Matador - Floyd Game Is Moved To Wester Field

Instead of playing their conference game at Matador tomorrow afternoon the Whirlwinds will play on their home grounds against the Matadors. It was announced by school authorities here the first of the week, a mutually agreeable understanding having been reached by officials.

An enormously strengthened backfield with Durbin in their third conference game of the year. Durbin has been out of the line up for several weeks and did not don a suit when the Matadors visited Floydada a month ago in the practice game. Campbell is the big, husky line-plunging type of backfield man and Durbin to help him carry the mail may make the difference between winning and losing. Durbin last year was the Matadors outstanding scorer and he has shown increased speed and size both this season.

The game will be called at 8:30 at Wester field under the floodlights Friday (tomorrow) night.

N. W. Conference Pastors Will Be Known Sunday

Pastors for 220 Methodist churches of Northwest Texas Conference will be announced Sunday following their appointments which were made Wednesday at the annual Northwest Texas Conference held at Sweetwater.

Representatives from the Floydada church included the pastor, Rev. R. T. Breedlove and Mrs. Breedlove; J. M. Wilson, member of the Board of Education for the Northwest Texas conference and Mrs. Wilson delegate from the church.

Rev. C. A. Hartley, Floydada circuit preacher and Mrs. Hartley also attended the conference.

Rev. Breedlove has been pastor of the local church for the past two years.

FIREMEN TO SPONSOR THANKSGIVING DANCE AT MARTIN BUILDING

A Thanksgiving dance on the night of November 26, at the Martin building, beginning at 9 o'clock will be sponsored by the Floydada Fire department, according to an announcement made this week by Melvin Henry, fire chief.

Music will be furnished by the Sax of the West orchestra, KGNC artists from Amarillo, who appear each day at 12:45 o'clock on the Cal Farley program.

Board To Make Replacements November Call

The Floyd County Local board will be required to send replacements as soon as they are available for the member who was short on the 41 November 4, which was for all men, according to the information the board has at hand from the State Selective service.

The board actually inducted four men on that date who will go to Fort Sill this week. They are George W. Reynolds, Jimmy Williams Green and Robert T. Tyler, of Floydada and John Ray Myers of South Plains. In addition the board got credit on the call for several recent volunteers, eighteen in number, making a total of 22, and leaving 19 men who must be made up when available. The volunteers for whom the board received credit were Jack D. Starnell, Millard V. Graham, Jack Leslie Craft, Fred M. Bishop, George A. Gearhart, Billy B. Henry, William T. Perry, Edmond A. Williams, R. C. Pollan, Arvis C. Lambert, of Floydada; William D. Holt, Earl Wayne Weathers, Silman M. James, James A. Bobbitt, Jr., Revis M. Harris, Edward O. Davis, Joe Willmon and Elmer C. McPherson, of Lockney.

Probably now is the time for replacements will not be available before January 1, after crop deferments have expired or are terminated.

Examine Married Men

Having practically exhausted their list of single registrants, the board will begin immediately to call married men without children for screening physical examination, prior to possible reclassification.

Men with children will not be called until boards have exhausted all other categories of registrants. It was said at the board's office.

Floyd County Electors Favor One, Turn Down Four Other Constitutional Amendments

One lone proposed constitutional amendment got the nod from Floyd county voters in the general election vote on Tuesday of last week, the official count of the Commissioners' court Monday revealed. This was the "probate jurisdiction" amendment to allow the legislature to create certain courts in certain counties.

Only 588 votes were cast in the county, the voting strength of which is around 3,000 this year. Vote on the other four amendments was as follows:

John Tarleton appropriation amendment, 135 for, 193 against.

Military instructors amendment, 110 for, 215 against.

Anti-deficit amendment, 157 for, 171 against.

State office building amendment, 112 for, 212 against.

For state and county officials the records disclose that 14 votes for republican candidates were cast and two votes for all others in the county for U. S. Senator, and Governor Stevenson 578 votes for governor. County officials received from 580 to 595 votes.

NOLAN HUSKY IN NAVY PRE-FLIGHT SCHOOL

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 9.—James Nolan Husky, Floydada, Texas, is now enrolled in the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight school here. Husky enlisted in the Navy in February, 1942.

Maury Hopkins, who died last Friday in Chicago at the age of 45, began his career in Floydada as a teller in the old First State bank. Later he gained prominence as a regional chairman of Commerce executive. He was the eldest son of Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Hopkins, now of Miami.

