Sugar Rationing Sign-Up Completed; Price Ceilings to Be Set

Many Necessities Included In OPA List For May 18

The sugar rationing registration completed this week, people of the southwest watched with interest as OPA named the sugar items in the list against the high cost of living and announced that ceilings would go into effect May 18 on hundreds of cost-of-living commodities.

Ceilings become effective first on wholesaler-manufacture levels May 11, to be followed on May 18 with ceilings on retail sales. Apparently presenting a huge headache for all retailers, such commodities were listed as tobacco, toiletries and sundries, packaged household drugs, infants' foods, ice cream, apparel and yard goods, footwear, specified cuts of fresh beef, pork and other meat products, canned fruits, vegetables and juices, other listed types of groceries and household sundries, household furniture, appliances and furnishings, hardware, agricultural supplies, ice, firewood, charcoal, fuel oils, gasoline, tires and tubes, and miscellaneous specified items.

Local retailers are taking the order with calm, it was indicated here yesterday. "Whatever is required is what we will do," seemed to be the general reaction, when, among other things, the order indicated that every item of merchandise that comes within the list set up by OPA will have to be tagged with a tag showing the ceiling price as such. If the order means what it says practically every dealer will have to make "on most of their merchandise, even though the price at which it is being sold might be lower than the ceiling." How the plan will be operated will be explained in meetings to be held throughout the nation. Most Floyd county merchants likely will attend the meeting scheduled for tomorrow (Friday) night at 8 o'clock at the Senior High school in Lubbock.

Following is the list of commodities designated by the Price Administrator as cost-of-living commodities, with asterisks (*) identifying those in which ceiling prices may be posted by price-line:

Graduation Week In Floydada Schools Opens Sunday Evening With Baccalaureate Program

Santa Fe Depot To Be Occupied Last Of Week

Construction work on the remodeling of the Santa Fe depot which was recently moved from north Floydada to East Missouri street was completed Saturday. Plans are now to occupy the building the later part of this week, according to Virgil Williams, agent. Telephone and telegraph services are to be installed within the next few days.

All the building lacks being completed is the paint job both inside and out and a special paint crew is expected within the next few weeks to do this work. Mr. Williams said the ceiling platform and house dock will also be painted. Because of the delay in materials the platform which is to be covered with crushed rock will be finished later.

A crew of 18 men including 12 of the building crew and six of the water works crew who have been employed on the job for the past several weeks left Saturday afternoon. From here they went to White Face to move a depot from the path of a highway now under construction.

Twenty-Two Enroll Tuesday Night For First Aid Course

Twenty-two registered Tuesday night for the advanced First Aid course, according to a report given by Verne Elliott, First Aid chairman of Floyd county. ### Walter Hollums Resigns Deputy Sheriff's Job

Coincidental with his acceptance of a job as a guard at the plant of the Certainated Products corporation in Amarillo, Walter D. Hollums resigned as deputy sheriff of Floyd county, a post which he had filled for the past five and a half years.

His resignation was presented to become effective immediately, was accepted by Sheriff Fred N. Clark and Hollums took up his new duties yesterday morning.

Also with the former deputy went T. C. Hollums, a brother, who takes a similar place in Amarillo. For a number of years employed in the oil distributing industry, T. C. asked The Hesperian to express his appreciation to the many friends and customers with whom he had been associated these many years for their loyalty and esteem.

Has Outstanding Record
W. D. Hollums held an outstanding record as a peace officer, but Tuesday declared that any success he may have had resulted from co-operation of fellow officials and of the law-abiding citizens of the county.

"No officer can get far unless he has the help of the law-abiding citizenship in his work," Hollums told a Hesperian reporter, when he resigned with sadness in his heart, but expressing the belief that he could "help out more" in the war effort at the new place of employment.

Only last week he had succeeded in "breaking" a cattle theft case that was a puzzle until a few little clues were patched together to make the case an easy one to solve.

The Hollums brothers will be joined by their families later on, when the school year is finished and suitable living quarters are found.

No Appointment Temporarily
Sheriff Fred N. Clark said yesterday that no successor would be named for Deputy Hollums at the present.

H. B. Alexander is deputy at Lockney.

Youthful Floyd County Officer In Crash

First known toll directly from Floyd county sons taken by World War II, Lieutenant Wilbert P. Matthews, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Matthews, was killed Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the crash of a bomber near Spokane, Washington, when five others also lost their lives.

Matthews was enroute from a Tex-

Funeral rites for Lt. W. P. Matthews will be held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Matthews family said last night. Army Chaplain Gordon C. Voight, of El Paso, will be assisted in conducting the service by Rev. S. R. McClung, of Perryton at the Methodist church. The body left Boise, Idaho, Wednesday noon and will reach Floydada Friday morning, accompanied by Lt. Maynard E. White.

as field to Spokane, Washington, on a routine flight and the members of the family had enjoyed a brief reunion with the flying son only Friday when they met him at the Lubbock Flying school field near Lubbock.

