'Space Shortage Apparent As Harvest Nears

Although there are wheat raisers by the score in Floyd county who do not realize it, the Number One problem of the immediate future on the farm is storage for grain.

This week it became painfully apparent to grain dealers that storage space at the terminal elevators is going to be hard to wrangle out of the Commodity Credit corporation, and elevator storage houses are giving their customers to understand they are going to prorate their space out to their customers of past seasons.

Grain men say they have been unable to make their customers realize the fact that their wheat crop, which normally will mature and be ready for harvest within two or three weeks, will not have any place to go after it has been combined unless granary space has been made for it on the farm. Prospect looms of thousands of bushels of wheat being piled up on the prairie. Wheat men, who in former years provided storage on their farms and delivered wheat in the course of several months, now combine and deliver their wheat to the elevator all in the same day, and the granaries that were are no more.

Vacant Houses, Granaries Many farmers are casting about for vacant houses, vacant granaries, store buildings and whatnot but many others are assuming the situation will take care of itself as soon as the first scare is over. Whether the Commodity Credit corporation and the terminal elevator men are over-stressing the shortage of space or not, there is no reason apparent here why they should, and dealers believe they are not. Accordingly they are suggesting that old buildings be repaired to meet storage requirements and that this use be made of the hundreds of vacant residences which wheat farming or the farm program, according to your point of view, have brought about in the county in the past 10 years.

Civilian Planes At Plainview Hunt New Base

The hustle and bustle incident to a glider school being established at Plainview is not an unmixed blessing although citizens of that town are much gratified their municipality has been given this recognition and the influx of population incident thereto.

When the army took over Plainview Municipal airport, civilian planes based there were without a home. They are not permitted to use that field nor to be established in adjacent areas, according to reports given officials of the Floydada City-County field here.

Accordingly they were invited to make use of the emergency airport here until such time as they desire to make a change or for the duration.

And this week the five civilian planes belonging to individuals and clubs there are based in Floydada. Being without hangars the owners are storing in a large barn belonging to Ralph Brown in northwest Floyd county. In the number are three Aeronaics, one Taylorcraft and one Piper cub.

Army, Defense Jobs Deplete TDG Rolls

The call to arms and to defense jobs of the nation continues to take toll of enlisted personnel in Company B of Texas Defense Guard.

Check-up of the roster Tuesday night declared that some more recruiting has got to be done at once to keep the company up to required strength.

"We had a full company less than 60 days ago and now we are short 17 men, and those holes in the ranks we've got to fill up," he said.

One helpful thing that has happened has been the fact that uniforms are being furnished temporarily by the county, while the company awaits new issue of uniforms in the fall by the state.

At this time the importance of the Texas Defense Guard in protection to life and property in the state is being stressed by the governor and the executive department through the adjutant general's office, this organization affording the only militia which the state can rely upon to preserve order and protect property during emergencies.

It was a break for the candidates last Thursday when they were permitted to use the loudspeaker for a few minutes each to say something about their candidacies for office. This year it is going to be hard on the good man who has a lot of friends in one part of a precinct, county or district, but needs to get out and shell the woods where he is not so well-known. It will be impossible, it appears now, to see everybody. A candidate might go along thinking he was running pretty good to find out that in parts of the county or district he is "getting skunked", to use an outmoded bit of slang. Certainly a candidate with competition is going to have to make all the meetings he can walk to or bum a ride. This year the business of getting everybody personally contacted is just going to be out of the picture, unless the miracle no one expects should come true, a let up in tire priorities.

Who is necessary and who is unnecessary to win a war? Can it be said that one group is worse needed than another? We seriously doubt that it can, even when one gets down to miners or farmers. Somebody is essential after these produce the raw product to get it to the mills or factories or distributors. The thought comes to mind because of a cruel but revealing statement emanating last week from Austin from some captain of the Selective service. "Unfortunately," he is quoted as saying, "we cannot win the war with newspapers," and went on to say, speaking of the newspaperman who was not asking for deferment, "He would be worth infinitely more to his country looking down the sighting end of a gun barrel." The cruel thing was that he reflected on a man of patriotic spirit who did not have himself a high job (in the Selective service for instance) and had not sought one. The revealing thing was that we have a man high in Selective service who does not realize that in fact newspapers are needed to win the war—not newspapers alone, of course, and by any means,—but all of us, even newspapers. The S. S. captain could serve his country better to save his shots for Hitler and Hirohito.

