Wholesale Oil Dealers Ask Farmers Aid

Tire And Truck Conservation Problem On Which All Must Help

Wholesale oil and gasoline dealers of Floydada seeking to cooperate in the defense program, in the conservation of trucks and tires, this week are broadcasting an appeal to farmers of the area to assist them in every way possible in this conservation.

West Texas, admittedly, has more big users of gasoline and oil products, due to the large number of tractors employed in farming operations, and the contribution therefore, in this section through the saving of cars and rubber, is even more pronounced than in most other farming regions.

The oil and gasoline dealers urge farmers to try and call at the warehouses when in town, and carry oil purchases home with them in their cars whenever possible; to anticipate their needs and buy in larger quantities, and in other ways that will suggest themselves.

This week in the Hesperian the wholesale dealers have directed individual appeals to the farmers to help them conserve, to the end that delivery service can be maintained.

On the part of the oil dealers, we find that they are heavily stocked with products, and able to immediately care for almost unlimited orders. Farmers can help the cause of patriotism by complying in every way possible.

Barrels Will Be Checked

Another headache for the wholesale oil dealer and perhaps to the farmer to some extent, is the problem of barrels or drums. The Petroleum Coordinator for National defense is telling the oil people the metal used for drums is needed in national defense and is going to require an inventory and accounting for all drums outstanding now, either in the hands of the wholesaler or his customer.

This new regulation is now being introduced among the wholesale oil dealers who are going to have to account to their respective companies the number and whereabouts of drums and thenceforth invoice drums to the customer as they go out and invoice them back into the warehouse. The regulation means, in effect, that barrels used for storage are not going to be available in the future. While the new policy it is hoped and expected, will not cost the farmer any money his co-operation will have to be had in accounting for barrels.

Tire Trouble Prevention Good Practice

Farmers Will Have To Wait Their Turn For New Tires, Tubes

Floyd county farmers believe that prevention of tire trouble is as important as its cure, according to Paul Snodgrass, county USDA War board.

Farmers throughout the county already are exerting cautions to see that foreign matter is kept from treads, that tires are free of grease and oil, rims straightened, stored equipment is jacked up to relieve pressure, tires are shadowed from excess sunlight, and that cracked tires are painted and plugged, the board chairman said.

"Certificates for new tires may be issued for tractors, farm implements, and trucks used to haul farm products directly to market," Snodgrass said, but explained they could not be obtained for transportation of farm products to ultimate consumers. He also added that tires could not be purchased if the rationing board had already issued certificates comprising the monthly total.

"This simply means farmers will have to wait their turn along with everybody else," Snodgrass said.

Recapping, retreading and vulcanizing tires on automobiles and farm implements are other precautionary measures farmers may follow in preventing tire trouble. Since correct air pressure adds to life-span of tires for tractors and farm implements periodic checks for proper pressure should be made, the chairman said.

CHILD SEVERELY BURNED BEMOANS THE LOSS OF HIS ONLY PAIR OF PANTS

Little Jimmy Howell, 7 year old, had a very sad accident recently while burning trash. He caught his clothing on fire, and not only was severely and painfully burned from his knee to his ankle but lost the only pair of trousers he possessed. Although it will be several weeks before the little fellow will be able to wear another pair of pants, his only thought is a pair of trousers to take the place of his prized possession lost in the accident.

"He is a very good little patient" his attending physician said "But I lose a dime every time I dress his wounds. I give him a dime not to cry but the burn is so severe that the tears have to come."

Jimmy has been a resident of Floydada for several months. He makes his home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Howell who live at the Blue Goose tourist camp. They have six other children.

WHAT SHALL WE DO?

Have we all continued to sleep while the hail insurance dictates terms? Did they teach us to get ready to serve ourselves or serve the insurance man? Should we come together and plan our future procedure and stand us one man or go as all did last season?

In unison there is strength and strength was lacking among we farmers when every man insured thoughtlessly and settled independent of his neighbors' interest.

Let some farmer that sees through what happened and what is justice for our future call a meeting and take steps that will put us active and safe for our future.

If the laws need to be made over or amended now is the time to begin. Our representative is here on the ground and can be better instructed as to our wants and needs than when we are here and he is Austin.

Conserve Burlap Sacks; Shortage Is Imminent

Conserve burlap sacks as a safeguard against a probable shortage Paul Snodgrass, chairman, county USDA War board, urged Floyd county farmers this week.

Shipping between the United States and India, from which burlap is important almost exclusively, has been reduced because of war in the Far East, the chairman pointed out.

"At the same time buying of burlap has been reduced, our uses have increased," Snodgrass said. New uses include the packaging of foods for the army and navy, certain chemicals, and other articles, as well as items shipped abroad under the Lend-Lease act.