Football Ridge Fatal
According to an Associated press dispatch, the two-motored bomber bounced from the top of a foothill ridge east of Baker, Oregon, killed the six occupants and scattered wreckage for hundreds of yards. The ship went down a little more than an hour after it left Gowen Field, Boise, Idaho. There were no eyewitnesses but people of Pleasant Valley community, near the scene, said they heard the crash, which sounded like two big trucks hitting head-on.

The wreckage made a path nearly 200 yards wide for a quarter of a mile. One body was hurled 650 feet and a motor was thrown more than 300 feet, said the press story filed at Pendleton, Oregon. The ship hit the crest of the barren ridge, bounced more than 500 feet and began disintegrating.

First hint of possible disaster for their son was received by the A. H. Matthews family here Monday afternoon at 1:30 when a wire from the War department said he had been missing for several hours. Radio broadcasts later indicated that the occupants of the bomber all were killed, and confirmation of this news came in a telegram the same night which told of the crash and said that all members of the crew were dead.

The re-union of the Matthews family last Friday was a happy one. Mr. and Mrs. Matthews and family and son Percy of Los Angeles enroute home after a two-weeks visit with his parents, met Wilbert at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ersel Matthews in Lubbock. Wilbert was serving in the mapping squadron of the army air corps. He was enroute from Albuquerque, New Mexico, to (See LT. MATTHEWS back page)

Fight On Grass Hoppers Under Way In County

Floyd county farmers will make—have already begun to make—a determined fight to save their crops from the grasshoppers.

This is forecast by an organized effort being made by alarmed farmers themselves to organize their neighbors all over the county.

Saturday a meeting of wheat, cotton and alfalfa growers was held on vacant grounds adjacent to Armour Creameries, where a demonstration of mechanical poison bait spreading was given by County Agent Jason O. Gordon, District Soil Conservationist Edgar H. Kemp and O. B. Olson, poison bait mixer at the local station. At that time farmers present deemed it advisable to open the poison mixing station from 8 to 10 o'clock in the forenoons and from 4 to 7 o'clock in the afternoons.

Right now, it was agreed, is the time to kill the myriad crop of hoppers before their size and capacity increases. New hatches will be coming on until a date up in June, it is believed.

Low temperatures this mid-week brought the program to a temporary halt, but the first warm day will see resumed with vigor. Where an individual farmer poisons and keeps at it the practice gets results but the program carried on on a county-wide scale is more effective, it is claimed. April rains helped greatly in thinning out the first crop of hoppers but millions have been bred since, growers declare, and on some farms already are doing damage.

War Comes Home.—War came home to the A. H. Matthews family of Floydada this week and to many youthful friends of Lieut. Wilbert P. Matthews, as they made plans for funeral and burial rites for the young flyer, killed Sunday afternoon in the vicinity of Pendleton, Oregon. Reared here, Wilbert was a graduate of Floydada High school, class of 1936, and of TCU, Fort Worth, in February, 1941. He was commissioned October 31, 1941 at Stockton field.

8,053 Register For Rationing Book No. 1 In Floyd County First Two Days Of The Week

Eight thousand and 53 persons registered for War Ration Book No. 1 Monday and Tuesday of this week in Floyd county, rationing registrars of the county reported to Clarence Guiffie, county superintendent, Wednesday morning.

And the job is being carried on again today, as yesterday, at the designated school houses with reduced personnel, the anticipated figure for the total being around 10,000 cards to be issued.

"At every registration station all over the county the first war rationing sign-up program in history has gone off very smoothly," said Mr. Guiffie. "Everybody in good spirits about the matter and willing and anxious to be rationed in the hope that it will help out in the war."

Although this has been common practice for years among a large part of the county's population to buy sugar in 10-pound, 25-pound and 100-pound lots according to the size stamps were torn out of ration books indicating the rationing had been anticipated by the populace and that voluntary reductions in volume of sugar used was already being practiced. There is little, if any hoarding taking place in this county, the County Superintendent is convinced.

Teachers Handle Big Job
Teaching faculties of the county carried on the huge registration. At Floydada the entire faculty of the schools was employed on the jobs and turned out the biggest registration of the week on the first day. Similar reports are made from all over registration places in the county.

Residents of the county, who for any reason, have not registered for War Ration Book No. 1 may do so by applying to the county rationing board.

Indicating that a number of families were out of sugar, grocers said that their stocks of sugar was doled out to many callers the first days of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Langford had their home blown away in the storm and moved back to Floydada this week to make their home. Their daughter, Edith Hazel, who was injured in the storm was able to come to Floydada with her parents.

Mrs. W. E. Grimes' parents, two sisters and two brothers and their families were in the storm but were all in dugouts and none of them were injured. The parents Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Now that sugar registration is over, if you are one of those who did not register because you couldn't get there or for any other reason—you may have just forgotten—the route to go to get sugar hereafter is to register with the county rationing board. The fact that scores of Floyd county families usually buy their sugar supply in the summer or early fall, when the price is usually at the lowest for the year, means that a good many families may have had twenty-three, maybe sixty pounds of sugar on hand, with no hoarding in mind whatever. If you are one of that type of sugar buyers don't feel embarrassed about the matter. But when you run out you'll have to get you a rationing card and buy a half-pound, or whatever it is, per person per week or whatever the rule may be when you get around to having that to do.

