Stock Show on March 22 Is Cancelled

Hog Cholera Quarantine Is Cause Of Cancellation By C Of C Committee

Just as final arrangements were being made for the 4-H club and Vocational Agriculture Stock show here next week, the committee in charge bumped into a situation that wrecked the entire framework and necessitated calling the show off until "possibly this fall."

The committee discovered that Floyd county was under strict quarantine for hog cholera, which quarantine prevents moving cattle from one county to another or elsewhere except to market. The committee had earlier believed that the quarantine had been lifted but when informed that it had not been, immediately called the show off.

Although the county agent D. F. Bredthauer and vocational agriculture teacher, W. A. King, said that there was no epidemic or imminent danger of serious trouble with cholera in this county, they agreed that under the circumstances it was best to cancel or at least postpone the show until the possible danger of infection was over.

Prizes in merchandise were to be awarded to winners in the following divisions:

Breeding sows under 12 months of age;

Gilts under 12 months of age;
Fat barrows over 240 pounds in weight;

Fat barrows under 240 pounds in weight;

Beef calves;
Dairy calves;
Fat lambs.

Over 125 4-H club boys and vocational agriculture boys were working on livestock projects for the show, Bredthauer and King estimated. The show was to have been an all-Floyd county affair with all boys with livestock projects in the county eligible to compete. Judges were to be secured from Texas Technological college.

Lon M. Davis, W. Edd Brown and J. M. Willson were members of the committee appointed by Chamber of Commerce President G. L. Kirk to work on the show. Bredthauer and King were also named on the committee.

REA Announces the Domestic Rate for Co-Op Power Users

Lines Likely Ready To Energize In April; House Wiring Is Lagging

Rates to apply for the homes on the Rural Electric line have been announced by Project Superintendent L. W. Chapman this week. The rates announced are based on making the project self-supporting.

The rates as announced by Superintendent Chapman are "25 KWH at 9.8 cents equals $2.45 which is the minimum bill for the month. The next 50 KWH at 5 cents equals $2.50. The next 125 KWH at 2.5 cents equals $3.12, consumption above 200 KWH will be at 1.5 cents."

The rates will apply where lights, iron refrigerators and radios and other small appliances are used. Electric range, water heater and larger than fraction horsepower motors take a special rate which can be obtained at the Floyd County Rural Electric co-op, Chapman said. Schools, churches and community buildings take a special rate of $18 per year.

Work is being pushed as fast as possible in order that energization can take place in early April is the main talk at the Co-op, Chapman said. The substitution transformers have arrived and it is hoped that they can be installed ready to go in approximately three weeks. The construction of line is nearly complete and most of the transformers are set.

Superintendent Chapman stated that house wiring is not progressing as fast as it should. "It is my opinion that we will be ready to energize before all of the houses are wired, in which case we cannot energize until they are all ready to become users."

Several Teams Due To Compete Are Strong; Track Work This Week

Team and school trophies for the invitation track and field meet on March 18 have arrived and will be placed on display this week-end. Coach Odell Winter announced today. The school making the most points will receive a 12 inch gold statuette of a sprinter and the team winning each relay will receive a 6 1/2 inch gold statuette of a relay racer.

Work is expected to get under way this week on the track. A tractor and grader will cut down the high spots, and generally level off the track for the meet. Straight-away on the east side will be prepared for the 100 yard dash to accommodate at least 10 men in each race, if necessary. The entire oval will be graded and banked hard spots and gravel will be taken out and the entire bed put into first class shape.

Individual medals, with the event stamped on the charm, will be given each event winner. Ribbons will be given to second and third places. Points will be figured on the accepted 5-3-2-1 basis, ie, 5 points for first place, 3 points for second place, etc. The individual making the most points will receive a special medal charm. The school assembling the most points will receive the school trophy as meet winners.

The Floydada track and field team served notice this past week that they were out to keep as many trophies and medals at home as they could by defeating Ralls in a dual meet. The team as a whole issued an open challenge to Lockney's speedsters to compete in the invitation meet. Linder and Daniels ran almost a dead heat in both the 220 and 100 yard dashes and feel able to tangle with Amoret or Hill after out-racing Light at Ralls.

The Whirlwind team also showed speed and endurance in the middle and long distance races but were surprisingly weak in the "brawn" events, such as discus and shot events.

Lockney is due to win the county again this year by a close margin from the Whirlwinds but are not due to cause any great concern at the district meet unless they can get more experience than racing in the county meet. Hill, Brotherton, and Davis represent a fairly well balanced sprint team but there is plenty of doubt that any of the (See TROPHIES ARRIVE, page 5)

2 Big Nights Of Fighting In Prospect

Best Boxers From Three Districts Due To Compete Today And Friday

First round bouts in Floydada's invitation high school boxing tournament will begin tonight at Andrews Ward gym. Prospects are for 14 or 15 wild bouts before the night is over and if entries continue to come in unhealed it is possible that more might be held.

Coach Odell Winter said that it was possible under the circumstances that a session would be held tomorrow afternoon in order to eliminate still more of the fighters so the list of finalists would not be so long Friday night.

As it shapes up now Amarillo is due to bring all of their winners at the Flomot tournament here and several who were not entered in the Flomot tournament. Several of their boys were district G-G champs and came through the Flomot tourney in fine shape. Estelina is due to bring a G-G champion from the Childress district and several other glove slingers as well.

Turkey, Quitaque, and Flomot are due to bring full teams to the tourney and from reports that have reached from below the Caprock some of their boys are improving rapidly and will likely upset some of the favorites. Whether or not Quail or Wellington will send a team or even two or three men is not known.

Silverton, Plainview and Lockney will have their quota of fighters ready to go at the starting gong. Tullis is an unknown quantity at this time and may or may not bring fighters. Slaton is coming to town with a whole raft of Lubbock G-G winners and a variety of weights with the hope of slapping down some of the champs from the Amarillo and Childress districts. Littlefield is sending one Lubbock district champion and may bring several more who advanced high there.

