45 TONS SCRAP RUBBER ASSEMBLED IN CAMPAIGN

Rationing Board In Strong Plea For More Tires

With scores of trucks, trailers, tractors and pick-ups in all sections of the county sitting idle on account of lack of tires and tubes, a stack of 200 or more applications for certificates to purchase "on the book" yesterday the Floyd County War Price Rationing board had exhausted the Floyd county quota early this week and as yet late yesterday had no indication of what the quota would be on which it could begin work on July 1.

For that matter the board had no indication that it would have any July quota of tires and tubes as late as mid-afternoon yesterday. Anticipating the serious and heavy demand that would ensue with the opening of the harvest season the local board had asked for an emergency quota of 500 tires and an equal number of tubes to handle the grain crop. Letters, wires and a telephone call did not avail anything and still were unavailing this week. The situation was put up to the state board in a strong plea, but the authorities in Fort Worth averred that until Washington gave the state some relief the state could not give the counties any relief.

While awaiting some action by authorities farmers are exchanging around to keep some of their most-needed machinery moving or are doing without. In one or two instances according to reports, rural mail carriers have been operating on one or more borrowed tires.

Let's of Sugar Applications
Meanwhile two employees are being kept busy in the board's office in the court house, answering questions on the tire situation, receiving merchants' reports and issuing canning sugar allowances. Applications for sugar allotments are coming in fast, the canning season having opened with a bang. One pound of sugar is being issued for each four quarts of fruit that is prepared for canning, under the new rule.

Motion Granted For New Trial In Yocum Case

District Judge Alton B. Chapman Saturday granted the motion for a new trial in the case of Olen Yocum, transferred here from Briscoe county and tried during the latter part of the court term.

Defense counsel sought new trial alleging errors prejudicial to the defendant in the first trial and also alleging new and substantial evidence has been found.

In the order granting the new trial Judge Chapman also ordered another change of venue in the case, sending it to Motley county.

In the trial here the jury found the defendant guilty and set the penalty at five years in the penitentiary. Yocum was charged with rape.

Floyd Co. Boy Listed By Navy As Casualty

DALLAS, June 24.—The Navy department's fifth casualty list, covering the period from May 11 to June 6, 1942, includes the name of Wm. Arnold Helms, pharmacist's mate first class, U. S. Navy.

Helms is listed as the son of Thomas E. Helms, of Floydada. No other details are given in the release by the navy department.

When the Pioneers held their annual re-union on May 28, four of the men prominent in activities were B. B. Guley, left, above, who managed and helped to call for the old-fashioned dance; Geo. L. Fawver, second from left, who headed the committee on finance; A. T. Swepston, immediate past president and G. L. Snodgrass, president, who presided at the sessions of the old settlers.

Interest In First Primary Election Picks Up; But County And Precinct Candidates, Minus Tires, Ponder Difficulty Of Seeing The Voters

With the first democratic primary slightly less than 30 days in the future, interest in precinct, county and district aspirants for office is beginning to pick up this week. And absentee balloting to begin on July 5, is expected to be the biggest in many years due to the fact that many of the young men in armed forces of the country will be voting in their absence from home.

Candidates' messages to the public will be found in this issue of the Hesperian. Read them carefully and give each applicant your consideration. You owe it to yourself as well as the candidate to vote for the one best fitted for the office, giving due consideration to strained word affairs, declare Democratic party officials.

In view of the fact that candidates have been unable personally to see the electors because of Office of Emergency Management ruling on automobile tires and an agreement early in the year to discontinue candidate rallies, very little interest previously has been evidenced in the coming election.

The commissioner's races of precincts 1, 2, 3 and 4, all bid fair to cause considerable interest as well as the race for the offices of county judge, county clerk and sheriff. District and state competition will be keen and afford interest.

The Democratic Executive committee of Floyd county met a week ago in a four hour session and laid plans for the first primary vote on July 25. At this time assessments were made against candidates to defray expenses of the election.

Election judges for the twenty-three precincts of the county have been named and plans are being made for assistants in handling the ballots cast. Precinct No. 14 was omitted from the voting box list this year having been abolished by the Commissioner's court last August and the area between its former boundaries divided between Dougherty and Lakeview.

County Clerk Emma Louise Smith said absentee voting will close on the night of July 21.

Litigation Holds Up Ballot

The matter is expected to be taken to the State Supreme court and a decision handed down from that body this week, according to advices from E. B. Germany, chairman of the State Democratic committee. Meanwhile, it was not known locally what effect the withdrawal of his resignation by Sadler would have on the already complex situation. However, it is anticipated that the middle will have been cleared up in ample time for absentee voting to begin in this county.

Temporary Employment Office Open

The United States Employment service opened a temporary office in Floydada on Monday, June 22, for the purpose of assisting the wheat farmers and business men of the section with their labor needs during the wheat harvest, said A. B. Cherry, manager at the area office in Plainview, this week.

Cherry stated that the office is located on the west side of the square, next to the bank building, and urged the people who are seeking employment or extra help to contact our representative at the above location.

'R' Day Stage Set By Board For Youths

All arrangements for the fifth registration to be held Tuesday, June 30, have been made by the local board of the Selective Service.

All youths between the ages of 18 and 20 inclusive will register on that date. The board will keep two offices in the county open for the registrants, one at the American Legion hall in Floydada, the other at Carl McAdams' office in Lockney. It was announced recently.

