KANSAS NEWSPAPERMEN

It seems as natural for a Kansan to come to Texas and be the best newspaper man in his part of the world as it does for watermelons to grow in sandy land.

Among the editors present at the Gainesville circus last week was Gene Howe, Old Tack, a native of Kansas, whom West Texans have taken to their figurative bosoms. And then there is another Kansan, Roy W. Hahn, the "Yours True'ly" columnist of the Briscoe County News. This old Silverton boy has acquired our lingo and has everybody in Briscoe and adjacent counties thinking he is all right in every way. Just writing along he says about his visit to the show:

We went to the Gainesville Community circus at Floydada Monday night. It is quite a show. There are bigger circuses, but I guess they are right about it being the only one of its kind in the world. There was only one thing that I didn't like, and that was the seat. I was too stingy to buy a pillow and believe me I almost went through the board. I got out and sat down in the good old car seat, and boy, it was like putting unguentine on a burn. I really enjoyed that first contact with the cushion more than any thing on the program. They say that I am heavy on my feet, but I found out that night that it isn't just my feet.

Hahn now admits to coining the phrase, "Was my face red?" and here is how he says it came about:

My most embarrassing moment came one time when I was working as a linotype operator. A young fellow had been loafing in the shop all afternoon, asking foolish things (as they will sometimes in a print shop). For some time I had paid no attention to him—hadn't even answered him. Finally he hollered and said, "Hey Roy." I replied, in a loud voice, "Well what the h— do you want?"—and turned around and looked square in the face of the preacher's wife. She had brought in her church notes, and the boy simply was "heying" me to tell me I had a customer. . . . That, by the way was when I coined the phrase, "Was my face red?"

The modesty of the man is refreshing! And is he nonchalant about it. As though the preacher's wife did actually bring in her church notes! We'll bet nobody in Silverton so much as gave him a talking to, bad as he needed it. A feller that can sling words like that is about the only thing a West Texan is afraid of.

NOBODY INTERESTED

The governor's Sunday morning talk was devoted principally to reminding the people of the state how big their city, county, state and national debt now is and how much bigger it is going to be in another two years.

He made a splendid talk, as usual, and it is assumed the figures he gave are correct or approximately correct.

The governor will find human nature a cussed sort of thing. Expecting a huge response to his economy talk he will find that whereas papa and mamma and all the children will hitchhike to town to get to be in a demonstration for $30 per month for their old folks, they won't more than yawn when it becomes a matter of an old-fashioned talk about getting out of debt and staying out of debt.

ATTEND BUDGET HEARINGS

We believe the governor was wrong in one statement of fact as regards debts of school district and cities. He was urging that citizens of the community attend the budget hearings of their districts, their cities and their county commissioners—a most desirable thing to be done—when he said that local subdivisions of the state, meaning cities, counties and school districts, had increased their debts along with the state and the nation.

So far as our limited experience goes, there is not a little city or school district in the State of Texas that has not been waging a fight for ten years to reduce their bonded debt and get their affairs in better shape. This is true of Floydada, Lockney, Plainview, Crosbyton, Ralls and Petersburg, we know. City of Floydada and Floydada Independent School district definitely have made progress in this respect, we are certain.

However, he was right in principal that you as a citizen of your community owe it to your community to attend the budget hearing which you are interested and make constructive criticism of the budget.

APRIL PLANTED COTTON

In an occasional Floyd county field you'll find April planted cotton that looks good now, a pleasing sight.

During April there was a brief period on these farms in which cotton could be planted and brought to a stand. The cotton men who grabbed this chance and nursed the crop through the May and June periods of bad weather, including excessive heat and west winds, now have a good outlook, much better than the late planters. Their crops will be fruiting with good season down around the tap root throughout the remainder of July, all of August and September.

HEAT CRAMPS, PROSTRATION

Texans, along with other peoples of the nation, are given more and more to excesses such as too much exercise, too many hours without sleep, too far driving in a day, too many hours in the swimming pool, too quick to jump in and begin making merry.

All of which means much sweat and sweat takes a lot of salt out of the body. Thus your body salt content will become deficient as you carelessly throw yourself into the activities of the day.

Workmen in some areas who do much labor and sweat a lot during the summer are being given a certain amount of salt and dextrose in the water they drink to counter this excessive loss of salt from the body, thus preventing cramps.

Avoiding alcoholic drinks, drinking more milk (high salt content), putting a bit of salt in the water that is drunk, all help in preventing heat cramps, prostration. Some of the evidences of loss of salt from the body include cramps in the abdominal region, headache sometimes, nausea and vomiting. "Something I et," you think on a hot day. Very likely not that at all. Just too much loss of body salt, if you've been exercising more than you should under a hot Texas sun.

"I shall pass through this world but once. Any good thing that I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any human being, let me do it now, for I shall not pass this way again."—Anon.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)

As long as I mentioned about teaching school thought I might tell you something about it as I sit and string beans for dinner.

I was sixteen with a four year state certificate and a little school. Thought then that I knew most everything. I began to learn better before my little school was out. The small school house was in the H. pasture. The shinner came to the door on the south, mesquite and catclaw land on the other sides. A small lake lay near like a blue jewel in the green grass. Two houses in sight, the closer more than a mile.

I was to get $40 a month for six months and furnish the coal. I boarded with my grandfather Jones. There were four cousins from one family, three cousins from another, my two aunts and uncles younger than myself. Four Robertson children, two Carnahans and three Garisons. There were ten grades.