Several other schools may appear at the zero hour with fighters. It appears at present that Floydada will turn out to be site of an intra-district tournament before the week closes. Floydada high school will probably have an entrant in every weight except the heavyweight and light-heavy divisions. Divisions will begin at 95 pounds and continue through the heavy-weight division. Fighters must reach within three pounds of a weight to (See Two Big Nights, page 5)

Judge Clark Dies Of Heart Ailment Here Sun. Morning

Over-Exertion On Trip Home From Winter Resort Fatal To Pioneer

Judge W. B. Clark, one of the original Floyd county homesteaders, public school teachers and county official, succumbed Sunday morning at his home in Floydada at 3 o'clock from a heart attack.

At home only a few hours from a stay of several weeks in the hill country west of Austin, the fatal attack is believed to have been due to over-exertion from a hard drive Saturday through a West Texas windstorm. He was only slightly ill and nervous when he reached home, it was believed, but his condition in the night became so alarming that Mrs. Clark called in members of the family and medical assistance, to no avail.

Funeral rites were held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Baptist church, where Rev. Vernon Shaw, pastor of the church, was assisted by Rev. G. W. Tubbs, long-time friend of the deceased and a former pastor, in officiating.

Interment was made in Floydada cemetery. Numerous friends of the family were here to pay last respects to the deceased. Pallbearers were Randall Whitworth, Matador, Dr. C. J. McCollum, Lockney, E. L. Norman, Roy Curry, Walter Travis, Hollis Bond, R. E. Fry, Dr. I. W. Hicks, and L. G. Withers. Flower attendants included Mrs. J. H. Myers, Mrs. R. C. Henry, Mrs. C. T. Scott, Mrs. I. W. Hicks, Mrs. E. P. Nelson, Mrs. H. O. Pope, Mrs. S. T. Harris, Mrs. Morgan Wright, Mrs. W. F. Weatherbee, Mrs. O. M. Conway, Mrs. Roy Curry, Mrs. W. C. Sims, Mrs. A. J. Welch, Mrs. A. J. Jackson.

Born in Tennessee on October 5, 1861, Mr. Clark came to Texas in 1884. He settled in Parker county and there was married on June 10, 1886, to Miss Mary Alicia Wallace. In 1890 the couple moved west to Floyd county and in that year filed on a pre-emption survey near the present site of Trick, where they lived many years.

Besides the wife who had been his companion for 43 years, the deceased is survived by two sons, Wallace (See JUDGE CLARK, page 5)

Charges Filed Against Wichitaian Following Rebounding Checks

Two charges of swindling by worthless check and one charge of "obtaining lodging by trick or deception" were filed against E. G. Calhoun of Wichita Falls last week and this week he is lodged in the Floyd county jail in lieu of $1,000 bond.

The swindling charges were brought by Wilson and Son Lumber company and Higginbotham Bartlett company both of Floydada. The "lodging" charge was pressed by the Commercial hotel after Calhoun absented himself from the hotel without paying his bill.

Several other check charges are pending but may not be filed although a total of some $275 in worthless checks were passed in Floyd county by Calhoun according to county officers who checked over the case. None of the checks were of sufficient value to be felonies but will carry a misdemeanor charge.

The swindling charges carry a "two years in jail or a $500 fine or both" penalty if the defendant is found guilty. The "lodging" charge carries a penalty of $100 fine or one month in jail or both if the defendant is found guilty.

Wider acquaintance with the work the credit association here is doing is one of the primary aims of the banquet tonight, she said.

Spinal Column

Can I Get Well?

To every sick person that is the eternal question mark. From my viewpoint as a chiropractor, at least four factors enter the equation: (a) age of the patient; (b) progress of the disease; (c) attitude and reaction of the individual while taking the adjustments and finally, (d) efficiency of the chiropractor who delivers the adjustive move.

As a rule, the younger a person is the faster the reparable forces work. However, this rule has many exceptions. In my practice many of my most successful cases have been those who are well past middle life. Disease immediately taken in hand can be, in most cases, successfully handled but when permitted to gain progress may prove stubborn to any procedure used. Attitude and reaction are both mental and physical characteristics, different and variable as our West Texas weather condition. Each case necessarily should be handled as a special problem. Proficiency of the chiropractor may prove to be the Big X in the getting well process. Practitioners of any Art differ somewhat in the application of their particular craft, although fundamental training may be along the same or similar lines.

I shall be glad to see any of those who have health problems. You will find me located at Holmes' Studio. Next subject: "WHAT'S A NAME?" P. S. Become spine conscious: Read SPINAL COLUMN Weekly.

As I See It

Bill Hams

Plenty to do and see during March seems to be in prospect with the boxing tourney tonight and tomorrow night (and perhaps longer), the 4-H and Vocational Aggie stock show, and the invitation track and field meet, and to cap the whole thing off there will be tennis, softball and other eliminations on March 25, followed by the county meet on the last day of the month.

The only "fly in the ointment" seems to be the return of the "dusters" to the "extinct" Dust Bowl. These dust storms can change the whole prospect of fun and pleasure into naught but gloom, particularly those events which must be held in the open, such as stock shows, tennis, and track.

All the events listed above will be well worth your while to see, and don't miss them if you can help it.

Interest in bowling has been on the upswing in Floydada and over the entire Panhandle for the past few months. Plans are being formulated to open an Independent Bowling League here soon with the official season lasting one month.

The team at the top of the heap at the end of the season would be rewarded for their efforts with a grand prize of 15 dollars. Each week the bowler rolling the highest score in one game would be rewarded with $2.50, the lowest score rolled in tournament play would be rewarded with a booby prize of "one day's free bowling."

Whether the various merchants will respond to the call has not yet been determined but off hand the stunt looks like it has possibilities for fun and entertainment. The larger cities of Lubbock and Amarillo have been operating such leagues for some time with good results.

By the way, don't let the arguing over the transaction tax and other tax measures keep you from watching the legislature work on the so called "Fair Trade and Anti-Discrimination" laws. Because if these laws are passed they will go as deep into your pocket as the tax laws and perhaps deeper.

The law as is generally described prevents any merchant from selling any article for less than the "manufacturer's set price" plus six per cent. In other words Pittsburg, New York and Boston will tell your merchant the price he shall charge you for goods. Most of the stores, hardware, drug, furniture, and others, sell their articles at about 10 per cent less than the manufacturer's suggested retail price in most cases, but if this law goes into effect they will of a necessity have to raise their prices to match that ordered by the maker or suffer the consequences.

