Local Red Cross Asks For Help To Knit And Sew

An urgent request to all Red Cross knitters is made this week by Production Chairman, Mrs. O. M. Conway, who asks that all garments in the process of sewing or knitting be completed as soon as possible, for our armed forces.

"If you have a garment finished, please return it to the Red Cross room if you have an unfinished garment, please let us know when we may expect you to have it completed."

"Those who have a garment they are uncertain as to when they can complete or for any reason they cannot finish, or thread that you cannot use, please make a report to the local office, as we are anxious to complete this quota and have it ready for shipment by the first of October," Mrs. Conway said.

Already, the local office has received additional yarn (100 pounds) to be knitted into more sweaters, helmets, gloves and mufflers for our soldiers and we must get the old quota finished and shipped so that we can start on the new one.

"If the boys are willing to do our fighting for us, surely we should gladly knit warm garments for them."

More knitters are needed now. This is a personal invitation to you to help.

Gerald Carathers, In Rail Service, Goes To Alaska

Gerald Carathers, who is in rail service with U. S. armed forces, has left the mainland for Alaska for an indefinite period. He had a farewell visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Carathers last Friday at Amarillo. For a short time he had been stationed at Clovis, but had served sometime in the Pacific northwest.

In addition to their visit with Gerald before his departure the Carathers also have had the pleasure of seeing their son, Johnny and his wife at Amarillo, and made a vacation trip with them to Nashville, where they visited in the home of another son, Elmer. Their trip from which they returned home the earlier part of last week, took them into eight states.

Lasting Changes In Schools To Come From Crisis

Aside from teacher shortage and severely reduced incomes and other temporary effects of the war crisis, Supt. O. J. Laas of the Plainview Public schools gave it as his belief Wednesday at Floydada Rotary club that permanent changes also are due to come from the crisis.

"He was speaking on the subject 'Effects of the Crisis on our Public Schools,' and said that the profound changes would come in the curriculum. Undoubtedly, he indicated, mathematics and laboratory sciences will have a more prominent place in post-war schools, and also that vocational education, health, social sciences and conservation of natural resources of the nation will be studied with deeper meaning.

Superintendent Walter Travis, of Floydada, presented the speaker.

LEAVE FOR SCHOOL

Olon Lowrance, David Brewer of Petersburg and Billie Basham, of Lubbock, left yesterday in company with Olon's father, O. L. Lowrance and George Brewer of Petersburg, for Austin, where the boys will enter the State School for the Deaf.

Mr. Lowrance and Mr. Brewer expect to return home this week-end.

Rains Southeast Bring Moisture To Dry Spots

Rains in southeast Floyd county Sunday afternoon and night wet up the few remaining dry spots in Floyd county and the adjacent northeast Crosby and northwest Dickens county corners.

A large area in the Joe Bailey and Antelope country that had been somewhat dry got a couple of inches of rain, and an area lying in a triangle between Baker, Floydada and Lakeview schools that had been dry also got good rain. All of the southeast portion of the county had rain, some of it in sections where excessive moisture is already in evidence.

Floydada got a quarter of an inch of rain and in the vicinity of Muncy considerable moisture fell.

Some hail damage on the Floyd-Crosby county line is reported, but it is believed not to be extensive. The rainfall extended westward into the south part of Floydada district and into Starkey and McCoy. Further south the rain was quite general.

ASKS FRIENDS TO WRITE HIM HOME TOWN NEWS

Yeoman Elton Goen of the U. S. S. freighter Ramapo called his wife and parents Monday night from Seattle, Washington, to say he was well and leaving port again Tuesday with a cargo of supplies to islands in some part of the Pacific.

"Twice lately, he told his mother Mrs. W. S. Goen, his ship had de-watered because of Japanese submarine infested waters. He asked that friends here write to him at the address: W. Elton Goen U. S. S. Ramapo, c/o Fleet Postmaster, San Francisco, California.

Football Squad Attitude Good, Say Coaches

Coaches Murry and Powell took their whirlwind prospects to Plainview Tuesday afternoon for a practice scrimmage with the Class AAA Bulldogs and came home pleased with the spirit their charges show.

Except for some team scrimmage it was the first try-out in formation for several of the boys, who will have the Bulldogs here next Tuesday afternoon repaying their visit.

A few more boys have come out for practice and the squad now numbers 30. Troy Cummings is one of the fleetest additions to the squad, coming here from McCoy. He will be used in backfield positions and will be eligible for play in the first conference game.

Prep For Crowd

The first game of the season for the Whirlwinds will be on Friday, September 18. Coach Murry's information is that the crowd squad formation is as good as possibly a bit better than last year's team which won over the Green and White at Crowley.

