Press Students Hear Izzard At Conference

The highlight of the Lubbock press clinic was an address given by Wesley S. Izzard, radio commentator and assistant publisher of the Amarillo News-Globe at the press banquet held at the Lubbock hotel.

The banquet was attended by 300 press students from Floydada, Amarillo, Canyon, Clarendon, Crane, Dalhart, Dimmitt, Electra, Friendship, Levelland, Lockney, Lubbock, Midland, New Deal, Pampa, Plainview, Post, Ralls, Roaring Springs, Roswell, Shallowater, Slaton, Snyder and White Deer.

This was the fifth annual West Texas Scholastic Press clinic. The two day program was held at the new building at Texas Technological college, except for the banquet which was held at the Lubbock hotel. The banquet was followed by a dance.

Izzard's speech gave the press students new ideas in the fields which are open to them in connection with journalism. A few of the various fields mentioned were writing in advertising agencies, radio script writing and commenting.

Those who attended the press clinic from here were Mrs. Owen, journalism sponsor, Dorothy Ann Dwyer, editor, Evelyn Elliott, Dorothy Tye, Cleo Kirk, Odene Huey, Fay Jean Hale, Florence Jones, La Prue Eubanks.

The program Friday afternoon was opened by Howard Schmidt of Lubbock, president of the association, speeches were given by Cecil Horne, head professor of journalism at the college, Chas. A. Guy, editor of the Avalanche-Journal publications and by Rex Webster of the KFTO radio staff.

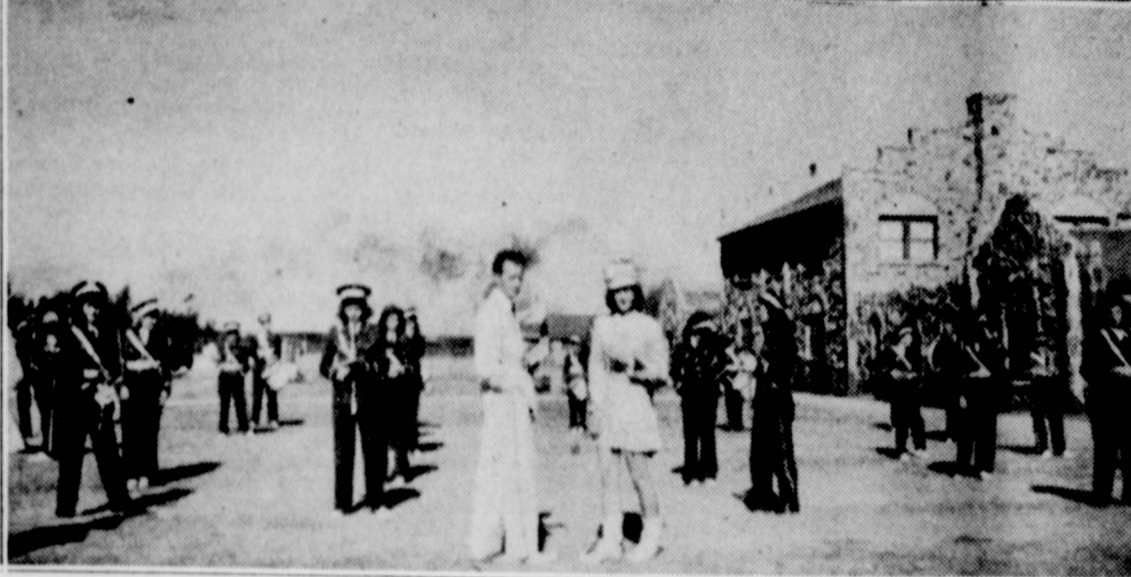

At 9:30 Saturday morning two skits were presented on "How to Find a Feature Story" and the "Right and Wrong Way to Conduct an Interview." Prizes were given on the best advertisement for Texas Tech and for covering the skit on "How to Conduct an Interview."

First prize on the advertisement was won by Lila Lee Earp of Crane, and Corrod Lahofer of Amarillo. First place on the skit was won by Juanita Simpson of Lubbock and second place by Joyce Joy of Amarillo.

Officers were elected for next year. The president will be Effie Jean Day of Plainview, vice-president Dorace Jean Cardwell of Pampa, Recording Secretary Conny McDonald of Lubbock and Corresponding Secretary, Polly Winstead of Canyon.