Whether the article is worth the price does not matter, all that matters is what the manufacturer in the East says charge... in other words... do you want your own merchant to make his prices or do you want the Eastern Manufacturer dictate your prices just as he dictates railroad rates, which you know are discriminatory?

Think it over — when has the South and Southwest got anything (except a raw deal) from the East?

"Is Hitler Dead?" Recently such a question was asked and just as recently it was answered in a book, released on the market only a few days ago. The book is written (supposedly) by a friend of Adolph Hitler who claimed to know the details. The book says that Hitler was poisoned some time ago and that since that time "doubles" have been filling in under orders from the high officials who decided to let Germany remain under the Swastika, or "hooked cross."

Evidence is given in the book which is supposed to prove that the ruler of Germany is dead. The book claims that the French diplomatic corps is aware of the fact that he is dead.

This week a leading magazine contains a story dealing with the fact that Hitler "believes his end is near" and is rushing to finish his work before this "premonition" comes true. This story is also written by a "person well acquainted with Hitler."

Dead or alive, the fact remains that the world is still facing a crisis and more history may be made within the next two years than has been made during the past two. If Hitler is dead things will pop when the general run of countries find it out. If he is alive, things will pop as he goes his way to "make the world safe for dictators and from Jews and Bolsheviks."

Texas Tech is making an effort to secure one of the civilian aviation training fields which are scheduled to be authorized under the nation by a flying field, hangers, national defence and preparedness plan. Under such a set up Tech etc. where students would receive mechanical training to repair and even construct planes and engines, and later they would learn to fly these planes.

Tech has ample space and equipment to handle such an aviation training school for the government and also has a great area from which to select students.

ADVERSE WEATHER BRINGS MOST LOSS TO WHEAT CROP

Although the nation's wheat crop faces many hazards each season, including insect pests, plant diseases, and fire, the greatest cause of loss is adverse weather conditions, according to the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, a new Department of Agriculture agency offering "all-risk" crop insurance policies to wheat growers.

The Corporation's findings indicate that bad weather—drought, too much rain, hail, hot winds, storms, cold waves—is responsible for about 73 percent of all wheat crop losses. Droughts alone account for about 38 percent of total wheat crop losses and thus are the major hazards facing wheat growers. Other weather losses and approximate percent of total damage attributable to them: Freezes, 14 percent; too much rain, 8 percent; storms and hot winds, 7 percent; hail, 4 percent; floods, 1 percent; and other weather, 1 percent.

Insect pests were rated as causing about 9 percent of total crop damage and plant diseases were charged with 17 percent.

More than 112,000 wheat growers have insured themselves against unavoidable losses in 1939 by taking out crop insurance policies which guarantee them up to 75 percent of their average yield.

FEDERAL LANDS HELP BIG-GAME ANIMALS

Out of a total of 5,000,000 big-game animals in the United States, nearly 2,000,000 are on Federal lands, say nationalists of the Biological Survey who recently completed a Nation-wide big-game inventory in cooperation with local, state, and other Federal agencies.

A million and a half big-game animals were reported in national forests, 43,000 in national parks, and 42,000 in Federal refuges, though most of the refuges are maintained primarily for birds.

Deer accounted for 4 1/2 million out of the national total. Biological Survey officials point to the interesting fact that there are twice as many deer on state and private lands as there are on Federal areas, but there are twice as many other animals on Federal lands as there are on state and private areas. This indicates, they point out, that the Federally owned areas are especially important for the rare and less abundant species.

Antiseptic Lake

Germs don't stand a chance in Great Salt Lake, scientists have discovered. There is too much salt there. Even bacteria which thrive in oceans can't live in the lake.

Thus it would seem that, being germ free, Great Salt Lake would be an ideal "swimming hole." However, salt makes the water so buoyant its almost impossible for one to sink.

FSA LOANS RESULT IN BETTER FARM HOMES

Much of the money being loaned by the Farm Security administration to help tenants purchase farms of their own is going into construction and repair of homes.

On farms in Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi, for example, a thousand modest but substantial homes are being erected for less than $1,500 as part of the FSA program to help low-income farmers purchase their own farmsteads.

The FSA has bought up tracts of good land for subdivision into family-size farms, which are resold to competent tenant farmers at reasonable interest rates.

To transform the units into livable, workable farmsteads, it was necessary to erect on each a house, a barn, and a poultry house, to dig a well, and do necessary fencing.

The construction work is carried out under a three-way agreement between the prospective owner, a private contractor, and the government, the latter acting as consultant.

The club appreciated and enjoyed the review greatly.

LOW FEED COSTS MAKE MORE WORK FOR COWS

Because feed costs have been low during the past several months, milk production has continued rather heavy since early last summer, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports. The number of milk cows also has begun to increase.

The Bureau points out that the milk cow may be likened to a pump which draws upon the farmers' feed supplies to produce a stream of milk. When prices are favorable, the farmer can put more pressure on the pump by heavier feeding.

"Looking ahead," the Bureau says, "the stage is set for an increase in milk cow numbers. The extent to which the prospective increase will be realized will depend to some degree on the extent to which present favorable conditions are maintained." These might be seriously interrupted by drought, unfavorable prices, and other adverse factors which cannot be accurately forecast.

Thus it would seem that, being germ free, Great Salt Lake would be an ideal "swimming hole." However, salt makes the water so buoyant its almost impossible for one to sink.

FSA LOANS RESULT IN BETTER FARM HOMES

Much of the money being loaned by the Farm Security administration to help tenants purchase farms of their own is going into construction and repair of homes.

On farms in Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi, for example, a thousand modest but substantial homes are being erected for less than $1,500 as part of the FSA program to help low-income farmers purchase their own farmsteads.

The FSA has bought up tracts of good land for subdivision into family-size farms, which are resold to competent tenant farmers at reasonable interest rates.

To transform the units into livable, workable farmsteads, it was necessary to erect on each a house, a barn, and a poultry house, to dig a well, and do necessary fencing.

The construction work is carried out under a three-way agreement between the prospective owner, a private contractor, and the government, the latter acting as consultant.

