No New Services Or Organizations For Farms Planned

Wallace Tells Leaders They May Have Added Defense Assignments

It was pointed out in the statement that the existing farm program contributes mightily to national defense.

Demos Plan Pre-Primary 'School' For Officials Of Floyd County Elections

Time for Candidates' First Expense Report Begins Today, Ends Monday

The sub-committee of the Democratic executive committee Monday completed the details of arrangement for the first primary on July 27, when they formulated the official ballot, and made plans for a "school" for election holders that will be open to the general public.

The date for the school has been set tentatively for Thursday, July 25, two days prior to the election.

Recent statutes governing absentee voting, manner of making unofficial and official returns, and a general study of procedure are expected to take up some two hours of round table discussion.

Every county and precinct candidate who applied for a place on the county ticket had made payment of the filing fees required before the deadline for payment on Saturday night.

All candidates are due to make their first statement of electioneering and other campaign expenses in preparation of their reports and ending on July 1. These reports are to be filed with the county clerk in the case of county and precinct candidates.

Two new voting places will be used this year, both in Floydada. In Precinct No. 1 Southwest Floydada, the polls will be opened and the election held in the Brown building on West California street, across the alley from Bishop's Pharmacy.

In Precinct No. 23, northeast Floydada, voters will cast their ballots at the county treasurer's office on the first floor of the court house.

Numerous Businesses Will Observe Fourth

The bank, the post office, the self-service laundries, utilities offices, county offices and department stores in Floydada will be closed on the 4th of July in observance of Independence Day it was indicated this week.

But in contrast will be the implement houses and elevators which will be doing business as usual on account of the rush of the wheat harvest and stubble plowing.

The Stamford Cowboy's Red-Union, swimming pools and cool spots in the area are mentioned most by those who are planning to be out of town for the Fourth.

Refunding City Debt Agreed On

Big Cut in Interest Puts Annual Bill Within Ability To Pay

Long-drawn out negotiations by which the city is placed in position to meet its outstanding bonded debt without danger of default, were completed at a called session of the council Tuesday night, and yesterday it was announced that only the formalities of reissuing the bonds on the new basis is yet to be done.

The conference followed a series of talks with C. M. Smith, representative of Brown-Crummer company, Kansas City, in which the city gained a definite footing for the bonded debt for which taxpayers are liable, with the following distinct advantages:

(1) Reduction of the interest rate from an average of 5.65 per cent to 4 per cent;

(2) Making $99,000 of the total debt callable at any interest paying date upon 30 days notice, beginning at once and the remaining portion of the debt callable at any interest paying date after 10 years.

Heavy Cut Is Made Reduction of the interest rate cuts the total annual bill nearly $6,000 per year over a period of 40 years in which the bonds will mature serially and in that period of time should the city retire none of the indebtedness save that which matures the biggest maturity will be $17,200 in the year 1955. The lowest maturity in any of the years will be for the year 1940 when $6,080 will be retired. The average year's bill will run about $15,000.

Three members to serve as supervisors will be elected as a board for the Floyd County Soil Conservation District in a county-wide election Saturday of this week.

The new bonds will be dated some time this fall when they have been printed, signed by the city officials and approved by the Attorney General of Texas and attorneys representing the city and the bondholders. It was agreed. This date will depend upon the speed with which the details are finished.

In the period since 1935 when the agreement was reached for refunding the original issue and the interest rate cut to 3 per cent, it was provided that the average rate of (See City Debt, back page)

EDITORIALS

Europe's never-ceasing war went into a new phase this week, one of crimination and re-crimination between English and French leaders regarding the unhappy finale in France, where the nation admitted its abject defeat by the Germans. Whose fault it was, French or English, will be the subject of bitter debate only for the historians to decide probably fifty years hence. While the former allies are quarreling amongst themselves the Germans frankly are preparing for the Blitzkrieg in England. Just how it will come about has the whole world greatly interested and most of the people of the United States fearful of what this eventually may have for us.

We are in a new world and will realize it within another year or more. If the United States goes into no war but merely makes its preparations against eventualities on the same scale that potential enemies have made theirs, the bill may run as high as ten billions of dollars a year, there will be general military service and the United States will be in the business of making and using and wearing out arms and munitions on a scale never before imagined.