There are encouraging reports from Floyd county wheat fields this week, and there will be more good barley than was thought possible 30 days ago. In the case of wheat, the grasshoppers on some farms are going to give the producer a run for his money, it is true, while on others the hopper damage is going to be negligible. The grasshopper colonies are spotted around over the county. Some farms appear to have about the normal amount of hoppers. Others have them by the million. Even on different portions of the same farm this is true. But generally speaking the sucker crop of wheat is coming along good, the crop has been affected very little to date by the heat and the grains filling out good. Some early wheat is past the stiff dough stage, other crops are just in bloom, some are filling out the grain this week. All in all, if storage space can be found and disastrous hails wait awhile there is going to be a good average crop and good, average No. 1 hard winter wheat.

Pity those who have no children. The only way to be sure of friends in your old age is to raise your own.

It is interesting to note that those who are in position to know best are taking the lead in preparing some storage on their own farms for their grain. Shortage of the right kind of materials for bin-building is affecting the situation, but there are many vacant barns and houses which can be made sufficiently strong to hold wheat.

Although the hog population of America is increasing by the thousands every day, the ma hogs being on the job in a big way, the demand for pork and pork by-products as long as the war is going on is so big that there may be a shortage of fats. Result would be rationing of fats. Coffee surely is in line for rationing, it seems, because the ships are needed so badly to haul other things. Every shipload of coffee that does not come across the southern seas to America means one more ship to haul death dealing munitions or armament of some kind to meet the madmen in the only kind of argument they understand. But the hog situation most any family in Floyd county can meet by the simple process of buying a little swine and feeding him until he gets to be a big one. You may have known from time now gone how to render out lard, or if you don't know, you can learn. And thus have your own fats at home, together with some middlings, some ham and shoulders and souse and pigs feet and cracklings along this fall. Sounds simple and it is, for practically everybody in Floyd county, with feed cheap and a weaner pig available for anybody with seven dollars in cash.

At one fell swoop the truck loading order of the ODT, hundreds of men out of jobs on truck lines, delivering for private concerns, including bread and scores of other commodities which have afforded jobs. The order, if it goes through unmodified, for instance, costs several jobs in Floydada. It likely will cost fifty jobs in a little city like Lubbock just in the bread delivery line alone. And there are potato chip and lumber and this and that line to lose delivery men because their mode of doing business can't be continued in compliance with the law. It is possible this method of approach was taken at getting thousands of men headed toward war work who are at present only serving the hankering of American people for full and complete competition to the extent of half a dozen men traveling the same road the same day delivering the same, in general, kind of product. The order is being done in the name of conservation of materials—gasoline, tires, trucks, pick-ups. It will upset the apple cart for many who will, however, find jobs that must more nearly approach direct aid to the war effort. We will hope and trust the men who are giving these orders in the name of the president are doing a good job. One think about it there will be little, if any, complaint. Folks are in this war and they're going to war wherever they can serve best.

One sage advanced the theory that we could hardly hope to have good weather with the world in the state it's in.

Excessive tidiness is said to indicate a mild form of insanity—from which most newspapermen are happily immune.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

By Nellie Witt Spikes

Being an old-timer two days in succession was almost too much and today I am almost too lazy to move.

But we have a glorious meeting of old and new friends to treasure. What a fine parade in George Favre's wagon! And such delightful women we talked with as we wound around the streets of Floydada. This is the first time to be in a parade and see friendly smiles and salutes. Of course our wagon won the prize for the largest family and needless to say, the best looking women!

To my way of thinking this was the very best reunion of old settlers Floydada has had that I have attended.

