Many women whose parlor manners are above reproach can take lessons from the truck driver in courtesy out on the highway; and many a polished gentleman whose suavity has been cultivated to all occasions in society, likewise can get more polish from the knights of the road at the midnight coffee rendezvous. The drivers have learned that common courtesy does much to promote safety on the highway. Furthermore he knows more about the machine he is driving than does the average person. He knows its failings and he knows when his sight is likely to be deceiving him. Above all he knows which side of the road is his. Knowledge and courtesy which one could take from his parlor into his automobile when it goes out on the highway would cut the highway accident toll in half. Strange people will not learn from the truck drivers.

Always when wars and rumors of wars are with us we also have some who take advantage of the situation to become martyrs. Usually these are well-meaning people who have been hoodwinked by some smarter man than they to his own power and glory's end. One never knows who the hoodwinked group is. It may be that you or we are the hoodwinked ones. However, the reaction of the majority has to rule. Since most of us react favorably to supporting a war that we think is being fought against the dictators, we will have increasingly less patience with those who obstruct in any way the things the nation as a whole wants to have done. And thus we come to the Jehovah Witnesses who are anxious for us all to jump on them and in this way win favor with a minority that does not or may not agree. This minority can furnish a good living and a whole lot of prestige for a few leaders who can fatten on their gullibility. Jehovah's Witnesses in America are anxious and willing to be martyrs at this time. They want us to do something to some of them. Something horrible, preferably, like emasculation or tar and feathers, or riding out of town on a rail. Be it said for the common sense of Floyd county people to date their indignation has not carried to the point of madness. The Witnesses have had the thunders of silence treatment. Likely we will have little trouble with the sect because of this. We suggest you keep in mind the next time they descend on Floyd county (if such occurs) the same kind of patience be exercised as was some weeks ago. Fanaticism thrives on violence. Don't let Jehovah's Witnesses be martyrs and the Jehovah's idea will just die aborning.

One of the things the conscription law is going to do for the public is to make us more appreciative of our professional men. In Floydada the result already has been to take three lawyers from among our practitioners, and it can be assured we will miss some of our physicians in the same manner. Lawyers and doctors as classes come in for more cussing than all the other professional men combined. We give them hail Columbia in generic terms, but for every man there is one lawyer or one doctor in his community who is set apart, for whom reservation is made. And how we are going to find that we need them! And how we'll overwork those who are left!

Although you do not grow out of the army draft you do grow into it. And young men who are arriving at their majority this year may anticipate sometime during the year a proclamation from the president setting the date for registration of the 1941 crop of youngsters. According to the law passed by the congress this date can be set at discretion, or it may not be done. It is pointed out by Selective Service authorities, however, that any young man may volunteer. In fact not only the 21-year-olds but also those who have already registered unless they have actually received an order to report for induction.

Apparently a very large per cent of the first million and odd thousand the army can care for and train will have been taken before the close of colleges and universities. Many boys from Floyd and other counties all over have deferred classifications due to the fact they are studying in college. If the quotas have not been filled at the time the schools close, the way we understand it, deferment for these ceases at once. Which means that many of them will step out of school, and before the summer is over, into the training schools for armed service.

The president speaks of the inconveniences that are likely to occur in many manners and modes of living, due to the preparedness program and to the huge effort to aid England, China, Greece and other countries. First of all will come the matter of actual military service. These changes are to have a profound effect on the lives of our people in many ways we cannot now foresee. When it is a matter of defense, business must take a second seat of course. In other words business will just have to adjust itself to the national welfare. Thus, whatever your line of endeavor, prepare for the possibilities that may come. Meaning, get ready to pay more taxes and set up a reserve against it, if you can. Also prepare to do some things you are not used to doing. Also prepare to do without some things you are used to having.

Despite recent government utterances to the effect that aluminum stocks are ample, straws in the wind indicate that possibly this is incorrect. Dealers whose stocks include materials made of aluminum have been advised that all quantity quotations are no longer effective. Distributors do not say the aluminum products cannot be had, but they do hedge on unlimited deliveries. Remindful that at least three of the raw products of the world which can be delivered in unlimited quantities are wheat, cotton and oil. Wheat and cotton growers have warehouses on top of the earth bulging and would welcome any size orders. The same is true of the oil man. His product is stored beneath the earth but he can make deliveries, too, and by only a quarter turn of the valve which gauges the flow.

Did you hear of the man who rode out of a raging flood to safety on a bass fiddle? His wife accompanied him on the piano.

Old Man Winter must have adopted the latest method of war fighting. He lay so still through the winter months, then all of a sudden in March, he brought on his spring blitzkrieg. He had all his bombs frozen and drops them from his wind airplanes on the folks below. But he has an adversary just around the corner that will turn the heat on and soon win the battle.

Somehow or other I missed the chivareos when I grew up. They must have just gone out of style as I heard the older ones tell of beating all kinds of noise-making things in front of the newly-weds dwelling and eating the cake and drinking coffee as they sat in the house after having almost forced an entrance.

There were not many people on these plains when I grew up, and it was not so easy to get together then. It may have been that this form of entertainment (To the crowd, not so entertaining to the newly marrieds) was common to other parts of the Plains but news did not get around to me about it.

Farmers that had always thought about the income tax reports as being the peculiar sport of the rich have found out this year that their Uncle Sam has passed the papers on down to them. For several years the farmers have wished they had taken both a law course, a book-keeping course and now he wishes he had taken a course in making out income tax reports. Most farmers find it like taking a bath once a year whether he needs it or not. A report has to be filled once a year whether he has to pay a tax or not.

Mrs. Goins at Park Florists gave me a pink carnation the other day to pin on my coat. But another flower, fairer and sweeter, was the flower of appreciation she gave me to put away in my memory.

I heard a picture show scout from Hollywood say over the radio from Lubbock the other day that girls and boys who were studying drama should go to the East, preferably Boston, to learn to get away from their western accent. (I noticed he did not call it western brogue). He said that when an actor or actress had lost their accent, they could spend a day or so with some one from the part of the country they wished to talk like, and thus get the lingo. I cannot remember the professor from a college in El Paso that answered him, but I heartily agree with him. He said that southern audiences often laughed at the accent of the south, the actors had so hastily learned.