One of the interesting things the grocery trade noted last week was that a good many people were afraid to buy sugar just before the rationing program went into effect and just did without any sugar for several days. The same was true, wholesalers say, about some of the merchants. Shun the appearance of evil, St. Paul may have said. Shun the appearance of being unpatriotic said these non-buyers to themselves, anxious to be on an even start taking potluck with their neighbors on the sugar deal.

The fact is sugar rationing is not going to hurt a bit, except just possibly in isolated cases. But it is going to be a headache for the retailers and the wholesalers who serve you. When you go after your sugar please do not pull your hair and storm around, even if you are displeased. These fellows are going to do the best they can by you, their pledge to cooperate with the Office of Price Administration in mind. If you think all the trigger work that is being gone through is all unnecessary and uncalled for, as we do, and that a better job could have been done at a fiftieth of the expense, you are not by yourself. But that is neither here nor there. Somebody else, and he is authority, thought differently. Since he wouldn't go along with our ideas of how to do it, we'll just go along with his, cheerfully and in all good faith. It won't hurt a bit if we'll just make up our minds that way.

Now is the time for all good men to hunt themselves up a good government job. The jobs that you have been reading about will be increased a lot now. There's sugar and various and sundry other rationing that will take a multitude of people to administer at a cost of millions. And then there's government price fixing, rent ceilings, and the score of other things our good old Uncle Sam thinks he ought to dish into while the war is on. So it will be about employees as it is with the demand for men to enter the armed forces, specifications and requirements are going to be a bit more lax. We do not know just who is going to pay the bill, but we are told not to worry about that now.

Another rain along late in May and a cool June. Those are the specifications for late wheat and barley to show the wheat growers a profit this year. Field after field of November wheat looks like it will be a way down the line by June 1 on the present moisture and make some wheat. But equally, field after field of later wheat will have to have some more moisture and also it must not have two days of hot blasty wind out of the southwest and it must have many cool days in June to produce with any satisfaction. The wheat—and barley—is going to vary as high as two to three weeks in the time it will ripen, the early boys having advantage of better yields and better marketing conditions, we assume.

The late wheat and barley has another hazard that a good many farmers are taking seriously. That is the grasshopper crop. Hoppers will continue to hatch out up until probably June 15, they tell us, certainly until as late as June 1. Rains in April killed many millions of hoppers in the first and second hatchings. We may be lucky and have the same thing happen again in this month. The truth is we must either be lucky or be lined up to get a good job of poisoning done. Some farmers are not waiting for the luck, they are poisoning and the poison bait station is running four hours a day right along, and ready to increase the number of hours as the demand grows.

Your Victory Garden. Don't forget it if you've got the room and the water available at a reasonable cost. Remember to plant in it the kind of vegetables that will stick to your ribs. Peas and beans and carrots and tomatoes and cabbages, etc. They may or may not be high later on. Certainly they can't be cheaper, except seasonally, because the people who raise them commercially have higher costs and must get more for their produce or go broke. You can take care of yourself to a considerable extent. You may need to do so, come fall and higher prices. Governments from time immemorial have tried to keep costs from going up in war times and going down afterwards. They haven't had much luck as yet, and we may not this time. Give the government credit for trying, but you can also try to take care of your own self in the situation.

The April season this year has been exactly ideal for wild flowers and you can see the little fellows peeping through the ground out on the prairies, some of them already making the little pods and buds that mean flowering in a few days or a few weeks. Last year's wildflower crop will be equalled, probably, or even excelled, this spring. And beauty all about for the simple matter of looking.

"If a person drinks more than a quart of whiskey a day, he is apt to suffer from berber," says a physician. Yes, and also from the willie-willies.

TO MY MOTHER

Far down the paths of the yesterday
Far back in my childhood's sunny ways
I see you, mother,
I see your kind and gentle face
In every scene and time and place
And never another
Could take your place in my childish heart.
You were of my very love a part
My own dear mother,
Your life and your love was a shining light.
Upon my pathway, clear and bright
It shines today.
The years are many, the path is long
Time takes its toll of the weak and strong
And youth flies away—
But mother you're fairer than ever before.
And dearer than in the days of yore
I love you today—Flora Smith Dean.

A tribute to my mother. You were such a pretty young mother, the red in your smooth cheeks, velvet as the rose by the door. Your eyes were so soft and brown, your hair black. Your laugh so shining and so cheerful and gay, your voice so sweet as you sang lullabies at dusk to the ever-present babe in your arms. I learned to pray that you to get well when you were sick, learned of the goodness of God from your lips. All through the years you have been the

In honor of the mothers of the nation I present two poems by the 1941 Naylor Anthology First prize winner, Flora Smith Dean.

