Farm Storage May Be Wheat Problem

Defense Bond Sales Get Under Way This Week

Farmers Get Ready For Harvest

Yesterday sales of Defense Savings stamps and bonds had passed $2,875 in face value, according to a check-up made by the county sales campaign committee.

Bad weather handicapped the committee during the first days of the campaign this week it was beginning to gain the momentum it was expected to have.

Glad Snodgrass, Floydada business man, heads the strong group from all sections of the county composing the committee. Additional names are expected to be added to the committee as the campaign grows and spreads out to all communities.

Conferences this week held by Glad Snodgrass, chairman of the Defense Bond sales committee with committeemen in various parts of the county indicate that while the drive has gotten off to a slow start it will gain momentum during the next several weeks.

Several members of the committee conferred in Floydada Monday night and Tuesday. Mr. Snodgrass visited other sections of the county where the defense bond sales campaign had not previously been carried.

Places at which bonds are at sale today are The First National bank of Floydada, and stamps of any denomination may be purchased at the Floydada and Lockney post offices.

We Must Get In There

"This matter of supporting the government financing program is simply a matter of Americans getting in there and doing their part," said Mr. Snodgrass yesterday. "We can either purchase these securities or else be told by Hitler what to do."

Mr. Snodgrass pointed out that if our boys can leave their homes and go off to the army camps, leaving off whatever they might be doing in their home towns, we can certainly spend our money to help our government every dollar I possess than to see it under Hitler rule," he declared.

"I think this is even more serious than some of the American people picture. I don't think there is any time to lose in making up our minds. Now is the time. Other countries thought they had time. Hitler doesn't wait and our United States is fooling itself when it thinks he has any love for us."

"This defense savings program offers every one an opportunity to have a part in national defense. There are mighty few who can't make an investment that can be used for this purpose."

"The support of this defense program is a voluntary proposition. No individual need purchase a security if he does not wish to do so. However, for those who do wish to enter the plan, there is a security to fit the pocket book of every individual.

The lowest denomination of savings stamp is 10 cents, whereas the largest amount that any person may purchase in one year of the combined securities, exclusive of stamps is $33,750.

One - Variety Cotton Plan Gains Way

Farmers who are going to cooperate with the Area One-Variety Cotton program should make sure that they have the information in the hands of their group organization, or return the cards that were mailed from the office of the County Agriculture agent. These cards will be used in making application for the Smith-Doxey Free Classing service. said County Agriculture Agent D. F. Bredthauer this week.

Only those producers who are cooperating with the Area One Variety Cotton program will receive free cotton classification this year; so it is necessary that the group representative or the county agent has this information. The area organization will only certify those cotton growers who plant one variety of cotton and the planted acre of cotton must all be of one variety. Two or more varieties on a farm will not be accepted in the program.

Gin groups who had representatives at the Area Meeting reporting from 75% to 100% of gin customers in each group who will cooperate in the one variety cotton marketing program are the following: McCoy, Lakeview, Dougherty, Farmers Coop, Davis, Scott, South Plains, Lone Star, Aiken, Whitfill, Patterson.

County Agriculture Agent D. F. Bredthauer reports that application is on file with the Marketing Division (See ONE-VARIETY back page)

Coyotes Maraud Stock Farms

A concert tonight by Floydada High School band on the court house lawn will be that organization's official participation in National Music Week, observance of which is general in Floydada this week.

Band Director M. T. Camp will have his charges render a program of standard and patriotic numbers that have been arranged as follows:

Star Spangled Banner
Queen City March, Boorn;
Balaton overture, Buchtel;

The outside concert will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. It is sponsored by Floydada Lions club, Edd Johnson president.

Several other organizations of the city are observing the week. Among these are the Floydada Music club, the Andrews Ward school band and student body, the Floyd County Home Demonstration chorus, and others.

"National Music Week" was observed by practically all of the churches with special musical numbers added to their worship program last Sunday morning.

School Program Today

Andrews Ward school will observe "National Music Week" with a program this afternoon at 1 o'clock, arranged by the ward school band and a chorus of seventh grade girls will sing.

Piano solos will be given by pupils from each grade in the school, beginning with the third which will be represented by Laverne Fowler; the fourth, Iris Patricia Kirk; the fifth, Beth Hinson, sixth, Nelda Chapman and seventh grade, Wendell Daniel.

RAY COOK'S NEW DAIRY BARN TAKES PLACE OF ONE LOST IN FIRE

A new dairy barn, 28 feet by 54 feet, complete with hot and cold water, milking machine, modern stalls and other equipment, is under construction on Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cook's farm near Hillcrest this week.

It is taking the place of a dairy barn, feed bins and granary destroyed three weeks ago by fire, in which the family sustained heavy loss.

Foundations were laid last Thursday by W. A. Gound, contractor. Although weather conditions were not favorable for several days construction work is being carried on this week.

The modern new dairy arrangement will accommodate 16 milk cows. It is located on the former Lee Montague ranch place, where Mr. and Mrs. Cook operate a large wheat and stock farm.

Elevators Increase Capacity And Re-Vamp Handling Machinery For Crop

If the Floyd county wheat crop goes along and develops in the normal way, the principal problem of the average small grain grower may be one of storage facilities on his own farm.

This appeared probable this week, following heavy rains during the latter part of April and the earlier part of May. Wheat now has ample moisture to make some kind of a fair crop a certainty. In the eastern part of the county a big crop is certain, unusual hazards not considered.

While elevator operators in the county are putting their handling facilities into best possible condition and the commercial storage capacity of the county is being increased by upward of 300,000 bushels, the average wheat grower is likely to find the elevators unable to handle all the offerings that come to them in the usual way. Hours of delay in dumping is almost sure to be a part of the farm problem this year after the combines start.

If the crop runs as high as that of 1937 as it might, or higher by a considerable amount, as it might, the wheat grower will lose a lot of valuable time waiting at the elevator, unless he has some other storage available on his farm or nearby.

This is the outlook now.

More Commercial Storage

To meet the situation at least three Floyd county grain companies are rushing construction now of additional storage space. These are the Lockney Gin & Elevator company, which has a 150,000 bushel storage plant now going up, the Patterson Grain company with about 125,000 bushel storage under construction and the Muncy elevator at Muncy with about a 100,000-bushel storage plant being built.

No new storage facilities are being built in Floydada. Barwise or at Dougherty. However, a reconstruction job at the Henry Edwards elevator at Dougherty will make several thousand more bushels capacity available there with a large increase in the amount of wheat that can be handled every 24 hours.

May Rain Above Three Inches

What the wheat storage need may prove to be is indicated by the fact that in May already 3.1 inches of rain has fallen, putting the growing crop in all parts of the county in continued ideal growing condition. In contrast with 1937 when the crop was spotted as to condition there is at this time no part of the county and of adjacent county (See HARVEST back page)

Open Air Band Concert Tonight Contribution to National Music Week

Although the Clean Up week program was slowed down by the heavy rains of the week-end and Monday and the subsequent drying out period, the plans for the general clean up in the city have not been abandoned by any means, said Mrs. Jack Henry, chairman, this week.

With this statement city officials are in hearty accord. "We can be thankful for the fine rains and still make our plans to go ahead with our block-to-block campaign for a thorough clean up of the city," said Mayor White after conferring with clean-up campaign leaders.