Official hours for the registration are 7 o'clock a. m. to 9 o'clock p. m., on registration day, but supplies are on hand and the board plans to have help on hand and register any day the remainder of this week as well as on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, so as to meet the convenience of every registrant, however busy in the harvest or otherwise they may be.

About 250 To Register
The board estimates that approximately half the number who registered in February will be qualified to register in the Tuesday registration, which would be about 250 persons. However, many of the young men of the county are already in service and the figures for actual registration may not run that high.

Occupational Questionnaires
The board has completed mailing all occupational questionnaires to registrants of the first and second registration. While all of these questionnaires have not returned the board is starting this week on the mailing to the fourth registration group—between the ages of 45 and 65 who are not subject to military service. If registrants will read the instructions carefully, it will not be a difficult task for each man to fill out his own questionnaire, in the opinion of O. P. Rutledge, board clerk.

Four Men Leave June 30
The board at this time has an induction call for four men who will go into the service on June 30. The four selectees chosen to fill the call are Lon M. Davis, Jr. and Emory Eugene Gilly, Floydada; Leo Herschel Hand, Lubbock; and J. C. Anderson, Amarillo.

Rush Of Wheat Harvest Hit Co. Yesterday

Rush of the wheat harvest and marketing season hit Floyd county yesterday afternoon.

With some combine machines going since last week, every day had seen additional fields added to the list, but cloudy, damp weather and scattered showers Monday afternoon and Tuesday held up the big rush until noon Wednesday. Then harvesters swooshed down on hundreds of fields.

Yield reports are varying widely, with indications that the first cuttings are going to show bigger acre incomes, and that volunteer wheat for the first time in twenty years is going to show a much bigger net profit than the sowed wheat in almost all sections of the county. Sowed wheat is running 9 to 25 bushels, with 12 1/2 bushels as a probable average. Volunteer wheat reports give 10 to 20 bushels per acre, with a probable average around 14 bushels.

Shipments About 70 Cars
A survey late yesterday indicated that at noon Wednesday about 70 carloads of wheat had been billed out from points in the county, the figures including Floydada, Barwise, Dougherty, South Plains, Muncy, Lockney, Sterley, Aiken and Cereal. Some wheat around Aiken is producing 30 bushels and some around Dougherty is doing the same.

Every elevator in the county was still taking wheat late yesterday, in spite of talk of storage shortages at terminal elevators. At Lockney and Muncy little or no wheat had been shipped out and no shipments are anticipated from those points until large storage plants there have been filled. At every other point a large proportion of the wheat, probably 95 per cent, was being taken for storage also, but except for the two points mentioned most of the grain is going into railroad cars, based on permits held by the grain dealers.

A wide spread between the market and the government loan value of wheat in storage at the end of last week had broadened this week, the buying price yesterday being 92 cents in Floydada against a loan value set by the U. S. Department of Agriculture at $1.08 per bushel.

Quality and Test High
Quality of the wheat coming to town is excellent and tests are running 60 pounds per bushel and above. Protein content on grain so far reported is 12 to 16 per cent.

Cheering News On Home Front; Brake Put On Rising Living Costs; Price Control Works

DALLAS, June 25.—Cheering news about the war on the Home Front here in the Southwest was issued this week.

A brake has been applied to rising living costs. Price control is working.

For the first time since November, 1940, the periodic cost-of-living index failed to show an increase over the preceding month. In fact, the index for June shows a slight decrease from May prices.

Elected Worshipful Master of Floydada Lodge, A. F. & A. M., T. E. Leach, above, prominent stockfarmer, will be installed along with other new officers of the lodge, at ceremonies Saturday night, succeeding Roy Patton.

July 1 Deadline For Automobile Use Stamps

The new Federal Car Use Tax stamps are now on sale at the local postoffice, Mrs. Barbara Smith has announced. The old stamps will expire on June 30 and all car owners must have the new stamps affixed to their windshields on July 1.

The new stamps are of a much better material than the first ones issued. They are printed in red and the face of the stamps are glued so as to be pasted on the windshield, face out.

Each stamp has a serial number, and each applicant is asked to keep a record of the serial number he buys. On the back of the stamps are blanks for make of car, model, engine number and state tag number.

The cost of the stamp is $5.00. The first stamps issued were for only part of a year and sold for $2.09. Car owners were required to send in a post card when the first stamps were registered but this has been eliminated with the new stamp.

Automobile owners who are not operating their cars are not required to buy stamps, Mrs. Smith said.

School Transfers Should Be Made In June, July

School transfers should be made during the month of June or July and must be made before August 1, according to information from County Superintendent Clarence Gurfuee.

This applies to transfers from one district to another or from a rural to an independent district.

There are no automatic transfers, Mr. Gurfuee said. When a student completes the highest grade taught in a rural school, he is required to get a transfer to another school in order for the state to know where to send his money.

Farmers Answer With Deluge Of Old Tires

With four working days to go, and a Sunday thrown in to think about it, the total scrap rubber collection in Floyd county this morning can be said to have passed the 45-ton mark, with the possibility that receipts yesterday may have brought the total up to 50 tons.

Ten days of campaigning by representatives of oil companies, by the Floyd County USDA War board and by individuals who resolved themselves into "committees of one," has resulted in gigantic piles of scrap rubber.

McCoy and Sterley scrap rubber receipts not included and probably portions of other areas also, figures collected from dealers last night.