Our Mothers
For mothers that are sleeping
And mothers here today,
We thank Thee, Heavenly Father
And as we try to pray—
We ask that you will keep them
And bless them every day,
And teach us how to show them
Our love along life's way.
Dear mothers all over the land
We honor you here today,
To tell you that we love you
In everything we say.
Your kind and tender watch care
Your love and thoughtfulness
Have made the whole world better,
You live our lives to bless.
And this one day in every year
Is set apart for you,
To show you how we love you
In everything we do.

strength of your children, the high standard to which we have wanted to attain. We have been made humble by your never-failing patience have learned lessons of courage and peace of mind. "Her children rise up and call her blessed." As each of you read these lines I know you are saying that is "my mother" although her eyes were blue or gray, or her hair was the color of ripe wheat or white as snow. Yes, each one of us pauses for a day to give honor to mothers on the day set aside.

Well birthdays have a habit of coming, but mine has lost the thrill it once had. In fact to be honest, it is just a little depressing. There is no use in my trying to conceal my age. Uncle Frank and Aunt Mirt Cousin Ernest and second cousin Belle all know that it was an Nellie's fourth birthday, May 4, 1888 that the Jones family put the yokes on the ox teams picked up the good, turned the few cows out of the pen stopped at the graveyard where the Jones dead were inclosed in a rock wall lot, and headed west from near Weatherford, Parker county. Creaking and jolting the wagons moved toward the setting sun, the women weary, tired and afraid of the unknown, the men folks jubilant and eager for the new land. Shelled corn rattled on the beds of the wagons fat streaked bacon and hickory cured hams had their place in the crowded schooners. A marble topped bureau held paper-wrapped packages of seed grown on the old home place, a few tinny cups, some old of living and dead babies, some old Confederate souvenirs and the well read Bible filled with family names, births, marriages and deaths. Clear as the tinkle of the cow bell, lost by the weaner one day as she followed the herd patches of pictures came to me today. Little did the folks in the wagons know that the corn and good hog meat would not be known for many years in the west, that the loss of the cow bell was not tragic, for how could one hear a bell on a cow that could range from the brakes south of Emma to the new-growing town of Amarillo? That the clear prairie air carried sights not sounds?

The trip for me is marked by a tree covered valley, full of sweet-scented phlox, a camp where the water was as red as the hills it ran over when the rain fell from the gray clouds. The losing of the bell, or rather the missing of it as camp was made. Mother riding the old hairless, poor mare, me following and crying, "I do not like country people." The oxen swinging along, the smell of camp fires and frying ham. Grandmother crying out that if it did not stop the incessant rain she would go mad. Then the dry, waterless almost, country the travellers passed through. Grandfather Jones telling the men, supposedly cattle inspectors keeping the ticky cows from the plains, "to set." "And, gentlemen, when I say set, I mean, set." And they sat and when they left, the cattle crossed the quarantine line to feed on the rich grass of the prairies, "the long steep climb up the cap, the coolness and green and blue of the Plains, the unlimited space. The road, the weary oxen, tired of hearing the gee and the haw and the giddap, glad to hear the shouted "wo" at the end of the long, almost unmarked road, and to see the good laid down. So I am happy to be a time-mark in the family as it were, and feel like I am ever remembered on the fourth of May.

It is an ill wind that blows nobody good, I said as I watched children free from school on sugar rationing days. But how sad two little boys looked. Slowly hoeing weeds as they watched the others play down the street. Remember, we did not have slacks in the other war, but there were a few slackers.

Looking back . . . May 4, 1898. I find in the Witt and Spikes Daybook that cash sales were $1.00. John Spikes bought quinine and capsules. Must have had a cold. J. C. Murphy bought pills. R. A. Jones paid $5.00 on account. On May 4, 1900 I find twenty-eight pounds of sorghum seed selling for 50c, 10 yards calico for 75c, enough for one dress. Then J. C. Woody bought ten yards of white lawn and some lace. Wonder if there was a new baby that year?

Thoughts and wishes: To be as in-dependable to my place in the world as Berrie Howell's organ melodies are to radio station KPVO, and as charming to always look as nice and well-dressed as Gladys Tomlinson; deep dark purple shadows under the ash trees; friends of yesterday and now coming to my mind, bringing pleasure as sweet as the blooming flower. Thoughts and wishes . . .

First Christian Church To Observe Mother's Day

(Lawrence W. Bridges)
Sunday School at 9:45 a. m. Central War Time.
Morning worship at 11 a. m. Let everyone be present to honor our mothers, those who are living and those who have gone to their eternal home. May we remember that the main characteristic that makes them dear to us was their loyalty and devotion to God and His church.

An appropriate message honoring motherhood will be brought by the pastor. Two special musical numbers will be rendered. One by the boys of our Youth choir, "Nobody Knows But Mother," and a clarinet solo by Randolph Rutledge.

There will be no evening services as we will cooperate in the Baccalaureate service for the High School graduates to be held at the First Methodist church.

Filing supplies, business forms, binders at The Hesperian.