Cotton Raisers Confident Can Move Crop

Cotton raisers, members of the Triple A committee, members of the War Price and Rationing board and others who attended Tuesday's tire supply conference in Lubbock, were administrator, that fewer rather than more tires are going to be available and that cotton growers must begin to make their plans now to get their cotton to the gins the best way they can.

Floyd county was one of 35 well-represented at the meeting, where the state administrator urged cotton and fed growers to begin exercising their ingenuity and pooling their resources to move their crops.

Supreme confidence that they will get the job done in spite of the shortages was evident on the part of the cotton growers of the area present at the meeting. Rationing is an absolute necessity to make possession of tires to continue, and the needs of the military forces must come first, McGee told those present. He indicated that truck hauling will be curtailed, and that indiscriminate dashing back and forth from one market to another by private trucks is going to result in refusal of tire permits. "There are not enough tires to go around and even those who are evidently entitled to them for legitimate purposes are not going to get them every time they apply for them," McGee told the crowd.

Eight suggestions made by the state administrator of how to solve the problem of moving crops this fall are given below. While some of these may infringe on existing laws the big problem is to get the needed commodities to market without using up more tires than necessary, and he anticipates that leniency may be expected in the enforcement of laws which these suggestions may violate:

Eight Ideas Suggested

Among the many other ideas suggested were these:

1. Attach several cotton-laden trailers behind a single tractor.

2. Switch tires, even wheels, from such other vehicles as family cars and tractors and the like to trailers in which the cotton is hauled.

3. Arrange by groups of farmers with professional trucks to haul the cotton.

4. Investigate the possibility that trucks of wholesale houses might be brought into the cotton hauling picture.

5. If the farmer has friends in the city, see if a worn spare cannot be bought or borrowed there.

6. Make the utmost possible use of trucks and trailers that some gins keep available for that type of hauling.

7. Take fullest advantage of other methods of transportation, such as horse-drawn wagons if any can be "dug up."

8. Investigate the possibility that large trucks, like those used to haul cattle, which could carry many bales of cotton in a single load, might be put to use in hauling cotton.

Three members of the Floyd County War Price and Rationing board were present at the meeting, including W. Ed Brown, J. W. Lanier and O. L. Stansell. Others from this county included Paul Snodgrass and L. A. Williams of the Floyd County USDA War board, Judge C. C. Tubbs, Sam Hale and M. D. Ramsey of Harmony, J. B. and W. B. Jordan and Leo Prizzell of Center, Leonard Field of South Plains, Webb Taylor and Cecil Purcell of Edgin.

Cotton Harvest Labor Begins Movement Northward, Roy L. Haynes, San Antonio, Reports

As cotton and feed crops of the high plains begin to mature and the time approaches for cotton harvest, interest in the supply of labor is beginning to grow.

Locally no estimate has been set on the number of farm hands that can be used in plowing and planting the fall grain crop and no estimate either on the number of cotton pickers that will be needed, nor has it been indicated as yet what price is likely to prevail for cotton harvest.

Roy L. Haynes, in Floydada Sunday and Monday for a brief visit with his mother here, said that the movement of cotton pickers west and north has begun and that as near as Abilene the trucks with harvest hands are considerably in evidence. He is with the regional office of the U. S. Employment service at San Antonio and is particularly interested in the movement of labor. He would not venture a guess on whether there would be an ample supply of labor for cotton harvest or not for this section. He feels sure, however, that some harvesters will be in this area by the time cotton is ready to gather. Cotton picking, he said, is getting under way in Taylor and adjacent counties and fields there are likely to be harvested to a considerable extent by the time the laborers are needed in this section.

A considerable lot of Texas labor has been recruited by agents for northern fields during the past several weeks and agents for Nebraska, Wyoming and California interests are in the state now, he said, trying to pick up several thousand laborers wanted in those states.

A fortunate turn of events for the storm-stricken area hit by the hurricane in the last days of August is that the cotton crop has been pretty well gathered before the wind and rain did their destructive work. Laborers from that area have already moved northward and will gradually spread out. Areas and farmers having living quarters and reasonably good living conditions will have a better chance to get this labor than those who are not equipped to take care of them.

Mr. Haynes' suggestion to Floyd county farmers is that they list their farm labor needs, indicating how many cotton pickers or other workers they need and when they will need them, turning this information over to the representative of the U. S. Employment service on his weekly visits to Floydada, or the employment office at Plainview.

Ginners Getting Ready

Ginners have in mind that cotton pulling in this section will start around October 1, with some fields a little earlier and that by mid-October cotton harvest will be fairly well under way. Gins are being overhauled and repaired. Gins will operate under the OPA this season and have been notified that their charges for ginning service may not exceed a 5 per cent increase over charges made last year. The way the other appears to work out is that ginners of this area will have a price of 37 cents per 100 for ginning and $1.84 for bagging and tying.