The campaign was to have opened Monday morning but expanses of water holes in every low spot all over the city made a major problem in transportation and stopped the workers with hoes and rubbish containers.

"We appreciate the fact that many citizens have already worked over their own premises, but this only serves to call attention to the neglected places," said Mrs. Henry. More than fifty block captains and are a workers have been named, who are called upon to carry on the job until the work is completed.

Biological Survey Sending Hunter-Trapper To Floyd County

Marauding coyotes are beginning to make depredations on Floyd county livestock farms, particularly under the caprock and on farms along the rim and in Blanco canyon and on farms adjacent to it.

So serious has the menace grown to be that official action is being taken by the county in co-operation with the cattlemen.

T. J. Sparks, government hunter-trapper is already on the ground and is making his headquarters at the J. G. Cage ranch in east Floyd county for the present. He will be here under contract until August 31.

One-fourth of the cost of his work will be borne by the county, one-fourth by the live stock raisers and one-half by the Bureau of Biological Survey, a division of the Department of the Interior. The Live Stock Sanitary commission of Texas and the Predatory Animal Control association are also cooperating in the program of coyote extermination.

The coyotes are becoming so numerous and so bold that they are attacking and killing calves. The trapper will be paid $140 per month to carry on the extermination and killing program. An advantage of carrying on the program right now arises from the fact that young coyote, more easily extinguished than mature ones, can be caught in their dens. Oftentimes several coyote pups can be gotten rid of at one time in early spring raids.

While the coyotes are known to be numerous in the area above indicated farmers in other portions of the county who are bothered with the marauders should contact Judge G. C. Tubbs.

T. J. Sparks comes here from Odessa in Ector county, where he has been doing similar work.

New Automobile Sales Tax Law In Effect

Assessor and Collector Geo. B. Marshall has been advised of the provisions of the new Omnibus Tax law as it affects automobiles sales and registrations and late yesterday was hoping he would have definite information and instructions this morning on proper procedure to legally effect transfers of ownership. He has a copy of the law as it applies to automobiles but also instructions from the state comptroller not to make any transfers until he receives instructions on how to proceed under the new statute.

As it stood at closing time last night his office could not make a transfer of ownership, although trades in automotive vehicles are being made every day.

Effective May 1, also, every automobile transaction carries with a transaction or title transfer tax of 1 per cent of the gross sales price, for which the buyer is responsible. Marshall's instructions are that he must collect the tax before he make any official record of an exchange of ownership. At the same time the law has done away with the old bill of sale type of transfer. Now the new owner must have a transfer of title certificate for which the fee will be 50 cents instead of 25 cents as title certificates formerly cost.

"Doubtless we will have the information very soon," said Mr. Marshall. "We are hoping we will have it before Thursday noon. Probably the new law and the new tax will cause some inconvenience to several new car owners before the provisions are generally understood," he said.

Judge G. C. Tubbs and Commissioner H. J. Nelson, who were accompanied to Austin the first of the week by Sheriff Fred Clark, are expected home today from a visit with members of the legislature where disposition of the surplus highway fund has been subject of debate this week.

Boy Scout Camporee To Meet At Matador May 23-24

The Boy Scout Camporee that was to have convened here last weekend was postponed because of weather conditions and has been announced to meet at Matador May 23 and 24. The Northwestern district and Northeastern district will have a joint meeting at this time, the announcement from Alton B. Chapman, chairman for the Northeastern district said.

A gigantic Court of Honor and scouting contests of every kind is scheduled for this meeting.

FLOYDADA HOMES CHANGE HANDS IN RECENT DEAL

A deal was transacted last week whereby three Floydada families will change their place of residence. Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Guthrie purchased the B. K. Barker home, 605 West Kentucky street and have moved to same.

Mr. and Mrs. Polk Goen purchased the Guthrie home, 614 West Kentucky street and plan to move the latter part of this month. Mr. and Mrs. Barker have moved to a residence on Main street which they have owned for sometime.

Board Told To Complete Army Classifications

The Selective Service board of Floyd county will begin at once the classification of men of the county within the age limit for the selective service draft who registered last fall.

About 100 men per week will be sent questionnaires until the list of something more than 1100 men who registered in the county, and are subject to orders of the draft board here, have been classified in all respects except their physical fitness for service.

This was the announcement of J. M. Willson chairman of the local board last week-end, following receipt of instructions from

Rodeo, Pioneer Re-Union Notes

Although a number of cities and towns have indicated their interest in the matter, actually less than a half dozen entries had been made Wednesday of sponsors at the Floydada Rodeo on May 28-29, Mrs. Henry Edwards, hostess, said.

From Dougherty Mrs. Juanell Tinney has been named sponsor. She has a pleasing personality and a pretty horse and saddle. Post reports that a sponsor is being named this week.

At Tahoka the interest in rodeos is not pronounced and it is possible no entry will be made from that city, Tom Garrard, attorney there, wrote Mrs. Edwards in response to the invitation. However, a sponsor will be here from that city if possible.

Lubbock, Sterley, Flomot, Plainview and Matador and other cities send in reports that they expect to have sponsors here.

Mrs. Edwards has named her co-hostesses for the barbecue-lunch on the late afternoon or early evening of May 28 for the out-of-town sponsors. They are Mrs. Minnie Smartt, Mrs. Roy L. Snodgrass, Mrs. W. Luther Fry and Mrs. Jack Henry. The two days will be busy ones for the visiting young ladies and the hour chosen by Mrs. Edwards is about the only time available for a social event not exactly connected with the rodeo activities proper.

When the committeemen of the Floyd County Pioneers' re-union gather here Saturday to talk over their plans for May 28 it will be the last meeting before the gathering.

President A. T. Swepston of the organization has asked his committeemen and others who are interested to meet at the county court room.

The plan this year is to place emphasis on honors for the really old timers, the pioneers who came to the country in the early days and blazed the path for those who have come along later.

Walter Craft will have one of the most interesting features in the pioneer parade on the morning of May 28, when he loads up his coyote killing hounds. It will be especially interesting to old-time wolf and fox hunters and be enlightening as well to the youngsters who never heard a hound dog bark.

If it can be arranged (and it probably can) Craft's truck will be fitted up with a loud speaker and some special records of a coyote hunt will be broadcast during the parade. Some requests have been made that Mr. Craft stage a "hunt" during the old timers' get together but experience is against it. A similar effort was made at Gainesville last month, in which the dogs were lost in the crowds and scattered badly. Also some every day dogs which joined in the noise and excitement came to a quick demise from the fury of the wolf hounds.

Good judges are all important in a rodeo and plans for the Floydada Rodeo this year are to have it be one of the best and most impartially judged events in the history of the section.

Charlie Lewis of the local committee has been working on this particular feature and has hopes of getting three of the outstanding judges in the ranch country to be here. Whether they will come is yet to be made known. However, the judging is certain to be of the kind that will carry the respect of all contestants in events.

Booster Trip Plans

Booster's Trip committee for the Floydada Rodeo May 28 and 29, consists of Richard Stovall, Eddy Williams, Cecil Hagood, Polk Goen, C. B. McDonald, Baird Bishop, Bill Baker. Those who plan going on the trip should get in touch with any of this committee and let them know if they can furnish a car or if they plan to ride the bus. Tentative plans are for the first trip to be around May 20, definite date to be announced later. There are to be two days of the trip. All are going to wear western regalia.