The ground at Old Emma is a sacred spot, made so by men and women who bravely bore the burdens, paved the way for their children and the ones to follow.

Memories sweet as the scent of the Marthas Washington roses and yellow honey-suckle that bloomed at the doors of the Martin and the Murrays, memories sad as the cold spring rains that dripped on the newly lettered stones on the prairie, funny memories that tickled the funny bones and roared in laughter from the yellow pine houses, memories pleasant as the lapping of the blue lake water on the brown feet of pioneer children or the whispering of a south wind through the fanning cottonwood trees leaves, memories happy as the fiddle tunes that sounded from the white court-house at a dance, or the good scent of a fat beef, slowly roasting over hot coals of the mesquite.

Yes the day at Emma was a day of memories, of happy rejoicing to be together once again, to eat and talk, to visit the cemetery where loved ones were awaiting the great judgement day, to pray and sing as we did of yore under the shining sun

A MADMAN'S DRUMS, OR LAUGHTER

Each day the World is arming for the fray
When War-Lords, in their fury shall proclaim
That marching feet and beating drums obey;
The call to arms, for one more bloody game
Of might against the right, the War-Lord's way.

The throbbing of the drums their power acclaim
Another war will turn the World they say
To blackened shambles, humanity's shame.

The fat of tomorrow, ah! who can tell
Whither progression or stark disaster.
Shall peaceful nations rule and all be well?
Or new-made dictator, proclaimed our master.

No seer can truly say what is in store;
Future events are locked behind time's door.
Jessica Morehead Young

where not even a white fleecy cloud seemed to be between us and the God in Heaven.

God be with you till we meet again, friends of our youthful days, and faithful pioneers of the west.

Button, button, who has the button? Why, Mrs. Carl Smith of Route 4 Floydada. To be exact she exhibited 3333 different buttons at the Reunion last Thursday. From the quaint buttons on several charm strings to the most up-to-date ones from miladies dress, glass and bone wood and jet and pearl to the flowered ones to be put on calico dresses, yes and on a card to themselves were the strong big white buttons that held underbodies together and men's clothes that were made of cotton flannel in the winter and drilling in the summer with strings around the bottoms—buttons of metal that were in straight rows down the front of wool childhood days when mother looked so sweet in her new basque with such tight, tight sleeves, her hair piled in curls above her white forehead and her long full skirt swishing with every step.

I met such a sweet lovely young girl the other day, Olive Davies from Southland, daughter of T. and Arthur Davies whom I have known for so many years.

Carey and Anne and Tar Baby came Saturday and said, "Grandmother, we are to spend the summer with you." I do not have many instructions in caring for the children, Wilson and Jerry trusting my old-fashioned ways. "Try to stop Carey from sucking his thumb, Anne from biting her finger nails and teach Tar Baby to stay out of the house," My son laughed and said, "I sure suppose the parents knew I would do my own way when they were gone. Some of the old ways of rearing children were not so bad and I find many of the newer ways good so, betwixt the two, I will get along."

Mrs. Elam of Rails is interested in old remedies and told me that once she was kicked in the forehead by a pet colt and a neighbor took a case knife to cut back the torn flesh and sewed up the gash with a common needle threaded with black silk thread, binding up the wound with camphor and sugar. "We lived west of Wichita Falls," she remembers. "Sometimes we would go for three or four weeks and not see a soul. Sometimes cowboys would come by and pay us children for a glass of milk, the only way we ever had to make any money. My mother took pine splinters and set them afire against a meat rind, then used the grease to doctor cuts and sores." I would be very glad if any one would send or give me an old remedy and we will start a collection.

Poem of the week

'Twas an evening of beauty; the air was perfume,
The earth was all greenness the trees were all bloom
And softly the delicate viol was heard,
Like the summer of love or the notes of a bird.—Whittier

230 Are Served Pioneer Dinner At Re-Union

When the pioneers assembled for their noon-day luncheon last Thursday at the 14th re-union, observing the county's 52nd birthday, 230 were at the long table, proudly wearing the arm bands denoting long residence in the county.

