We can't help but think from the signs we see and the things we hear that the rubber situation will clear up considerably in a year or so, and that most likely not many cars will be tire-less if we run machines carefully and watch the tire hazards. Within that time, some research workers tell us, they are going to have several kinds of synthetic rubber and rubber made of latex and reclaimed material, each better for the particular kind of job it is expected to do than the kind now used. Don't think that all the rubber manufacturers in America are asleep on the job, either. They are raising heaven and earth to get supplies from Mexico, South America and elsewhere, not only for the armed forces but also to put John Citizen back on the road doing his normal job. By the time every interested company or promoter has got through with his particular contribution to the cause we feel they will have gone a long way toward solving the problem, and that the rubber tonnage will be a way, way up. May be just wishful thinking, but after the scare settles down and the authorities can finish and look at the inventories they are going to find a good many million tires on shelves over the country that the armed forces cannot use for one reason and another and these, we hope, will be put into the service for which they were intended.

In our strenuous efforts to help win the war and do all we can to get the enemy whipped with the least loss of our boys now fighting in all the seven seas and on all continents, we may overlook the fact that getting the job done right here at home is part of the big push. And the more nearly we can maintain the useful flow of our life efforts toward that end the better we will do. What we mean is that turning things upside down just for the hell of it doesn't help win anybody's war. If we must do without tires or sugar or whatnot, well and good, by all means. But the sinews of war at the battlefield and the morale that wins the last battle comes from out on the prairies, and the will to do in the little homes of the common people.

When two forces of nature, each irresistible, are opposed to each other, it is a bad situation. A matter which has transpired the past week in earthy affairs has been the battle between February thunder which always brings April frost, and the mesquites which budded out days ago and cackleburrs which also have come up in the places around where cackleburrs do come up. Mesquites and cackleburrs from time immemorial in the high plains country have been too smart to miss the signs of spring. They always wait until it is safe to expose their little pistils and tendrils. But neither does the February thunder sign ever fail. The situation leaves the nature lovers in about as bad a position as the negro was who claimed that God could do anything he wanted to do. The colored boy who was arguing with him put it up to him this way: "All right, then, can God nriake a rock He can't lift?"

One thing about it, nobody can complain on the amount of April rainfall this year, that is nobody in this portion of Texas. Everybody ought to have plenty of moisture in their fields. But we know some people who do not have, or will not have by the time they get through planting, unless it rains some more. These people are those who for one reason and another have not got their row crop land plowed, and here it is nearly May 1. By the time they get through plowing and shaping their land up for a crop it will have been dried out on top so they can't get their stuff up without more moisture. This is especially true because they will be so anxious they'll start plowing before the ground is dry enough and this black dirt of ours is going to break up into little hard clods that will be quite inhospitable to the seeds dropt in amongst them.

October and early November wheat, planted in spots around over the county last fall where it was dry enough, certainly looks good these days. Apparently this wheat, together with the thousands of acres of the volunteer crop, is doing mighty good. But the late December plantings are looking especially weakly and spindly, with little or no stools, and stems that look like they had suffered for lack of something. Some say the answer is that the greenbugs got hold of the young wheat at a more vulnerable time and just choked it down.

One of the reasons for so much conversation, Triple A rulings, et cetera, over volunteer wheat grows out of this fact that the late seeded wheat looks bad. For the first time in 15 to 25 years volunteer wheat looks about as good as the best sowed wheat and on many a farm the volunteer crop gives much more promise than the seeded ground where the spindly stalks look mighty sorry beside the healthy volunteer growth. The wheat growers in these scores of instances would like to save the volunteer and plow up an equal amount of the seeded crop. But the Triple A says no. Once seeded and measured that's your wheat crop. Inexperienced in such matters we wouldn't know, but we do imagine it is going to be painful to plow up good looking wheat to leave wheat that gives no promise. Apparently just another case where you add two and two and don't get four. The alternative as regards the volunteer is to let it stand if you want to, but if it is harvested at all it must be stored on the farm under bond and not sold and not fed.

We, the living, are following paths trodden by predecessors who often walked with weary feet to make more perfect that which has always lacked perfection but which has approached that goal as nearly as earnest and able men and women could come to it.—J. J. Taylor.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

By Nellie Witt Spikes
This is the time of year to quote poetry.

'Tis like the birthday of the world. When earth was born in bloom. The light is made of many dyes. The air is all perfume; There's crimson buds, and white and blue. The very rainbow showers Have turned to blossoms where they fell.

And sown the earth with flowers. —Hood.
And to bathe faces and hands in early morn dew of the grass to make one fair and beautiful, for on May day if one looks down in the sparkling waters of a well one's future husband will be seen. Of course this advice is for the young ladies. This is also the time to traipse after little chickens. They always need water or feed. They either are too warm or too cold. To get down on one's knees, however sore they be, and set out onions and cabbage and tomato plants. To milk cows that should, but do not, keep their hind feet on the ground. To shoe and throw at and miss old hens that love to scratch out newly planted seed. To wrinkle one's hands in cleaning suds, washing walls and woodwork. Busy days taking on extra work so that defense and offense will go forward, thankful at night for a soft bed. Too tried to let the worries of the day keep us sleepless and afraid.

Even the animals on the farm seem to be getting ready for the blackout. There are three black furry kittens, a baby mule colt that could not be seen a dark night and even some of the white pigs have black spots as if trying camouflage.

Well I have found that lovely Easter poem I searched so frantically for just before Easter. With it was a Christmas poem I intended using last Christmas. Wonder where in the world is that Mother's Day piece I put so carefully away? Mrs. Walter Gillon was so dressed up in Ralls one day last week. I told her so and she said she was as dressed up as a "city slicker."

On plant, set in the frame garden last October prove that. An onion set out in time. Makes April eating fine. There, Bill Sharpe of KGNC (check, yes right this time) there is some poetry for your poetic appetite and here is another Bill Sharpe a radio broadcaster. May come to some dire disaster. If he keeps on a bustin in On Lewis Norkyke's Exchange-in'.