FARMERS VARY METHODS TO CONSERVE NITROGEN

To help the soil accumulate enough nitrogen to feed a crop of wheat, many farmers in the Pacific Northwest follow a cropping system that is almost exactly the opposite of the best method in the Southeast. In the dry-farming area of eastern Washington and Oregon, and in Idaho and Montana, it is good farming to leave a field fallow for a year and to keep down weeds by cultivation.

This system was adopted originally to accumulate most of the rainfall from 2 years to supply the crop of 1 year. But scientists of the Department of Agriculture and state experiment stations have found that the method also favors accumulation of nitrogen in the readily usable nitrate form. This greater supply of nitrates improves the yield and quality of the grain as a topdressing of nitrate fertilizer would, they report.

In the southeast, good farmers also try to accumulate nitrates, but instead of keeping the land bare they try to keep a plant cover on the field the year round, either a cover crop—a legume for first choice—or a crop of weeds.

This contrast reflects the difference in moisture supply. In the Northwest the nitrates become available as the more complex nitrogen compounds break down. There is no surplus of moisture to leach the nitrates away. In the Southeast, however, frequent rains cause serious leaching. The best way to save nitrates is to have a cover of plants that will take up the nitrates before they can escape. Then, when the plant cover is ploughed under it quickly decays in the moist soil and the nitrates are again available for the crop that follows.

Sixteen thousand persons have been questioned in regard to the Mattson kidnaping-slaying case which occurred when the 10-year-old son of Dr. W. W. The tourney is sponsored by the Floydada Whirlwind club and Floydada High School.

FLOOR FOR PIG PEN

Plank floor of any kind are not recommended for piggeries due to the fact that it is difficult to keep such floors in a sanitary condition. The best flooring material for piggeries is concrete, though a sleeping bed in concrete corner of the pen is usually covered with planks as such a bed is warmer than a concrete surface for the pigs to lie on, advises an authority in the Montreal Herald. Birch or other hard wood planks would be satisfactory for use for sleeping beds on concrete provided they are kept dry, but if allowed to get wet, pine, cedar or other lumber from coniferous trees would be better.

Misspelled Words

John Stroud says that the word most commonly misspelled on the radio today is quintuplets. And he also says that the average person, when given a test on the following 20 words, misspells six of them: Outside a cemetery sat a harassed cobbler and an embarrassed peddler, gnawing on a dislocated potato, and gazing at the symmetry of a lady's ankle with unparalleled raptoriality.

Something New — Mounted police of Inglewood, Calif., have found the motor scooter an extremely useful means of locomotion, as shown in this picture. The new motor vehicle is quickly parked and yet carries the policeman to his post of duty almost as quickly as his more rugged and larger machine.

Man has three nervous systems. The central nervous system, which consists of the brain and its associated fibers that extend to all parts of the body, is particularly associated with the sense organs and muscles. The autonomic and sympathetic nervous systems are associated with the internal organs and processes which operate themselves without aid from the other nervous system. These two systems bear the same relationship to each other as the gas pedal and the brakes on an automobile. Normally these actions balance each other.

Judge Clark—

Clark of Bentonville, Arkansas and A. B. Clark, Floydada, and two daughters, Mrs. E. A. Preston of Abilene, and Mrs. Clarence Foster, Floydada. Nine grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Theraza Shekton, the latter of Scottsboro, Alabama, also survive.

Formerly of the Presbyterian faith Mr. Clark became a member of the Baptist church in 1895, baptized that year at Whiteflat. His other affiliations included membership in the Masonic and Odd Fellows fraternal orders. He served for 6 years as county and district clerk of Floyd county and for 4 years as county judge of Floyd county.

Judge and Mrs. Clark about January 1 went to Johnson City, west of Austin in the hills some 50 miles, to spend the late winter and early spring months in a milder climate. They had returned home a few days earlier than expected, and enroute from Abilene here encountered some difficult driving and tire trouble. The exposure and effort incident to these difficulties are believed to have overtaxed the Judge's strength.

BE A BOOSTER

"Be a Booster—like a rooster—always crowing loud and long; keep a yelling what you're selling—put some pepper in your song. If you're tired, go get fired—hunt a job you think will suit you. Be a getter—times are better for the man that packs a smile; take your licking or quit kicking—dig right in and make your pile. The depression is over and there's clover in the pastures all around; it's not waiting or debating but making hay out of the ground. Watch it growing—always showing lots of blossom—it's alive. If you are a dead one go use a lead gun—drones ain't wanted in this hive. Be a doing—quit your staving—get a move on, grab some kale; don't let your head get feeling dead yet—'Sweat and Smile and You Can't fail'."

Among the visitors at the Amarillo stock show Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. Grover Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Ham Smith.

Trophies Arrive—

three can out-run Elder, Daniels or Anonett, the latter especially is eager to show Hill his heels following the incident on the Flomot grid last fall when the Lockney buck caught him from behind to spoil a winning touchdown race.

Flomot looms as especially strong in sprint and field events. Spur has one of the finest high jumpers in the state who generally clears six feet in almost any meet if crowded that far. Matador has several good sprinters and should turn up with a good relay team. Amarillo and Lubbock always have strong track and field teams, with Lubbock generally the strongest. Plainview is a "dark horse" but under the new coaching regime the Bulldogs are likely to turn up with good team in anything.

If Claude High School is able to travel this far the Mustangs are sure to cause a "heap of trouble" among the contenders because the horses are just about the hottest school in track competition on the plains. The Memphis Cyclone, who already plan a big Caprock track and field meet on March 31, are also due to cause a stir if they can get over the caprock.

