If you have not joined in the effort to salvage scrap rubber and get it into channels of trade, do so at once. That's the advice that comes from every source almost. There is no doubt that gasoline rationing in the middle west not only would cripple industry, commerce and agriculture, dealing each a terrific blow, but would also seriously cripple the war effort itself. Whoever is responsible for this rationing phase of the war has really thrown a scare into anybody in the southwest who is in touch with conditions. Every county simply must get as many thousands of pounds of scrap rubber in channels of trade as possible. The biggest pile of scrap rubber in all history must be laid in sight of the powers that be. And we think it will be done. Already tons have come in in Floyd county. The effort should not stop with what has been done. The army authorities must be shown that the rubber really is available.

Grasshoppers, farmers and hail all doing their best ought to be able to gather the wheat crop in a hurry. The hoppers have been at work several days, the hail has hit twice with lots of noise and some results, and the farmers are beginning to nibble around the edges of the fields with their combines testing the fields to see if they are ready to harvest. If the farmer could get in quickly he would soon beat both hail and hoppers, but he has to wait until the crop is ready for the market while the forces of nature take their toll without regard to marketing requirements of the terminal elevators.

Soldiers and sailors are not disqualified for participation in the Democratic primary, although they are disqualified for participation in the general election this fall. The State committee ruled thus, although that is not the way the law reads, because a party primary in theory is not an election. There will be many applications for absentee ballots on account of this ruling of the state committee, and a soldier or sailor stationed most anywhere in the United States will have time to get a ballot and get it back home within the time limit set by law. The boys who are otherwise qualified but are stationed in some of the outlying possessions or somewhere on the seven seas will be a bit too far from home to participate. They can't make the deadline.

The first primary date is just a wee bit more than five weeks away, but one hears little of the election—or are we just not listening? Anyway, we started to say that rationing and war worries of other kinds have the minds of the people at this time. We predict that a few days before the election most everybody is going to wake up the same morning steamed up about the election and want something done about it. Some will be interested in one race, some another, but all will be interested. The senatorial race is the only one that has possibilities of the statewide campaigns. The candidates in this campaign may furnish quite a bit of diversion before election day. Certainly they will if Mr. O'Daniel gives the go ahead sign to his legion of friends. Depend on the O'Daniel campaign not being the orthodox, old-fashioned kind.

If the president takes or has taken a hand in Texas politics which way will it cost the more votes? It is said he is against Mr. O'Daniel and does not want him up at Washington any more. That is supposed to be the "inside" information. Many people like to vote for the expedient man, for the man they think will work closest with the powers that be regardless of what they may personally desire. Many others in Texas see red when it appears that somebody from afar is trying to tell them how to vote. They reason they can choose a man, which is their job, and that the man in Washington can well be attending to his own business of being president whatever his name. It was demonstrated in the last election that it does make a difference when young, dynamic Lyndon Johnson failed to make the grade with powerful help from administration men who just "happened" to come to Texas on a vacation and visit. But this is another time and a new situation. America is in deadly combat. The president, for some reason, does not think Mr. O'Daniel fits in the senate. Whether O'Daniel refuses to be a yes man or what it is we are not informed. But it does make an interesting situation. And surely the fur will fly.

Considerable resentment is noted among Floyd county people over the Sadler-Kilday incident. Sadler, many feel with apparent justification, attempted to name his successor by resigning just when he did to get into the armed forces, giving Kilday the inside track as he thought with his name on the ticket unopposed. He may have succeeded in doing this. Court proceedings are yet to decide the matter. The state committee felt that the people ought to have a "shot" at naming their own railroad commissioner and have attempted to make it possible for others than Kilday to have their names on the ticket. If they have their way there will be eleven names on the ticket, if they don't, of course, there will be only one name and that of Mr. Kilday. This will give him a big advantage, for while thousands will write in names they will not have time nor sufficient cohesion in their forces to join hands and elect one man over the single man with his name printed on the ticket.

Candidates for district, county and precinct office are having to take any advantage they can of meetings and big Saturday crowds to get their candidacies before the public. It has become quite evident that people who refuse to vote for a candidate who does not come to see them will do a lot of scratching this year. The tire saving campaign is the reason, of course. How much difference will it make in a candidate's net vote at the polls? We doubt if it makes a lot but a man running for office can't feel that way about it. He would sure like to see the people.