Tickets to the Tech-St. Louis football game were furnished by the athletic council and the banquet was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jackson, Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ely, parents of Mrs. Jackson, of Brownfield; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Pharis and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Wilson and their families, of Lubbock; Tom Vivian of Matador and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gilliam.

On West Texas Campus. When the West Texas exes had their home-coming at West Texas State Teachers college on November 8, Floydada High school band joined in the celebration. Above they are shown in formation on Buffalo field, and below, as they played before entering the stadium.

Library Called Busiest Place In High School

"Some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few to be chewed and digested." Oh, hand me Long's, Pace, Hallack's, Shakespeare, Byron, Browning, Popular Mechanics, Life, The American, Gordy, The Odyssey—quick—the bell will ring! These exclamations and many more are heard in the library at the change of every period for seven periods a day.

They come from dozens of students who want to get some specific book before some one else gets it, and before the tardy bell rings. Most any day there are at least sixty books and magazines checked out on an average for seven periods. These books must be checked in again at the opening of the next period; so at least one hundred and twenty books are checked every forty-five minutes during the day.

To satisfy ourselves that the library is the busiest place, let's just see the activity there for one day. November 10 was a typical day. The library was opened promptly and in ten minutes fifteen people were scrambling for one of the reference books while many more stood at the table asking to check out some book or magazine. At least an average of twenty people were busy until the 9 o'clock bell rang, and then many shuffled off to their classes. On this particular day the three NYA students were absent and Miss Rea had to check out books, answer any number of questions and between rush times check in a few of the fifty books which had come down the "chute." Not a minute was wasted, and at 9:45 the library was turned over to two other librarians who closed the door and worked for half the next period checking in books before they began to check out any additional materials. So on for the entire day this rush continued.

During the seventh period one person was busy checking out materials and checking in books. Two workers were busy checking Shakespeares, King Lear, Othello, Macbeth, Hamlet and etc. Two hundred of these were checked and the right ones chosen and placed on the shelf for rapid disposition when they have been assigned in English.

At 3:15 at the close of school, the greatest rush takes place for books and magazines are checked out over night. Twenty books were checked for the week and forty for the night. During this time four people worked like Trojans. When everything had been done and all requests had been satisfied—things seemed like a lull after a storm—one girl said, "May we go now? It is 4 o'clock."

After this rush is over, somewhere time must be found to mark properly all new books by the Dewey and the Cutter systems, make three cards for all the books, paste in envelopes or card holders and "date due" cards. All new magazines must be placed in folders and cards made for each one. The librarian is also custodian for the text books. From thirty to fifty books a week must be mended. Most of this work is done by Miss Rea. We hope to set up the machine and soon begin the sewing of books and really binding them. Mrs. Johnson has been missed by all, she was expert in this line. This is very difficult work and when a person begins binding no interruption should be made.

Books are the world's storehouse of wisdom, and librarians care for them just as guards protect the money in a bank. Both have a charge to keep, and the precious book which is the trust of the librarian contains wealth greater than gold and silver.

Senior English Program For Thanksgiving

The Thanksgiving program presented in assembly Wednesday morning was prepared and arranged by the senior English classes.

To open the program the assembly sang "America."

Rev. L. A. Doyle gave the Thanksgiving devotional.

Miss Elizabeth Caldwell and Mrs. Calvin Steen sang a Thanksgiving hymn and "Kentucky Babe."

The members of the Senior English classes, assisted by some freshmen gave the play, "Thanksgiving Time in Plymouth."

Those who took part in the play were Charlene Batty, Mary Lou Bond, Geneva Bradford, Johnnie Hammonds, Billy Wester, Cleo Kirk, Margaret Camden, Roberta Medlen, Florine Cates, Frances Ruth Garrett, Cagerline Carmack, Joy Cardwell, Joe Rushing, Jim Simpson, Archie Huckabee, Leon Jones, Wayland Hale, J. D. Morrison, Edgar Owens and Floyd Bradford.

'Winds Baffle Chiefs In 68 To 0 Win

Floydada's gigantic machine walked over the Crosbyton Chiefs for an easy victory Friday, marking their fifth success in conference conflicts and upholding their unequalled record.

The Whirlwind's long-end runs, and power drives accounted for touchdowns throughout the entire game.

To the Spur team the Whirlwinds are expected to exert pressure equal to that put forth in the Crosbyton game.

The Spur Bulldogs played no game last week and are in as good a condition as ever before and they are expected to put up a stiff fight against the Whirlwind's swift backfield and sturdy line.