Plan Is To Examine 100 Men A Week Until Job Is Finished

The Selective Service board of Floyd county will begin at once the classification of men of the county within the age limit for the selective service draft who registered last fall.

About 100 men per week will be sent questionnaires until the list of something more than 1100 men who registered in the county, and are subject to orders of the draft board here, have been classified in all respects except their physical fitness for service.

Friday Floydada Day At Dairy Show

Tomorrow is Floydada day at the Panhandle-Plains Dairy show in progress this week at Plainview.

Fewer than the usual number of exhibitors are showing their herds at the show from Floyd county this year, due probably to unfavorable weather during the opening days.

Among the exhibitors at the show are Geo. B. McAllister who has two head of Milking Shorthorn cattle in the show and Judge Alton B. Chapman, who has three head of the same type of cattle in the show. They will attend the auction sale tomorrow afternoon and banquet tomorrow night of Milking Shorthorn breeders.

Cemetery Association Elect Officials For Year

Mrs. Bob Smith was retained as president of the Cemetery association in a meeting at 3 p. m. at the county court room Tuesday when the public gathered for the annual meeting of the association and election of officers. Mrs. Sam Thurmon was elected secretary-treasurer.

The following directors complete the organization's new officials: A. B. Clark, Mrs. M. B. Cavanaugh and Edgar Jones.

A meeting of the officials will be held soon to start a drive for new members.

Local Department Store Plans Removal Soon From Present Location

Martin Dry Goods company's new location will be on the west side of the square and in the building belonging to Mrs. Jno. N. Farris, where the bowling alley has been located for two years or more. This is the statement of J. G. Martin, head of the firm, this week.

Mr. Martin said he hoped to be open and ready for business in the new place on June 1. "A lot of merchandise must be moved in the intervening time, however," he said. In the latter part of May the

Floyd County Stockman In Wichita Hospital

Ray Barnard, southwest Floyd county stockman and farmer, is in Wichita General hospital at Wichita Falls this week, where he is believed to be recovering from back injuries sustained in a fall last Wednesday at his farm.

Barnard fell through a manhole in the hay loft. At Floydada Hospital and Clinic where he was treated Wednesday night x-rays revealed a crushed vertebrae. He was taken by ambulance to Wichita Falls Friday. His father, C. R. Barnard, yesterday said the patient had developed pneumonia but that hospital authorities believe he is on the road to recovery.

EDITORIALS

Wars have brought profound changes in the fortunes of individuals every half a century since the mind of man runneth not to the contrary. What will this awfullest of all wars bring to you and to yours, for whom you so carefully plan, in the next half century? Who wouldn't give anything in reason to know? They say it is three generations from shirt sleeves to shirt sleeves. If you are in the shirt sleeve group now perhaps you can take comfort in the hope that your descendants will build on the foundation you have laid and that the next and the next generation will remember you for your thrift and enterprise. On the other hand, isn't it an awful thing to reflect upon that your children and their children may be the kind that sit around waiting hours on end for the government or somebody to dish them out some apples or pears or side meat? There isn't much you can do about it except to work and wait and think and do the very best you know. However, remember this, many people do what they want to do instead of what they should do and then rail about their ill fortune. Have you any way of finding out what you should do now that would be in line with what was done in the early eighteen hundreds to establish the fortunes that grew out of the Napoleonic wars? Remember that Hitler and the wars he has brought on are prototype of a century that preceded him. Taxes a hundred years ago were so burdensome that nobody expected to be able to pay them. But civilization still goes on, taxes are still collected, fortunes have been made and lost.

Texas is going to collect some 23 million dollars in taxes in the next 12 months that were not collected in the past twelve. This means several kinds of taxes that you did not anticipate. Better have some kind of reserve if you can for these unexpected tax bills. And remember the end is not in sight. If you hit the jackpot in wheat or something this year hold back a lot. The government, federal or state, is sure to make it hard on you if you don't. It can't be helped.

Our prediction is that West Texas people are going to get a new thrill out of the senatorial campaign of May and June. While most Floyd county people are familiar with the wonderful personality and vote-appeal of Gerald C. Mann they haven't got an earful of Sydney Johnston and of Martin Dies. There are several other good men campaigning for the place, but unless Governor O'Daniel decides to get in there and show the boys a trick or two, the trio that will furnish the fire works, we are convinced, are Mann, Johnston and Dies. And will it be interesting and will there be everybody taking sides before it is over!

The present senator, a son of General Sam Houston is the twentieth senator from Texas. The man who is selected on June 28th will be the twenty-first. He will have a terrific load to carry but he will be young and fiery and full of pep, and will get $10,000 a year and a lot of other prerequisites that go with the job, including that of being called senator until his dying day. What would you give to be a senator and have your grandchildren say that grandpa served his country as one of its highest officials during the grave crisis of 1941-42? Everyone of these three men has demonstrated political ability above the ordinary. Mann has been the best attorney general since Charles A. Culberson. Dies has been the dynamic personality who has made the Dies committee zizz and whipped the FBI at their pussy-footing game a la Gestapo or GPU, while Sydney Johnston as a freshman in the Congress has managed to get the ear and the call of the president, being a "New Dealer" out and out.

Paper has to be still while you write on it. And a newspaper man having command over quite some paper often takes advantage of this fact and writes and writes. His ideas, his vagaries, his versions of politics, of religion, morality and the war, all come in for attention because, apparently, it costs so little and comes out in print as pretty as can be, and also as convincing. A fellow living out in the country 15 miles who is widely read and knows a lot more than you do can't do anything about it except call you down. Having been called down, another call down is just another one.

And so you go along. In forty minutes flat you write all your editorials on a country weekly if the muse is working. If things go wrong, you have a telephone call or two, or perhaps the fog is a little thick, it takes you all of an hour. Because nearly 60 per cent of most any person's ideas are reasonably sensible, and about 20 per cent of them actually in line with good logic, you have a majority of the folks in agreement, a few of them enthusiastic and similarly a few who wonder how you got that way without being committed to a padded cell.

Back in 1917 and 1918 our files indicate The Hesperian carried reams and reams about war Savings stamps and things of that kind, trying to help the government float tremendous (at that time) sums of indebtedness to carry on a righteous war against the Boche. This is 1941 and as we write we have had four press releases from the treasury department and one from the local post office. It is now high time that all good patriots come to the aid of their country, we gather to fight the Nazi. And high time, too, we are sure. What we have in mind to do at this time is to let the folks make up their own minds to spend their own money the way their own minds and consciences direct. Let them read the paid advertisements in many much better periodicals than we publish. Let the treasury department go ahead with its plan to advertise in the big newspapers and periodicals. We'll print a bit about it, of course without pay.

Frequently it has been asserted that the treaty of Versailles was the seed that flowered into the present war. If that is so, it would seem that when this war is settled we will have to be considered in the framing of resulting treaties, lest 1919 be repeated. We figured then that it was Europe's business. We have learned now that our own welfare, perhaps our own existence, is involved.

Perhaps we are not concerned with the mutations of European geography when Hitler and Hitlerism have been squelched, but it must be very much our concern that never again shall the desire for vengeance, or territorial ambitions, of individual nations or militant dictators, compel us to interrupt the orderly procession of our national life, and translate peaceful America into an armed camp.