Now I know this is not good poetry, but is there not a poet's license a body can claim who wishes to write his thoughts in rhyme? Anyway anyone could tell this morning when the queen of the Oklahoma crowd who were advertising their pioneer day May second paid more attention to Lewis than she did to Bill, that Bill was plain jealous. Now far from me to pour more fuel on a burning fire, but facts is facts.

Found. The maize, hegarl and sorghum seed the farmer failed to get last fall. Thicker than flies on a pan of buttermilk, the green shoots are coming in the fields. Perhaps the farmer can turn under the green fertilizer the farm papers are always telling about.

One of the most lovely things found in this week's reading, Pastures and Purple Valleys of song by Mary Heald Williamson in the Methodist May Adult Student. "Carl Sandburg, in Abe Lincoln Grows Up, sings of Lincoln's mother: Her dreams formed something strange and cherished along her way of life. She was sad with sorrows like dark stars in blue mist. The hope was burned deep in her that beyond the harsh clay paths, the everyday scrubbing, washing, fixing, the babble and the gabble of today there are pastures and purple valleys of song.

"Pastures and Purple Valleys"—not green pastures of the mid-day heat and activity, but valleys purple at twilight, when long shadows fall, the hard day's work is done and a mother sits on the stoop of a country cabin, looking beyond the range of darkening hills.

Today we too dream of something beyond the blood, sweat, and tears that form so large a part of our living. From country kitchen windows, from the plowing of a field from the merchandising of Main street, rural America looks for the pastures and purple valleys of song.

Jean Suits in her Chattergrams, Petersburg Journal, is all worked up about a simple hair-do some one has put in a magazine. She says in part: "It takes a strong back to shampoo your hair and a stronger arm to pin the curls in." Tut, tut Jean when the girls from the big city come to the farms to help the farmer milk the cows and sloop the hogs and run the tractor and hoe the cotton, she will not have to worry so much about hair-do simple or otherwise.

Here is a great big "Thank you" to Mrs. Jack Diggs for her lovely compliment. Many years we have known and loved Mrs. Diggs and always like to see her pleasant smile.

Poet's Corner

It's spring and in spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love, here is the feminine version.

ADORING EYES
By those who at her likeness gazed The face of Venus was ever praised With upturned, adoring eyes. Her statues have been made the mold Of love that's passion, love that's bold. But I believe not, I say that they are only lies.

The face that God gave to my love Is one which holds all powers above Descended from the skies. In it He puts the pathos, strife, The joy, the love, and all that's life. And so I gaze With upturned, adoring eyes. By Nancy C. Mobley

Some of my most cherished childhood memories are trips to the country to see my friend Nellie Witt Spikes. It was there I saw my first cherry tree.

A CHERRY TREE
In my childhood memory I still can see a cherry tree; Some times a mist of snowy white Like a film of silver light! Fragrant blossoms everywhere, Make the picture wondrous fair.

Sometimes that loaded cherry tree Was hung with ruby treasure; free To all the birds who came along; Filled the air with vibrant song. And little girls, sister and me— Enraptured over a cherry tree! Mary Dean Waters

This is a lovely spring picture to hang on the wall of memory. Spring on the prairies and plains are always beautiful.

Collected silvery mist Ran down the window pane; A veil was o'er bursting new life, And a song of spring Come to one through the wet air, Like strains from the muted strings Of a violin—subdued—

But the song of spring was there. Clusters of dainty white blossoms Were on the boughs of pear trees nearby. Blooms nestlings among new, green leaves— Tender offering of the season. A blue jay walked proudly Beneath the blossoming trees, And made the picture complete. —Anne Dodson Buck

Mrs. Leon Wheeler and son Gary Leon came Saturday for a visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Claud Price. Mrs. Wheeler's home is at Houston. She is the former Miss Brooksenell Price.

Who Knows—May Have Army Worm Again This Year

There is no way of knowing if the army worm will make his appearance again this year, but according to Jason O. Gordon, county agent, the sure sign would be the appearance of a pale brown or brownish-gray moth with a wing expanse of about 1 1/2 inches having a single small but prominent white dot in the center of each front wing. The moth should begin appearing some or soon thereafter and it will be about two to three weeks after the moths make their appearance and lay eggs that the eggs will hatch into worms which begin feeding upon small grain.

The moths are strong fliers but remain hidden during the day becoming active at night. They are attracted to lights and strongly so to sweets or decaying fruit.

The county agent is anxious for any reports where these moths have been seen.

Wheat For 15 1/2 Months

To the Hesperian
The report has gone out over this country that we have more than two years supply of wheat now on hand.

On April 3, 1942, after a Storage Survey by the Dept. of Agriculture, wheat stocks on farms April 1, 1942, are positions was 593,877,000 bushels. April 1942 U. S. crop report shows wheat stocks on farms April 1, 1942, 270,122,000 bushels. Making a total of 863,999,000 bushels of wheat in all positions in the U. S. April 1, 1942.

In Bulletin No. 30 the USDA figures the amount consumed and to be consumed in the year ending July 1, 1942, to be 670,000,000 bushels. Using these figures, and assuming all the wheat in storage to be merchantable, we had on hand April 1, fifteen and one-half months supply, instead of more than two years supply.

Must Increase Efforts

Washington April 21, 1942
Dear Editor,
An intensified War Bond Sales Campaign is being launched throughout the United States on Friday, May 1st.

The people of America must more than double their investments in War Bonds and War Stamps.

To this end, the Treasury Department is establishing a monthly quota for every county in the United States.

Labor and management are being called upon to see that at least ten per cent of every payroll goes into Bonds and Stamps.

This is a gigantic task and must be supported by the cooperation of all media.

We are sending you, beginning immediately, suggested material about the campaign.

Your assistance in the past has been a great help and in order to achieve our goal we must have your continued and vigorous support.

Sincerely,
H. Morgenthau Jr.
Secretary of the Treasury

Expect Highway 207 Contract Cancellation

Although they are proceeding with the construction of the WPA six-mile road building program on Highway 207 north through South Plains, local officials of the State Highway department are anticipating receipt of orders at most any time for cancellation of the contract for the last five miles of hard-surface to the Briscoe county line.