Band Practicing Formation
The band is busy working on a formation which spells out initials of Floydada High school to be used during the half of the Spur game.

The band will be divided into three groups and each will march on the field as a separate section to form the initials. A new turn is being perfected by the band to be used especially for this formation.

Nosey Reporter
Well, I'm back after an absolutely perfect vacation so you can't keep anything out of the paper any longer.

Since I've been back I have been looking around and I have some ideas for these poor lovelorn boys and girls. (Oh yes, I read those lovelorn letters and judging from the way each letter reads, I can just about say I know every one. I think some boys and girls in FHS are just made for each other. If I may use that term. For instance Harold Sparks and Helen Young. They would be a perfect couple. What about it, you two?)

Is it true that Nelda Fagan and Budd DuBois aren't so closely associated? What can it mean? You make a swell couple so patch things up, what do you say.

The bottom seems to have fallen out of another romance around here that was budding like a rose in spring. Gene Loran and Floy Jean Hale ought to do something about that.

Gene Collins should do more about that cute little freshman, La Juana Jo Sharp, running around here.

A little romance between Joe Rushing and Frances Keim is just in its prime. So it seems!

I think Kenneth D. Johnson and Daphne Lide would make a wonderful combination. What's wrong? Is Kenneth bashful?

I saw James Lovell with Faye Nell Ginn. Not bad, James!

I could tell plenty about our own trip to the Press clinic, but it being our privilege to keep secret anything we wish, I won't say anything about Oden Huey and 14th street, or the sore foot Florence had after walking from Tech to town three times.

Robert Warren was certainly whispering sweet nothings in Betty Eakin's ear Friday night. Sucker!

Who was it that had Dorothy Ann Floy Jean and Dorothy Tye interested at the prom at Lubbock and who was that cute guy that Cleo met?

Hit of the Week
Roy Baxter—Roy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Baxter of Fairview and is classified as a junior and is 16 years of age. He came to Floydada High this year and quickly made friends with everyone, both teachers and students. He is essential to the Whirlwind team on which he plays an important position in the line.

Supt. Travis Leaves For Convention

Supt. Walter Travis left Wednesday at Amarillo to attend the State Teachers association, which convenes 21-23. Mr. Travis is a member of the Credentials committee and will attend the business committee meetings as well as the programs of the convention.

Mr. Travis is a member of the house of delegates having been elected at the meeting of the West Texas State Teachers' association at Big Spring last March.

Six girls attended the Area meeting at Amarillo held for the Home Ec clubs Saturday. The theme of the program was "Wings over America," including Puerto Rico, Hawaii and South America. After this was a style show by the leading stores in Amarillo. The rest of the program was put on by different schools that were represented.

The girls that attended were Lois Burgett, Mary Francis Jones, Jackie Meadowbrook, Jean Wester and the officers, Margaret Camden, president; Josephine Britton, vice president; Roberta Medlen, secretary; and Arla Vee Bishop; also sponsors, Misses Georgia Mae Hall and Zelma Elliott.

The delegates had been selected at a call meeting November 13.

What's Seen On The Campus

A hangover? No, it's just the tassle on those new knitted caps the girls are wearing. And as far as sweaters are concerned, the Hays office would really have a job banning the girls' sweaters for they are definitely popular. In spite of the growing popularity of the parachute troops, full skirts are getting the "bum rush."

Plaid skirts are having their day and ribbons are two laps ahead of the nearest contender for hair decoration. Three quarter length socks haven't made a comeback yet (thank goodness) and the most unique (screw you) thing possibly in jewelry, is "in." Dirty saddle oxfords are squeaking their last breath and neat brown oxfords are taking their place.

The boys are sprouting "V" for victory ties and hats that sit on the back of their heads. Striped socks are losing ground foot by foot. Loud shirts are growing hoarse in spite of the boys' continued approval. Mustaches are not being seen this year (but they're there we think). Ties are still reserved for special occasions (funerals and necktie parties).

A new crease is pressed trousers, not so many tweeds now however.

This is as far as we will discuss the clothing problem but just keep your eyes open for duds and keep up with the latest.

Vocational Agriculture is one of the courses offered to rural boys that come into Floydada to high school. This year sixty boys are taking the course. Each boy taking the course has one or more projects with which he works during the year to try to learn through the use of improved practices, the things he is taught in the school room.