DAVE LEWIS TO REPORT FOR NAVY DUTY MONDAY

Plea For Diversion Of Wheat Acreage Says Payments And Allotments Not Affected

Division of wheat acreage to the production of war crops will not affect AAA wheat payments or allotments in future years.

Coupled with this announcement from the Texas AAA office was a renewed plea for the diversion to war crops of acreage normally planted to wheat in those areas where other crops can be grown.

George Slaughter, state AAA committee chairman, declared that farmers who underplant their 1943 wheat allotments in order to increase their acreages of crops which are vitally needed in the war will not suffer deductions from AAA wheat payments for 1943, nor will their wheat acreage allotments be reduced in future years because of such diversions.

"Present supplies of wheat are more than sufficient for domestic needs for the next two years," Slaughter pointed out, "whereas the need for certain other commodities such as soybeans, flaxseed, peanuts for oil and certain feed crops, is likely to be even greater in 1943 than this year. Every wheat farmer who can divert some wheat acreage to these emergency war crops will be making a substantial contribution to the war effort."

At the same time, Slaughter reminded farmers that if no wheat whatsoever was seeded on a farm for three consecutive years, the farm would be eligible only for a new farm allotment under the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustments Act of 1938.

Nimitz Appeals For Use Of V- Mail System

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 4.—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet, has issued an appeal to families of service personnel to use the new, fast V-Mail system for correspondence from the Mainland to forces afloat and ashore.

Pacific Fleet V-Mail authorities pointed out that speed, privacy and economy should make use of this microfilm service attractive to the armed forces.

Whereas regular airmail from the Hawaiian area to Pacific Coast points often takes many days—even going by convoy when mails are unusually congested—V-Mail to these same cities averages only four days. V-Mail for East Coast points takes only six days from the time of posting to arrival at its addressed destination.

In the field, mail clerks have been supplied with special V-Mail forms. Letters written on these blanks and posted for censorship are not read again until they reach the addressee.

Hawaiian area V-Mail is photographed on 16-millimeter microfilm spools in Honolulu. These rolls, two of which contain as many letters as an ordinary mail pouch, go to the Mainland by the first available air transportation. They rate highest priority; they go immediately.

By fast mail train, completed V-Mail is then sped to recipients, who get 4-by-5½ inch enlargements of the tiny negatives in official envelopes—without charge.

TROY O. POPE PROMOTED TO DETECTIVE WITH DALLAS DEPARTMENT

Announcement was made this week of the promotion of Troy O. Pope from Patrolman to detective on the Dallas Police force. Pope, who recently received a temporary assignment to the detective bureau, got the promotion Tuesday of this week.

Penney Stores Exceed Quotas Seven Times

Walton Hale, manager of the J. C. Penney company store in Floydada is in receipt of notice that his store is among the very top units in the company's huge July War Bonds and Stamps sales campaign. Assigned quotas estimated at 4 per cent of their sales, the nation-wide merchandising organization turned in sales that equaled 25 per cent of their total sales. Asked to sell $1,200,000 worth of bonds they sold $8,422,000 worth.

Hale's store is mentioned in "Pay Day," Penney organization newspaper, and a personal letter from W. A. Reynolds of the New York office pays glowing appreciation of the efforts of himself and his sales force.

Accident Toll Three Killed, Four Injured

Three persons were fatally injured and four others hurt, one seriously, Sunday afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding overturned on the Petersburg-Plainview highway just north of Petersburg, according to reports from the Plainview Herald.

Mrs. Essie Reedy, 60, a resident of the Allmon community, died at the Plainview hospital a short time after she was brought there by ambulance. She suffered internal and head injuries. She was scalped when her body came in contact with some part of the automobile, presumably the windshield. She was conscious until a few minutes before she died and made requests that certain people be notified in order that they might attend her funeral.

Mrs. Wilford Ervin, driver of the automobile and daughter of Mrs. Reedy, was killed instantly. She died of a crushed chest and other internal injuries.

Miss Jimmie Reedy, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Reedy of Plainview died early Monday morning at the Plainview hospital. She was returning home after a visit with her grandmother, Mrs. Essie Reedy.

Johnny Reedy, 21, son of Mrs. Essie Reedy, received internal injuries, and a head injury; but was dismissed from the hospital Monday. Other occupants, Wilford Ervin and Purna Jean Reedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Reedy, were also in the hospital.

Charlotte Ervin, five-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Ervin, who was riding in her grandmother's lap, escaped injury. She was given first aid treatment at the hospital and dismissed.

Officers, who investigated the accident which occurred about 2:45 Sunday afternoon said the presumption was that the right front wheel got off the pavement and when the driver brought it back she lost control. The automobile stopped in a pasture several yards from the highway right side up. The top was caved in, the right rear tire was blown out and the automobile generally damaged, according to reports.