Church Of The Nazarene

(Eugene Wood, pastor)

Mother's Day! What will it mean to Mother? Cooking a big dinner for children, for in-laws, and grandchildren? Or will it be a day when mother is released from all responsibility for the Sunday dinner, taken to Sunday school and church, and then taken somewhere to eat a meal she didn't prepare? Let's tell mother we love her and then show her we do. Let's honor mother and do our own soul good by going to church and seeing that mother has a way to go. If we have no mother near help someone else's mother to go to church.

You are invited to worship with us Sunday school at 10 a. m. Morning worship at 11 a. m. N. Y. P. S. at 8:30 p. m. Evening service at 9 p. m.

Appreciation Of Sponsors' Help Is Expressed

We, the seniors of Floydada High School, wish to take this opportunity to express our appreciation to the sponsors of the senior class through our four years in Floydada High School.

During our first year in F. H. S. Mr. Robert Linder was the freshman boys sponsor. Miss Studie Miller was the freshman girls sponsor.

In our sophomore year Miss Reba Copeland was the boys' sponsor and Polly Smith was the girls' sponsor.

Mr. H. G. Barber is the sponsor of the senior boys. Miss Reba Copeland was the sponsor of the senior girls. Miss Margaret Stuart filled the vacancy left by Miss Copeland.

With sincerity we seniors of 1942 offer our thanks to these grand workers who have encouraged us so much in our efforts. The best of luck to them!

Senior Day Picnic Friday At Buffalo Lake; 65 Present

By Florence Jones and Johnnie May Wilson

The annual Senior Day picnic, which was held at Buffalo Lake, was one of the most delightful affairs that the seniors have ever had occasion to bluster their noses at. Blistered nose and shoulders were the feature of attraction Friday afternoon when the erstwhile fun-makers returned from their exploits in boats swimming pools and the skating rink. Including Miss Stuart and Mr. Barber, not one of the approximately sixty-five seniors who attended the picnic returned without a blistered complexion.

However, they all enjoyed the day, and many were the slack suit costumes that returned home dejected and worn after a hard days work upon the persons energetic youth. In fact, the slack suit worn by Mary Frances Jones got quiet a ducking when the boat in which she and several others were riding capsized. Nothing but the suit was injured. It is now several sizes smaller.

The party left the high school at nine o'clock Friday morning in Mr. Leatherman's truck. At three p. m. they left for Lubbock, where they skated until five. Upon returning they stopped briefly in Ralls for refreshments. They arrived at the F. H. S. building about 7 p. m.

The senior class owes its appreciation to Mr. Leatherman for the use of his truck.

Sure, every acre's raising more.... Now what's upping the mileage from this oil?

How does prize wheat or corn at the county fair get that way?

Sure, man-made soil improvers—modern synthetics—were added to improve on nature.

AND MODERN SYNTHETICS in Conoco Nth motor oil make it yield mileage that outscored all other brands tested in the sensational Death Valley Certified Competition. Five big-name quality brands got every fair chance against Conoco Nth oil. All were run till engines failed and none came closer than 58% of the mileage totaled by Conoco Nth! . . . the oil you can have for your needed Spring oil change that's now overdue . . . the oil whose best known man-made extra substance—at no extra premium—gives your engine OIL-PLATING.

OIL-PLATING backs up the familiar fluid type of oil film with a surfacing of lubricant close-bonded to inner engine parts. Every cylinder wall, for instance, becomes a wall of OIL-PLATING that doesn't all drain dry during all the time you use Conoco Nth. Even after all-day parking, the OIL-PLATING is still up to the topmost piston rings, ready to lubricate before any oil can circulate. That's one plain way of foiling excess wear, and keeping up mileage with your engine OIL-PLATED.

But Conoco Nth oil also includes Thialkene inhibitor

. . . another synthetic . . . invented to inhibit or restrain the dangerous "jelling" of oil under excess strain. Engine heat and pressure can even gum up oil into something like fly-paper coating—only dirtier, and not much better for mileage. Against this threat, Thialkene inhibitor was created for Conoco Nth (U. S. Pat. 2,218,132). And Conoco Nth out-mileaged the others in the Death Valley Test—from 74% all the way up to 161%. You can get real optimistic about your own mileage. Conoco Nth will come through for you. Change at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company

WARNING!

After making a trip to Crowell, looking over the terrible wreck left by the storm and consulting a number of people in regard to Tornado Insurance, I find a large percent have no insurance to cover their loss.

This being the fact it would be well for each and every person to consult the agency where their insurance is placed and really see what they have.

A large number of people renting have no insurance on their furniture and a larger number have no windstorm or hail insurance.

Certainly, you are sure nothing is going to happen to you, but no doubt the people of Crowell had the same thoughts.

It would also be well for the merchants to look about and see if their goods are covered in case of a storm.