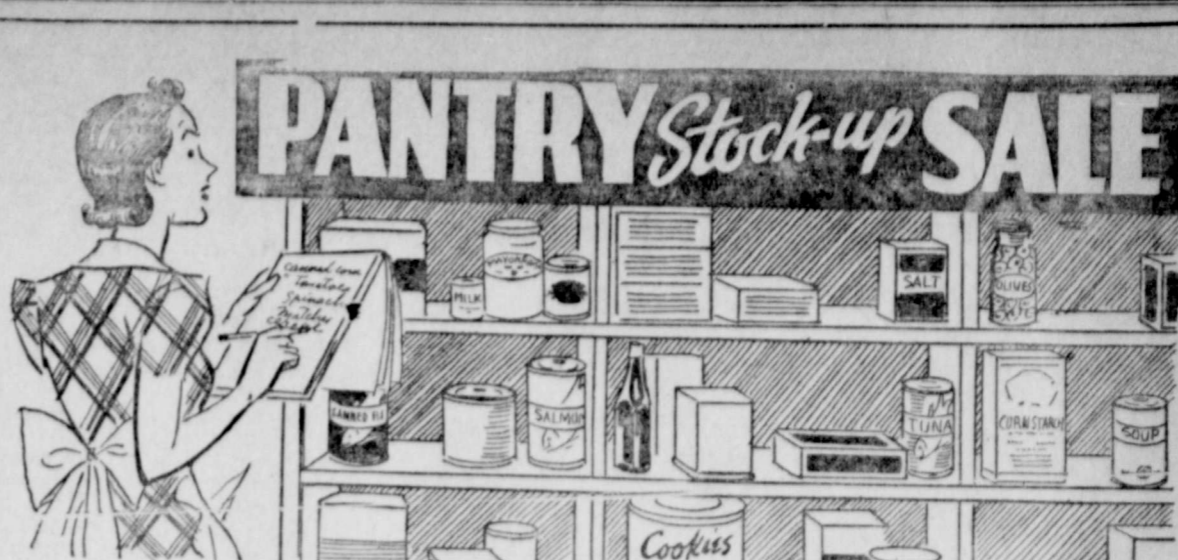

Several Floyd rural schools are planning to enter teams and several have already sent entry lists to Coach Winter.

WHITE HOUSE TREES DONATED

In the White House grounds in Washington are a number of trees planted by former presidents and their wives some of which have interesting histories, the oldest being an elm planted by President John Quincy Adams.

There are some elms planted by President Rutherford H. Hayes and Woodrow Wilson; a sweet gum by President Benjamin Harrison, oaks by President William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt, Japanese cherry by Mrs. Taft, magnolia by Mrs. Harding, and a birch by Mrs. Coolidge.

I. A. Smith, Jr., of Snyder, is in Floydada and has begun work with White Drug company as sales clerk.

THE FINER THINGS OF LIFE

Culture is the most essential part of civilization. Music and speech are two of the most important parts of a person's cultural life. Students who have an interest in this phase of culture now have the opportunity to advance their knowledge and further their talent.

Taking part in the school band is a fine way to learn co-operation, unity and independence. Cooperation with fellow members, and the director is one of the main objectives of band. It teaches unity because in band the different parts have to be played and played at the right time. Independence and ability to play one's part is furthered by band membership.

The study of music helps a student to appreciate good musical rendition, and encourages a student to take part in it. The music presented by any good band always has a good influence on a person's reaction to his environment.

After a student is out of school, the value of the music learned during school days will present itself in many forms. A student will be able to enjoy good music, which tends to be a vital part in a fuller and more enjoyable life.

We the American people are in such a hurry, that we fail to notice some of the finer things of life. May we as high school students encourage the study of music in all forms to develop a more cultured people.

S. that the rings will have a Whirlwind on a pearl stone which is mounted on a pearl stone which is mounted on a ruby. This ring may be chosen in three different weight sizes, small, medium and large. The rings were chosen from the Southern Engraving company.

Play Presented By FHS Speech Class

Members of the Speech Arts class of the Floydada High school presented a one act play at the District 1 State Health convention in Big Spring on March 1.

The class was asked by Miss Nora Carlton of the District Health office to prepare a play for the convention which represented this district.

The cast of the play Winifred Hodge, Judson Abernathy, W. C. Boren, Olin Watson, Evelyn Groves, Dorris Collins, Earl Beck, Donnie Beth Nichols and Mrs. Piper, the director. Mrs. Stephens with the health unit also assisted in making arrangements for the play.

The morning session of the convention was attended after which the cast were guests at the luncheon at the Settle hotel.

The play was scheduled for 2:30 in the municipal auditorium, which is impressive in its beauty and spaciousness. The auditorium seats about 2000 people and boasts of perfect acoustics. Curtains of scarlet velvet and gold velvet made the settings lovely.

The play which was given in Floydada High school, February 24 was the one presented to a receptive audience and the cast has received numerous compliments.

Dr. Cox of the Tuberculosis sanatorium at San Antonio gave an informative talk on tuberculosis and was one of the most interesting speakers.

Others attending from Floydada were James Walker, Dr. Sasse, Dr. Hooper, Bill Eason and Mrs. Stevens.

Track Team Wins From Ralls

The track boys trilled to Ralls Friday to participate in a dual meet with the Jackrabbits. The Whirlwinds carried this off by a margin of 55 points to 43.

In the 100 yard dash Linder was first, Daniels, second and Light third, Daniels third.

In the 220 yard dash Linder was first, Daniels second.

In the 440 yard run after setting a brilliant pace Fred Beard dropped to let Aidine Williams win this race.

In the 880 Jarboe was first and Taylor second in a brilliant finish that saw Jarboe finish a few strides ahead of Dale Taylor.

In the mile run Patterson of Floydada was first with Tyler second.

In the low hurdles Patterson was fourth with 31 seconds. The high hurdles were not run because of the high wind.

In the broad jump Jackson and Burgett tied for second at 5 feet and 8 inches.

In the broad jump Daniels was first with 19 feet and 6 inches and Brand was second with 19 feet and 5 inches.

In the shot put Floydada was third. Barton of Ralls threw the shot 41 feet.

In the discus Barton was first with 103 feet and Linder was second with 96 feet.

This is the first real test for the track team but it now looks as if Lockney will get a run for their money.

Time will now be devoted to smoothing out the wrinkles before our Invitation Track meet March 18.

The boys making the trip to Ralls were George Linder, Clifford Daniels, Mal Jarboe, Dale Taylor, Jimmy Willson, Aidine Williams, Nolan Brand, Bill Jackson, Aloph Burgett, Gordon Patterson, E. L. Tyler, Fred Beard, Joe Shultz, and Leeman Norman and Coach Winters.

CLASS EDITIONS

To keep in tune with the precedent established years ago and repeated every year since, the Hesperian of 1938-39 will again present the annual class editions of the Hesperian.