We went to school in an old topless hack pulled very reluctantly by Old Nubbin. Nubbin was kept company by Old Blue and Jug and the Carnahan's horse which bore a one-horn side saddle.

We played town ball. Did you ever make an eye? or was it an I? The girls and my uncle against the boys. Precious hours were lost while Felix and the older boys dug our rubber ball out of the prairie dog hole when I am sure it was very unwelcome. The girls used wide planks called barn doors and the boys had bats made from broom handles or from a hoe or rake handles.

So enthusiastic was I over the game, that I had to keep the alarm set to know when to go in.

We hooked up the horses sometimes at noon and brought kindling and wood from the shinner to help feed the coal in the square box stove.

I will take the lid off our dinner bucket and show you the contents. A bowl of blackeyed peas with pods of pungent, green peppers, fried potatoes, tomatoes with salt wrapped in paper, tender steak and sometimes antelope meat, biscuits with butter and sugar between, a baking powder can filled with sorghum, fresh from uncle Jim Witt's mill, a lump of butter to be stirred in, till the color of the dark syrup was changed to a lighter tone. Of course as winter came on we had red beans, sometimes molasses cake, and pumpkin pie. But best of all were grandma's fried peach pies from peaches

FLOYD COUNTY 14 YEARS AGO

How times have changed since the Floyd County Hesperian published its first issue fourteen years ago.

Sam Lazarus, president of the Quannah, Acme & Pacific Railway company, Tuesday afternoon, publicly and definitely put the Frisco system on record as committed to the idea of extending the Quannah, Acme & Pacific from McBain, its terminus three miles west of Roaring Springs, to Floydada.

Present plans indicate that the First Baptist church of this city will have a large representation Saturday and Sunday at the Panhandle Baptist assembly being held this week at Ceta canyon, north of Tulia. Erick community will vote Saturday on a proposed bond issue of $12,000 for the purpose of erecting a modern brick school house.

R. E. Fry Wednesday let the contract for a residence in the block of the Barker addition.

Miss Bama Gene Smalley entertained her friends with a lawn party Monday afternoon, from 6 to 8 o'clock in honor of her cousin, Margaret Collins of Lenoard, at the home of Miss Frankie Doris Smith.

Games of various kinds were enjoyed after which refreshments were served to Misses Thelma Covington, Bess Claire Smith, Edna Mae Nelson, Golden Louise Steen, Bernice Bishop, Pansy Mozelle Brown, Frankie Doris Smith, Elizabeth Ann Hopkins of Miami, Bennie Lee Fuller and Margaret Collins of Lenoard.

Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Cannaday left last mid-week for Trinidad and points in north Colorado to be gone some two weeks on their summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Woody and little B. P., jr., are making a tour of East and South Texas. They plan to be gone some three weeks, visiting San Antonio, Corpus Christi, and points in the Rio Grande valley.

Floyd county will be represented at an all-day program of intensive training for county farm agents and club boys and girls which will be held in Lubbock Friday preparatory to entering the state contests that will be held in connection with the Farmers Short Course at College Station, July 27 to August 1, inclusive.

A. H. McGlinchey of Fort Worth, with his recent bride, formerly Miss Hilda Cornelson of Miami, Florida, spent the past week-end here as the guests of his sister, Mrs. Wilson Kimble.

grown in the orchards near the house and dried in the hot summer sun on top of the house. Water, we carried in crock jugs. The lakes furnished water for the horses.

The ride to the school was unforgettable. Mornings when the world was an endless blanket of white, unbroken only by tracks of the rabbits and tiny prints of many birds feet around the top of brown weeds sticking full of seeds out of the snow. The cold sun turned the snow into diamonds. No sound but the crunching of the wheels and the sound of Nubbin's feet. Our feet were warm from the hot rock that grandmother had tucked in under the heavy quilts, made from the men's heavy wool pants.

Mornings when the sky was gray and ice freezing long whiskers on the mesquites and the catclaws. Mornings hot and still, quails calling, mocking birds singing in the bushes. Wild flowers—the blue spiderwort, white and gold daisies, and red wine cups blooming.

Once a cowboy stopped to inquire the way. I went to the door and the children giggled as the stranger asked to see the teacher.

Dr. Campbell gave a stirring sermon on the "Power of God." He said the McCoy church is an outstanding rural church, and he paid high tribute to the pastor and the faithful church members. It was indeed a great day. A day that young people will look back to with pleasure.

The beans are strung and I have talked to you, too much, perhaps about the school called La Barque that sat on the prairie and where prairie dogs barked while children said their lessons.

But the memory is dear to me and I decided to share it with you.

Yesterday there was a homecoming at McCoy and if you want to know what a good dinner we had, just ask Mrs. Teague or Mrs. Conway. Brother Tubbs stood before his one-time people and poured out the love and admiration he had in his heart. Goodness and happiness fairly shone from his face as he told of the last homecoming.

Rev. Sidney Johnston is the pastor now. He is doing a wonderful work in the McCoy community. Living among his people-sharing their pleasures, their work and their sorrows. Giving them encouragement and help. Truly a great man, doing his "master's" work.

Thoughts while at home-coming: Zora Smith Payne playing lovely, old hymns at the piano. Her life is as sweet and true as the songs are. How many were nice and thoughtful of me today, both old friends and new.