This contract was let in mid-March and was due to be started by Plains Construction company, successful bidder, about May 1. However, orders of the OPM froze all materials for road construction except for roads needed for military purposes. The order presumably covers such construction as that in the north part of the county, said R. T. Roane, resident engineer, this week.

Vegetable Insect Control Is Not Very Difficult

Follow a few simple rules and control of vegetable insects is not difficult, according to Jason O. Gordon, county agricultural agent, A. and M. College Extension service.

A duster may be obtained for a dollar up, but one may be made at home with a tin can, a stick and a piece of cheese cloth. Ask the county extension agents how it's done. Next, have ready a supply of insecticides for use at the first sign of insect injury. These are cryolite for control of bean beetles, cucumber beetle, cabbage worms and other insects which feed upon the fruit and foliage of the plants; rotenone and sulphur to control tomato fruit worm, flea beetles, plant lice and leaf hoppers; and concentrated pyrethrum dust for squash bugs, stink bugs and harlequin cabbage bugs. Watch the garden for the first sign of injury and dust both sides of leaves.

Apply poison bait late in the afternoon for control of cut worms, grasshoppers and adult wingless May beetle, or June bug. Poison bait also will control mole crickets which frequent sandy soils.

A bait made of cryolite, finely chopped carrots or turnips and wheat bran will control the adult vegetable weevil which attacks roots and foliage of carrots, turnips, radishes and beets, together with cabbage, mustard and other leafy vegetables.

To control the bluish-gray pill bugs, or sow bugs, which damage young tomato plants, sprinkle a mixture of two parts flour, two parts sugar and one part Paris green throughout the beds. Flea beetles, also dangerous to these plants may be controlled by dusting plants with rotenone and sulphur each seven to ten days.

HOW to SAVE those "Important Vitamins"

Your gas range is ideally suited to modern "waterless cooking" which saves vegetable vitamins and minerals. Because of its flexibility you can regulate the heat to any degree you need.

So use your gas range wisely—and follow these simple rules for food that is really health-giving:

- Cook vegetables in as small an amount of water as possible.
- Bring to boiling point quickly over high gas flame.
- When boiling begins, turn gas flame down and boil gently.
- Use covered utensils to keep steam in.
- Do not use soda, as it destroys vitamins in vegetables.
- Cook vegetables as short a time as possible.
- Serve foods soon after cooking.

Meal In Thirty Minutes Is Nutritious

Here is a suggestion for a meal to be prepared in thirty minutes. After a busy session at Red Cross work, or an afternoon spent tending your Victory garden. It is called a "Breaker" burger Grill, and it is economical as well as nutritious.

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons grated onion
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- 1 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup shredded bran
- 8 strips bacon
- 4 peeled firm bananas
- Melted butter

Mix beef, salt, egg and seasonings. Add 3 milk to bran and soak five minutes. Combine the two mixtures and form into eight patties about an inch thick. Wrap each with a strip of bacon. Arrange the meat on the top of rack, allowing about three inches between the surface of the meat and the source of heat. Broil about five minutes or until brown, then turn.

Fish For Food In 'Dry' Lakes Of The County

Bullhead catfish on the basis of 200 per acre surface of Floyd county's 'dry' lakes are going to be offered to co-operators of Floyd County Soil Conservation district through the office of Edgar H. Kemp, district conservationist, he announced this week and applications should be made now for delivery this fall, probably about September 1.

Several other types of fish will be available but generally the bullhead catfish will be suggested unless the lake owner especially desires fish of another kind. Certain types of bass, bream, crappie and channel cat will be delivered also about September 1.

August fish deliveries will include largemouth bass, bluegill bream, redear sunfish, calico bass, long-eared sunfish, channel cat and crappie. Other deliveries that can be made after October 1 include crappie, bream and channel cat.

These fish, which will be supplied in fingerling sizes, will serve the very important purpose of supplying food and can be made a part of the food program of practically every family in the county. Conservationist Kemp pointed out. Applications, he said, will be taken now and June 1 is the deadline for applications to be in his hands.

County Agent Jason O. Gordon also will take applications for fish and the offices of these two officials will co-operate to avoid duplications.

It is easy to overstock a lake or pond and applicants will find it good practice, Mr. Kemp says, to avoid asking for more fish than the body of water will support and give good growth. Essential knowledge as to stocking and care of fish will be given in the same way that proper care in feeding and handling live stock is profitable, conservation authorities declare. Fish are rich in proteins and vitamins and can contribute materially to the health and welfare of the rural family, it is declared.

BRAZIL NUT IS WILD CROP

A true prodigy of the jungle is the Brazil nut. Produced almost entirely within Brazil, the nut is one of the chief products exported from the Amazon river valley and is of considerable importance in trade between the United States and Brazil, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Strictly streamlined, the Brazil nut tree rises bare as a flag pole to a height of 75 or 100 feet, towering above most other jungle vegetation and topped with dark green leaves. Nuts form inside a heavy spherical pod and are gathered after falling to the ground. The entire Brazil nut supply comes from wild trees and is harvested by jungle workers who gather the pods from November to June. It is estimated that nuts are harvested from at least 100,000 trees every year and hundreds of thousands of trees are never touched.

The Brazil nut industry, operated almost entirely by natives, is eager to expand, says an article in the department periodical, Agriculture in the Americas. The supply is practically unlimited, and expansion depends on increased demand in the United States and the availability of shipping space. To some extent, the publication points out, Brazil nuts are interchangeable in the confectionary trade with cashew nuts which were imported from India before the war disrupted sea lanes.

MILK IS BIG BUSINESS

In 1941, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates, dairy products were the largest single source of income on American farms, making up 17 percent of the cash income from the sale of all crops and livestock combined.

Farm income from sale of dairy products has been increasing since 1939 and in 1941 was 20 percent larger than in 1940. The $1,830,000,000 income from milk in 1941 compares with $1,750,000,000 from cattle and calves, $1,250,000,000 from hogs, $1,000,000,000 from cotton and cottonseed, and $680,000,000 from wheat. Part of the income from the sale of cattle and calves was from dairy stock.

