McDonald-Gilliam

End Partnership;

Both In Business

Announcement—that their partnership had been terminated by mutual understanding and that H. M. McDonald will continue in the hardware, paint and allied lines at the location first door north of the First National bank, was made the latter part of last week by H. M. McDonald and J. C. Gilliam, who have been operating the McDonald-Gilliam hardware at 122 South Main street.

At the same time Gilliam is opening a store that will feature household appliances, electrical and sporting goods at 118 South Main street, at the location formerly occupied by F. C. Harmon furniture store.

McDonald has named his store the H. M. McDonald Hardware and Gilliam, who Tuesday expected to be open for business at his new location this morning, will name his store at the close of a naming contest Wednesday night of next week. At the McDonald stand the proprietor this week has been re-arranging and re-displaying the merchandise in his line.

Consumers Fuel Burglary Mystery

The midnight visitors who recently removed sparkplugs, oil filters, and other items from the Consumers Fuel Association are yet unknown, according to the sheriff's office.

Two suspects were recently held in Clovis under suspicion but since no tangible evidence could be found against them they were released. Another lead in Amarillo was later uncovered but seemingly has faded out without results.

The best bet seems to lie at Clarendon where the Consumers Fuel there was "cracked" at about the same time the local association was pilfered. Two men are in jail there, and according to reports have confessed to the Clarendon job, and officers believe they might also have had a hand in the job here.

Car tracks leaving the consumers fuel here headed north on the Silvertown road and it is possible that they continued operation on the north plains.

Meanwhile the sheriff's office is not halting their search for the burglars, every effort is being made to run them down. Opinion has changed, and it is now believed that the second group of visitors did not crack the safe in the February job.

S. W. Ross was re-elected secretary-treasurer to fill the spot he has held for so many years in the club. Walter Travis, present vice-president, and Dick Stovall were nominated for the presidency. Dick Stovall, Walton Hale and W. A. King were nominated for the vice-presidency. Directors nominated were Cecil Hagood, George Kirk, Virgil Williams, Conner Oden, J. A. Arwine, N. W. Williams, Clint Wakefield, J. G. Wood and Walton Hale.

The club voted to accept the high man in the presidential and vice-presidential election and the top three men in the directors election whether or not they had a clear majority of the votes.

Dr. A. E. Guthrie will become a member of the board of directors upon the election of a new president as it is customary for the immediate past president to sit with that group.

The program for the meeting was furnished by representatives of the Ralls Rotary club. Rotarian and Realtor Ann Walker Watkins, presented the program of which Walter Travis was in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Watkins told of their trip during the past summer to Galveston, Cuba, Panama, Canal, and other southern ports. Moving pictures of their trip was flashed upon a screen and each scene explained. The pictures were made by Mr. Watkins, who is no mean hand with a moving picture camera.

Rural Co-op Makes Plans For Annual Meeting April 15

Seven Instead Of Nine Directors Must Be Elected, Washington Says

Plans are being made this week by the Floyd County rural electric co-op for the election of directors and other officials and well as the appearance of a nationally known speaker, Project Superintendent L. W. Chapman said Wednesday. Several other items of interest will be arranged before the meeting date on April 15. Reports for the past year will be heard at the meeting and progress will be outlined.

"The responsibility for the operation of the Cooperative is vested in the board of directors elected by the members. All members have equal voting privileges and it is their duty to see that a thoroughly competent and representative board is elected to carry out the wishes of the members. The exercise of this privilege by every member assures democracy of ownership and control."

"It is hoped that an official, possibly Mr. John M. Carmody, administrator of R. E. A. will be present for a talk on "Electricity through Community Effort." Chapman said. "The program will include local talent, reports of the president and secretary, project superintendent, and items of interest concerning the expansion into new territory as well as the present project. In addition there will be a drawing and electrical appliances given away by local dealers."

"This meeting will be an occasion for celebration. The era of the kerosene lamp is fast receding and modern cooperative electricity will take its place. Nothing but praise is heard by the local sponsors, Chapman declared.

"Last week nine districts were outlined and a nominating chairman appointed for each district. There will only be seven directors elected at the annual meeting," Superintendent Chapman said, "as the Washington office advises to amend the bylaws to call for seven instead of nine. The parties nominated are as follows: E. S. Foster, C. S. Ray, A. H. Kreis, R. W. Lotspeich, R. M. Battey, B. L. Breed, G. L. Snodgrass, E. M. Carmickle, G. C. Collins, D. W. Burke, John E. Hoff, J. C. Thomas, Fred Hage, F. Mann, Geo. T. Meriwether and Herman R. King.

"It is to be noted that any 15 or more members of the cooperative may make other nominations in addition to those above mentioned, in writing or their signatures, not less than 15 days prior to the meeting, to be posted at cooperative office. Also nominations may be made from the floor at the meeting. Further details will be published before the meeting and also mailed to each individual member," Chapman said.

Plows Will Be Made In New Factory Here

J. R. Hinton And G. L. Cardinal Building On Block West Of Q. A. & P. Station

A factory in which machinery will be installed sometime during the next 2 to 4 weeks to build one-way plows, lister points, sweeps and go-devil blades, is going up in Floydada this week.

It is a sheet iron building 40 by 80 feet, the location is on the block west of the Q. A. & P. railway station and the owners are J. R. Hinton and G. L. Cardinal.

Also a new type of irrigation pump will be built at the factory, patents for which are now pending. The new pump will be of the hydraulic lift type and Cardinal believes it is due to reduce the cost of pumping so such an extent as to make deep-water pumping entirely feasible. A smaller power plant will reduce costs greatly, he said.

A general machine and blacksmith shop will be installed in the new plant. A thousand-pound drop hammer, a 100-ton forming press, a hydraulic press and other machine shop equipment were purchased recently and will be installed. Cardinal estimated last week-end it would be a month before they are ready for business.

A beef cattle feeding demonstration at the farm of Chas. Viegel in Providence community will be held on Friday, April 7, to which farmers and business men are cordially invited, County Agricultural Agent D. F. Bredthauer announced this week.

George W. Barnes, beef cattle specialist of the Extension service, College Station, Texas, will be here on the morning of the demonstration. Barnes is rated one of the best informed beef cattle men in Texas and will discuss and help promote a bigger and better feeder-breeder program in Floyd county. Mr. Bredthauer points out that this program goes hand in hand with the general crop acreage plans for Floyd county.

Chas. Viegel's farm is located 9 miles north and 1 mile east of Aiken, or 1 mile north and 1 mile east of Providence school, or 11 miles west and 3 1/2 miles north of South Plains, Texas. The meeting will get under way at about 9:30 a. m. Some very unusual beef cattle feeding demonstrations are in progress on the farms of Ben Quebe, Chas. Viegel and Ben Brandes of this community.

Special invitations will be given bankers, lumbermen, editors, hardware men, millers, feed dealers and druggists of Floyd county to accompany farmers on this tour to see beef cattle feeding demonstrations, hog feeding demonstrations and 4-H calf feeding projects with the use of trench silo. All will be in a position to study livestock and pasture demonstrations for the purpose of promoting the livestock industry in Floyd county.

Sugar Beet Allotments Are Cut in Plains Area; Floyd Gets 135 Acres For 1939

24 Farmers Here Get Trial Allotments, County Agent Announces

Sugar beet acreage in Floyd county has been allotted on a materially reduced figure from that asked for by farmers, County Agricultural Agent D. F. Bredthauer, announced this week. Whereas an allotment totaling 4,800 acres was asked, the actual allotment was made for 135 acres to 24 farmers.

As the sugar beet growers have a special farm program, it became necessary that all of the past and new growers make application to the American Crystal Sugar company of Rocky Ford, Colorado for sugar beet acreage for 1939. The Sugar Beet committee, comprised of farmers of Northern New Mexico and of the Arkansas Valley of Colorado, were unable to grant the request of Texas farmers as only something like 17,800 acres were allotted this area and if the requests of the Texas farmers had been granted it would have drastically cut down acreage allotments in the vicinity of the factory at Rocky Ford, Colorado. Floyd county was allotted 135 acres. Hockley county 29 acres, Lubbock county 3 acres, Lamb county 9 acres and Swisher county 4 acres.

County Agricultural Agent, D. F. Bredthauer, states that the acreage allotments will stay on the farms on which they were allotted. If a producer does not wish to plant his acreage allotment, he is required to sign SBRC No. 5 and make his intentions known to the Colorado office and these acres are not planted will be returned to the committee in Colorado for redistribution.

List Of Allotments

Producers receiving allotments and their acreage allotments are as follows: Jno. T. Carthel, 5 acres; G. E. Tannahill, 5 acres; W. D. Collins, 5 acres; Francis Carthel, 5 acres; C. J. Taylor, 20 acres; H. E. Handley, 5 acres; Buck Sams, 15 acres; Dr. Conrad Frey, 5 acres; C. C. McDowell, 12 acres; A. P. McWilliams, 5 acres; Raymond Blunt, 5 acres;

Mitchell, 2 acres; Clyde Applewhite, 2 acres; Paul Cooper, 2 acres; W. H. Counts 2 acres; J. B. Potts, 2 acres; C. F. Harris, 2 acres; Fred Hays, 2 acres; C. A. Gloyna, 2 acres.

Material Increase Due in Population, Of Plains Poultry

More Chickens And Better Chickens Expected On East Plains

The poultry population of Floyd county and the east plains area in general is due for a material increase in the next 8 months.

The arrow of popular sentiment points that way and the records of sales of local hatcheries to home people substantiate the idea.

And incidentally the quality is due to be better than it formerly was. This is the belief of C. B. Carmack, manager of Carmack Hatchery, who said the percentage of his sales in the territory as compared with sales outside the territory is materially increased this year over last. Poultry men believe that east plains people are "going in" for poultry once more on the old-time scale when a carload shipment of eggs from Floydada in 1 shipment was not unusual and when several carloads of poultry would go out of the area to population centers in a season.

As a suggestion that such is actually the case, Mr. Carmack Monday pointed to deliveries of more than 5,000 baby chicks that day. Upward of 4,000 of that number were represented by sales to people of this section who accepted delivery at the hatchery door.

That quality is due for a pronounced betterment is also indicated by the fact that scores and scores of flocks have been blood-tested and that the bulk of the eggs that are going into incubators here are from these flocks which have also been tested for production.

The Carmack Hatchery Monday had all batteries going with a total of 62,000 eggs in the trays. Of these 400 eggs were turkey eggs, the season for which has just opened locally.

Mr. Sikes and Judge Raley expect to spend Friday here also when they will conduct individual conferences and inspection of proposed locations for lumber and materials dealers, realtors and others.

Kirk this morning urged the importance of the meeting to local business interests. The meeting hour is 7:30 o'clock, at the Chamber of Commerce office.

That the precipitation was fair to good in some sections of the county, particularly the north half, is indicated by reports. Lockney had 57 of an inch Tuesday and 25 of an inch fell at Floydada Wednesday.

Tuesday night and Wednesday a period of cold weather hit with a norther that registered freezing for several hours.

Gainesville Community Circus 4th

Internationally Famous Show To Give 3 Performances Here

The internationally famous Gainesville Community circus is coming to Floydada!

Arrangement was made today that arrangements had been completed by the American Legion post to bring this remarkable amusement enterprise to this city for three performances on Monday and Tuesday, July 3 and 4.

The Gainesville Community circus is unique in that all of its performers are amateurs and residents of the town of Gainesville, Texas. Nevertheless, they present a complete three-ring circus that runs the gamut of big top thrills. There are bareback riders, tight wire artists, equilibrists, contortionists, jugglers, aerialists, acrobats, trained horses, ponies, dogs, monkeys and geese, and a horde of 41 clowns.

The performers are presented under a big top containing 2,000 square feet of floor space, and with a seating capacity of 2,500. One hundred and fifty people make up the personnel, and there are 60,000 pounds of equipment used by the show.

The Gainesville circus has exhibited at the Pan-American and Centennial expositions in Dallas, at the Farmers Short Course at Texas A & M college, in Memorial stadium at Austin, and last year, showed before 27,000 persons in two performances in Will Rogers Memorial coliseum in Fort Worth, the largest crowds that have ever been attracted to the auditorium.

