Here's How Rural Electricity Came To Floyd County

Electricity Comes To Rural Homes On May 6, Main Switch Thrown

One throw of a switch at 6:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon by L. W. Chapman, superintendent of the Floyd County Rural Electric Co-op, sent current coursing 175 miles of lines in this and Hale counties.

The main switch was located at the Petersburg sub-station located about one and one-half miles east of that town. The first member of the co-op to actually put the electricity to use were Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Rambeau Hale county residents who live about one-half mile north of the sub-station.

Lights came on in the Rambeau home as soon as L. D. Britton, co-op linesman, climbed the transformer pole and threw the fuse switch giving the first member on the line light and power.

Britton and Bill Fowler then spent an hour throwing other fuse switches on the line toward the C. R. Barnard home. Mr. Barnard was badly in need of power to begin his irrigation. The motor and wiring was inspected as soon as the crew was on hand and before 9:30 the Barnard electric pump was throwing a full pipe of water onto a wheat field. This was the first irrigation well operated from the co-op line.

Britton, Fowler and Chapman spent the remainder of the night up until 4 a. m. going from house to house on the line throwing fuse switches and giving homes electricity for the first time.

It was not unusual to light up an entire house, the yard, and barn by throwing the fuse switch and bring the entire family tumbling from their beds in the small hours of the morning, but such an interruption of sleep was in most cases welcomed with joy.

Over 200 homes are receiving power and some 16 irrigation wells are in operation from the lines at the present time. An additional 175 or 200 miles of line has been approved reaching into Hale, Crosby and other sections of Floyd county. This additional line will serve some 400 more farm homes.

The Aiken sub-station will be under construction within a short time which will accommodate some 100 additional irrigation wells and homes.

"Energization took place as soon as it did only through the hearty cooperation of the members and land owners over the county." L. W. Chapman said.

Concrete Pouring For Municipal Light Plant Foundations Makes Progress

Actual pouring of concrete for foundations of the 300-horse power engines at the municipal power and light plant was started this week. Jack Davidson, city engineer, said about 30 yards of concrete were poured Wednesday.

Temporary housing is being completed and the foundation work will be followed by the construction of the power plant building. Meanwhile material orders for distribution lines and other equipment for the $157,000 plant are outstanding and materials are due to begin rolling at any time.

New Superintendent
G. E. Milligan, superintendent for A. M. Locke & Company, contractors, has been succeeded on the construction job here by W. H. Pender, who comes from New Orleans. Milligan is due to go to Illinois on a construction job in that state, it was understood. 15 men were at work on the job here Wednesday. PWA Engineer Coleman L. Hasie, of Lubbock, spent Wednesday here checking on the progress of the plant.

Meanwhile at the regular monthly meeting of the city council Tuesday night an oral proposal made by officials of Texas-New Mexico utility company, that the city and utility company get together on a compromise proposal was rejected by the council. A petition bearing 48 names was presented at the same meeting asking that every consideration be given the company's proposal. The matter was discussed in the meeting for 3 hours.

WEATHER INFORMATION

On April 22 this newspaper warned its customers in southeast Floyd, southwest Floyd and adjacent portions of Crosby, Hale, Dickens and Motley counties to prepare for possible hard, dashing rains which we asserted would fall probably in the last week of that month. A warm column of air not from The Hesperian office but from the equatorial regions, delayed the showers three or four days and one whole community we had in mind missed almost entirely. This last we cannot understand in view of the plainly evident astronomical facts of the situation.

While we offered a possible bit of rain to other portions of the county, it was with some hesitation.

To those farmers who live in the areas which the should-have-been April showers missed, we suggest that if you have not done your land up to catch all possible moisture as we suggested, no need to do anything about it now. The signs are wrong and you'll save the expense. Hire out or something and cut down on the beans and bacon.

The fact that they had hard, dashing rains that flooded fields and streets and roads in sections to the south of us doesn't mean anything in our area. The 30-year cycle is doing its stuff.

It is possible that by the time this is in print the rains may have hit the very areas that have been dry. But it will be against the scientific facts as indicated by the moon, the other heavenly bodies and the way the wind blows. These say there are going to be some dry spots in West Texas this year. The best way to pick the spots that will be dry is to choose those that already are that way.