If you are interested in knowing who is running for what in Texas this year read the list of candidates as they appear in this issue of The Hesperian. Particularly, you may see and hear fewer of the state and district candidates than usual because of the emergency which will prevent as much getting about on the part of candidates as formerly.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

By Nellie Witt Spikes

Grasshoppers, poison, weeds, flats, more grasshoppers, more poison, more weeds, more flats. A small war is being staged on the farm over this year's crop.

Hail and wind and some drought, then flooding rain, washing in deep soil over tiny seed, never to see the sun. Replanting and hoping again, weary but unwhipped, the farmer carries on, knowing that not until fall will he know just where he lost and where he gained. Well, I might find a cheerier subject, but the day is cold, and one can get cold whether the calendar reads June or January.

As I sit here thinking of something to cheer me up and fill this place with pleasant things, the incident of losing my teeth comes up in my mind, probably because it was a day about this cold, or even more so. I liked to go by the cement tank and wash my teeth in the water that ran from the overhead tank. Carelessly I held my lower ones under the cold water when I turned them loose, seeing them sink down before my startled eyes to the bottom of the four foot of water. I ran for the hoe, carefully hooked them on, drew them almost in reach, I repeated this only to find it seemed a foolish game. No one was on the place, not even a little boy who would have been delighted to go in for them. Nothing for me to do but hunt up an old dress, heave myself over the side into the bitter cold water, carefully walking to keep from sliding on the slick bottom and not to muddy up the water. But this time I was not to be outdone. Catching my breath from going under the cold water, I got those pesky teeth and never again have I washed them in the water that ran from the tank.

I can't see that this remembrance helped my feelings any. Had better do some more thinking. Maybe it would help if I would crawl back under the warm blanket on the bed. Did not sleep enough this afternoon, anyway. Hate lights this fire, the room soon got too hot, turned it off and now am getting chilly. Thinking too much about my own comfort. Being a little sick and getting some petting and waiting on has made me a little childish. Oh, well, ho, ho, hum. Wonder if as well to write. When everything has to be done, and the children are calling grandmother every minute. Now all is still too still and quiet, nothing is hurrying me on. Blank is my mind as this paper in my type-writer. Even trouncing about so many B R P's and W O P's and on and on.

Feel so sorry for the young history student of America some twenty-five years hence trying to remember his WPA's and his WPB's and his FDR's the dates and what they stood for. I didn't, I only recall reading about some IOU's and KKK's and thought a string of capital letters only meant some man's brand which did not concern a little girl learning history or stood for one's sweathairts name. This is off my mind. I feel better feeling sorry for someone else but myself.

Even if I have to look ahead to do so. Now what was that very clever thing I thought of as I milked the other night. Switched from my mind as easily as the cow switched flies from her back. Might not have been so clever after all. The other day Wilma was trying to get Joe Ellis to work by telling him how nice it would be if he would take his little dump truck and haul off some weeds and trash. "But mother," he quickly answered, "Uncle Sam will not let me do that, I do not have a license." Wonder if the Nazis are not finding out that there is still plenty of good old London Purple to fall on their devouring heads and it is in my mind that there is still a good supply of Paris Green hidden away that will soon add its deadly poison to "death-sucking insects."

Just found what I need to cheer me up. Kermit Davis, Jr. age four months has just arrived. Look at him, oo and smile, dimples in his fat arms and legs. No, he is not afraid of me, even if I look gloomy. I give back smiles and he comes to me. Forgotten are all worries. A baby is happy, sweet and precious. Yes, Kermit and Jackie came alone, but parents are not paid much attention when they bring such a pretty baby along.

It would not do for editors now to follow the oldtime way of announcing the new arrivals, for instance, "Mr. and Mrs. Jones are the happy parents of a bouncing boy." Someone would be sure to holler, "They are hoarding rubber." A walk around the place shows new tender growth on all the hail-beaten trees, shrubs, and plants. A rain, plenty of bright warm sunshine, some wind and the old broken dead leaves and plants are gone, supplanted by shiny new leaves and fresh branches. I thought of the man lives having to suffer the storms of sickness and death and separation from loved ones. Oh how God sends the sunshine of friends with kind deeds and words. His love and care in such abundance and soon the broken lives are putting out new branches and the old ones of pain and disappointment are swept away, leaving a new life to go ahead and give a life of service to the world.