These particular editions hold the best journalism that each class has to offer written by the outstanding students in that class. The students that work on their class paper have to make high grades, have the esteem of the student body and general leadership qualities.

With the help of the class sponsors, the staff will be chosen and approved by the editors who have been chosen by Miss Rees and the regular Hesperian staff.

This week the editorships of the paper have been decided and it is with pleasure that they are announced.

The editor of the Freshman Edition is to be Floy Jean Hale, who has had preliminary experience on the Hesperian this year and has written some good feature stories. The Sophomores are to be represented by Louise Willson, one of the high ranking students of this class.

Jane Clark will take the helm for the Juniors and this edition is one of the most popular. James Burrus, one of the most popular Seniors will have the authority for the responsibility of the Senior edition.

Each of these editions is looked forward to every year and this year proves to be no exception as interest soars.

The Freshmen will have full charge for the March 23 edition. The Sophomores paper will come out on the April 6. The Junior edi-

Quilt Show Mar. 20-25 At Hagood's

Imposing Array Of New And Old Patterns Anticipated March 20-25

Announcement of a regional quilt show lasting a week beginning on March 20 was made by Cecil Hagood, manager of Hagood's Drygoods this week, when the department store will be transformed into a show room and merchandise rearranged to make room for the displays.

Promises already given indicate an excellent array of quilts during the week in the competition. Mr. Hagood said, and added entries are hoped for during next week.

According to the plans made and announced this week first and second prizes will be awarded in each of 2 divisions, and the judging will be done by competent disinterested judges.

According to the rules made all quilts to compete must be entered by Saturday, March 18, and on Monday, March 20, the display will be ready to be shown throughout a week, closing on Saturday night, March 25.

"Some of the prettiest quilts, both new and old, are in the hands of quilt lovers of this trade territory," Hagood said Tuesday. "These we want to bring out and have displayed for the benefit of the lovers of pretty quilts and good quilting. The quilts will have the best care we can give them and will be insured against fire loss or damage to the extent of $10 per quilt."

While the last date for official entries is set for Saturday of next week, Mr. Hagood said quilts could be turned in at any time. He anticipates scores of entries and expects to have a unique feature event that will draw wide interest.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION IS STRESSED AT U. OF TEXAS

AUSTIN, Texas, March 8.—The fable of the ugly duckling and the graceful swan doesn't faze University of Texas co-eds who take their figure problems seriously.

Climaxing a season of classwork, University girls last week held their second annual Posture Parade, with Ruth Spargo of Houston, Glenn Appling of Luling and Jane Loomis of El Paso chosen as "princesses of posture."

Miss Average Freshman, seventeen, 5 feet 4 inches tall, weight 115 pounds, goes through a combination health-posture-feet examination when she first enters the university.

She has no structural body defects, the examination shows, but through faulty "body mechanics" she gets a grade of B-minus on both posture and feet.

She has that "co-ed slump," a mild sort of S-shape, which tightens her knees, curves her shoulders and throws her head forward. Her feet toe in or out, and she puts them stiffly on the ground.

Guided by the examination and a "silhouetograph" posture picture, the University physical training department takes her in hand and offers her a "new figure"—if she wants it.

She is required to take an eight-weeks intensive course in "freshman fundamentals," during which she spends a few minutes each day in class exercises and the remainder of the time working on her own particular posture problem.

At the end of the eight-weeks course, a second examination is made and a second silhouetograph is taken. They probably show that she has gained a few pounds, bringing her a little nearer the 121-pound national correct weight level for her age. She has straightened her shoulders, set her head more firmly on top of her body, and learned to walk more gracefully. She has probably acquired both B-plus posture and B-plus feet.

Exemplify Live-at-Home Farm Plans Of Farm Sec. Adm

Certificates Issued Denoting Unusual Effort On Part Of Home Workers

Seven Floyd county families were among the prize home makers on the Farm Security Administration's "Live at Home" program for 1938. They raised 75% of their living at home. They are Mrs. T. E. Brock, Mrs. J. H. Exum, Mrs. T. R. Hern, Mrs. Bill O. McNeill, Mrs. John E. Smith and Mrs. Carrick Snodgrass of Floydada. Seventeen others reached the 60% "Live at Home" mark. They are Mmes. John H. Baxter, George J. Dannheim, Thomas M. Smith, William L. Street, William McCada, Luther Hooten, William H. Felder of Lockney, Texas, and Mmes. John R. Austin, Emory H. Cox, Glenn Dennison, James P. O'Connor, E. L. Poteet, Nolan R. Tucker, William A. Scott and James J. Smith, Jr., of Floydada.

They have received certificates bearing blue and red ribbons from State Director, Wilson N. Cowen, and District Supervisor Ruby E. Matthews, presented by Mary W. Jones, county home supervisor. 89 families in West Texas reached the blue ribbon class; 123 the red ribbon class. Many excellent home-makers were handicapped by lack of sufficient vegetables for canning. To reach the 75% mark, the home maker must have canned at least 100 quarts of vegetables per person, 2 hogs to butcher, 1 beef to can, 50 to 200 hens, and the raising of 150 or more baby chicks, and a good record book of the income and expenses. The 60% mark is reached by those who canned 80 quarts of vegetables per person, 15 quarts of fruit per person, and with other requirements slightly lower. The Farm Security is encouraging this "Live at Home" program at the present time by helping build sub-irrigated, cold frame gardens for early spring vegetables.

16 But Peter continued knocking; and when they had opened the door, and saw him, they were astonished.

17 But he, beckoning unto them with the hand to hold their peace, declared unto them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he said, Go shew these things unto James, and to the brethren. And he departed, and went into another place.

Introduction
The first part of our lesson presents a dark picture for those who would be servants of Jesus, but it closes with a glorious victory. Peter's power had been manifested on different occasions until his popularity had become great. It was the time of Pentecost, and Jews were gathered from everywhere to celebrate the solemn feast. The Jews were under Roman authority, and Herod, as politicians so often do, sought to promote his own power and influence among the Jews. So he was vexing the church by persecuting the most popular among the Christians. Now, as then, the ones who have made good, you may expect trouble from men, but God never deserts you.

But we still like short ads and this time, at least, we are having our own way. And thus is published the shortest Phillips advertisement on record. See if you don't agree that the 32 words below are enough to sell you a tankful of Phillips 66.