Unemployment Pay Is Understood By Workers Here, Report Says

AUSTIN, July 12.—In spite of several "blind spots," Floyd county workers are generally well-informed on unemployment compensation, Orville S. Carpenter, Texas director of the jobless benefits program, said this week. Employment service interviewers report that individuals do not confuse jobless benefits with relief. There is no connection, Carpenter affirmed. These Floyd county workers thoroughly understand that jobless benefits are the right of the eligible unemployed. A man is probably eligible for benefits if he has earned at least $80 during a prior 12-month period, and has earned it from a tax-paying employer. As a rule, a tax-paying employer is one who customarily employs at least eight workers. A key point in the jobless benefits program is that the individual must be physically able to work. Claimants in Floyd county do not understand this, Carpenter asserted. The individual, formerly employed by a tax-paying employer, to receive benefits must be able to work and must be available to accept any suitable job offered.

Homer L. Faulkner

A native Texan, converted on the plains at a camp meeting in Plainview in 1906, and soon thereafter called to the ministry, will preach for a protracted meeting beginning in Floydada at the City Tabernacle on Sunday, July 16 and continuing through July 30.

After nearly 4 years in school, following his call, Rev. Faulkner launched fully into the ministry. He went to Old Mexico for a while as a missionary, thence to Japan, China and the Philippines. Finally returning to the United States he also spent some time as a minister in Canada and finally took a pastorate in Phoenix, Arizona, where he has been ministering to one congregation for over 20 years. For a number of years he did radio work, broadcasting his church services over the air through Station KOY, Phoenix.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the revival here beginning Sunday.

C. W. Denison left Friday for Detroit, Michigan, on a pleasure trip. He accompanied his uncle, Russell Denison of Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Whigham and son, Sammie Earl, came last week from their home in Temple. Mrs. Whigham and son, will be here with her sister and family. Mrs. E. E. Hinson, while Mr. Whigham, who is state manager for the Burgess Battery company, is attending to business in this district.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Solomon and Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie McKinney spent Sunday in Memphis visiting with relatives. Mrs. Lula Moore, who had been visiting there several weeks accompanied them home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Weathers of Tahoka were week-end guests of her sister, Mrs. O. P. Rutledge and family. Nancy Rae Weathers returned home with her parents after a week's visit here with her aunt.

Revival City Tabernacle Floydada July 16 - 30

Meetings Twice Daily except Monday and Saturday

Rev. Homer L. Faulkner will preach A Cordial Invitation To All

Another phase of the program is not understood by Floyd county workers. The tax for jobless benefits is paid solely by employers; workers pay no part of it. Carpenter emphasized that approved claimants should report their part-time earnings when filing claim. Failure to report accurately and completely shortens the time benefits may be drawn and makes the claimant liable for prosecution under state laws.

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School lesson for July 16, 1939.

Rehoboam: A Man Who Made A Foolish Choice

Golden Text: "A man's pride shall bring him low." (Prov. 29:23). Lesson Text: I Kings 12:1-5, 12-17, 20.

1. And Rehoboam went to Shechem: for all Israel were come to Shechem to make him king.

2. And it came to pass, when Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who was yet in Egypt, heard of it, (for he was fled from the presence of king Solomon, and Jeroboam dwelt in Egypt;)

3. That they sent and called him. And Jeroboam and all the congregation of Israel came, and spake unto Rehoboam, saying,

4. Thy father made our yoke grievous; now therefore make thou the grievous service of thy father, and his heavy yoke which he put upon us, lighter, and we will serve thee.

5. And he said unto them, depart yet for three days, then come again to me. And the people departed.

12. So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king had appointed, saying Come to me again the third day.

13. And the king answered the people roughly, and forsook the old men's counsel that they gave him;

14. And spake to them after the counsel of the young men, saying, My father made your yoke heavy, and I will add to your yoke; my father also chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions.

15. Wherefore the king hearkened not unto the people; for the cause was from the Lord, that he might perform his saying, which the Lord spake by Ahijah the Shilonite unto Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

16. So when all Israel saw that the king hearkened not unto them, the people answered the king, saying, What portion have we in David? neither have we inheritance in the son of Jesse: to your tents, O Israel: now see to thine own house, David. So Israel departed unto their tents.

17. But as for the children of Israel which dwelt in the cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them.

20. And it came to pass, when all Israel heard that Jeroboam was come again, that they sent and called unto the congregation, and made him king over all Israel: there was none that followed the house of David, but the tribe of Judah only.

Introduction Our last lesson closed with Jeroboam fleeing to Egypt to escape the vengeance of Solomon. There is nothing sadder than to see one who has ranked high through the active part of his life make shipwreck at the last. The Scripture between our last lesson and this gives an account of Solomon's death, and the attempt of Rehoboam to become king of Israel. A change in rulers always brings its opportunities, responsibilities, and perils. In studying this lesson the pupil should keep constantly before him the Lord, the people, the two aspirants to the throne, and the things which were for and against each of them, that a clear understanding may be had of the subject, which is "Rehoboam: A man who made a foolish choice."

Mrs. Floyd Simpson and sons returned home Sunday accompanied by her father, C. P. Looper. Mrs. Simpson and husband came Sunday of last week and Mrs. Simpson remained last week for a visit with her parents. They are moving to Hobbs, New Mexico this week from Eufora, New Mexico, their former home.

