest service supplies the trees from its own or leased nurseries. The government, using relief labor, plants the trees. The farmers and the communities in the shelterbelt zone supply the land and cultivate the trees.

On a typical 160-acre farm, there will be about 8,000 trees, occupying about 10% acres. Trees have been planted in North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

WEIGHS AND MEASURES

All our measurements are governed by the most accurate standards imaginable, but because this is so it must not be thought that a great many people do not measure and weigh and reckon into a most haphazard manner. Declares a writer in London Tht-Bits Magazine.

Our mile is 1,760 yards, but the Burmese reckons his mile as equal to the distance he can walk in the middle of the day, when it is hottest, without stopping for rest.

In Egypt the Great Pyramid throws a shadow at sundown which is said to reach for miles, and this used to be a sign for the rice workers to knock off.

Some people in the Rhinelead do not boil eggs by means of automatic timers; they prefer the old way of repeating the Lord's Prayer slowly, when they know the eggs are done.

Even the canal men in Holland do not always look at maps to see the number of miles they have covered. They know by the number of pipes they have smoked on the journey.

ELDON BISHOP HOWARD HAS SECOND OPERATION

Eldon Bishop Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Howard, is in a Lubbock hospital for the second time the past six weeks, where he was carried Thursday for an operation.

The first operation was made necessary when he received an injury in a ball game several weeks ago.

It is reported improving satisfactorily.

DOG'S HOWL DOES FOR PHONE BELL

Why howl dog howled when the telephone was finally to ring but did not has supposedly been solved for a subscriber. The dog was chained to an iron pipe in the basement—the same iron pipe which has been connected to the telephone ground wire.

The telephone ringing current grounded itself down the pipe and thru the dog lying on the wet basement floor. A call came on the telephone and the dog, not the bell, gave the signal.—Quannah Tribune-Chief.

COTTONSEED GAINS AS FARM INCOME FACTOR

For a number of years cottonseed has become increasingly important as a source of farm income in the Cotton Belt. At one time cottonseed was burned or "dumped" into any stream that would carry it off.

Today, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, an increasing proportion of the total farm income is from the sale of cotton lint and cottonseed.

For the staple from the 1937 record production of cotton, farmers received about 734 million dollars or about 2 percent less than the pre-war (1910-14) average. For the cottonseed from the record production last year, farmers received about 130 million dollars which was about 50 percent more than the pre-war average.

Increasing use of all fats and oils taken together is cited by the Bureau as a big factor in the increasing importance of cottonseed in the Cotton Belt economy. For with the larger use of fats and oils as a whole, consumers in this country also are using large quantities of cottonseed oil, which in recent years has represented an average of about 60 percent of the total value of cottonseed products.

AIRPLANES FOLLOW SWING

Army aviators are "swinging it" through the skies, guided only by hot jazz, commercial announcements and (now and then) a bit of opera.

Engineers at Wright Field, the Air Corps' experimental laboratory, have perfected magnetic control as an adjunct to the robot pilot that uses only the waves of commercial radio stations for homing purposes.

On a recent flight from Dayton to San Antonio, Tex., an army ship, Kicked up station WHAS, Louisville, Ky., on taking off, followed them to Louisville. Then it turned in station WMC at Memphis, next swung to KWKH, Shreveport, La., and on the final leg, as darkness approached, WOAI, at San Antonio, guided the ship to a landing.

So accurate is the new device, said Capt. Carl J. Crane, director of Wright Field's instrument and navigation laboratory, that the plane's maximum deviation from true course was ten miles—and this was before corrections had been made for wind-drift.

The 1,100-mile flight, said Capt. Crane, was accomplished without manual adjustment of "heading" or direction.

WASP MAKES STORAGE JARS

The Potter wasp of South America and the Pacific islands combines beauty with brains, for besides having a most shapely waist it stores its food in earthenware jars which it makes itself.

The wasp collects clay from a damp locality and kneads it into a graceful jar with its forelegs and mandibles. These have a trowel-like extension which functions like a "potter's thumb." Into this jar are dopped spiders, caterpillars and other food to be kept for future use.

The jars are usually to be found on slender branches or stems of creepers, but the wasps will also invade houses, and people in the tropics may find a row of five or six neat urns on top of a picture frame or on the rungs of a chair.

The ring-tailed cat of the Southern United States is not a cat, but a relative of the raccoon.

New Milo Type Is Developed

West Texas within the next few years should see a blight resistant milo replacing the present type and county agents are cooperating in the propagation of the new type, being developed by Lubbock and Chillocothe experiment stations.