Although Floyd county citizens have responded heartily with nearly 100,000 pounds of scrap rubber to add to the nation's stockpile, there was belief generally expressed this week that another fifty tons would be collected in this county if every machine operator and resident in the county would scrape the bottom of the barrel. "There is just a lot of rubber left if he had time to collect it," said one oil man, who has been active in the purchase of the scrap.

showed that over 90,000 pounds of scrap rubber had been bought and paid for in the period since June 15, when the campaign was inaugurated. The campaign will close and the final report will be made by the oil company buyers and junk dealers the night of June 30. On the showing made will depend largely the policy to be followed as to rubber distribution. President Roosevelt has declared.

It is entirely possible, even probably, that the figure of 50 tons originally set as the possible goal, will be reached, or passed.

The campaign, hitting at the beginning of the peak of harvest activity and at a time when tire scarcity makes an absolute minimum of car operation a necessity, could not have been inaugurated at a time less desirable in Floyd county. But with "Scrap rubber or walk" as the motto throughout the county, farmers big and little, as well as residents of towns, look time out to gather up and bring in their scrap.

Some of our haves piles of 100 to 500 pounds of scrap rubber are still to come in as the end of the campaign approaches. But day and night rush in the harvest fields may nullify to a large extent further efforts this and next week in this area.

McPEAKS HOME SUNDAY FROM FUNERAL OF RELATIVE AT MCGREGOR

Harold Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Chapman, who went to camp near two years ago, is located in the Canal zone. Recently he wrote a letter to one of his old Camp Bowie buddies, Ray Lloyd, now at home holding down a farm job. And below is what he says in part.

This leaves me well and happy, but not too happy, longing to be back in the states. We have here 10 days, and believe me I have really been working hard. Wish you were here. Rains a lot and the scenery is beautiful, banana trees, coconut and palm trees all around.

For the first time in many years wheat from all over the plains country is moving to market at about the same time. Usually Floyd and neighboring counties send wheat to the elevators ten days to two weeks ahead of the Hereford and the mid-plains areas, with the extreme north plains coming in next. But this year in the major movement of the crop this area is two to five days behind the section of country 60 to 100 miles north of us. The snow in January or February, when we thought we had but didn't have six or seven inches of snow that they did have north of us, left our crop standing waiting while theirs pushed on ahead. Also they are getting yields five to ten bushels bigger than most of Floyd county is getting.

Since every country elevator in the forty-counties is in competition for space in the terminal elevators all at the same time that brings on more complications. Unless some of the wheat goes on the market instead of into loan storage many of the crops offered the elevators are going to have to wait, either in home storage or on the ground. This is one of the possibilities foreseen some weeks ago.

A good many farmers who ordinarily store wheat on their own farms, and in fact likely will do so this year, are not likely to take out loans on this wheat. They have found that when the wheat starts to spoil—weevils, too much damp weather or whatever else may happen, like a burst bin—they can't control it like an elevator or storage house can. And they find their contract with the Commodity Credit corporation is a very binding one and the storage man has to meet its provisions in every way. It has cost some farmers quite a bit of money to find this out in the past three or four years. Holding one's own wheat until a convenient time to move it in the winter and holding it "for the duration" or for an indefinite period of time, while guaranteeing weights and grades, are two entirely different matters.

By next fall homemakers will find only about four sizes of cans on the grocers' shelves, we are told, and already signs of changes that are to come have made their appearance. In some instances the changes are to effect economy in critical metals and in others to effect economy in badly needed labor for other jobs. Glass will take the place of the metal we call tin in scores of instances.

The head always starts swelling about the time the mind stops growing.

Some people learn to relax. Others never learn how to do anything else.

Today is the first day on which candidates for office in Texas, including county and precinct candidates of Floyd county, can file their first report of campaign expenses in the primary. The time expires for this first go-round Monday night. Although nobody is buying an election in Floyd county or could buy one the same law that applies to one applies to all, and every man or woman who is a candidate has to file the report with the county clerk. Another one hits in the five-day period July 13 to July 17 and the final and last one so far as the first primary is concerned comes after the primary is over. The candidates who are off licking their sores, soaking up the healing waters of Salt Creek, or whatever it is, have to file a report on that date the same as on others. The law appears somewhat foolish but it has been observed from time immemorial—way back yonder, probably 1905. In those days when they passed a law for one they passed a law for all. In these modern times we have learned to get by with class legislation, even class taxation, picking out one to assess and leaving the other un-assessed. But the election law is old-fashioned. A good many people think it ought to be stream-lined, but it seems to get a good, honest election, which is what it was made for.

If you have not brought in or sent in the scrap rubber from your place for any reason whatsoever, please do so at once. If you don't care for yourself, do it for your neighbor. The whole course of the rationing program hinges on the way we shall have responded to the scrap rubber campaign, and the huger the amount we show the authorities there is in the country the less the chance of gasoline rationing with all the disruption of business, and throwing out of gear the war effort as well. The people back east have fought gasoline rationing on the Atlantic seaboard but now that they have it they are determined the rest of the country shall have the same. They pack a wallop in the halls of Congress and on capitol hill. So, get your rubber on the market. We do not know whether it will go higher if that is what you are waiting for. The 200 or 1,000 pounds you have is not going to break you to sell at the present cent-a-pound market, even if it should go a lot higher. We do not think anybody is hanging back on that score. More likely those who are not getting busy and turning in their scrap feel like they would be wasting their time on trivial matter when they could be doing something (as they feel) much more important. Ordinarily scrap rubber is a mighty inconsequential matter, but these are not ordinary times.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

By Nellie Witt Spikes

Wheat harvest is on. Although on our farm there is not much left, with crop reductions, hail and late wheat doing no good. However the volunteer crop will make some on the east side and all the machinery will have to be tightened up to save it.