This year the boys have joined the "Food for Freedom" campaign and have the following projects: 20 pigs for pork, 10 cows for milk production, 21 sows for pig production, 11 calves for beef, 247 hens for egg production, 11 heifers for calf production, 94 acres of grain sorghums for feed, 16 acres of cotton for lint production, 10 acres of hay for feed, and 28 head of ewes for lamb production.

A Defense Training school in auto mechanics is being sponsored by the local school officials. The school started on September 29 and will close on December 6. The school runs 3 hours per night for five nights per week for 10 weeks. Nineteen boys enrolled in the course and at present there are 16 still enrolled. The object of the school is to give boys between the ages of 17 and 23 first hand training in simple auto mechanics to enable them to care for and repair their cars and tractors at home on the farm.

Why be a Ham in Carving One? Expert Shows Easy, Modern Way

If they snicker when you start to carve, you'll be comforted by these kind words from Max O. Cullen, carving authority. "It's easy to learn the right way, and the right way is the easy way," says Cullen, who is shown at the right explaining to Pete Smith, producer of motion picture shorts bearing his name, and Ann Morris, M-G-M player, the fundamentals of carving a ham, during the recent filming of "Culinary Carving," an educational short in which Cullen was featured.

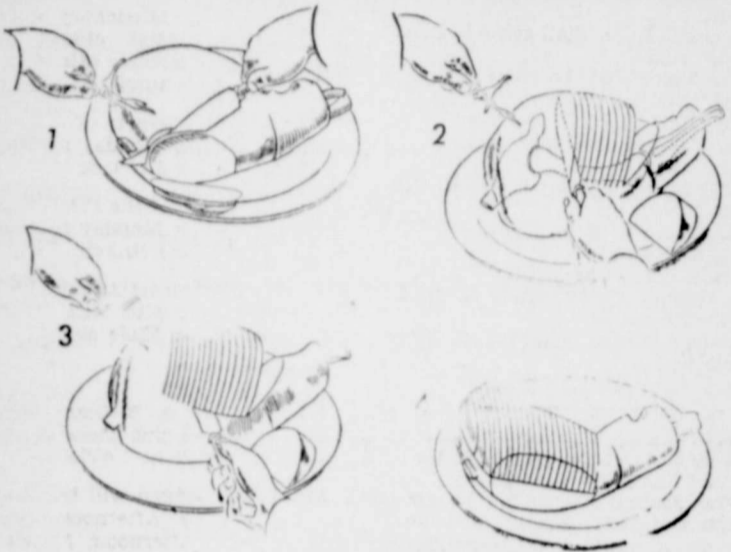

Proper tools and a sharp knife are of first importance, says the expert. Then you can proceed with confidence, if you will follow his simple directions as shown by the diagrams and instructions below.

1. Place ham with fat side up, shank end to carver's right. Cut two or three slices parallel to the length of the ham from the smaller meaty section.

2. Turn the ham so that it rests on the cut surface. Holding firmly with the fork, cut a small wedge shaped piece from the shank end. Then proceed to cut thin slices down to the leg bone until the sitch bone is reached.

3. With the fork still in place, release the slices by running the knife along the bone and at right angles to the slices. For additional servings, turn and carve other side of ham.

4. If more servings are required, the ham is turned back to its original position on the platter with the fat side up and the slices are carved at right angles to the bone. These slices are not so large as those from the cushion section, but they make attractive servings for the table.

Mother Of Mrs. Zimmerman Died Sunday

Last rites for Mrs. J. A. Staley, mother of Mrs. Fred Zimmerman were held at 2 p. m. Tuesday. She died Sunday at her Wichita Falls home after a long illness. Mrs. Zimmerman was with her mother at the time of her death. Mr. Zimmerman, who was at Adrian, Texas harvesting feed, was notified and attended the funeral rites.

Mrs. Staley, prominent in religious and charity activities, was born in Missouri. She was the daughter of Hugh S. and Annie Fish Blair. She came to Texas in 1883 and settled in Montague county. On September 17, 1884 she was married to Joseph Albert Staley who died September 20, 1932.

The couple moved to Burkburnett in 1907 where they witnessed the great oil boom. They moved to Wichita Falls in 1918. Since the death of her husband, Mrs. Staley had maintained complete management of the Staley interests. Her companion for the past several years has been Mrs. J. L. Keevil.