Fourth of July has come around with a rush again. Hardly have the Christmas cards been discarded or stored away until it is time to celebrate the mid-year independence day. Another half-year gone. But events of the half-year have crowded one another very fast, events that are not just something for the chronologist to record, but happenings to millions all over the world. That history is being made is only putting it most mildly.

How to pitch one's plans to take greatest advantage of the upheaval in world affairs that have come and others that are just around the corner, is the big problem in shops, offices, on the farms, in counting houses and factories. Some lines, undoubtedly will decline, others will flourish. The wars and preparations for wars will un-make some industries very likely, and have new ones springing up in their stead. There's no telling the price of wheat, of cotton, what about cattle, hogs or oil. Perhaps, probably, some of the industries which above will suffer and slump. But one thing, some day, maybe after you've gone broke waiting for the time to come, there will be the time when want will be too strong for any political lines and the necessities of life will be in demand most of anything. Meanwhile cheap cotton, cheap wheat might tear up your playhouse, if you owe and hope to pay out of the proceeds of your crops. Meanwhile the only thing to do to keep on keeping on, and get all the good advice you can from the smart men around you. Don't ask anybody but the smart ones, however. Or if it is that a wise thing to suggest?

Probably the principal reason that America should hands off, so far as conditions will permit, in the European wars now going on, is that we cannot by intervention settle anything. The differences "overthere" are not easy to sit judgement on. The fact is we could agree among ourselves on a reasonable and proper settlement and how to enforce it. This was demonstrated in 1919 and 1920. Europe had racial and religious differences, wholly irreconcilable, that had existed since Europe emerged from the Dark Ages, hundreds of years before George Washington was ever born. To us it is a horrible thing to contemplate but facts are facts. We couldn't realize this in 1918. We do realize it now. We do need to prepare for Mr. Hitler but we do not need to attempt to right Europe but it looks very much like we are going to do so.

Nylon hosiery, talked about so much the past few months, went on sale recently all over the United States. Every dealer got a few pair from the mills with which he does business. This tip: Nylon hose will run, will snag, must have careful washing and is not "made good" with any stronger guarantee than you have had on the other kind of hose you have been using. At first women are going to be disappointed in the new hose but for several reasons Nylons are due to be popular.

Henry A. Wallace tells farmers that their program, now under way, and the set-up of farm help for national defense is as complete as the government needs it to be. Should emergencies arise that demand direct attention of the farmer, they already have all the committees and agencies staffed and ready to go to make co-ordination of effort complete and dissemination of information on the government's needs quick and complete. "It will not be necessary to set up new government services, or new organizations of farmers to carry on agriculture's part of the national defense program," are Mr. Wallace's words.

Germany was able to fly over France's Maginot line and completely nullify it by attack in an element against which the French had not calculated. In their believed security against attack on land they forgot the air and the newer things which the ingenuity of man has wrought. A complacency dearly bought, as it turned out. However, flying over France's Maginot line and England's merchant marine may turn out to be matters of entirely different character. Germany may strafe the land but these two facts stand out: (1) The ship is still the only device which can travel long distances with heavy loads; (2) The current vulnerability of the shipping lanes to aerial bombing is only a temporary situation due to the lopsided division of air power between warring nations. Shipping of the future can be protected from hostile craft in the air by its own planes. Although it is an admitted fact British shipping faces the gravest threat in a thousand years, the English have a fifty-fifty chance to escape the German strait jacket.

Official Washington and the far-seers in the east have ceased to think so much in terms of Europe and the British Isles and saving them as in saving our own hides, and preserving the American continents free of European domination. Fact is, many refugees are already beginning to flow to Canada in anticipation of a holocaust in England similar to that which has beaten France to her knees. Mr. Hitler's avowal that he has no aspirations in the Americas has just as much weight as his avowal that he had none toward Scandinavia, the Low countries and toward the West, meaning France and Belgium. Mr. Hitler's public promise or avowal has no standing. He uses it only to dupe those who will let him, and doubtless his warped mind has him doing a great service to the Reich when he thus lies.

Tom Rambo is the new editor of The Petersburg Journal succeeding E. R. Gibson, who is making his home in Lubbock in recent months and operating a printing establishment there. The plant at Petersburg had been a secondary consideration with Mr. Gibson while Rambo has started out giving the business his entire time and attention with the result that the latest number has a pronounced increase in advertising lineage and news coverage and is a neater, better paper in practically every respect. Rambo is a Petersburg boy who made up his mind a few years ago he would be a newspaper publisher. He has made what appears to be an enviable beginning.