RESULTS AT LAST

The fire prevention program, which has been urged on the people of the State of Texas for so long, these years, is beginning to bear results at last.

So says Marvin Hall, Commissioner of the Texas Fire Insurance department. June of last year a reduction was made, and now a new slash may result from hearings that are to be conducted, says Mr. Hall, who reports "The present trend very encouraging." The cuts last year were made on those types of property which make up the larger part of the insurance premiums. It is yet to be learned on what type of property this year's cuts may be made.

Anyhow the fire prevention program is bearing results and one cost of owning property is due for a reduction, which will be a novelty for property owners.

MAKING FOLKS FIT THE PATTERN

Now that the government is committed to the proposition that there should be control of labor practices, several laws governing which have been passed—some constitutional, some not—it is begun to be found out that some serious inconveniences and even downright hardships to the point of business extinction are wrapped up in the general arrangement.

As an instance, the community telephone exchange. Owners of small independent telephone outfits are in to be hard pressed and are urging that their situation be regarded by the law makers, possibly an exemption made for them. Which means another bureau or commission, examiners and lawyer retainers and more taxes.

Jefferson was right when he said the least-governed people would be the happiest. Washington will find it increasingly difficult to make Podunk fit a pattern poured either by organized labor or organized industry. The country telephone exchange is only one illustration.

SPRAYING WOULD BE WORTHWHILE

"The like of insect eggs and infection on trees and shrubs you never saw before," is an expression that has come from more than one source in Floyd county this spring, meaning that the menace from this source may be even more pronounced for your trees, both shade and fruit bearing, this summer than in a number of years.

Spraying might be worthwhile. Arsenate preparations and black leaf 40 are the preparations more used according as the insect bites or sucks. And there are many more spraying machines now than formerly. So if when you examine your trees they are found to be buggy a few dollars spent in prevention might save a re-planting a year or so hence.

PREPARE YOUR GARDEN

Here is some good advice for men gardeners, the women do not need it.

Plant a garden now to get your garden plot in good condition for the next one you will plant. Understand, the first one, including the peas and beans, will be killed back by the frost, the bugs or high winds. But you're going to plant anyhow. When the grass begins to rise all are subject to the same whimsy, to put something in the soil and dream of garden sash earlier than any of the neighbors.

The reason men who are going to garden need to plant early is that they'll leave a lot of clods and trash and just generally do a sorry job of it. The first planting thus will serve as a cultivation of the ground for the second planting.

But it is a shame for the women to have to plant over. Even at the first planting they'll have the ground mulched just right and the little seeds put into the ground at the proper depth with no clods or trash in the way. A woman is just naturally not as lazy as a man. We accept your plaudits, ladies with our usual charming modesty, and hope that if this makes your menfolks mad you'll stay by us and win the argument.

NO CHANGE IN TRUCK LAW

Any chance that there might be a change in the Texas legal load limit seems to have gone a-glimmering last week, when the last attempt at getting a bill through to increase that limit somewhere above 7,000 pounds failed dismally.

While there may be sound reason in economics in having no such change, there are better reasons that the load limit should be raised. True, the itinerant trucker who has been the "hottest" for an increase in the limit, would likely be the one to profit least.

This is aside from the main argument, however, which is that the law as it stands is being observed more by its violation than by its observance. Texas is pouring out thousands of dollars in an effort to enforce a law that is not tenable.

Probably the reason the truck law change, wanted by all the truckers and 90 per cent of the farmers, has not been the hottest subject at Austin this session is that the governor by way of radio, et cetera, has been spotlighting the old age pension proposal.

MANN'S THE MAN

The Hesperian has viewed with some gratification the manner in which Gerald C. Mann, Texas' youthful attorney general, has handled the affairs of his office since taking the oath in January.

Among other things Mr. Mann has had to denounce legislation by injunction by district judges, an unpopular thing to do under the circumstances, since it crossed the personal profit of thousands of farmers and practically all truckers in the state. The injunction, a right and proper thing when rightly and properly used, has degenerated in Texas into a tool which well-meaning district judges have used to thwart the law of the land.

Doubtless Mr. Mann would also have "given his neck" not to issue an opinion that such a highly worthy and able man as Mr. Clifford Jones had not been legally elected to the office of the Texas Technological presidency. The fact that the gentleman could be re-named at a subsequent meeting of the board, made this remediable, and let's hope, not damaging to the institution or to Mr. Jones' prestige. Anyhow, the board just "ortn't to a done it," and there was no reasoning around it, legally speaking, it seems. Mr. Mann couldn't escape that and still be attorney general.

You may fool the whole world down the pathway of years, and get pats on the back as you pass; but your final reward will be heartaches and tears, if you've cheated the man in the glass.—Anonymous.

As A Farmer Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)

Spring is coming to the prairie country. Not with a breath-taking parade of beauty as she does in the timbered country, but shy as the antelope and the blue quail. She spreads a cover of pale green on the pasture and starts the wild flowers; gives the haze on the canyon hills a deeper blue; entices the kill-deer back to call "dee dee dee" swells the buds of the cotton wood trees, promises them millions of tiny fans; she waves her wand and peach trees are dressed in pale pink, pear trees in white satin; gives the freshly tilled furrows a fragrance dear to folks on the farm; pins a corsage of sweet wild plum blossoms on her brown dress.

"Uncle Lish" English has gone from us to join his twin brother "Uncle John." Never were they parted long in life. Side by side, never needing to talk to one another much—understanding each other without words of mouth. We miss these kindly old men. Miss seeing them as we pass. Sitting in the shade of the porch in the summer, walking around in the warm sunny days of the winter.

According to what we heard the quilt show was a huge success. In design, workmanship and beauty, the quilts could not have been excelled. Old and new they told of woman's love for beautiful things around her.

Some lovely things of life: the round soft knee of a baby; the fragrance of wild plum blossoms; the sound of pure cold water running into a barrel; the smile of a friend; a letter in the mail box.

Was very glad to make the acquaintance of Mr. Cross and fine young son of Sand Hill. Also of Mrs. Thomas, who told me she grew up on a ranch near Childress.

Joe Ellis is gone, moved with his parents to Paducah. No more white squares, tiny shirts, pink and blue rompers hang on my clothes line. No toys in the floor, no high chair or red wagon in the rooms. The sound of a baby's gurgling cough is not heard in these still rooms, no fretful cry to be stopped, no rocking a baby to sleep—but the mocking bird has come back to sing of his southern winter home to me, there are fat books with gray covers to read, flowers are to be coaxed from dark brown earth and Joe will come back to visit.

When our three children were very small, I visited my mother and father who lived near Portales, New Mexico. The country ranch then had someone on every 160 acres—people came with money, mostly without preachers—doctors, lawyers, teachers and farmers. What a fine literary society they had—what singings and baseball games! There was the neighbor that stirred the water barrels every so often to see if any of her many children had drowned. There was the dear old lady from Missouri that always paid

We like this idea of a teacher taking his pupils to view industrial plants, and teach them to take an interest in other things and other persons than they come daily in contact with. 'Honolulu' a Musical Hulu With Eleanor Powell, Tap Queen in The Leading Role

Headliners Of The Screen Due At Palace Theatre First Of The Week

Dancing, singing, romance and laughs are represented by the top-notchers in the cast of the new M-G-M musical, "Honolulu," which opens at the Palace theatre for a Saturday midnight prevue, Sunday, Monday showing.

Eleanor Powell, the screen's renowned Queen of Taps, handles the dancing end of the lavish new picture, with the other headliners comprise of Robert Young and the inimitable comedy team of Burns and Allen. Prominent supporting

Robert Young and Eleanor Powell in "Honolulu."

Gracie Does The Hula!

Gracie Allen, who does a hula dance in the musical-comedy hit, "Honolulu," at the Palace theatre, was explaining to Robert Young how complicated it was to perfect the routine. "You make No No with your fingers and Yes Yes with your eyes," said Gracie. "Your feet go north and south, your arms go east and west and your torso is on its own!"

parts are filled by Rita Johnson, Clarence Kolb, Jo Ann Sayers, Ann Morris, Willie Fung, Cliff Clark, Edward Gargan, Eddie Anderson, Sig Ruman, Ruth Hussey, Keoloha Holt and Edgar Dearing.

Miss Powell introduces three specialties: "Hymn to the Sun," a tap hula based on the traditional Hawaiian dance; an imitation of Bill Robinson's entertaining stair dance, and a tap dance done with a skipping rope.

Scenes range from Hawaii to Broadway, with some on shipboard, and the musical numbers balance Miss Powell's dances.

The story concerns a screen star, impersonated by Young who warms of the Hollywood routine and wants to get away for a rest. On a "opening night" he encounters his opportunity when a Hawaiian planter, who closely resembles him, is mobbed by autograph fiends in the theatre lobby.

The actor arranges with the visitor for an exchange of personalities and the chap agrees almost too readily. The deal is made and Young heads for Honolulu, while the planter continues to impersonate the star.

Aboard ship, Young meets Eleanor Powell, a cabaret dancer, and, of course, falls in love with her. The complications become serious in Hawaii when he learns that he is wanted there for embezzlement and also is engaged to a girl he never saw. Both the missing money and the girl rightfully are the worries of his double, who is somewhere in the states.

The confusion is finally straightened out when the planter is induced to return to the island, there to face his difficulties and allow Young to return to his own character.

Mickey Rooney Has Famous Part of 'Huckleberry Finn' In Film Feature Next Week

Picture Said To Follow Closely Mark Twain's Original Classic

"The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," Mark Twain's sequel to "Tom Sawyer," with Mickey Rooney in the title role, playing his first solo starring part in a dramatic story of life on the Mississippi, is the attraction, Thursday and Friday of next week, April 6 and 7 at the Palace theatre.

Familiar to millions of readers, the Mark Twain story presents Mickey as the river lad who seeks to aid a runaway slave to escape up the river to a free state. Their raft is invaded by two comical swindlers, "The King" and "The Duke," who give bogus Shakespearean plays, plot to sell the slave back to slavery, and are about to defraud two girls of their father's estate when Huck exposes them and precipitates a dramatic climax.

Much of the action was filmed on the Sacramento river, which did service as the Mississippi, and where one of the last old river steamers still in service in this country staged the dramatic race to rescue the slave from a lynch mob.

The cast includes Walter Connolly as the "King" who, with Mickey as Juliet, stages an absurd "Romeo and Juliet" performance in a river village. "The Duke," second of the swindlers, is played by William Frawley, veteran of stage and screen, and the kindly Widow Douglas, benefactress of the boy, is enacted by Elizabeth Risdon. Jim, the runaway, is played by Rex Ingram, the negro actor who scored as "De Lawd" in "Green Pastures."

The two heresses whom Mickey rescues from the swindlers are played by Lynne Carver and Jo Ann Sayers, and the remaining supporting roles are filled by Minor Watson, Victor Kilian and Clara Blandick.

Dramatic highlights include the boy's attempt to run away to save the widow from paying blackmail, his discovery of the runaway slave, their raft trip up the river with frequent narrow escapes, the encroachment of the swindlers, the absurd Shakespearean performance and the plot to swindle the girls.

The negro carrying the boy, bitten by a snake, to medical aid, knowing it means return to slavery, and the mad dash of the steamer to save him from the lynch mob, are other dramatic thrills.

Lockney Track Team Looks Like A Cinch To Cop League Title Sat.

The Lockney Longhorns are prime favorites to walk off with the Floyd County Interscholastic league track title and leave the Floydada Whirlwinds grasping the "bag," an excessively empty bag however from which the basketball and football titles have already disappeared.

Lockney will be particularly strong in the dashes with Hill and Brotherton doing the "hot-footing" with Davis and Kelley assisting in the point gathering operations. The Longhorns look like a cinch to capture the mile relay, since they won every relay on the program at the recent invitation meet.