Approximately 80 per cent of total burlap imports go into manufacture of bags and about three-fourths of all burlap bags are used to package commodities which farms buy and sell. About 459 million yards of burlap were used in sales or purchase by farmers during 1939-40, the chairman said.

To off-set probable shortage of burlap, efforts are being made to expand production of coarse cotton fabrics as substitutes. Heavy demands for tents, uniforms and sandbags already have been placed on cotton fabric manufacturers and appreciable increases for other uses cannot be expected too quickly, the chairman said.

"Handling bags more carefully so they can be used again, returning bags to dealers for re-use, and repairing slightly damaged bags are practical ways farmers can off-set the shortage," Snodgrass said.

Uphold Morale Service Club Members Job

To uphold the morale of the people on the home front as well as that of the boys on the firing line is the big job that confronts citizens in general and members of service clubs in particular, during the days ahead said Richard F. Stovall addressing members of the Lions club at their luncheon recently.

"A cheerful, courageous stand is called for, in which leaders point to the goal of victory rather than to the losses and the heart aches of war," he said. "This is the problem and the challenge."

The speaker was talking to the subject "America at War," third part of four discussions scheduled by the club.

"WHAT CAN I DO TO HELP?"

Every time a tire is purchased it reduces the rubber supply in the United States. Every time a truck or a truck part is purchased it not only reduces the inventory on these items, but also the amount available for military purposes. We can do a great deal to help conserve these supplies. We know that all of our customers want to co-operate in every possible way to help conserve these supplies so vitally needed by Uncle Sam in the war. Here are a few ways in which the consumer of large quantities of motor fuel may help:

- 1—In ordering motor fuel give as many days advance notice as possible so that our trucks in going in your direction may serve several customers on the one trip.
- 2—Order in as large quantities as possible, thus saving delivery trips.
- 3—When in town with your pick-up or trailer, make plans to pick up such needed small items as lubricants and kerosene.

WE WANT TO SERVE YOU JUST AS EFFICIENTLY IN THE FUTURE AS IN THE PAST. THESE SUGGESTIONS ARE OFFERED ONLY AS A MEANS OF OFFERING WAYS IN WHICH WE CAN ALL CO-OPERATE IN THE NATIONAL DEFENSE PROGRAM!

Floating Raft Tells Tragic Sea Story

A story of a tragedy of the briny deep, the kind that will be re-enacted many times over in the next few years, was told mutely by a floating raft that washed up on the beach at Puerto Rico recently.

Crabtree, who is in the photographic service at Losey field at Puerto Rico, wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Crabtree about the incident in this manner:

"Yesterday afternoon a raft floated in to the beach about 10 miles from here. It was built on four empty oil barrels and was about four feet square. On the raft was a Lewis machine gun of the type used in the English army. There were 20 rounds of ammunition with it. The guns and ammunition were wrapped up in a slicker. In one pocket of the slicker was a shaving brush which was made in England. Also on the raft was one of the barrels with the word Liverpool, and on the side of the raft was carved 'AL-22'. On one of the boards of the raft was carved the initials J.C.

"The raft had been out for several months. The gun was all salt water rust but it pretty fast. The shaving brush was made in 1940 so it couldn't have been out over a year. There were two other articles on the raft, a flare and about 50 feet of rope.

"We went down there and made all kinds of pictures of the raft. Then we made several shots of the articles that were on it. They will be turned over to the military intelligence office. After much work on the gun they were able to make out the model and serial number. They should be able to trace them pretty easily. No telling what the true story is. No one will ever know all of it."

Will Install Air Raid Siren In Floydada Soon

At the insistence of state and federal authorities Floydada municipal authorities are proceeding with protective preparations against the eventualities of war for the local populace.

Among the precautions being taken are:

(1) The installation of an air raid siren which will be put up sometime next week, having already been acquired. Instead of buying an expensive machine a raucous noise-making whistle is being improvised from a tin whistle donated by Farmers Co-operative Gas company.

(2) Call issued this week by Fire Chief V. L. Elliott for 15 volunteers to serve as auxiliary firemen. In case of a raid from the air with incendiaries a much larger force of trained men than is available as regular members of the department will be needed. The auxiliary helpers must learn the technique of the firemen's job as well as methods of combating fire from the air and must be ready on call.

(3) First aid volunteers numbering at least 35, who will be schooled in first aid measures against possibility of attack on the community. Even a small raid would overtax the medical and hospitalization facilities of the community. Elliott pointed out and authorities are insisting that more help from volunteer sources be made ready for the emergency. Too late to make preparations when it happens. A regular series of lessons will be given when a class is obtained. Both men and women volunteers can be used, and a minimum of 35 persons are needed.

Blackouts Are Expected It is altogether probable that Floydada will be asked to take part in a practice blackout for the area as soon as preparations have been completed otherwise, said Elliott. While the idea may be pooh-poohed locally he said that authorities are insisting on every precaution and preparation. Ample notice will be given.