Maury Hopkins Rites Monday In Chicago

Maury Hopkins who began his business career in this city and climbed to a place as a high salaried executive in the United States, died Friday in a hospital in Chicago at the age of 45.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Chicago and interment was made Tuesday at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, the former home of Mrs. Hopkins.

Mr. Hopkins, former chairman of Commerce official, was public relations director in charge of personnel for the Wilson Packing company in Chicago at the time of his death. He became ill six weeks ago while on a business trip to the company's west coast plant.

Born in Hunt county in 1897, he moved to Floydada as a young man with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Hopkins. He started his business career as a clerk in the First National bank and later with The First State bank. He served as manager of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce for two years, resigning this place to accept a similar one at Plainview. In the early 1930's he became assistant general manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and was given charge of the Fort Worth office. In 1934 he moved to Oklahoma City to become manager of the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce. Two years later he moved to Chicago.

Two years ago Mr. Hopkins and Mary Anderson of Cedar Rapids, Iowa were married. Survivors are the widow, a daughter, Joyce Lynn three months old; a step-daughter, Mary Jo, six years old; his parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Hopkins, residents of Miami for the past 17 years; three sisters, Mrs. Jack Henry of Amarillo; Mrs. Keith Arnold of San Angelo; and two brothers, A. G. Hopkins of Syracuse, N. Y., and C. D. Hopkins of Stamford. All of the sisters and brothers were present for the last rites.

Mrs. Hopkins was making preparation to leave for her brother's bedside when she received the message of his death.

SNARE SHELL MEASURING SEVEN FEET TWO IS ON DISPLAY AT HESPERIAN

The latest addition to the list of curios for the Hesperian window is a snake hide brought in by W. B. Eakin. The shell measures seven feet and two inches in length and approximately six inches in circumference.

The curio was found Friday afternoon, southeast of town. Another similar shell was found near the one on display but was slightly shorter. Mr. Eakin said.

Schools Open Mon. Morning 10 O'Clock

On Monday morning, November 16, when the Floydada Public schools resume their sessions after a week and two days time out for the school children to help in the cotton fields, the opening hour will be 10 o'clock. Superintendent Walter Travis said this week.

As the days grow shorter the need to make a later war-time opening hour has become apparent to the school board, he said. County Superintendent Clarence Guffee said the Lockney and other schools in the county plan to make a similar change in their time of beginning the school day. Lunch hour will be at 1 o'clock and dismissal at 4:15 o'clock.

The loss of the seven days of school work to largely increase manpower on the farms for harvesting acute crops of the county will not affect the closing date of the Floydada schools, Mr. Travis said.

School Holiday Schedule Given For Floydada

Thanksgiving holidays in Floydada Public schools will be Thursday, Thanksgiving day, and the following Friday, schools resuming work on the Monday following.

For Christmas the school will dismiss on Friday, December 18, and resume work on December 28.

Only other holidays on the school calendar for the year will come at Easter time, when school pupils will have Friday and Monday off, school work resuming on Tuesday after Easter.

Nov. 19-20-21 New Date For Registration

Gasoline rationing in Texas has been postponed to a date to be announced.

And gasoline registration for passenger car owners has been postponed one week to November 19-20-21.

Also the last day for delivering idle passenger car tires to the express company for purchase by the government has been set up from November 12 to the advance 22.

This is the advice and instruction received late Tuesday by W. Eld Brown, chairman of the Floyd County War Price and Rationing board from State Director Mark McGee of Price administration in Fort Worth.

No indication is given that any of the provisions of the rationing program for gasoline to save tire mileage will be disregarded when a new date is set. But on the contrary the date advised, "You will be advised later on actual effective date" of gasoline rationing.

From the local point of view it appeared that the huge job of setting up the gasoline rationing machinery in the state is the probable cause of delay.

For instance the new panel of men who will be charged with rationing gasoline in this county has not been completed as yet, and of the four who have accepted places on the panel only three were present Tuesday afternoon to be sworn in. Furthermore, all the needed blanks and instructions for carrying on the program in this county were not in the hands of the committee as late as Tuesday night. The shortage included application blanks for the Basic A card and other items.