He told of a Professor from Boston that had visited Texas and said he liked the way the Texas people talked. To me the western, or any other accent is as much the rights of the inhabitants as their hospitality or their ways of life that differ from the rest of the United States. Anyway I have never heard of a man from the West that went away from home that he was not understood where he went and had to have someone interpret his plain accent.

This cold weather makes gardens very impatient. They long to start work and see green shoots sprouting from the brown earth once again. Below are some lovely lines from the pen of Douglas Malloch entitled

Who Makes A Garden
Whoever makes a garden
Has never worked alone;
The rain has always found it,

The sun has always shown,
The wind has blown across it
And helped to scatter seeds—
Whoever makes a garden
Has all the help he needs.

Whoever makes a garden
Should surely not complain,
With someone like the sunshine,
And someone like the rain,
And someone like the breezes
To aid him at his toil,
And someone like the Father
Who gave the garden soil.

Whoever makes a garden
Has, oh, so many friends!
The glory of the morning
The dew when daylight ends,
For wind, and rain, and sunshine
And dew, and fertile soil,
And he who makes a garden,
Works hand in hand with God.

Tribute To Departed Friend
Joe Sawyer hailed another ride Friday, but this time the driver of the car did not stop on this earth, but headed for the Glory Land. With hardly time for a friendly wave of the hand and a jolly, good-bye folks, Joe left his friends, but someday they will hear a laughing voice saying as they see a hand lifted in greeting, "Hello Folks, when did you get in?"

Joe Believed in happiness, in cheering words and laughing teasing ways. He banished a case of the blues as the sunshine dissolves a mist. We will miss him from our midst, but we should be laughing and singing a gayer happier tune because of knowing him.

MARCH WINDS

When the March Winds blow
They make us have the blues,
They fill our eyes with dust;
They blow us out of our shoes.

When the cold, March wind blows
It's as cold as blue whizzes,
It'll surely freeze our nose and ruin our permanent frizzes.

When the wind is forty-two below
It turns your marrow into glue;
It blows out the chicken feathers
And blows away the old Cows
Moo—

The old folks fret and fuss
But the little girls laugh and play.
They care not if their hairs a' muss,
They jump and joyfully say,

Blow Merry winds, blow
Higher the wind, higher we swing
You cannot bluff us
Harder you blow, louder we sting.

The boys cry, "Blow our kites high,
Blow! Blow! lift them out of sight;
March winds, take them high as the sky!
The kites seem happy in their flight."

SPRING

Little things are sprouting,
Now that spring's begun;
Green shoots are shooting
Their glory to the sun.

Women spade and plant,
For a harvest later on;
God's loveliest message comes
When spring burst into song.

GOLDEN DREAMS

We'll meet again in Green pastures
When the sorrows of life are done
We'll saddle our ponies and ride
O're the praries with the rising sun.

We'll walk together in the flowers,
Radiant in the moon-days' light;
With our faithful old dog beside us,
In a land that is happy and bright.

To gather we'll watch the sunset,
With glorious colors it gleams,
We'll pledge anew our vows of love,
In the Hereafter of Golden Dreams.

Motion Picture Show Scheduled March 27 Lockney Auditorium

A worthwhile two hour motion picture program is being worked out by the AAA, Soil Conservation service and Farm Security administration.

These pictures are scheduled for a showing in each of the 20 South Plains counties. The show will be held in Floyd county in the city auditorium at Lockney on March 27 starting immediately at 7:30. This showing is free to everyone and it is hoped that many people will take advantage of the opportunity of seeing these pictures.

In connection with this entertainment a film will be shown of the South Plains 4-H boys exhibiting their livestock at Plains and also showing the trip that these boys made to Kansas City to sell their projects on the open livestock markets.

The Soil Conservation service is sending an experienced motion picture operator with an up-to-date machine with a loud speaker that is so equipped to put on a worthwhile program.

ALL-RISK INSURANCE HELPS MEASURE WHEATLAND VALUES

The Federal Crop Insurance Program is emerging as an increasingly important guide to the annual earning power and market value of wheat land. This is especially true in areas where wheat raising is the chief farm industry, officials of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation point out.

As a basis for crop insurance for wheat, average yields and average loss have been determined for practically every wheat farm in the Nation. From a long-range standpoint these indicate the yield that can be insured and the amount of premium that should be paid for "all-risk" crop insurance. In addition to insurance purposes, the yield and loss records provide an accurate yardstick of earning power of wheat land, the Corporation officials say. This should make it possible for the owner of a wheat farm to estimate more accurately than ever before just what his wheat land is worth on the basis of its long-range productive record. It should also help to prevent over-borrowing and aid in reducing speculation in sales of wheat farms. Officials predict that in the future an important question in transactions for the sale of, or loans on, wheat lands will be: "What is the insured yield and the premium rate for the farm?"

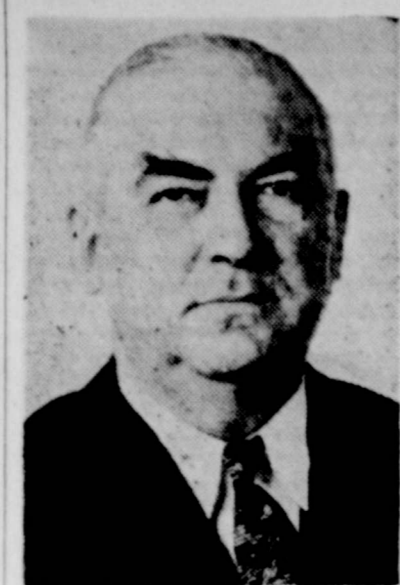

FUNGUS IS DURABLE

The ability of some of the fungi to maintain the spark of life through a long period of starvation and other unfavorable conditions is illustrated by the fungus that causes the stem rot of rice. As a result, it is not practical to try to control this plant disease by a rotation of crops including plants on which the fungus can not live as a parasite. E. C. Tullis of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and E. M. Cralley, of the Arkansas Agricultural Experiment Station advised Arkansas rice farmers in 1933 that, on fields seriously infested with this disease, the most promising control measure was withholding standing water from the fields for a period prior to maturity.