Every cloud that comes our way lately seems to have a halstone lining. I am going to have to ask my more fortunate neighbors for tomatoes and cabbage instead of asking for the plants. I plant and water, hail cuts down one crop. I plant another, water and plow it, hail gets it. Well, anyway, a fall garden does better in this country and I shall keep on planting.

Looks like America is going to make an "eye" with her rubber ball. Thought so when she took up the old barn door bat.

Motto: (Homemade not store bought.) Keep your rubber bouncing to the factory. Like the game of ante over it will be bounced back again.

If you don't think there are many ways to spell "ceiling," only look around. Marshmallow sherbet. One ten cent box marshmallows melted in one and one half cup sweet milk and add one half pint crushed fruit. Apricots, peaches or bananas are especially good. Let freeze, take out of refrigerator and beat. Some cream added at this time makes it richer. Let freeze again.

Am I mad? Or is the sparrow? Or both? The wind has blown a sparrow's nest out of a tree and all over the lawn. Red feathers, white feathers, pieces of string, dried grass seed heads, grass roots and hairs from the horses' tails. Bits of speckled blue egg shells, tiny dots of yolk. The sparrow darts down, picks up two feathers, one blows away. Back to the tree, she tries to anchor the one feather. Piece by piece, back and forth, never weary never discouraged. A lesson in patience and perseverance I should do well.

Poet's Corner

(Edited by Mary D. Waters, Wolforth, Texas)

Women are stepping to the front, conserving, saving and helping toward the ultimate goal of winning this war.

WOMEN'S CLUB
Women learn many things at our club:
How to use time-savers, and do less scrub,
How to use their heads, save their heels,
To bake potatoes, throw away less peel.

To make cakes and pies just right. To laugh and play by day by night. To properly can to suit ourselves. To put filled jars upon our shelves. We learn about cold-frame gardens and hoe. And how many beans to plant in a row. Big sisters and little sisters help each other. To make better homes for father and brother. 'Tis said a little more bending of our knees. In work and prayer will whip the Japanese. Sometimes our club mother will kindly tell. About things she has learned so well. She will show us how to patch or knit. Or how to cut our garments so they will fit. Sometimes the men say "I'm just a goat" When some camouflaged food goes down their throat. But we just smile sweetly and tell them "My dear, you got to have your vitamins." Sure—we sometimes crack little jokes. But our business is, "Please our folks." Sometimes at best we get all mired And at night we are so very tired. That our homemade mattress invites rest. And peaceful sleep comes, because we've done our best. By Mrs. Carl W. Smith, club poet of Sand Hill Home Demonstration club.

Au Revoir To Arms

(The following poem, written by First Sergeant Carl Murry, Company B, 2nd Battalion, Texas Defense Guard, Houston, Texas, was written recently at the time guardsmen were notified to turn in their arms, in account of urgent combatant requirements. Members of Company B, 41st Battalion, Floydada, were impressed with the thought in the poem and ask that it be passed on for others to see.—Ed.)

AU REVOIR TO ARMS
An order is an order—we all know it's for the best. Yet we can't escape the feelin' that we too should travel West. For a car without its tires is as naught—a tiny trifle To a soldier who must stay at home, and only send his rifle. Clean 'em well and oil 'em quickly, don't neglect a single screw, 'Cause the guys who're gonna use 'em got an urgent job t' do. Though we can't go over with 'em, we can see they're sent off right. Who knows but what someone may see ol' Hitler thru that sight? Place 'em gently in their cases, block 'em well, they're off to war, An' may have to travel farther than they did that time before. See the red, white and blue stripes that adorn that o. d. case? They tell of Yanks who fought and won in another far-off place. Bayonets and slings, Sir—counted, tallied with the sheet, They're ready to be shipped, Sir, to speed the foe's defeat. Sure we're gonna miss 'em, but there is plenty to be done. To train ourselves for duty when there's Victory to be won. Lots of things we'll need to know at some not distant date,

Can be learned in time if only we really concentrate. It takes more to make a soldier than a snappy rifle drill. We know our course, let's follow it, because we've got the will."

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

MAYBE I shouldn't admit it, but there are a few things about this writing job I really like.

First, I like the part where ... after all the writin' and the routine is done ... I just set back and think about things in general. (Oh, yes, that's part of the job, too.)

Doesn't matter much what I think about. Sometimes I concentrate on one thing. Sometimes I think of lots of things, one right after the other.

Usually, when I get to thinkin', I send down for some beer. Seems a glass of beer not only touches the spot but it also sort of helps the thinkin' mood along.

It's such a peaceful, friendly beverage. Sort of honest and human. And it tastes good.

I like to hold my glass of beer up to the light and look through it. That beautiful, golden-amber color kind of fascinates me. Reminds me of the sunny barley fields where beer gets its start.

Well, here I am ... going on and on thinking and talking about beer. Probably could go on for hours. That's the way I am when I set back and get to thinking about things.

And by the way, taking it easy and "just thinkin'" is fun. Try it sometime ... quiet and comfortable like.