Ralls Attorney Talks At Rotary Club Wednesday

A recapitulation of the things that have brought on the brutalities of the present world conflict and speculation on what will be the part to be played by Rotarians when representatives of the world's governments are around the council tables to plan the post-war fate of the nationalities was the subject of Lloyd Wick's, Ralls attorney, who spoke at Floydada Rotary club Wednesday.

For what we may hope from the bath of blood and tears and how the problem of peace may be approached in mind instead of anger and hatred for enemies, were thoughts laid before the assembly.

N. W. Williams presented the program. Claud Benson of Ralls, was a visitor.

DRIED FRESH VEGETABLES TO EQUAL GREENGROCCER'S

Straight from the garden and into the pan is the best rule for saving vitamins in vegetables. Victory gardens, when wisely planted, make this quick trip possible, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Vegetables in the home garden are closer to the pan than vegetables obtained in any other way.

Taking the pan to the garden is another way of short-cutting the trip to save vitamins. In other words—locating the processing plants for drying, canning or freezing vegetables close to vegetable growing areas. The application of this idea for drying plants is relatively new.

Dehydration equipment is simple and need not be in huge units. Supplies can be delivered fresh and handled with the utmost speed and skill to save vitamin values.

In emphasizing quick handling in harvesting, hauling, trimming, blanching and drying vegetables, E. M. Chace of the U. S. Department of Agriculture says he believes that it is possible to produce dried vegetables that will contain more vitamins than the housewife is likely to get when she purchases the equivalent quantity of the same vegetable from the greengrocer.

Until success in dehydration becomes the rule, and until the dried products are distributed widely in containers which do not take wartime metals, the housewife's best chance to supply her family with ample vitamins is to buy over fresh vegetables as she can buy over the counter or—better still—to start her own Victory garden.

COTTON INSULATION BOOMING

About 25 times as much cotton insulation will be used this year as last—12 million pounds compared with half a million pounds,—the U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates. The Agricultural Marketing Administration says the new insulation material will go into defense housing and other buildings and into refrigerators, cars, trucks and other transportation outlets. In 1941 the Department actively promoted demonstrations of the new cotton insulation, and the increase in demand is regarded as a result of satisfactory experience in the early tests.

This new building material offers one promising outlet for part of the anticipated large carryover of lower grade short staple cotton. High grade long staple cotton is urgently needed for military purposes, and cotton farmers have been asked to plant plenty. But as Secretary Wickard recently pointed out, an estimated three-fifths of the cotton now produced is short staple, that is, 1 inch or shorter. Some of this is used for coarse fabrics, but much of it would be more serviceable in cotton insulation. Use of cotton insulation, says the Agricultural Marketing Administration, is not restricted by going into defense housing. Private individuals who are building or improving are not barred from using cotton insulation. It is easily installed in new houses at the time of building. It is applicable to existing dwellings in accessible parts, such as under the roof in attics, or in unplastered side walls.

Eight firms are now licensed to make cotton insulation. The Agricultural Marketing Administration will supply addresses and further information.

Bring on that Jap — Bugga Brigadier is a snappy little wire-haired pup whose master, Edward E. Williams of Dallas, is serving with the fighting fleet. Bugga would dearly love to bite a Jap and would give part of his daily hamburger meat for Navy Relief. The pup's plea for the worthy cause was answered by his mistress, Mrs. Williams, with a contribution sent to Gerald C. Mann, Austin, State chairman of the Navy Relief society.

Twenty-seven members of the company visited the Panhandle-Plains Dairy show at Plainview Tuesday and marched in the parade which marked the day's activities at noon. Their visit will be repaid by the Plainview troop on May 28, according to present plans.

BREED GRAINS FOR GRASS

Breeding and selecting new cereal varieties for their grass value instead of for grain production is a current activity of the U. S. Department of Agriculture that exactly reverses one of the main trends in the history of agriculture. Primitive man had to follow his flocks and herds to where they could find grass until he managed to tame the primitive grasses as cereal grains.

Broad areas of Texas are particularly adapted to livestock production—better than to grain production because the mild winter climate enables rusts and other fungus diseases to survive and attack the grains. Grains have provided regular and incidental winter pastures for livestock and have proved profitable even when rust prevented harvesting much grain.

But the "winter" strains of wheat, oats and barley remain comparatively dormant after making a good start in the fall. The "spring" types do not tiller freely enough to provide forage and may make such rapid growth in mild weather that they joint and then go to seed instead of to grass.

Breeders are working to supply what the Texas livestock men need: Small grains with a "spring-winter" growth habit; that grow vigorously in winter and tiller freely; that recover quickly after freezing; that can stand trampling; that will not joint and seed until late in the season; and resistant enough to rust and other foliage diseases so that the livestockman can harvest at least enough grain to reseed the winter pastures.

In this variation in cereal breeding, the aim is for grass values—for quantity and quality of forage with grain yield a secondary consideration. With green pastures in winter locally with readily available concentrates such as grain sorghums, cottonseed and linseed meals, and molasses.

Cooperating with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, the Bureau of Plant Industry has released for commercial production two new oat varieties, Ranger and Rustler, and an unnamed giant beardless barley, developed for both grain and forage. These are regarded as opportunity aids in the meat production part of the Food-for-Freedom program. Several wheat, oat, and barley varieties under test are showing good resistance to disease and may prove worth while for grain as well as for forage.

Maneuvers Mark Contact Camp In Floydada

A complete field program was set up and solved by the officers and enlisted personnel present at the Sunday afternoon maneuvers of the 41st Battalion TDG, on Blanco canyon, as the closing feature of the contact camp.

With 30 visiting officers, commissioned and non-commissioned, present from Childress, Spur and Turkey, the camp was set up at McDermott post at the corner of Fifth and Virginia streets Saturday evening. Preliminaries were followed by the program as arranged by staff officers, with Major V. H. McClintock, Childress, officiating.

Floydada Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary and Lions clubs, McDermott Post and McDermott Post ladies' auxiliary joined in entertaining the visitors, who were guests for supper, breakfast Sunday morning and the noon-day luncheon. The officers attended church services at 11 o'clock at the First Christian church where Battalion Chaplain L. W. Bridges preached.

Sunday afternoon hundreds viewed the exhibition drill staged by Company B officers and enlisted personnel on a down-town street.