This from our weather department. The management of The Hesperian is unwilling to admit any of this, being in fact strongly for a good rain in all parts of all West Texas and particularly all parts of Floyd and adjoining counties.

LACK OF CO-OPERATION

In its efforts to get a good rain for this portion of the Lord's vineyard The Hesperian has found a lack of co-operation in some important quarters. One prominent official, president of the county board of education, John Howard by name, has done his part in a way but we find that several farmers are holding back, and even some of the ministers are not lining up in some quarters.

This is an important matter and we think all hands ought to be trying for a rain. If we could break up this 30-year cycle by thinking the same thought—all together—for a big rain, it would be a fine thing. How would it be for everybody every time they start out for anywhere to wear their overshoes and carry an umbrella? And talk about what a terrible hard rain it looks like we might have if the signs got a little better.

We need help and we ask you for it, here and now. We want a rain and we don't want any of this 30-year cycle stuff to interfere!

SOME PLEASED, SOME UNHAPPY

A very considerable portion of Texas' population is very impatient with the Texas legislature because some type of tax has not been levied for the Social Security program, in particular, old age pensions.

Another but considerably smaller element is not so anxious for the new taxes to be set in motion. In fact, they're trying to learn how to go along with the new taxes already put on them.

They are the men with property, also those with small businesses who wonder what will happen to them when the additional inevitable bill is presented.

There is always a way out, of course, and the world is not likely to come to an end on account of it, but these fellows are buffeted between their desire to hold on and their anxiety to be "for the pensions," and they worry, worry. And are tickled because somebody at Austin is swinging on to the money bags.

ARE GRASSHOPPERS LOSING A BATTLE?

While the Hitlers and Mussolinis of what we call the civilized world of mankind are threatening and bullying the rest of the world about men and nations are building bulwarks on land and sea, in the air, above and below the waters of the deep, against that next titanic struggle, other wars are also being fought and won on this mundane sphere.

Right now it is possible that grasshoppers may be losing a war in the far-flung areas of the panhandle. In Floyd county there are signs that some enemy may have penetrated to the grasshoppers' homes and are destroying their warrens before they ever emerge from their cradles—tightly-built little caches along fence rows planted underneath the surface of the earth.

If it were not for the constant warfare between various kinds of insects civilization on the plains of Texas and elsewhere might, and probably would, be destroyed by insects so tiny they hardly could be seen. This unseen warfare under your feet is declared to be one of the most fascinating studies one can make. Very soon it shall be known who wins and whether the poison mash mixer and the crews of bait scatterers will be a common scene in Floyd county this spring.

PRICKLY PEARS RETREATING

Speaking of insects and their battles, another losing battle is being fought this spring by the prickly pear in the "dust bowl."

An insect, a fungus or something that thrives on an ample supply of moisture and which is particularly attracted by the succulence of the prickly pear, is at work on the millions of acres of prickly pear plants which nature contrived to set down in the blowing soils to hold them together for the years of the prolonged punishment the earth took from the combined efforts of man and elements.

Now the desert plant is on the retreat and another year or two of reasonably ample moisture and it will be a matter of yesterday—until the next time.

TRAFFIC DEATH TOLL CUT

The State Department of Safety gets credit for the big reduction last year in the traffic death toll in Texas from 2,042 to 1,610. Doubtless a number of other factors entered into the reduction and the safety department will not be loath to give such credit as is due—to the governor of the state, to the newspapers and a hundred other agencies that lent their bit.

But the Safety department was the spear head in the drive, and the youthful police who rode our highways can be credited with doing a good job.

Opportunity knocks at every man's door but there are many who fail to hear it, and when some do hear it, they fail to heed it.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

Picnics, school closing, old settlers' meetings, gardens, chickens, turkeys, flowers to plant and summer dresses to make, would not any one know that it is spring? We hurry around to see the new green things pushing up the brown earth. The vegetables we have learned, but the flowers, not so easy to tell by their first leaves.

The new roses I set out this spring are growing, so are the many shrubs and plants. My interest in flowers has renewed. The garden is growing. Hope the potatoes make this year.

Mrs. Sallie Smith of the East Plains gave me some rock that she and her son Allen have been saving for my rock fence. They are the first ones I have gotten from Palo Duro. Sallie was a visitor in my girlhood home at Emma.