In a letter to all county agents, E. A. Miller, extension service agronomist, pointed out crop prospects for the new type this summer were very good and that the seed distributed last spring appears to be making good yields.

Advocated Field Agents. Miller advocated each agent holding a growing day at the farms of farmers trying seed to show others just what is being done.

The two stations distributed about 20,000 pounds last spring.

All went to selected farmers through county agents and vocational agriculture teachers.

Don L. Jones, superintendent of the Lubbock station, said he believed that the greater part of the farmers receiving seed were able to make it and that the new seed was saving a good growth.

IT TAKES YEARS TO PROVE A WHEAT GOOD—ONE YEAR MAY PROVE IT POOR

To meet the need for better wheat varieties—wheats that will be harder where winters are cold, stiffer of straw for combining, earlier where hot summer winds are a hazard, more drought resistant in the plains, and in general more resistant to rust, insects, and disease—the United States Department of agriculture cooperates with the states in breeding nurseries.

It may take many years to prove that a new variety is good—as much as 15 or more years before a hybrid variety is released to farmers—but only 1 or 2 years to show that it is poor.

In the case of wheat hybrids it takes at least five generations to get a selection that will breed true. Nursery and plot tests will take another 3 to 5 years each. Then come 3 or 4 years of cooperative tests. At any time during these years the variety may be discarded if a serious defect shows up.

Even when a wheat has passed all the agronomic tests, it may have to be discarded on the adverse report of the cereal chemist. There is no point in continuing a wheat variety that cannot pass milling and baking tests.

KEEP CUSTARDS COOL TO AVOID POISONING

Hot weather always brings an increase in reports of food poisoning. Mid-summer weather promotes food poisoning by providing the warmth in which the food-poisoning organisms thrive. Also, hot weather is picnic time. Several favored picnic foods—custards, salads, eclairs, and cream puffs—are particularly favorable for rapid multiplication of the bacteria that make the foods poisonous.

The Food and Drug Administration investigates many reports of food poisoning each season. Usually it has no jurisdiction because there is no interstate angle. But the Federal food specialists have learned the conditions most likely to cause quick and poisonous spoilage of food, and the foods that spoil refrigeration is the very best preventive. Keep foods cool and the bacteria do not multiply dangerously. Foods made from eggs, cream, and milk are ideal for bacterial development. Custards, fillings and cream salad dressing, if they are warm, offer ideal physical conditions for rapid multiplication of the organisms. These foods can become dangerously poisonous and still "taste good."

"Never," say the men who have investigated many cases of food poisoning "allow custards or custard-like foods or filled pastries to stand in a warm room. Do not prepare such foods long in advance. Keep them cool in the refrigerator. Have them cold when placed in a picnic lunch, and keep them as cool as possible until used. When in doubt, throw them away and do without. Food poisoning is serious and may be deadly."

GROWTH OF THE FLEA

Pleas, like all insects, go through stages, from egg through grub and pupa, to adult insect. The grub feeds on the bodies of dead beetles and other stray animal matter. Then it turns to a pupa, which never eats, but just lies in the dust, in cracks and crevices in the floorboards in houses. It is very sensitive to vibrations. Directly a footstep touches those boards, the vibration makes all the pupae wake up and hatch out. From each pupa a hungry flea.

RUGGED INDIVIDUALISM FOUND IN OLD COLONY

"Rugged individualism" in early-day Texas found expression in several "colonies," generally fostered by men of foreign birth and disciplines of a political philosophy that transcended the ideals of pure democracy.

One of these was the French communist colony of La Reunion, established near Dallas by Leon Delord in 1855, and popularly known as "Old Frenchtown." Emanuel Santerre, 88 years old, the last survivor of the colony returned to Dallas recently and looked over the ruins of the stone house Delord built more than a half century ago to house his colony.

"I seem to many a dance here when I was a boy," Santerre remarked as he looked at the crumbling foot-thick walls. "Yes, sir, good food, music and lots of pretty girls."

He remembered the day Leon Delord and his son, Alphonse, started the building. He said the Delords had lived in a dug out and built the communal house after the colony of fourier socialists broke up. The Delords were "well fixed," he said, but after Leon and his wife died, Alphonse sold the house and returned to France.

After the break-up, most of the colonists moved to Dallas. Historians say the agricultural colony failed because there were not more than 250 immigrants in loose blouses and wooden shoes who sought freedom in Texas from oppression in the old world.