Floydada will be rough to nose out in the distance events, such as the mile with Patterson and Gilbreath doing the stepping. Patterson managed to mark up a 5 minute flat mile against time on Monday following the invitation affair. Jarboe and Taylor are likely to hold their own and come in 1-2 in the 880. Bill Jackson looks good for the high jump, having jumped 5 feet 11 inches in the recent meet.

Lockney will dominate in the broad jump unless some Whirlwind suddenly discovers that he can leap over 17 feet, which doesn't seem likely. Linder and Daniels may make the competition warm in the dashes provided they are in shape. Daniels has the form and speed to win the 440 against better than average competition but whether or not he has managed to get into shape is the question.

Jimmie Willson and Burgett will probably team up in the high hurdles but whether or not they can get a first place can only be reckoned. Willson will probably run the 440 with Daniels.

Patterson and Willson will probably compete in the weight events but look to have only an outside chance to win many points. If Lockney has one good vaulter that event is theirs.

HAIR DYES MUST BE TESTED BEFORE THEY ARE APPLIED

Because some coal tar hair dyes may injure the skin of some users, the new Food, Drug and Cosmetic act requires that such dyes carry not only a caution statement, but also directions for making a skin test before the dyes are used. The caution also warns that blindness may result if the dye is used on eyelashes or eyebrows.

The Food and Drug administration has suggested to manufacturers of hair-dye preparations a set of directions which say in brief:

The dye in this package must never be used on the hair unless a preliminary skin test has been made each time the hair is dyed.

With a clean brush or other applicator a streak of dye not less than a quarter inch wide and at least a half inch long is made on the skin and scalp, preferably behind one ear. The dye must be placed on both the scalp and hairless skin. The test area should not be covered with a dressing and should not come in contact with combs, hats, spectacles or other objects.

If redness or burning, itching, small blister or any other type of eruption appears in the area of the skin test within 24 hours, the dye should not be used. Hair dyes should never be used whenever there is any disease or eruption present on the skin or scalp.

The Administration points out that other tests may be acceptable.

Cars often skid off the highways into homes in East Texas. A negro in Longview set iron posts along the curbing of his home after a car rushed through the walls and smashed his effects into smithereens. Down in Shreveport they are a bit bolder. Autos are run into the better homes and treated as a joke. After a brand new Austin had crashed into a parlor, the driver inquired the direction to the New Orleans highway. Two couples were playing bridge, but one fellow took time to give the following directions: "Turn around in front of the piano, take a left turn at the gold fish bowl, bust through the front door and keep right down the walk until you drop off the curb. Turn to the right and you can't miss it.—Donley County Leader.

WHEAT RESISTANCE TO HESSIAN FLIES VARIES

Hessian flies from different localities apparently differ in their ability to attack the same wheat varieties, as shown by 2 years of investigations conducted at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture.

Strains of wheat resistant to California flies, when tested at Purdue, were not resistant to Indiana flies. On the other hand, wheat highly resistant to Indiana flies was only partially resistant to California flies. Breeding wheat for hessian-fly resistance is only in the experiment stage and no seed of resistant varieties is available.

The hessian fly is one of the principal insect pests attacking the wheat crop. The adult fly lays its eggs on the leaves of the young, fall-sown wheat plant. Infested fields are subject to winter killing and further damage is likely to result the following spring when another generation of flies causes lodging or "down" wheat. Farmers in some areas and in some years have been able to lessen hessian fly loss by sowing late enough to avoid infestation.

TRUTH WILL COME HARD IN THE "DEVICE" RACKET

Electric belts, nose straighteners, mechanical bust developers, stretching devices, and dozens of other gadgets, knickknacks, and film flames will have to be truthfully labeled when the new Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act goes into effect next June 25. These "therapeutic devices" have escaped regulation because they are not drugs.

Telling the truth is going to come hard for proprietors of some of these old frauds, enforcement officials admit. Amber beads will have to sell as amber beads and not as a preventive of croup in babies; or as a "cure" for goitre, the only effect being to postpone competent treatment of this serious disease.

Under the old law officials watched this section of what W. G. Campbell, Chief of the Food and Drug Administration, calls the "underworld" of the food and drug industries and stepped in when a drug was involved—for example in the case of the "iodine socks" (ordinary hosiery scented with iodoform) recommended as "invaluable to sufferers from gout, rheumatism, flu, bunions, and aching feet." Most escaped, however, because no drug was involved and there was no check on "claims" however absurd or dangerous to buyers.

Some devices have real merit and makers can label them truthfully and sell them without restraint; but many are fakes and worst just their junk value.

Oliver was careless about his personal effects. When his mother saw clothing scattered about on the chair and floor, she inquired: "who didn't hang up his clothes when he went to bed?"

A muffled voice from under the covers murmured, "Adam."

NET SOIL NITROGEN LOSS 23 MILLION TONS A YEAR

Science shows that plant growth is absolutely dependant upon nitrogen as well as upon other elements. Without available nitrogen in the soil, plant and animal life would cease to exist.

In the 1938 Yearbook of Agriculture, "Soils and Men," it is estimated that farm soils in the United States each year lose nearly 23 million tons of nitrogen through harvesting crops, grazing, erosion, and leaching. Only a little more than 16 million tons are given back to the soil in the form of fertilizers, manures, rainfall, irrigation waters, and legume crops.

Soils of this country have from 2,000 to 16,000 pounds of nitrogen per acre down to a depth of 40 inches—in areas studied by Department scientists. It is estimated that the air above an acre of soil, however, contains from 145,000 to 150,000 tons of free nitrogen, although it must follow what is known as the nitrogen cycle before becoming available to plants and animals.

There are two ways by which free nitrogen of the air may be "fixed" in the soil, the Yearbook authors point out. One is the natural and the other artificial. Lightning discharges units nitrogen and oxygen to form oxides of nitrogen. These unite with the moisture in the air to form nitrous and nitric acids which enter the soil with the rain. By other natural processes bacteria free in the soil and in the roots of leguminous plants also transform air-nitrogen into fixed-nitrogen.

In artificial fixation, man does what lightning and soil bacteria do—he brings free nitrogen into combination with other elements. Man's success is shown by the fact that in 1900 two-thirds of the world's nitrogen supply was obtained from nitrate deposits in Chile. Thirty-four years later 74 percent of the supply was obtained from the air and fixed in the form of chemical fertilizers.

Because of the great net loss of soil nitrogen, the Yearbook advocates a wider and more effective use of legume crops, preservation and wider use of farm manure, the prevention of soil erosion, the growing of cover crops to prevent leaching and the cheapening of nitrogen fertilizer to encourage its greater use.

NEW LEASE REMOVES SOME BAD FEATURES OF TENANCY

Every year a million tenant families move from one farm to another. One of the reasons for this instability is the hope for a more profitable arrangement with a new landlord. One of the results is that such families are not always risks for rehabilitation loans from the Farm Security administration.

Because payment of most of these loans extends over a period of about 5 years and depends upon the best possible management of farm and home, leases which allow a tenure of at least this long are almost essential, the Farm Security administration finds. Its records show that the million families which move each year seldom have a lease in writing. Such agreements as are made often are vague. Misunderstandings result and the tenant moves on.

To make farm renters a better risk for a loan, the administration this year is requiring a written lease. The lease covers the usual renting agreements in that locality and protects both landlord and renter. It must assure the renter reasonably secure tenure and, if the renter obtains a loan for permanent improvements, it must assure him tenure until he has received full benefit of the improvement, or compensation if the lease is terminated or expires.

Under the Bankhead-Jones act the Farm Security administration advances loans for the purchase of farms to tenants, sharecroppers, and farm laborers. However, this is a long-time program. For the immediate future the new policy on rehabilitation loans is expected to help relieve bad features of tenancy for thousands of families.

SOYBEANS FOR THE TABLE TITLE OF NEW BULLETIN

Soybeans—first grown in this country as a forage crop—are now coming into use as a valuable vegetable for the table. The green shelled beans of the garden varieties now being developed have a richer, more nutty flavor than many common beans. Variety first, then preparation, are factors that make for table quality in the soybean, say home economics specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture.

After years of research plant breeders and food specialists are recommending soybean varieties that are desirable for table use as both green and dry beans. Old varieties have been improved and new ones developed to obtain soybeans that will cook tender in a reasonable time, and have good flavor, texture, and color.

Soybeans for the Table, a leaflet just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, is designed to help homemakers make the best use of this useful vegetable. Beginning with a brief, scientific analysis of the unique food value of the bean, the bulletin continues with six clear, concise pages of practical pointers for its table use, selection, preparation, and cooking. A copy of the leaflet—No. 166—may be obtained from the United States Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C.

As indicated by their extensive use in the Orient, and proved by scientific analysis, soybeans are higher in food value than ordinary table beans. They have half again as much protein, on the average, and most of their protein can be used to good advantage by the body. Soybeans are rich in fat, containing about 12 times as much as ordinary beans.

ALFALFA GRAZED LATE WINTER KILLS EASILY

In recent years pasturing the alfalfa field has become a popular practice. But many farmers find they have to reseed after 1 or 2 years. The plants apparently are winter killed.

Recent tests at the Michigan Experiment Station in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture show that winter injury can be avoided by following a grazing plan which allows the alfalfa to renew its growth in the fall before cold weather sets in. Alfalfa that is not fall grazed has an opportunity to store reserve food in the roots and to develop more, and more vigorous, crown buds.

Three grazing plans were followed in the tests. The different lots of alfalfa were pastured from April 30 to August 28; May 14 to August 28; and May 14 to October 16. Where the alfalfa was pastured through September and the first part of October the stands left the following spring were of little use either as hay or pasture. There was a marked heating of dead plants during the winter and spring.

In the lots where grazing was discontinued on August 28 there was no indication of winter injury, no heaving was apparent, and excellent stands of vigorous alfalfa were available for pasture the following year.

THUNDERBIRD BRINGS TOO MUCH RAIN, IS PROTEST

WASHINGTON.—The rainmaking "thunderbird bundle" of the Gros Ventre Indians of North Dakota has worked so well that one Indian wishes the white man would take it back.

Foolish Bear and Drags Wolf, representing the water buster clan of the Gros Ventres, asked Indian Commissioner John Collier last January to help them get back the long lost "sacred bundle," which legend says assures good crops and abundant rains.

They located it in a New York museum, and swapped a buffalo horn for it.

Rains followed its return. So much rain—complained Scott H. Peters, a Chippewa employe of the Indian service at Witwaukee—that "much destruction has been done." He asked Collier today to persuade the water busters to return the bundle to the museum and let the "white man" control the weather.

Letter of an earnest young Chinese applying for a job with a Vancouver firm: "Sir—I am Wang. I can drive typewriter with good noise and my English is great. My last job has reason that the man has dead. So, honorable sir, if I can be as big use to you I will arrive on same date that you should guess."

INDIANS' NAMES SERVE AS A PART OF THEIR RECORD

Indian children have an infant name for identity, and an "earned" name, usually acquired in the teens, which is given for outstanding achievement or personal idiosyncrasy. A third name is usually given, called a "dream" name, when the recipient has dreamed of his guardian in the spirit world. The name by which he is best known, however, is the second or "earned" name.

An infant Indian name is not associated with any family, as we use a surname, but merely puts a temporary little tag on the child, according to a writer in the Washington Star. It is often rather amusing, such as the name "Two Ways," given an Indian toddler because he went first to the right, then to the left when learning to walk.

When in his teens an Indian boy may distinguish himself with the bow and arrow. Perhaps his aim is so fine that he may hit a mark expertly, even when aiming over his shoulder to the rear; in this case, he will surely be given the achievement name of "Aims Back." Every one will thus know of his cleverness.

Since the American Indians are forced to live in a modern world, full of white people with names chosen in a different way from their own, many of them have prefixed American names to their own for convenience. So we find such names as Tom Day Rider, Charles Ironbreast, and Mike Little Dog among the Indians.

MORE INFORMATION NEEDED ON FUR FARMING BUSINESS

The United States Department of Agriculture would like to know how many fur farms there are in the United States and how much income farmers have from furs of captive animals. Only estimates are available, because the farm census does not take a count of fur farms. To get accurate information more than 20,000 fur farmers have been queried.