Growing unpopularity of state-raised barriers to trade, erected at "ports of entry," may yet bring the states around to the more common sense point of view that free trade, unhampered by "inspections" of officious persons wearing uniforms is bad for business, bad for cordial relations and bad for the state of mind of the people. The barriers, erected under various veiled excuses to serve selfish interests, have really served no good purpose of which we have learned.

One reason to which is attributed the increase in the circulation of the Bible around the world is the increasing literacy of the people. Light and more light is being shed around the world by men and women who are teaching people hungry to learn for themselves by reading. And for one who has learned to read, what a great thing it is to be able to read for himself the Bible of which he has heard other speak so much. The Bible still has the circulation!

As A Farm Woman Thinks

Nellie Will Spikes

My husband had to make a hurried trip to town this morning, but to show you how good he is, he let me out in the canyon to gather wild flowers and never even honked the horn for me to quit and come on. Wild sweet sultans, I call the fluffy orchid blossoms. The buds and seed pods are even more attractive than the blooms. Along with the bouquet, I brought home a colony of ants, small black, that were on the flowers. They crawled all over me running here and there in the car as if to try to find out what it was all about. They seemed so lost on the kitchen table.

No, the noise you hear at Cone is not an army shooting at another. It is the whack, whack of broomsticks on stout cotton ticks, held by men and women making mattresses under the supervision of demonstration women. Cotton lint fills the room, settling by preference on noses, tickling and worrying the workers. Men vie with women on making a nice roll around the edge of the finished mattress. Uncle Sam is giving his nephews and nieces some of his hoarded cotton, enabling weary workers to have a place of rest, and diminishing the mountainous bales of cotton.

Last week was sad and tragic in many ways, as well as a week full of hard work. On returning from town last Wednesday we found a note on our door, telling of the death of our friend, Mrs. S. J. Cone. Long years ago, her good husband was buried at old Emma. Now she sleeps by his side. She was one who loved people. Her friends were many. When I was a young woman, perplexed by the duties of rearing a family and learning unaccustomed farm work, she was my guide and advisor. Ten children grew up in her home, ten children to make good citizens of the United States. All stood in tears by the grave and gave tribute to a loving good mother.

"Mother died suddenly. I knew you would want to hear." Wrote Mrs. Will McLane of Plainview who once lived near me. Some fifteen years it was my privilege and happiness to live near Grandma, Mrs. Betty Little. She was born August 27, 1851 in Randolph County, Ala. Grandma had a fine figure, erect even in advanced age. Her skin was smooth and white, her gray hair held neatly to place with a tucking comb. Many times grandma took me down memory's lane with her, as her gnarled hands pieced tiny hexagons for flower, garden quilts, or made strong steel knitting needles make delicate white lace. One day she showed me a new dress she had made "every stitch by her own hand." Tears gathered in my eyes as I looked on the white dress of fine soft batiste, with a belt of gleaming satin ribbon and collar of filmy lace. Grandma smiled and said, "I made my wedding dress, why not my burial robe? I have had my day."

Grandma's Wedding Day

Then he told me about her wedding day, as she pushed up her chair to mine and said "this old chair wont meach". An old time expression meaning move, with one in it. "We lived in the settlement near a big road called Jackson's trace. It was on Meetin' Day, and the time of day was early candle-light. There were two young couples to hold candles to read license by. Ma was afraid of lamp oil and bought some sperm candles for the occasion. On the long pine table was the wedding supper. Ma gave a woman fifty cents to make two

FLOYD COUNTY 14 YEARS AGO

News items taken from files of the Floyd County Hesperian published in Floydada fourteen years ago.

H. M. McDonald was given the contract Monday of this week for the construction of a modern brick home on lots facing South Main St. in the Bartlett addition for V. A. Leonard.

No traces of typhoid germs have been found in the Floydada water and ice supply according to city Health officer Lon V. Smith. He has been cooperating with Dr. V. Andrews, county health official in an effort to determine the source of two cases of fever developed in the city recently.