Express Company Swamped

And while the rationing board was preparing to function under handicap, the Express agency also was having its troubles, what with insufficient blanks and storage space. At one time Tuesday afternoon consignments of tires were having to be refused. Storage space of the express company at all points is reported to be heavily taxed by the tires in hand with a great many tires yet undelivered. Doubtless some plan is being worked out to make it possible for passenger car idle tire owners to comply with the rubber

EDITORIALS

Note for the women: Watch the fabrics and don't go to cleaning, pressing, washing, et cetera, until you know what the nature of the cloth is. For instance rayon stockings. You can ruin a pair if you wash them the wrong way. Lots of women wash their hose out the night before and use them again the next day. Don't do rayon that way. It won't work. And don't iron your husband's new dollar tie until you find out whether it will do. The best looking tie you nearly ever saw will draw up about half its usual length if you apply heat. And you sure can't tell by casual looking. The same is true about many other fabrics you are wearing. Don't fail to ask the person you buy from if you don't know. And the tailor will be happy to help you, too, along this line. The number and kind of garments made of "substitutes" will increase in number as the war goes on. And after the war many of these "substitutes" will be found to be better than the original, and grow, rather than wane, in popularity.

Ducks and quail more plentiful than ever this year, the ducks so thick in many places they are running farmers a good race to see which gets the most of the feed crop. Farmers have reason to be impatient with the ducks and duck hunters as well. If you are a duck hunter and somebody has kindly consented to let you hunt on his lake, remember his cattle, his fences and his feelings. The most neighborly, unselfish person on earth is a plains farmer. Do as you would be done by when you're on his property and you'll make friends instead of losing them. Remember, too, the duck stamp and the shooting laws and you'll get along better with the game warden you are sure is not going to be around.

Tire and gas rationing, although evidently not done like the folks hereabout think would be sensible, are quite all right with practically everybody. The expression that rankles deepest in preparing our minds for what the federal representatives explain as the inevitable, is that one, "you must forget profit and money-making." Wars are fought with money and credit and everybody knows that the country is expected to absorb the cost of the war. To forget profit means to forget to make a living and forgetting to make a living means the dole and more government men chasing around over the country administering. Folks think we have too many administrators, supervisors and whatnot right now.

Frost intake: The Hesperian, having listened to Mother Nature's children tell of what the old lady has in store can't do anything but repeat they have been right. However, there is considerable pressure being brought to bear for a frost now, and when the folks turn against you, it is just too bad. Also, the Candian Polar Front which has been bearing down hard trying to break through might get in a sneak punch. Weather in this part of the world, you know, is a constant battle between currents from the Gulf and currents from the great Polar wastes in far, far north Canada. The fight goes on all the time and sometimes a wind that blows from the southwest actually originated from the north. These currents get turned around and headed the wrong direction at times through the action of the world turning on its axis, especially if there is a strong fight on between the opposing air forces. Thus it is that sometimes the coldest cold, the kind that digs right through you, blows some years around Thanksgiving from the southwest. Such a thing might happen this year, might even be our "cold snap." If it turns out that way this year it will be a dilly. And Thanksgiving is close to the right date, all right, barring the sneak punch that we are confident the Canadian Polar front can't get over this time. Any way, you're not going to take any of that profit from your late garden we talked about a few weeks ago, so you'd just as well pull the green tomatoes now as you have time. Get a farmer and his family excited about a cotton and feed crop and they won't, and lots of times can't, take advantage of the smaller things that bring in dimes and quarters. Not enough hours in twenty-four to a day.

Speaking of the customers demanding frost reminds us of the fact that we definitely must have cold weather this winter. Cold that will dig down deep into the ground and penetrate also that pile of weeds and grass around fence rows and in corners. Not that it will kill grasshoppers necessarily but it will not do them any good at that. The big thing is to head off the westward movement of the boll weevil. Believe it or not boll weevils have done a lot of damage right down under the hill in twenty-five miles of Floydada, in Dickens and Motley counties. "We've seen them and the cotton raisers will tell you. The past few mild winters with wet weather to make foliage and waste growth rank have opened up a weak spot in our armor against the weevil. They'll be up on top of the hill another year and that's right, barring plenty of zero and cold weather feeding. Because we must have cold we are predicting it—January, February, maybe one or both and possibly even on into March. To make it as easy as we can on everybody we urge get your live stock water system in good shape, get lots of feed ground and lots of bundles handy. Water is 50 per cent of the battle in the winter time. We mean, water the cattle can get to. In lots of places they have water heating systems for stock tanks that are very simple and workable and head off many a hard morning's work breaking up and throwing out great chunks of ice when you ought to be doing something else. We saw one such one time made out of two worn out oil barrels sawed and put together to make an angle. One end held the fire, the other end served as a stove pipe to make it draw. And there was scarcely any ice on the tank although the temperature was away down.

Stewing over the fact that you have struck out is one way to fold up, but not the way to connect next time at bat.

There is only one time for any individual to take a forward stride: immediately.