Because fur animals were trapped without thought of conservation, this country has changed in a little more than 100 years from the world's leading fur exporter to the world's largest fur importer, producing only about one-third of the fur it uses.

To meet the demand for more furs, according to Frank G. Ashbrook in charge of fur resources for the Bureau of Biological Survey, farmers have begun raising such animals as foxes, minks, martens, and beavers in captivity. He estimates that this year some 300,000 silver fox and 200,000 mink furs will be sold by fur farmers. They will receive about $13,000,000 or about 20 percent of the total value of all raw furs sold this year. Most of the farms are less than 10 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Fenner, of Hobbs, New Mexico arrived Sunday night to be with Mrs. Fenner's mother who for the past week has been seriously ill with an attack of the flu. Mr. Fenner returned home Monday, Mrs. Fenner will remain for several days visit.

Operetta, "Land of Dreams Come True," Will Be Given At A. Ward Gym on April 7

Sixty children are included in the cast of the operetta entitled, "The Land of Dreams Come True" that is to be sponsored by the music department of the Andrews Ward school, directed by Miss Elizabeth Caldwell, and will be presented at 8 p. m. April 7 at the gymnasium.

The proceeds of the feature will be used for more equipment and music for the school, Miss Caldwell said. The cast of the operetta will be announced in next week's issue of the paper.

The following is the setting of the operetta: The play opens as a group of children are enjoying a holiday. Betty, who refuses to join in the fun, seems to be searching for something; when questioned, she admits that she is searching for magic berries. She explains that these berries, when eaten by mortals, enable these "earth people" to enter a "Land of Dream Come True."

After a prolonged search, she at last finds enough berries for each of her friends. But most of her friends become frightened and refuse to try the experiment. They run away. Four of the children however, swallow berries and soon fall into a deep sleep.

Stealing quietly from the nearby forest, come night pixies. With magic incantations, throwing off star dust, etc., they awaken the sleeping children and lead them away, promising to take them "To The Land of Dreams Come True."

The second and third acts of the operetta deal with the adventures of the children in the land of Bo-Peep, Jack Horner, The Old Woman who lived in a Shoe, Mary, who was quite contrary, and Mother Goose herself.

The entertainment will represent much time and patience by the cast and sponsors and will be looked forward to with interest as one of the prettiest and most colorful programs of the spring.

FEDERAL MEN ON LOOKOUT FOR STORM DAMAGED FOOD

When any region is visited by disaster that leaves damaged and contaminated foods and feeds behind, inspectors of the Food and Drug administration are soon on hand to assist city and state health officials salvage usable goods and destroy those that are likely to be a health hazard.

Floods cause the greatest damage. Twenty inspectors recently assisted authorities in New England after salt water came in from the ocean in tidal waves estimated at 20 to 40 feet in height, flooding stores and warehouses without warning. This disaster was second only to the last Ohio river flood when 40 inspectors lent assistance along a 3,000-mile flood front.

The little sickness and disease that follows these disasters is partly due to quick action in condemning and destroying polluted foods. In the recent New England flood, Boston city health officials seized all flood-damaged goods moving into the city and persons offering them for sale are being prosecuted.

Damage was greater than usual in New England because salt water rusts pinholes in canned goods and damages them more than fresh water. In the Providence, Fall river, and New Bedford areas, where the hurricane caused about three-fourths of the flood damage, it was necessary to clean 11,925 cases of canned goods and to destroy 25,076 cases of miscellaneous groceries, including beverages not hermetically sealed. Losses of fresh fruits and vegetables, dairy products, and staple groceries, such as sugar, salt, and dry beans, also were heavy.

HOLMES BOWLING TOURNEY CLOSURES DURING PAST WEEK

200 YEAR OLD FOOTPRINTS

About 200 years ago human footprints were found in limestone rocks near Saint Louis, but since then similar marks have been found in Virginia, the Rocky mountains, and lately in Texas. Since some of these footprints were found in rocks that hardened at least 300,000 years ago, the credulous explained them as traces of a lost giant foot race with human feet. David I. Bushnell, Jr., of the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, last week debunked a realm of tall tales when he said the footprints were carved by prehistoric Indians, probable indicating nearby watering places.

CAN WE LOSE AS WELL AS WIN

We students of F. H. S. have a grand high school and we're proud of it. But we mustn't think that we have the best high school in the county and think that we're better than the students of other schools. It seems to me that our students have a grudge against our neighboring town and the people who inhabit it. There is no reason whatsoever for rivalry to exist except for the sake of our pride. We have lost football and basketball to them, but we can't expect to win everything every year. We want to win the county meet this year, but if we should happen not to, would we be good losers as well as good winners?

If we are defeated we will just be defeated and that is all there is to it, and if we win the losers will not jeer at them.

Let's treat our guests this week-end with all due respect and make them want to visit us again. Also, let's do our dead level best to win this county meet in literary as well as field events. But remember as I said before let's be good losers, if we lose and congratulate the winner.

EXTEMPORANEOUS SPEECH

The extemporaneous speakers, Bobby McIntyre and W. C. Boren, are working every spare minute they have on their speeches. They have within their reach, 22 speeches that can be assembled and given within a few minutes.

Both Bobby and W. C. are good speakers and we feel sure that they will win county meet this year.

GLEE CLUB

Mr. Camp and his Glee club have been working very hard the past two weeks, getting ready for the district meeting in Plainview, April 6.

The girls have decided to wear evening dresses for the occasion.

Every girl looks forward to this event with gladness, and we are sure that they will do their best.

The Floydada High School Track team will pit its wares against the Lockney Longhorns in a dual track meet to decide who is the best runner and who will represent Floyd county in the district meet to be held in Lubbock Saturday week.

Lockney will have on hand such good runners as Hill, Brotherton, Kelly, and many others, 22 in all. Floydada will have their best runners George Lader, who has been out all week with an injured foot, Clifford Daniel, Jimmy Willson, Gordon Patterson, and many others, 12 in all.

The events will start in the morning and will continue throughout the day. Coach Odell Winter who is in charge of the athletics of this county will have charge of the track meet.

Most of the senior class events will be held in the afternoon with the rural and Class B events held in the morning.

The public is invited to come out and see their favorites run in what promises to be a good track meet between the two rival schools—Lockney and Floydada. Everybody come out and root for your favorite man.

FHS Beats Lockney In Softball

It has been done again! The high school girls' playground ball team has won another victory, and as usual it was from Lockney. The teams met in their annual game Saturday morning at the Floydada High school playground.

The Floydada girls won by 1 score. If the Lockney coach had not called his team from the field the score would have been greater, as Floydada had three on bases and still up to bat. Several of the girls on the team were playing their last game of playground ball.

They were Graham, three years; Jane Duran, three years; Marjorie Duncan, two years; Eula Barbee, two years; Layverne Handley, two years; Maxine Officer two years; Ellen Brock, two years; and Dorothy Mae Jones, one year.

Others who played and will be eligible to play next year are Cleo Kirk, Grace Waller, Josephine Britton, Mary Helen Day, Cageline Carmack and Geneva Gordon. Miss Sudie Miller is coach of the girls playground ball and she has made a wonderful record every year since Miss Miller has been coach the girls have won the county ball game. This is an unusual record and we are proud we have Miss Miller in our school.

Floydada Tennis Teams Split Victories With Longhorns

The tennis players of Floydada High school met the defenders of the so far victorious Lockney High school in matches, interesting and breath taking to all the spectators last Friday afternoon. The games were played on the courts located on the high school campus.

In the girls' singles Sybil Mudgett, Lockney defeated Verona Miller Floydada, 6-3, 6-2. Ara Sue Edwards and Ella Broad, Floydada, won the girls doubles from Mary Glenn Huff and Lovelle Belyeaw, Lockney, 6-1, 6-1.

Floydada won the boys' singles with Judson Abernathy defeating Charles Baker, 6-0; 6-4. Lockney was victorious in the boys doubles, Carl Nall and Eldon Hill winning from Carl Arnold and Royce Turner, 6-1; 6-2.

Thus, Floydada divided the tennis victories with Lockney, but fully intend to win the county meet.

Chapel

In our midst, Thursday, we were indeed fortunate to have a celebrated speaker, Captain Burton, of the Royal Mounted Police from Dawson, Canada.

Captain Burton spoke on his experiences that he had had in his 43 years of service with the mounted police.

Captain Burton is an Englishman, and a very interesting one, some one you rarely hear.

After he had finished his talk, the student body was allowed to ask him questions concerning the mounted police.

He also showed the student body old guns, snow-shoes and knives that had belonged to persons he had known.

We were indeed fortunate to have a man to speak to us, and everyone present fully enjoyed his talk.

DECLAMATION TRYOUTS

Last Tuesday afternoon the declamation entrants gathered in the auditorium to draw numbers and to be eliminated to one entrant of each division that should go to the county meet. The judges were teachers from Crosby, and selected the best speakers to compete against Lockney.

The winner of the junior girls was Florence Lloyd, with Josephine Britton placing second. Wayland Hale won first in the junior boys, Buddy Gound winning second. In the senior girls' first, second and third places went to LaVerne Russell, Edna Mae Griffin and Lee Dale Clubb, respectively. Bruce Foster was the only senior boy.

High school declamation will be held Thursday night, March 31, in the high school auditorium, following choral singing with A. D. Cummings as director.

SPEECH CLUB

The play, "Community Current," which the speech club presented earlier in this month, will do a repeat performance.

The P. T. A. association has asked that the play be given the first week in May. They will be studying health at that time.

The Speech club has gratefully accepted this invitation, as it will give them a valuable opportunity to appear before the public.

The Foods III girls were hostess to a formal buffet supper Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Home Economics department. The occasion was in relation to their study of Sharing Family and Community Life. The girls set up a list of objectives to be reached by having the entertainment. The first one was to feel at ease at a formal social. The others were How to be a good hostess; how to entertain; how to invite guests; table manners; correct dress; and table decorations for a formal occasion. As a guide for the study, Emily Post's Blue Book of Etiquette was used. Each girl was given a definite assignment and reported to the class her findings.

The girls discovered they needed some boys to carry out the study with them so several P. F. A. boys volunteered. Formal invitations were then sent to the boys. Those invited were M. C. Fuqua, C. W.

The Ag classes are making a cleaning up campaign on the school campus. They set out some shrubs and some evergreens to beautify the school grounds.

The Floydada chapter will participate in the contest held at Texas Tech college in Lubbock Friday, March 31. There will be three contests of which we will enter. The contest will be poultry, grain and horticulture. The boys on the teams are as follows: poultry team—James Turner, Elmer Norrell and M. C. Fuqua. Grain—Leland May, Aldine Williams and Eugene Blackman. The Horticulture team has not been determined but the boys who are working on it are Eddie Brown, John Hollums, Hollis McLain, David Beck and Homer Kenamer.

We hope to have high teams as well as to hold our honor of sweepstakes which we hold at present.

The Whirlwind volleyball team will meet the Lockney girls and the winner will play the winner of the rural division, Saturday in R. C. A. gym.

When Friday night rolls around in Floydada High school we will experience one of the most enthusiastic literary events of the county meet. Debates will take place and winning them means a lot toward bringing home the cup. The question this year is one of the most interesting and common over the state at the present time; "Resolved—That Texas Should Adopt a Uniform Retail Sales Tax."

The past week the teams have debated several times. Tuesday the boys debated Crosby, and that night the girls debated Ralls. Tullia furnished both boys and girls plenty of opposition Wednesday as did Matador on Thursday. This week the debaters expect to debate Roaring Springs, and to oppose Lockney Friday night.

The girls' team is composed of Lola Mae Billington and Ruth Simpson and the boys' are Garth Morse and James Willson.

Billy Woody entertains Friends Friday.

Billy Woody entertained a group of friends with a delightful party, Friday night, March 24. Various games were enjoyed throughout the evening.

Those participating in the fun were Mary Frances McRoberts, Jeanette Bratton, Evelyn Groves, Mary Kay Daniel, Josephine Troutman, Dorothy Dell Stovall, Robert Scott, Jimmy Willson, Leeman Norman, Malvin Jarboe, Robert Montgomery, Olin Watson, Percy Matthews and the host, Billy Woody.