Mrs. John E. Mast left for Wichita Falls Monday after a ten days visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Rutledge. Dr. Mast assumed duties at the Wichita Clinic and Hospital July 1.

Mrs. Gordon Gillispie of St. Louis, Missouri, visited last week with her sister, Mrs. C. M. Martin and family. C. M. Martin took her to Plainview Saturday morning for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Porter.

Miss Lena Scott returned home from Lubbock Saturday where she had been visiting in the home of her aunt, Mrs. A. A. Newell.

Mrs. N. A. Armstrong and daughter Mrs. Wanda Banker left Monday for Dallas where Mrs. Armstrong will go through a clinic.

Nell Patton Married To W. H. McClung

Miss Nell Patton and W. H. McClung of Booker were united in marriage Friday, July 7, at 12 o'clock noon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Patton, here.

Rev. S. R. McClung, father of the bride-groom and former pastor of the Baptist church, read the marriage ceremony before members of the families.

Miss Selma Linder and Carol McClung were the couples' only attendants.

The bride was charmingly attired in a blue alpaca dress, with blue hat and japonica accessories.

Mr. McClung who has been reared here is a graduate of the local high school with the class of 1939.

The bride-groom son of Rev. and Mrs. S. R. McClung of Perryton, made his home here until three years ago when the family moved to Perryton, is employed with a hotel in Booker where the couple will make their home.

After a dinner served at the Patton home the young couple in company with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. S. R. McClung and daughter, Mary, left for their homes.

DR. ANDREWS HONOREE AT BIRTHDAY DINNER SUNDAY

Mrs. V. Andrews was hostess with a delectable dinner Sunday complimenting her husband, Dr. V. Andrews on his birthday.

The beautiful table laid in white was centered with a bouquet of cut flowers with china and silver appointments.

Guests enjoying the day with the honoree were Max Andrews, brother of Dr. Andrews, from Oklahoma City, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. AUSTIN, Texas, July 10.—Texas, leading the nation in Pittman-Robertson game projects, is eligible to receive $71,696 of federal game funds during the 1939-40 fiscal year, according to word received by the State Game, Fish and Oyster commission from Washington. That sum will be augmented by $17,924 by the Game department, as required under the Pittman-Robertson act, it is announced by Will J. Tucker, executive secretary of the commission. The money will be used to continue research work by biologists into game conditions and for financing several important wildlife restoration projects in a number of sections of the state.

Texas, the first state to submit a program of game restoration last year when the Pittman-Robertson act went into effect, is leading the nation in the work. A report by Ira N. Gabrielson, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey, administrator of the project, points out that only $70,000 has been spent to date by the cooperating states, and of that sum approximately $30,000 has been used by the Lone Star state in furthering game restoration.

Texas, on the ground floor as soon as the U. S. Congress made available funds for game work, has had thirteen specialists conducting surveys and researches into game conditions for almost a year and the outgrowth of their work will be many projects which will tend to aid in increasing several species of birds and animals in the Lone Star state.

Tentative plans of the Game commission, Tucker said, include projects for increasing antelope, turkey, quail, deer, dove, and chachalaca. Various methods will be used to aid in game propagation. Pittman-Robertson funds cannot be used for fish work. A bill to provide a fund for similar projects on streams and lakes is now before the U. S. Congress.

Beuford Eaves Chief Engineer Radio KGNF At North Platte, Neb.

Beuford Eaves, chief engineer of radio station K. G. N. F. of Nebraska, a former resident of Floydada was one of the staff whose pictures appeared in the Lincoln County Tribune at North Platte, Nebraska, June 29. A full page was given the station in pictures and story celebrating the ninth year of service for the station on July 5.

Eaves is a brother of Mrs. C. W. Denison. He graduated from Floydada High school with the class of 1927-28.

The following is a portion taken from the Tribune in regards to his service: Beuford Eaves, chief engineer, has been in charge of the technical department since the station came on the air in 1930. The entire responsibility of keeping the mechanical portion of the K. G. N. F. broadcasting set-up in prime working order rests with him.

As I See It

Bill Hams

Public spirited: Floydada would march right on down the line if we had more citizens like one here who is fighting tooth and nail for the Blanco dam. This person said, "I would donate all the blacksmith work needed on the dam if we could get it started."

Incidentally that much blacksmith work probably would amount to several hundred dollars in labor and equipment. Marvin Jones is also putting up a fight for the dam on the Texas plains, and if what we hear is right the boys up in Washington sit up and listen when Mr. Jones goes to bat.

Floyd county can grow products other than cotton and wheat. Last year there was a lot of excitement over sugar beets but the agriculture department sort of spiked that dream with a measley sugar beet allotment for this county.

Not daunted in the least several "spud kings" are bobbing up with some of the finest Irish potato crops in several years and it looks as if the plains can raise spuds that are as good as Idaho, California or any other state.

Just what potato ranching will develop into on the plains is not known but when this county goes in for more diversification in its crops, we can expect to have fewer years when we have no crops at all. With diversified farming some crop is almost sure to make no matter whether it rains early or late, or whether it rains too much or not enough.

All's well that ends well, Governor O'Daniel vetoed the "fair trade" act. In doing that he made a lot of new friends, but at the same time he made a lot of new enemies. Unconfirmed reports are that over a million dollars was spent by a certain group to get the act passed by the legislature, and when a governor just ups and cancels a million dollars, naturally he will make a lot of powerful enemies.