IT'S PRACTICAL TO PREPARE FOR TOMORROW

Burial Insurance is one of the practical, common-sense things that you buy today in order that tomorrow may be prepared for. No business would consider it wise to talk about the dark days that may come, and yet do nothing to offset the impact of their harshness.

Nor should you. A little thought, a little effort, a little money, and you, too, will have prepared for that day when death comes for you or a member of your family.

Harmon Burial Association is planned for the people of Floyd County. It meets your needs. It applies to local conditions. Without cost and without obligation, we will explain how you may own one of these policies.

Aged people are especially urged to see us for protection.

First Baptist Church News

We have set Sunday as Rally Day in our church services. It is necessary to make a special effort every few Sundays if we are to keep our attendance up to par. Many of our people are disturbed about the war and other conditions that we face now.

If we have ever needed God it is at the present time and faithful church attendance will do much to keep us close to God and give the needed courage and strength to face our tasks. Times of crisis try the souls and the lives of people, the weak and the fearful quit and throw up their hands in despair but the strong christian characters find strength and leadership to rise to new heights of usefulness and service. In this time weak christians are deserting the churches and making all kinds of excuses. It is a time for faithfulness and outstanding service in our churches.

You can best serve God, your church, your country and your own interest by being faithful to all the services of the church. We are challenging every member to come and be in your place Sunday. Faithful consecrated christian living pays the greatest dividends of anything in the world.

Help us have a large attendance Sunday. "God's Challenge to Greatness" will be the subject of the sermon Sunday morning.

John Wood Cumble of Athens came Tuesday and will be employed in hauling wheat on the farm of his uncle C. A. Cumble.

RUBBER FROM GUAYULE

A native American plant, which for years has been of minor importance as a source of rubber, may be coming into its own in the emergency. The lowly desert shrub guayule (the pronunciation "wy-oo-lay" is about as close as English can come to the Spanish word) got the green light in March, 1942, when Congress authorized the U. S. Department of Agriculture to develop the plant as a source of rubber for the United Nations.

Cultivation of guayule—now almost entirely a wild plant—is the essence of the program, says Dr. E. W. Brandes, in charge of rubber investigations, writing in the Department publication, "Agriculture in the Americas." A substantial acreage is planned, but Doctor Brandes points out that guayule can be grown successfully only in the western and southwestern parts of the United States and in the countries south of it.

The immediate program, he says, calls for maintenance of the present 500 acres of plantings in the Salinas Valley of California; additional commercial plantings as soon as an increased seed supply permits; and test plantings to find suitable producing areas in California, Texas, Arizona, New Mexico and in Mexico; also tests in Argentine, Chile, and possibly other countries of the Western Hemisphere, where natural conditions seem favorable.

Plants ordinarily are not harvested until the end of the fourth year, and earlier harvesting results in reduced rubber production. The guayule program is not regarded as a complete or immediate solution of the rubber shortage, although plantings will be of value.

ENZYMES WORK WONDERS

Department of Agriculture investigations of enzymes, nature's time savers that speed up chemical processes in plants and animals, have developed new processes for preparing some of these protein-digesting substances for use with foods and in medicine and for other purposes. Special studies lately dealt with the enzymes in the papaya and pineapple—papain and bromelin.

The Bureau of Agricultural Chemistry and Engineering finds that papain, prepared from the latex of green papaya, retains its activity longer if salt is mixed with the paste. Benefits also result from sanitary preparation. Ways have been found for producing this enzyme in pure crystals.

Commercial papain is now widely used as a meat tenderizer. It stands considerable heat, as in cooking, whereas the bromelin of the pineapple is destroyed by heat. Ripening of the papaya destroys the papain, but the ripe pineapple retains the active bromelin, which explains why raw pineapple juice can not be used to flavor gelatin desserts. It "digests" the gelatin.

Various enzymes are used for curious purposes, the Department scientists say. Diastase in malt, for example, is a factor in brewing beer; rennin, from the calf stomach, is used in making certain kinds of cheese. Workers who handle figs and cut cantaloupes and some other fruits suffer from soreness around the finger nails caused by enzymes that digest the protein in the skin. Raw pineapple juice has long been called effective in "clearing out" a sore throat.

"TOOTHIE PIG" GOES TO DENTIST

The story of Vermont's toothache pig" has reached the U. S. Department of Agriculture. There are 250 teeth in the Charles Flint family of Tunbridge, Vermont and they received a dentist's attention as needed—because of that pig.

Every year Flint, who is a Farm Security Administration borrower, raises a litter of pigs. One he gives to Dr. J. W. Cowles, a dentist at Dandolph. In return Dr. Cowles provides all needed dental attention to the Flint family of eight.

Both parties are well satisfied with their deal. Flint figures it costs him about $12 a year to raise the pig, including value of time spent in caring for the porker.

Interesting Subject For Text Sunday At Methodist Church

(Rev. R. T. Breedlove, pastor) What has become of the old fashioned christian who actually believed the Bible, its commandments, its teachings, its warnings and its judgements? When a Sunday like the last comes along, unless you have the patience of Job and the sweet spirit of John, you'd think he was deadlier than a dodo.

Do christians any more believe the fifth and sixth chapters of Matthew, especially the thirty-third verse of the latter? You wouldn't think so to see the way they scramble for business on Sunday, go to shows, see their infolk, and otherwise steal the Lord's day and make it their own. A thief is a thief whether he steals things or principles and commandments, don't forget that.