Correct this sentence: We want you to be chairman; you won't have much to do.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

By Nellie Witt Spikes

Cotton pulling is in full swing, even grandmother and Joe are helping. We can pull trailers and wagons to the gin with the car, can help pick up cotton around the wagons in the field, go after hanks, have meals ready, the table kept set, one eats as he can, or rather hurriedly gulps down a meal. Thirty-five hands in a field, filling sacks, weighing up and emptying, hurry the cotton to the gin, get in a dither to get an empty wagon back.

Rows white as snow one hour, pickers dark as night all melted away the next. The papers that come in the mail are almost unread, so few good cotton days no time to be lost, we listen to the news as we eat breakfast, then hurry to have everything ready when the dew dries off. Mr. Spikes keeps the binder running, clickety-clack, the bundles of tall sorghum fall heavily to the ground, the fat mares swish their tails against the late crop of flies and mosquitoes as they pull the binder. It is harvest time on the farm and winter is near.

This morning was misty and warm. Duties in the house had no appeal, although needed to be done. So over the place I roamed like a miser gloating over his supply of hoarded gold and precious stones, but the gold I have is piled for all to see on the apricot tree and hung in round drops on the pyracantha, the jewels, the purple shiny berries of the poke shrub. Diamonds are tiny drops of sparkling water on jade green leaves. Pearl I find inside the shucks of green corn. The locust trees are like gray ghosts, but I thought I heard them dreaming of their glory in the spring when on moonlighted nights, the mocking birds sang of the beauty of waxy white locust blossoms and the fragrance sweetened all the place. The buds of the pussy willow and lilac seemed to be crowding the leaves off the tree, life eager to grow, even as death strikes the old. The Virginia creeper runs a red thread along the fence, red fingers of sumac reach down after redder beads on the yellow asparagus. As I dig the yellow carrots from the dark ground and pick the speckled butter beans from the vines on the fence, peace comes to me. I stoop to push aside the bronze leaves of the strawberry vine to pick luscious goodness enough for some jam, the salt cedar is a yellow mist, partly hiding the long waving whips of the willow.

I see a red flower against the gray rock fence, a red posy on a Quaker girl's gray dress. The ash trees are like fans, the dark sticks having lost their gray covering of green gauze. The pear tree stands a blaze of fire-remembering. Thinking of little girls and a boy, stringing red and yellow leaves on a long string of drape around a picture, to make crowns for yellow beads, to swing around like gay butterflies or tropical birds, as we used to swing around a glowing burning stick to make circles and figure eights. The pear tree thought of the bridal dress of white satin, the heavy fruit that yellowed in the sun and pulled the stubby branches almost to the ground. Now like a glowing crimson sunset, it stands a few days, the colors fall, the tree stands peaceful in the frosty night, an old woman in soft gray, her work all done. The pecan tree is dignified and graceful as it swishes its brown pecans to the ground, the yellow-green leaves fall as soft as snow, to dry and rattle as one walks by. Troubles, fears and doubts seem to rise like the mist, the sun of God's love and care shines in my heart again and I am ready to go on, to meet the tasks of life with renewed strength gained from my miser's hoard of gold and silver and jewels.

Now this year I am going to leave the tomatoes in the garden and wait for Mr. Steen's frost. Last year I thought I knew better than this weather prophet and my green tomatoes stared me in the face many days before a killing frost. Now I leave them to ripen and do not bother about the frost at all. Aunt Mirt wrote me that the old bachelor I wrote about last week, sold out their homes in Gaines county and all four went to their old home in Tennessee. Four old bachelors riding along in a wagon, the musical one softly playing on his fiddle as the wagon lurched along, the literary brother reading against some beloved lines from a favorite book as he lay on his back under the shade of the wagon-sheeted bows. I think the cowboy must have held the vision of the range in his faded squinted eyes, the howling of a fresh branded steer and the clink of a silver spur must have made better music in his ears than the melody his brother made, but the brother cook must have been the happiest of all, his cook pots and pans rattled in the chuck box, his work was still needed.

Aunt Mirt also sent some jokes and poems. Ticket Taker—Here, you two boys can't get in on one ticket. Youngster—"I'd like to know why, we're half brothers."—Joe—"It says here in the paper that women in Egypt carry baskets of fruit on their heads." Jim—"That's nothing, so remarkable, women do that over here and call 'em hats." Him—"Did your folks consent to your getting married?" Her—"They haven't yet, you see Pa hasn't expressed his opinion yet and Ma is waiting to contradict him."