Mrs. Staley has been the donor to many substantial and worthy donations through the Christian church at Wichita Falls, and the local Christian church.

Survivors of the deceased include two sons, L. M. Staley of Ringgold and C. H. Staley of Frederick, Oklahoma; three daughters Mrs. W. L. Hawkins of Wichita Falls; Mrs. Chester Wynn of Tyler and Mrs. Zimmerman. Another son, the late J. I. Staley, died in March.

Dr. O. L. Shelton, former pastor of the Wichita Falls Christian church, assisted by Dr. Fred C. Eastham, of the First Baptist church of that city conducted the funeral. Burial was made in the Staley mausoleum at Rosemont.

Price Brought Home Sunday; Recovering

E. S. Price, city water superintendent of Floydada, was able to be brought home Sunday afternoon from Gainsville, where he spent a week in a hospital, following a car accident at 5 o'clock Sunday morning November 9. He stood the trip well and although he will have to remain in bed for several weeks, he said Tuesday afternoon he was feeling fine.

Ralph Hammonds made the trip for Mr. Price in the Harmon ambulance and he was also accompanied home by his wife who had gone to her husband soon after the accident.

Mrs. Price thought it was rather a peculiar coincidence that he had ridden in the ambulance the last two times there had been an occasion for its use. The time previous he had accompanied Mr. Hammonds to Plainview for a patient. Mr. Price was on a hurried business trip to Denison and was caught and dragged on the cowcatcher of a Katy freight train at a street intersection in the city of Gainsville. The car was almost completely demolished.

EDITORIALS

On the wintry weather front: No information this week. In fact, we are disappointed and discouraged. Apparently we are unable to read the signs which must be everywhere abundant and apparent, and while we have had some help from friends around over the country the reports are contradictory and confusing.

When is the ox in the ditch? Does it profit one to work on Sunday until the ox really is down? We do not know and this is not to offer a discussion from the theological point of view. We do know, however, there is a deep-set belief in many quarters that Sunday work does not pay, that the Lord knew what he was about when he specially set apart a day for rest in the dispensation at the dawn of man's civilized existence. The question comes to mind in view of the work that has piled up on farmers in Floyd county in the past sixty days. Everything in the world to do and have they been getting it done! But not enough men to do what has to be done and at least three jobs that should have been finished 30 days ago. Many plows were going Sunday and many row and broadcast binders, but on the other hand we have any number of readers who, in long experience, have not yet profited themselves or seen others prosper from working on Sunday. Another but: The biggest manufacturing concerns in the world, like the steel companies work on seven-days a week shifts. They cannot let their fires die down after they are started. Sunday morning is just another work-day for the shift that hits on Sunday. And they have profited beyond the fancied dreams of any Floyd county man. Thus one goes around in a circle trying to arrive at truth. Perhaps truth for me would be one thing. Truth for you another.

A peculiar fact is in evidence as regards the labor shortage in the plains country. While feed shocks by the thousands are waiting to be stacked, any part of the country which has cotton ready for harvest can get all the hands in the world that are needed. A Fort Worth cotton picker the other day said he had been working in the country between Brownfield and Slaton. There seemed to be enough cotton there in the first picking to keep everybody busy until Christmas. But in ten days the swarm of Mexicans, Negroes and white men had every white field cleaned up and were ready for the next area where picking appeared to be good. He was on his way right then hunting another place to light. Probably when we speak of a labor shortage we only mean a shortage of the kind of labor we need. There still seems to be no doubt there is ample help to do what is to be done if you have the kind of work that prospective employes are fitted to do.

A complaint we have against the administration has nothing to do with the neutrality act. Too much that the Germans know and know well is being kept from our own people. It is our country, it will be our war, the people are paying and are going to pay the bills. We are not going to lose any war with Germany when and if we get into a shooting contest, but when we get through and get to licking our wounds we are going to find out a lot of things we do not know now. It is a peculiarity of the bureaucratic state of mind, with which the president is surrounded, to believe that some third assistant in Washington can attend to the people's business better than the people can attend to it themselves. On the contrary, the fact is that when the people know the truth they will do the wise and the righteous thing.

Sayings by Col. Massie: "A farmer can build a hog and sheep proof fence around his place and with the savings pay for the wire in two years."