State Adjutant Inspects
Tuesday night Company B, had an inspection visit from Major Gahagan, of the state adjutant's office. Among other things the troop was advised no uniforms would be issued until September. Only winter uniforms will be available for the present.

Twenty-seven members of the company visited the Panhandle-Plains Dairy show at Plainview Tuesday and marched in the parade which marked the day's activities at noon. Their visit will be repaid by the Plainview troop on May 28, according to present plans.

In addition to the visiting Plainview troop for May 28, all the four companies of the 41st battalion will march in the Pioneers' Re-Union parade here and will be led by the battalion colors on May 28, if plans are made sufficiently far in advance, Captain Collins said. "We will do our own cooking, setting up our field kitchen on a vacant lot somewhere, if arrangements will be made for the food the troops will consume," he said, pointing out, however, that the guard must know in advance. "We can't make the arrangements in a day," Captain Collins declared.

Milking Shorthorn Herd Sire May Be Judged Champion

One of Floyd county's entries, a 3-year-old, 2100 pound Milking Shorthorn herd sire from the Lyndale Farm owned by Geo. McAllister and V. Williams, stands a good chance to win championship in the fifteenth Annual Dairy show that opened in Plainview Tuesday.

This belief was expressed by Mr. Williams who said, however, the competition is strong as most of the mature sires are Northern bred.

Co. B, Texas Home Defense guard approximately thirty strong marched in the grand parade that started at noon Tuesday. High school bands from several cities of West Texas were present.

Included in the parade was a mid-grade Victory automobile driven by Donna Lee and Janet Lynn Pearson, aged four and five years, a colorful group of Rogers' Rangers of Amarillo, a bicycle brigade, Plainview high school defense unit, Plainview Polo club rough riders, a unit of the Alamo Exposition shows and a Guernsey bull that is being shown by a Plainview theatre.

Entries from Floydada
Other entries from Floyd county include 8 head Milking shorthorns, and a young sire recently imported from Canada.

Five cows and one calf will be offered for sale at a public auction from Lyndale Farms, that will be held Friday evening. Buyers from four states are expected to be present, Mr. Williams said.

Many Floydada citizens have attended the show during the week.

Calves, Lambs Bring Good Prices At KC

The three calves and eleven lambs which were owned by Floyd county 4-H club boys and shipped to Kansas City market with the special shipment from Plainview last week brought a good price, according to Jason O. Gordon, county agent.

Kenneth Poole, member of the Dougherty club, sold his calf for 14 cents per pound for a total of $129.77. Kenneth received a check for $177.26.

Billy Joe Hambricht of the Lakeview club sold his calf at 14 cents per pound and after deducting freight charges, commission, etc., his check amounted to $104.38.

Kenneth Willis also of the Lakeview club sold his calf at 13 cents per pound for a return of $114.63.

Billy Ware, 4-H clubber of Cedar Hill community, shipped eleven head of lambs that sold for $12.85 per hundred. These lambs weighed 925 pounds and brought the owner $118.86. Billy received a check in the amount of $109.14.

"I received these checks Monday afternoon and I have not had an opportunity to see the boys, but I think they will be well pleased with the selling price," Mr. Gordon said.

"These prices reveal the fact that good quality calves and lambs properly fed on Floyd county feed will compete with the best of fat livestock when they reach the market," he said.

Billy Joe Hambricht and Kenneth Willis followed their calves to market to see just how things were done on a large central market. These boys were out $19.00 to make the trip and both reported the money well spent.

4-H club members and adult leaders are working out plans for a sound livestock feeding program for 1945. Mr. Gordon reported, "The personal interest and financial assistance the businessmen of Floyd county give to a livestock show clearly indicates their desire to see a larger feeding program, and within a few weeks we expect to have definite plans developed to present to the people for consideration."

May Blue Stamp Food List Same As For April

There will be no change in the Agricultural Marketing Administration's blue stamp foods list in May, according to Forrest Wright, area supervisor, A.M.A. distribution branch.

Participants of the food stamp program will be able to purchase the same blue stamp foods during May as they did in April. The complete list of blue stamp foods, as issued by the Agricultural Marketing Administration for the period May 1 through May 31 in all stamp program areas, is as follows: butter, shell eggs, fresh grapefruit, pears, apples, oranges and fresh vegetables (including potatoes), corn meal, dried prunes, hominy (corn) grits, dry edible beans, wheat flour, enriched wheat flour, self-rising flour, enriched self-rising flour, and whole wheat (graham) flour.

Forrest Wright pointed out that through the food stamp program American farmers have a ready market for the foods they grow, thereby assuring them a fair return on their full food production. He said all the activities of the A.M.A. are designed to give farmers a fair price for their products in order that they may be able to continue producing the food and fiber so necessary to win the war and write the peace. At the same time, he explained, these programs help build America's home defense by providing health building foods to needy American families.

One minute it's iron—then it's fine steel.... now how's this oil stepped up?

You know how everyday iron becomes heroic steel armor-plate... something is added!

AND MODERN man-made betterments added gave Conoco Nth motor oil its heroic mileage margin over five other worthy big brands in the impartial Death Valley Death-Test. The rival oils were run till they wrecked identical engines. Against every 100 miles made by its nearest rival in this certified test, Conoco Nth oil ran up 174 miles! And against every 100 miles averaged by all five others, Conoco Nth ran up 211 miles!

Change to this patented oil that will OIL-PLATE your engine the same as the OIL-PLATED winning engine. OIL-PLATING is lubricant bonded throughout your engine's insides. OIL-PLATING can stay up as high as the topmost piston rings, without all draining down, all the while you use Conoco Nth. This oil gives you both oil film and OIL-PLATING; keeps you just that much farther from serious wear that would soon keep you buying quarts.

OIL-PLATING comes from an added synthetic whose magnet-like action can bond lubricant to metals. And still another added modern synthetic in Conoco Nth acts against today's common complaint of gummed-up "lubrication" that puts a drag on mileage. Even in all the heat of Death Valley, Conoco Nth stayed so good that it far out-mileaged the other brands tested — from 74% up to 161%.