We did not know, until this war cast its shadow across the oceans, that we had an enemy in the world. We were perfectly content to take our chances in world trade competition; we got on famously with the foreigners among us. We hated war, and still hate it, and yet we find ourselves driven for our own protection to creating the hugest combat machinery the world has ever known. It's a grim job, forced on us through no fault of our own, beyond the mistaken theory, in which the whole peaceable world shared, that civilization had progressed beyond the era of Genghis Khan, Tamerlane, and the other giant looters and destroyers who made a shambles of the earth centuries ago.—Contributed.

CALAMITY. — "Valuable asset burned on H. A. Walker Premises. No, it wasn't the residence! No, it wasn't the coal shed! No, it wasn't the chicken house! Yes, it was the well'er a—anyway it burned to the ground and Harry Walker's family is receiving sympathetic expressions of the community for the inconvenience caused by the "disastrous" fire on their property about 8:30 p. m. last Wednesday." This news story is taken from the West Salem, Illinois, Advocate, a recent issue. We give both readers of this column two guesses each as to what burned to the ground.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

"Wife give me a piece of bread and butter and I will go out and see how much it has rained. Wife give me another piece of bread and butter and I will go out and see how much my wheat has grown? I know this sounds like the jack and beanstalk story, but really the old giant 'drouth' who has ruled several years has been laid under tons of water and the farmer looks forward to climbing to the top of his wheat and bringing back golden dollars from golden grain to his patient, good wife.

My brother, Jim and his wife have just come by from their honeymoon in Colorado. They will live in Houston. We had such very pleasant hours together. Georgia's hair is the color of our ripe wheat with the sunshine on it. She is very sweet. Here's our wessie. I like to have said "sunny" west and happened to remember we have not seen the sun very much since March. Jim and Georgia brought me a large moss covered rock from Pike's Peak. It settled down perfectly at home by the side of a rock from Missouri. Perhaps they compare notes when I cannot hear.

Once more the lake in our pasture is full of water, and the green slopes of its encircling prairie are filled with wild flowers. Millions of frogs have been liberated from their dry prisons and their chorus rises and falls with the wind. I thought the wild flowers were gone forever, but dainty blue bells sway on slender stems once more. Yellow and white daisies bow politely like old fashioned children, wild onions add a dainty pink to the white of crown poison. And late in the afternoon the pastures are yellow with the gold cups of primroses.

My husband has named the little black mule colt, Blackout. When mother and daddy showed Joe Ellis the little new Jersey calf, he said "it is named Crazy Ike." It must have looked funny to him like his crazy Ike toys.

What are you gathering my pretty maid?

Lamb's quarter for greens, sir, she said.
And are they good, my pretty maid?

Just stay and eat some, sir, she said.
Boviled in salt water and seasoned with bacon you'll find them if I'm not mistaken.

An old fashioned sun pain, or the newer sinus pain, is keeping me miserable company these days. After effects of the cold I have had.

This is Monday morning. The sunshine looks just fine, as little Joe says. Not a speck of dust is on the leaves of the ash trees. They shine like green jewels and make lace patterns on the clean rain-washed lawn. We thank Thee, dear heavenly Father for the rain and our many blessings.

As next Sunday is Mother's day, I am copying some verses I think you will like.

To Mother
A flower is sweet
But not so sweet
As the touch of a mother's hand,

The magic thing
That all can understand.
A Mother's Face
It is mellowed and soft as an apple's cheek,
That has ripened and lain in the sun.
There are tiny, fine furrows weaving across
Where the seaming of life has been done.
It is brown and weathered and wrinkled and scarred
But its beautiful, somehow or other,
A dear old face,
A rare old face,
The face of somebody's mother.

Mother's Diary
I found a little record of her days
In the old home. A few short lines
Each day were all she wrote. My mother's ways
Were simple. When she planted columbine
She put it down; the day she set a hen;
The little calf she weaned from the mother cow.
Her daily household tasks, or when She visited the sick—but oh, some how one line apart from others seems to stand—"I went to the mail box"
she would say—
I looked upon it—here in her own hand—that one short line, she wrote from day to day—
Dear God, on high, can mother see tonight these tears for letters that I failed to write?

MOTHERS AT WAR

(Gertrude Friend Scoggins)
Heroes are lauded far and wide,
And gaily flags unfurled;
To praise the warriors brave and bold,
Throughout a war-torn world.

And it is meet to give men praise,
To reward a noble work,
But many there are who live today,
Who never, never shirk.

They live alone in quiet nooks,
Content to do their part,
As silent partners in the job
That corrodes their very heart.

With heads held high and eyes ahead,
This loyal band stands by,
Just as brave and just as true,
As the ones who bleed and die.

These are the ones behind the lines,
The silent, lonely band,
The suffering ones, the Mothers
Of the Heroes of the Land!

MOTHER
(Beatrice Waters)
Mother, home and heaven are the sweetest words we hear
And home is sweet largely because of mother dear.
The one thing that makes Heaven attractive to us all;
It's where mother is, or some day shall be called.
Yes, the sweet word "mother" is so beautiful to say
And is in our memory next to Jesus today.
When they left our Savior on the cross to die
He thought of His sweet mother that stood near by.
Yes, our mothers are so very kind in every way,
But, do her children love her and always obey?
And do they wait until their work is always done
Before they go out to play and have their fun?

Do they make mother live in trouble and in fear?
Or when night falls are all of her children near?
When life is over and in Heaven she does dwell
Her children will remember she did all things well.
Yes, they will remember and picture her sweet face
For in their memory no other can take mother's place.
They will remember how she wiped their tears
For dear mother can always banish our fears.

To those who wear the beautiful flower of red—
Obey your mothers, then you will have nothing to dread.
Then, when she is gone to dwell in Heaven above
You can always remember that you gave her your love.

To those who are wearing the pritty flower of white,
Remember that her prayers were for you to go right.
She taught you to always do your very best,
Then when God called he would surely give you rest.

MOTHER'S DAY

(Jas. S. Owsley)
Tis Mother's Day, the rose I wear is snowy white,
While some wear the red design,
And I have wished a thousand times
That a crimson shade were mine;
So let me say to those with the red,
As they walk life's sunlit ways
To visit ere this day is done,
The pal of their cradle days.
I'm glad that the rose depicts the Queen
To whom God imparts such power,

For we all know, that here below,
She is the perfect flower,
So I would say if roses red,
Still bloom in your garden fair,
Tend this rose, as it older grows
And give it your utmost care.
You'll not know 'til your rose turns white—
And you have lost the red
That I, forsooth, have spoken the truth.
In every word I've said,
Do not say on the morrow I'll visit her
For before the new day dawn—
Your rose may have changed its color
And the red one shall be gone.

MONEY in the ground

Billions of barrels of Texas oil reserves mean money in the bank for you as a Texan.

On constant deposit in underground vaults, they assure continued wages for Texas workers, lease and royalty payments for Texas farmers and ranchers, and tax revenues for our State and local governments.

Nearly 11 billion barrels of known oil reserves are on tap in 161 counties of our State. Texas oil men are now searching for new fields in 90 additional counties. They discovered last year almost three times as much oil as they produced.

These oil reserves can be cashed only through their production and processing by Texas workers.

As a means of safeguarding this backlog of economic security, you as a Texas citizen can and should expect:

(a) Sound conservation practices, (b) A reasonable taxing policy by State and local governments to permit healthy development without loss of employment through abandonment of properties, (c) Increased use of this great fuel source through creation of new Texas industries.