This dinner, served by women of the Floyd County Home Demonstration Club, was followed shortly by the normal sessions of the association. Highlights of the afternoon program were talks from pioneers. Impromptu reminiscences brought vividly to their minds by the occasion the old water holes, trails and wagon trains, again, the stage of many tragic dramas and humorous incidents.

Wagons of Lumber Go West
I had decided to go west and grow up with the country," Geo. F. Blanch began. "Many days we had traveled westward in a train of five or six wagons of men, women and children." Water, shade and the surrounding country near Turtle Hole stretched an appealing hand to the women as we arrived to make camp there that beautiful May evening.

Many wagons loaded with lumber were passing, going westward. I inquired to find they were headed for Floyd county. It was here our group parted. Only one other family came on to Floyd county landing with us here May 12, 1890.

Gertrude Braidfoot Arnold, daughter of pioneer parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Braidfoot, came to Floyd county in 1887. She was dressed in pioneer costume at the re-union. Black moire taffeta dress with a large white collar. Her large black hat carried a sweeping black plume of ostrich feather.

In memory of a singing school class conducted in one room of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grammer, Mrs. Arnold dedicated the song "The Unclouded Day," to the teacher, Rev. R. E. L. Muncy and his wife. Concluding her appearance on the program Mrs. Arnold dedicated the song "How Beautiful Heaven Must Be" to all pioneers. These songs were sung by Mr. and Mrs. Flay Hart, C. M. Lyles and Earl Rainer.

396 Pioneers Register
Of the 396 pioneers who registered Thursday, having been in the county 25 years or longer, 230 were served dinner, guests of the Floyd County Pioneer association and served by home demonstration club women of the county.

Longer Car Life To Be Obtained By Conoco Plan

PONCA CITY, Okla., May 25.—A new service to motorists, designed to prolong the life of motor cars and make tires last longer, is being introduced by Continental Oil company through its local dealers. It was announced here today by Will A. Morgan, company advertising manager.

"The new service," Mr. Morgan stated, "will be announced to the public in a series of advertisements to start this week in The Hesperian." Knowing that regular inspection and proper lubrication are absolutely vital to the long-life of cars now operating, dealers in Conoco products through the country are organizing Once-A-Week club among motorists, with the idea of making thorough checks of each car on regularly specified days every week.

Conoco dealers will keep careful records of tire serial numbers, grease and oil change periods, and all information necessary to the proper servicing of the car. They will remind motorists when lubrication and other services are needed, and will do everything possible to help the motorists get the maximum life from their cars at the least possible cost and trouble," Morgan said.

All Conoco dealers in this territory are cooperating in the plan, it was announced.

Grim Conflict With Hoppers Continues

The grim fight against grasshoppers in Floyd county continued with intensified effort in the past week, report from the poison bait station to include Tuesday night indicating that 372,000—more than a third of a million—pounds of poison had been distributed to farmers of the territory.

Previously the station had delivered to farmers poison bait in excess of half a million pounds, bringing the total to Tuesday night to 772,900 pounds.

"The poison mixture now being used is more effective than our other mixtures have been. Kills of grasshoppers in the millions are reported where the bait has been used. Small grain, alfalfa and early row crops alike are being attacked and the early hoppers that escaped storms and poison have reached the flying stage," said County Agent Jason O. Gordon.

Numerous farmers have become alarmed only in the last few days. All who have called at the mixing station have received all the bait they asked for in their turn and the waits have been remarkably short, considering the huge mixing job that has had to be done by manual labor the last few days.

No reports of the poison killing chickens have been received or of it killing people that ate the chickens that ate the poison, as some feared it would do. Experiments show, said Mr. Gordon, that it is effective as to grasshoppers because they eat the sap or moisture from the cottonseed hulls, while chickens will peck at them, but probably never eat enough to hurt them.

Care, however, should be observed at all time by those who handle the poison to see that neither man nor beast gets any of the poison in his system, and with every shipment or sack of the poison that leaves the station a warning tag is enclosed, also giving antidote in case of accident.