What has become of the old fashioned christian who put the kingdom of God first? We don't know, but we do know that there are exceedingly few of them in Floydada.

Can Pineapple When It Gets Cheap On Market

Pineapple is one of the most delicious and popular fruits. Many of the home demonstration club women have found it a pleasure to can when they can buy it and can it in their own containers for less than they pay for a good grade of canned pineapple it is a good investment. Edith L. Wilson, home demonstration agent, makes the following canning suggestions:

To can pineapple cut off the stem end and twist out the top. Place the pineapple on its side on a table and slice crosswise. Peel each slice. Cut out core and shape the slices with a sharp round cutter or cut in pieces of any desired shape.

Juice or sirup for canning the is best made from cooking the outer trimmings of the meat of the fruit, as the best flavor is in the part next to the skin. Add cores and enough water to cover. Simmer until the fruit is clear, then strain the juice and add sugar to make the desired sirup.

Cook slices or pieces of fruit in sirup 8 to 10 minutes or exhaust 5 minutes in the container after the hot sirup has been added at 150 degrees F. before sealing. Seal and process in water bath No. 2 cans for 15 minutes, No. 3 cans and pint glass jars for 20 minutes, quart glass jars for 25 minutes. Use plain tin cans.

Pineapple is credited with being an aid to digestion and a good source of protective food.

PARTNERSHIP CUTS COSTS

With drastic cuts in allotments of metal for civilian use curtailing farm machinery production, the Department of Agriculture is strongly urging partnership in use and purchase of equipment.

Two Floyd county, Texas, farmers have been showing their neighbors the value of this kind of joint action. These Farm Security Administration borrowers first bought a tractor outfit together in 1940. Sharing the $1,000 outlay and the operating expenses proved to them the advantages of partnership.

Their second enterprise was buying a purebred Jersey bull, which cost $150. Then they bought a seven-foot power-take-off mower, a feed mill mounted for transport, and a ground-driven row binder.

The two farmers say that the machinery they joined in buying saved their crops last fall. They figure that what they did as a common sense plan will have to be done by others from sheer necessity.

HERE'S A PINNER MOVEMENT WE CAN ALL USE ON THE AXIS

Q. A. & P. CONDUCTOR HAS ODD COLLECTION OF THOUSAND PENCILS

Collecting pencils is the hobby pursued by I. C. Huckabey of Quanah, conductor on the Q. A. & P. Railway. At the present time he has 1000 pencils or a number sufficient to fill an ordinary suitcase, including one from every state in the union.

This novelty collection includes a broom, nails, mallets, baseball bat. Several of them contain samples of coffee, cotton seed and oil, one contains the Lord's prayer and one the Allegiance to The Flag.

Everything in the way of food, clothing, feed and fuel is advertised on these pencils. Then there are pencils of candidates, bankers and insurance men contained in the lot. They are from three inches to three feet in length.

Recently Mr. Huckabey brought this odd collection to Floydada, and a number of friends had the pleasure of browsing through them.

NEIGHBORLY SAVING OF BEST CAR FOR EMERGENCY USE IS ADVISED

Planning for an "emergency car" is an important item, the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggests, when neighbors get together to consider how they can get the best possible service out of the cars and trucks available in the neighborhood.

Nearly every farm neighborhood, says the Extension Service, faces the need for a more or less formal pooling of automobiles, with full cars making occasional trips to town or to meetings instead of each family using its tires on frequent trips. The natural and neighborly thing is for the owner of a good car to volunteer a little more than his share of the transportation for the neighborhood.

But emergencies in the country arise—the urgent need to get an expectant mother or the victim of an accident to a hospital, or to get repair parts when a work crew is assembling. Each neighborhood will be using intelligent foresight if it agrees that at least one of the best cars with an engine in good condition and with a possible of routine use and reserved for the times when fast and reliable service is essential.

According to geologists, most of West Texas was a shallow continental sea 250,000,000 years ago, and an ancient land which they term Llanoria extended far into the region now occupied by the Gulf of Mexico.

According to paleontologists, horses one foot high, camels the size of jack rabbits and rhinoceroses the size of dogs inhabited Texas 50,000,000 years ago.

Rites Thursday For Sister Of Mrs. Nelson

Funeral services were held at Dallas last Thursday for Mrs. Alice Norwood, sister of Mrs. E. C. Nelson. Interment was made the same afternoon at Greenville, former home of the deceased.

Mrs. Norwood died Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at the home of her daughter Mrs. J. A. Hutchings of Dallas, with whom she made her home.

Mrs. Nelson left Wednesday following receipt of the message of her sister's death and returned home on the week-end.

Survivors include three daughters and one son, three sisters and two brothers. The sisters include Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. A. D. Summerville of Hobbs, New Mexico, a former resident of Floydada.

KEEPING A GOOD EGG GOOD IS EQUAL TO LAYING ONE

In 1941, the average American ate 6 eggs a week, marketing officials of the U. S. Department of Agriculture estimate. Some ate more, and some ate fewer, of course. The egg production goal for 1942 in the Food-Freedom program — 4 1/4 billion dozen eggs—means an increase of about 13 percent in the number of eggs produced—7 eggs for every 6 laid last year. Most of the increase is needed for egg shipments to the United Nations. However, Americans could still eat their 6 eggs a week if some of the waste of good eggs between the nest and the table can be prevented.