Whether the farm machinery repair parts shortage is of the same brand as the "oil shortage" on the eastern seaboard or whether it is real, the result will be the same to the Floyd county farmer. He will have to fall in line, check his machinery, order his necessary repair parts now in order to get them for next spring. The Department of Agriculture has given fair notice that is what is going to happen. Head off difficulties next spring by checking farm machinery now, they say. Also there will be less fence wire, less nails, less of the other iron and steel materials we are used to having in abundance. While we know there are piles and piles of steel and iron, mountain high, all over the country, the war scare is on and the fever mounting. The war and the navy departments can't afford to take chances. Through the OPM, therefore, they tag the steel for armament requirements, either actual or potential. If you had rather run your machinery next spring than to holler because you can't get parts, keep in mind to check up this winter. We are about as nearly positive we are right about this as one can be about anything.

"The war and other conditions have practically wiped out our export trade. As world supplies of wheat continue to pile up it is imperative that the wheat farmers of the Southwest plant only those varieties that are in demand—the varieties of wheat that make the finest flour and the best bread."—County Agent J. M. Hatton, Hansford County, Texas.

BADGE OF PATRIOTISM

Because of greatly increased responsibilities in the national defense program the Red Cross has appealed to the nation for a 1941 membership comparable to that of the first World War when more than 18,000,000 adult Americans gave their support. Membership in the Red Cross is more than a sentimental endorsement of good will. The entire machinery of Red Cross peacetime operations has been geared into a vital part of our military and civilian defense. Red Cross membership dollars thus are transformed into a tangible means of protecting the American way of life.

The Red Cross is on the job with the Army and Navy here and abroad, providing an important link of communication between the service man and his family back home. With 2,000,000 men under arms this task has grown almost tenfold. The corps of Red Cross field directors is assisting with experienced counsel and with financial aid to solve the problems of our service men and their families back home.

Red Cross volunteers are giving their blood for emergency transfusions in the Army and Navy. In the coming year some 10,000 Red Cross nurses will have been inducted for military and naval service. Uniformed volunteers are nearing completion of 40,000,000 surgical dressings requested by the Surgeons General of the Army and Navy.

For its part in the civilian defense program, the Red Cross has undertaken the training of 100,000 Nurse's Aides, an auxiliary corps of volunteers to help relieve the current shortage of registered nurses. During the coming year 1,000,000 men and women will be taught Red Cross first aid as a civilian preparedness measure. Disaster relief preparedness is being widened to meet the challenge of sabotage, fire, explosions and to stand as a backlog of readiness in the event of sporadic bombing or armed invasion. Nutrition and Home Nursing courses will be extended to additional thousands as protective health measure.

These are the reasons why the Red Cross asks your support this year. Your membership button is a badge of patriotism, a way you can express your belief in America.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

Nelle Witt Spikes

I stepped out early this morning and saw Autumn, her dress covered with white frost, warming her cold hands by the fire of the blazing pear tree. The sun also held out rays of light as if to thaw the white mists of the day. I thought the President called in all the gold and it was buried safely deep in dark dungeons, but I have found this not true. Some one has hung gold leaves on the apricot tree, and I see gold dollars, fresh from the mint, hanging on graceful poplar and spreading cotton wood trees. This proves that gold cannot be kept from the eyes of man, even though he buries it deep from the sun.

Oh, the hurry of these sunny fall days! It seems sometimes we go round flopping like a chicken with its head cut off, but crops are being gathered, wheat land prepared for sowing. Somehow we slipped in seven bales of cotton gathered last week. I left my duties at the house undone to haul help and water to the fields and cotton to the gin. We snatched what we could find to eat, a piece of hard cold corn bread will stay hunger if needed. Wearily we went to bed at night to lay awake awhile and plan for another day. Indian wigwags appeared like magic in the field as seven shockers went down the stubble. A good week's work but only a beginning of the work to be done.

Early last Monday morning, Joe Ellis and I went to Plainview to have the car worked over at my brother's garage. It was a lovely morning, clear blue as the eyes of a happy child. It was a golden morning with the sunshine of a smiling sun. It was a silver morning for lakes like mirrors reflecting the peaceful cattle and the blue and gold of the day. The pavement was a magic ribbon pulling our car smoothly along. It was a smiley day. Everyone at our stop at Petersburg smiled and spoke to us. And especially nice was the smile and words of appreciation of this column from the editor, Mr. Rambo. The car dipped down one hill to climb another. It was a busy day. Crawling tractors pulled combines and one-ways, and wheat drills. Orange trucks made spots of flaming color as they speeded with fuel for the farmers. It was a day of good smells. The scent of burning weeds and coal smoke from the busy signs, of turnips and greens and baking sweet potatoes and pumpkin pies from the farm homes. A smell of printer's ink as we watched the Herald being printed. It was a happy day for we found our sweet friend, Mrs. Pearl Davis, getting well at the hospital and our visit with my brother, Guy Witt and his family. It was a day to store up peace and sweetness for days that would not be so good. It was a day of music, band practicing for Armistice day, the music of humming farm tools and of big wheels running the press and gins purring as they made bales of cotton.