To verify their opinion, they then arranged experiments in which they infested soil with the fungus but screened it carefully to protect it from new infestation. After six years, under conditions less favorable than would be usual in fields, they found that some of the sclerotia or resting bodies of this fungus were still in condition to renew activity and cause the disease whenever there was rice tissue on which the fungus could grow. A six-year rotation, therefore, would not be long enough to starve out the fungus.

"Shine your shoes, Mister?"
"No time, Sonny."
"Well, to start the day right I'll do one for nothing."
"All right, go ahead."
"There, how does she look, Boss?"
"Fine."
"Well, for 10 cents I'll do the other one."

Auditor Ousted

Tom C. King, six-foot, four, 240 pounds, whose duties as state auditor ended recently when the Senate failed to confirm his nomination by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, has served under two governors and has twice been confirmed by the Senate in prior years.

NON-CROP FARMING

One way to expand production and the income of workers without displacement of the farm population, says B. H. Thibodeaux of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in Land Policy Review, is to supplement the present use of cropland on cotton farms with a more effective use of land not in crops. "By and large," he says, "an effective utilization of this noncropland in conjunction with the large reserve of seasonally idle labor on cotton farms is one of the little-explored potentialities in Southern agriculture."

"Farm woodlands represent a possible source of income, particularly with the development of pulp and paper mills in areas of rapid tree growth. Improved forestry practices and wood markets might lead to profitable employment for seasonal labor that would otherwise be idle. In general, however, adequate farm-forest management will be conditioned upon the correction of the taxation policy and the economic pressure that frequently force depletion and prevent reforestation. A severance sales tax on forest products rather than an annual tax per acre in woodland is one solution to the first difficulty."

LOCKER PLANTS BOOMING

A business that increases nearly fifty percent in one year and then follows with another increase of almost fifty percent in growing fast. That is the record up to the frozen-food locker plants according to figures by K. P. Warner of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. For 1938 Mr. Warner had reports of 1,269 locker plants; for 1939 the number was 1,861, and in July 1940 there were 2,870. The count was made from reports by State extension workers who may have overlooked a few plants, but Mr. Warner says the results give a representative picture of the situation.

Iowa, with 450 locker plants, reports the largest number and Wisconsin and Minnesota report 275 each. These comprise an important mid-Western block that includes more than a third of the total. Washington is second in number of lockers with 325, and with Oregon reporting 223 and Idaho 100, create a strong Northwestern area of refrigerated service. Several States report only a single plant in operation, but only four—Kentucky, Maine, Rhode Island and South Carolina—failed to report any plants in operation last July.

In the 1939 locker census, 10 percent of the plants were listed as cooperatives. This year the figure was 14 percent.

"Yep!" said the farmer. "When a fellow has to know the botanical name of what he raises, and the entomological name of the bugs that eat it, and the pharmaceutical name of what he sprays on it—things is bound to cost more!"

W. E. Schott, Pioneer Rancher, Buried In Silvertown Tues.

A number of Floyd county persons attended final rites for W. E. Schott 71-year-old Briscoe county pioneer rancher, Tuesday at Plainview and Silvertown.

Mr. Schott died Monday in a Plainview hospital following a week's illness. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the W. H. Lindsey funeral home. Requiem mass was held at 7:30 Tuesday morning in the St. Alice Catholic church with Father W. F. Bosen.

Mr. Schott was interred in the Silvertown cemetery. He was a member of the Catholic church. Born January 17, 1870, at Canton, Ohio, Mr. Schott moved to Texas in 1886. Five years later he came to Briscoe county and filed on a section of land. The family has lived on the same home site for the past half century.

Coming to the Plains before Briscoe county was founded, Mr. Schott voted in the first election held after the county was organized in 1892. Schott acquired extensive ranch lands in Briscoe county and was well known over the Panhandle. He was active up to the time of his illness a week ago. Schott Cap, the road from Silvertown to Clarendon, is named for the pioneer rancher.

Survivors are his wife and three daughters, Miss Elizabeth Schott, Shamrock; Miss Carolyn and Miss Jane Schott, both of Silvertown, and a son, W. E. Schott, Jr., Silvertown; one brother, S. A. Schott, Sherman, and a sister, Mrs. Sylvanus Halter, Cleveland, Ohio. One grandchild also survives.

Active and honorary pallbearers were Jake Honea, A. L. McMurry, Tom Blasingame, J. H. Burson and Dan Montague, all of Silvertown; Don Grady, Clarendon; A. J. Polley, Amarillo; Perrin Rumph, Quitaque; Arch Keys, C. F. Vincent and Harry Irish, all of Plainview.

IRISH WIT

An Irish philosopher said, "Single misfortunes never come alone, and the greatest of all possible misfortunes is generally followed by a greater." A salesman said, of some window sashes: "These sashes will last you forever; and, after that, if you have no further use for them, you can sell them as old iron." A lover said, "It's a great comfort to be alone, especially when your sweetheart is wid' ye." A debater, upholding ancient architecture, as compared with the modern, demanded: "Show me a single modern building that has lasted as long as the ancient ones?"

Then there was the Irishman who enlisted in the 33rd regiment because he wanted to be near his brother, who was in the 34th. And there was the inlander who visited a port and stood for hours looking at a ship's anchor because "I want to see the fellow who swings that pick." And there was an Irishman who saw a hunter shoot a duck high overhead and the bird spun over and plunged to the ground, whereupon Pat said, "Ye wasted yer powder; the fall would have killed it." And an Irish jury brought in this verdict, "We find that the man who stole the mare is not guilty." Hearing that a man had bought a marble coffin, Mike exclaimed, "Shure and a marble coffin would last a man a life time."

Some son of Emerald Isle summed it up with: "Not more than half the lies," they tell about the Irish are true."