Spelling Eliminations.

The eliminations in the spelling contest have been held and the representatives from F. H. S. are working very diligently toward beating Lockney Friday. Lola Mae Billington and Frances Marie Williams will spell for Floydada, with Ila Marie Battey and James Wester acting as substitutes.

We feel sure that these spellers will do their best Friday, and we want them to know that we're behind them, to help us win the county meet.

Rifle Club At FHS Is Organized

Sponsored by the McDermott Post of the American Legion, a junior rifle club has been organized in Floydada High school. Curtis Gilliam of the American Legion met with the students who were interested in joining the club on Thursday morning and took the first steps towards organization.

Mr. Gilliam explained the purpose of the club was to instruct the members in the use of fire arms, the mechanism and how to use them. For the charter membership, dues of 25 cents, the U. S. government will furnish each member 400 rounds of ammunition and two guns to be used for the target practice which will be placed at the club's disposal. Mr. Gilliam pointed out that every boy or girl between the ages of 14 and 20 were eligible for membership.

Following the discussion nominations for a temporary chairman and secretary were made. From those present Billie Brown was chosen as chairman and Fred Beard was chosen as secretary. It was their duty to preside over the next meeting and to collect the dues.

On Monday morning a meeting was called to elect permanent officers. Billie Brown was elected president, Fred Beard, vice-president, Carl Arnold, secretary, Robert Montgomery and Edward Wester. Along with the officers a name of "The McDermott Junior Rifle Club" dues of 50 cents for new members and an annual meeting date of the last Monday in March were voted on by the 75 members.

Denison, Earl Beck, Aldine Williams, Jewel Elza, Leland Woodward, Eddie Brown, Leland May, Eugene Blackmon, John Hollums, James Lee Nickliss, Orville Newberry and Lynn Colville, Winfred Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. King and Miss Lois Fouts, and Miss Verda Frances Turner.

Neil Burtrand was doorman and announced each person as he or she arrived. The men were directed to the Gentlemen's Lounge (which was Mr. Davis' office), where the vallet, Clarence Westfall checked their hats. The ladies were directed to the ladies dressing room (which was the teacher's room) where Irene Probasco, and Lavelle Ginn assisted them with their wraps and hair combing.

Cocktails consisting of pineapple juice was served by Neil, before the supper was announced. The food was previously prepared by the girls with the help of the foods II class.

The clothing laboratory was converted into a lovely and home-like living room. Small tables were arranged for the group to set at and eat the supper. Each table had the silver, beverage, napkin and place cards on them when the guests arrived. The living room suit was moved into the room to add to the atmosphere. A lovely indirect floor lamp furnished the lighting for the room.

Music from the evening was heard from the radio. Several end-tables added a home-like touch to the room. Yellow flowers in white vases helped to carry out the color scheme of yellow and green. The hand made Easter tallies made by Allen McIntyre gave color to the tables. Miss Mary Louise Tubbs served the meat course in the dining room then each person finished serving his or her plate. The dining room was made attractive by using the white table cloth, double yellow and green tapers and yellow flowers on the table. The small service table had single green and yellow tapers with a small arrangement of yellow flowers. The color scheme of yellow and green was carried out in the menu as far as possible. Small individual cakes were served with ice cream. The cakes were iced in yellow with the initial of the person in green.

Since this was a class project, many questions were asked and answered during the evening. Members of the class are Florene Brown, Juanice Cothern, Geneva Cline, Esther Pinkner, Eula Mae Fortenberry, Eunice Langley, Juanita Lybrand, Wynona Smith, Grace Taylor, Mary Louise Tubbs, Myra Louise Willson and the teacher Miss Rees.

Volley Ball Team Defeats Ralls

Thursday afternoon, March 24, the girls' volleyball team of Ralls High school journeyed to Floydada, to return home defeated by the F. H. S. team. Three games were played with the Green and White the victor of two of those games. O. K. Davis and Miss Reba Copeland are the coaches of the winning team.

Members who played Thursday were Oletha Strickland, Ruth Kreis, captain, Glenna Holmes, Virginia, Yoakum, Dovie Donathan, Pauline Wood, Tommie Ruth Jones, Frances Jo Terrell. Substitutes were Maudene Moore, Jennie Lou Harper, and Ella B. Crabtree.

The Whirlwind volleyball team will meet the Lockney girls and the winner will play the winner of the rural division, Saturday in R. C. A. gym.

Farmers And Officials Preparing To Combat Grasshopper In Area

Committee Named To Take Lead And Estimates Of Costs Set Up To Meet Threat

Executives of the Texas Farm association and committeemen of the Agricultural Conservation association with members of the county court met in the district court room Saturday for the purpose of discussing and organizing the 1939 grasshopper program for Floyd county. County Agricultural Agent D. P. Bredthauer was assisted by R. R. Reppert, Entomologist of the Extension Service, College Station, Texas. A report was given of a grasshopper egg survey conducted in six different sections of Floyd county.

A committee to formulate plans in combating the pests in Floyd county was named. The following are members of the Floyd county grasshopper committee: Carl Lemons of Cedar, Ed Teague of Lockney, W. H. Nelson of Floydada, A. S. Cummings of Sand Hill and M. H. Taylor of Cedar.

An estimated cost of combating these pests was made which is as follows: $10.00 for repairs and building three new grasshopper bait spreaders; $216.00 the estimated cost of mixture bait materials; $90.00 for a supervisor having charge of all of the poison baits and mixture materials; $50.00 for truckage; $55.00 for incidentals.

At the present there is on hand 145 sacks of bran which were left over from last year and a sufficient amount of sodium arsenite which will be used for an early campaign against these pests. A car load of grasshopper material will be sent to Floyd county at an early date. County Agricultural Agent D. P. Bredthauer states that the committee will meet in the near future to make plans for this campaign.

Migratory Type Present

The report of the grasshopper surveys made by experts of the Extension Service indicate that Floyd county will have its first infestation of the migratory type of grasshopper this year. Following are the results of the surveys made:

The first survey was made 2 miles north and 3 miles east of South Plains, Texas. An average of 0.4 egg pod of the migratory type of hopper was found to every square foot.

The second survey was made in a wheat field 1.3 miles north and 3 miles west of South Plains and a count of 1.2 egg pod of the crops species of hopper was made.

The third survey was made in a pasture 7 miles north and 3 miles west of Sterley and here a 0.2 egg pod was found in the pasture and a 0.2 egg pod was found at the edge along the fence row of the migratory type of hopper.

The fourth survey was made in a sudan grass patch 4 miles north of Lone Star and here on every square foot a 0.2 egg pod was found and 1.4 egg pod of the crops species of hopper was found along the fence rows.

The fifth survey was made in an alfalfa field 5 miles west and 6.1 miles north of Lockney and here was found 1 egg pod for every square foot and along the fence rows 2.2 egg pod of the crops species of hopper was found.

The sixth survey was made in a pasture 3 miles east of Floydada and here was found a 0.4 egg pod per square foot and along the edge 1 pod for each square foot was found of the migratory type of hopper.

5 And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And he said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest.

6 But rise, and enter into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do.

7 And the men that journeyed with him stood speechless, hearing the voice, but beholding no man.

8 And Saul arose from the earth; and when his eyes were opened, he saw nothing; and they led him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus.

9 And he was there three days without sight, and did neither eat nor drink.

10 Now there was a certain disciple at Damascus, named Ananias; and the Lord said unto him in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Behold, I am here, Lord.

11 And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go to the street which is called Straight, and inquire in the house of Judas for one named Saul, a man of Tarsus; for behold, he prayeth;

12 And he hath seen a man named Ananias coming in, and laying his hands on him, that he might receive his sight.

17 And Ananias departed, and entered into the house; and laying his hand on him said, Brother Saul, the Lord, even Jesus, who appeared unto thee in the way which thou camest, hath sent me, that thou mayest receive thy sight, and be filled with the Holy Spirit.

18 And straightway there fell from his eyes as it were scales, and he received his sight; and he arose and was baptized;

19 And he took food and was strengthened. And he was certain days with the disciples that were at Damascus.

The Lesson Objective

Among all the individual cases of conversion to Christ, that of Saul of Tarsus may be singled out as the "classic" example: First of all, this case is unique in that the line of demarcation between the conduct of Saul before and after his conversion is clear cut, distinct. There are instances of Christian "conversion" where the change is scarcely perceptible. In the case of children reared to righteousness in Christian homes, the change is usually not abrupt. There seems to be comparatively small place for repentance. Where a child, like Timothy, "from a babe has known the Scriptures," and where the example of Christian parents is supplemented by wholesome Christian environment, the little bud flowers into beauty without the background of deadly blight that mars and scars many a soul. The same is true, in perhaps lesser degree, of the mature one, grown up under the influences and the atmosphere of the church. Repentance, though genuine, is not so pronounced as in the case of one who has behind him a record of dissipation. Saul's case differs from all these. Though conscientious, he was wicked; willing to use violent means, even imprisonment and murder, to carry out his plans. In his own words, he was "the chief of sinners." But when he saw the light, and the great hope dawned in his soul, his agonized repentance with fasting and prayer called forth the mercies of God, and he so seized upon and appropriated those mercies that God wiped out the crimson past and gave him a new life.

A second thought to be stressed in this lesson is the fact that the conversion of Saul of Tarsus is a strong apologetic of the Christian faith. The sudden change in his mental attitude toward Jesus requires explanation. The day before, he was an unbeliever of the most pronounced type. What answer would he have given to Jesus' great question, "Who do you say that I am?" It certainly would not have been "the Christ the Son of the living God." Within a few days Saul, at the risk of death from the Jews, believed so heartily in the crucified and risen Christ that he began to preach the faith he once destroyed. We can explain his change of faith only by believing that he actually saw Jesus at the right hand of God. Nor was this sudden and complete change in Saul that of the passing moment. For about thirty years to come his life was completely devoted to Jesus Christ. And, finally, he laid down his life as a martyr for our Lord.

A third thought should be emphasized: The conversion of Saul has back of it a distinctly divine purpose. He tells us that God had set him apart, even from birth, and called him through His grace, to reveal His Son in him, that he might preach the gospel among the Gentiles (Gal. 1:15). What a commission was given him to execute! He was saved that he might be God's instrument for the salvation of the Gentiles. It is presumed that God has a purpose in view for every one who heeds His call.

What effect should the teaching of this lesson have on the lives of our class members? It should enhance our faith in our divine Lord, direct our lives more fully in the channel of His purpose for us and intensify our zeal in working for His kingdom.

OUR NEW DEAL FOR More And Better Colts

(SEE LAST PARAGRAPH FOR TERMS)
If your mare does not raise a profitable colt we both lose. We can only expect good colts from the best sires. A good sire from superior ancestors will produce better and more uniform colts than the ordinary animal. An inferior sire usually means that the colts will not pay for their feed and care. A badly formed sire will usually produce inferior and unsound colts. Good colts are the most profitable stock you can raise and will be high in price for years. Be sure to raise good ones. In order to be of more service to you I have attended a school of scientific breeding. The best breeders in every state that have attended the school have actually proven its value to the advantage of the mare owners. The United States government has sent more than 40 students to the school who were engaged in government breeding.

I want to talk to all of my customers on how to prevent a serious disease and other local conditions so that we can raise a higher percentage of foals. I examine all mares so as not to spread disease from one mare to another. By my new method of testing the semen, mare owners can see the sperm cells that look like wiggle tails in rain water. If a stallion makes a good test it is then up to the mare and her management to raise a good colt. If a stallion is not in a breeding condition or has made too many services there will be no sperm cells or life-giving power. There might be plenty other fluid but that service is of no value.

I use the special pointed breeding capsules and all the modern equipment. This should convince any mare owner that my methods are far superior to the old plan of waiting a year to see if he will get a colt, only taking 120 to 140 days to diagnose pregnancy.

You have probably wondered why many mares did not settle. Many breeders who have attended school have more than doubled their percentage of foals through the mare examinations alone.