My sister, Lois, and her daughter Lois and small son, Charles Henry came and surprised me the other day. Lois and the baby live in California. She is Mrs. T. B. Graves. How fast the time flew as we talked. But most of what we did was to sit and admire Charles Henry who probably is the finest baby in Sunny California. My sister laughed and said, "Well, the baby likes you. Guess it is because you have an over-stuffed lap like me."

Sister Edna writes, "Carl Jr. is still in America and is first lieutenant. But Bill Hill has gone over." Bill is Grover Hill's boy and I wonder if when we criticize our people at Washington if we take into account many of their hearts are breaking as they try to do their work while many have sons that have gone "over." Somehow I feel when we know the big white hats of Grover and our own Texas representatives are hanging in the halls at Washington things are not at all so bad as some of the writers and talkers picture.

I like the good old world, necessity. It expresses so much just as our forefathers meant it should. Today there has a necessity arisen and America is meeting it. The other morning I turned on the radio. As the stirring strains of the Star Spangled Banner filled the house, I saw Anne wake up and stand right in the middle of the bed. I wiped away a tear, young America at attention. "Rouse ye, my countryman rouse ye, strike down that death-dealing foe." Fight with old iron and old rubber—with hoes and plows and money—With America must have a good world to live in.

Poet's Corner

MY DAD
Odetta R. Anderson

He ain't a king nor he ain't a prince,
He ain't president nor a soldier of defense;
But he's smarter'n anyone we've ever had.
I know; cause you see, he's my dad!
I guess I've just got the smartest dad
That anybody ever, ever had,
And he could be president and rule
the land.
Cause he said he could with just one hand.

And if he was king he'd keep his throne,
And his dad'd fight if he had to fight alone,
And he'd never, never abdicate,
Even for a lady, for lady're just bait.

My dad is even smarter'n his big boss
Why if it wasn't for dad there'd be an awful loss,
And the factory would just hafta
close its doors
And folks would starve to death by the scores.

He can fix my broken electric train,
He can bump his head and there
ain't no pain,
He can make more money'n your dad
can,
Cause he said your dad was just an old clam.

He can do anything, anything at all,
He could beat the League aplayin'
ball,
He could even whip ole Champion
Joe
He could, cause my dad told me so.

My dad's been most around the world,
The sight he's seen'll leave your hat
curled,
And now that dad has signed the draft,

Dictators will run and they'll run
fast,
My dad is just the greatest pal
A feller ever had, or ever shall,
And of all the things my dad could be,
He'd rather be just the daddy of me.

For he has given the world, his very best,
In caring for his family with all the rest.

Of his responsibilities that do heap high
Which so often cause him to sigh
and sigh,
No doubt, that most people do understand
That there is much praise due "the-old-man."
Who has shouldered the burden allotted to him
Ever so, since the days when old
Adam began.

Mrs. M. Louisa Irwin, 1540 Walnut Street, Berkeley, California.
The above poem is dedicated to my husband, Samuel D. Irwin.

Your Choice FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY

Any man holding a public office who asks for promotion to a higher office or for re-election to the same office must do so upon the record that he has made in the office held by him. If that record is not up to the standards desired by the people, it is the duty and the right of the people to refuse that man further public service.

Your present District Attorney has been in office since May, 1937 and has made a record upon which he must stand for re-election. You should investigate that record to see whether or not it is satisfactory.

L. D. Ratliff, Jr., the other candidate for District Attorney, has served the people of Dickens County as County Attorney for the past eight years. He has made a record upon which he asks for promotion to the office of District Attorney, and you should know whether it is a satisfactory record or not.

The true test of any prosecutor is in the contested cases, tried before Juries, in your Courts. If you do not know these candidates and their records, make an investigation, and ask the people who do know them.

L. D. Ratliff, Jr., invites an investigation of his record as a man and as a prosecuting attorney.

Respectfully submitted,
L. D. RATLIFF, Jr.
Candidate for District Attorney

Father's Day To Be Observed At Center

CENTER, June 16.—Center plans to put on a short Father's Day program Sunday. We are to have an all-day service as it's our regular preaching day and in the afternoon at 3 o'clock four deacons are to be ordained. We plan to bring our lunch and most likely the Father's Day program will be immediately after lunch and the remainder of the time until 3 o'clock p. m. will be spent singing.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bagwell were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. J. L. Montgomery. Mrs. W. T. Branson is spending several days with Mrs. Montgomery and the group went to Lakeview in the afternoon to the singing.