The group was on their way to Plainview to take the two children of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Reedy home after a visit with their grandmother. The Ervins, former Plainview residents, had recently returned from California.

She resided in the McCoy community on the Berry farm just northeast of the McCoy gin for awhile, and at the time of her death was living west of the Allmon school house.

Survivors include five sons, Jimmie of Plainview, J. B. and Robert C. of Petersburg, Nathaniel of the U. S. Army and Thomas A. of Sherman, two brothers, O. H. McLain, Lubbock and Sam McLain, Snyder, Oklahoma; and three sisters, Mrs. Mary Chastine, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; Mrs. Nerva Sohn, San Antonio and Mrs. Nettie Kiser, Oklahoma.

ROAD TO VICTORY!

I don't want to tell anyone else what to do with his money. This is a note to myself:

Young men who return home from the war zones after an absence of some months are alarmed by the fact that here we are still sparring for advantages that war conditions are supposed to make possible. Apparently unaware that we not only can lose the war but are losing it, everybody high and low is jockeying to get in the best position to profit from the sacrifices our lads are making in jungle, desert and above and below the sea. A thing Gene Worley was alarmed about that he found at home, after eight months in the Pacific area, is that Americans are still spending much of our time bragging on how good we are, in fact, how much better fighters and equipment we have than our opponents. The truth is the best we have gives us about parity with our enemies—better in some respects, poorer in others—manpower and equipment at the point of contact being equal. But we do not have the manpower there yet, he points out. This braggadocio so common in America reminds one of the stories read of natives in Africa spending most of a valuable day showing off before their chieftain before they leave to battle an enemy.

Contrary to the general expressed opinion (we would be contrary) it is our considered judgment that we will not have an early freeze or killing frost this year. Although last week was a cloudy, cool one it only served to fool a lot of good folks who fail to watch nature. It was Bryant who wrote that beautiful and melancholy poem that begins "to him who in the love of nature holds communion with her visible forms," and it is most likely that this beloved poet would be in complete agreement with us should he be now living. Probably he would be the only one who does agree with us. You know how it goes. Everybody thinks O'Daniel ought to be elected. The Hesperian thinks not, everybody believes in an early freeze, The Hesperian thinks to the contrary, and so on. Now, the signs say the last half of November, possibly a day or so after the first of December. All the major signs we mean. Some of the minor signs, that only serve to fool the folks as a rule, point at another and much earlier date. But we'd say don't for a minute think of spoiling your tomato vines or pulling green ones for weeks and weeks. Away through October and on up into November, you can pick tomatoes, the big fine ones like we grow in this country, and sell them and maybe make a hundred dollars off of a little old patch not as big as your hand, long after the early frost prognosticators would have the vines killed by a frost or freeze. So take care of your tomato vines. Don't tear the big tender bushes up or damage them because you think frost is near. Don't listen to the wrong folks. We'll give you plenty of warning.

We might say in connection with our rare judgment on frost and things of that kind, we could give a lot of advice that would be most helpful on other things as well. But, peculiarly folks that don't get mad about being corrected on such matters as the seasons and the weather, get huffy as can be about many other things, as for instance who to vote for. We've quit bearing down on things of that kind. It doesn't get the right man any votes and it does beat us out of friends and subscribers and advertisers. Everybody makes enough enemies without trying, and if the folks keep leaving and going to defense works and to the army and navy we're going to be pushed to have a majority of those left on speaking terms.

If you have in mind to try bluebonnets next year now is the time to put the seed in the ground, says an Extension service news story. To grow and bloom successfully, bluebonnets should be planted in a sunny, well-drained spot, where you will not have to disturb them by cultivation. Otherwise they do not do so good, although they have been successfully transplanted. In Floyd county one would almost have to try transplanting, since it is too cold for them to grow here in winter months. Cold frames or small pots could be used to start them for the experiment and then set out sometime next spring. One thing about bluebonnets, the experts say, is that they are adapted to Texas spring freezes and are quite resistant to the hazards of cold snaps.

The biggest and most serious problem that faces the plains country at this time is that of working out a way to move this year's cotton crop from the fields to the gin and the huge feed crop from the fields to the cattle pens and the storage houses. As is well-known the large percentage of cotton moves from the fields in trailers. Farmers usually depend on buying second hand tires at the beginning of the season for their trailers. This year they cannot do this. There are no second hand tires to amount to anything to be had at any price. Farmers, ginners, landowners, business men must immediately begin thinking on this. The ironclad situation seems to justify the statement that tires are not going to be released. And something must be done about it. It may be that a "howl" will help some, but it is more likely that, instead of waiting for the government to do something we must do something ourselves.

Cotton leaf worms were definitely controlled in Aiken community by using a spray of three pounds calcium arsenate and 30 gallons of water per acre, according to Ed Whitfill, gin manager and cotton grower. Mr. Whitfill is of the opinion that at least three pounds of poison should be applied to the acre if best results are to be obtained. Approximately 1,000 acres of cotton were sprayed during the month of August to control leaf worms.