NAMES FOR CAPITAL

Several experiments were made in naming the capital of the United States until the present one became fixed. From the beginning until 1871 the following names were used: "The Federal City," "City of Washington, District of Columbia," "City of Washington, Territory of Columbia," "City of Washington," without reference to the district, "Washington, D. C.," and simply "Washington." In 1871 the municipal charters of Washington and Georgetown were revoked by congress and there ceased to be any difference between Washington and the District of Columbia so far as government and laws are concerned. In 1921 President Harding's Thanksgiving proclamation was "Thanks in the capital of the United States." The designation raised the question as to what the official name of the national capital should be. As a result an executive order was issued designating "The City of Washington" as the official name of the capital of the United States.

MALES DON'T BITE

The male mosquito does not bite. Only in the female is the proboscis fitted for biting and blood-sucking. The mouth parts of the male are rudimentary and he could not bite no matter how hard he might try. This, at any rate, is true of all the common mosquitoes. Whether blood-sucking is common to both sexes in any rare species is a disputed question. "So far as we know," says the U. S. Bureau of Entomology, "there is no male of mosquito of which the male sucks blood."

HINDU'S SACRED OBLIGATIONS

A Hindu is always mindful of the four sacred "obligations" that he must discharge during his life, reports Collier's Weekly. The first is to the gods, which he fulfills through daily worship; the second is to the sages, which he executes through the daily reading of their writings; the third is to his ancestors, which he discharges through having a son; and the fourth is to humanity, which he meets through the constant practice of kindness and hospitality.

ASHES OF THE GREAT

One of the laws of chemistry, as well as of physics, relates to the conservation of mass, that is, the quantity of matter on the earth. In other words, the chemical elements of which a body was composed are still present in the earth or its atmosphere, no matter what changes may have taken place in them. A well-known quotation from Shakespeare relating to this subject is contained in Hamlet, act 5, scene 1, where Hamlet jests about the dust of Alexander the Great. "Alexander died, Alexander was buried, Alexander returneth to dust; the dust is earth; of earth we make loam; and why of that loam, whereto he was converted, might they not stop a beer-barrel? Impetuous Caesar, dead and turned to clay, might stop a hole to keep the wind away."

A Japanese legend has it that music was devised by the gods to lure the sun goddess from a cave where she had retired.

SKIN CARE

In order to clear up a sallow skin, pimples, or other skin blemishes a beauty diet will bring results. The diet is easy to follow in summer as it consists of fresh vegetables and fruits. Drink all the fruit juices you can—grapefruit, orange, lemon, and tomato juices. Eat fresh vegetables and if in salad form, vegetables and rich dressings. Eat small amounts when you are hungry instead of waiting until meal time and having large portions. Stay on the liquid diet for three days, if possible, and you will find your whole body will benefit, as well as your skin. When you go back to your regular diet be sure to get at least ten glasses of liquids between your regular meals.

Tuesday, August 25 SHANGHAI—Japanese officials claimed the air was thick with peace even though foreign observers failed to get even one small sniff. There will be no formal peace because the whole thing is an undeclared informal war and therefore there will be no formal peace but a mere cessation of warfare.

AUSTIN—W. Lee O'Daniel kept his "open mind" on legalized betting in spite of a committee of Baptist youths who deplored the "sin" and "demoralization" of betting on race horses although a tax

NEW YORK—The Tammany trial by District Attorney Dewey is causing more comment and excitement than anything that has happened here in some time. The trial excludes more color than one of Hollywood's best gangster productions.

Allred to Resign AUSTIN—Governor James V. Allred intends to resign "sometime in September" to accept his position on the federal bench. The governor said his announcement would be made sometime after September 1.

WASHINGTON—The government undertook today to place 100,000,000 bushels of surplus American wheat on the highly competitive world grain markets, even if it has to take a loss of $25,000,000.

Sunday, August 28 LONDON — Great Britain today gravely warned Adolf Hitler, without mentioning him, that he must not start a war over Czechoslovakia in which Britain might have to fight.

BERLIN — Foreign military observers believed Germany had demonstrated that their army is top ranking in Europe. On parade Germany demonstrated a small section of her army, tanks, and artillery before observers of the world.

Revision Necessary WASHINGTON—Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general, made public today a memorandum to congress suggesting four changes in the anti-trust laws, which he said were necessary if the Sherman law is to be a workable instrument.

WASHINGTON—Officials of REA chuckled today over a housewife's complaint that her new electric refrigerator was making ice cubes too fast. She thought the cubes were "done" when they were frozen and kept putting fresh water in after each freezing.

