FLOYDADA, FLOYD COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1938

Cotton Vote Clubs Announce Readiness For Community Christmas Turns Down Tree on Court House Lawn Quotas Here

But Overwhelming Majority Reported For Quotas In Deep South

Returns of the cotton producers' ferendum on cotton quotas in Floyd county last Saturday, as compiled at the agriculture conservation office, show the quota plan is unpopular in Floyd county after a year of trial.

Floyd county voted 374 against the quotas to be set up by the secretary of agriculture, and 334 voted for the quotas.

This is in contrast with the vote in central and east Texas and the deep south where the plan adopted to protect the cotton growers from a big surplus and ruinous prices was given an overwhelming majority.

Elaborate plans were set up to get the sentiment of the farmers from all cotton producing counties in the nation in a referendum in which the farmers answered the question "Do you favor cotton marketing for the 1939 crop?" In Floyd county the producers voted at 4 points, Floydada, Lockney, Ce-dar and Edgin. Meanwhile every Geo. P. McCarthy producer had been provided with the information as to the number of acres he would be alloted to plant, as promised by the state offices for the various states.

The vote "yes" and "no" in the referendum by precincts was as fol-No

Andrews Ward Cafeteria Is Light Plant Worked to Capacity to Feed Hungry Students this Week Bids Opened

More Funds And Food Needed To Assure Permanency Of Lunch Room

Six hundred and six pupils have been fed at the Andrews Ward WPA cafeteria the first three days of operation, according to figures submitted late Wednesday by Superintendent A. D. Cummings.

Monday, the first day of operation, 199 children were fed. There was a great deal of confusion and wasted time due to the fact that all duties were new and no exact system had been arranged. Also the number of children to be fed was Following the selection of the unknown to the authorities. The second day 202 children received lunches and yesterday 205 were fed. Each day has found the force operating more efficiently as duties have been learned and the children have learned what is expected of them.

City Council In Session At 2 O'Clock To Check Figures

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock members of the city council of lojdada will begin their advertised erion to open bids on the construction of a municipal light and power

Aside from the possibility that all bids will be rejected the session is looked forward to by councilmen and many citizens as the culmination of a long struggle to get a municipally owned plant under way.

An estimated $140,000, it is anticipated, will be spent on the light plant here, of which upward of $70,000 is to be furnished through the sale of light revenue bonds to the Public Works administration. and upward of $60,000 to be represented by a grant from the Public Works administration from federal Representatives of PWA and City Engineer Carl C. Cox will sit in on the opening of bids, which begins immediately after the last hour advertised for receiving proposals.

Culminates Long Struggle In May of 1936 the city authoris were given a mandate by a avy majority of the taxpaying enship in a hot election to proeed with plans for the construction f the light and power plant. The council was authorized to pledge the proceeds of the light and plant and $400 per month revenue of the municipally owned water system as guarantee of any funds which the city would have to borrow to carry out the wishes of the citizens, but it was specifically stated the council would have no authority to pledge taxes raised by the city to meet the bonded debt, if and when created. At that time and since the estimate of the probable cost of a lant that would adequately serve the city was set at about $120.000 from Collier Parris, of Lubbock, that Efforts for nearly 2 years to finance the state tourney in Fort Worth had the city in the undertaking at an cen set for February 16 and ac- equitable rate of interest were uncordingly that dates for the district availing. ## Crop Sets Record For Early Finish Of Cotton Harvest

Floyd county produced and ginned 18,938 bales of cotton for the season of 1938 prior to December 1, acto a report made public cording the first of this week by W. L. Ausdirector of the Census Bureau. This is counting round bales of cotton as half bales, and compares with the 1937 crop ginnings on the ne date of 25,052.

However, an important difference in this year's production and that of last year is that a very few hundred bales of scrap cotton remained to be gathered of the 1938 crop on December 1 while about 8,000 bales were ginned after that date a year

Ginners and cotton handlers expect to have finished their season's and cleaned up all the odds and ends this year by the time Christmas is at hand. #### YOUR CHRISTMAS TRIP

trip, bear in mind that travel is fraught with danger and high-speed travel in particular. Do not get in such a hurry to get where the "folks" live that you forget such things as railway crossings, junctions, curves, and ity of the yard to get the cotton to sharp turns. Also remember that every bright light you meet may have death and destruction hidden in its beams.

Safety on the highways is much more than just a slogan or ballyhoo. And it is not always for the driver who crawls at snail's pace. Safety on the highway depends largely on the driver of the motor car knowing all the time exactly what he is doing and why.

-0-THE GOVERNOR'S 'CABINET'

Another viewpoint on the governor's "cabinet" of twenty-nine whom he announced recently and called in for conference on affairs of state, is that every governor has his advisors whom he calls in and that Mr. O'-Daniel's openly arrived at and announced 'cabinet' is just another instance of open and above-board manner of handling affairs, which is to mark his administration.

COTTON QUOTA VOTE

It is evident the cotton quota opposition Lower temperatures have prevail- which has been somewhat pronounced in Floyd county is not encountering the same opposition in other portions of the south. The vote Saturday among the cotton raisers shows this.