These oil reserves provide security for you and every other Texan

Where Tall Fish Tales Do Grow

Bill Hams Uncorks Some Things He's Heard On The Coast

(Bill Hams recently left The Hesperian to take a job on the Aransas Pass Progress where he could have the advantages of gulf breezes in his flight with hay fever, also to enjoy better wages and working conditions. He's getting an education fast in Gulf coast fisherman's lore. The story below tells some of the things he has learned. — Ed Note.)

By Bill Hams

I am in the land where the grandpappy of all fish stories lives, and the old gent is still hale and hearty although he is as ancient as the Old Man of the Mountain. Grandpappy calls the whole Gulf coast his hunting grounds, and he takes great pleasure in backing the "new comers" up against a counter and giving him the works.

Right now he seems to be centering his attentions upon me here at Aransas Pass and Port Aransas.

First off, I was aghast at the equipment these commercial fishermen use, and some of the "amateurs" as well. The rod is some 7 feet long, and as sturdy as a Comanche bow. The reel is as big as your two fists and will hold from 200 to 300 yards of 30 to 70 pound test linen or nylon line... which is almost strong enough to hold a good sized yearling calf.

Most of the fishermen use two hooks (and what hooks) on their line plus a 6 to 12 ounce chunk of lead to carry the line out some 150 to 200 yards on a good cast. For bait they use shrimp, either live or cold storage, or mullets, an oversize salt water minnow. Some of these mullet look big enough to eat but these fishermen here sniff at the mention of the idea.

The first time I yanked out a nice fat channel cat, and licked my chops over the prospect of a good fish dinner, I got a big laugh from the local fellows on Isaac Walton... they just don't eat channel cats down here.

They will eat Gafftopsail, pompano, trout, redfish, drum, and twenty-two other varieties a plainsman never heard of let alone eat. Although they do a lot of fishing for tarpon, they never eat them and generally turn them loose after they are brought to gaff so some other visiting fisherman can have the fun of landing him later. Only the first one or two of the year are generally kept, and then for trophies.

Denizens of the Sea

Then of course there are shark, giant ray, and some sea turtles around here. It isn't unusual to catch from three to four little hammerhead shark from a foot to three feet long on every trip. The adult hammerhead grows up to 20 feet I am told, and some unlucky fishermen have hooked saw fish and lost their entire tackle.

Eddie Poole, guide and owner of several "boats for hire," relates the time a giant ray got hooked on his boat anchor and in the struggle to get loose almost smashed his little 30 foot boat on the jetty rocks. Eddie opines he is glad the giant ray got loose because he probably weighed 1,200 pounds and is an exceedingly ugly customer to have dealings with.

The giant ray is probably close kin to a bat, certainly he would not be claimed as kin by a self-respecting fish. They grow from a few inches in width to 10 or 12 feet and it is not unusual to hook one, but extremely disgusting. The ray has a barbed tail which is supposed to have a "stinger" but the boys who know says there is no stinger but just plenty of "jab" that hurts like thunder and greatly gets infected.

Anytime the guides go into a huddle, they tell about the time an inlander came fishing down here and "played" a rock for 15 minutes thinking he had caught a "whopper."

It seemed that every time the boat would drop into a trough he would reel in line, and then when the boat would start rising on a wave the inlander would let out line. "He got his moneys worth," the guide said.

And then there is the story about the visitor who knew he had snagged a boulder off the jetty, but when he tried to get his tackle loose found he was attached to a 1,000 pound sea turtle. With the help of the guide and another boat they brought the turtle soup on hoof to land.

Port Aransas caters almost exclusively to visiting fishermen who come all the way from Michigan, Illinois, Oregon, and Ohio to cast their hooks in the briny Gulf for the elusive Tarpon and Kingfish.

Fisherman's Luck

Jack Adams, operator of a tackle shop, says he has never been tarpon fishing and he has lived here more years than he cares to admit even though he is a young fellow, but that while, after other members of the finny tribe he has hooked any number of the king of game fish. He explains it by saying, "It just happens that way down here."

"Fisherman's Luck" abounds here. One fellow on the pier will be yanking fish out with the regularity of a pendulum while several hundred other hopefuls are sitting on the rail looking envious and merely hopeful.

ago. Bill and the missus wasn't having any luck but neither was anyone else. The wind was high and the sea was rough and murky but Bill was having the time of his life "trying." I figured I'd run in to him some day on the pier but hardly looked for it to happen so soon.

THE RECORD... Facts That Concern You

No. 23 of a Series

A couple of bad eggs... but why blame the hen?

A bad egg does turn up once in a while... but that's not a sensible reason for destroying all the good eggs... or for taking it out on the hen.

Beer retailing in America is something like that. The vast majority of beer retail establishments are clean, law-abiding, wholesome places. And still there may be a few "bad egg" retailers who violate the law or permit anti-social conditions.

The brewing industry wants these undesirables eliminated entirely... to protect your right to drink good beer... and our right to make it.

And also to protect the many benefits brought by the beer industry to Texas... such as the 31,165 jobs created... and beer's $22,076,182 annual payroll. Beer contributed $2,273,968.64 last year in taxes to help pay the cost of government in this state.

You can help us in our program of law enforcement, if you will, by (1) patronizing only the legal and reputable places that sell beer and (2) by reporting any abuses to the proper law enforcement authorities.

Baptists To Sponsor DVBS

(By Rev. Vernon Shaw, pastor)

The entire faculty of the Baptist church, along with the pastor and others wish to meet all children of the community for lessons in a Daily Vacation Bible school May 26 to June 6. The principal and teachers are deeply interested and want the children from ages five to seven to remember this as one of the happiest moments of their lives.

There will be no tuition and no books except in the hands of the teachers. No home study will be required. Everything the children need in the school will be furnished them free of cost.

We shall teach the children portions of the Bible suited to their ages, have Scripture gems memorized, tell them many interesting stories—biblical, patriotic, habit-forming, missionary—have supervised play periods for music and notebook work, salutes to the Christian and American flags, and a closing period of handwork.

Does not this program appeal to you? Will you not cooperate with us in helping your children? Help us advertise the school. Boost it to the children. Tell your neighbors. Visit us when we get going. Pray for us. And don't forget to ask us about anything you do not understand.

Let us all work together to make this school an epochal month in the child life of our town.

(We want the entire public to meet our Vacation Bible School faculty. Others will be added later.)

Wild Flower Show Sunday By State Highway Dept.

Sixty or more varieties of wild flowers that grow in this portion of West Texas along the highway and in the bar ditches will be displayed by the State Highway department Saturday afternoon and Sunday in Plainview in windows at Houston's, A. J. Hamilton, foreman of the maintenance department in this section said yesterday.

The flower display will be arranged and displayed by Jack Holden, road side developer with the aid and assistance of members of the highway maintenance crews.

"The display will be well worth seeing and we hope that hundreds will see it during Sunday," said Mr. Hamilton. "We are trying to encourage saving the wild flowers, not plowing them up along the roads."

An effort to get the wild flower display in Floydada was made by Mr. Hamilton for District 5. However, it was decided by authorities to have the display in Plainview. Last year the display was made in Lamesa.

The speaker will wear a typical Chinese costume and will have on display many pictures and articles that she had collected from China.

Mrs. Bridges said, "Miss Schutze is a Texas girl having been reared at Marfa. She was educated at Texas Christian university at Fort Worth and spent one year studying in Germany."