Tuesday, August 23 DALLAS—Floyd Hamilton and Ted Walters lay in a Dallas jail today snarling threats that they would try an escape at the first opportunity. They had been identified by victims as having participated in seven holdups.

WASHINGTON — Amarillo will possibly be the site of a veteran's hospital, it is believed here. There are two hospitals for veterans in the lower part of Texas and it is therefore logical that one should be located in the northern part of the state.

Wants Direct Primary SANTA FE, N. M.—Gov. Clyde Tingley assailed "worn out machinery of political control," called upon New Mexico legislators, convened here today in extra session, to enact a direct primary law "immediately available for political relief of the people."

NEW YORK — Testimony that the New York gang overlord, the late Dutch Schultz, spread graft across the nation in connection with the multi-million dollar Harlem policy (numbers) racket was recorded yesterday in the conspiracy trial of Tammany "Big Shot" Hines.

Wednesday, Aug. 24 WASHINGTON—The House committee on un-American activities accused the justice department last night of refusing to give requested assistance to its inquiry and appealed to President Roosevelt to direct the department's cooperation. Evidently the committee thinks they are someone to demand the attention of the G-men on their so-called "Red" purge. Like all investigations by congress the committee will blow a lot and argue a lot and end up nowhere.

NEW YORK—George Weinberg, a soft-spoken ex-convict, 37 years old, who quit a dubious career of petty gambling to share the riches offered by Dutch Schultz, today accused James J. Hines, veteran Tammany district leader, of accepting $500 a week or more to protect the slain gangster's $20,000,000 Harlem policy racket.

Floyd County Due 18 NYA Jobs This Year, Reports Say

Walter Travis To Head The Advisory Committee For Job Distribution

A quota of 18 National Youth Administration school aid jobs has been allocated for Floyd county under the 1938-39 School Aid program to provide part-time employment for young people in elementary and high schools who cannot otherwise continue in school. J. C. Kellam, state youth director, announced.

Walter Travis, county superintendent, has been notified of the number of jobs allotted. He has been requested to organize an advisory committee of local school officials to recommend an equitable distribution of jobs within the county on a basis of youth need and availability of school facilities. Kellam said that as soon as this is done, the NYA State office will be in position to approve schools for participation.

School officials requiring information concerning the 1938-39 School Aid quota should communicate with their county superintendent. They should furnish him with data which will assist the county committee in recommending the distribution of jobs, Kellam said.

As for the last three years, boys and girls in secondary schools between the ages of 13 and 24 will be able to earn a wage not exceeding $16 a month. They will be selected for employment by their own school officials, who will plan and supervise their work assignments. Students seeking part-time NYA school aid jobs should apply to the superintendent or principal of the school they plan to attend, since the officials of schools approved by the NYA for participation in the program select the students for the jobs, Kellam said.

Bascom Giles, of Travis county, will take over the job of state land commissioner in January. He was nominated in the run-off Saturday over Wm. H. McDonald of Eastland county. The office is of increasing importance in the state due to the huge public land holdings in the oil fields.

REA—

(Continued from page 1) the county as yet and there is a huge amount of work to be done before this eventuality, the fact that the funds have been actually allotted for the big enterprise and that a great many difficulties have been hurdled lends positive encouragement to those who have been at work on the matter since 1935. In that year County Agent D. F. Brethauer visited the plan that is now beginning to take form, and with him soon joined J. L. Sailer, Lockney publisher. These with the present board of directors spent many weeks and a considerable bit of their personal funds to forward the program. Sailer at the behest of farmers of the county made two trips to Washington and A. H. Kreis, president of the organization, recently made a trip to Oklahoma City to present the Floyd county plan to the authorities of REA who came to the southwest for conferences with rural electrification committees.

"I want to express my deep appreciation for these men for their faith in their county and for the work they have done in making this dream come true," D. F. Brethauer, county agent, said last week. "Their efforts, it now appears, are to culminate in a modern lighting system, that will reach homes in nearly three-fourths of the county's area," Mr. Brethauer said.

After the formal incorporation of the company Mr. Brethauer's association with it ceases, except as that of a well-wisher for the furtherance of its accomplishments. "The work is in the hands of capable men and it will go forward in a fine way, I know," he said.

Leaf Worm—

(Continued from page 1) spray. If dusted from 5 to 8 pounds per acre of Calcium arsenate should be applied depending upon the size of the cotton. The best time for application is in the early part of the morning when the dew is on the plant and when the air is usually quiet. If the poison is to be applied as a spray, 3 pounds of this material should be mixed with 50 gallons of water and this mixture kept will agitated during the application.