I am now in position to make many mares breed that have not been breeding. It was emphasized at the school that a public spirited breeder who maintained a good sire and went to a great expense in securing a high class education in that special line should be recognized as a great benefactor in that locality. The man who maintains a high class sire that will double the value of the colts over the ordinary stallion or jack, will add great wealth to that community. The American farmers are just realizing the value of good stallions and jacks.

When a stallion or jack serves a mare that is making a limited number of services there should be millions of sperm cells at every service. It only requires one sperm cell to produce a colt if the mare is in a breeding condition. It is also very easy to get an infection to a good mare and stop a foal. When capsules are used as I have been taught to use them, much time is saved for the mares will not need to be returned so often. Nearly 10,000 of the best breeders have successfully used capsules in nearly every section of the country.

The mare owner can readily see that once this system is adopted a high class sire can be maintained at a smaller fee with less danger to the mare and very little danger of spreading disease. When there are several mares present, a clean, healthy mare can be selected for service to prevent the spread of disease. When the breeder has an advertised hour the mare owner learns that he can get his mare bred at that hour without making dates. When the natural service only is employed the stallion will service every mare which may spread disease. The mare examinations and the capsule method are of great importance to the mare owner. I have learned the most modern methods on these horse-breeding subjects.

I am willing to spend some time getting these mares to breed, as then they should produce colts regularly and be profitable to you and me, also. To all whom this concerns, come and see the stock or come and see what I have to offer. I am prepared to test our stallion and show you the live sperm cells which will convince my jacks and stallion are fertile and that the capsule method should be employed.

I haul my stock to your farm. My terms, $10 insure foal, $2 cash when first service is made and $8 in 120 to 140 days if foal is showing. Or will give treatment and wait 120 days longer. This is up to the owner of the mare. If you are wanting any services please see me as there are some parts of the country that do not have any service, trying to make dates with me for service. The thing is not to lose a year on your mare if possible. If you breed under the 12 months plan you are apt to lose a year on your mare.

SAUL BECOMES A NEW MAN Lesson Text:—Acts 9:1-30.

Printed Text:—Acts 9:1-12; 17-18. Golden Text: "If any man is in Christ, he is a new creature; the old things are passed away; behold, they are become new."—II Cor. 5:17.

1 But Saul, yet breathing threatening and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high priest.

2 And asked of him letters to Damascus unto the synagogues, that if he found any that were of the Way, whether men or women, he might bring them bound to Jerusalem.

3 And as he journeyed, it came to pass that he drew nigh unto Damascus; and suddenly there shone round about him a light out of heaven:

4 And he fell upon the earth, and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

SELECTED MALES INCREASE WEIGHT OF PULLETS' EGGS

Pullets going into production generally lay small eggs. Because such eggs are small, they grade lower and bring lower prices.

By using selected males—at the National Agricultural Research Center, Beltsville, Md.—Dr. C. W. Knox and M. W. Olsen of the Bureau of Animal Industry in 4 years have developed White Leghorn pullets which start laying large eggs so much sooner that the December average egg weight has jumped from 21.9 ounces per dozen to 24.6 ounces per dozen. There was no culling of pullets during the test.

As a result, the average egg weight for the entire first year of production went from 23.2 ounces per dozen to 24.8 ounces per dozen. Twenty-four ounces per dozen is the minimum weight for large eggs in the top United States grades.

Males used in the breeding pens were selected on the basis of their sisters' average egg weight the first 2 years of the test, and during the past 2 years were selected on both their sisters' and daughters' average egg weight.

Average egg weight made steady gains as shown by the December averages from year to year. The eggs averaged 21.9 ounces for December of 1934, the year the test began. For the same month in 1935, before the breeding work had time to produce results, average weight dropped to 21.2 ounces per dozen. But in December 1936 it jumped to 22.9 ounces and then to 23.2 ounces in 1937 and 24.6 for December 1938.

FARM FAMILIES GET AHEAD WHEN THEY NET $600 CASH

Many farm families that have $600 in cash after paying all farm operating expenses for the year manage to meet living expenses and to get ahead financially, as well, according to the Consumer Purchase Study of the Bureau of Home Economics. This amount seems to be the dividing line between deficit and savings. When net money income passes this point, many families begin to make payments on the farm mortgage or other debts, or they are able to invest a little, usually in the farm business.

This amount of net money income usually means a total net income, "in cash and in kind," of approximately $1,000. Housing furnished by the farm and food and fuel used by the family supplement the cash, in providing for family living, and help make possible an upturn in family fortunes.

The tendency of families to have by applying the brake to expenditures for living is found at lower income levels in farm communities than in cities.

Introduction of Golf

The game of golf was old and well developed when it was introduced into the United States. The first games were played in New York in 1890. Solid rubber balls were used. Earlier in the history of the game balls made of feathers, encased in leather, were employed, but not in this country.

"How did you make your neighbor keep his hens in his own yard?" "One night I hid half-a-dozen eggs under a bush in my garden, and next day I let him see me gathering them. I wasn't bothered after that."

WOOD STILL THE FUEL IN MILLIONS OF FARM HOMES

Despite an increase in the use of other fuels, wood is still the source of heat for millions of farm families, the United States Forest Service reports. Farm woodlands supply wood not only for farm owners but for many families in small towns and villages. Each year fuel worth about $150,000,000 comes from farm woodlands, according to the last census. The South uses about one-half of all fuel wood consumed in the United States.

The Forest Service often is asked how wood compares with other fuels. The Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, Wis., finds that a cord of hickory, oak, beech, birch, hard maple, ash, elm, locust, longleaf pine, or cherry properly dried for 9 to 12 months will produce about the same amount of heat as a ton of hard coal. One and one-half cords of shortleaf pine, western hemlock, red gum, Douglas fir, sycamore, or soft maple is equal to about 1 ton of hard coal. Two cords of cedar, redwood, poplar, cottonwood, catalpa, cypress, basswood, spruce, or white pine have about the same heating value as a ton of coal. A cord is 128 cubic feet of wood.

Although firewood should be allowed to season for about a year, it often begins to deteriorate if allowed to air dry for more than 3 or 4 years, the Forest Products laboratory reports.

Firing Guns At Burials

The custom of firing three volleys over the grave of a deceased veteran is derived from the old Roman custom of casting earth over the coffin, calling the dead by name three times and then saying "vale" three times. The word "vale" is the Latin word for farewell. The firing of three volleys is saying farewell to the deceased.

Plans Made For Course In Health

Dates Are Announced As June 5 To August 24 By Notice This Week

LUBBOCK, March 28.—Dr. John M. Hopper, director of public health in the district, with Bruce E. Sasse, district engineer, were visitors at Texas Technological college this week in connection with the forthcoming summer course for public health workers and sanitation officers at the college. Dr. Hopper strongly recommends public health workers in his district to take the course.

District 1 comprises 60 counties in the Panhandle and North Plains. The southern boundary is comprised of the following counties: Andrews, Martin, Howard, Mitchell, Nolan, and Taylor. North the line is made up of Jones, Haskell, Knox, Ford, and Hardeman counties. Headquarters of the district are at Floydada. Every function of the State Health department is exercised in this district except there is no laboratory and vital statistics are not collected. The work includes water, foods, and milk inspection. In addition to the two named the office has seven employees, a milk sanitarian, four food and drug inspectors, a sanitarian worker, two nurses, and a clerk. Municipalities in the district are urged to consider cooperating with their sanitary officers in taking the course at Tech this summer.

Dates are announced as June 5 to August 24. The course is given in cooperation with the State Department of Health and the Vocational division of the Texas State Department of Education. During the first six weeks work covered will include: public health administration, communicable diseases, sanitary bacteriology and medical zoology, special subjects related to health, and milk sanitation. The second six weeks will include waterworks, sewerage and sewage disposal, surveying, drawing, concrete placing and making, public speaking, community sanitation, and miscellaneous sanitation problems.

SIX-YEAR STUDY SHOWS WHEN TO EXPECT FREEZE LOSSES IN WINTER WHEAT

Six years' study of winter hardiness in wheat on the Nebraska plains helps to explain why winter wheat is sometimes killed by cold weather and sometimes not. The results do not indicate any practical remedy for winter killing but they do show when crop losses from freezing are to be expected. The work was cooperative between the Nebraska Agricultural Experiment station and the Bureau of Plant Industry, United States Department of Agriculture.

Most wheat farmers know that the condition of wheat when cold weather comes on determines to a considerable degree its ability to survive. But, beyond this, little information has been available. The men who made the study found that winter wheat goes through three definite stages each fall and winter. The first is one of accumulating food reserves, usually ending in late December. These reserves are believed to play a vital role in protecting the plants from subsequent freezing temperatures. The accumulation of these reserves is aided during this period by sunlight and temperatures favorable for growth and is interfered with by frequent rains and cloudy weather. The second period is one of near dormancy and increased winter hardiness induced by low temperatures. The third period is one of declining hardiness and progress toward active growth which usually takes place no earlier than late January and often later, depending on temperature.

The periods must occur in the sequence dictated to insure hardiness. Thus, if conditions are not right in the first period for the accumulation of reserves, the wheat may not be able to acquire a sufficient degree of hardiness during the second period to survive very low temperatures. If the weather is too warm during the second period the wheat will not become hardened and may be severely damaged by subsequent cold weather.

George Washington's Nephew
Bushrod Washington, nephew of George Washington, was born in Westmoreland county, Va., on June 13, 1762. He was graduated in 1778 at the college of William and Mary, where he was an early member of the Phi Beta Kappa society. He served in the house of delegates in 1787, and in the following year sat in the convention which ratified for Virginia the federal Constitution. In 1798 he was appointed an associate justice of the United States Supreme court by President John Adams. He was George Washington's literary executor and supervised the preparation of John Marshall's "Life of Washington." On Martha Washington's death in 1802, he inherited Mount Vernon and a deaiphia on November 26, 1829.

Life of Animals and Plants
Plants exceed animals in the length and shortness of their lives. Parrots may live longer than a century, elephants may live two centuries and apparently whales live several centuries. The Sequoias of California outlive them by attaining an age of 50 centuries, according to the American wildlife institute. Certain bacteria have a life cycle of only 20 minutes, which is shorter than the life of any animal.

COUNTY COMMITTEE ASKS FROZEN COTTON ACREAGE BE RELEASED BY FARMERS

H. H. Marshall, secretary of the Floyd County A. C. A., on instructions from the county committee, has issued the following request to farmers who have cotton allotments of which they do not plan to make use:

Any producer who has received a 1939 acreage allotment of cotton which he does not intend to make use of should call at the county office and execute proper forms releasing this acreage so that he may secure a like amount of general allotment. Such release will in no way affect the cotton allotment which may be assigned the farm for 1940. The allotment accumulated will be used in this county to give deserving farms a more equitable cash crop allotment for 1939. April 15, 1939 is set as the deadline to release 1939 cotton allotments.

SYPHILIS CAUSE OF LARGE PER CENT OF BLIND, INSANE

DENTON, Texas.—Branding syphilis as medicine's "number one" problem, Dr. George W. Hinkle, Denton physician and surgeon, recently told Kappa Delta Pi, student educational fraternity at North Texas State Teachers college, that people must quit "pretending that the disease does not exist."

A community goes into the jitters when typhoid or smallpox breaks out, but casually ignores the presence of syphilis, which is causing more damage today than these two "more respectable" diseases ever did, he said.

Syphilis is back of 18 per cent of all deaths due to heart disease, 10 per cent of all cases in insane asylums, and a contributing factor in 12 per cent of all inmates of institutions for the blind, he declared. He asserted that while 174,000 persons were disabled in the nation in 1935 by auto accidents, 500,000 persons were disabled in the same year by syphilis. About 60,000 babies are born every year in the United States infected with syphilis, he said.

No one is immune to the disease, and there is no way of being vaccinated against it, he pointed out. One person in 10 in the United States has syphilis there are two persons with syphilis there are two persons with gonorrhea, he said. Syphilis is six times more prevalent in negroes than in whites, and four times more prevalent in cities than in rural areas, he asserted.