Recognition for work in stenography done in classes at Floydada High school has been given by the State Department of Education and one half credit granted. Superintendent J. C. Wester said last week. The commercial work credit of a full unit is now offered in shorthand and typewriter. The first half in typing was made last year. The total number of occluded credits of Floydada High is now twenty three and one half.

J. B. Bishop, of Amarillo, and Baird Bishop, of Kress, came in Wednesday to attend to business matters. Mrs. Wilson Kimble returned this Thursday from visiting friends and relatives in Houston and Fort Worth.

butter burrs. Never heard of butter burrs? Grandma's blue eyes twinkled. "They took a mound of butter and with a spoon made it look like pine burrs. They were very pretty and stylish. Cakes and fruit also were on the table."

Grandma paused, busy with her thoughts of that happy day so long ago in the past. She remembered that it was the second of November when she, Betty Ingram put her hand in that of Jim Little and vowed before all the guests standing there from the clearings about in that little home in the settlements that she would be true and a good wife, till death do us part. These vows she kept. Even after Jim Little was in his grave she was loyal and true.

As grandma talked on, I could see her a little girl, playing under tall trees with dolls made of pine burrs, or going after blackberries in the corners of the stake and rider fence, carrying many, many buckets of water from the spring of cold clear water on the side of the hill.

Yes, I have spun thread and made as the soldiers passed near on the big road. Never saw a Yankee till I was past grown and a southern woman married one. During the war, the fiddlers was all gone and the young people would play all night. Yes, I have spun thread and made cloth. Have filled quilts, put them in the shekles, I have spun twelve cuts a day."

Queer terms to use about work. I thought as grandma went on, "My father was buried in a winding sheet. What were they like? You want to know? Well, they were big squares like a sheet. Mother made the material for pa's. The roll of thread from which it was spun was so fine it would go through a gold ring. The body was laid in the winding sheet. The side folded over the breast, the bottom over the feet, and the top down over the face. Mother made Sister Becky promise that not a black thread should be put about me when I die."

But other things we talked of as Grandma reached her chair closer to the light. We laughed about the man that had so much beard he could not kiss his wife. She told about the old dead stump near the spring branch where an old duck sat on her eggs until they hatched. "I watched that old duck bring the little ones, one at a time in her bill and put them on the water." She laughed at the funny memory.

"Once after the young folks had played all night, I was ironing. Yes we had big ironings of Sunday clothes. Petticoats tucked from top to bottom, with fullness gathered at the top. As I was telling, I was ironing and dropped the iron rags. I stooped down for them and went sound to sleep. No, I did not like to wear Mother Hubbards. I made wrappers with tight lining. A funny thing was a man was hoeing in a field with a bunch of other men and women. A woman took the lead. The man said, "I am a-join' to git ahead of that Mother Hubbard if I have to chop the last stalk of cotton."

I did not get to go to Big Spring where grandma was laid to rest. I like to remember her as I saw her coming down the road for a day's visit, her neat dress held down with a starched apron. Her knitted stockings spotless white. Her face alight with pleasure over the visit. I like to remember her at our club as she gave us needed advice and words of cheer. She has only gone on to join little Bama, the sweet little girl that she did not raise to be grown. Gone to meet her husband Jim, that she loved so well. We miss her, but as she said, I have had my time. My life has been full and we dry our eyes as we know she would want us to live our lives to the fullest.

Earth and Its Fulness

Oh it seems a tragic thing that France had fallen before the enemy. An enemy of the beauty that was Paris, and enemy of all the good that was France. An enemy of freedom. How could it be? Oh how could it be. I shuddered. But a glance back through the history of the world. I saw some people weeping and wailing. Jesus, their friend, and the son of one of their number, was hanging on a cross, with a wreath of thorns pierced to his head. Oh how could it be? All good gone and all out by enemies to all good and beauty. But stronger than the enemy was the Lord. Death, by the Saviour. A hope sprung up even from the grave, that would triumph. And I saw Rome as all its glory. Of literature, of art, of wise laws. Rome could not fall, must not fall. Civilization would be ended. But the barbarians came down from the north and Rome fell even as France today. No, they did not end civilization with their cruelty and their outlawry. It sprang up in other lands, among other peoples, and the glory of Rome still lives, while the things of the barbarous hordes passed away. We have the literature, the arts and the good laws still living on.