Joe Ellis and Cary were playing under the tree in their sand pile. As I looked out to see what they were doing I heard one say, "She sure has quit her kicking." A red hen lay still. I went out to see what the trouble was. The hen was dead. "She just drowned," both boys said. I could not understand why, only her head and neck was wet. The rest was perfectly dry. "Did you find her in the tank," I asked. "No, grandmother, Care held her head in this bucket of water and she just quit kicking." The bucket only held a small amount and it must have been rather hard to hold a kicking hen under till she was dead.

A lady I know handed me this, but her name has completely gone from my mind. It is very interesting kind of a pudding the recipe gives:

Never Fail Pudding
By Norma Keil, Pondera county, Member of Montana Farmers union. Take 15 of the male species (dues paying variety) and shake until $3.50 is ejected from them. Blend in 15 women of which one may be an old maid to be added in case more spice is needed.

Select three of the most capable and peppery persons, regardless of sex, to be used as officers, and beat them into submission or until they can stand up alone. Take all the children in the neighborhood, between the ages of 8 to 21, and mix thoroughly for a period of two hours every two weeks or once a month, until all are well prepared future members.

Add them to the first mixture and stir thoroughly once a month or better, often, in an orderly manner.

Have ready a project well greased with intelligence, small enough to be easily handled but large enough so some of the more slippery members will not run over. Season with bachelors and old maids to suit the taste.

Fold in as many dues paying members with their families as can be congregated and pour all into the project and keep warm with enthusiasm until ready to serve.

If a brighter color is desired add one cup of finely ground publicity after each mixup, stirring in well. Add a large dash of loyalty, to this pudding, serve it to every farmer in the nation regularly. His health, his home and his happiness will show the results of a regular diet of this pudding.

Following a rainfall of approximately 2 inches, the first freeze and frost of the winter paid this region an early visit Friday morning, November 2. Bright sunshine relieved the fact that the mercury had dropped to 29 degrees.

Presidents of the home demonstration clubs of the county and council officials officers will hold an all day meeting Tuesday, November 13, at the home of Miss Blanche Bass, demonstration agent. Plans will be mapped out for the coming year's work.

"Floydada 30; Lockney 0." Thus the Floydada High School Whirlwinds made the entry upon their 1928 history records last Tuesday afternoon when they met the Lockney team upon their home field. They smacked through their old opponents line for five touchdowns. Only one other game on the Whirlwind's schedule; the Floydada-Slaton game, will witness as much rivalry on both the sidelines and gridiron, as did last Tuesday's game, it is believed.

The annual party in celebration of Armistice will be given by the Legionnaires, associate members, and their wives and friends at the Legion home Monday night, November 12 at 8 o'clock according to announcement made this week by L. T. Bishop, post commander.

what will your new car be like?

GREAT CHANGES in automobiles are certain after the war. What will they be?

Will your post-war car be teardrop in shape? . . . Will it have sealed plastic windows to preserve air-conditioned interior temperature? . . . Have "shiftless" transmission? . . . Longer-lasting synthetic rubber tires? . . . A smaller engine using higher octane gasoline to deliver greatly increased horsepower per pound of weight?

The answer to the first of these questions is still uncertain. But to the two final queries, synthetic tires and engine power, Phillips Petroleum Company can suggest affirmative replies.

Phillips is prepared for the coming great improvements in personal transportation, because long before Pearl Harbor, Phillips scientists were engaged in never-ending study, research, experiment, exploring the limitless possibilities of petroleum chemistry.

Slowly but surely, there emerged new processes, new products, new benefits. Even before the war, much of this purposeful knowledge was channeled into the national defense effort. Now, all of it has been "enlisted" for the duration.

Phillips vast resources of raw materials and Phillips knowledge have made the company one of the largest suppliers of 100 octane aviation gasoline to the Army Air Corps, the Navy, and the United Nations' air forces; have made the company an important participant in the U. S. synthetic rubber program.

As a user of Phillips 66 Poly Gas and Phillips 66 Motor Oil you surely share with us the pride that comes of knowing that Phillips is doing its part in the Nation's victory effort.

Whirlwinds Earn Hard Win From The Longhorns

Sparks scored in the late minutes of the second quarter, Allen in the fourth and Sparks converted the late score by kicking to make it 13 to 9 for the Whirlwinds over the Lockney Longhorns last Friday night in the second conference game of the season for the local boys and the fourth for Lockney.

The Longhorns previously had been undefeated in conference play. Friday night's was the scrappiest battle the Whirlwinds have had to date. That light line from Lockney charged and kept charging, their defensive play being magnificent indeed. And the traditionally heavy crowd from both towns to see the ancient rivalry renewed was reminiscent of the good old days before the war. The teams split the pot after all expenses were paid, a conference arrangement that has been found quite satisfactory the past two years.