Mrs. Mary Kirk, who was born in the old rock house, lives on top of the plains but she can look down in the canyon valley where she played as a child. These good friends of childhood days! The pattern of our lives have been woven together. We have had the same experience of a new country. Have known the same people, gone to the same pioneer and Christmas gatherings.

I met so many friends both old and new in Floydada Saturday. They were so kind and I enjoyed meeting each one.

Notice to my new friends:—If I should fail to recognize you, please come up and speak. I meet so many, I will have to have a little time to learn each new face.

Last Tuesday a large crowd of people met at the Old Emma cemetery and cleaned it up. What a crowd of memories filled our minds as we cut the weeds and raked them up. There was a tombstone with murdered carved on its marble surface. A young boy so long ago had drifted west and was trapped in the brakes for a living, killed and left unburied, murdered for a team of horses and his wagon.

Then the marble slab with Albert Witt only 20 or so years old. I remembered his fall from the windmill in the big pasture. He had gone there to meet a man but was mistaken as to the mill. He climbed the tower to look for the man, the wheel knocked him off. All night he lay there, conscious, water blowing and freezing over his paralyzed body. Next day he was found (his father and brother in law were riding near and Frank wanted to see how the mill was working that

FLOYD COUNTY 14 YEARS AGO

News items taken from files of the Floyd County Hesperian published in Floydada fourteen years ago.

(Issue of May 14, 1925)
The heavy rains of the past week uncovered the skull of a man in the ditch immediately south of the old Rock House at Mt. Blanco, sons of R. B. Smith discovered the skull Sunday morning, following Saturday night's downpour.

Half the hitchhacks on the public square, surrounding the Floyd county court yard were dug up this week. The racks on the south side of the yard being left for the present.

A temporary organization of the Floyd County Poultry association was completed at the meeting of poultry breeders of the county in the court house Thursday evening, May 7, when E. S. Shoaf was elected as temporary chairman and presiding officer and Oliver Allen temporary secretary.

The roll call of the senior class of 25 of Floydada High school includes as names of 23 boys and 30 girls as follows: Kenneth Henry, Delmar Guthrie, Roy Jameson, Alpha King, Quinby Kizzlar, Lemond Moore, Clyde Norman, Frank Norman, J. D. Rainer, N. L. Ross, Parker Shipley, Garner Surginer, Vernon Abbott, Lee Gollysh, Wesley Foster, Bill Daily, Ernest Carter, Martin Brown, Will Boothe, Willie Bobbitt, Darnell Ayres, Barney Wilkes, Bud Awtry, Jewell Heard, Gladys Hilton, Louise Jackson, Lucile Montague, Dovie McKinney, Helen McKinney, Ruth McMurry, Beryl Nix, Grace Porterfield, Mildred Raley, Adelaide Scott, Marcel Smith, Opal Spence, Clara Tubbs, Hester West, Garnett White, Amy Hancock, Ina Faulkner, Beatrice Davis, Marjorie Crane, Sybil Covington, Johnnie Courtney, Laura Mae Clendennen, Mildred Carter, Mary Brookfield, Adria Baker, Jean Ayres, Nova Austin, Verna Deen, Hortense Yates.

Mrs. J. N. Johnston and Miss Lida Brown entertained their classes with a picnic at the baseball park Tuesday of this week from 12 until 2 o'clock. Some 70 children attended the picnic lunch after which they played many games and were served ice cream cones by the hostesses. After the picnic was over the children returned to the schoolroom until dismissal time.

Blanco School district Number 22 held an election last Saturday on the question of voting $6,000 worth of school bonds and it carried with a vote of 13 to 9 in favor of issuing the bonds.

he had put up). There were the babies graves covered with sea shells. The graves enclosed by iron fences.

There is Uncle Billy's grave in the corner. The grave of Levi Jones who started the grave yard. "We will have to kill some old codger to start a graveyard," laughing Levi started to take his gun from a load of wood he had hauled from the canyon, he was killed and the first to be buried.

The negro's grave was completely gone from the surface. Such a disappointment not to go to his funeral. We children could not see why. There was grandma Long's grave. Grandma with her nice black dresses and lace mitts. How the song, "The Unclouded Day," still rings in my ears.

Here my friends bodies lie but they, themselves await me at the gates of pearl.