Gerald Mann also came in for his share of cursing. One brilliant specimen who carries the title of senator (he was "for" the fair trade act, and probably one of those who got a nice slab of that million bucks spent) accused Mann of setting up "his own court."

The senator should know, being around Austin as much as he is, that Mann has no power to enforce his opinions and that other than being just an opinion they carry no weight. The governor wanted to know what the attorney general thought of the "fair trade" act and Mann told him it was "unconstitutional."

That opinion was not a court decision, but one that Mann was obliged to give after O'Daniel asked for his opinion.

O'Daniel did not have to follow that opinion he could have signed the act and been in the clear... it would have been up to the courts to decide the constitutionality of the measure but the governor decided Mann knew what he was talking about and vetoed the measure.

You may not know it but the only sirens in the county are on the fire wagons. None of the law enforcing bodies have a siren upon any of their automobiles... yet they must drive faster and more often upon official business than the firewagons ever think of driving.

These officers must stop strangers on the highway by honking a horn or whistling and some other original means when, if they had a siren, they could let it "growl" just once and everyone would know that the car was "official."

A siren upon the officer's car would help them a great deal in stopping cars, and clearing the right of way when they are bound out on urgent business, yet the county can't see fit to make such a purchase.

Lloyd Bedford, who has been employed with C. L. Minor in the Star Cash grocery for the past eighteen months, left Sunday for Colorado City where he will be employed with his aunt, Mrs. Sam Bedford, in a grocery store.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Daily left Wednesday morning for Altus, Oklahoma, to visit with Mrs. Daily's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Kizzier. They will attend a family reunion and return home Friday.

Daily's daughter, Jo Ann, has been in Altus with her grandparents since last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Trulove and son, Lawrence returned to their home at Amarillo Wednesday after spending several weeks here during wheat harvest.

Grow And Save Own Seed, FSA

Care And Selection Of Many Different Seeds Explained

(By Allie M. Tipps, Supervisor FSA)
Away back yonder, somebody started the yarn that home grown seeds were "no good". As the foolish notion spread, people depended more and more upon European or Northern grown garden seed.

If you have plenty of dimes to spare, go ahead paying a dime a thimbleful for garden seed. Those pretty pictures on the packets do build up a would-be gardener's hopes. The empty packets look fine stuck at the end of the row, or the baby might like to play with them.

But if dimes are scarce, saving your own seed will leave more money for the other things you need. Almost every kind of seed can be saved except broccoli, cabbage and cauliflower, which should come from expert growers.

Good collard seed can be grown at home. Beans of all kinds, cantaloupes, cucumbers, eggplant, peppers, pumpkins, squash, tomatoes, and watermelons are apt to produce better from home grown seed of well adapted varieties.

All other home grown vegetable seed are just as good as commercial seed for the home gardens. All farmers in West Texas need plenty of seed for planting.

That there are advantages in thus saving seed where it is grown is generally recognized. This widespread opinion is also held by seedsmen, since the enthusiastic description of a novelty frequently includes a history of its having been obtained with great difficulty from skillful growers in whose possession it had remained for many years, or even for generations.

These advantages are two-fold. (1) The selection with which the gardeners give their seed plants, while not greater than that which the seed growers give to their seed stock, is often better than can be given to the seed that is planted on the market; and (2) The plants selected will be the ones which succeed best under the local environment.

Many diseases of vegetable crops are seed borne. Seeds sowed from plants infected with these diseases will infect the new crops and may cause serious loss or failure. Special precautions should therefore be taken to save seeds only from crops that are free from certain diseases.

The best seed can be obtained by marking a few of the finest plants at the beginning of the harvesting season and allowing the entire plant for seed. The seeds should be thoroughly mature, and the pods dry. These plants should be pulled in the early morning in order to avoid shattering, and hung or spread in an airy, dry place until the seed is quite hard. The seeds should be shelled and spread out not more than two or three grains deep, and when dry, stored for the winter in a cool, dry place.

Seeds that have been grown and carefully saved should be well labeled and stored, or all the previous labor goes for nothing. Cloth bags are the best containers for large quantities or large seeds, such as peas, beans and corn.

Paper envelopes may be used for smaller lots. Correct labeling is of paramount importance. Each container should show the kind and variety of seed, the date, and place where grown.

Many seeds are subject to injury by a number of insects, all of which may be destroyed by fumigating with carbon disulphide. A tight tin pail, box, or barrel makes an excellent container for fumigating seed.

After the seed has been properly labeled, and fumigated, if it requires treatment, it is necessary to store it in a dry, well ventilated room. Seed can be protected against mice by being stored in tin boxes, or mouse-proof wooden boxes or by suspending in cloth bags away from walls or floors.

The question of how long seed will retain satisfactory usability is often asked. Weather conditions while the plants are growing, and the care used in harvesting and storing them vary so much that the length of time that certain sorts of seeds will be worth planting is impossible to predict.

County Road Maps Made By The State

Maps Carry Complete Information For 254 Counties; Available At Cost

AUSTIN, July 12.—Accurate road maps for every county in the state are now available to the public at cost, according to Julian Montgomery, state highway engineer.

These maps show all county roads, as well as state highways, in addition to railroads, cities and towns, streams and lakes, major parks and state and national reservations. They also show all dwellings, oil and gas wells, churches, schools, and other structures visible from state or county roads.