Farmers with large areas to cover using mechanical spreaders, distributing several thousand pounds of poison effectively within a very short time.

CAN'T SPIN SISAL

The shortage of sisal and henequen fibers for binding twine "may make the wool spinners happy," says George Farrell of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in an article considering some of the substitutions likely to be required in war times. "Some careless farmers," Farrell explains, "use sisal twine for tying fleeces. When the fleeces are unwrapped short pieces of the sisal fibers are left in the wool and work havoc in the spinning. Maybe the shortage of sisal will force all wool growers to use paper twine in tying up fleeces."

A hillbilly was visiting a Nebraska farmer. The farmer said, "Doggone it all, Bill, I sure have the toughest luck. A week ago I had a carload of prime hogs ready for market, and they got cholera and died. It's the craziest ailment ever."

"You is all wrong there," retorted the mountaineer. "Down where I come from it's wuss. The mud balls up on the pigs' tails so bad that it pulls their eyelids back so they can't wink, and they die from lack of sleep."

ODESSA CONVENTION REPORT GIVEN LIONS MEETING

Report on the District 2-T convention of Lions clubs at Odessa recently was given Tuesday by Garlan G. Glover, member of the Floydada club who, in company with W. R. Simon, attended the sessions of the district meet.

The meeting was unusual in many respects, said Mr. Glover, one of these being the whole-hearted manner in which people of Odessa, including the schools, entertained the visitors.

COMMISSIONERS MEETING HELD TUESDAY AS BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

The Commissioners court sat as a board of equalization for state and county tax renditions yesterday.

Some changes were made in renditions where taxpayers had been notified to appear and values of a few pieces of new property were reviewed.

Mrs. Smith rushed into her living room. "Oh, John!" she cried, as she panted for breath. "I dropped my diamond ring off my finger and I can't find it anywhere."

"It's alright, dear," said John. "I came across it in my trouser pocket."

Bishop: But how on earth did you manage to keep the cannibals from eating you?

Returned Missionary: It was easy. You see, I have a cork leg. As soon as I landed I pulled up my trousers, cut off a slice and gave it to the chief. He decided I wasn't worth cooking.

COURTESY IMPORTANT PART IN RETAIL SELLING, SAYS SPEAKER AT ROTARY CLUB

The importance of courtesy in retail selling was discussed by Mac Colvert, retail salesman at Martin Dry Goods company, before members and visitors at Wednesday's meeting of Floydada Rotary club.

Giving the customer the courtesy of careful attention to his wants was pointed to as a major requirement of retail selling. In small cities and towns close acquaintance and resultant carelessness often cost important sales, the speaker said.

Recruit: "Yes, but not to eat it."

"Rough estimates, from facts revealed by the survey of national nutrition, indicate," says Louise Stanley of the U. S. ## Work Started On Highway 207 By Contractor

Work on the contract for hard-surfacing slightly in excess of five miles of Highway 207 from a point north of South Plains to the Briscoe county line was started Tuesday by Plains Construction company of Pampa, successful bidder on the job.

Plains Construction company was awarded the job some 90 days ago but work order was withheld for sometime due to the war emergency. Last week the go ahead sign was given when the war department said that critical materials needed for prosecution of the war were not involved.

Resident Engineer R. T. Roane said the contractor had 60 working days from the day of beginning to complete the job.

On the same highway the Highway department sponsored WPA job is moving along, a crusher being now in operation to reduce caliche to condition for use as a base.

LOW TEMPERATURE MADE THE DIFFERENCE

It pays to cook meat slowly. The pictures above show two standing rib roasts before and after cooking. The roasts weighed the same before they were cooked and were cooked to the same degree of doneness (medium). Oven temperatures made the difference. The roast on the left was cooked in a moderate (300° F.) oven. The roast on the right was cooked in a hot (500° F.) oven. The advantages of roasting meats in a moderate oven are (1) less shrinkage—more servings, (2) meat is juicier (note the larger amount of drippings from the roast cooked at the high oven temperature), (3) better flavored.