According to reports of the Agricultural Experiment Station, 30 gallons of the above material applied to the acre with a pressure spray in good working condition will give sufficient kill.

There is no law in Texas controlling the efficiency of insecticides. One panhandle county secured a car of calcium arsenate that was not up to standard after receiving unsatisfactory results a sample was analyzed and it was determined a dust of 35 pounds per acre would be necessary before leaf worm control could be expected. Normally, dusting with 5 to 7 pounds per acre is sufficient.

For practical results, it is best to apply at least 2 pounds of calcium arsenate or 2 pounds of lead arsenate to 50 gallons of water.

Earl Norman of Lockney used the dust method to poison leaf worms. He used the rate of 2 1/2 pounds of calcium arsenate per acre and dusted by hand by using two small sacks made from paper canvas material which would hold about 2 1/2 or 3 pounds of poison. He carried a sack of poison in each hand and walked through the cotton fields to apply the dust. "It means a lot of walking," Norman reported, "but the kill is worth the effort if the field is too wet to use a tractor." Norman dusted 22 acres of cotton in about 8 hours and could tell exactly those places in the cotton row that failed to receive the proper amount of poison.

It is recommended that 5 to 7 pounds per acre be used when dusting, but in Mr. Norman's case he was particularly interested in getting those worms that were working on the tops of the cotton and as a result he used only 2 1/2 pounds with good results.

Castor bean growers should take warning. There is a substance in castor beans called ricin that is poisonous to man and animal. There is enough poison in three beans to kill a man. When harvesting the crop extreme care should be taken to see that children do not eat any of the beans.

Hubam clover seems to be a good legume to grow for a hay crop and soil improvement crop. The Lubbock Experiment Station reported one cutting of hay of three-fourths ton per acre and an excellent crop to plow under because of its tremendous root growth.

Hubam is an annual that builds the soil and gives best results when followed by cotton or grain sorghums.

A number of cases of milk fever have been reported among cows that are farrowing this season. Milk fever is caused by lack of exercise and lack of calcium in the ration. Feeding alfalfa hay in a rack or 3/10 pound of tankage daily will help prevent the trouble.

A good mineral mixture for all hogs on the farm is two parts bone meal, two parts limestone flour, and one part salt. Build a small self-feeder for each pen of hogs and allow free choice method. The hogs will balance the mineral requirements according to need and this method causes less trouble to the farm manager.

W. B. Jordan of Center community has received good results by feeding his hogs a conditioner composed of the following mixture: 4 pounds charcoal, 3 pounds copperas, 3 pounds salsoda, 3 pounds epsom salts, 3 pounds common salt, 1 pound sulphur.

Victory demonstrators are studying the leaflet "Prevent Farm Fires—Reduction in farm fire losses is a good essential at any time but in time of war it is imperative. According to the best information a farm building burns every 15 minutes somewhere in the United States.

In Texas every year about 250 people lose their lives in fires on farms and in rural communities. One-third of these, about 82, are children under 10 years of age.

Homes, household goods, barns, feed, machinery and livestock, valued at 6 1/2 million dollars is the state's annual toll of farm property taken by fires.

This waste of life and property at any time is tragic. In time of war preventable waste is unpatriotic. The lumber, roofing, hardware and labor used to replace burned farm buildings could be better used constructing army camps, munition factories and barges.

A copy of the leaflet and a check sheet for removing fire hazards may be secured at the office of the Extension Agents in the agricultural building.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Mitchell of Plainview spent the week-end with their daughter and family Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGuire.

My heart lifts high when I see the silver bombers pass, winging through the blue and I breathe a prayer for these lads of the sky, may ultimate success be attained.

Vengeance
When the eagles brood is hatched
And their valiant wings grow strong
And they drop their eggs of fire
Over the vandal throng
When the sound of their wings is thunder,
And their course is straight and true,
And the enemy ships go under
As they wing their way through the blue,
Then the first enemy falcon
Will learn, it is never best
To attack the bird of Freedom
The eagle in its nest.
And the dove and homing pigeon
And the swallow; each lesser bird
Will see their oppressor vanquished
When the eagle's cry is heard.

A total of 875 students were enrolled during the first two days of school at the high school, Andrews Ward and East Ward school. The board of trustees is now faced with the problem of making further preparations to take care of the large number of students, according to Superintendent W. E. Patten.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Williams of Dallas returned to their home Wednesday after a visit of two weeks with his uncle, W. Edd Brown and family.

A. N. Bratton, J. E. Dicke and J. A. Arwine spent last week-end hunting prairie chickens in Gaines county.

Miss Helen McKinney will leave October 1 for Seymour, where she will teach.