The maps are constructed on a large scale and are easily read. Their value to state and federal agencies has been proved, and they should be useful to the public in general, Montgomery believes. Most of the maps are on a scale of one inch to the mile, but for a few of the larger and less developed counties a scale of one-half inch to the mile has been used. The maps are printed on sheets of uniform size, 36 by 50 inches.

Most counties require only one sheet, but a few counties cover two sheets. Supplementary sheets are used to show in detail the highly developed areas around large centers of population.

These maps were prepared by the highway department, co-operating with the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads as a part of a federal aid project known as the state highway department's "Road Planning Survey," and includes a survey of all the public roads of the state, including county roads as well as state highways. Highway department field men traversed every mile of road in the state, recording not only the location of the road, but also the position of roadside structures and other items of public interest that are included in the maps.

Streets of incorporated cities and towns were not included in the survey. This is the first time in the history of the state that accurate road maps are available for all the 254 counties in the state, and county maps are available to the public at cost of printing and delivery. Before the highway department made its survey there were reliable road maps for only 27 counties, and copies were not readily obtainable by the public.

Gainesville Writer Gives Impressions Of Visit To West Texas

General Manager Of Circus, A Newspaper Writer Tells In Register, About Things on Plains

(When the Gainesville circus visited Floydada last week there were about 130 resident Gainesville people here for two to four days. Among these was A. Morton Smith, city editor of the Gainesville Register, who is general manager of the circus, and who wrote about the visit in the following vein—Ed Note.)

By A. Morton Smith, city Editor

This notice is given in accordance with the provision of Chapter 163, Acts of the Regular Session of the Forty Second Legislature.

EXECUTED by order of the Commissioners' Court passed on the 11th day of July, 1939.

G. C. TUBBS, County Judge, Floyd County, Texas.

Gainesville Register

And so we went to West Texas—the south plains section as they call it.

After we left Wichita Falls city limits Monday morning, we were in an unexplored region, so far as we were personally concerned, and naturally enough, a curious news-hound, was impressed by what he saw.

We anticipated flat country, where one might see for many miles around, and didn't expect to see a tree of any size after we got out of Wichita county.

However, we saw as large trees out in Floydada as we find around here, but they have been, of course, irrigated and cared for tenderly.

And about these West Texas flat lands. Flat as it may look, it is anything but level. Gainesville, as you know, is considerably under 1,000 feet in elevation. By the time we had reached Matador, we were up to 2,300 feet, and upon reaching Floydada, we were 3,400 feet above sea level.

Notice of Dissolution of Partnership

Notice is hereby given that the partnership between R. K. Wootten, Effie D. Wootten, J. W. Simmons, Rebekah Simmons, G. A. Simmons and T. B. Simmons (or any of them) under the firm name of Quannah Cotton Oil Company, was dissolved on May 31, 1939. The business will be continued in the name of Quannah Cotton Oil Company, a Texas corporation. All debts and obligations owing to the partnership should be paid to the partnership at Quannah, Hardeman County, Texas. All debts and obligations owing by the partnership should be presented to the partnership at Quannah, Hardeman County, Texas.

This notice is published once each week for four consecutive weeks in each of the counties where the partnership has a place of business, as required by Article 6132 of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas.

Dated at Quannah, Texas, May 31, 1939.

Quannah Cotton Oil Company, a partnership.

By J. W. Simmons, Rebekah Simmons, G. A. Simmons, T. B. Simmons, Surviving Partners.

John B. Wootten, Executor and trustee of the estate of R. K. Wootten, deceased.

Effie Wootten Siddons, Executor and trustee of the estate of R. K. Wootten, deceased, and as executor and trustee of the estate of Effie D. Wootten, deceased.

Annie Victoria Durand, Executor and trustee of the estate of Effie D. Wootten, deceased.

The temperature in that section runs about the same as in Gainesville, standing at 98 during the heat of July Fourth afternoon, but we found it more endurable at that elevation, and in the dry air of that section, than the same temperature in Gainesville.

We were particularly impressed by the fact that Gainesville could make fine use of similar assets.

One was the magnificent municipal auditorium at Plainview, which also houses the Chamber of Commerce and the county agricultural agents' offices.

The auditorium is large enough for all kinds of gatherings, and can seat more than half the population of the town.

The other was the fine swimming pool at the country club of the little town of Floydada, which you must remember, is only a third as large as Gainesville.

Most of the Gainesville crowd had a swim at the pool and were delighted with it.

It looked like a Gainesville homecoming in the back yard of the community circus in Floydada Monday night and Tuesday, as West Texas who once called Cooke county home, gathered to greet the 140 Gainesvilleites in our party.

One of the show's biggest boosters is Mrs. J. N. Nisler, who came here from her home in Lubbock last April for the homecoming, and she brought a party of friends to Floydada Tuesday afternoon. Her son, Joe Nisler, and family, were on hand Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Stanforth who operate a large ranch near Floydada, were on the grounds most of the time greeting their many friends.

Mrs. Agnes Thomason, the former's sister, and her sons, are spending the summer on the ranch, and were also about.

The Stanfords lived next door to this scribe when he was a little fellow, and Mrs. Stanforth reminded us we were one of the meaneest tots in the neighborhood. Or did we need reminding?