I never saw as many browns. From the lightest tan to the darkest Vandike all the in-between, the golden, the reddish, the gray-brown. The country looked like a home demonstration agent had had women making a hooked rug of fall colors. Greens were the soft yellowish of the volunteer wheat, the bluish of roadside weeds, the hunter's of some trees. Yellows blazed from trees, and flowers shone like sunshine in yards. A happy, happy day, for Joe and I.

I have a cousin at Lubbock who drills wells. He was drilling the second well on his lots and a man asked "Why are you drilling another well on your lots?" "Well," my cousin replied, "I thought some one would come along wanting a well drilled and I would have this one ready to sell him."

My son and his family spent the week-end with us. It is so nice to have them come as for several years, once a year was about all we saw them.

Old friends, the Smiths who once lived south of us, came yesterday to see us, as did Mr. and Mrs. Oran Wheeler. It was a very pleasant afternoon. Nothing smells better than a freshly papered room and laundered curtains. Poem selected as best read for the week:

There Shall Be Peace

(By Thomas Curtis Clark)
There shall be peace;
The bitter strife shall cease;
The beat of war shall again seek its den;
The angel, Love, shall come to dwell with men—
And there shall be peace.
There shall be peace;
Joy shall on earth increase;
Just as of old shall men awake at dawn
With unshaken hearts; life shall run sweetly on—
And there shall be peace.
Peace will abide;
No more shall war betide;
The demon, Greed, shall languish with the years;
The reign of Right shall banish fears and tears—
And there shall be peace.

BOYS' RANCH

(This ranch is the Amarillo Boys' Ranch.)
There is a home on Tascosas plain
For boys who once knew sorrow and pain;
And though it isn't an old southern manse,
No exchange could be made of their own Boys' Ranch.

They once were boys of the city street,
A little hungry, with cold bare feet;
Unprivileged, helpless little lads,
Facing an uncertain future ahead.

But through the bigness of one man's heart,

The Boys' Ranch made its early start. It has grown and expanded 'till now its name. Is found in the books of national fame.

That man was a man with a heart of gold. He dreamed of a place where all got a chance. His dream came true with the famous Boys Ranch.

These boys now have courage, hope and faith, No matter their creed, their color or race; Their young lives transplanted to God's own soil Are now living with nature and honest toil.

A nation is judged by its love for its youth. In this example we have learned a truth; And to the generous, the wise, it would seem, A true compensation for a wonderful dream.

MY AUNTIE'S BUSTLE

In the days when clothes were not scanty I went to live with an auntie. At the close of a day She took me to my first Oper-A We went down the aisle Usher, Auntie, Myself, Uncle was the style.

Auntie wore a dress so grand A bustle was just below the back waist band, That helped brace the train. My, it was a graceful thing. But I forgot it was there And kept gazing everywhere.

Suddenly I stepped on it, Then there was a split. This bustle of shining wire Could be seen from everywhere Did Auntie blush and hide her face? No, with the most gentle grace She lifted the train and hid The damage her niece did.

Marked by an attendance from a score or more of neighboring communities and by a masterly dedicatory address by Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college of Lubbock, the banquet featuring the completion of the new Harmony school building last night was a pronounced step in fostering the community good will and furthering the betterment of scholastic and social life of the county.

"Dedicated to the interests of the plains," the Lockney Cotton Oil company's new mill at Lockney begins actual operations Friday of this week. As an introductory feature the plant will be thrown open to the public and a formal opening staged.

A frost, accompanied by a freeze stiff enough to complete the job of killing the cotton, occurred Thursday night of last week. Earlier frosts which had nipped the cotton had only killed completely in limited areas.