Hinkle, who has made a special study of the disease, suggested a five point program for the eradication of syphilis: prompt treatment of infection, prevention of syphilitic births by requiring tests for both sexes before marriage, examination of the entire family when one case is discovered, teaching about syphilis, and the requirement of health certificates for those handling food.

"JUNK HEAP" PLANT MAY BE VALUABLE TO FARMER

Many plants that are plentiful but now have little or no commercial value may ultimately occupy a high position in American agriculture, says S. B. Detwiler, Department of Agriculture scientist. Some of these plants are regarded as weeds and Detwiler calls them "junk heap" plants because, like a junk heap, they represent definite values to those who are keen enough to find them.

For several years Detwiler has been conducting studies of erosion-resisting plants for the Soil Conservation service searching for better plant covers to hold or rebuild worn soil. In the "junk heap" he found broomsedge which grows on worn soils of the southeast until sufficient humus is added to grow valuable grasses that would not grow before. He points out that blueberries and beech plums were once "junk heap" plants, but now have definite commercial values as well as growing on poor soils.

Pointing out that industry has profited enormously from the utilization of wastes, Detwiler believes a similar opportunity exists for agriculture. For example, Russian thistle was condemned as a pest until years of prolonged drought taught Great Plains farmers that it had economic as well as soil-holding value. "When nature gives us 'uneconomic' plants in abundance at our doorstep, it seems wise to investigate every possible economic utility in such plants before declaring them a worthless nuisance," Detwiler asserts. "Some of these secondary plant values have already been developed. Maple sugar and maple syrup are by-products of a tree that has high value in controlling erosion. But maple orchards are only one example of this hilticulture type of farming. The same principle should be more widely developed to conserve hilly lands and yield supplemental farm income."

Change Freshening Season, Argument Of Cream Manager

Fall Butterfat Brings More Money Than Summer, Experience Shows

That farmers of this section would find it profitable to change the freshening season for the major portion of their dairy herds from spring and early summer to the fall and winter months is an idea presented this week by E. L. Angus, manager of the Armour Creameries here. Angus, who says the welfare of the butterfat producer and the butterfat processor are mutual, thinks there are several reasons why a change would be beneficial.

Among these changes he puts first the matter of butterfat prices. "Experience over the past 10 years," he said, "Point to the fact that winter butterfat has brought the man who milked the cows something more than 2 cents more than the same cream brought him in the summer." Two cents per pound for butterfat is a substantial per cent of gain, he pointed out.

Other reasons pointed to by the local creamery man include the fact that the production of the cows in the fall and winter does not suffer much from the swarms of flies and other insects that harrass cows in the summer. Furthermore, late developments in the feeding practices have demonstrated that succulent as well as dry feeds can be economically stored for winter use. It has been demonstrated that even ensiled green hay and grasses are now practical for winter use.

"It has been demonstrated that the dairy cow can be geared to higher butterfat production in fall and winter months, and while it has been common practice from time immemorial to breed for freshening in the spring a change to the fall or early winter is just as good practice," Mr. Angus pointed out.

In addition to the above there is the fact that the producer has more time to devote to dairying in the winter than in the planting and growing and harvesting season of the spring and summer.

Planting Of Soybeans Encouraged By Agent; But Watch Your Step

Not All Soy Beans Are Suitable For Crushing Purposes, County Agent Is Advised

A number of the farmers of the irrigated sections in the Lockney territory have become interested in the planting of soy beans. County Agricultural Agent, D. F. Bredthauer, is anxious to call to the attention of these growers that when soy bean seed is properly inoculated a large number of bacteria cling to the surface of each seed and as soon as the rootlets begin to form on the seedlets the bacteria which have been applied previously to planting are immediately available. The bacteria within the nodules absorb the free nitrogen of the soil air which is utilized by the growing plant. The proper inoculation supplies nitrogen in the early stages of growth and it gives the plant a stronger and healthier start. The experiment station of Texas report that soy beans which have been inoculated yield 43 per cent more forage than non-inoculated soy beans. Inoculation also increased the yield of six varieties of soy beans 39 per cent.

Mr. Bredthauer has been notified that this bacteria is included with the soy bean seed which is offered for sale in the Lockney area. Several demonstrations have proven rather successful in the past years and the planting of soy beans is also welcomed by the County Agricultural Conservation association as all acres planted to soy beans which are harvested on the farm for feed on the farm can be used in the soil conserving acres and acreage which is plowed under will be classed under the soil building or class 2 payment.

Soy beans which are harvested and sold for crushing purposes will be termed or classed in the general acres. Farmers expecting to plant soy beans for crushing purposes are advised to plant "Mamoxi" as this is a medium yellow bean which is excellent for crushing purposes. There are a number of soy beans on the market but attention is called to the fact that not all soy beans are suitable for crushing purposes, advises County Agricultural Agent, D. F. Bredthauer.

Eagles Look Downward

The eyes of eagles are especially designed to look downward and the bird can see upward only with great difficulty. This is nature's way of making it easier for the bird to see its prey below as it soars high in the air in search of food. Then, too, says the American Wildlife Institute, the eagle's overhanging brow provides shade from the overhead sun.

Sport Influence Shows In All Lines Of New Spring Hats On Display

The campus and the Tyrol combine to be the influencing factors in the styling and manufacture of hats for spring. All new hats have some new trickeration... either in novelty design or in deft color combinations.

The new tyrolean sports hats are featured in smart new fabrics. Featured is the roughed-up texture type, sloping lower towards the back.

New Sports Hat Effects
Other new tyrolean effects are the new spinner weave, the telescope shape and a grand assortment of feathers, plaited bands and other novelties.

The new snap brim features a smart raw-edge model that is desirable for its adaptability to all types of faces. Also new is the smarter and popular lightweight homburg in new shades of color.

Hats for Sport Outfits
Formerly men were inclined to forget hats, when wearing sports outfits. But new non-crushables that can be rolled, and pocketed put an end to this fetish. And the general appearance of a man is always improved by the "finishing touch" of a smart new hat.

Spring Suits are Highlighted By Smart Fabric Finishes; Floydada Stores Show Styles

This spring men are looking behind the scenes to see what makes a good suit! They're looking at the tailoring detail, the craftsman-ship, and, above all, they're looking at the new fabrics.

And this spring the new suits tell a story that is really new and distinctive. For "old favorite" fabrics are shown in smart new finishes and patterns. Old-time fabrics have been revived and re-established to a new popularity. And then there are fabrics that are entirely new and spring-like.

Covert Sets the Pace!
New spring suiting has a leader in fabrics—covert! This easily tailored goods started its rapid rise to popularity early last fall, and now is at the heights. It is a soft smooth fabric that adapts itself perfectly to extended drape styling and new detail. Primarily a solid tone fabric, it is now shown in many shops in smart stripes, diagonals and will weaves. It comes in the new three-button jacket style, as well as in regular single and double breasted styles.

Gabardines Right Up There!
Right up among the fabric favorites is reliable gabardine. The popularity of this fabric extends from late last fall, and the new light-weight gabardines for spring and early summer wear are sure to be seen everywhere.

This fabric, too, was primarily a single tone fabric, but has now been adapted to well blended colors in stripes, checks and mixtures. They are favorites for both business and sports wear.

Sharkskin Plays Major Role!
Another fabric playing a major role in the spring style picture is the lightweight sharkskin. It serves as a background for new stripes, and is ideal for business wear.

Other fabrics that will play a major part in the spring style picture are the always-welcome flannel combinations; lightweight wool worsteds in all patterns; light mohairs; and, popular, long-wearing cheviots.

Smart Patterns Plentiful
Patterns that are favorites for spring wear hold true to course in giving a bright, airy look. Stripes are the most popular. You can choose from such an array: cluster stripes, dotted stripes, pin-point stripes, wide waives, banjo stripes and others.

Other pattern favorites are tick weave combinations, diagonals, solid tones, diamond checks and softly blended over-plaids.

Suits Match Wearers!

The new suits are not just designed harum-scarum to be worn by any man. Style designs and color chemists have contrived to achieve their new shades and hues only by keeping in mind as an objective the type of man who is to wear the suit.

This system gives every man an even chance to get the suit that "fits" him—in size, color and weave. A suit that looks swell on Clark Gable might be sacky on Tyrone Power... so it's each man to his own liking. And there is enough variety to assure the man of any build, complexion and color a choice of the best.

CARD OF THANKS

We are deeply grateful to our friends and neighbors for their untiring help and many kindnesses during the illness of our husband and brother. Especially do we appreciate the members of McDermitt Post, American Legion, and Rev. Vernon Shaw, pastor of the First Baptist church, for their help and thoughtfulness. The many flowers and the food which was brought in were evidences of esteem which we will ever remember.

Mrs. J. E. Horton,

More than half of the motorists earn less than $30 per week and they pay an average of $50 a year in taxes on their cars. That means that nearly two whole weeks' wages are paid by many motorists for automotive taxes.

LOYCE TURNER CHOSEN TO COMPETE FOR HEARST TROPHY IN RIFLE MATCH

Loyce Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Turner, student in Texas Technological college at Lubbock, was one of the 5 men chosen out of 15 to fire for the Hearst Trophy, a national rifle match.

Lanse Turner of Post was the high man with a score of 172 out of 200 and Loyce was second with a score of 168. Last week the team went to Plainview for a shoulder to shoulder match when Loyce fired a score of 342 out of 400 in the intercollegiate match.

This is the first year for Tech to have a T. O. T. C. rifle team and they have improved their total score about 500 points.

Loyce will go on a six weeks camp this summer at Ft. Logan, Colorado, where he will have a chance to fire every kind of weapon in the service. He will also try for expert awards in the use of the 30 calibre rifle, the pistol and the bayonet.

Floydada To Have Part In Tech Show

Two Floydada Boys To Help Manage Big Annual Event At Texas Tech

By Elvira Smith
(Special to the Hesperian)

Two Floydada boys have been named show managers of the eleventh annual engineers' show to be held at Texas Technological college April 14 and 15. L. V. Assiter, senior architectural student, is manager of the architecture and allied arts exhibits, and Ersel Matthews, senior textile engineer, is manager of the textile engineering department's display.

Approximately 10,000 guests are expected at the show. Tech engineers will have on display all work done in each of the various departments of their school at the annual affair. Machines studied will be in operation and new machines and novel displays will be on exhibit.

The electrical engineering department will be in charge of the lighting of the show. Most outstanding display of this department will be the giant Tesla coil, capable of maintaining a potential of 2,500,000 volts. Sparks several feet long are ejected from the terminal of this machine.

In the civil engineering department several large testing machines will be in operation. Main attractions will be the Olsen testing machine which will crush concrete cylinders. Model bridges, highways and street intersections are items of this department.

Of interest in the mechanical division will be the small but speedy Hero turbine, capable of attaining speeds as high as 9,000 revolutions a minute. A 410 Pratt-Whitney radial airplane motor, which was obtained from Kelly field for display, will be another attraction.

In the architectural drawing rooms, a model city, complete in every detail, will be constructed from actual working drawings made by the students. The clay modeling room will be open and operating, and several forms of statues and base-relief work will be exhibited. This department will supply visitors with souvenirs and novelties, among which are portraits of the visitors which will be drawn by students in the architecture and allied arts department. Dying and testing of the finished product is another step in the production of cloth, which will be witnessed in this division.

Tech geological engineers will have on display a miniature volcano, cross section of a mine, and model of a prehistoric dinosaur. They will show rock formations of all kinds and display mineral ores. Souvenirs of the show include gold and silver metal ashtrays, small aluminum wine goblets, and photographs of visitors, taken and developed in the chemical engineering building.

M. O. T. C., entirely composed of engineering students, will have a table and displays made by advanced military science students. They will assist the show by regulating traffic and directing the crowd.

AM THEY A HELL?

Many theories about the origin of petroleum have been advanced but very few have spoken the reason for it. A negro pastor, however, has advanced a new theory according to the Everett P. Rogers Advisory service, that is entertaining, whether it is worth considering or not. According to the Rogers' service the newly appointed pastor of the colored church announced that the subject of his first sermon would be: "AM THEY A HELL, OR AM THEY NOT?" and "I will prove that they are."