Mrs. A. W. Chowning and son, LeRoy, and her guests, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Boos and son, Patrick, of Waxahachie, spent Friday and Saturday at Bovina as guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Curry.

From recent reports we have learned that in a few months we'll likely be on shorter meat rations than we have been recently, but we have enough meat and other protein foods to keep American families well nourished.

To make meat go farther, use more of foods which are plentiful and less beef and pork. Fortunately, there's an abundant supply of protein foods. Supplies of these are at an all time high, and there are more chickens than ever before. Although beef is not an exact substitute for meat they make a good nourishing dish. Beans, too, are plentiful.

If every American family has a cheese dish instead of pork chops more often than usual, or chicken instead of steak, the pressure on beef and pork supplies will not be so great.

For ways of making meat dishes from thrifty cuts of meat and left over meat ask at this office or any home demonstration club woman.

Jim Elliott and family left last week for Phoenix, Arizona, where they are making their home and Mr. Elliott is mechanic at a large logging camp.

Mrs. J. C. Sparks of Lubbock returned home Saturday after a visit here in the home of her son and wife Mr. and Mrs. Alva Sparks and family. Mr. and Mrs. Sparks and children accompanied her to Lubbock for a week-end visit.

WHEAT FARMERS

Plant Quality Wheat Varieties To Insure Market Demand

Mill Experience Gives The Following Variety Quality Classification

EXCELLENT—Tenmarq, Turkey, Kanred

FAIR—Standard Blackhull, Cheyenne

POOR—Chiefkan (often called Beardless Blackhull and Slickhead), Red Chief, Early Blackhull, Superhard Blackhull

The varieties listed as excellent are the varieties recommended by the U. S. D. A. and State Agricultural Experiment Stations as those best suited for Texas wheat farms. Limited amounts of Standard Blackhull are acceptable but are of no special credit to the Texas reputation for high quality wheat.

Communities known to be producing poor wheat have lesser demand for their wheat than communities producing high quality wheat. This year certain communities experienced loss of storage and markets for their poor quality wheat making for lower financial returns. Poor quality varieties in a community cause market discriminations detrimental to all wheat farmers.

Your county agent, local miller, or elevator manager can tell you where you may secure good seed of the recommended varieties at reasonable seed prices.

Fire Prevention Drive To Start October 4

COLLEGE STATION, September 5.—The week beginning October 4, next, has been designated Fire Prevention Week by proclamation of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In February, Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard requested the Extension Service to assume the leadership in organizing rural Americans for defense against destructive fires, and in disseminating information as to ways and means of reducing farm fire hazards. In accepting this responsibility the Texas A and M College Extension Service printed 400,000 copies of a leaflet designed as a guide for elimination of fire dangers.

According to Director H. H. Williamson the number is expected to be sufficient to place one in the home of each farm and ranch family in Texas. The leaflet, titled "Prevent Farm Fires," is in the form of a check sheet listing the more common fire hazards around farm houses and barns and in the farm forests and fields.

"About 250 persons lose their lives in fires on farms and rural communities of Texas each year," Director Williamson said. "One third, or about 83, of this number are children under 10 years of age. It is our desire that families use the check sheet as the basis for a complete record of the things to be done around the place to make it safe from fire—to prevent fires starting.

"The farm fire menace is not confined to farm buildings and barns. There are millions of acres of farm forests and pasture lands, especially during the dry weather at the end of summer, which stand ready for ignition. The loss of farm machinery, livestock, cattle feed, buildings, grass and timber always is serious, but much more serious at this time when replacement cannot be made without using material and man power needed in the war effort."

First Baptist Church News

(Rev. L. A. Doyle, pastor)
"Every member an active member" is the slogan for the new Association year. Surely a member should be as faithful in attendance and financial support to his church as he is to his club, or social organization. Many of the service and fraternal organizations are a blessing to the members and of great service to society, but they cannot compare in importance to the church that our Lord organized, loved and died for.

We are urging that every member will be faithful in attendance and support of the church in this critical time. We started off in a good way Sunday, after the "summer slump." We hope to have another good increase in both the morning and night attendance next Sunday.

God is satisfied with nothing less than our best. There will be no change in the morning services for another month, but the Training union will meet at 8 o'clock and the preaching services will begin at 8:45 Sunday evening. Remember our slogan, "Every member an active member."

Methodist Church

(R. T. Breedlove, pastor)
Due to a funeral service in Abilene, Doctor Lipscomb did not meet his appointment at the Methodist church last Sunday. The pastor took his place and preached to a good audience. It was a good day.

All the services of the church will be held at the following hours next Sunday: Sunday school at 9:45; preaching at 11. League for Young People at 7:30; preaching at 8:30.

The commandment for Sunday observance has never been annulled. Lay aside all worldly things on that day, attend divine services for fellowship, worship, guidance and inspiration. "Seek first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness."