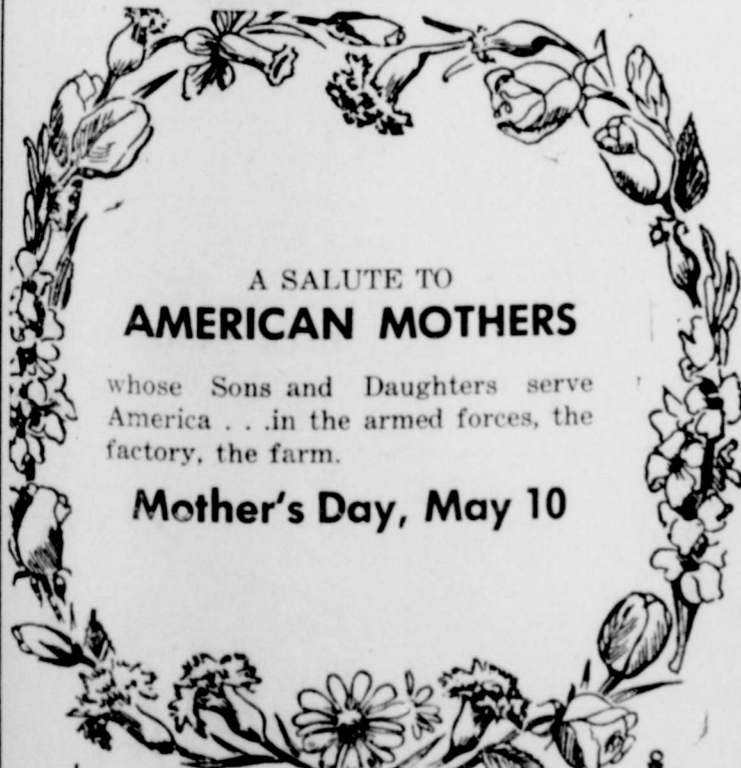

I believe I would be safe in saying Floydada is not 10% covered in case of a storm.

There is always the large property holder who can sustain a heavy loss and not feel the jar, and the small owner who is not able to pay the premium.

But my advice is to run down to Crowell and look it over. The losers all seem to be in one class at present.

Thanks—that we did not have the storm.

War material shortage limits telephone service

You probably have heard about certain government restrictions on telephone service and equipment now in effect. We should like to tell you a little more about these restrictions—why they are necessary, and what they will mean to you.

The reason for them is simple and complete. They are to save materials which are needed to fight the war.

What will they mean to you, the telephone user?

If you have a telephone now, they mean no change except that in many Texas cities affected by war growth you may have to have other parties on your line. And, in all cases, you can't get an extension telephone in your home if you haven't one already.

For people who have no telephones and want them, or for present users who move to new locations, we shall supply at least party-line service wherever there are now enough lines and switchboards. But in general, where new construction of this type would be necessary, we shall not be able to provide service.

This will mean inconvenience and perhaps hardship to a few people now. As time goes on it will probably mean inconvenience and hardship to more people, but we need your help and sympathetic understanding in this important step to save the maximum of materials for the war.

Beside the great savings in materials already made by substitution and wartime engineering, the new restrictions will mean that more lead, iron, steel, zinc, copper, and rubber used in telephone equipment will now go into arms.

In spite of all this, and while telephone service may not be available to all who want it, we believe we can keep the service up to a high standard. At any rate, we shall do our level best. These difficulties are something that neither the government nor the telephone companies can help. They are part of the price of protecting liberty.

Except for those cases where the need for telephone service has been recognized by the War Production Board as necessary for defense or public health, welfare or security.

Mrs. Pearl Fagan Served As Chairman Of South Plains Musical Festival At Lubbock

Over 400 children took part in some kind of musical program during the nineteenth Annual Music Festival held at Lubbock Thursday, Friday and Saturday, according to Mrs. Pearl Fagan, president of the South Plains Music Teachers Association, who served as chairman of the festival. The territory covered a radius of 100 miles from Lubbock. For three days and nights, scores of creative work or original work were presented in programs. "The climax of the festival was an ensemble program with eight groups and from four to six playing in groups," said Mrs. Fagan.

Pupils from Floydada taking theory and performance examinations during the festival were primary, Roberta and Edith Faye Garrett and Ann West, intermediate, Betty Lou Griggs, Norma Lanell Teague and Donald Clark Green, junior, Betty Yearwood. These pupils are enrolled in applied music and will receive credit when they have finished the senior year.

Those registered but not taking exams this year and playing in programs were Oragene Willson, Ernestine Fowler and Wendell Daniel. Pupils playing in ensemble were Roberta and Edith Faye Garrett, Dorman Stanley and David Willson who played "The Strolling Players" by Jenkins.

Betty Lou Griggs and Norma Lanell Teague played "Courtly Dances" by Bach with a group from Lubbock; Ernestine Fowler, Betty Yearwood, Oragene Willson and Wendell Daniel played "Kinder Concerto" by Hayden-Robyn; Oragene Willson and Betty Yearwood also played "Valse Debonnaire" by Paganucci.

WAR RATION BOOK

READ THESE RATION RULES:

IMPORTANT — Before the stamps of the War Ration Book may be used, the person for whom it was issued must sign it as indicated in the book. The name of a person under 18 years of age may be signed either by such person, or by his father, mother, or guardian. For future reference, make and keep a record of the serial number of your book and the number of your issuing Ration Board, as indicated in your book.