The church was packed when the new pastor arose to prove his assertion.

"Brethren," he said, "The Lord made the world round like a ball."

"Amen," cried the congregation. "And the Lord made the world so it would go round and round."

"Amen," was the response. "And the Lord made two axes for the world to go round on, one at the North Pole and one at the South Pole."

"Amen," agreed the congregation. "And the Lord put a lot of oil and axle grease in the center of the world so as to keep the axes well greased and oiled."

"Amen," said the congregation. "And a lot of sinners dug wells in Pennsylvania and steal the Lord's oil and grease. And they dig wells in Kentucky, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas and in Mexico, Russia, and steal the Lord's grease and oil."

"And, some day, they'll dig so many wells that they will have all the Lord's oil and grease and then two axes IS GOING TO GET HOT. And that will be HELL, brethren, that will be HELL."—Denver Conclusion.

Floyd County Shows Heavy Flu Epidemic

Notes from the Floydada Hospital and Clinic indicate that Floydada and Floyd county is suffering from a severe flu epidemic, which has been raging for several weeks and seemingly has lost little momentum.

Several cases other than flu have been reported including accident victims and several operation cases. A son was born to Mrs. C. W. Jones Thursday night.

Mrs. R. M. McCauley has been receiving medical treatment. J. G. Martin has been seriously ill with influenza.

Mrs. Lillie Britton underwent a major operation Friday. She is reported much better.

Mrs. Carr Sarginer was treated during the latter part of the week. Mrs. Kirk Webb of Elk City was dismissed Friday following an operation several days ago.

Mrs. George McAllister has been receiving sinus treatments. The son of J. O. Dudley has been treated for bruises and a broken arm received in a bicycle-auto mishap Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. C. P. Looper was dismissed Monday. She had suffered a severe case of flu.

Henry Bloodworth has been treated for the flu.

Mrs. Edwin Brazier has been ill with the flu. Mrs. J. C. Wester has also been receiving flu treatments.

J. D. Hopper and Emmett Johnston are being treated for the flu. Both are considered severe cases.

Mrs. Bruce Ward was operated upon Monday and is reported much better at present.

CHEWING GUM "NEVERS"

Never chew gum in a public place or in the presence of those who do not indulge in this habit.

Never stand so close that the other person must hear you chew.

Never make a noise (smacking, snapping) as you chew.

Never twirl the gum around in your mouth, folding it over the tip of your tongue as you chew.

Never pull the gum out in long strings.

Never park your gum any place that another is likely, or is obliged to touch with his fingers.

Never park your gum in sight for others to view.

Never throw gum where another may step on it and carry it home attached to his shoe.

To chew gum in public classifies you as ordinary. If you do not believe this, observe the chewers on the streets—and at school.

TENANTS BECOME OWNERS THROUGH LOANS FROM F. S. A.

Nearly 2,000 tenants and share croppers lifted themselves to the status of farm owners during the last fiscal year with loans authorized by the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act. The figures are from the Farm Security Administration, United States Department of Agriculture.

Although only 1,885 loans could be made from the $10,000,000 appropriated by Congress for the first year, 38,065 nonowners in 325 counties designated by the Secretary of Agriculture competed for them. Thousands of inquiries came from other counties.

The average loan for the purchase and improvement of a farm was $4,890. In many Southern States averages ran about $3,400 per farm. In Midwestern States the average loan was about $7,500 per farm. Six hundred and fourteen farms cost $2,500 or less. Four hundred and thirteen loans were between $2,500 and $3,500. Two hundred and sixty-two loans were between $3,500 and $7,500, and 46 were for more than $10,000. More than half the farms were between 61 and 160 acres in size; only 61 were larger than 329 acres and only 52 were smaller than 40 acres.

Loans were made to farm families selected by county committees of three farmers in each designated county. In character, ability, and experience the borrowers compare with any group of farmers. The notes given by the borrowers to the Government are secured by mortgages on the farm. They are payable within 40 years at 3 percent. Repayments should not be difficult, the Farm Security Administration believes, as payments for both interest and principal are in many cases less than the new owners were paying landlords for rent.

To safeguard the loans, the Farm Security Administration encourages approved farm and home management plans. County agricultural agents, home demonstration agents, and county rehabilitation supervisors assist in making these plans. The resources of the agricultural colleges and experiment stations are also utilized in developing the soundest possible farm and home farms.

INTER-AMERICAN HIGHWAY ABOUT ONE-HALF IMPROVED

Nearly half of the projected inter-American highway from Laredo, Texas, to Panama is now improved with gravel or higher type surface, according to the 1938 annual report of the Bureau of Public Roads of the Department of Agriculture.

When completed, this highway will extend 3,305 miles through Mexico, Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, and Panama.

The present improvement is reported as follows: 1,083 miles of paved road, 447 miles of gravel road, 43 miles of graded earth road, and 1,732 miles of ungraded road or trail.

Over half of the entire route lies within Mexico, where 805 miles have been improved and 1,015 miles remain unimproved. All of the 236 miles lying within Guatemala have been improved. The route within the other countries is reported as follows: El Salvador, 103 miles improved, 88 miles unimproved; Honduras, 23 miles improved, 67 miles unimproved; Nicaragua, 35 miles improved, 210 miles unimproved; Costa Rica, 48 miles improved, 308 miles unimproved; and Panama, 323 miles improved, 44 miles unimproved.

Substantial progress was made during the year ended June 30, 1938, particularly in constructing bridges and in locating and planning links of the highway, the report states. In each of the countries traversed by the route, interest in road construction has been aroused and efforts concentrated on the route from Panama to the United States.

The first 763 miles of the route, from Laredo, Tex., to Mexico City, has been constructed by the Mexican Government and is now carrying large numbers of tourists from the United States. The report reveals that if highway programs are now carried out as projected, an all-weather road will be completed as far south as Cholulteca, Honduras, a distance of 2,307 miles, by the end of 1941.

Statement From Glad Snodgrass On Mayor's Race City Of Floydada

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Mayor of Floydada for the second term.

We have outlined some programs which I would like to complete as well as assist in some other business problems which confront the city and will continue to handle the business of the city as I would my own business affairs.

While I have not actively campaigned for the office I believe every employee of the city should be judged by his works and I invite the people to judge from the actual records in the past two years and if you want me as your Mayor another term I will discharge the duties as best I can in a progressive way and at all times being mindful of the financial conditions.

N. T. S. T. COLLEGE YOUTH PAYS WAY THROUGH SCHOOL

DENTON, Texas.—Commercializing on the other fellow's laziness, Elbert Roberts, sophomore from Blue Ridge at the North Texas State Teachers college, pays his way through college by doing everything from washing dogs to transporting engagement rings and making "dates."

Roberts, observing that small jobs arise daily around almost every household with no one available to do them, got the idea of calling himself the "handy man," and advertised that he would perform trivial jobs for those who had no time for such tasks.

Soon after he started his business, he received a call from a man who wanted him to carry an engagement ring to a woman. When he delivered it he found that the man and woman lived less than a block apart.

Like many other "student services," Roberts operates a "dating bureau" for lonely boys and girls who want company, but his work is much wider than that of the average such bureau. Business men of Denton call him to make appointments for their wives' birthdays, and to prompt their memories in regard to other engagements. Daily the Handy Man gets calls for such things as personal loans, laundry, cashing and banking of checks, and the typing of themes and other manuscripts.

Should Roberts be busy himself, he hires assistants to mow lawns, wash windows, or carry out the ashes for busy housewives. His most popular service, however, remains the "dating bureau." He makes "blind dates" for those who like to gamble on their partners for an evening, other dates for boys too shy to ask the girls of their choice. Roberts himself never mixes business with pleasure, he says.

AERIAL PHOTOGRAPHS GIVE INEXPENSIVE FARM RECORD

Aerial photography has proved superior to other methods of land measurements in checking performance of farmers in the AAA program. It is more accurate, quicker, and cheaper. In the experience of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Accurate field measurement is important because conservation payments are made at a specified rate per acre of land planted. Prior to the use of air photography, a number of measuring methods, ranging from the old measuring wheel to surveying, were used.

Photographs constitute a permanent record and need not be retaken unless boundaries are greatly altered. Minor changes can be drawn in on the print. Enlarged to a specific scale, the prints serve as a map as well as a picture. Enlargement brings into focus the outlines of such landmarks as fences, highways, stream, buildings, woodlands, and trees.

In order to get pictures at a prescribed scale, they are made at a specified altitude of nearly 3 miles. The exact acreage of each farm and field can be determined from the print which is enlarged to scale.

Cost of checking performance from the air is about one-third less than the earlier methods of land measurements. Aerial photography costs about 4 cents per acre compared with 6 cents under older measuring methods. The cost is included as part of the administrative expense deducted from payments to farmers. These "picture maps" have been found useful by farmers in planning the lay-out of their fields. Some farmers frame them to hang on the wall.

Our Three Nervous Systems

Man has three nervous systems. The central nervous system, which consists of the brain and its associated fibers that extend to all parts of the body, is particularly associated with the sense organs and muscles. The automatic and sympathetic nervous systems are associated with the internal organs and processes which operate themselves without aid from the other nervous system. These two systems bear the same relationship to each other as the gas pedal and the brakes on an automobile. Normally these actions balance each other.

Jitter Jackets

The jitter jacket is taking the college world by storm. Freshmen, seniors, and even sisters at home are all wearing it.

Diversion of road funds to non-highway purposes often results in neglected and unsafe roads, and needlessly high taxes. Movements for the adoption of similar amendments are now under way in about a dozen states where road funds are misappropriated.

As I See It

Bill Hams

Senator Borah says "England is the best friend of Hitler" and makes statements to prove same... England "warns" Germany to quit her foolishness and leave the little European countries... Hitler marches on, giving Chamberlain and England (not to mention France and the U. S.) a very quiet and undignified Bronx cheer... The Czech people greet Hitler and his troops with snowballs and jeers... Mussolini looks on and writes his speech...

In Texas the taxpayers shudder between a "transaction tax" and a "sales tax," senators offer bills to "sell liquor by the drink" bring back "horse racing," raise the load limit on trucks and pay "old age" pensions.

The load increase bill died and the truckers and their friends aren't happy, just another worry for the legislative body when they look for votes... the majority are "against" either the transaction tax or the sales tax... sale of liquor by the drink and horse racing are opposed by all religious bodies... everyone wants to pay the old folks but no one wants to reach down in their jeans for the necessary money to pay them.

Yes, the Senators and legislators are going to face cross-fire from the voters on election day... it is going to be hard for them to explain some of their voting.

We will have folks from all over the county with us this week-end. This is the big interscholastic league events. Lockney is favored to clean Floydada's plow and make the year a complete success. The Longhorns have taken football, basketball, track meet (including four trophies) and will in all probability cop the county track meet and most of the literary events.

There isn't any getting around it Lockney has the best bunch of athletes this county can hope to see for many a moon. The boys up there seem to train because they want to, or because they want to bust the whirlwinds on every turn. Meanwhile a goodly number of prospective football, basketball, and track prospects in Floydada take little interest either in their sports or in training... some are conscientious and train and work but this is only a few compared to the many boys in our school system that "could" help out.

Perhaps too much emphasis is placed on football... perhaps the boys that work hard on basketball, track, and other sports should have more reward than a pat on the back. Perhaps these boys would like to receive a "letter" as well as a football letter. True these sports don't stack up monies in the athletic fund.

Undoubtedly the boy who makes the basketball team, or track team, or boxing team deserves his "F" as much as the football player... he represents his school and works hard... he should get his felt letter to place on his sweater or coat... such felt letters cost so little and yet mean so much to any athlete... it represents loyalty to school, and a job (or jobs) well done.

If I could bowl over a 100 twice in succession it would be some sort of a miracle... more of my tosses get into the gutter than any hopeful bowler ever tossed. Yet, bowling is great exercise, heaps of fun, and requires more than a little skill. If you haven't tried it you should.