Step up to Your Conoco Mileage Merchant. Say Conoco Nth and you'll get your correct change for Spring. You'll get mileage—and goodly relief from some of your car worries in these days of scarcity. Continental Oil Company

Uncle Sam asks us to Hoard Coal Now

Coal is one thing the Government definitely wants us to hoard this spring and summer

- We are asked to buy coal now, if we are coal users, (1) to protect ourselves against a possible coal shortage next winter, and (2) to help make more freight cars available then for moving vital war material. Spreading coal shipments over a longer period than usual will do just that.
- Most folks wait until the last minute to order their winter's coal supply. Many millions of tons of coal must then be moved by rail in a very short time. Next winter's war needs and the tire shortage will put the greatest load on the railroads in their history. War freight must move first, and those who wait too long to order their coal may not be able to get prompt delivery when they need it.
- So we repeat Uncle Sam's friendly warning to us all. If you use coal, get in your winter coal supply now, in the off season, when transportation is available. You'll help yourself and also help win this war.

AT YOUR SERVICE—subject always to war demands, Santa Fe is maintaining regular and efficient freight and passenger transportation vital to your community. Turn to your Santa Fe Agent for information about it.

Methodist Church

Rev. R. T. Bredlove, pastor
To be, or not to be, that is the question. Yes, that is the question these days. To be or not to be a good church member. To be or not to be a good citizen. To be or not to be a good Christian. There have to be answered. There is no evading them.

Well, a good way to answer every one of them is to be where we promised to be when we joined the church, that is, in the public services. That promise is as sacred as any other even the promise to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth when asked in court.

Go to your church Sunday, be at all the meetings on the Lord's day. Sunday is still a day of rest, and of worship. Our country would be infinitely better if we had not made it a day of business, visiting, eating too rich food, and purely worldly entertainment. Remember the Sabbath to keep it holy.

Last Sunday was a good day. Let us make next Sunday a better one by every man going to church, worshipping God, and preparing himself for a better week.

Mrs. L. H. Lewis and daughters Mrs. Jennie Cooner and Mrs. Minnie Smart and granddaughters Hephatha Smart and Miss Ann Slaughter spent Sunday in Amarillo. 'IT STILL HAPPENS HERE!'

WTC Educator Pays Visit To Floydada High

The army and navy have found that most of the boys do not have a large enough vocabulary," said Dr. Fronabarger to the seventh period Senior English class last Friday. "We are living in a fast time, and you have to be given quickly. You and girls need a large vocabulary so that they can say what they want to and understand the other person," he said.

Nosey Reporter

Well folks, here's your old nosey reporter bringing you the latest gossip of the week. So pull up an easy chair and enjoy yourself while I tell your friends and relatives your latest activities.

Jackie Daniels and Freda Wigginton were really having a swell time Wednesday night. Well, the guys weren't so bad, eh girls.

Mary Lynn looked happy Sunday but forlorn Monday. Maybe a certain cute little guy named L. H. Smith could give a perfectly good reason why.

Lella, I'd like to know why you seem to enjoy visiting with La Fern in the 7th period study hall. I kinda had a feeling it was because Bill Ferguson sits across the aisle from her.

Josephine Britton and Bob Cameron get along well and they are really a cute couple too.

Why wouldn't Nita Carter accept Wallace's date?

McNutt, it seems that you have set your ring size to somebody who could it be unless it was the one that made you so happy by coming to see you Tuesday? His name, I believe, is Tucker.

Lois Burgett has eyes for no one but Eddie Brown. He's lucky but she has sure been lonesome since he had the mumps.

It's Mary Helen Mickey now that James Alexander is carrying the torch for "Wonder who's next?"

So Lila Mae has a good looking boy friend at Fort Worth, but Lila had better watch out because that's a long way off and good looking boys are scarce.

Have you seen the good-looking picture Grace has been carrying around? Is the face that of a boy or girl? You guess.

Betty Yearwood was really making eyes at Bobbie Barber in the third period study hall. Wonder what will happen?

L. W. and Kay are acting kinda cold and distant lately. Could it be that cupid has broken an arrow?

My, my girls, just who is George Allen's heartbeater? Well, I have been wondering, but I think I have found out.

Who is letting Joyce Holmes wear his class ring?

I wonder if Ada Bell's return of Robert's ring means anything in particular. Maude could answer that.

That Furrow kid really gets around. Pay Nell Ginn is the object of his affection in history class but when the bell rings, it always seems that he finds something of interest at Irma Lea Graham's locker.

Notice: There are girls who would like to know how to win Jr. Con-way's heart. Anyone caring to give this information will be rewarded generously.

Hint to David Batteny. You should always remember to walk on the outside when walking by a girl on the street, and by the way did you take her, Dorothy Ann, to the show Thursday evening?

It is rumored that Mildred Woods would like to gain claim over Robert Gene John's affections. Well, why don't you do something Mildred? After all, Mary Lee doesn't even hint.

It seems that Wallace Covington and Virginia Wilson have a habit of making eyes in the 3rd period Math class. Are you slipping Erma Tom?

I don't believe Patsy Parkey dislikes Ralph Womack as she pretends here and I have a good reason to believe this. He took her to the show Thursday night.

Special Banquet Gossip
Kenneth and Lella! Is this something new? But what about Bryan and the date he had with her for the banquet.

In spite of war talk and propaganda, the F. H. S. Juniors managed to honor the graduating seniors with the annual Junior-Senior banquet.

The Pan-American theme was carried out in the program, menu, and the decoration.

Gene Collins, junior class prexy served as master of ceremonies and announced the following program.

Invocation, T. B. Allen, Commercial teacher; "An Old Spanish Custom," to the seniors, Gene Collins; "The South American Way," to the juniors, Oran Beck; senior class prexy; "South of the Border," to the school, Mary F. Jones, senior salutatorian; "Speak Softly and Carry the Big Stick," to the faculty, Jim Simpson, senior valedictorian; "Rose Mexicana," Joy Ward; "El Jorabe Topotio," national dance of Mexico, Evelyn Elliott and Thomas Thasard; musical numbers, Robert Warren, Henry Martin and Mr. Erman Gray, band director; "The Good Neighbor Policy," Supt. Walter Travis; "God Bless America," all.