Your first War Ration Book has been issued to you, originally containing 28 War Ration Stamps. Other books may be issued at later dates. The following instructions apply to your first book and will apply to any later books, unless otherwise ordered by the Office of Price Administration. In order to obtain a later book, the first book must be turned in. You should preserve War Ration Books with the greatest possible care.

1. From time to time the Office of Price Administration may issue Orders rationing certain products. After the dates indicated by such Orders, these products can be purchased only through the use of War Ration Books containing valid War Ration Stamps.
2. The Orders of the Office of Price Administration will designate the stamps to be used for the purchase of a particular rationed product, the period during which each of these stamps may be used, and the amounts which may be bought with each stamp.
3. Stamps become valid for use only when and as directed by the Orders of the Office of Price Administration.
4. Unless otherwise announced, the Ration Week is from Saturday midnight to the following Saturday night.
5. War Ration Stamps may be used in any retail store in the United States.
6. War Ration Stamps may be used only by or for the person named and described in the War Ration Book.
7. Every person must see that his War Ration Book is kept in a safe place and properly used. Parents are responsible for the safekeeping and use of their children's War Ration Books.
8. When you buy any rationed product, the proper stamp must be detached in the presence of the storekeeper, his employee, or the person making delivery on this behalf. If a stamp is torn out of the War Ration Book in any other way than above indicated, it becomes void. If a stamp is partly torn or mutilated and more than one-half of it remains in the book it is valid. Otherwise it becomes void.
9. If your War Ration Book is lost, destroyed, stolen, or mutilated, you should report that fact to the local Ration Board.
10. If you enter a hospital, or other institution, and expect to be there for more than 10 days, you must turn your War Ration Book over to the person in charge. It will be returned to you upon your request when you leave.
11. When a person dies, his War Ration Book must be returned to the local Ration Board, in accordance with the Regulations.
12. If you have any complaints, questions, or difficulties regarding your War Ration Book, consult your local Ration Board.

IT'S going to be a SWEET war from now on—with the Japs on the losing end! Uncle Sam is giving all of us a chance to roll up our sleeves and make quick work out of it. You may not be able to put on a uniform but the War Ration Book that's in your possession is a certificate that you're in Uncle Sam's army doing the job that's assigned to you.

It's a mighty important job. The success of rationing depends upon that vast army made up of people like you. Rationing was designed to protect you — to see that you get your share.

Rationing is a necessary wartime measure. It curbs hoarding. As in the case of sugar, it permits everyone to get his full share. Be glad this country gives everyone this chance to help win the war!

Rationing does not deprive you of the things you need, but, rather, assures an adequate supply for everyone. Without rationing, others would stock up on supplies for many months to come. Merchants would lose supplies too quickly. An artificial demand is created for certain articles; prices rise. Inflation starts. Your War Ration Book helps protect you against all this. You and your neighbors get an equal share. There is no need for price rises.

Carefully read the Rules at the left—it will only take a few minutes to become familiar with how it works. Take good care of your Ration Book; don't lose it. Present it to the local merchants whenever you buy sugar. They have adequate supplies on hand for everyone in Floyd County.

Lyndale' Cattle Rate High In Shorthorn Sale

Of the 40 head of milking shorthorn cattle in the auction at Plainview on closing day of the Panhandle-Plains Dairy show last Saturday, Lyndale farm of Floydada had five cows which averaged $255 per head, and a baby calf which sold for $85.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

AUSTIN, April 28.—Bascom Giles, Commissioner of the General Land Office, today announced the awarding to the highest bidder of 363 acres of school land which had been advertised for sale on April 8 by the School Land Board.

Commissioner Giles said after studying the numerous bids received that "this was the most successful sale of school land held in recent years. The Public Free School Fund received the highest average price per acre and also the highest average price per tract that was ever received in the state's history."

Commissioner Giles attributed a large part of the success of this sale to the advertisements run in newspapers; and he is, therefore, convinced that "it pays to advertise."

THIS IS THE STORY OF CARBOLOY

How a Most Strategic Material of the War—Invented in Germany—Was Made Available to the United Nations

More Precious Than Diamonds in War Production . . . Carboloy is an American trademark for cemented tungsten-carbide, an alloy second only to diamonds in hardness, more precious than diamonds as a vital material in America's war program. It is used for the tips of cutting tools, and for wear-resistant dies. Carboloy is used in small quantities; it is difficult to make and difficult to use—but it has never been scarce in modern times. There is no scarcity now.

Invented in Germany—Krupp Protected by U. S. Patents . . . Cemented carbide was invented in Germany—it belonged to Krupp of Germany, and this made all the rest of the world Krupp's customer. In this country, Krupp was protected by patent grants from the United States.