> Unlike Floyd county and some other high plains counties there was a strong liking shown in the black land counties for the program as regards cotton.

The question is so big that even the statisticians are not agreed. Some are way out on a limb favoring the program and its significance for the south. Others are strong in their denunciation of the acreage cutting plan declaring it is ruining Texas' world marfathers had little to be thankful for. ket for cotton. tied in this respect. It seems simple to say that this should have been the case all the time. As a matter of fact, however, it has not been. Only by providing for a two-year study of the state's fiscal affairs by a committee set up for the purpose has this been possible.

Incidentally, the six millions can be used to advantage. A twenty million dollar deficit and a big increase in the cost of old age pensions looms ahead, one as a certainty, the other almost a certainty.

-0. NEW FARM OWNERS

The Farm Security Administration's efforts to put the landless man back on the land with a program of supervision and protection against abuse is beginning to appear as one of the better of many efforts to conserve the citizenship and soil at one and the same time.

If the administration has good luck in something better than fifty per cent of its farm family establishments-that is putting a capable young family on a farm home that should make them a living and pay itself out -sooner or later it can and should re-populate the country with home-owners.

The soil conservation program in general -and especially that part of it which has to do with reduced acreages-makes a problem for the Farm Security administrators, however. On a 200-acre farm, for instance, it is a bit difficult to find farms that have enough land alloted for cash income crops to meet cash outlay which it may be assumed every family has got to have. What works out mighty good for the big farmer has the little man's brow knitted in Floyd county, speaking generally. -0-

A leaflet, C-128 has been placed recently in the hands of county agents and home demonstration agents, which gives much information on winter greens and how to have them and also suggestions for cooking greens and recipes for salads and special sauces.

This little leaflet might be invaluable to you although you feel sure your family is not one of those referred to as undernourish

Holiday Events Open With Club, Organization Socials

Plans for varied and lovely pre-Christmas entertainments were completed the first of this week and different club socials begun during mid-week for the celebration of the Yuletide season.

Many clubs and civic and church organizations will hold their annual entertainments this week-end and next week.

Several of the women's organizations and other clubs are planning to help those less fortunate by distributing baskets, toys and clothing to those who would be unable to have a share in the season's feasting and celebration without aid. The community Christmas tree, sponsored by various clubs will climax the activities.

S. S. Class Social An enjoyable event for members of the Pastors Helpers Sunday School class of the Methodist church was the Christmas social given in the home of Mrs. A. P. McKinnon Tuesday. An all day affair was held with a covered dish luncheon at the noon hour Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Kirchner of

Social Club Entertained

Members of the Sans Souci Bridge club were delightfully entertained Wednesday with a two course luncheon at 1 o'clock with Mrs. A. E. Guthrie as hostess.

The luncheon was served at the dining table which carried out a blue and silver motif. The centerpiece was a reflector topped with huge clusters of blue and silver grapes. Further stressing the color scheme was the place favors and score cards of miniature Christmas trees. A beautiful potted poinsetta with red candles on each side decorated the buffet.

Soon after the luncheon the guests retired to the living room where the games of contract bridge were played with Mrs. R. C. Wakefield holding high score, Mrs. G. L. Kirk low score, Mrs. Polk Goen scored second high and Mrs. Marvin English received the cut favor. Gifts were then exchanged from the lovely tree. Other members in attendance were Mrs. Bill Daily, Mrs. Baird Bishop, Mrs. Jack Deakins, Mrs. Cecil Hagood, Mrs. George McAllister, Mrs. Terrell Loran and Mrs. Leroy McDonald. Mrs. Donald H.

Pitts played a guest hand. The club will meet January 11 at 2 o'clock with Mrs. Daily.

Several other interested turkey raisers over the county visited the flock during the day. Mr. Morckel will begin mating his turkeys and penning them about January 1, he said. Dr. Reed and Professor McCarthy were guests of the Morckels for lunch during their extended visit at the farm.

LIFE

The question, "If you could have one wish and only one, for what would you wish?" was brought to our attention in chapel Thursday when Rev. Preston spoke to the assembly. What a hard question, I thought when he first presented it so startingly. Naturally, the mind turns to the material side of the subject-money, position, fame, happiness

But, compared to the greatest blessing we enjoy, these wishes are The greatest thing in but trifles. the world is life. Without life, what would money, position or fame be? Life is the divine gift about all others. Just to be alive is a privilege that should be guarded jealously and appreciated beyond any other

Life that is blotted or ruined falls far short of the true meaning. It would not be a privilege to live as a traitor with every living moment spent in disgrace. Life was meant to be a blithe, happy gift into which is placed some sorrow for the purpose of making people more aware of their blessings.

Life was meant for action. Work

Life was given for friendship and cooperation, not ambition or opposition.

In a world of industry, it is increasingly necessary to have initiative but vaulting ambition has been the downfall of every empire that has fallen and every man who put his own interests first.

Americans have a priceless herit-They have an abundance of life and a freedom in the enjoyment of that life. "Life, liberty, and the pursuit of hapiness." The foundation of our heritage, all found in America and free for the taking.