The following menu was served by the Home Economics department; Rosbif Can Salsa Barbecoa, Arroy Espanal, Haba Verdes, Euladada de Col, Penecillos, Mautequilla, Te. Helado, Fortas and Meutor.

Many of the students, after seeing the menu, complained that they wanted to know what they were going to eat.

For the benefit of those who do not read Spanish, the menu is translated as follows: roast beef with barbecue sauce, Spanish rice, green beans, cabbage salad, rolls, butter tea, ice cream with apricot pie and mints.

The ceiling of the gym was decorated in all of the colors of the 21 different flags of Pan-America. These flags were displayed on the tables, which were covered in red, white, and blue crepe paper. Red, white and blue candles were used on the tables and miniature Spanish señoritas were used as favors and placecards. "Old Glory" hung above the head table.

After the banquet, the tables were pushed back and the students were allowed to dance.

Herschell and Floy are on separate ends of the hatchet and it hasn't been buried.

Dorothy Tye and James Lovell! Well, well, well! End of quote.

Gene, just what did you mean when you said "And I don't care if you don't come back before 6 o'clock."

Geel! but it was dark behind that stage curtain! Wow! Dance? No intermission? Uh-huh!

Speaking of fun What was cupid doing following a certain green car Saturday night?

Wayland, you should catch up on your beauty naps some place besides the show. With your girl too! Oh, horrors.

Betty Jean Beard was seen with H. C. Love, ex-student.

Girls have really been nice to Mary Helen Mickey lately. The reason is because Kenneth, her brother from the Marines, is coming home for a visit.

Inell was acting happy Friday morning. That was a cute little boy you were with Thursday night all right, Inell.

Johnnie May Wilson and Marie Jackson did a disappearing act Thursday night. Somebody was plenty angry about it too.

When is Betty Jean Spence going to ration her sugar? Someone wants to know.

Three nights in a row is just too many dates for anyone to get away with. But how he's gone and Florence Jones is awful blue. Jimmy Smyth is just too lucky.

John Colville is really slipping, and that is not just idle gossip. Betty Jean Swepton actually slipped off to the show with Mary Helen to keep from going with him, so they say. We wonder!

David Batteny looked awfully lonesome the other night. Wonder what happened to his girl?

Robert Cooner and Merle Simmons really made a handsome couple when they came in together. It must be that the right has been patched up and all's well now.

Grace Waller had a date with some unknown good-looking after the banquet, but it wasn't either of her "regular fellers." They were both with someone else.

Jeanne Edwards is sitting by Harold Thornton at the banquet was not altogether accidental, or was it?

Someone didn't care for the boy Ludean went with—wonder why?

And then there was a freshman girl named Inez Cantrell who quite liking the Wichita boy and starting liking one closer to home—at Plainview.

Well that's all folks, for this week but tune in again next Thursday same place and same station for another half hour with your favorite nose reporter—so long.

(Oh, by the way, you freshmen, sophomores and juniors, if you do not have a senior for a girl or boy friend, you had better have a good friend, while you can; for the seniors are the only ones who are going to be the victims of our irate ire next week. This is your chance!)

Clothing I Girls Model Dresses Tomorrow

The Clothing I girls finished their dresses April 30 and will model them tomorrow. These dresses are cotton. Children's garments made by the Clothing II girls were finished Wednesday. The girls graded them Thursday, April 30.

The Foods II girls are studying and learning first aid.

The Foods III girls are studying family relationship. "Families need to be happier and closer together than ever before," said Mrs. Fuqua. "The girls are learning to have a good time with their families at home."

The Foods III will begin studying their Nutrition Unit next week.

All of the Home Economics girls who were not juniors or seniors served at the Junior-Senior banquet.

Poems Result Of Brain Storms

The Junior English classes were given a choice of writing a poem or a 500 word theme. Most of the students wrote poems and the best of these poems will be printed in the Hesperette each week.

A Prayer Before An Exam

(Billie Jones)

This is a prayer before a test
You'll have to pass it
Or you can't rest
As you pray, hope, and study
It's hard to keep from going nutty
And as I sit down to study
And as I learn all this junk
I pray the Lord I won't get nutty
I pray the Lord won't let me flunk.

And praying to the Lord
I hope this test won't be so hard
I know there isn't any rest
Until I take that awful test.

And as I lay me down to rest
Before I take tomorrow's test,
If I should die before I wake
Thank Heaven that test won't be to take.

Now after you have read this poem,

I hope
You won't think it just a joke
It's true every word of it
Its hard to write a poem like this.

"Are You A Friend In Need?"
(Neoma Burgett)

The little girl was hungry
Did you take her hand for her
Were you a friend in need?

When the blind man was passing
Did he go by you unseen?
Did you take his hand and help him?
Did you lift or did you lean?

When the old man was down,
Did you just pass on by?
When the little dog was dying,
Did you just let him lie?

Did you help an old lady?
Have you done just one good deed?
When the small boy was crying,
Were you a friend in need?

When a home was having sickness,
Did you lend a hand?
Or did you just pass on by
and maybe just give a loud command?

Are you a giver, or a taker?
Do you lift or do you lean?
Do you take help or do you give it?
Are you a friend in need?

Johnny Smith-American

Lajuana Leibfried

Johnny Smith-American
Born in the U. S. A.
Respected his country's flag.
In the true American way.

When in Munich there was held,
An international convention
The various countries flags
In parade held his attention.

Japan's flag was passing by
Someone was heard to say,
"That's the Emperor's flag
And proud I am of it today."

England's flag was passing by
Someone was heard to say,
"That's the Kings flag
And proud I am of it today."

Then in all its glory
The American flag passed by,
"That's my flag," said Johnny
With his head held high.

Every eye was turned
To the flag of this small boy,
The flag of democracy
From whence came such great joy.

And every heart then felt
A surge of freedom pass
The gift of this small boy
to a great European mas.

F. H. S. HAS FIRE DRILL

Last Wednesday two of the boys from the fire department, E. S. Price and Orville Poore were at high school to watch the students drill in fire practice.