I like to hear grandpa Parks, as his friends lovingly call him, sing—especially the old hymns that vibrate with meaning and melody. We like to shake his hand and see the joy and sunshine he spreads around him. And his sweet wife, dainty and lovely as a girl, stands by his side, loyal and true. What a lovely time of life old age is, when people have lived right and honorable!

This piece of poetry, "The End of the Trail," by A. M. Axtel, seems to fit in with the remarks above.

"If I live a life that is clean and square

And aid my fellow man,

By lending a hand to help him bear

His burdens as best he can;

I need not fear what its close may be

Nor how critics, my life may assail,

Nor what the future holds out for me

When I reach the end of the trail.

"If I speak a word of good cheer to one

Whose sorrows have broken him down,

And this gives him hope to struggle on

With a smile instead of a frown;

I shall not fear, when the shadows fall

And my earthly strength shall fail;

I'll trust in Him, who redeemeth us all

When I reach the end of the trail.

"If a part of my little, I freely give

To help those who faint by the way,

Or even pure water, so thirstily one live

Not thinking what shall be my pay,

Whether I live in the house by the side of the road

By a mountain, a river, or vale

I'm willing to reap the seeds that I've sown,

When I reach the end of the trail."

All dogs look alike to me, says the man who doesn't know much about them... All gasolines are the same, says the motorist who brags that he doesn't know anything about a car except how to drive it.

But those who love animals know that one dog may be a frisky bundle of steel and rubber, while another is sady and drowsy.

Experienced drivers soon discover similar differences between low test gasoline and high test Phillips 66 Poly Gas. This modern motor fuel demonstrates in your car, because every gallon contains the extra energy added by the scientific POLYMERIZATION process.

You pay nothing extra. You get extra power and more mileage. And this plus performance is protected against change in weather, because Phillips 66 Poly Gas is more accurately custom-tailored, all year round, to the month by month changes in your climate.

Hagood Drops To Triple-C By 11-9

Triple-C came to town Monday night with revenge in their eye and did everything to Hagood's Drygulchers that the CCC boys had wanted to do to Oden in their opening game.

The Drygulchers fielders failed to appreciate good pitching and blew the ball game with errors that left the fans groaning. George Fry led a circuit whopper by Joe those who scored two men. Al-Rushing that was touched for six hits and fanned four Triple-C batters the Drygulchers gave up 11 runs.

Bradford tossed steadily to give away 10 hits and fan 7 while his mates gave away 9 runs. The CCC team failed to donate many runs through errors but the Drygulchers outfield and infield was as full of holes as a rusty sieve, although Tyler, big centerfielder for Hagood, came through with some neat play-

As I See It

Bill Hams

Last Thursday afternoon just after 6 o'clock the farm homes of Floyd county were given their chance to burn electricity furnished by the Floyd County Rural Electric Coop.

Superintendent L. W. Chapman threw the main switch to make the entire line "hot" then "Britt" Britton chased around until 4 a. m. throwing individual fuse switches for each house. The boys made plenty of commotion to let the customers know their power was on. More than one house lighted up all over in the few hours of the morning when the switch was thrown... it brought more than one farm family tumbling from their beds in surprise.

Extensions will be added as the demand comes in but Floyd county has miles of electric lines and some 18 irrigation wells are tied on... using wired power instead of gas or distillate.

It is unofficially understood that this county may get a sugar beet acreage increase, just how much is not known but something like 1,000 additional acres are due to be allotted to the entire South Plains sugar beet producing counties.

Floyd has some 135 acres of allowable acreage this year when there were enough farmers clamoring for acreage to have planted at least 1,000 acres here alone. The sugar beet acreage is in Colorado and the producers there aren't anxious to give away any of their acreage to a "foreign" state which might become a competitor.

It takes longer to dispose of a sales tax—natural resource tax in the Texas legislature than it does a black cat with a complete quota of lives. The proposed amendment has been halted time after time and yet here it comes back for another round.

The tax puts a penalty upon anyone who uses electricity, gas, telephone or telegraph by placing a neat percentage top upon the bills which are already high enough. Also the citizens will pay 2c on the dollar for everything else but the House wants to exempt any five dollar purchase of groceries, clothes, or medicine.

The five dollar exemption will mean something like this: Customer looks in Willie Blanks drygoods window sees $25 suit, walks in, says "That sure is a neat suit you have in your window Mr. Blank but with this sales tax I can't afford it."