Recent AAA Committee Regulations

Rulings On Soil Depleting Practices And Subsidy Payments

(Ed. Note: Herewith are reproduced for the information of producers recent rulings which the County Agricultural committee has decided upon to make.)

Re-Planting Wheat Land

"If a producer plants an acreage of wheat on his farm not less than 60 percent of the wheat allotment and not more than 100 percent of the wheat allotment, he will be entitled to the wheat conservation and subsidy payments even though the wheat is destroyed by adverse weather conditions and followed by some other crop. There is no restriction as to the crops that might be planted following the destroyed wheat, except that if the total acreage of cotton on the farm in 1939 is in excess of the cotton acreage allotment, and if the total acreage of soil-depleting crops is in excess of the total soil-depleting acreage allotment, the reductions provided in sections 1 and 7, SRB-301A will apply."

Item II

"Retel February 7. On forms where no usual wheat acreage is established, no penalty will be applied if seeded wheat is not in excess of eight acres."

Oats And Alfalfa

"Oats harvested for hay are soil-depleting except when used as a nurse crop for legumes or perennial grasses of which a good stand is established in 1939. Oats seeded as a nurse crop for alfalfa, may be cut for hay and not be classified as soil-depleting if a good stand of alfalfa is secured. Credit should be given toward the soil-building goal of the farm at the rate of two units for each acre of alfalfa planted in this manner."

Trees On Crop Land

"There have been numerous inquiries concerning the classification of cropland planted to forest trees in cooperation with the Prairie States Forestry Project. Cropland planted to trees under the Prairie States Forestry Project is still considered to be tilled land under the provisions of Amendment 3 to SRB-204.

"Practice 17 of Southern Region Bulletin 301A provides as follows: 'Cultivating, protecting, and maintaining by replanting, if necessary, a good stand for forest trees, planted after January 1, 1936, and before January 1, 1939 (or before July 1, 1939, under a cooperative agreement with the Prairie States Forestry Project.)'

"This means that those farmers cooperating with the Prairie States Forestry Project will be entitled to two units of soil-building practices for each acre planted before July 1, 1939, in cooperation with the above project, but they will not qualify under practice 20 because the materials furnished by the Prairie States Forestry Project represent 50 percent or more of the total cost of planting the forest trees.

"Subsection E, section 13, SRB-301A provides that all or any part of any payment which otherwise would be made to any person under the 1939 Agricultural Conservation Program may be withheld if he has adopted any practice which the Secretary determines tends to defeat any of the purposes of the 1939 or previous agricultural conservation programs.

"Under this ruling, payments may be withheld from any producer who willfully destroys trees planted on his farm under a cooperative agreement with the Prairie States Forestry Project."

"Atlas Sorgo

"The bulletin No. 496 of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station lists Atlas Sorgo as a sweet sorghum. This crop will not be classified as soil-depleting under the 1939 Agricultural Conservation Program unless harvested for seed or syrup."

WINDBREAKS SLOW UP HOT WINDS ON PLAINS

Winds that threaten crops and erode and parch farm land in the Great Plains, this year find more than 7,000 miles of shelterbelts in their path. These field windbreaks, a part of the Prairie States Forestry Project of the United States Forest Service, practically stop wind erosion. Probably more important, they reduce evaporation of moisture from the soil and from growing crops. Farm fields and crops, like laundry on the line, dry rapidly in a stiff wind.

These field windbreaks—few of which are over 3 years old—already are increasing yields and stabilizing diversified farming in the six states of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas in which the Prairie States Forestry Project operates.

Because conditions vary, field windbreaks may be of different widths and run in different directions. Larger belts of 7 to 10 rows of trees a half mile apart may be supplemented by belts of 2 to 3 rows every quarter-mile. Shrubs or low-growing trees along the edge of the larger shelterbelts retard the wind from the ground up. It is estimated that about 8 acres of shelterbelt strips will protect the average 100-acre farm—about 20 times the height of the trees on the lee side and several times their height on the windward side.

A prevalent opinion has been that trees use more moisture than they are worth, but by comparison of adjoining fields—one with field windbreaks, one without—the Forest Service has shown that crops on tree-protected land will average higher than on the unprotected field.

HOW RAYON IS MADE

Rayon is made from either cotton linters or wood pulp. The raw material is treated with acids or other chemicals to make it soluble. It is then dissolved in alcohol and then, or other suitable solvents and after purification it forced through very small openings, from which it emerges as fine threads. These become solidified by evaporation of the volatile solvents or by passage through a setting bath. There are four principal processes in use, but this is a generalized description. All of them are derived from the process devised, and patented by a French scientist, Count Hilaire Chardonnet, about the year 1889.

Miss Zelta Battey, teacher in the Widorado high school, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Battey.

Mrs. C. R. Houston of Hamilton spent from Monday until Wednesday visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Houston and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Buster Shepherd spent the week-end in Paducah as guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Williford.

Spencer and Mary Anne Guimarin visited in Amarillo Sunday with their aunt, Mrs. Elmer Caldwell.

TUNA QUALITY GUARDED BY TWO-WAY INSPECTION

Nearly all the tuna fish on the American market is packed by canneries in southern California, but fishermen range wide in the Pacific ocean in pursuit of this popular food fish. Some tuna canned in California are caught as far south as the coast of Ecuador. This results in an inspection problem quite different from the inspection of the salmon canneries, for example.

Tuna arrive frozen and it is not possible for inspectors to judge their quality on the dock. Part of the catch is delivered by fishermen from Mexico and the Central American countries, some by the owners of American boats, and some frozen tuna is imported from Japan for canning here.

Technically the tuna delivered from American boats is under inspection by California state inspectors, and the tuna from vessels of foreign ownership is "imported" and comes under the scrutiny of the Federal Food and Drug administration. As a practical matter the two agencies cooperate. The frozen fish are passed along to the canners on a provisional basis. Both state and federal agents inspect the fish after they are thawed and cooked. Any fish spoiled before freezing can be detected at this stage and kept off the market, either under the state power of cannery regulation, or under the Federal power of preventing importation of decomposed food.