Following the program Miss Schutze will come to Floydada and will be a guest in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Bridges Wednesday night and Thursday. She will go from here to Lubbock where she is to speak Thursday evening.

Mrs. C. B. McDonald was hostess to the Lo-Kno-Pla club Wednesday afternoon of last week at the last meeting for the club year. Miss Nannette Bishop and Miss Kathryn Wilkinson were guests of the club. Each member played a piano solo. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Woman's Council Hosts At Joint Meeting Thursday

Members of the Woman's council of the First Christian church were hostesses to the other missionary societies of the town with a covered dish luncheon Thursday of last week.

Mrs. L. W. Bridges was principal speaker for the occasion and reviewed for the guests "The Occurrence to Me" by Muriel Lester. The book reviewed by Mrs. Bridges is an autobiography by the founder of Kingsley Hall, friend and neighbor of London's East End, leader in social causes, ambassador of world goodwill. "She has waged a tireless and intelligent war against disease, poverty, the traffic in Narcotics and Militarism," said Mrs. Bridges. "Her autobiography is the reflection of her achievements."

Mrs. Bridges, in a very interesting manner, related Miss Lester's experiences in her numerous trips around the world and the thoughts that came to her as she visited warring countries. Mrs. Bridges was introduced by Mrs. J. B. Jenkins who presided throughout the meeting.

Mrs. R. A. Renfer gave a very impressive devotional lesson using as her scripture reading the 116 Psalm.

Mrs. J. M. Willson gave the invocation and Mrs. R. T. Breedlove dismissed the meeting with a prayer.

Joint Program To Be Given Monday At High School

Mrs. Clement McDonald will present her class of piano pupils in a musical recital Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the high school auditorium. She will be assisted by the kindergarten pupils of Mrs. J. N. Johnston who will give rhythm band selections and several novelty numbers.

Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Johnston cordially invite the public to attend the joint recital.

BIBLE STUDY SERIES STARTS AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

(Rudolf A. Renfer, pastor)
In a world of change the Bible looms unique in its unusual claims. The acme of the Bible's claims is that Jesus Christ is the Son of God, and, contrary to history and the nature of people, He is seen as unchangeable. "Jesus Christ, yesterday and today the same, and forever." (Hebrews 13:8).

Next Sunday evening the pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church will commence a series of Bible expository lectures on the Epistle to the Romans. This New Testament book presents Christ in His unchangeable person and work. You are invited to hear this interesting and profitable series. The time of Sunday evening services is 7:45.

The sermon subject for next Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service will be "The World in the New Testament." The treatment will be in the nature of a word study, and will be found to be quite practical in view of present day conditions. Your time spent worshipping with us will be rewarded.

G. A. WILL HAVE TWO ALL-DAY MEETINGS

The Bonnie Ray G. A. held a social meeting Monday afternoon at the church and decided to dispense with two of the following Monday afternoon meetings and have two all-day meetings in the near future to complete some of their required work.

Those present were Mrs. Jno. Hoffman, director of the group, Doniece Cline, Eugenia Martin, Joy Cardwell, Mary Frances Jones, Ruth Hamilton and Margaret Conner.

BOOK TO BE REVIEWED AT PRESBYTERIAN MANSE

One phase of the practical program of the Presbyterian Women's Missionary society included the study and review of outstanding missionary books. Next Monday atternoon at 3 o'clock the ladies will meet at the home of Mrs. R. A. Renfer. The meeting will be given to a group review of the book "Borden of Yale."

"Borden of Yale" is a biography of a young student at Yale, who though he found time for social and athletic life at Yale university, conducted services at a city mission. Despite great opportunities and wealth he gave his life for missionary work, the influence of which is a potent factor in Chinese missions today.

Joe Bob Wedle of Hereford was a week-end guest of Buster Simpson and Mr. Wedle and Mr. Simpson left Sunday on a business trip to Dallas.

Oden Sale Draws Big Crowd

Nearly 50 Cars Change Ownership; Big Crowd Buyer-Minded

More than 1,500 persons from five counties registered at the Oden Chevrolet company auction sale last Wednesday in Floydada.

The crowd that surged through the Oden establishment and out on the used car lots also spread out over the town and made business good for several other retail business establishments in the city.

Very likely the attendance exceeded 2,500 estimating less than one additional person present for every adult who registered.

And the crowd was buyer-minded. Sales through the auction ring, conducted by Fly & Son of Rocky Ford, Colorado, approached 40 in number and several sales included exchanges and resales to bring the number of cars that changed ownership in the day to a figure around 50 machines of all kinds, including passenger cars, pickups and trucks.

Conner Oden, manager of Oden Chevrolet company, this week expressed his appreciation of the confidence shown in the firm's representations by the car buying public.

Quota Vote On Wheat May 31

Advantages Of Wheat Marketing Quotas Pointed Out By Chairman

The wheat marketing quota, on which farmers will vote May 31, offers double protection—protection of supplies for the consumer and protection of the market for wheat growers themselves, says Paul Snodgrass, Floyd county wheat farmer and chairman of the County AAA committee.

The marketing quota insures plenty of wheat for every probable demand by consumers in this country and abroad, Snodgrass said. A quota on wheat may be proclaimed only when the total supply exceeds a normal year's domestic consumption and exports by more than 35 percent. With exports practically shut off by military blockade, Snodgrass reports that there will be almost 2 bushels of wheat on hand for every 1 which is likely to be consumed this year in the United States.

In view of this supply, marketing quotas are necessary to protect the income of all wheat farmers, Snodgrass declared. In the last 2 years, the wheat program, principally the loan, has held the United States wheat price 30 to 40 cents above the world price. However, on the face of the large supply in prospect for the coming year, the loan needs the added protection of the marketing quota, he said. Because loans on an uncontrolled surplus would involve too much risk, they are prohibited by law when a wheat marketing quota is voted down.

If the quota is approved, farmers will be able to sell without penalty all wheat they raise on their acreage allotments. The farmer who has seeded within his acreage allotment can sell his wheat just as he always has, said Snodgrass. He is also eligible for government loan on all his wheat. The farmer who overplants his allotment may store the wheat produced in excess of the quota. If he sells or uses it a penalty will be collected. If he stores it, he can get a loan on the excess, but at a lower rate than that available to the cooperator.

Farmers Using Land Bank Facilities In This County

Many Farm And Ranch Families Using National Farm Loan Association For Improvements

Floyd county has approximately 718 farm and ranch families using the Federal Land Bank and the National Farm Loan association system of cooperative, low-cost, long-term farm mortgage credit, according to C. M. Meredith, secretary-treasurer of the Floydada National Farm Loan association.

Use of this system has enabled approximately 300 families in the county to pay out of debt already, Mr. Meredith said.

Outstanding on December 31, 1940, in Floyd county were 606 Land Bank loans totaling $2,077,625. From May 1933 to date, 458 Land Bank loans amounting to $1,483,200 were closed. The seven-year period had 579 Commissioner loans supplementing the normal Land Bank service for a total of $998,350. Of these, 453 loans for $752,475 remain.

"This system," said Mr. Meredith, "was founded to finance farm mortgage debts on terms to fit the needs of the farmer and ranchman. While the family is in debt, striving to attain independent ownership, there is need for safe financing to protect the home investment. Credit from a dependable source, repaid in small, regular amounts on principal and interest, frees the family from worry and cost of frequent renewals."