Apples, Spuds, Pears Off Blue Food List

Apples, spuds and fresh pears that were on the Blue Stamp food list for May are not on the June list for food stamp purchasers of Surplus commodities. However to partially compensate for this sweet potatoes now in season, have been added to the list.

The complete Blue Stamp food list for this month is as follows: Butter, fresh oranges, corn meal, sweet potatoes, eggs, wheat flour, dried prunes, dry beans, fresh grapefruit, fresh vegetables, including dried onions, hominy (corn grits).

Eat More Lettuce
Local stores are now featuring exceptionally good buys on lettuce and local homemakers are taking advantage of excellent crops this year, according to statements of Floyd county merchants today.

Carl L. Minor Chairman of Food Industry Committee, said the lettuce crop is especially abundant this year and he urged local homemakers to serve as many lettuce dishes as possible.

According to nutritionists of the United States Department of Agriculture, green lettuce is a good source of carotene which the body changes into vitamin A. In addition it has some vitamin B1, some riboflavin and some vitamin C. Besides these vitamins contributions, lettuce is a good source of the minerals, iron and calcium. The white leaves, called bleached lettuce, are not as good a source of these food values as are the green leaves. As far as iron and carotene are concerned, the thinner and greener the leaf, the more of these the lettuce contains.

Mr. Minor passed on these "tips" from the Department of Agriculture about the preparation of lettuce:

Tips on Lettuce
"Cut out the core of the lettuce with a sharp pointed knife. Then put the head under running water and let water run in where core has been removed. This loosens and freshens the leaves—making it easy to slip the leaves off each leaf, whole and unbroken—for use in preparing salads and sandwiches.

"Naturally, a lettuce leaf under a salad or in a sandwich will not contribute a whole lot of food value. To get the good from lettuce eat more of it.

"There are many ways to fix lettuce. It is a perfect vegetable for salad and it gets along well with almost any vegetable combination. Wilt shredded head lettuce or leaf lettuce in a heavy skillet with some well-flavored fat—and season it with vinegar and chopped onions. Or cut head lettuce up in fourths and braise it just like you do cabbage."

Greer McCleskey, student of Tech college, returned home Thursday to spend the summer with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roe McCleskey. Ben McReynolds, also a student of Tech and a former resident of Floydada accompanied Greer home and visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. McCleskey until Tuesday.

Dearie, I'm sure I heard a mouse squeak.
Well, do you want me to get up and oil it?

"When you quarreled today, you let your husband have the last word. That was very unusual."
"I know it. But I want to give him a little pleasure. It's his birthday."

Many Pioneers Sign Register At Fourteenth Annual Meeting Of Floyd County Re-Union

New Mexico furnished an especially large number of registrants at the fourteenth annual re-union of the Floyd County Pioneers association last Thursday, and adjoining counties also furnished a considerable number.

Attendance from points out of the county was especially noted in view of recent rubber shortage and of the tire conservation campaign. Evidently the appeal of the opportunity to see their old friends overcame the fear of losing some mileage from their tire treads. # Silk may go... BUT This MUST SURVIVE!

We can do without Japan's silk with no serious consequences. We can carry on normally much more easily without Japan's silk than Japan can carry on without our market for her silk. Already we have worthy American substitutes for this major Nipponese export product.

It is our task now to defeat Japan to prevent her from overpowering us and taking our democracy away from us, along with all the other fine things that we have to enjoy here in America. To wrest from us the things that have made America great—free speech, free thought, free opportunity, free religious worship—is the aim of Japan and her power-hand partners.

They seek to destroy our way of life, our homes, our churches, our schools... to place a yoke around our necks... to enslave us. We must not permit an Axis victory. Our way of life must survive.

Whipping Japan and her partners is a job for all of us. The duty of every American citizen is well defined, clear-cut. Our armed forces are fighting with traditional courage and determination. They are making sacrifices to void our enemies' designs.

Any sacrifice that we make, as civilians, is trivial compared to what these hard fighting men are doing. They are risking their lives that we may remain free people... that our American way of life may survive.