Mr. Blank, "We have an unique selling plan on these suits Mr. Smith and I am sure you can avoid the sales tax in such a manner that you can buy this model for summer wear."

"Now I will gladly sell you one pair of the pants for $5 but that is all until you take them home or to your car or at least out of my sight. Now when you have done this and return I will sell you the vest for $5, again you must take it away. Then I will sell you the coat for $5 which you take away, then I sell you the other pair of pants for $5, then when you come back you buy this belt for $5. Of course we ordinarily give away the belt but we must avoid this sales tax so you buy it and you get a suit for $25 and a belt free. You need pay no sales tax because you have made five independent purchases of clothing with each $5 or less."

Over at the Hoggly-Woggly grocery Farmer Jones and wife are at the counter getting checked out. The clerk says, "Mr. Jones that bill comes to $5.09."

Mr. Jones, "We must have miscalculated young man, take out them spuds which will make the bill come to $4.98 and we can keep from paying that consarned sales tax. Remind me to send Oscar in after 11c worth of potatoes afore we leave town, Martha."

Some folks are lamenting the fact that O'Daniel is being cussed by everyone from the shine boy on up. But any "amateur" politician who wants to take the load off the big boy and put it on the little boy to be cussed, and that is what doing away with the ad valorem tax and putting on a sales tax means.

The old folks ought to be taken care of, but it should not come to the point where the "younguns" are whipped to death with taxes to pay the way. It is difficult to find anyone who is against pensions for the old folks but it is hard to see why the little fellow should pay the penalty. We wonder what became of the proposed income tax bill, the sulphur tax bill, and etc., they were killed by the big boys so the sales tax bill would be the only out to pay pensions.

The exclusive Germ Process gives this oil such an intense "power of attraction" that it holds to cylinder walls, bearings and piston rings as if plated there. Plating on the bumpers, for instance, doesn't fry up in the heat, fly off at speed, or drain down during parking. Neither does OIL-PLATING. Pony Express Winner Matador Honor Guest

Floyd, Matador County Boy, Outstanding Horseman, To Return to Hollywood Next Week

MATADOR, May 11. — Shannon Davidson, winner of the Pony Express race from Nocona, Texas to Oakland, California is the honored guest of Matador this afternoon as the entire county and neighboring cities pay tribute to the outstanding horsemanship of the 22-year-old horse buster.

Davidson will return to Hollywood Saturday after visiting his widowed mother and friends at Floyd. He is scheduled to begin work in a Gene Autry picture at Republic studio on May 17.

All Matador county communities have been dressed in western regalia since Monday when hurried plans for the celebration were started. Broadbrimmed hats, silk scarfs and cowboy boots became the official garb of Matador with a penalty for any who were reluctant to make immediate change.

Besides 300 riders, buggies, wagons and buckboards, the Matador range wagon and cowboys will take part in the parade which is to be led by Shannon Davidson riding one of the two horses which he rode to fame in the longest horse race in the world's history.

Miss Enid Justin of Nocona, donor of the $750 Pony Express prize will be in Matador and present Davidson with a pair of new boots.

The celebration will terminate with old-time and modern dances, three of which are planned for Matador and Roaring Springs.

ON SAYING GOOD BYE

Four years ago the class of 35—today the class of 39. Four years have passed many new friends have been made and new ideas have been taken in with the very joy of learning.

With all this vast happiness of getting out of school and joy of the past success along also there comes a feeling of sadness. One holds a reverence toward the school and to those ever and tireless working instructors who have guided and directed us for our high school training.

It seems only yesterday when a self-centered and smart thinking group of freshmen entered Floydada High school. After a week or so the smartness was gone and we settled down as students in earnest. As sophomores we told the group we ourselves the year before represented how and when and where to go.

As juniors we made history by giving the seniors the best banquet ever presented to any class. As seniors we began to think back the accomplishments we have made have been small but with a thought of sincerity back of every one of them.

In a few small lines the thoughts and doing have been summarized but the many phrases and clauses that it would take to complete the meaning are so numerous that they cannot be mentioned.

How can we say goodbye in a few meaningless words when so much is to be remembered. We are leaving the school that has given us a foundation for our lives. Leaving the red school house and the gray halls where for four years we have bumped shoulders with those who have meant little and those who have been dear to us.