EDWARD ORAN BECK

"Takes A Real Man To Get In Marine Corps," Beck Says

(The following letter postmarked September 2, 1942, was received this week from Pvt. Oran Beck of the U. S. Marine corps while enroute from here to San Diego, California. Oran is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Beck of this city.)

Aboard the Rock Island
Enroute to San Diego.

To The Hesperian:
Well, I am one of the 29 marines headed for the coast. We have just come from the dining car and a good supper. They promised us supper at 5:30 and at 6:15, all 29 of us just barged into the diner and began raising Cain, so it wasn't very long until we got our supper.

You get a bunch like that and something is going to happen. We have swell accommodations. We have an air-conditioned sleeping car and we are all allowed a dollar for each meal.

A person has to have, not only a good body but a good character to get into this man's marine corps. There were two fellows who had passed their physicals and Major Kendrick was fixing to swear us in. He told us we had better not have put on our papers that we had had no arrests when we had because it would catch us before we got to the coast.

These fellows couldn't go because they had been arrested on some small charge. There are sure some swell kids here. They are just kids, like myself, from 17 to 20 years of age, most of them 18 years old.

There are between 1/4 and 1/3 of the boys that took physical exams, that flunked.

We are supposed to get into San Diego at 9:30 Thursday morning. Excuse the style of this letter because you can't hear yourself think. I'll send an address when I get to the recruiting depot.

Sincerely,
Pvt. Oran Beck,
U. S. Marine Corps.

Watch Drainage In Trench Silo Building

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 4.—Drainage is one of the most important factors in building a trench silo, according to E. R. Eudaly, dairyman of the A. and M. College Extension service.

A trench on a hillside provides easy drainage by sloping the floor from the back to the front. But if the hill does not have sufficient slope to afford drainage at the depth desired, both depth and drainage may be obtained by piling the excavated soil on the banks. On level ground the trench should be constructed above ground unless it can be dug down to a strata of sand or gravel which would provide drainage. Eudaly suggests that it is better to have a ground construction calls for parallel levels of dirt. Height and width will depend upon the number of silos to be fed, but capacity is no way affects preservation of the feed, Eudaly says.

If the floor of the surface level trench gets muddy cover it with rock, gravel, sand, brick or concrete. Such covering improves the bottom of any trench. Trench walls should slope at least one foot in four but if they are steeper the walls two feet in four. Walls may be made permanent by lining them with rock, brick, plaster or concrete.

When a trench is opened a slice at least four inches in thickness must be taken off the exposed end daily to prevent spoilage. As this involves possible wastage, Eudaly suggests that it is better to have a trench than one which is too small. With a small container two or more slices may be taken off daily if that much feed is needed.

"If you have only five head of cattle," Eudaly explains, "I suggest that you make the trench three feet wide at the top, two or two and one half feet at the bottom and three feet deep. It may be as long as you want it depending upon the amount of feed to be buried. The more livestock you have the wider and deeper the trench can be made."

ANT HUNTERS PREY ON SCREW-WORMS

Since the screwworm is, as a pest of farm and range animals, stockmen would find the problem even more troublesome if ants did not hunt the screwworm relentlessly, recent investigations by the U. S. Department of Agriculture show.

This new knowledge favors better concentration of control efforts. The general opinion has been that when an animal died as a result of screwworm attack it was advisable to burn or bury the carcass to prevent multiplication of the pest. Arthur W. Lindquist of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, studying screwworm activities in southern Texas has learned to estimate the number of screwworms in the carcass of an animal killed by this pest. The screwworms leave a dead animal promptly and burrow into the soil nearby. Thus by putting a fine wire cage over the spot he was able to count the screwworm flies emerging and get a close check on the number killed by ants. In 26 cage tests under all sorts of conditions only a little more than 4 percent of the burrowing larvae emerged as flies. In check tests with carcasses kept in tubs and protected from the ants more than 93 percent of the larvae developed into flies. Even in non-fatal attacks, Lindquist estimated that ants kill about four out of every five of the screwworm larvae dropping from wounds.

Get Poultry Houses Ready

The nice weather of early fall offers a splendid opportunity to get poultry houses ready for the winter months. A thorough cleaning, scrubbing, and disinfection, repairing, needs, roosts, droppings boards or pits, putting in new window panes to replace broken ones, installing concrete floors where necessary, and making any other needed repairs to the house, particularly the roof, are all part of the job of getting the houses ready. It is best to do these jobs while the birds are out on the range and before fall rains begin. As every poultry raiser knows, hens lay poorly in the fall when their houses are open to chilling blasts and leaky roofs let in rain.