General Electric Creates Independent Production . . . The General Electric Company two years before this had begun research on tungsten-carbide and foresaw its importance in industrial production. For immediate use in its own plants and for easier availability to others, General Electric undertook the long and arduous negotiations for the American rights. Limited rights were obtained in 1928, with Krupp continuing to export the material to its United States customers—a business which languished, however, as General Electric painstakingly developed its own Carboloy technique. This paved the way for General Electric to make the United States entirely independent of Germany for its cemented tungsten-carbide supply as early as 1936.

American Tool Costs Half That of German . . . From the start, two totally different businesses were involved. Krupp originally exported cemented carbides in chunks—and was unsuccessful. General Electric—and its subsidiary, Carboloy Co., Inc.—found it necessary to develop a complete engineering and manufacturing service, making various types of Carboloy equipped tools, training men in their use, and offering to its customers a specialized and successful production technique. For purposes of fair comparison, a typical German cemented carbide tool in 1928 cost $22.26 in the United States, while a comparable American Carboloy tool cost $11.11.

Loss to General Electric for Many Years—Art Taught to Industry . . . In times of peace—and 1928 was such a time—the measure of success of industrial adventure is to be found in profit to the adventurer. By such a measure, Carboloy could not be called successful. Initial expenses were great. For a time the Company lost at the rate of $1000 a day, and once had an operating deficit of more than a million dollars.* One of the major contributing reasons was the continuing high cost of development, standardization, and training. In 1936-37 alone, training courses were given to 10,000 men in industry. Moreover, six major price reductions were made in the face of operating losses, until the standard tool blank had been reduced in price 90 per cent.

Faith and Perseverance . . . Depression was still another reason—labor-saving tools could not be sold to industry or labor at any price. But General Electric, with determination that now seems providential, kept on—increasing its capacity, granting new licenses, condoning instances of unlicensed production, staying ahead of its market.

Production Multiplied forty-five Times in Four Years . . . Cemented tungsten-carbide could easily have been a source of weakness here, as it was in England, had it not been for General Electric's policy of continued expansion. In 1939, the production of the Carboloy Company was less than 20,000 lbs.; in 1940, it was 55,000 lbs.; in 1941, it was 163,000—and in December came Pearl Harbor. Now, in 1942, the Company's production is going at a rate that is 45 times that of only four years ago.

Britain Dependent upon Us . . . By contrast, British companies, which had been content to continue as customers of Krupp, found themselves cut off from the vital material when Poland was invaded. But the General Electric Company was able to supply substantial quantities to British industry immediately and since then has continuously filled British orders. It has, in like manner, filled Canada's requirements since 1936. It is currently supplying Canada, Russia, and other United Nations. All this in addition to supplying the greatly expanded needs of American industry.

An Inspirational Story of American Industry . . . Thus, the story of Carboloy does not end in "too little and too late." Like many previously untold stories of American industry, it continues, a sturdy and inspiring example of public service born of private enterprise, and characterized by hard work, ingenuity, investment, research, risk, and courage—a familiar pattern on this side of the Atlantic. General Electric Company, Schenectady, New York.

*Over the entire period of its existence up to January 31, 1932 the total net profit of the Carboloy Company was 2.5 per cent of sales.

An Unmanageable Rush Seen For Drivers License

AUSTIN, May 5.—Nine hundred thousand Texas drivers' licenses have been issued under the new drivers' license law since last October 1. State Police Director Homer Garrison announced today.

This is considerably less than half the 2,250,000 licenses which are expected to be issued by the end of September, Garrison said, warning that an unmanageable rush will occur late in the summer unless the rate of applications is speeded up immediately.

"The Drivers License Division is issuing only 160,000 licenses a month now, and is prepared to give rapid service," Garrison said. "If the applications continue to come in at their present rate, the number of applications each month will have to jump to 250,000 or 300,000 in July, August and September to meet the deadline."

Applications now are being accepted from any holder of an operator's license regardless of its serial number.

Mother's day services should be of interest to all our people. The name Mother stands for all that is noblest and best in human life. When we think of mother we are naturally moved closer to God. ### Farmers Cutting Down Debts, Lloyd Reports

Farmers and ranchmen generally are cutting down debts at a more rapid rate than at any time in the history of the land bank system, reported John A. Lloyd, director of the Floydada National Farm Loan association upon his return from a conference of representative directors of 19 associations held at Lubbock on April 30.

This group of directors, meeting with officers of the Federal Land

Bank of Houston, reported that farmers' cash is flowing into debt retirement and that the land bank's loans are in the best condition in 10 years.

The directors urged that land values should be appraised on the normal agricultural value rather than according to market trends. This policy helped to prevent wholesale foreclosures during the depression and is equally important now in times of rising prices, they said.

Total land bank commissioner loans outstanding through these 19 associations represented at this meeting amounted to 14,876 for $30,910,851.03.

MAY 10th is MOTHER'S DAY

In our wartime economy the women are learning of Foods needed for Balanced Diet, and now we are learning about foods that can be substituted for Sugar. In this job Mother is playing the Major Role, of course, as she almost always does in every all-out effort. We salute her and offer our Heartiest Co-operation in her Efforts to maintain an orderly Kitchen in topsy-turvy times.