PLACE FOR WILDLIFE

"What is wildlife's share in the use of the land?" Secretary of Agriculture Wickard asked in a recent address. "Once upon a time," he answered, "game had the use of all the land in this county. The story of how it came to be crowded out, to be pushed around, is familiar. Much of that was necessary, and was compensated by the benefits of other uses. On the other hand, much of it was unnecessarily destructive to wildlife and its habitat. And so we have come to the place—in fact we have long been there—where wildlife must be definitely provided for in the orderly allotment of the use of our land."

"In a way, I wish this were not so. I wish that the artificialities, which go with planning its habitat, with stocking and restocking areas with various forms of game, and with regulations, were not necessary. On the other hand, there is a satisfaction in planning and programs that will definitely assure wildlife of its place when the uses of land are allotted."

Hubby: "I'm going to ask you a riddle. What makes my life so miserable?"
Wife: "You've got me."
Hubby: "That's right."

Now It's Cotton Boll Dresses

Marguerite Mustin, Augusta, Ga., debutante, plans a spring formal from the new cotton boll design pique. First cotton boll design ever appearing on the American market, it is being shown this spring both in sheers and heavier weights of cotton such as piques. The cotton boll material was designed late last summer by the National Cotton Council especially for an evening dress for the 1940 Maid of Cotton.

RECIPE FOR RECREATION

"Mountains, timber, lakes, and streams are the raw material of forest recreation," says John Sieker of the U. S. Forest Service. "When combined with stimulating climatic conditions and spiced with a desire for scenery and a change in environment—the raw materials offer almost unlimited variety in recreation ranging from picnicking to mountain climbing and pack trips into wilderness areas."

The main effort of the Forest Service in its development of recreational resources of the National Forests is to make available these raw materials and let the visitor combine them in the proportions that suit his—or her individual taste.

Tired after a hard day, a distinguished Congressman in Washington handed the menu back to the waiter and said: "Just bring me a good meal."

A good meal was served and the Congressman gave the waiter a generous tip.

"Thank yo', suh," the waiter said. "And if yo' got any fren's what can't read, yo' jus' send 'em to me, suh!"

MINIATURE INSTRUMENTS REVEAL HOW LIFE GOES ON IN INSECTS

Physical examinations and autopsies on thousands of insects at the Research Center of the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Beltsville, Md., provide the fundamental facts entomologists must have in devising better ways to control the 10,000 different kinds of insects responsible for crop losses running up to half a billion dollars every year.

Lack of information on how the heart, blood, digestive tract, and other organs and tissues of insects function normally—as well as under the influence of various insecticide materials—long has handicapped Department entomologists in their search for more effective insecticides. To lower this handicap, the Department has set up a sort of clinic, where death and destruction, rather than life and health, are the objectives.

Armyworms, cockroaches, and other insects destined for the clinic are reared under conditions favorable to them. They live on the foods they like best. Some insects from each lot selected for a special study are allowed to continue this ideal life. Others are put on rations containing a poison such as arsenic fluoride, nicotine, pyrethrum, or rotenone. At intervals these experimental insects are taken to the clinic and dissected.

Unable to find instruments small enough for their purpose, the operating entomologists have had to devise their own, even to make some of them. They now have an array of tiny scalpels, knives, scissors, forceps, and tweezers—patterned in miniature after those that surgeons use on human patients. Most of the insects operations must be made under the microscope—a delicate job, calling for great skill and less patience. Clinical records on insects now filed at Beltsville show that large doses of arsenicals and fluorides break down the blood cells of the army-worm, while rotenone, pyrethrum, and nicotine do not, and that arsenicals and fluorides disintegrate the cells of the stomach walls of some insects, while rotenone and phenothiazine do not.

A photographic set-up furnishes valuable information on the effect of insecticidal materials on the insect heart. "Mechanocardiograms"—pictures of the insect heart beating taken this way, show that the heart of a cockroach contracts, relaxes, and rests in much the same way as the human heart. Nicotine causes the insect heart to lose its ability to relax and finally to stop beating.

Two commercial travelers were swapping tall wireless stories in the presence of a farmer whom they were trying to impress.

"You got a radio set?" asked one of the travelers.

"Yes, sorr," said the farmer. "I got a very good one."

"Does it give good selectivity?" asked the traveler, with a knowing wink at his companion.

"Well, yes," said the farmer. "It has. The other night I was listening to a quartet, and I didn't like the tenor, so I just turned him out and listened to the other three."

Two workmen were eating lunch. One began unwrapping a long package at which the other stared in surprise.

"What's that?" he asked.

"Well, you see, my wife's away and I decided to make myself a pie."

"Bit long, ain't it?"
"Oh, I dunno, it's rhubarb."

5,000 Boys Needed In CCC Camps Of Texas, Report

J. S. Murchison, executive director of the department of public welfare, has advised the welfare workers in all counties of Texas that it will take approximately 5,000 boys to bring CCC camps to full authorized strength.

The April enrollment is merely to replace those enrollees who have been discharged due to the fact they have completed their 18 months or two years service, or to accept employment to better their conditions, or who have been called home due to emergencies. Texas has over 16,000 boys currently in the CCC, those from New York and Pennsylvania only exceed that number, and over $250,000.00 per month is returned to Texas boys' families, while $125,000.00 is set aside and saved to be paid to them when discharged from the corps.

Methodist Church News And Announcements

(By R. T. Breedlove)

"Fill them full of religion" was the advice given by an old leathery army sargent to a representative of the Methodist church who was riding on a truck with a load of recruits out of Fort Jackson.

"Happy Hunger" will be the subject for the pastor's sermon Sunday morning at the Methodist church. You are most urgently invited if you are a member, and if you have no other place calling you, come if you have no church relationship. You will find spiritual food and a fine fellowship.

The classes in the school to last Sunday had raised more than half the benevolent fund for this year. Bring your offering for the church, and other dependents of the church. This is the best way to raise the money needed to carry on the work of our church for others—voluntary offerings.