Prevent Cannibalism

In spite of all precautions, many new pullet flocks are likely to start vent picking. One of the most practical ways of preventing losses from picking is to use one of the devices that are on the market that may be attached to the individual bird for this purpose. There are several kinds involving attachment to the beak, vent, or just in front of the eyes. It is no job to attach any of these to the birds. They prevent this habit from getting a start that results eventually in considerable losses.

Thirty Try Out For Football Opening Week

Football started off with a bang this year. Thirty boys, all full of fight, reported for practice. The players reporting for practice are: Bill Gearheart, DuBois, Johnson, McCray, Decker, Collins, Dudley, Johns, Gray, Lyles, Lovell, Fyffe, Buckabee, Furrow, Cardinal, Trowbridge, Sparks, Conner, Allen, Baxter, Tyler, Battey and possibly a few others.

Men from last year's squad are: Baxter, Sparks, Tyler, Conner, Trowbridge, Furrow, Cardinal, Gray, Lyles, Lovell, Fyffe, Battey, Allen and Hucklebee.

The boys from last year are remembering the games they lost and the championships they were shooting at, and they're trying hard to make it up. The first week they worked out twice a day. It's going to be a rough old season and the boys are trying to get ready.

The football boys are dedicating their season to a swell fellow who couldn't be with us a great end—Berrett Patterson.

Senior Rings Arrive; Except New Orders

The first shipment of the senior rings arrived Monday, August 31. They are 10 karat gold with black initials on either side of the mounting. The numbers of the year are in the corners of the mounting, and "Floydada" is printed in the center. The next shipment is due the latter part of next month.

If any of the seniors who expect to get rings have not put in their orders, they have been asked to do so as soon as possible so that they may get them in the next order.

EDITORIAL

It seems that each year, on September 1, when Floydada High school opens there has always been a great deal of enthusiasm and school spirit. We have some of the finest teachers in our faculty that the school has ever had, so we should get behind them. In a crisis like this, and times like these, all the students should do their best to secure all the education available. So far as we have seen around the school, morale is very low. Of course there are some exceptions. The halls are packed with new students that have never attended this school before, but in time they will all come around. They will realize they are part of this high school. Just as much so as the students that have spent three years in the school.

Of course we miss the seniors. We must forget the parts they played and try to the best of our ability to make a better showing. The seniors in their own way had their own talents; we in our own way have our talents. We think we can do things just as well as any senior of the late years.

As we see the old graduates of F. H. S. strolling down the halls, we think of the good times they had while here and the times we had with them. We miss their work also, but they had to learn the same as we are learning.

We think our faculty is grand, and with their support we should put the ball to the bat and really sock it.

NEW LIBRARY RULES
 There have been very few changes made in the library this year. There have been a number of old books sent off to be rebound, and the school plans to buy new ones soon.

There are a few new rules this year: The library tables are used only for reference work. When you check out a magazine, you are supposed to return to the study hall with it. All books returned are to be returned down the chute.

Billy Bean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Bean of South Plains, was elected president of the Floydada Future Farmers of America for the school year 1942-1943 in an election held Friday morning in the agricultural class room of the high school. Other officers elected were: W. C. Trowbridge, vice-president; Jim Wilson, secretary; Dave Willis, treasurer; Harold Norrell, reporter; Louis Warren, watchdog; Charles Dudley, parliamentarian; Harold Thornton, song leader; Kent Kiker, band leader; and Elvis Warren, historian.

The chapter will hold a meeting later in the month with these officers in charge for the first time, at which time they will initiate the first year boys to the degree of Green Hand.

Forty-Five in Voc Ag
 Forty-five students have enrolled in classes of Vocational Agriculture. Twenty-three have enrolled in the second year class and 22 have enrolled in the first year classes. The theme for the year will be "More Food, Feed, and Fiber for National Defense" and the boys Supervised Farming program will be developed with that theme in mind.

Twenty-five bulletins were issued to each of 23 first year students to be used at home in connection with their class room studies. Bulletins were issued last year to the first year boys and others will be issued later on in the year.

When F. H. S. opened Monday, August 31, several new romances were discovered and several old ones were missing.

David Battey was caught making eyes at Sammie Lee. (Nothing unusual, as he did that last year.)

Wade Felps has a wild look in his eyes lately. It is rumored she dropped him for another.

What dark-haired junior girl had tears in her eyes when Jack told her he was leaving?

Glenn Carmack and Oragene Wilson are not doing as nicely as in ward school.

Is it true that Ruth Webb has a Roaring Springs boy friend? Aren't the Floydada boys good enough for her?

Billy Hinkle and Jean Warren are doing pretty well lately.

What is it that Frank and Charles enjoy most on the bus? Could it be Inell?

Ask W. D. Conner and Nancy Brown who has a good time in the third period study hall.

Faye Nell and Windy Fyffe seem to be doing fairly well lately. Could it be love?

What happened to the McCleskey-Allen romance?