I was comforted. Good cannot be killed. Truth, crushed to earth will rise again. Greed and hate will give away to love. The earth will rise again. Greed and hate will have to give away to love. The earth is God's and the fulness thereof.

School Transfers Must Be Made by First Of August

Transfer of scholastics in Floyd County school districts must be completed by August 1, according to Clarence Guffee, county superintendent.

July first is opening date for transfers and all applications must be made during the month. Parents of school students to be transferred should make applications as this is not the authority of the district trustees.

Students, whose next grade is not taught in the home district, should transfer to another district as this action does not take place automatically as is commonly thought.

THE FLAG SPEAKS

A patriotic special feature, produced with the co-operation of the American Legion by MGM, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Palace theatre in Floydada, it was announced this week by Jack Deakins.

The feature has a running time of 19 minutes and was released for the first time on Flag Day, June 14. It is called "The Flag Speaks."

The story of the birth of the American flag is told, and something of the spirit of the American people is captured in the beauty of the film.

Emphasized is the unity of the nation, despite the great diversity of race, language and religion. The history of the flag begins at Fort Stanwix where, according to tradition, the first Stars and Stripes was unfurled in 1777. Subsequent trials and struggles of the flag and the principles for which it stands are portrayed.

E. H. F. A. Aids in Buying Electrical Appliances

Purchasers Can Pay Additional With Light Bill

Small Installments, Low Interest Features Of New Purchasing Idea

Users of electrical current through the Floyd County Rural Electric Co-operative, Inc. and the City Power and Light Plant may now purchase electrical appliances on an easy payment, long term plan. Purchases are made possible by the Electric Home and Farm Authority, a Federal Government agency.

Eligible purchasers in this area are those consumers who are served by Floyd County Rural Electric Co-operative, Inc., or the City Power and Light Plant of Floydada. A down payment of 5 percent is required and a 5 percent financing charge, lowest in existence thus far, is added to the total amount of the contract.

Through the E. H. F. A. plan, customers may finance the installment purchase of electrical appliances for a charge of 5 percent per annum on the original unpaid balance.

Monthly payments on individual purchases of most major appliances may be extended over periods as long as three years. In many cases, two or more appliances, when purchased in one transaction, may be financed over a period of four years.

Combination Purchases
It is possible, therefore, to make combination purchases of two or more appliances with smaller monthly payments than otherwise would be required. Frequently, this enables purchasers to buy additional appliances earlier than would be possible with larger monthly payments.

Contracts having unpaid balances (cash delivered price less down payment) of less than $40.00 are not accepted for financing. The appliances eligible for financing are as follows: refrigerators, ranges, water heaters, water pumps, milk coolers, cream separators, farm motors, milking machines, feed grinders, domestic clothes washers, domestic clothes ironers, dishwashers, waste disposal units, attic ventilating fans, vacuum cleaners and radios.

The routine of purchasing and financing an electrical appliance under the E. H. F. A. plan is not unlike purchasing many other commodities on a plan of deferred payments. The customer, after selecting the appliance from an authorized dealer, makes an initial payment of 5 percent or more of the cash delivered price and executes a deferred payment contract.

Monthly installments are payable to the Floyd County Rural Electric Co-operative, Inc. or The City Power and Light Plant, determined by which territory the user is located at the same time the electric service bills are due. These payments are credited to the customer's account and forwarded to the Electric Home and Farm Authority.

Objectives of Program
The principal objectives of the E. H. F. A. program, in addition to offering a beneficial and necessary service to users of electricity, are to lessen the burdens in the home and to increase efficiency on the farm through a greater use of electric power.

Helpful effects of this program are felt not only by the actual consumers of electricity but also by the producers and distributors of electric power, electrical appliance manufacturers, appliance dealers, and electrical contractors.

E. H. F. A. seeks to bring about cooperation among electric utilities, manufacturers, appliance dealers, and electrical contractors with a view to encouraging the widespread purchase of electrical appliances and increasing the use of electricity.