A leadership training course for all who are interested in Boy Scouting will be held at the church Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, beginning at 7.30. This will not in any way interfere with the meetings of different groups in the regular routine of our work.

Lord Halifax is a devoted Christian and was described when in India as "that tall, slim Christian." England is fortunate to have such a man as ambassador over here. He is the first ever met off-shore on his arrival by a president of the country. He has thanked the Methodist churches for the gift of $250,000 to aid British churches in their trying work during the war.

"Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord." Will you be in your church Sunday morning in time for study and worship?

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Stovall and family, and another daughter, Mrs. J. W. Kinnard returned Tuesday from Fort Worth where they attended the Fat Stock Show. They also visited with his brother at Dallas, Dr. W. T. Stovall, at Hubbard City with Mrs. Stovall's mother, Mrs. J. T. McDonald, and at Waco with his sister, Mrs. E. C. Morgan.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Copeland, who visited here some time ago, have moved to Amarillo from Center, Colorado. They made the change Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Jackson made a business trip to Lubbock Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Street and daughter, Beatrice, of Lockney, visited Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Ewing.

Card of Thanks
I want to say thanks to our many friends for their kindness and good deeds, for cards, letters, good eats and flowers.

May God bless each of you. He will reward you, I know.

New Vegetable Display Rack Made To Measure For Piggly Wiggly

The Floydada Piggly Wiggly store has undergone a thorough cleaning and reconditioning this week. The biggest improvement is the installation of a new made-to-order vegetable display pan. The rack is eighteen foot long by six foot wide and is equipped with eight sprayers and a fountain.

The grocery stock has been shifted into wider aisles and neater stacks. The window display flooring has been laid for more space and all shelves are restocked and labeled.

J. B. Claiborne, manager of the store, says the Piggly Wiggly sales force is striving to serve the trade territory in an efficient, economical and comfortable way, this being the motive for the reconditioning of the store. He wishes to call attention to the many food values in an advertisement from the store to be found on another page of this week's issue of The Hesperian.

Mrs. James Roy attended the St. Patrick's Day celebration at Shamrock Monday, acting as chaperone for a car of the Floydada band students.

21-Year-Old Volunteers Acceptable

Registration Of Class Of 1941 Only When And If President Calls

Men who have become 21 years of age since October 16, 1940, are not required to register for Selective Service training unless or until another registration day is proclaimed by the President. Nevertheless, they may volunteer.

This announcement was made today by General J. Watt Page, State Director of Selective Service, because of the numerous inquiries being received at State Headquarters and by local boards.

General Page pointed out that the President's proclamation specifically designated October 16, 1940, as the date for the "first registration under the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940," and that the Act provides for subsequent registrations only at the call of the President. Likewise the Act and proclamation were specific in limiting the first registration on October 16, 1940, to men between the ages of 21 and 36 years on that date.

"The law is clear, therefore," he said, "that any man who was not 21 years of age on October 16, 1940, will not be required to register until the President calls for another registration. However, any male citizen or declarant alien between the ages of 18 and 36 years may volunteer for Selective Service training, unless he is a registrant who has received his order to report for induction."

AS I SEE IT

(By Bill Hams)

It's spring in Europe. Armies are marching in the Balkans, bombers are over Britain, Bombs are falling in Berlin, soldiers, sailors, and civilians are dying as spring comes to Europe.

Spring has come to America. Congress has passed the lend-lease bill, the president has signed it and released more war material to Britain. The next step is to get the United States navy to convey the stuff to England; the next step is a torpedo sinking one of our naval vessels on convoy duty, and the next step is "war".

"Public opinion" will force us into war, declared war, if one of our vessels is sunk conveying English ships and English goods into the war zone. Then, the next step is American pilots, navy men, and finally soldiers again on their way to Europe. . . . another AEF, and another Flanders.

America, not Britain, will win World War II just as they did World War I, but it will be costly in men and materials. . . . and the post-war hangover will be worse than the depression that followed World War I.

The Hesperian released their style edition last week showing the latest spring apparel for the better dressed. . . . but The Hesperian didn't run a spring edition showing the new spring styles in bombers, battle-ships, tanks, artillery, and machine guns. . . . and they are costing you more than all the spring apparel you bought in your life.

How true the words credited to General Sherman, "War is hell".

Guess It's Rebel Blood

The show "Northwest Mounted Police" was a good one, as shows go now-a-days. The hero didn't get the gal, and the "mounties" came out okay. . . . but because of their smartness, but because of a Texas Ranger and the treachery and double-crossing of an old Indian chief.

Gary Cooper was the hero that didn't get the gal, but he got his man. . . . the Mountie got the gal, but didn't get his man. . . . which sort of crossed us up.

The best thing about the show was when the Red Coats walked into an ambush. . . . naturally they were mowed down liberally and with great gusto by some rebellious woodsmen. My heart was with the woodsmen. . . . history books used to insinuate that it was always "open season" on Red Coats, and it is hard to forget that teaching just because Hollywood decides to make heroes out of the Red Coats.

If the Mounties are so smart. . . why do they wear Red Coats? They make just as good targets now as in 1776, and before. But it was just a movie. . . .

No doubt about it, the "Thief of Bagdad" made "tee-totalers" out of a lot of us. More than one old boy came away from that show and took an oath to ride the water wagon.

The Spinal Column

Danger In Negligence

No single part of the Body Structure is so vitally related to the life and normal operation of the body as a whole, or to its individual function, as the SPINE.

The very slightest displacement of a spinal bone may create irritation of, or interference with, a trunk nerve. The effect of this irritation, sooner of later, is DISEASE.

The appeal of the sick for spinal adjustments is most urgent. We can see suffering and need everywhere. Seventy-five per cent of the children have spinal defects — every human has some illness. A health survey shows that, on an average, each citizen of the United States is sick nine days out of every year.

Cautious Reminder: Help eliminate your illness today by coming to my office for a thorough Spinal Examination, as well as blood pressure reading, urinalysis, special advice on diet and corrective exercise and other information important to your health. DO ALL YOU CAN NOW TO PREVENT YOUR CASE FROM BECOMING SERIOUS. THERE IS DANGER IN NEGLIGENCE.