The Wester field and stadium is no longer ours to perform before and the cheers and tears will never be heard from us the same again. No more are the post ours to decorate and personal battle grounds. So here's a toast to you dear school! To these left behind us and to those in the years to come! Good bye says the class of 39.

PICNIC

The Junior class is planning to go on a picnic Saturday at Roaring Springs and the future seniors will have a super-colossal time.

PURCELL'S

The above question may be answered both in the affirmative and in the negative. In view of the fact that a chiropractor's focal point of attack is the malalignment of any of the twenty-four movable segments of the spine for the release of nerve pressure which is the cause of disease, in that respect, he is a specialist. But if by "specialist" you mean that chiropractors limit their work to "crick" in the neck or back, then, they are not specialists.

Chiropractors recognize and prove that spinal subluxations are the cause of varied types of disease and for that reason, we may conclude that adjustments are specialized in application, but generalized in results, as for example, the following statistics prove what chiropractic has done for others:

BRONCHITIS percentage of recovery 91.6%.
Constipation percentage of recovery 85.1%.
DEAFNESS percentage of recovery 74%.
ECZEMA percentage of recovery 88%.
GASTRITIS percentage of recovery 89.8%.
HEADACHES percentage of recovery 91%.
HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE percentage of recovery 81.7%.
KIDNEY TROUBLE percentage of recovery 86.8%.
NEURALGIA percentage of recovery 92.1%.
NEURITIS percentage of recovery 87.4%.
RHEUMATISM percentage of recovery 79.9%.

Four F. H. T. members and their sponsors returned home from the state home economic meet held in Galveston last week. Returning home from the trip were Louise Willson, Esther Finkner, Floy Gene Hale, Verda Frances Turner and the F. H. T. club sponsors, Miss Rees and Miss Fouts.

The girls and their sponsors were participants in banquets, beach parties, sight seeing tours and various other forms of entertainment held in honor of the visiting home economics girls. Besides the entertainment held at Galveston for them, the girls made a trip to San Antonio and visited the Alamo and the capital at Austin.

The Floydada chapter was successful in winning a number of contests. Floy Gene Hale won first place with the washable print dress, which she made in first year clothing class. This was an unusually big honor for a freshman girl, to win first place in state. This is the only time that Floydada has ever won a first place in the state.

Dorothy Dell Stovall was second in news reports for the state. Aileen McIntyre won fourth in state scrap book. Esther Finkner won third place in evening dress in third year clothing. The places won by the chapter placed Floydada among the high five of the meet.

Senior Play Called Roaring Success

Friday night the seniors broke all precedence with one of the best plays ever presented in Floydada High school. Never has a play caused such laughter and thrills. Some of the laughs were accidental but nevertheless laughs.

James Burrus, stole many scenes with his woe begone outlook on romance. He was a country lad, with all the trimmings.

Nell Patton was enough to make any heart beat faster.

C. W. Denison with that bitter twisted smile, thought that he would never win Nell.

Ruth Kreis played excellently as an advisor for the lover.

James Willson showed genuine affection for Nell and as a cruel uncle fooled us all.

Frances Williams had James Burrus worried but it all came out in the wash.

Dorothy Dell Stovall and Josephine Troutman created many laughs as old maids looking for just one romance.

Home Eco. Girls Entertain Graduates From Other School

The home economics girls entertained the graduates of the various schools of the county who will attend Floydada High school next year from 7 to 8 o'clock Wednesday evening in the homemaking department.

The girls were greeted at the entrance of the high school by President Verda Frances Turner, the others composing the receiving line was one girl from each class in homemaking, Florene Brown IIIA Irene Probasco, IIA, Lula Lee Teal and Verona Miller IA.

Members of the Foods I classes met the guests at the end of the receiving line, and escorted them through the building, telling them what each room was used for. At the end of the tour, refreshments were found in the dining room. The room was made attractive using the May colors in the candles, flowers, punch, and mints.

Lavelle Ginn presided over the punch bowl, while Aileen McIntyre registered the guests in the beautiful hand made book. The favors were interesting and unusual. They were small sea shells that the girls gathered themselves at the state rally in Galveston and lettered and painted each one.

The guests were then escorted to the lawn where get-acquainted games were played, which were directed by Lou Nelson and Opal Colston.