T. J. Midkiff, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom J. Midkiff of Gainesville, who is now manager of a drug store in Clovis, New Mexico, brought his family and a party of friends over for the Tuesday night show. T. J. recalled that he painted the sideshow banners for the first performance of the circus back in 1930, and this was the first time he had seen it since.

Mrs. Midkiff works in the Montgomery Ward store at Clovis, and knows T. H. Chaffin, manager of the local store, who formerly traveled that section of the country.

Earl Freeman, ex-Gainesvilleite, now traveling for Montgomery Ward happened to be in that territory, and was on hand for the opening performance at Floydada.

We were glad to see C. P. Miller, who owned the job printing shop on the second floor of the Register building, some five years ago. He and Mrs. Millerman drove up from Lubbock to see the show. He enjoyed renewing acquaintance with Carey Shell and Frank X. Schad, whom he remembered from other days.

Another Lubbock man who once claimed Gainesville as home, and who watched the circus with much interest was T. Russell Bowles. He is agent for the Amarillo Daily News in that city.

We had the pleasure of meeting Percy G. Ralls, for whom the town of Ralls is named, and who owns vast holdings in that section of the plains.

Jury Of View Sets Costs of Widened Road to Cedar Hill

Widening, Straightening Program Calculated To Make Travel Easier

The jury of view on the widening program for the highway east from Lockney 7 miles to the Silvertown highway and from the Silvertown highway east to Cedar Hill, sat Saturday and Monday their recommendations were reviewed by the commissioner's court.

According to the figures made by the jury of view the widening program east to Cedar from the highway will cost the county a total of $119 for 10 feet of right-of-way on each side of the road, increasing its width to 60 feet from 40 feet.

To increase the width of the highway from Lockney east to the cemetery road a mile and thence east a 100-foot right-of-way to the highway. Their schedule also called for straightening out the road to make curves out of short turns. The total bill for this distance, if their recommendations are followed in total by the commissioners will be $1,317.50. Of this amount $500 was awarded Solon Clements, $200 to the Iowa Bankers Life Assurance company, and $600 to Noah Wright.

Nominal amounts were awarded other owners on the route.

All members of the jury-of-view could not be present at sittings Saturday, a majority thereof being Walter Wood, Willie Sims and O. J. Huggins, present, with County Attorney John Stapleton and Deputy County Surveyor Walter Newell as technical advisors.

Widening the roadway is expected to add materially to the convenience of travel east and west on the total of 13 miles and the new roadbed will be eligible for lateral road improvement at a later date, it is hoped.

Court Empowers West Tex C-C To Speak For Floyd In Rate Fight

The Floyd County Commissioners court this week empowered the Freight Rate Equality federation to speak for them in the fight that is being made for a more equitable freight rate for producers and distributors in this area as compared with eastern and northern sections.

Freight Rate Equality federation is an organization set up at the suggestion of West Texas Chamber of Commerce, J. M. Willson of Floydada, is its president. The formal resolution adopted and ordered spread on the minutes by the Floyd county commissioners is as follows:

"Believing that the level of freight rates in the territory represented by this organization is discriminatory when compared with freight rates in other regions, and

"Believing that markets for our products; even flow of our trade and commerce; cost of our living; and our development and general welfare are adversely affected because of comparative unfair freight rates:

"We, the Commissioners Court of Floyd county do hereby dedicate ourselves to the task of overcoming our freight rate differential and affiliate ourselves with the Freight Rate Equality Federation on the understanding that this Federation shall have as its program the abolition of the unequal freight rate zones of the United States, and on the understanding that a committee of three from his organization shall represent it in all affairs of the Freight Rate Equality Federation."

Protect Your Health From Flies; Outline Given For Protection

F. S. A. Explains Methods For Poisoning And Trapping Flies Around The Home

We have all been confronted at some time or other with the problem of controlling pests that are found in or about the home. House flies not only disgust and annoy us, but menace our health and life, and that of our families by the various diseases they transmit. It has been demonstrated beyond the shadow of a doubt that they carry such diseases as typhoid. This fact alone should make it imperative for us to take every means of keeping the insects from our food. Even if one is not moved by health considerations, the fact that these insects breed in filth should move one to avoid their presence as far as possible. The most practical thing to do in reducing the number of these insects around the premises, of course, is to remove their breeding places. Accumulations of organic materials about the place that might remain to rot and furnish places in which maggots develop (especially animal manures and including garbage, which attract flies as a source of food supply as well) should be promptly and regularly removed and either spaded or plowed under, or thinly scattered so as to dry out quickly. Open toilets should be screened and precautions taken otherwise to prevent access of flies for maggot laying. In spite of all our efforts in this direction, flies in greater or less numbers will always come to our homes, possibly from some distant breeding places over which we individually may have no control. Sometimes we may be personally at fault in this respect, even because of materials carelessly thrown out the back door that are attractive to flies as food. This would suggest that we exercise care to see that disposition is made of such materials. Further, screens of proper mesh, covering both doors and windows are an absolute necessity in excluding flies; and, since mosquitoes, some very small, should be excluded at the same time, screen of 16 mesh to the inch should be insisted upon for this purpose. Flies that reach our premises and get by the screen door need to be destroyed. One effective method is by the use of the fly swatter, and money invested in several is well spent. This, however, requires active attention on the part of the housewife while flies are being killed, and she is not always able to give the

TRACTOR DEMONSTRATION

Demonstration of tractors and plows practicable for operation on Floyd county farms will be given on Tuesday afternoon of next week at the S. J. Latta farm 4 miles east of Floydada. It was announced this week.