Cotton Plan Will Benefit All - Hoots

(Alyce A. Hoots)

Businessmen and farmers alike will benefit under the supplementary cotton program.

For the retail merchant from whom the farmers will purchase the cotton goods, it will mean additional business. For the farmer and his family, it will mean more clothes and other cotton materials.

If every farmer in Floyd county cooperated in the supplementary cotton program by reducing his cotton acreage enough to earn $25, merchants in the county would benefit from an additional $35,000 in the purchase of cotton goods, Alyce A. Hoots, county AAA administrative officer points out.

Electric Ironing Is Final Step In Decreasing Wash Day Toil

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

IRONING ranks near the top of the list of the tiresome and unpleasant duties that regularly must be performed by most farm wives. Therefore, any saving in time and labor that can be effected is of major importance.

As ironing with electricity saves from one-third to two-thirds of the time required by other methods, it is little wonder that 90 out of every 100 farm homes having electricity are equipped with electric irons. However, less than 5 in every 100 farms are using electric ironing machines, principally for two reasons: The ing but also the simplest and easiest—with a machine, ironing is a sit-down job.

For smaller families, the electric flat iron will suffice. A majority of women prefer the recently-developed quick-heating, high-wattage, automatic lightweight type. Weighing 3, 4 or 4½ pounds, it saves labor and does just as good a job as the old-style six-pound low-wattage iron. After adjusting the dial indicator, the automatic feature maintains the temperature at the level best suited to the fabric being ironed.

The less expensive non-automatic iron also gives splendid service although, having a lower wattage, it heats up more slowly, works slower

Vegetable Laxative With Proved Feature

The punctual, gentle relief from constipation which is generally enjoyed when BLACK-DRAUGHT is used by directions is due to a combination of vegetable ingredients. Chief of these is an "intestinal tonic-laxative" which helps tone lazy bowel muscles. Next time, remember spicy, aromatic, time-tested BLACK-DRAUGHT! It is economical, too: 25-40 doses, 25c.

higher initial cost of the ironer, and the rather widespread but erroneous impression that an unusual degree of skill is necessary for its effective use.

The modern rotary ironer or the new flat-plate ironing machine should not be confused with the old-fashioned mangle which is only satisfactory for flat pieces. With a little practice, today's machines can be used for practically all ironing including shirts, ruffled curtains, fine embroideries and dresses, as well as for pressing suits, coats and the like.

Where the family is large, the actual savings in money and work that result from an electric ironer make it not only the fastest, most economical and most efficient method of iron-on heavy fabrics and must be guarded against overheating.

A dependable, durable and efficient automatic iron ranges in price from $5 to $10. Varying with its type, size, features and finish, an ironing machine costs from $50 to $130, with a small portable model selling for around $30.

The current required naturally varies with the size of the family, its mode of living and the types of fabrics ironed. Countless times, however, show that average power consumption amounts to about one kw. per month per person for the iron, and slightly more than twice that amount for the ironer—a cheap price to pay for so much convenience.

stamps that have been taken out of the stamp book?

A. No. Cotton stamps must be taken out of the stamp book at the time the purchase is made—except when sent with an order for cotton products to a store qualified to accept cotton order stamps by mail.

Q. May anyone other than the person to whom the cotton stamps are issued use them?

A. The person to whom the stamps are issued signs his name on the stamp book. Then, only the person to whom the stamps are issued or a member of his family may take the book to the retail store and exchange the stamps for cotton products. If the retail merchant or clerk does not know the person who brings in the book, he is required to have the person identify himself.

Q. May cotton stamps be sold or traded?

A. No. They can be used only to buy cotton or cotton products and only by the person or families to whom they are issued. Any person or any retail merchant who misuses the cotton order stamps will be subject to penalties imposed by Federal law.

Q. May cotton stamps be used to pay outstanding bills or accounts? Or may the stamps be used in connection with a "lay away plan" or other installment buying?

A. No.

Q. May cotton stamp books be left with the retail merchant, or signed over to a merchant or landlord?

A. No. Stamp books must be kept by the person to whom they are issued for his use as he sees fit in connection with the exchange of stamps for cotton goods.

Q. Can cotton stamps be used to repay advances made against the crop, the landlord's share of the crop, or other indebtedness?

A. No.

Q. Must the entire amount of stamps be used at any one time?

A. No. One stamp or all stamps may be used at any one time or over a period of time, until the total amount of stamps has been exchanged for cotton goods.

Q. How can retail stores be designated to receive cotton stamps from farmers in exchange for cotton goods?

A. Retailers handling cotton goods who wish to share in this new business should file with the nearest Surplus Marketing Administration office a statement of intention to take part in the program and to observe the regulations under which it operates. (Experience under the Food and Cotton Stamp Plans shows that practically all retailers cooperate willingly in surplus removal programs of the Department of Agriculture.)

Q. What is meant by this "new business"?

A. The 25 million dollars worth of cotton stamps which farmers can earn under the supplementary Cotton Program will be placed as an "order" in regular channels of trade. From 75,000 to 100,000 bales of cotton will be required in making the cotton goods to fill this order. The larger share of each dollar spent for cotton goods, however,

RADIO STATIONS TO CHANGE FREQUENCIES MARCH 29

Ninety per cent of American radio stations will change frequencies March 29, according to announcements being sent from Washington this week. The changes are being made in order to give improved reception, and to reduce interference between stations.

The new frequencies were set after consultation with Canada, Cuba, Mexico and Haiti.

After March 29, it is likely that stations will appear several points higher on the radio dial than heretofore. This is expected to materially aid reception at night from smaller broadcasting stations such as Lubbock, Amarillo, and Wichita Falls.

VEGETABLE SEED LABELS GIVE BUYER INFORMATION

Buyers of vegetable seeds now can read the label and know what they're getting.

The new Federal Seed Act as it applies to vegetable seed shipped from one State to another is administered by the Agricultural Marketing Service. It went into effect August 9, and provides that each bag or carton, or packet of vegetable seed must be labeled to tell the buyer what he needs to know when he buys seed.