GRASS ON FERTILE SOIL

Grazing animals prefer grass that grows on fertile soil. It is more palatable. United States Department of Agriculture experiments have shown repeatedly that grazing animals will bunch up on a well-fertilized part of a large field and will graze it closer than the remainder of the area. By using fertilizers on pastures, farmers not only improve the production of the grasses but they also encourage animals to eat more of this relatively inexpensive form of feed.

As The Oklahoma Kid James Cagney has a tough role in the picture of the same name that is coming to the Palace Theatre on March 19 and 20 with a prelude Saturday midnight. He gallops through history's pages in this lustrous drama of yesterday as a combination of bandit, killer and hero.

POOR TRAPPING MAKES COYOTE A BIGGEST PEST TO SMALL LIVESTOCK

On the western ranges a four-legged coyote is a pest to livestock men, but a three-legged coyote is worse. The latter, called "peglegs" in that country, are those which have escaped from a trap with the loss of one foot—usually a forefoot.

Because they are handicapped in catching the swifter wild animals such as jackrabbits and rodents, they prey on small domestic animals such as sheep, goats, and occasionally calves. Their handicap increases their boldness. The average coyote is a help to the farmer to the extent in which he feeds on rodents and rabbits. These make up about one-third the food of the average coyote, but only about one-fifth that of the "peglegs."

From these observations the United States Biological survey points out that the crippled coyote which escapes because of inept trapping and poor traps is more of a tax upon livestock than the coyote which has not been trapped.

The Biological survey made a study of the stomachs of 161 "pegleg" coyotes. The results confirmed the prejudice against crippled coyotes long held by observant farmers—and showed the value of careful trapping. They found that livestock animals such as sheep and goats—rarely calves, colts, or hogs—accounted for 13 1/2 percent of the food of normal coyotes, but made up about 21 percent of the diet of cripples.

FARM PROBLEMS SELDOM STOP AT STATE LINES

Because farm problems seldom stop at state lines, few of them can be solved without cooperation between states. The extent to which the states cooperate with each other and with the various bureaus of the United States Department of Agriculture, shows up in the annual report of the Office of Experiment Stations.

In his report to Secretary Wallace, Dr. James T. Jardine, Chief of the office, points out that cooperative research agreements number from 6 to 60 per station. During the past year the Office of Experiment Stations approved more than 1,350 new or revised agreements covering nearly 1,000 major research undertakings in which all of the state stations and all but one of the department research bureaus cooperated. Research results are reported in the annual reports of the bureaus immediately in charge of the work. Much of the material in "Soils and Men," the 1938 Yearbook of Agriculture, came from a survey in which all state experiment stations and the department cooperated.

Where a major crop, such as cotton, is grown in several states, a coordinated research agreement often solves many problems. For instance, the department has cooperated with 10 states for the past 3 years by planting 16 common cotton varieties at 14 different stations over the cotton belt. They found that variety seems to be the most important single factor in determining such qualities as staple length and fineness and to a certain extent fiber-strength. These qualities, in turn, largely determine the spinning quality of cotton. Sixty-four different characteristics of cotton were studied in this one test.

In recent years, Doctor Jardine reports, there has been much study of type-of-farming areas. In the wind eroding region of the great plains five states and five department bureaus are cooperating in putting land to its best use and in thus rehabilitating thousands of farm families. This study of adjustments is continuing in 35 states.

Floyd County Dairy Day Is Big Success

Fourteen of the seventeen home demonstration clubs of the county were represented at the meeting of the Floyd County Dairy day held at the Baptist church Tuesday with Mrs. S. J. Latta in charge, when demonstrations of pop corn cottage cheese, processed cheese and neufchâtel cheese were made.

W. V. Maddox, extension specialist in dairying manufacturing opened the meeting by discussing the importance of clean production of milk, bringing out the point that disease of dairy cattle is not uncommon. Some of the diseases are tuberculosis, Bangs disease, mastitis. These are responsible for undulant fever and septic sore throat.

Milk, cream and butter were graded as to flavor, sediment and appearance.

E. L. Angus discussed dairy herd improvement. A. J. Jackson talked on grades of cream and milk as found in Floyd county.

SYNTHETIC HORSE RADISH A TYPE OF CHEAP CHEATING

Ground turnip flavored with synthetic mustard oil is not horseradish; nor is grated parsnip root. Neither of them is "just as good," according to complaints that reach the Federal Food and Drug administration from dealers and consumers who pay for ground horseradish and find these unacceptable substitutes lack the tank and flavor of the real article.

This food fraud is not practiced by reputable manufacturers and is not large in comparison with some of the more serious conditions which the Food and Drug workers encounter. It is, however, a good example of "cheap cheating," and arouses as much opposition among reputable dealers as among consumers, the Administration finds.

To handle these complaints the food technicians had to devise careful laboratory tests that would distinguish real horseradish from the cheaper substitutes. They succeeded, and are making this form of substitution too dangerous to be profitable. Inspectors, however, are still keeping an eye on the market and are ready to submit doubtful specimens for the kind of analysis that will detect adulterations.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Martin and son, Fred, visited in Gainesville from Thursday until Sunday with his mother, Mrs. J. L. Martin.

TROUSERS WERE SCARCE

In the pioneer days, most men had only one pair of trousers at a time, having a new pair made by the missus when the old pair wore out. If through an accident or some odd happening a man lost his trousers all of a sudden, notes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, he usually had to stay in bed until his wife made him a new pair. There are cases in which trousers were destroyed by fire or water or became unwearable because of an assault by a skunk, whereupon a man went into hiding while his wife went to work on new pants. The two-pant suit was never dreamed of.

PLASTIC SURGERY IS ADDED TO SKILLS OF EMBALMERS

DENVER.—Plastic surgery has been added to the skills which the modern embalmer must understand. C. W. Porterfield, of Holton, Kan., first vice president of the National Association of Funeral directors, explained to the forty-first annual convention of Colorado Funeral directors that many embalmers have become professionals in their skill as plastic surgeons.

"A knowledge of plastic surgery enables the embalmer to make life-like the features of persons mangled in automobile accidents and through mutilating diseases," he explained.

Psychology is another field of learning in which the undertaker should be informed, Porterfield said. "The funeral director," he said, "is learning a better understanding of the psychology of grief and how