We owe it to these brave, self-sacrificing men up front on the battle lines to keep them armed, fed, and clothed abundantly. We must work hard to fulfill our obligation to them. We must use every ounce of our energy to contribute our share to Uncle Sam's goal of adequate production of food, clothing, arms, and ammunition. We must buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, all that we possibly can, as soon as we possibly can. Our American way of life must survive.

Uncle Sam desires that the retail merchants, the service institutions and the professional men of our nation carry on as normally as possible, considering that we are at war. Locally, the people who man and manage the firms and institutions that serve you are doing all they can to serve you the best they can. If war has forced certain restrictions or made limitations of certain services mandatory, accept the changes with gracious understanding, remembering that it is both their wish and their duty to adopt those business practices designed to lend greatest help in the battle to insure victory and the survival of our American way of life.

Matador Editor To Enter Army At Early Date

Editor and Publisher Douglas Meador, of the Matador Tribune, and author of the widely-read "Trail Dust," feature which appears in his own newspaper and others, is making his preparations to enter the army sometime during this summer.

His number comes up, probably not later than July, and unless he finds a good "spot" in which to volunteer he anticipates going with the July draft from Motley county, he said in Floydada Saturday.

His problem, meanwhile, is to adjust his business affairs so that the Tribune will be operating as his newspaper when the war is over and he reaches home. Presently, it is indicated that Mrs. Meador will resign from her responsible post with The First State bank of Matador to take up the reins of the newspaper after her husband departs. She has been employed in the bank for a number of years. Mrs. Meador, quite a capable person, has had no experience as a publisher but expects to learn the game. Loyal business institutions of the county have promised their full support while Meador is away from home.

The Tribune office has already given one man (out of a two man shop) to the army, and the local boss there, fearing Meador's departure would be the cause of the suspension of the newspaper and thus cause the loss of an important cog in the business and social life of the community, had taken the matter up with the Selective Service in Austin, hoping to get a ruling coinciding with their ideas that at least one newspaper man to a county is essential. Officials in Texas' capital used to having to wade newspapermen to and from their office, did not sense the situation. In fact that office so badly missed the cue that a ruling was issued on the assumption that Meador was attempting to escape military service, and the board promptly informed that "we cannot win wars with newspapers and this appellant would be far more useful to his country looking down the sighting end of a gun-barrel."

Meador said in Floydada that while wording of the "gun barrel" ruling of the Selective service was embarrassing, or at least vexatious to a man who has and has had no intention of attempting to evade service, it was one of the kind of things you have to take along with the other adversities of war. Friends and the people generally in Motley county have rallied wonderfully to the support of the newspaper, he said, and he feels confident the business can be maintained intact during his absence. Just how it will be done and how the manpower will be obtained is the problem he must work out before "Army day" for him.

To the Voters of Floyd County: I wish to announce my candidacy for re-election to the office of county surveyor of Floyd county in the Democratic primary July 25, 1942.

I am now employed by a private engineering company on a national defense project and probably will be employed on this or similar projects for the duration of the war. ## CLOSE EVERY BUSINESS PLACE ON SABBATH URGED AS REAL PATRIOTISM

Today as we hear the cry of patriotism on every hand, is it not time for us all to become real Americans? The radio continuously talks of the necessity of conserving our tires and gas rationing, and I think if the business men of Floyd county want to show dear old "Uncle Sam" they are for him they will close every place of business on the Sabbath, so that America may become her real self again.

ENLISTED MEN

Technicians, third, fourth - fifth grades, are new enlisted ranks in the Army. They are given to men whose jobs are chiefly technical and of a special nature. They rank just below, and receive the pay of, non-commissioned officers of similar grade. A technician, third grade, for instance, is ranked just below a staff sergeant and just above a sergeant. He receives the pay of a staff sergeant.

With more and more men putting on the uniform of their country, civilians still find the matter of chevrons and stripes often confusing. The diagram above shows the grades among the enlisted men. Beginning at the bottom right and reading to the left and up, the grades from first class private with a single chevron to master sergeant with three chevrons and three arcs are shown for all non-commissioned officers.