He said that "farmers and ranchers who own this credit service feel that it is an asset to the community in general. It has made more money available for better farm and home conditions. During the depression and following, its services have permitted many farm families to retain their homes. It has further offered deferments in worthy cases during lean years and encouraged conditional payments to build up reserves in good years."

It was further stated by the local secretary-treasurer that the Floydada association has never failed to retire its stock at par value when borrowers pay their loans in full.

Around The World There Is No Custom So American As Mother's Day

The desire to remember the "one who never forgets" is one of our most unselfish, purely American customs. And it is a special privilege, we feel, to be a florist on that day... knowing that our efforts are without parallel in producing happiness and pleasure that is not soon forgotten.

When your heart says remember—nothing takes the place of flowers.

The Spinal Column

Danger In Negligence

In reading this column, you have no doubt noticed the term, "ALL CHIROPRACTIC" being used repeatedly. Be assured that it is not a mere fancied idea or a phrase with no meaning. All Chiropractic has a real purpose and is being put to work daily in this office.

Fifteen years of research work in and out of office—much of it consisting of volumes of correspondence with leading minds in the Chiropractic profession, post graduate work, personal contact with men at state and National Conventions, who know the science and art of spinal adjustments, thousands of statements of well satisfied patients, both written and spoken (much of it on file in my office) together with my personal experience of many years in Chiropractic, vouch for your safety in investigating the valid claims of this office, to learn if PURCELL'S SYSTEM of removing spinal nerve tension, will apply in your case.

Doubtless with my varied techniques, I shall be able to offer you a way to regain health that has not been presented in this way to you before. It is probable that a combination of spinal adjustment methods will just suit your case.

If sick, won't you be among those who make up the quota accepted on a COST BASIS, beginning on Friday, May 9th, and closing Monday, May 12th? At least, call and talk your health problems over with me. "Get Well Naturally—And At Small Cost," is still very much in force in this office. As a final reminder, Before despairing of help, see me. REMEMBER THE OFFICE AND THE ABOVE DATES.

NOTE: Dr. N. C. Purcell who edits this column is a graduate-alumnus of Texas Chiropractic College, member of the State Chiropractic Association, and member of the National Educational Council of Chiropractors.

Home Ec Rally Biggest In History

Mary Frances Jones who modeled a first year dress, won superior rating on her garment at the State Future Homemakers of Texas Rally held in San Antonio April 30-May 3, 1941. Superior was the highest place given in the group.

Mary Frances modeled a polka dot dress trimmed with a black zipper. It was in the group of laundered cotton dresses. The dress was graded upon construction, neatness and appropriateness to the individual and occasion.

The group went to the Gunter hotel Wednesday night. There they registered and received information concerning the Rally. Thursday morning, Mary Helen Day, Topsy Dudgey and Mary Frances Jones modeled their dresses. Topsy's was a general wear dress and Mary Helen's a special occasion dress. On Thursday afternoon they took tests over units they had studied in class.

Friday morning the group attended the general meeting in the municipal auditorium. After noon, Louise went to the House of Delegates meeting while the others went to the sectional meetings, "Youth Assumes It's Responsibility."

For entertainment the Rally provided a fun night and a banquet. The Banquet Friday night was followed with a Mexican Floor show.

Saturday morning, the group went to the last general meeting. Mary Frances modeled her dress in the style show.

The points of interest the girls visited are the Sunken Garden, a million dollar stadium, Fort Sam Houston, Randolph Field, Catholic church, Buckhorn Saloon and the Alamo.

They returned by way of Austin where they climbed to the dome of the State capital. They drove around the university campus, but had little time to spend there.

The rally gave both the teachers and girls new inspirations and ideas for their work another year. 2500 girls registered, 50 to 75 boys and 465 to 500 teachers. This was the largest and best state meeting in the history of the rally. The announcement will be made in the summer as to where it will be held next year.

SO YOU MIGHT NOT GO TO SCHOOL!

The following article gives some food for thought to those students in Floydada High school who might be thinking that their formal education is near its close or sufficient for their post-school life's needs. To such, we suggest that they read the following extract and weight seriously its argument, no matter what their classification in school may be.

"Only a few more days until commencement—the occasion which you have looked forward to for many years," says Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas college, to the seniors of the panhandle schools, in a recent edition of The Prairie. "Some of you are thinking now of discontinuing your formal education at the close of the present session. Others are wondering if they can afford to put forth the effort, spend the money and make, perchance, the necessary sacrifices to continue their education beyond high school. The following letter by Frank Crane addressed to boys, but equally valuable for girls, makes some sound observations in this connection. Ponder it."

"An ounce of intelligent getting ready is worth a pound of fussing. It is certainly worth while to take aim before you shoot.

"Time spent in sharpening your axe counts as ten times of hacking and hewing.

"Nine-tenths of efficiency is preparation.

"If you are a boy, go through school. I have met thousands of men in my time and I never knew one to say he was sorry he went to school; I never knew one who had failed to finish his schooling that did not say he was sorry for it.

"Of all fools on earth the boy who will not take an education when he has a chance is the most sickening. He is deliberately handicapping himself in a race where he needs every advantage.

"He is laying up many an hour of humiliation for himself, days of regret, nights of bitter self-accusation. He is pitting his immature judgment against the accumulated experience and wisdom of the whole human race.

"He is indulging in weakness of laziness that he will pay for a hundred times over.

"He is laying up shame and pain or all who are unfortunate enough to love him.

"God help him, for he won't let anyone else!

"Of course some people have achieved success who never had any schooling. True. Some people also have got rich or famous who had but one eye or were blind. Shall we therefore lop off a leg or put out one eye?"

Green And White Warriors In Inter-Squad Battle

The green and white warriors of Floydada High school clashed in an inter-squad game on Wednesday. The game was played last Friday. The whites took the tussle after a very hard battle. The score was 13 to 0 in the whites' favor.

There was no serious scoring threats before the touchdowns were made.

Line ups for the game were as follows:

Whites—Floyd Bradford, le. Marlon Parris, lt. Cubert Gray, lg. Virgil Boteler, c. James Lovell, rg. Everett Patterson, rt. Wendell Johnston, re. Robert Warren, rh. Randolph Rutledge, lb. Joe Rushing, qb. Eddie Wayne Conner, fb.

Greens—David Battey, le. Homer Kenamer, lt. Herschell Hinson, l. g. DeWinn Fyffe, c. Carlton Fowler, rg. Roy Baxter, rt. Harold Sparks, re. J. D. Morrison, rh. Fred Lloyd, lb. "Bud" Dubois, qb. Elton Reasoner, fb.

There were frequent substitutions during the game, so that all players could get some action. Some of the boys even changed teams.

Poetic Talent Brought Out By Rainy Spell

The rain, which gives new life to all growing things, has given inspiration to some freshmen English students to compose some poetical pieces.

Three especially good efforts of these ambitious young poets are:

Rain
(Elton Reasoner)
It is raining all around
Upon the wheat from town to town.
It makes the farmers very gay.
It makes their animals run and play.
If it keeps raining this way
Many people will come to stay.
And when it stops everyone will say
Cut the wheat right away.

Rain
(Kathleen Cardinal)
When I go strolling in the rain,
I think of lots of things again.
The picnic that was planned today.
Has gone with the rain and there to stay.
The fun we had planned is shattered
For me.
And nothing but rain is all I can see.