March Fifty Yards
The first drive that nicked into pay dirt for the Whirlwinds started on the fifty-yard line, although just previously the Longhorns had had the green and white boys in the hole. But Sparks picked up a bad pass close to the goal line and squirmed back up field to the 32-yard stripe. Three plays later the Whirlwinds were penalized 15 yards for holding to make matters worse. Putting on the power first Sparks then Allen worked down to the Lockney 30, from which point a pass, Sparks to Conner, one of the few successful pass plays of the game, put the ball on the Lockney 8, from whence Sparks carried the ball across on an off-tackle play when the Lockney boys set themselves for a line plunge. Sparks then kicked and the score was 7 to 5.

Starting out the second half like a whirlwind themselves the Longhorns carried the ball from their own 35-yard line, where play started following the kick-off, to the Floydada 21. There Conner intercepted a pass and on the next play Sparks kicked out to the Lockney 52. Zimmerman, Mitchell and Norman again put on the heat and carried the ball to the 35-yard line of Floydada only to bog down on downs when a pass play failed.

Johnson Intercepts Pass
The break into the win column in the fourth quarter came after the Longhorns took over on their own 43-yard line. Johnson, in for Trowbridge at right half, intercepted a Zimmerman pass. Carrying the ball down to the 14-yard line before they bogged down the Whirlwinds took charge again when the Longhorns kicked out to the 50. Attempted passes got nowhere so Allen, Sparks and Conner rammed off guard and tackle and plunged through center. In the last three plays that led to the score, Allen carried the ball through the line to the 2. Sparks plunged to the one-yard line and Allen went over the line with the touchdown ball under his arm.

Johns and Johnson got to play quite a bit for the Whirlwinds and Webster, backfield man and P. Willson tackle for the Longhorns, got to see considerable service. Otherwise there were few substitutions on either side.

Over-anxious, the Whirlwinds were penalized seven times for off-side, once for clipping and once for holding, heaviest penalties the team has drawn this season. The Longhorns took 20 yards in penalties, four time offside.

Farm Storage Cotton Loans Available

Recent announcements from Commodity Credit Corporation were made that farm stored cotton loans would be available this year.

The eligibility to participate in such a program is contingent on compliance with the cotton acreage allotments. A service fee of $1.00 is charged for each bale placed under loan. Details of the plan given below are furnished by the Triple A office:

Eligible storage structure must be of such condition that it will (a) protect the cotton from damage by rain, snow, flood and ground water; (b) provide protection from damage by poultry and livestock; and (c) provide reasonable protection against loss by fire and theft. The storage structure must be such as can be locked and should have a floor at least 8 inches from the ground and must have a watertight roof. If the structure does not have a floor, it must be provided with supports which will keep the cotton at least 8 inches above the ground. The structure must be located within a reasonable distance from an adequate supply of water which may be used in case of fire.

The loan value is based on mid-gingling 15/16 at 17.75 cents per pound. Adjustment of premiums and discounts will apply as in the regular loan.

No insurance will be required by the producer. Commodity Credit Corporation will assume losses resulting from fire, flood, lightning, explosion, windstorm, cyclone, tornado and losses in weight not to exceed 10 pounds for each bale on farm stored cotton up to the amount of the loan plus accrued interest. Producers may desire to carry insurance on mortgaged cotton to protect themselves in case of loss by theft and to protect any equity which they have as a result of the market value of such cotton. In case of a total loss of collateral resulting from any risk assumed by the Commodity Credit Corporation, the corporation will mark the note "paid" and return it to the borrower.

A farm storage allowance of 10 cents per bale per month or fraction of a month will be allowed the producer storing cotton on the farm, provided the cotton is delivered to Commodity Credit Corporation in satisfaction of the loan. If the cotton is repossessed by the producer, no storage allowance will be paid.

Producers having storage cotton loans may repay such loans at any time during the period of the loan by payment of the principal amount of the loan plus interest at 3 percent per annum from the date of the note to the date funds are received by Commodity Credit Corporation. All notes will mature July 31, 1943. If the collateral is in the producers possession July 31, 1943, and the producer desires to deliver the collateral in satisfaction of the loan, Commodity Credit Corporation may require the collateral to remain in the structure for a period not to exceed 60 days beyond July 31, 1943 at no additional cost to the corporation.

For further information see your county committee or the AAA office.