For the fourth consecutive year, the Floydada High Whirlwinds will meet the Slaton Tigers on Thanksgiving day to do battle for the football supremacy of District 2. ## Crosbyton Fails To Make Dent In Whirlwinds

Green And White Squad Runs Roughshod Over Crosby County Boys

Coaches Floyd Murry and Ernest Kelly gave all their reserves a workout last Friday afternoon against the Crosbyton Chiefs, luckless and crippled tailenders of District 4-A conference football, and still the score climbed, as the Whirlwinds took the game by a score of 68 to 0.

Don Anderson, fullback for the visitors, was really good but some members of his team didn't know their positions nor how to play them, the fans thought.

After Rushing ran a touchdown over tackle from the 40-yard line and kicked the extra point in the first minute of play, to be followed by a touchdown by Rutledge in a punt return, within five plays thereafter, and Loran skirted right end for a touchdown on a lateral, the coaches began to feed in reserves.

But in the second quarter it was even worse, with Loran carrying the ball on an end-sweep and a plunge through the line for two scores, and Allen and Conner both scoring also. In the third quarter with Conner master minding the game, Morrison scored and Ross soon followed with a punt return.

In the fourth the Green and White squad scored a safety and one touchdown. The safety came on a blocked punt which three Floydada men covered in a scramble off the football field. Allen scored the final counter of the day when he swept around end on a fake reverse. Statistics indicate the Chiefs made one first down. They attempted 16 passes, 12 of which were knocked down and four intercepted. Their running game was bogged down from the first quarter.

In the field day of scoring, Rushing is credited with one touchdown and three kicks for extra point, Loran three touchdowns and two kicks for extra point, Allen with two touchdowns, one a punt return, Rutledge one touchdown, Conner one, Morrison one, and Ross one.

Part of the Chief's hard luck of the season has been a scourge of bolts which has kept three to five men on the bench during the season. Friday they also had three men in the line who would have been on the bench with injuries if sufficient good reserves had been available for Coach Brewer to use.

Banded Spoonbill Duck Slain By Local Hunter

One of the best-pleased duck hunters in Floyd county over the week-end was Deputy Sheriff Walter D. Hollums who killed a spoonbill hen that had been banded by the Biological survey in 1940.

In addition to having duck for breakfast the next morning, Hollums had the pleasure of advising the survey that he had slain the duck bearing 1940 band number 603710. He was hunting on the farm of his father A. L. Hollums at the time.

He has asked the department to advise him the correct name of the duck. He doesn't know whether spoonbill is just a local name for the bird or whether the fowl of this species is known officially by another name. The Biological survey usually advises where the bird was banded and the species.

Increased Farm Income Shown For September

Thirty per cent above last year, the Texas farmers' income during September totaled $100,609,000 as compared with $76,698,000 for the same month a year ago, the University Bureau of Business Research reported last week.

For the first nine months of this year, income was $330,512,000, an increase of 25 per cent over the corresponding period of 1940, when the total was $264,906,000.

With the exception of September, 1937, the year of the record cotton crop in Texas, this is the best September showing for more than a decade.

The report said part of the improvement resulted from the fact that cotton ginnings in central and southern Texas counties were delayed, thus causing more than the normal per cent of the annual production of cotton in these areas to be ginned in September.

Cash income from livestock and livestock products is being well maintained and is sharply above that of September, 1940, from these sources, a result almost entirely of the rise in price level over a year ago, since marketings remained virtually unchanged in comparison with September last year.

Texas may be chosen as the proving ground to test the feasibility of growing cork in the U. S. according to information from the U. S. Government of Agriculture's Forest Service. It is said the climate of parts of Texas is very similar to that of the mountainous portions of Spain, Portugal and North Africa, the national habitat of the cork oak. ## Drivers Licenses To Bring Texas Large Income

Driving an automobile will cost Texans somewhere near $1,500,000 this year under the new 50-cent drivers license fee. It has been estimated about 2,000,000 automobile drivers will have to renew their licenses during the year and the renewal fee is 50 cents. The fee is charged under the new car certificate of title law. Cars bought before October 1, 1939, will require a certificate of title by January 1, 1942.

Methodist Church

The pastor having been appointed again to Floydada would like to see and preach to a good congregation of friends who care to come. A warm welcome is always extended to all the friends who care to visit the First Methodist church. Be a friend and bring a friend.

"We Would See Jesus" is the subject and text for the morning sermon. For the evening hour the pastor will use a text from Isaiah 6, "I Saw The Lord." These two new sermons are designed to set forth the purpose of the church for the conference year.