Weaver, 86, a pioneer resident of Floyd County and for many years a resident of Lockney, was given a surprise last week when all of his children, except one, gathered at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. J. McClure, of the Center Community, where he now makes his home. The climax of the celebration was held Sunday when dinner was served at the McClure home to thirty-five guests. Homemaking Class Has Had An Interesting Period Of Study

A very delightful two-day camping trip was reported by Miss Fannie Mae Rees, when she and Mrs. G. W. Russell, returned Friday afternoon with their group of home economic girls, from Roaring Springs. "They were tired, happy, and sunburned", said Miss Rees. This was the fifth annual outing at Roaring Springs and concluded the supervision by the teachers of the summer project work. For 100 hours of home work during the summer months the students will receive one-half credit. The remainder of the summer work will be supervised by the girls' mothers and they will have until September 1, to complete the required number of hours.

A very impressive talk was given by Louise Willson on the subject, "Your Face Tells," also the vesper services around the camp fire was led by Louise. A vocal solo given by Martha Yearwood was enjoyed by the group.

Those who took cars for the transportation of the girls were Miss Rees, Mrs. Russell, Louise Willson, Mrs. Oliver Dudley, and W. H. Nelson, of the Baker community.

The total cost of the camping trip to Roaring Springs for each girl was 70c, this included the eats, also the swimming for the two days. Each girl carried her own bed roll and her own dishes, and after each meal, lined up, passed by the dish pan and washed her own dishes.

Appointed Delegate

This camping trip is of particular significance since Miss Rees will report her experience of the cost and how the girls enjoyed the trip, at the meeting of all homemaking teachers of the state at Dallas, August 28, 29 and 30. She was recently appointed by Miss Ruth Huey, State Director, to represent Area 1, which is composed of 77 schools. She is also to report at this meeting a list of campsites which may be secured as a permanent campsite for the home economics girls of Area 1.

Miss Rees said, "There is a possibility that this camp will be located in Ceta Canyon. And, "Wherever the site is selected it will have to have facilities for 1,000 girls for a week or ten days, then it has been planned to have all of the Area meetings at this permanent camp." The homemaking teachers of Area 1 are looking forward in great anticipation of the possibilities of this permanent camp, for we realize the youth must have some play and recreation as well as work. We are trying to assist the parent in employing and entertaining the children", she continued.

"The main object of the summer work which has just been concluded is to train the girls to be able to assume full responsibility of the home in cases of emergency when their mothers are called away, also, they will be capable of taking charge of their own homes which will be making in the near future", Miss Rees said.

Miss Rees has traveled over 1,000 miles during the past month, visiting the homes of the girls in the sixteen school districts which are all represented in the homemaking classes of Floydada High School.

Warning Is Issued Against Careless Use of Fire Works

State Health Department Says Fourth of July Brings Increased Hazards

Austin, Texas, June 27—Looking ahead to the approaching observance of the Fourth of July, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, warns against the irresponsible use of fireworks and other explosives.

Dr. Cox pointed out that celebration of the Fourth of July has associated with it inevitable increase in hazards to life and limb; auto accidents increase in added traffic congestion; an undue number of drownings occur, chiefly affecting non-swimmers in places lacking adequate safety supervision; and a great many injuries and not a few deaths are directly attributable to fireworks.

However, it is not to be inferred that risks to health and life from fireworks have been eliminated completely. Temporary stands inside city limits make explosives accessible to the Independence Day celebrators, while the large majority of Texas communities have as yet adopted no regulations barring them.

person receiving a powder burn or wound, however superficial, should see a physician immediately. Antitetanus serum, in the majority of instances, will be administered to prevent the possibility of lockjaw. To treat an injury of this type unconcernedly is to run an unjustifiable risk. Moreover, the post-Fourth's casualty items are augmented by the carelessly operated automobile. Statistics show that not only in Texas, but throughout the nation, the misoperated motor vehicle is a real Fourth of July hazard.

There is no desire to dampen any one's enthusiasm for fun and relaxation on the Fourth, but the wise person will appreciate that harmful possibilities to life, limbs and health do exist, and will govern himself accordingly.

Vegetable Laxative Has Important Points

This laxative does three important things for most users. If simple directions are followed, it usually acts punctually, thoroughly, gently. You will like spicy BLACK-DRAUGHT'S way. Chief of its all-vegetable ingredients is an "intestinal tonic-laxative" which helps tone lax bowel muscles. Next time, take BLACK-DRAUGHT. Economical, too: 25 to 40 doses, 25c.