The most interesting entertainment of the evening was the style show by the clothing students. In the show, special attention was called to Miss Floy Jean Hale who won "very superior" in the State Rally at Galveston last week and Miss Esther Finkner who won "excellent." Floy Jean's dress was a cotton wash dress, Esther's was a taffeta evening dress. Other dresses in the style show were these made in class. A number of home projects were modeled. Miss Lois Fouts, had charge of the style show.

Shirley Temple in Technicolor, "Little Princess"

Charm Of Child Star Again Shown In Palace Feature May 18-19

In her first technicolor production, Shirley Temple reveals all her radiant charm and amazing talent in "The Little Princess," the hit which comes to the Palace theatre screen on Thursday and Friday of next week, May 18-19.

It was in direct answer to the thousands of requests that flooded the studio that Darryl F. Zanuck decided to cast the dimpled star in the immortal story.

As the countless thousands familiar with the story know, the setting for "The Little Princess" is London at the turn of the Century. The Boer War has been declared, the Union Jack flies from every building and the streets are filled with marching Grenadiers. All London is alive with excitement, and Shirley is trying to hold back the tears. Her father is going off to Africa with his regiment.

Before Shirley's father leaves he arranges for her to stay in Miss Minchin's Exclusive Girls' school until his return. It is during the first few days of her stay here that "The Little Princess," as her schoolmates call her because of her lovely clothes, meets those who are to play such an important part in her life during the following months.

Miss Minchin, Shirley soon discovers to be a cruel and ruthless woman. Assisting her is her brother Bertie, with whom the child strikes up an immediate friendship. Rose, a teacher at the school, befriends Shirley, and she also becomes friendly with Ram Dass, a Hindu servant, and Becky, the young waif of all work at the school.

A few days after she is established at the school, Shirley meets Geoffrey and acts as matchmaker for the riding-master and Rose.

During the celebration of her birthday party news arrives at the school that Shirley's father has been killed in battle and, what is more important to Miss Minchin, died a bankrupt. Shirley is broken-hearted but refuses to believe her father is dead. She is banished to the garret by Miss Minchin and assigned to the duties of a "slavey."

After a series of bitter set-backs, Shirley's faith is rewarded in a stirring climax, in the course of which she not only locates her daddy but meets Her August Majesty, Queen Victoria, as well!

Smith-Lever Act Anniversary Was Observed On Sat.

W. T. McKinney Of F. S. A. Speaks To Members On Soil Conservation Act

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the Smith-Lever act which created the extension service was observed at a meeting Saturday afternoon in the district courtroom by members of the Floyd County Agricultural Association.

County Agent D. F. Bredthauer gave a talk on extension work in Texas which today has 657 workers and 579 of these workers reach one half million farm and ranch families of Texas and this great work was conceived and founded in the State of Texas.

The first farm demonstration was held in the year 1913 and to Dr. Seaman A. Knapp is given the credit for the founding of this great work. The year of 1913 was one of easy-credit, borrow without security, pay bills when ready—banks failed, and for a time it looked as if agriculture was doomed.

It was during the month of March of this year that farmers, business men and bankers of Terrell, held a meeting to determine what could be done about these circumstances in their locality. They had at their meeting a man who advocated a remedy for the cotton situation of the South, a remedy for combating the boll weevil.

Dr. Seaman A. Knapp, world traveler and student of agriculture, had visited and studied farming conditions in Japan, China, India and Phillipians. He constantly admonished farmers to take courage in their industry.

During his talk to this particular group of Texans he was rudely interrupted several times, these farmers could not see the bigness of the thing he was trying to convey to them. Finally, and with only a half hearted response, these gentlemen decided to give his demonstration a try and elected Walter C. Porter of Terrell to undertake this demonstration under the supervision of Dr. Knapp.

Of the 70 acres in cultivation on the Walter C. Porter demonstration farm that year, 40 acres were devoted to cotton and the remainder to feed and food crops. Thus the first extension demonstration was born and needless to say that the result was a tremendous success.

In 1908 the first boys' club was organized and today there are 57,000 4-H club boys in Texas and 1,300,000 in the United States. A few years later a girls' home demonstration club was organized. An extension leader once said that the way to get into a farmer's garden was through the tomato plant and the way to get into the farm kitchen was through canning. Mrs. Edna W. Trigg was the first home demonstration agent in the state of Texas and is still an active worker in Denton county.