To sit in the house and look at the rain,
Is all there is to fill my heart with pain.
Some of these days I'll go have fun,
When the ground is dry and a great big sun.
Is shining and everyone is happy and gay
Because it isn't a rainy day.

Rain
(Marion Parrish)
As the rain falls
It looks like little balls
As it hits
It splatters to bits,
And as it goes down
It ends up in China Town
Then it comes back around.

Gossip has His Last Fling

Beryle Bishop certainly did change his mind about going to the Jr.-Sr. banquet, didn't he Vera Faye?

We heard Bill Owens and Eva Marie Lewis had a pretty good time Saturday night.

My, my, don't J. L. and Tella Jo make a cut couple? Has Helen lost her man?

Of all people, Billy Smith and Ariene Fyffe. Could it have been about the banquet?

Robbie Gene Johns and Billy Ruth Love have a good time in Algebra class.

H. C. is really cute. Don't you think so, Nelda?

Bennie Ruth surely looks lonesome these days. It must be because Paul has quit school.

We heard the remark the other day that George Allen was cute. It seems that quite a few such remarks are going around these days.

What has happened to Big Foot's and Virginia's romance? It looked pretty good for a while.

The old box has gotten wind of these post cards flying around between New Mexico and San Antonio. What about it David and Louise?

And besides Lois—what did you mean when you said that you had a good time Saturday night?

A certain person here in high school 'sho' nuff got dizzy dancing with Ellen at the banquet.

Donald is so jealous of Francis. Besides, there are others who would really like a chance.

Well guys and gals—bid good bye to the old gossip box. The keys to the lock were lost and so ends the gossip box. Yes! The little box is good to no one anymore.

Although the gossip does not die with the little white pine box, it loses something of interest to all the students of F. H. S.

Helen Young Princess At P-P Dairy Show

Helen Young, high school sophomore, was selected as princess from Floydada to attend the 14th Annual Panhandle Plains Dairy show in Plainview, Tuesday, May 6.

Miss Young competed with princess from the Panhandle schools. From this group of charming young ladies, the most queenly was chosen to be crowned queen of the dairy show.

The princess and attendants registered at the Hilton hotel, at 2 p. m. The couples attended a tea dance at 2:30. The princess and the maid-of-honor were dressed in pastel cotton dresses.

At 5 rehearsal at the Plainview auditorium was held for the Queen's ball.

At 6:30 the group attended the pageant that lasted until 9:30. From 9:30 until 12 was the Queen's ball. The Queen who was secretly selected during the tea dance was announced at the beginning of this ball.

Princess Helen and her maid-of-honor Florene were dressed in white.

Big Blow-Out This Week At Follies

Junior-Senior Play Competition To Highlight Week At F. H. S.

(Wayne Bingham)
The Junior and Senior follies will be the highlight and the "blow-out" of FHS this week. They will be held in the high school auditorium, Friday night, May 9.

This is slated to be the biggest event in the remaining part of this year (with the exception of the graduation exercises).

There is not much of the plot that can be revealed, but these beautiful girls and handsome boys are sufficient attractions.

They all know their lines and are ready to put up a fight to the end for their classes. They are Nelda Fagan, Martha Yearwood, Frances Field, Louise Willson, Bruce Foster, and Jack Daily in the Senior play, "Wonder Child." Herschell Hinson, Randolph Rutledge, Wayland Hale, Maudine Moore, Doniece Cline, Margaret Camden and Roberta Medlen in the junior play, "Everything's Off."

These students are all good actors and intend to try to win for their classes and when class honor is at stake. Well—you can always count on a great fight.

Mr. Barber, ag teacher, Miss Wren homemaking teacher are the senior sponsors. Mr. Hemphill, commercial teacher, Miss Copeland chemistry teacher are the junior sponsors.

It's going to be great! So come on, let's see them. Don't forget, May 9, FHS auditorium.

Floydada Track Team Sees State Capital

The Floydada track team attended the state track tournament at Austin last Friday and Saturday.

The team left Floydada Thursday morning and arrived in Austin about 4:30 that afternoon.

They ran in the preliminaries Friday but did not place.

They stayed in Austin until Sunday morning. While there they visited the state capital. On the way home they stopped at Brownwood where they visited the army camp. They also went through the Hardin-Simmons college at Abilene.

The following boys made the trip: LeRoy Chowning, Doyle Walls, Arthur Womack, Bruce Foster, Joe Schultz, Gordon Patterson and the sponsors, Coach Winter and Mr. Travis.

May 16 Senior Day

The date of the campaign for fun and frolic is May 16, if it doesn't rain which Mr. Linder says—quote "I hope it doesn't," unquote—which is the secret hope of every senior.

In spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of the girls he is keeping with all year. In keeping with the old Shakespearean adage the seniors of F. H. S. are preparing for a pleasure blitzkrieg either to Roaring Springs or to Silver Falls.

The plans are indefinite but it is certain that they will carry their "lunches" and enjoy skating and swimming.

LETTER OF THE WEEK

WANTED—OLD COT FRAMES FOR THE BOY SCOUTS

Do you have an old cot frame you have discarded you could give Boy Scout master Dave Fogerson to repair for his troop? The boys are planning and hoping for an outing or two this summer. If the frames are obtainable the Scout's leader will re-canvas them. Fifteen or 20 are needed.

Selective Service regulations have been amended so as to allow inductees ample time to adjust their personal affairs before reporting for duty, General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director, announced last week.

Previously, he said, at least five days had to elapse between the time a registrant received his order to report for induction and the actual date of induction. The amendment extends this period to ten days and authorizes local boards to increase it to sixty or more days when they deem such extensions justified.

Texas' 351 local boards have today been advised by State Headquarters bulletin that in any case where unusual individual hardship would otherwise result, they may, in accordance with the regulations, postpone the induction date "for a period of not to exceed 60 days from the date of such postponement, subject, however, to further postponement upon good cause therefore being shown."

The new amendment, General Page pointed out, gives local boards full authority to afford individual registrants an opportunity to make adjustments in their business affairs, take examinations required of certain professions by state laws, and otherwise make satisfactory arrangements in their private lives before entering upon service with the nation's armed forces.

Harvest—

ties where the condition of the crop could be improved upon.

This means that facilities for dumping, when 1,000 machines get going in all parts of the county, will be wholly inadequate regardless of the amount of space the elevator operators may have available. Farmers will need storage to keep their combines going while trucks are making deliveries to commercial elevators.

What the total farm storage capacity of the county is and how many wheat farms can use these local storage plants is questionable. Rain last week-end and the first of this week by days was as follows: May 2, 2.65 inches; May 3, 60-hundredths inches, May 4, one-tenth inches. This is for Floydada. The rainfall in many portions of the county exceeded this amount considerably.

Currently small grain raisers are checking up on their harvesting facilities and putting their machinery in condition. A few are planning to use the old-time broadcast binders if need be in the hope that straw stacks will repay the additional cost. Machines being re-conditioned here now will begin the harvest in Ford county and move westward.

One saving situation in this county may come out of the fact that the crop in the east and southeast part of the county will be harvested 10 days to two weeks ahead of the crop in the remainder of the county, thus reducing the load on the marketing facilities.

Monday some complaint was heard about wheat falling in the southeast part of the county. How much damage will result was still problematical yesterday.

Early this week when showers continued mail route men were having much difficulty making their rounds and there was some fear of red rust in the small grain. Fair and cool weather since Tuesday has been reassuring.