The building was cleared in approximately one and one-half minutes.

The fire boys made the remark that it was the best fire drill they had ever seen.

A Feature Story On Nothing To Write A Feature Story On

There is nothing more discouraging than a feature story on nothing to write a feature story on, so if you have more sense than I think you have you will stop right here.

The reasons I give for choosing this subject:

1. I couldn't think of another subject.
2. I couldn't think of another subject.
3. I couldn't think of another subject.
4. It will drive the reader crazy.

What I asked myself when I started to write this feature story:

1. What would I like to be written about if I were a feature story?
2. Is there such a thing as a feature story on nothing to write a feature story about?

Conclusion which I have drawn from the above question:

If there is no such thing as a feature story on nothing to write a feature story on then what could I be writing a feature story on; therefore since I am writing a feature story on nothing to write a feature story on, there must be a feature story on nothing to write a feature story on.

If you understand what I have written, will you please contact any member of the Hesperette staff and explain?

Looking Ahead

(Mary Lee Thacker, freshman, wrote the following poem and it was selected from a group of others as the best freshman poem of the week.

Kay Sparks, Ernestine Fowler and Louise Anderson rate honorable mention for the poems they submitted for inspection.)

We are proud of General MacArthur
And his men so brave and true.
They are fighting for liberty
And the red, white and blue.
God will give us courage
(He will guide us wisdom, too)
And will guide us on to victory
Until this job is through.
And when our boys have licked the
Huns and set the rising sun,
There will be a brighter day,
When our boys come sailing home
To the good old U. S. A.

Joe Arwine, Ruth Simpson, Wilson Bond, Carl Bryan and several other ex-students visited home last week-end.

History Classes Show Talent In Mixed Program

The world history classes, directed by Miss Sudie Miller, presented a mixed assembly program which displayed the talents of various high school and ward school students and faculty.

Readings, piano recitals and songs were predominant in the program. Dorothy Jeanne Bettye, from ward school, supplied amusement with her imitation of an old-time school teacher. From high school, Wanda Smitzer started the audience to giggling with an impersonation of a giggling school girl, and Dorothy Ann Dooley displayed the "larnin'" achieved by the average high school student. Merle Wood told the story of "San Jacinto."

Mr. Barber astonished most of the audience by proving that he could sing and act as well as teach, when he sang a trio with Mr. Gray and N. E. Tyler. The three enacted a short skit.

The musical entertainment consisted of piano solos by Bettye Merle Bolester and Betty Yearwood, a piano duet by Euna Pavver and Leona Jones and a clarinet solo by Randolph Rutledge. Randolph was accompanied by Lajuana Leibfried at the piano.

Joy Ward was the announcer.

Crowell Storm—

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Ketchersid parents of Mrs. Arvel D. Hays, live in the edge of Crowell and were not touched by the storm. Mr. Hays said this morning. He and Mrs. Hays made a trip to Crowell yesterday. Two store buildings in the business section owned by Mr. Ketchersid were damaged considerably. Also an uncle of Mrs. Hays, Guy Kitchersid, who resides at Crowell was uninjured but his home was damaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray, parents of Mrs. W. E. Grimes, reside in Crowell, and also some other relatives but definite information about them was unavailable this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Grimes went to Crowell yesterday and were not expected back until this afternoon.

Has Narrow Escape

A narrow escape with his life was related by Fred Dorman who operates a transport truck for R. C. Henry, wholesale Continental Oil dealer. Mr. Dorman had managed to get through Crowell following the storm and was three miles east of Paducah when a head rise struck him as he was crossing a small draw washing his truck from the highway. The water went over the tank and he climbed up on top of the cab and the water soon receded. He waded out, secured help to get his truck back on the highway and reached Floydada Wednesday afternoon.

Scase Stanley, salesman for the Massie Wholesale company, was in Quitaque a short while before the storm struck Crowell and watched a storm cloud going in that direction which he thought possibly might have been the beginning of the disastrous storm.

Bond Sales—

To Bring Quota Up
Determination to bring the county's quota up to full expectations of the Treasury department was expressed in the meeting. Of about $133,000 sales which should have been made in the first four months of 1942 to meet monthly quotas, some thing less than $100,000 was definitely reported to the county chairman with a probable several thousand dollars sold and not reported.

"Our national treasury officials want to know what they can expect financially from the people of our country, and accordingly we want every citizen to set down a pledge of what he can and will do this year and the committeemen will ask all citizens they contact to make these pledges, which will be reported. The government in an all-out war like we are in must gauge its financial power as well as its manpower. We are trying to prove that this can be done voluntarily," said Mr. Snodgrass.

The meeting developed that one of the weak spots in the county's canvass has been in Floydada School district and the committeemen here were charged with the duty of getting this canvass completed before the next reporting date, set for Friday night, May 8, at the district court room. This committee of some 13 men is dividing the district up into zones and is pledged to call on every citizen in the period before that time.

Other county committee announced their intention of completing their canvass in instances where it is incomplete.

These are asked to devote some time to this important program which is two-fold: to survey the grasshopper situation and report opinions as to infestation and attitude toward a poisoning program, and secondly, to observe very carefully for a pale brown or brownish-gray moth with a wing expanse of about 1 1/2 inches, with a single small but prominent white dot in the center of each front wing. These moths are strong fliers but remain hidden during the day becoming active at night. These are moths of the army worm.

Sailor: "We've just dropped anchor, lady."
Lady: "I'd been expecting that. It's been dangling outside for some time."

Mrs. Bill Scott of Tipton, Oklahoma, spent last week here with her daughters, Mrs. H. L. Lons and at Lubbock, with her daughter Mrs. Nora Scott in nurses training at West Texas hospital.

SUGAR SAVERS

To conserve sugar, the home economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggest making fewer pies, cakes, and sugar-rich desserts; using more fruits—fresh, canned, and dried; gradually reducing the quantity of sugar in beverages, especially if the usual quantity leaves some undissolved in the bottom of the cup; eating cereals with little or no sugar; to savor their distinctive flavors; serving any very sweet foods, like preserves, last—never before foods that are less sweet, because this contrast makes one want extra sugar.