"In applying the materials in spray form, any manufactured machinery suitable for the purpose may be used. Growers in many sections improve their own machinery from a spray pump attached to a barrel, with plumbing pipe used to form a boom, supplied with tees and nozzles to direct a spray downward over each of three or five rows. These are generally satisfactory for control of the leaf worm and are not expensive.

Poison Application
Likewise, manufactured dusting machinery is best for making dry application. However, for leaf worm control, other cheaper and more primitive methods of application are usually effective. The simplest form is a cheesecloth bag, filled with the poison and shaken over the rows as one walks along.

One tied to the end of a pole to hang over the respective rows, and shaken as one walks between the rows or held over a saddle as one rides on horseback, a stick being used to hit the pole and cause the poison to dust from the bags, enables one to accomplish the work more rapidly.

Still another effective method is to fasten a 2x4 across a cultivator carriage, with the bags attached to accommodate three or five rows. Blocks wired to the tires of the wheels at intervals gives a jolting effect that shakes the poison on the plants as the cultivator is drawn along the rows."

Election Holders Give Quick Story On County Vote

Closely followed by Center and Baker, West Floydada and East Floydada started Saturday night's fireworks in Floyd county election reporting. Lon M. Davis, presiding judge in the west box beat J. R. Maddox from the east box by a hop, skip and jump and both getting credit for reporting at 7:01.

Everyone of the 23 voting boxes in the county had reported complete by 9:25 and at 9:30 all the figures were completed at The Hesperian office and totals for the whole county thrown on the bulletin board.

Olin S. Miller of Center box, reported at 7:05 and George Stiles at Baker had his figures in at 7:06.

Number 6 in the list of precincts reporting was Fairmont, where Geo. R. Tibbets gave his report over long distance at 7:15, beaten 5 minutes by E. L. Breed at Hokeville, for whom Roy Smith telephoned at 7:10.

Harmony at 7:17, Dougherty and McCoy each at 7:20, and Starley at 7:25 made figures complete on ten boxes, nearly half of the county's vote within 20 minutes after the polls were closed.

Busy Days—

(Continued from page 1) way 28 through Floydada will be undertaken soon. The council was called together yesterday afternoon and formally agreed to their part of this program. The city will furnish a carload of asphalt and agree to keep ditches clear of weeds and other impediments on streets where the department will furnish culverts for better drainage. Culverts will be placed on Price, Grover and Jackson streets, according to plans of the highway engineers.

Additionally, county commissioners are stressing a WPA project north on the Silverton route that they hope to get the department to accept. One trip to see the commission at Austin has been made and another is planned for September 19. About 120 jobs will be provided for WPA enrollees if this project is undertaken. If it fails to be approved by the commission it will not be for lack of energetic presentation, it is indicated.

TIME ALONE DOES NOT CAUSE WOOD TO DECAY

It is true that all wood decays in the course of time? It is not true, say the experts in the United States Forest Service. Time or age, in itself, has nothing to do with decay.

When the White House was remodeled in 1923, workers found sound roof timbers that had been in place since 1816. In Dedham, Mass., a frame house, the Fairbanks House, is still intact after 300 years.

Not long ago in Washington State, workmen found a log 7 feet in diameter, in a tunnel they were digging 150 feet below the bed of the Yakima river. A piece of this log, sent to the Forest Service's Forest Products Laboratory, was identified as an extinct species of sequoia of an age estimated at 12 million years.

These examples prove that wood does not necessarily decay with age. Decay is caused by the attack of a fungus, and there is no decay if the wood is kept either thoroughly saturated, or too dry for the fungus to grow.

This and other interesting facts are brought out in a new circular, "Wood Pathologies," just prepared by the Forest Products Laboratory, Madison, Wis.

LAZY BUT CLEVER

AUSTIN—A number of Texas motorists have devised unique schemes in order to avoid repairing punctured tires.

In one instance two highway patrolmen reported they came upon a woman attempting to change a tire on a South Texas highway. The officers smilingly repaired the puncture, inflated the tire and put it back on the wheel.

As they drove away one of them looked back and saw a man walk out of a roadside brush, climb into the car with the woman and drive away—laughing.

WHEN YOU CAN

When you wish to remove the top ends of the cord hang over edges of jars will facilitate in removing without breaking paraffin. Warm jelly glasses before putting in the jelly, as it helps it to thicken, or set them in the sun.