HAIL FLOYDADA HIGH SCHOOL

Since football season when the Floydada school song came into prominence in many between-half stunts, there have been numerous requests for a repetition of the words so that fans and students alike may know the words. Here they are: Hail Floydada High school, Hats off to you. Ever you'll find us, Loyal and true. Firm and undaunted, Always we'll be, Hail to the school we love, Here's a toast to thee. Already the inspiration of the song has given the school a needed link that binds the patriotic feelings into a strong, unbreakable bond. The Pep squad and band is firmly convinced that their singing of the song gave Floydada a touchdown in one of our most exciting games. When it looked as if the Whirlwinds were about to taste bitter defeat, Mr. Camp directed the band to play "Hail, Floydada High School." As one body the entire School." As one body the entire Floydada group stood in tribute to Floydada High. Every pep girl sang with all her heart and before the song was completed, a hero in green and white blazed a victorious trail to touchdown territory. The school song has rhythm, spirit and an appealing melody that cannot be forgotten. Let the people of Floydada con-tinue to manifest such an interest in the welfare of the white and green and next year, may every op-ponent know that when, "Hall, Floyadda High School" is played, they had better tighten up their armor another notch and prepare to stop the fighting sons of F. er one man could. He is a teacher of football, a builder of character, and a general all around "good guy." Somewhere down the line Old Man Hard Luck took a liking to Winter and every season since he has been at the helm. Injuries have "mowed ed his chances down." He is going to get a break next season, the injury jinx won't stop around so often, more material will be available, and the district championship will roost here. Pickin' them for the finals. In District 4-A (barring another by the "commissioners") change change by the "commissioners") should finish Floydada, Lockney, Matador, Spur, Ralls, Paducah, and Crosbyton. In the various bowls: T. C. U. 21, Carnegie Tech 14 (Too much O'-Brien and Ki Aldrich). St. Mary's 21, Texas Tech 7 (Tech is just putting on those long pants and can't be expected to match the strides of a "grown man"). New Mexico U. 14, Utah 6 (They held Tech until the last 31 seconds and then up popped Jodie Marek). Tennessee 13, Oklahoma 7 (both have good defenses and power-house offenses, anything can happen). Southern Cal. 14, Duke 7 (The Dukes have a defense but Southern Cal has an offense...ask the Irish). And last but not least, not all of the above predictions are wrong. Buy a season ducat and watch the Whirlwinds perform on the hard-wood with a "round ball." Those boys will need your backing just as much as the football boys did ... and can sit a heck of a lot closer to the playing too. Winter has some ball hawks up there at RCA and you ought to watch them do their stuff. Lest you forget...Lockney will have a veteran basketball team to fight off Floydada's challenge for county honors.

Makes Up His Mind To Take The Kidding About Returning To Good Town So Soon

In remorse and penitence this week Carl Minor, prominent for 10 years in the food business in Floydada until September 1 last, has returned and is selling groceries at Star Cash grocery. Taking a leaf from the book of Old Tack, Amarillo columnist, he promises in a Hesperian advertisement "never, never to leave again."

Minor has re-bought the business he sold 3 months ago to Bambauer Bros., of Brownwood, and is at the same old stand. Details of the trade are being completed today.

Meanwhile Minor has had charge of the business since Tuesday. Mrs. Minor and their son, Carl Lester, will return when suitable living quarters are found, he said. "I'll have to listen for a while now to wisecracks about moving back to Floydada so quick after cutting loose to go to Fort Worth to go into business so fast," Minor said amiably Tuesday. However, he added, they laughed at him for a whole year about his broken leg, and he'd 'gotten sorter used to it." and probably would feel lonesome if he didn't get a considerable bit of kid-

The Bambauer Bros. Lewis and Will, who have had the business the past 3 months, said their plans are indefinite at this time. They were joined here 6 weeks ago by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bammity and hate. We have seen the destruction of boundaries and the downfall of nations because peoples of different race and language refused to live together with tolerant recognition of one another and of their mutual interests. We have seen a whole people persecuted, op-pressed, robbed, and harried in incredible ways, by one of the largest nations of Europe; and we have seen others in the same country similarly persecuted because of their religion. In another part of the world an ancient and peaceable people has had its life uprooted and its country ravaged by a ruthlessly militaristic nation, concerning whom it may be said that they have only too sadly followed the example set them by western nations at their worst. Here in our own land we realized the menace to democracy that is present in sectional jealousies and in religious, social, and racial bigotry. distinctive in that He applied it to life. He did not set it up as the bond between men in an ideal society, saying: "A day will come when all men will love one another, and when we shall have a society where that is possible." He brought His message of love into the world of actual humanity with all its varying interests and with all its conflicting jealousies and hatreds. And He said that the only way of bettering this world was where men learned, even in these very conditions, to love their enemies

It is natural and easy to love one's friends. Only an abnormal man fails to feel affection for those of his own kin and of his own tribe. | But Jesus saw in such love, pleasant as it might be, no real gain or overcoming. "If ye love them that love you, what reward have ye?" It is when one's love reaches out more widely and deeply to the overcoming of hate and selfishness that love really lifts man and society to a higher level.
