Lockney Business Men To Plan Barbecue For All Visitors

The annual Floyd County Irrigation school dates have been set for March 5 and 6. The school will be held in the city auditorium, Lockney. This annual affair is sponsored by the Floyd County Land Use Planning committee and it is estimated by this group that some 800 to 1,000 people from Floyd and ad-joining counties will be in attendnce.

The irrigation subcommittee which composed of Mrs. Chas. Smith and R. B. Gary, Floydada and F. L. Brown, Ben Quebe, C. J. Taylor, H. W. Schacht, Geo. T. Meriwether, Ed Whitfill, Buck Sams and Wyatt McLaughlin, Lockney met with County Agent, D. F. Bredthauer and A. Williams, chairman of the On Floydada Fri. Planning committee, at Lockney Tuesday. At this meeting definite arrangements for the school were made and programs for both days were completed.

The school is scheduled to open promptly at 9:30 on the morning of March 5. The first day's program will include a report of the Hydrologic Survey of the High Plains to be given by W. R. Likelihood is that within a few yearspossibly less than five-Floyd county farmers will be selling their hogs on grades in the same way they sell their cotton. This means that a 200-pound hog, or a 180-pound one, that has always brought top prices may not do so when the time comes. The hogs that meet the requirements of the consuming public best, that make it possible for the man to make money who buys them, will get top prices, and there'll be a grade or two grades between the tops and the packers. Little fat roly-poly hogs that carry a big per cent of lard on their frames won't be the kind to have when that time comes. The long, rangy animal that has lots of side meat and lean hams and shoulders and quite a bit of nice lean loin will be the ones. The competition has become too keen in the shortening market for lard to be high in price any more for a time, maybe for always.

Publicity and more publicity for affairs that are public is needed in Texas. Not that anybody is dishonest, but that anybody who handles public funds should give a public accounting, in the public prints, of how much the public turned over to them, how much they spent of it and what for, and how much they have left. This is one of the biggest weaknesses in the setup of Texas' public affairs, meaning the State of Texas and all the taxing subdivisions thereof. Believe it or not, men who handle public money cannot do themselves a greater injustice than not to insist on an ample, complete and thorough airing of all their act that have to do with other peoples' money. And in simple fairness to the man who is taxed the same should be done. Newspapermen who see this so plainly and every once in awhile insist on due publicity in public matters get credit for wanting to feather their own nests at the expense of the public. The complete answer to this insinuation is that practically every person who reads this suggestion can call to mind taxing subdivisions-possibly his own city, county or school district - that would be immensely better off financially if these had been complete publicity at the right time. If one feels the newspaperman would make too much money out of it there is nothing to keep as many more as feel like printing a newspaper getting some type and ink and a press and setting up in business. -0-

Speaking of going into the newspaper business and how easy it is to do so, reminds us to say as we've said before that newspapering and farming are more alike in their fundamentals than any other two lines of business we know. For, when all the tractors have been run their last row and turned into the corner to rust down and the two-and four-row outfits have plowed down to the last nub and the points won't sharpen again. in this town within the next 12 months to When this happens, come spring again there keep one yard reasonably busy. Neither the farmer nor the printer may know whether there'll be reward at the end of the season. But one will be plowing and the other printing.

Legal Holiday in Mind.

Some weeks ago The Hesperian pointed out the fact that February rains might find a good many farmers unprepared and this week we have to give warning that further rainfall would keep a good many farmers out of the field during the remainder of the month. Particularly is the danger due to be felt on those farms where the man on the place has not done away with his Russian thistles from around fence rows. A big snow in February would close many lanes in Floyd county for several days. The doctor couldn't get down them and some people also would have to do without provisions for awhile. Not to speak of the lost moisture where the row crop land was not listed up in January like we suggested. The Hesperian has a good wind and rain department, although possibly weak in some other services to the public. Sometimes we do a mighty good job of forecasting. All those who took advantage of our suggestion about the Russian thistles while they were dry enough to burn will recall this fact, and those who left their row crop fields without attention during January will wish they had paid us some mind. Don't forget we have advantage of all the modern as well as the ancient devices (crows, tarantulas, waterdogs, treebarks, mesquite trees as well as the beasts of the field) from which to make our deductions and our forecasts. We are definitely of a mind that a snow may hit in February or early March.

Of 3,225 dwellings in Floyd county there were 411 vacant on April 1, according to the Census bureau. Of these dwellings 832 are in Floydada and 23 of them were vacant on April 1. Of these vacant dwellings in Floydada a survey indicates only two had reasonably good modern conveniences. Many occupied homes in Floydada are not modern, indicating a pressing need for a re-modeling and brightening up campaign. Lumbermen might well take note of an opportunity here. Sunday Laymen's Day At Methodist Church; Visiting Speaker

R. T. Breedlove, Pastor It is a custom annually in the church to observe Laymen's Day and we shall do so this year by having a gifted speaker to fill the pulpit at the eleven o'clock hour Sunday.

C. B. Breedlove, for eleven years superintendent of schools in Haskell, Texas, will be the speaker. He is a brother of the pastor, and has for many years been active as a layman in the church. During these years he has filled acceptably many of the best pulpits in his section of the country, and is in demand as a speaker for many occasions. For sixteen years he has been a member of the board of education in The Northwest Texas Conference once was a delegate to General conference and for several years has been a trustee for one of our colleges. Uniformally successful as a

In the telephone business, the men at the top all started at the bottom. Today's plant chiefs, managers, chief operators ... even the presidents of Bell companies . . . began their telephone careers as clerks, groundmen, and operators.

This long-established policy of promotion from the ranks means recognition and reward for smaller jobs well done. It means, too, that your telephone service is supervised by competent men and women, whose "know how" is backed by long experience.

And that is one reason why America's telephone system has marched steadily forward . . . furnishing fast, dependable, low-cost telephone service to the nation.