Dairy Month In Texas Brings Forward Need For Own Preparedness

Supply of Milk, Butter and Cheese Alarmingly Short, Leaves Population Disease Weakened

Fort Worth June 24—While the Nation's press and air waves are loaded with rumors of war and talk of preparedness, in Texas the observance of Dairy Month has brought to light the need of a preparedness within our own State. One vitally urgent if approximately one-half of the State's population be kept fit as bread winners and, with their families, be enabled to ward off the ravages of pellagra, eye diseases, under-developed children and other scourges which have been experienced in the war-torn countries of Europe, where the supply of milk, butter and cheese has been withdrawn from the working population of the invaded countries.

According to information compiled by the Texas Dairy Products Association there is need for 250,000 more Texas farms where no cows are kept. On the 75,000 farms which are without a single chicken it would require 1,368,000 average hens to supply the 304,166 cases or 760 carloads of eggs necessary to furnish these farmers and their families with one egg each per day throughout the year.

According to statistics provided by Texas A & M College, a total of 3,282,000 people of this State are on diets lacking in the fundamental essentials of good nutrition. As a result of this deficiency, which is in effect the lack of one quart of milk per person per day, twenty pounds of butter and sixteen pounds of cheese per year, there is existing in Texas an average of ten to fifteen thousand cases of pellagra with six hundred deaths annually. Surely in the face of peace and plenty, a commonwealth like our own, favored by climatic conditions, a natural source of livestock, with the ability to grow and conserve feed stuff more economically than any other section of the Nation, will not fail to be aroused to the necessity of such preparedness, equally vital in time of peace or war. It is as essential to conserve human life and build better bodies as to build ships and armaments with which to destroy them.

Sunday School Lesson

Jonah: The Outreach of God's Love International Sunday School Lesson for June 30, 1940.

Golden Text: "Salvation is of the Lord" (Jonah 2:9).

Lesson Text: Jonah 3:1-10; 4:10,11 Devotional Reading: Psalm 67. Time: About 860 B. C.

Jonah 3: 1 And the word of the Lord came unto Jonah the second time saying,

2 Arise, go unto Nin'e-veh, that great city, and preach unto it the preaching that I bid thee.

3 So Jonah arose, and went unto Nin'e-veh, according to the word of the Lord. Now Nin'e-veh was an exceeding great city of three days' journey.

4 And Jonah began to enter into the city a day's journey, and he cried, and said, Yet forty days, and Nin'e-veh shall be overthrown.

5 So the people of Nin'e-veh believed God, and proclaimed a fast and put on sackcloth, from the greatest of them even to the least of them.

6 For word came unto the king of Nin'e-veh, and he arose from his throne, and he laid his robe from him, and covered him with sackcloth, and sat in ashes.

7 And he caused it to be proclaimed and published through Nin'e-veh by the decree of the king and his nobles, saying, Let neither man nor beast, herd nor flock, taste any thing: let them not feed, nor drink water.

8 But let man and beast be covered with sackcloth, and cry mightily unto God: yea, let them turn every one from his evil way, and from violence that is in their hands.

9 Who can tell if God will turn and repent, and turn away from his fierce anger, that we perish not?

10 And God saw their works, that they turned from their evil way; and God repented of the evil, that he had said that he would do unto them; and he did it not.

Jonah 4: 10 Then said the Lord,

"Thou hast had pity on the ground, for the which thou hast not labored, neither madest it grow; which came up in a night, and perished in a night.

11 And should not I spare Nin'e-veh, that great city, wherein are more than sixscore thousand persons that cannot discern between their right hand and their left hand; and also much cattle?"

Lesson Thought

The lesson for today is from the book of Jonah, ridiculed by skeptics more than any other book of the Bible. Some people say it is merely an allegory, but Jesus said Jonah was three days and three nights in the whale's belly (Matt. 12: 40). That settles it that Jonah really existed, that he was swallowed, by a fish, and the book is an account of facts exactly as they occurred. Some think the fish story a major part of the book, but it is only a minor part. The keynote is God's great love for sinners. God told Jonah to go to Nin'e-veh, a great city of over a million inhabitants, and warn the people that within forty days the city would be overthrown. Jonah rebelled against the call, and took passage on a boat bound for Tarshish; but when he got on that boat God got on right behind him. God troubled the waters with such a storm the heathen sailors concluded that some one was on board who had made the gods angry. They drew lots and it fell to Jonah. Perhaps that is where the saying, "He's a Jonah", comes from when anyone is the cause of failure. The sailors threw Jonah into the sea, and God had prepared a great fish to swallow him. No sooner had Jonah landed within the whale than he commenced to pray right there within that living submarine. The backsliding missionary's prayer gave the whale indigestion, and it vomited the preacher on the beach.