It has been reported that Frank McClure, who is at Stovall Wells taking the hot baths, is not improved.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Anderson and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Olin S. Miller Sunday.

Clyde and Donald Clark Green spent Sunday with the Robertson boys.

Floyd Montgomery and Jimmy Green attended church at Floydada Sunday night.

Olin S. Miller spent Sunday with Mrs. Miller at the Lubbock hospital. He reports she is doing fine and hopes to bring her home the last of the week.

Mr. Cumble seems to be holding his own following an operation for ruptured appendix Saturday. He has been ill more than a week. Loyd Cumble is here from army camp in the state of Washington to be at his father's bedside. Drue came for two days but has gone back.

Eugene Mayfield left Friday to spend some time visiting his uncle Barney Mayfield and wife at New Home near Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Mankins visited Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bagwell Sunday afternoon, also Mr. and Mrs. Grady McAda and children.

Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Mayfield, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Austin, Delbert Morse and Floyd Montgomery visited Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jordan Wednesday evening. Games of 84 were enjoyed during the evening.

Jimmy Green went to Plainview Monday where he will finish some N. Y. A. work that he could not do on account of rainy weather before school closed.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Bailey had her brother and family as Sunday guests. The brother lives on the E. W. Turner place.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Meredith and Mrs. Rutledge visited Mrs. C. E. Meredith and Miss Vera Meredith after Sunday school last Sunday.

Bryan Meredith is driving the tractor for Tom Noland while he is harvesting down near Crowell.

Homer Stovall was looking after his farm interest here Thursday.

A. W. Anderson has been having quite a lot of windmill trouble. Had to pull the pipe Friday and Saturday mornings. A rod connection up about the wheel broke and Sunday morning it had quit pumping again. They feared it had sanded down.

First Methodist Church Service Announcement

Again, there was a decided increase in church attendance—too bad all those attending the preaching of the Gospel could not have been numbered with some one of the good Sunday school classes. Please be at the school also next Sunday.

Sunday morning, the pastor will preach on "Bread and Wine," a subject that should be of interest to every Christian communicant. We shall be glad to welcome you to every service of this church and make you feel at home with us.

War, battle, sudden death—these fill the papers and are being constantly reported over the air in radio broadcasts. Only in the sanctuary of the Lord is there peace and time for meditation and worship. "Let the redeemed of the Lord say so." "Cast away from you all your transgressions . . . and make you a new heart and a new spirit; for why will you die, O house of Israel?" Ekk. 18:32.

YOU and YOU and YOU!

In the days of Caesar it cost approximately 75c to kill a man. During the Civil War it cost approximately $5,000 to kill a man. During World War No. 1 it cost approximately $50,000 to kill a man. In this current Mechanized War it costs approximately $125,000 for every casualty.

A 35,000 ton battle ship costs $70,000,000 . . . takes 3,362,000 man-hours, or approximately 4½ years to build . . . requires 62,000,000 pounds of steel . . . 2,000,000 pounds of copper . . . 1,000,000 pounds of zinc . . . 1,000,000 pounds of aluminum . . . and 750,000 pounds of nickel.

This war is costing a tremendous sum, isn't it? . . . But at any monetary cost it is a cheap price to pay for victory, isn't it? . . . A cheap price, indeed, to guarantee the perpetuation of our Democratic way of life . . . A cheap price to guarantee that our privilege of doing whatever we please whenever we please will not be lost. Freedom, our freedom, cannot be measured in dollars and cents. It has more, much more, than monetary value. But it takes money, huge sums of money, to make our nation secure against our attackers.

Last year total income in the United States exceeded $90,000,000,000. How much of this sum do you think the individuals earning it would be permitted to keep, and to enjoy, if we lost this war and we were ruled by our conquerors? In the countries defeated by the Axis powers, and now occupied by them, the subjects have been stripped of everything. Even food sufficient to sustain healthful living has been denied these unfortunate people. The wealth that they had spent their lives in accumulating has gone to the victors.

Draw your own conclusions of the fate of this nation should our armed forces fail to repel our enemies.

You and You and You . . . Every loyal American is needed now to buy Defense Stamps and Bonds with all the resources at his command . . . to work more diligently than ever before to produce all the things required—food, clothing, guns, ships, tanks, planes, ammunition—to keep our fighting forces fed better, clothed better, and armed better than the enemy, for the key to victory is held by the nation or group of nations with the ability to equip, supply and sustain its fighting forces best on the battle field. Your clear-cut duty is to help to accomplish that end.