Homebuilders Club Studies First Aid Remedies

The Homebuilders club met October 23, with Mrs. Floyd Fuqua as hostess. Mrs. P. F. Bertrand was in charge of the recreational period. The roll call was answered with a home remedy. Several gave a remedy for burns and the treatment of burns. The most important thing to do after receiving a burn is to cover the burned area with a coating of some sort as soon as possible to exclude air.

An excellent preparation is to mix one pint of olive oil or sweet oil with as much baking soda as it will take up, apply to the burned area, cover with gauze or pieces of white material. Mrs. T. J. Heard said to make a strong solution of epsom salts and keep affected parts well saturated with the solution.

A remedy for dandruff is to use warm borax water. Another one is to use eight drops of iodine and two tablespoons of castor oil well mixed. Massage the scalp with the mixture and leave it on the head from 8 to 10 hours before shampooing the hair.

Mrs. Fuqua, president, presided during the business session. The club elected officers for next year and the officers that are now residing were re-elected for the following year.

Mrs. S. D. Scott and Mrs. Raymond Teeple discussed and gave remedies for common emergencies. The hostess served refreshments to Mrs. Elbert Parks, Mrs. A. W. Dunn, Mrs. C. W. Denison, Mrs. W. A. Cates, Mrs. P. F. Bertrand, Mrs. D. D. Shipley, Mrs. T. J. Heard, Mrs. Raymond Teeple, Mrs. S. D. Scott, Mrs. O. C. Vinson, Mrs. R. H. Teague and Mrs. John A. Lloyd.

Public Invited To Hear Sermon From Romans 8:16 Sun.

(J. G. Malphurs, minister)
Many people go through life and face death without knowing whether or not they will be saved when they meet God. Many others think they know they are saved, but their hopes are based on faulty information. Others depend upon peculiar feelings based upon some experience in life.
Those who can attend our morning hour of worship at the City Park church of Christ next Lord's day can settle the question for themselves after hearing "The Testimony of Two Witnesses," taken from Romans 8:16, where Paul says: "The Spirit himself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are children of God." A copy of the sermon will be furnished free to all who care for it.
For the evening services at 7:45 o'clock we shall have a varied program singing and Bible quizzes instead of the regular sermon. It will be interesting to both young and old. No one will get sleepy. Come and enjoy the services.

Postal Service Calls For Early Xmas Mailing

Undertaking the most gigantic task in its history the Post Office department is starting to handle the parcels in addition to Christmas the regular flow of mail daily to and from America's armed forces all over the world.
In order to handle this huge volume and keep thousands of soldiers, sailors and marines from being disappointed at Christmas time, the department urges the public to realize they must co-operate by mailing earlier than ever before and by addressing letters and parcels properly. The department, officials declare, cannot do the job alone. The public must assist. If the people on the home front want to avoid the terrific jam that occurred in 1918 under similar circumstances they must arrange their shopping and mailing schedules for mailing to service men in continental United States. December 1 is the deadline for assured delivery. The effort can succeed if the public will aid, but a jam is inevitable if the public does not realize and act to help, declares the postal department.

Texas A. & M. College Extension Service

The rat control program scheduled to begin operation in the county November 17, will be delayed due to a shortage of man power in the Rodent Control division of the Fish and Wild Life service. E. G. Pope, district supervisor, has expressed the opinion the delay will only be a short time until sufficient personnel can be trained to continue the program.

Agricultural Victory leaders of the Extension service have been contacting rural people telling them of the program and taking orders for poison bait. A total of 174 farm operators have requested 462 pounds of bait through these Victory leaders.

W. F. Ferguson of Starkey community estimates the rats have damaged his property at least $500. He is anxious to do his part in destroying these pests and has expressed his desire to assist in conducting the control program.

Clyde Farris of Lone Star community realizes the importance of breeding dairy cattle at a time when so many dairymen are going out of business due to labor shortage. He recently purchased two cows from the Oscar Stansel herd that had outstanding production records to their credit.

Mr. Farris has accumulated a few registered Jersey cattle and expects to maintain the blood line that gained national recognition for Floyd county.

Farm managers who wish to maintain soil fertility can use barnyard manure to good advantage as a substitute for commercial fertilizer. One hundred pounds of barnyard manure contains as much nitrogen as 250 pounds of 4-8-4 commercial fertilizer. It adds humus to the soil and increases the water-holding capacity of the soil.

Barnyard manure can be applied at the rate of two to four tons per acre under dry land farming and unlimited quantities under irrigation with beneficial results, according to Don Jones of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Lubbock.

With a large demand for pork and lard next year, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard has asked farmers to plan now for a 10 per cent increase. Texas farmers answered the call in 1942 with a 17 per cent increase over 1941, and conservative estimates indicate a 15 per cent further increase above 1942 for the year 1943.