Poultry specialists say that fully 5 percent of the eggs ordinarily produced in both small and large poultry flocks are lost for preventable reasons: Even if this loss averages only an egg a day on each farm the total is huge.

Causes of egg loss include producing fertile rather than infertile eggs, and holding them in too warm a place; failing to gather and cool all eggs promptly; lack of moisture in the holding room, resulting in shrinkage of egg contents; dirty eggs; unnecessary breakage from rough handling and bad packing; permitting broody hens to set on eggs and ruin them.

If egg producers succeed in holding egg loss to a minimum, reaching the 1942 production goal of 4 1/4 billion dozen eggs may also mean nearly complete utilization of that many eggs.

The area of Texas is 262,398 square miles of land and 3,498 square miles of water surface, a total of 265,896 square miles.

Soldiers of Production

America's "soldiers of production," men and women working in the plants of American industry, have their uniforms, too. Some uniforms worn by G-E workers on vital production jobs are shown below.

- Not a gas mask, but a special nose mask to guard his breathing, is worn by this spray painter at his job in one of the General Electric plants.
- Like a man from Mars, the "cold room" research man is a strange sight as he tests airplane instruments for high-altitude performance in a G-E laboratory.
- Frankenstein? No, just another G-E worker. His job is sandblasting big turbine castings for Uncle Sam's ships at one of the General Electric plants.
- The helmet he wears is to protect him from light! The rays from a welder's arc could cause blindness if he did not wear this strange headgear.

General Electric believes that its first duty as a good citizen is to be a good soldier.

Frank Phillips Says Synthetic Tires On Way

Meanwhile We Must Save Rubber And Do Without For Awhile

BARTLESVILLE, Oklahoma, June 22.—United States produces enough raw material from which to make all the rubber we will ever need" according to a statement made today by Frank Phillips, chairman of the Phillips Petroleum company. "To build synthetic rubber plants and get them into production requires months of design and construction and thousands of tons of critical material. While plants are being built it is necessary that rubber be conserved until there is a sufficient supply for all purposes. Rubber can be used over and over again. As rubber articles wear out and become unusable the scrap rubber should be turned in to be used again. Present rubber stocks must be reserved for military requirements. Civilians must conserve rubber by making their present tires last until the huge synthetic rubber industry can get into production.

Shortage Is Temporary
"The shortage of rubber for civilian use is only temporary. Large rubber plants are now being built in the United States and additional plants will be built. Substantial production of synthetic rubber will be accomplished by the end of 1943, and will increase thereafter. When this production exceeds military requirements civilians will again be able to purchase tires for their cars.

"Rubber can be made from petroleum, alcohol, and chemicals all of which this nation has a tremendous supply. We have never before been faced with the need to produce our own rubber, consequently, prior to the war, the industry had not been developed. Synthetic rubber, however, has been manufactured in limited quantities by the oil and chemical industries for some time. The Phillips Petroleum company, long before Pearl Harbor, was manufacturing synthetic rubber from petroleum through the operation of one of its subsidiary companies. The company is now designing and building for the government huge plants for the manufacture of butadiene and styrene, petroleum products from which synthetic rubber is made. The Phillips research staff, its engineers and construction men are working day and night to get these plants in operation at the earliest possible date. Rubber will then flow from the company's rubber plantation of oil wells.

"There has been considerable controversy over the quality of synthetic rubber in comparison with raw rubber, but I am confident that when the synthetic rubber industry gets into mass production and has an opportunity to apply scientific knowledge to the manufacture of rubber, we will produce rubber from petroleum, farm products and many other materials that will be as good or better than any rubber that came from a tree.

Meanwhile Turn In Scrap
"I have been in the oil business for 40 years," said Mr. Phillips, "and during that time the most astounding developments in the oil industry have been in the field of petroleum science. The gasoline we made before World War I would not successfully operate the car of today. Now we are producing the finest aviation gasoline in the world and hundreds of products are now being made from oil. More rubber plants and scientific research will in time solve our rubber problem. In the meantime everyone should turn in every particle of scrap rubber to aid in the war effort during the period of temporary shortage."

YOU CANNOT WIN
Adolf...
IF

You do not have to wear a uniform to render important service to your country during this war. It requires 18 men behind the lines, working with all their might at production tasks, to keep one man fighting at the front.

You are needed! Uncle Sam wants every man and every woman in all walks of life to get busy with unabated vigor to produce more... to help amass such an overwhelming supply of everything — guns, ships, tanks, planes, ammunition, food, clothing, supplies — that Adolf and his crowd will gasp in awe at such colossal achievement.

You can help by putting all that you have into your job, whatever you are doing. You see, if every individual did his job just a little better, produced just a little more, the nation-wide collective total would be so great that it would shatter Adolf's dream of conquering the world and of robbing us of the things that we cherish most — free religious worship, free speech, free thought, free action. We must remain free to continue our way of life unhampered by the brutal whims of a mad man.

You must not fail Uncle Sam in this crisis. You are a more important person now than ever before. Think what would happen if every American, not in the armed forces, assumed that our government would get the job done without his help! Well, there just wouldn't be an Uncle Sam, would there? And this thought is just too terrible to contemplate, isn't it? Resolve not to let him down now, when he needs you most... when you have a chance to prove that you are worthy to be called a real American.