In January 1914 when the Sixty-third congress convened, there arose in the House of representatives a bill which we now know as the Smith-Lever act. Two United States representatives by the names of Smith and Lever brought up this bill and in usual procedure this bill passed both houses and was signed by President Woodrow Wilson. This act was the forerunner of our present day extension service, agricultural and home demonstration agents.

Texas was not only the founder of extension work but they are continually staying in the foreground. Every year Texas extension leaders are called to national councils to help in the solving of national extension problems. Texas 4-H boys always have prominent places in all national shows and contests and are among the first place winners.

The extension service has given Floyd county strong cooperative organizations; increased the income on cotton through one variety cotton organizations; the trench silo; 4-H clubs—that rural boys and girls may become better workers in agriculture; the practice of contour farming and the terracing program.

W. T. McKinney of the Farm Security administration explained the new Texas state soil conservation act and how it would apply in Floyd county.

H. H. Marshall, assistant in the agricultural conservation association of Floyd county, discussed the highlights of the agricultural program.

O. P. Rutledge made a trip to Dallas Friday for his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Rutledge, who will visit here for some time with them. They returned here Saturday.

Sunday School Lesson

PAUL EVANGELIZES A PROVINCE

International Sunday School lesson for May 14, 1939.

Golden Text: "But now in Christ Jesus ye that once were afar off are made nigh by the blood of Christ." (Eph. 2:13.)

Lesson Text: Acts 19:1, 8-10; 20:17-21; Ephesians 2:19-22.

And it came to pass, that while Apollos was at Corinth, Paul having passed through the upper coasts to Ephesus: and finding certain disciples,

8 And he went into the synagogue, and spake boldly for the space of three months, disputing and persuading the things concerning the kingdom of God.

9 But when divers were hardened, and believed not, but spake evil of that way before the multitude, he departed from them, and separated the disciples, disputing daily in the school of one Tyrannus.

10 And this continued by the space of two years; so that all they which dwell in Asia heard the word of the Lord Jesus, both Jews and Greeks.

17 And from Miletus he sent to Ephesus, and called the elders of the church.

18 And when they were come to him, he said unto them, Ye know, from the first day I came into Asia, after what manner I have been with you at all seasons.

19 Serving the Lord with all humility of mind, and with many tears, and temptations, which befell me by the lying in wait of the Jews;

20 And how I kept back nothing that was profitable unto you, but have shewed you, and have taught you publicly, and from house to house.

21 Testifying both to the Jews, and also the Greeks, repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ.

19 Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God;

20 And are built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone;

21 In whom all the building fitly framed together groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord;

22 In whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the Spirit.

Introduction

Paul had promised, God being willing, to return to Ephesus; so by God's providential guidance and care, he reached there in the year 54. This great city was destined to become a seat of Christianity. It was at this place that John, the beloved disciple, labored, as the last of the twelve. Here magical arts were extensively practiced, aided of late by the expectation which was prevalent, that some great one was to come. At this place stood the magnificent temple of Diana, where the Greek idolatries were most extensively practiced, and where a great number of craftsmen made their living by furnishing articles for the worship of the goddess. Here again, Paul came in contact with Judaism and heathenism leagued together against Christianity. Ephesus was a great middle point between Europe and Asia; so naturally Judaism and barbarism intermingled. Paul spent three years at Ephesus, and during his stay there he wrote the epistle to the Galatians, the first epistle to the Corinthians, and probably the first epistle to Timothy and the one to Titus. He spent the time there from 54 to 57.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Kirk and son, Don, were week-end guests of relatives in Plainview.

Mrs. A. D. Cummings was the only Rotary Ann present for the convention from Floydada.

Travis reported that the meeting was one of the finest he had ever attended and recounted the excellent banquets, barbecues, and various committee meetings that he attended.

Claiborne and Stovall found particular interest in a golf tourney at Big Spring during the time of the meeting but failed to bring home a trophy. Most amusements were free to visiting Rotarians during the convention.

To Make A Long Tale Short

A French scientist claims to have discovered bones that were buried 10,000 years ago. We wonder whether he has discovered the dog that buried them? It shouldn't take anyone very long to discover that there's as much difference in used cars as there is in watches. You never heard of a railway conductor running his train with an Ingersoll. Get the idea?