Uncle Sam desires that the retail merchants, the service institutions, and the professional men of our nation carry on as normally as possible, considering that we are at war. Locally, the people who man and manage the firms and institutions which serve you are doing all they can to serve you the best they can. If war has forced certain restrictions or made limitation of certain services mandatory, accept the changes with gracious understanding and remember one fact . . . It is their wish and their responsibility to adopt those business practices designed to lend greatest help in the battle to insure victory and the survival of our American way of life.

Benefit Of Food Stamp Program Widely Shared

Farmers of Floyd county and families participating in the Agricultural Marketing Administrator's food stamp program have received many benefits from the program since its inauguration. Carl L. Minor, chairman of the Floyd County Food Industry committee, said this week.

The issuance of blue stamps has benefited local farmers by helping create a ready local and national market for the "blue stamp food" they grow and at the same time families participating in the program have received additional health building food, he explained.

Floyd county families participating in the food stamp program received $1,790.50 worth of blue stamps during May. A total of 761 local people participated during the month. Since the beginning of the program, November 3, 1941, local participants have received $11,743.00 worth of blue food stamps.

Mr. Minor pointed out under the program families whose diets are inadequate according to standards of the welfare department may purchase orange stamps with the money they have available for food and then receive additional food purchasing power in the form of blue stamps. Because families receive extra food purchasing power they create additional markets locally and nationally for farm products. These additional markets help assure farmers a fair return for their full production effort under the "Food for Freedom" campaign.

UNITED STATES SENATE

Washington, D. C. June 4, 1942.

Mr. F. M. Price, Floydada, Texas.

My Dear Friend:

When you are a long, long way from home and working hard on important problems pertaining to our great war effort, there is nothing that cheers you up quite as much as to see the postman coming with a letter for you from the folks back home. So you may know I am happy because the postman certainly has been piling thousands of friendly letters on my desk from folks like you.

I know how war-worried and busy you are and I think it was wonderfully fine of you to take time out to express your appreciation of my efforts here and to pledge your friendship, loyalty and support in the present campaign. The avalanche of letters and cards is most interesting, and there are some of the wittiest comments in them that I have heard in many a day; then the clever poems are good, and the letters telling about strange things that happened in the Governor's office before 1939 when the people elected their "Common Citizen Governor." One thing that is outstanding through all of this volume of mail is the thought that "There Ain't Goin' To Be No Runoff."

Of course, the Professional Politicians will spend fabulous sums of money on the campaign and money is powerful. The folks on our side do not have a lot of money, but there are a lot of us and our friends are very energetic. So by each one of our side working hard among our friends we are bound to WIN just like we have during the past three campaigns—IN THE FIRST PRIMA- RY.

Mrs. O'Daniel will leave Washington very soon for Texas to again act as my campaign manager, and open a little office in our old home-town, Fort Worth, about June 10th. She will be happy to meet all of our friends there and work with all of you to help win another SMASHING VICTORY.

I do not know just when it will be possible for me to come to Texas, but I am looking forward with pleasure to seeing you at that time. I am most grateful for your loyalty and support and will appreciate anything you may do to further our cause.

Sincere good wishes and warm personal regards.

Your friend,
W. Lee O'Daniel,
United States Senator, Texas.

James Connor Youngest Pupil At West Texas

The Prairie: Youngest and one of the smallest high school graduates at WT, Canyon, is James Connor of Floydada, 15 years old. James Robert is one of the many high school graduates that have enrolled for the summer freshman class at West Texas State college. Connor, who was graduated this spring, says he is not the only one in his family who is so educationally distinctive. His grandmother, Mrs. W. T. Denton, received the A. B. degree from the University of Tennessee at the age of 16.

West Texas State's youngest student is living at a Pueblo. He has a sister Margaret, who stays at Randall Hall. Their father, Jim Connor is a farmer. There are four other boys in the family whose ages are 13, 11, 8 and 6.

James Robert is about five feet four inches tall, has brown hair and hazel eyes, likes manual training and typing, novels and fried chicken. His hobby is making what-not stands. He says the reason he is entering college at the age of 15 is because he finished high school in three years. Floydada has been his home most of his life.