Conserve on everything, especially those things essential to our armament program, but do not deny yourself the things that you require to carry on life as normally as possible, considering that we are at war. Be a good American. Buy all of the Defense Bonds and Stamps that you can.

No, Adolf cannot win, if every American does his part.

The retail merchants, the service institutions, and the professional men serving you may be unable, in some instances, to give you the same complete service and attention that you were accustomed to receiving from them in peace time. Accept any little inconvenience that may occur with graciousness, knowing that they are doing all that they can to serve you the best that they can... And that what they are doing is what Uncle Sam wishes them to do.

Work hard for Uncle Sam today that you will be free to work for yourself tomorrow

Quanah Tribune Publisher Died First Of Week

Harry Koch, 74, for more than half a century editor-publisher of the Quanah Tribune-Chief, died at his home in Quanah Sunday afternoon and was buried in Quanah late Monday following funeral rites held from the home.

Widely known among Texas newspaper publishers, Koch has been an outstanding figure among West Texas newspapermen since the early nineties of the last century. In 1917 he was president of the Texas Press association and was active in that organization practically all of his newspaper life. He became critically ill a few weeks ago, and until that time except for a brief period in the late twenties, was actively managing the newspaper organization which he headed.

Koch came to the United States from the Netherlands when he was 21 years old. He moved to Quanah in 1891 and had been a resident of that city since. Several times he has visited his native land where he still has three living sisters among other relatives. His late visit there was some four years ago. Survivors include two sons, Anton of Quanah, Fred of Wichita, Kansas; a brother Marcellus, who lived in Java, and seven grandchildren.

Active always in civic organizations of his home-town, Koch helped organize various local enterprises and industries and was a close friend during his life-time of Sam Lazarus, builder of the Quanah railway.

Santa Fe and your WINTER WHEAT

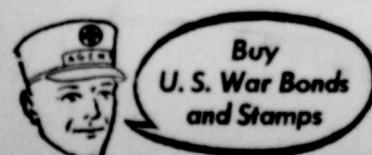

● Once more the miracle of the winter wheat harvest is with us. Nature has been kind, in Santa Fe territory, and another bumper crop is indicated. Prices, too, are good.

That is a happy prospect, but it brings serious problems with it—both for you who raise the grain, and for us who move it.

You face a shortage of harvest labor, and a serious lack of storage space, at terminals and in rural bins, because of the unprecedented carry-over of old wheat. We face the job of moving a vast grain tonnage, in a short time, on top of the greatest railroad traffic load in history.

For example, in April, 1941, Santa Fe freight cars moved 108,151,891 miles. In April, 1942, that mileage had leaped to 142,823,878. A great part of that 32% jump represented war freight, that must move first.

Santa Fe pledges every possible help in moving 1942 wheat to points where it can be accepted and placed for use. Of you we ask prompt loading and unloading, and that no car be used for storage, even temporarily. Let's pull together and whip this war-born transportation problem, as we have so many others in the long years we've worked together.

AT YOUR SERVICE—Talk over your transportation problems with your Santa Fe representative. He'll be glad to help with practical suggestions.

Shortage Seen In Medical Aid For Civilians

AUSTIN, June 22. — Sacrifice of medical services to which they are accustomed will be demanded of civilians by the end of 1942, F. M. Hemphill, of the State Health Department and Health and Emergency Medical Service, told 200 civilian defense administrators at the University of Texas last week.

The civilian defense officers were meeting in a three-day statewide conference at the university, discussing the manifold problems of the civilian part in the war effort.

"By the end of this year," Hemphill stated, "less medical services will be available to civilians than at any time since the beginning of scientific medicine. The services of our doctors and dentists and nurses are needed first by the armed forces. This is one of the sacrifices which civilians must make."

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Caudle of Dimmitt visited Mr. Caudle's sister Mrs. J. B. Bishop and family here Sunday and Monday of last week. Mr. Caudle reported heavy hail damage in that vicinity.

Mrs. Glenn White of Santa Monica, California who spent a week here visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Biggs and Mr. White's parents Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Newton, has returned to her home.

LOOKS AS THOUGH THIS SPOILS OUR POTATO-TOMATO PLANT STORY

Dear Sir:

Your potato-tomato story on the front page is without doubt the best short story of the year so far, and it should have the blue ribbon.

It would be startling indeed to know what the soil of Floyd county will produce with a little moisture and a little sunshine with a potato thrown in for good measure, if it were not a fact that the Irish potato plant sometimes produces seed pods that look very much like small green tomatoes.

With best regards,
Sunshine Gardens.

Your Choice For DISTRICT ATTORNEY

Any man, who offers himself as a candidate for public office, should let the people know something of his personal life and his experience. L. D. Ratliff, Jr., candidate for District Attorney, was born in Wise County, and is the seventh child of a family of eleven children. He knows the hardships and privations faced by a large family.

He began the active practice of law 12 years ago in Haskell County, and shortly thereafter moved to Dickens County, where he now resides. During the past 7 years he has humbly served the people of Dickens County as their County Attorney, and the people of that County believe he deserves a promotion to the office of District Attorney.

In the year 1941 he disposed of 41 criminal cases in the County Court, the majority of which were liquor cases and driving while intoxicated cases. Not a one of these cases were lost, and approximately 12 of them were contested cases.

If you believe that his record justifies a promotion, he will greatly appreciate having you help him to serve the people as their next District Attorney.

Respectfully submitted,