City Park Church

J. G. Malphurs, Minister

The war is cruel, and the sufferings cannot be measured. There is an old proverb which is not Bible yet very true, which says: "It is an evil wind that blows no one a favor." Put with that a Bible promise made to the lovers of God: "And we know that to them that love God all things work together for good..."

Christians must expect some blessings to come from this terrible universal carnage. We grant that they are hard to see, but let us point them out for you.

(1) Those who survive the war will be more on the same level, and the common brotherhood of man will be recognized in a more universal way if the United Nations win;

(2) The tire shortage and lack of ways to travel will likely cause many to stay closer at home, have more time to be a good neighbor to those living close to us. Having to walk will force us to a good exercise which many of us need.

(3) The saints will be brought to their knees, as Paul says: "to me every knee shall bow." (Rom. 14-11). It would be a pretty sight to the angels in heaven to see the church on her knees in prayer once more.

(4) The church will be purged from its cross. The unconverted and careless church members will not stick to Christ during times we are now passing and yet to pass. Only the pure gold will stand the fires of this war.

(5) Christians will be made to see the need of uniting themselves to oppose the common enemy of Christ and righteousness. Let us hasten that glad day.

Our subject for the morning hour will be: "Faith, Fear and Love." The evening services will be 9:15, and the subject will be: "Turning the World Upside Down." You are urged to bring your unsaved friend to hear this evening sermon.

Increased Attendance
So far as the reports show, there was an increased attendance in all activities at the church last Sunday, which is entirely as it should be. All the Stewards except two attended the conference at 7:45, and the two who were absent were necessarily so.

Doctor L. N. Lipscomb preached for a good congregation at the evening hour. The pastor was at Aiken preaching for that church, where he will be the rest of this week, in a meeting with Brother Horace Standlee.

Intermediate Assembly
Three local young people are attending the Summer Camp for Intermediates at Ceta Canyon, having gone up with Brother C. A. Hartley, pastor of the Floydada Circuit. They will make reports Sunday of things interesting about their stay there.

Services Sunday
All services at the church will be conducted Sunday at the usual hours. The pastor will preach at the morning hour and there will likely be a supply for him at the evening preaching service. "Let us go unto the house of the Lord, for that is the place to which we have been divinely called on the Lord's Day—it is not ours to spend as we please. "Forsake not the assembling of yourselves together, as the manner of some is."

Infertile Eggs In Order Now; Gather Often

COLLEGE STATION, June 4.—Produce infertile eggs, keep 'em clean, gather them at least three times daily, and more Texas eggs will reach the consumer, says George P. McCarthy, Poultry Husbandman of A. and M. College Extension service. After gathering, cool them promptly in an open wire mesh, or wicker basket which allows the air to circulate between the eggs. Placing the basket in a cool, slightly moist room, helps the eggs to keep their quality.

As fertile eggs tend to spoil rapidly, McCarthy suggests removing all roosters from the flock when the hatching season is over. He also warns that overcrowding in a flock will do as much harm as the outbreak of a disease, and often is a contributing cause to coccidiosis.

Shortage of housing space can be relieved by building a range shelter or brush arbor, which permits pullets to roost in the open beneath a roof to protect them from rain or hail.

"If you are feeding a good mash and they have a good green range, you won't recognize them as the same pullets after a couple of weeks."

Get the Want ad habit.

production from a poultry flock. If the hens are not eating as they should, are pale and losing weight, and features are rather dry and brittle, they should be treated for intestinal parasites, McCarthy says. Floor line ventilators in summer are one of the best things to have in a poultry house. It makes the house cooler, "and a flock of chickens which are comfortable can be expected to produce." (A copy of the poultry house bulletin may be obtained from county agricultural agents).

As careless handling and packing are responsible for most breakage McCarthy suggests packing all eggs in standard cases, with the small end pointing downward. Cover the top of the case with a pad of excelsior because it is the top layer which most often gets crushed.