The Federal Seed Act requires that the kind and variety of the seed be shown on each package. The crops produced must be true to name or as represented on the label. The label must show the name and address of the person or organization shipping the seed. Also—if the seed isn't up to the minimum germination required—the label must show the percentage germination at the time it was tested, the date of the test, and in plainly printed letters the words, "Below Standard."

Under the act, vegetable seeds must be properly labeled, honestly advertised and honestly represented in every way.

FREEZE FOOD WHEN PRIME

Whole celery, lettuce, citrus fruits, cucumbers and tomatoes are five popular products that are not well adapted to freezing preservation and storage in lockers under present conditions, says J. L. Heid of the U. S. Department of Agriculture who is working out the best methods of processing fruits and vegetables grown in the lower Rio Grande Valley by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Citrus and tomato juices may be frozen for storage, as may desirable varieties of apricots, berries, figs, nectarines, cherries, peaches, plums, asparagus, broccoli, brussels sprouts, cauliflower, corn, snap beans, lima beans, peas, squash, and greens. The Texas experiment have emphasized, however, that there are wide differences in the desirability of varieties of fruits and vegetables. Good shipping varieties and other varieties particularly suitable for canning may not prove at all suitable for freezing. Fruits and vegetables usually are harvested at the stage when they are in the best condition for immediate table use, and should be processed quickly.

Whirlwind Track Team To Enter Several Meets Soon

The high school track boys have had several good workouts, despite the bad weather. Several of the boys can hardly walk, but coach says they will be ready for the best track boys plan to attend the meets within the radius of seventy-five miles.

One meet that is certain to be held will occur Friday, March 21 at Plainview.

Since the jumping pit has been finished, greater interest has been shown in workouts.

The senior boys will have to work hard in order to keep the juniors from taking their places.

New Faces Appear In Front Hall Of The High School

A brand new picture of familiar faces hangs in the front entrance hall of F. H. S.

As I came down the hall right after the picture was hung, I heard the murmur of voices; I stopped. I realized the new portraits were discussing their positions in the picture. Just then I heard Helen Ring trying to get Francis Field to trade places with her. Then I hear a voice say:

"Dilliah Lide doesn't like the place they stationed her either."

"Weldon seems to think it was a mean trick not to let him be by Nelda."

"Ariss Rainer thinks he's Tyrone Power. Look at all the girls he is by."

"J. W. Grigsby and Vera Payne are both pleased with their places."

For a moment all of them got so quiet that I thought my presence must be suspected. I crouched with death like stillness. Presently the conversation was resumed.

"Martha thinks she will sing with Wayne King's orchestra."

"Jack Daily can see himself as a stern old judge right now."

"James Turner knows he will be mayor of Floydada."

"Scrappy seems so pleased with himself because he sold that old skin flint pair of five dollar shoes."

"Bennie Crawford, poor fellow, can't get over the fact that the photographer was too English to enjoy his joke."

"Author Womack already hears himself yell. 'All hands on deck.'"

"Isn't Calvin pleased with himself for wearing a white collar and red tie?"

Then the voices became so faint that I could hear no more. My hope is that should these pictures exchange confidences again, may I be there so near.

Floydada Band Attends Shamrock Irish Day Celebration

(By Wayne Bingham)

It can't be described! Not in print or verbally. The sights of the Floydada band saw at the annual Saint Patrick's Day Celebration at Shamrock Monday, March 17.

Even though it was chilly every member of the band had a swell time along with the other twenty thousand people that were there.

Never in the life of a lot of the members of the F. H. S. band will they have the opportunity to see so many and so colorful bands. All together there were 37 bands, and drum and bugle corps. The uniforms were of every color. Seven shades of blue, crimson, maroon, gold, black, green, brown and gray.

Bands from both Texas and Oklahoma were present. The most colorful band present was the Oklahoma State Reformatory band. They played all types of music.

Other colorful bands and corps were: Lawton All-Girl High School band, Hobert Drum and Bugle corps, Kellerville Ward school band and the McMurry Wah Wahattaysee Drum and Bugle corps.

Other cities represented by high school bands were Briscoe, Borger, Canadian, Childress, Clarendon, Correll, Clinton Cyril, Erick, Elk City, Fallett, Groom, Higgins, Hollis, Happy, Lefers, McLean, Magic City, Miami, Pampa, Panhandle Perryton, Quanah, Shattuck, Sayre, Spearman, Wellington, Wheeler and Vernon. The Sons of Legion Drum Corps and the Weatherford Southwestern Tech college band were also present.

Other organizations who were present were, both Boy and Girl Scouts, the Boy Scout Club Pack, Booster Club, Donegal Beard Club, the "Pests" or mascots, and the Negro Comics.

All organizations and floats were in the grand parade which started at 11 o'clock. After the parade the bands and corps were given free lunches at the Legion hut.

Mass concert and marching contest were held at Denver field at 2 o'clock. The various organizations were classed as to the enrollment of the school from which it came. Hence the small bands did not compete with the larger ones.

Concerts were given by different bands all during the day from the sound stage down town. The daily broadcast of the Light Crust Dough Boys Originated on this sound stage.

Several cities had contestants entered for the queen of the Irish for the year 1941, the McLean Colleen was elected.

Chatter Box Tells Where, How-Come

Who, why and where's littered the chatter box this week.

Where was Laverne's mind all last week? Could it have been on a Crosbyton lad?

Why has the blue sky turned cloudy for Dillon? Florence must be doing tricks again but not with her baton.

Who stayed and talked to Majorie Duncan until 1? George don't you know 12 is the last hour of the night?

"Why can't some people take hints," says Leroy.

"Who is on the other end of the line when Eula talks 45 minutes the fifth period?"

What boy has got the latest rush? These musicians get all the breaks. How about it Clyde Green.

When Floyd Bradford made his appearance in assembly what senior girl exclaimed "Isn't he tall, dark and handsome."

Who makes special effort to be nice to two trombone players?