PRESENT USED AUTOMOBILE MARKET "MADE-TO-ORDER" FOR BUYER SAYS HOLLER

Detroit, June, 22—Today's conditions in the used car market are "made to order" for persons who have been waiting for the right moment to fill their transportation needs.

This is the statement of W. E. Holler, general sales manager of Chevrolet, whose retail organization has average more than 100,000 used cars a month for the past five years.

Mr. Holler pointed out that heavy sales of Chevrolet's 1940 product have created, in dealerships from coast to coast, a situation of particular interest to buyers who know used car values.

"Never before," said Mr. Holler, "has it been possible to buy so much motoring satisfaction for so low a price. High new car volume has provided our dealers with unusually large stocks of used cars, a large proportion of which are recent models." He added that a wide selection of makes and body styles are represented, so that the man or woman with a preference for some specific car should be able to find it, at the figure he or she wants to pay.

City Debt—

Interest would be resumed at 5.65 on March 1, 1941, unless an agreement had been reached meanwhile. The present council has been negotiating for several months with the March 1 deadline next year in mind.

The agreement reached by the council seems to have had general approval of business men and citizens of the community who have had an opportunity to see the figures and study the matter.

During the five-year period the city had a drastic debt-paying program in effect and through savings and intense collection efforts have reduced the bonded debt a total of $60,000 from the high of $373,000 which the city owed five years ago and on portions of which default had been made in payment.

The Fire Truck Judgment

Last barrier removed last week in effecting the agreement with the bondholders was the settlement of the federal court judgement amounting to $5,190.22 in favor of the American-La France Fire Equipment company. The judgement was settled for $2,250. Release of the city from the claim will be only a formality.

Tractors and plows for breaking the ground and preparing it for planting were furnished by Martin and Co. The water for three acres is to be furnished by the city. Plants and seeds are furnished by the Andrews Ward Parent-Teachers' Association. Four men are employed on the project which is supervised by Mrs. Elva Sharp. They are J. F. Bohannon, foreman, Eddy Cantrell, and William Gilbreath, and Homer Kennamer.

Egg Marketing—

eggs and poultry at quality prices throughout the year. Each of the cooperators who is producing infertile eggs is feeding a balanced ration, culling the laying stock and guaranteeing that the eggs supplied for market will be of the proper grade and standard.

County agent D. F. Bredthauer has assured cooperators and others interested that he will assist farmers in culling flocks and help balance their home-grown feeds into a more profitable ration.

Report To Be Heard
Reports from the committee regarding bids for eggs produced by association members will be heard in a meeting scheduled for Saturday of this week in the County court room.

All the members of the egg marketing association, in addition to other poultry breeders interested, are expected to be in attendance.

Clifford Farmer Jr. of Waco is visiting his uncle W. H. Brock and family.

WEATHER AND CROPS

Scattering cotton showers over the county Saturday afternoon and Sunday brought aid to some row crops while stopping the harvest for a 24-hour period. The showers were by no means general.

Heaviest fall was reported in the vicinity of Aiken and across the county eastward from that point. About one-half inch of rain fell at Aiken.

Three-tenths of an inch fell at Floydada.
Temperatures began to mount yesterday with indications that today will be very warm.

Harvest Under Way

Harvest of the grain crop has gained full momentum, the early crops having been finished and the late ones due to be ready within a very short time. Yesterday wheat in the irrigated district was "just right" according to report, and the harvest in full swing. Highest yield reported in the Barwise area was on a small tract where a 47-bushel average was made, and the smallest yield on a similar field that yielded 21 bushels. Twenty-five to 35 bushels appears to be average for the irrigated land this year.

Cotton, maize and Sudan grass could use a good rain to very good advantage in the plains area of the county. Under the hill the need is not so urgent.

Miss Vida Mae Day is at home this week with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Day, but will open a beauty parlor at Petersburg Saturday June 27 in the location on the east side of the street formerly occupied by the Justice Peace.