S. J. Latta, dealer for the M-M line is sponsoring the demonstration beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

matter the continuous attention that is sometimes required. So another method, that of poisoning can be used. This method works by itself after it has been prepared and permits one to attend to other work or to take the afternoon nap that relief from flies makes possible.

Recipe For Poisoning Flies
Materials needed:

- (1) 1/2 cup sweet milk, (2) 1/2 cup water, (3) 1 teaspoon hydrated lime, (4) 1 teaspoon brown sugar or syrup (5) 2 teaspoons ordinary commercial formaldehyde, or baking soda (6) A thin slice of stale bread (7) A bowl or jar of about 1 pint capacity.
- The fly poison that will be effective for poisoning flies can be mixed at home. In making this, we take a bowl or jar of sufficient capacity and pour into it 1/2 cup of sweet milk, and 1/2 cup of water. To make the mixture more attractive, add one teaspoon of brown sugar, or syrup, and stir it thoroughly until dissolved. Now, 2 teaspoons of ordinary commercial formaldehyde, such as the druggist will sell you, stirred in, makes the liquid poisonous to flies. Some times this mixture is slightly acid and repellent to flies, so to correct this, add just a pinch or two of baking soda or hydrated lime, such as is obtained from lumber yards. After the solution has been mixed, it is ready for use, and should be poured into saucers or shallow pie tins. While this method will kill many flies, others, like the dove fly from the ark, will find no convenient place to alight. So, for the convenient of all the individual flies, a slice of stale bread can be put in the saucer or pan of liquid poison. Another convenient way of presenting the poison is a kind of self-feeder. Take a glass tumbler, fill it half full of the poisoned solution, cut a round piece of blotting paper, slightly larger than the mouth of the tumbler, place this over the tumbler and invert a saucer over this. Hold the saucer down firmly, and quickly turn tumbler and saucer over. There should not be so much solution that it will spill over the saucer, yet always enough for the hungry unsuspecting flies. These baits should be placed on the sill of a window with partly raised shade, the room being otherwise darkened. The mixture is poisonous, and should be kept out of reach of children. Screen traps of the same type, that we have built at home, are available outside the house. Anyone with a few tools can construct flytraps. A trap is very effective in catching flies and is easily made, durable and cheap. may be made of four barrel boxes, four laths, a few strips of board, and 8 1/2 lineal feet of screening, 24 inches wide. (For greater details see Farmer's Bulletin 734). The effectiveness of the traps will depend on the selection of baits. A good bait for catching house flies is 1 part of blackstrap molasses to 3 parts water. After the mixture has been allowed to ferment for a day or two, overripe or fermented banana crushed and placed in the bait pans give good results, especially with milk added to them. A mixture of equal parts brown sugar and curd of sour milk, thoroughly moistened give good results after it has been allowed to stand for 3 or 4 days.

Sprays designed to destroy or repel house flies fills a certain need in connection with the house fly problem. Extracts of pyrethrum flowers are now generally available commercially and these generally give fairly good results in the destruction of house flies in buildings. Most of the sprays of pyrethrum extract contain kerosene oil as a carrier, and undoubtedly the kerosene has much to do with the toxicity of the spray. Such materials are most applicable to buildings which become infested with flies, and which can be readily closed up at night, and the air thoroughly saturated with the spray, by means of an atomizer. Under such conditions, the flies are rather quickly overcome by the spray, and if a sufficient quantity is used, they will not survive.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Surginer of Houston returned home Thursday of last week after a three days visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Surginer.

Mrs. Ott Gamble and daughter Miss Virginia Belle, of Lubbock visited friends and relatives here Tuesday.

Jack Jones of McAdoo underwent a tonsil operation Wednesday morning at the Floydada Hospital and Clinic.

Farm Measuring To Be Completed Near August 15 Estimate

With farm measuring for compliance under the 1939 Farm Program now in full swing, every effort is being made to complete this work by August 15. H. H. Marshall, administrative assistant, said Monday.

If this is accomplished, it is believed, Mr. Marshall stated, that the conservation payments will be received in this county several months earlier than for this year.

One important step in the carrying out of the measuring requirements will be the reporting to the measurer by the farm operator any soil conservation practices that are to be carried out after the measuring on the farm is completed, such as the building of terraces, or of ground tanks. This, however, does not apply to sweet sorghum, which will be left on the ground.

Should any farmer be overplanted either on his cotton allotment or his general allotment, he will be notified immediately, and will have time to plow up the excess acreage, Mr. Marshall said.

Again Mr. Marshall emphasized the necessity of every operator or his representative being on hand when the measuring takes place.

"CHIROPRACTIC MEDICINE"

In my last article, I stated that I would discuss "Chiropractic Medicine." From my standpoint, there is no such thing as Chiropractic Medicine. It is a therapeutic monstrosity, since Chiropractic stresses spinal adjustments for the restoration and maintenance of health. The use of medicine in Chiropractic practice would be an open denial that adjustments are all-sufficient. My office is not anti-medical, but non-medical, anyone desiring medicine should seek it through the proper channel. Since Chiropractic in theory and practice is non-medical and non-surgical, the question of "Chiropractic Medicine" resolves itself into an absurdity.

See me concerning your health problems.
Following subject: "Chiropractic for All."