Where do James Anderson and Mary Helen Day spend their Sunday afternoons?

Who is the person that James Turner spends his time talking to in the first period?

Some of these girls would like to know why Bob Arnold won't talk to them? Could he be bashful?

Why does Mona get cold every morning on the bus? Could it be because another person is there to hold her hands?

Who are the three boys that we catch rushing down the hall after Verna Lynn Olson?

What has happened to the McCleskey and Crosby romance?

Why did Dixie Yandell change his mind about stuffing the gossip box to get even?

Who is the young lady called Georgia that James Lovell has a crush on?

What boy dropped Francis a little note to tell her the color of her eyes which match a blue weed patch? What about it Mush? Things go round when they are signed "With all My Love."

Who sends Harold Bertrand letters the fifth period every day? Verna Lynn when do you have time to write them?

What six girls found entertainment on the Tech Campus Monday night? Which two girls were left holding the sack? Aren't four boys enough?

If anyone knows the answer to these questions the gossip box is still in the office?

F. H. S. Lacks School Spirit, Hesperette Editor Says

(Editorial)

We believe that Floydada High School is the finest school in the land in regard to its faculty, student body, friendliness, and size. There is but one vital thing lacking in Floydada High school, spirit. We lack pride in our school. We forget that we advertise our school wherever we go. Some few of us do have the school spirit 100 per cent; but a great number of us are indifferent. We should have loyalty and enthusiasm that make us want to attend all school events that our teams participate in.

We must get behind our members and boost them to victory. Who wants to win a race for a group of students who are not even concerned enough to stand on the side lines, or pat him and say, "That's all right," if he loses?

We should take pride in our school, take pride in our work, for we have the finest opportunities ahead of us. Students who are indifferent and just drifting along, let's get in line and follow the students who are proud of their school and put Floydada High on the top notch.

The Ideal Girl

In considering the characteristics of an ideal girl, I think you would think of her ways and disposition first.

I think she would be democratic. I don't think she would be a friend to someone just because she thought this person was influential and she could help her sometime. She would be as nice to a girl that might be a little shy, or perhaps not dressed well, as she would to the most popular person in school.

My ideal girl would be sincere. When she said something it would be true and could be depended on. When she made a promise, you would always know that she would keep it.

I think an ideal girl would be kind and considerate. She would always try to be tolerant and to avoid hurting people's feelings. She would be tactful, and get things by tact rather than being bossy.

An ideal girl would make good grades, but she wouldn't be a walking encyclopedia, knowing all the answers. She would be able to have a good time as well as to study.

My ideal girl would be well liked by both boys and girls, but she would not be a glamour girl, or a girl that boys couldn't resist. She would be attractive, but not too beautiful.

All in all she would have many good characteristics, but she would have her faults too.

Since there was no school Friday, the students were curious to know just what the teachers did with their holiday. Some students, unusually curious, ask the teachers this question: "How did you spend Friday and Saturday?" The following replies were received:

Miss Miller: "I attended the teachers' meeting at Canyon. I spent Friday there but I stayed in Amarillo Friday night and Saturday. I arrived home Saturday afternoon. Had a nice time, enjoying speakers and meeting Dr. Stoddard from Philadelphia and Dr. Counts from New York provided especially interesting addresses."

Miss Copeland: "I attended the meeting in Canyon and then spent the week-end in Amarillo. I certainly did enjoy the meeting and the lectures heard there."

Mr. Hemphill: "My holiday was also spent in Canyon. I enjoyed the movie that was presented at the sectional meeting. It showed the typist who holds the world record. His speed is 140 words per minute. Arrived home Sunday."

Miss Smith: "I was in Canyon for the meeting and I enjoyed Dr. Stoddard's address. Arrived home Friday afternoon."

Coach Winter: "I went to the meeting at Canyon and had a very enjoyable time, meeting and talking with various other coaches."

Miss Rea: "Saturday I went to Big Spring, Odessa and Brownfield. I attended the general lectures and library sessions. I enjoyed Jeff Williams' address. He is from Chickasha, Oklahoma and he made lots of points by telling jokes."

Mr. Barber and Mr. Linder attended the Canyon meeting. Mr. Barber enjoyed most of the Vocational Agriculture sectional meeting and Dr. Stoddard's address. Mr. Linder said he enjoyed the trip.

Miss Hall made a talk at the Big Spring meeting on "Defense Clothing" program.

Knox County Ramblers Appear On Assembly Program At FHS

The Knox County Blind Ramblers, presented a 45 minute program in the high school auditorium March 18. The master of ceremonies was Travis Burgett.

These boys are graduates of State Institute for the Blind.

They are appearing each week in a radio broadcast from Sweetwater. They gave various musical numbers and demonstrated the Braille system of reading and writing.

Two of the boys appeared in a similar program here last year.

Joe Rushing: "Do they have July 4 in England?"

Miss Rea: "Of course not."

Joe: "Then what comes after July 3?"

Future Farmers Study Horticulture And Farm Shop

Horticulture and Farm Shop are the principle subjects being studied by the Floydada Chapter of the Future Farmers of America.

The students are studying horticulture and farm shop for the F. F. A. contests to be held at Texas Tech at Lubbock, March 29.

In the horticulture contests, the students have to make three "T" buds, three patch buds, two tongue grafts and one cleft graft with two scions in one stock. Next they have to identify some trees, shrubs, and vines; to judge some fruits and vegetables.

In the farm shop contests, the students have to make eight feet of rope and make a long splice, short splice, crown splice and an eye splice. Then they have to identify 52 pieces of hardware, commonly found on a farm; also make and solder a basket out of tin and solder a piece of rusty tin on the bottom of it.

NEW STUDENT ENROLLS MONDAY

A new sophomore enrolled Monday in high school. Katherine Neblett is the name.

She lived in Mill Creek, Oklahoma before moving to Floydada.

Katherine is taking commercial geography, geometry, World History and English.

"I like English best," says Katherine and my hobby is sewing."

Brenda: "By what method would you advise a girl to keep her youth?"

Copina: "That's easy. Don't introduce him to other girls."