Careful swine management, feeding mineral mixture, and balanced feed rations will be necessary if more pounds of pork are marketed.

Dairy farmers who are providing good green pasture for the dairy herd should be feeding three pounds of a protein mixture for each gallon of milk the cow produces. The protein mixture should be 450 pounds of ground grain sorghum heads and 100 pounds of 43 per cent cottonseed meal.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hagood had as their guests during the week-end Mrs. Hagood's sister, Mrs. Clyde Davis, Mr. Davis and their daughter June Carroll of Canyon. Also on Sunday they had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Roy Abell of Ralls.

To remove grease splashes on kitchen paper, Mrs. Carrick Snodgrass used a paste made by mixing Fuller's Earth and Energene. The paste was applied to the soiled spots with a small brush. When the mixture was thoroughly dry it was brushed off. Caution — Keep this mixture away from fire.

For part of the Home grown fruit next year, why not plan to have a strawberry bed? Mrs. Joe Smith, along with a number of other Home Demonstration club women reports that even small beds have provided fresh strawberries for home use since May.

Pumpkins may be kept for winter use in the storage room in the basement or in dry, well ventilated cellars, but a dry above ground, frost proof place is best. Set them in rows on shelves so they are not in contact with each other. Keep the temperature around 40 degrees.

The modern way of preparing candied sweet potatoes—Put in a layer of sweet potatoes over the bottom of a greased baking pan. Dot with fat. Sprinkle with salt. Pour over this a cup of corn syrup or honey. Bake in moderate oven. Or, to save heating the oven for one dish of sweet potatoes, cook them on top of the stove, over low heat, watching to keep syrup from scorching.

The custom of eating raw apples every day is certainly healthful, but nobody knows yet what gives the apple its healthful power. Some scientists believe it is the pectin in the apple, for pectin has been found healthful in curing wounds. The Vitamin C apples provide another good reason for eating them. People who eat several raw apples every day are likely to get all the Vitamin C they need. The skin of apples is rich in that vitamin, also.

Can the sweet potatoes that you are afraid will not store well. They may be canned by washing them thoroughly and boil or steam until the skin slips off readily. Peel quickly, cut in medium size pieces, and pack in hot containers. Add immediately, 1 teaspoon of salt to each quart and enough boiling water to cover. Process at once at 10 pounds pressure, quart glass jars, for 120 minutes. In case they are canned at harvesting time it is important that the pre-cooking be slow in order to develop the sugar in sweet potatoes.

Our main interest is YOU! Let us show you the best methods of keeping your feet on the ground this year, instead of having to tuck them into bed. Fall and Winter months are treacherous and if you don't take special precautions, you won't be able to carry out all the plans you've made. Why not? Because the sniffles will catch up with you again, and you won't feel like moving out of the house!

On the Seven Seas

For 45 years General Electric has developed and built electric equipment for warships. Here are a few of the ways in which electricity serves the Navy.

1. Just one battleship may have electric generators to produce as much as 180,000 kilowatts. This power would supply the needs of a city of 375,000.
2. Searchlights produce millions of candlepower of light to aid in detecting enemy ships and planes, and to guide Navy gunners to their targets.
3. More than 20 different operations are performed in bringing a naval gun to bear on its target. Electricity helps to co-ordinate these operations.
4. When a battleship goes into action, electricity helps direct the ship, operate the guns, and give the orders. G. E. is building equipment to do these jobs.

General Electric believes that its first duty as a good citizen is to be a good soldier.

Concentrate Effort On Rubber Saving As Mileage Registration For Passenger Cars Started

 czar's orders. However, nothing was known on this point by authorities here this mid-week.
 Members of the tire rationing panel of the War Price and Rationing board sworn in Tuesday afternoon were M. H. Martin and Joe M. Smith, Floydada, and Frank Perkins, Lockney. John H. Reagan has been excused from serving on the board and W. F. Weatherbee is out of the county.
 Floyd county motorists, registering for basic mileage rations at school house registration sites on November 19, 20, 21 must take along their application forms, listing serial numbers of their tires, and their car registration cards. W. Edd Brown, Chairman of the War Price and Rationing Board, states.
 Mr. Brown announced that local school authorities have arranged for registration to take place in the schools on the three days.
 "The application forms will soon be available at service stations, garages and other conveniently located places throughout the county and should be picked up at once by any owner of a passenger car or motorcycle who does not already have one," he said.
 "This form is simple. Most of the information can be obtained from the vehicle registration card. The most important information needed to fill out the application, however, is the list of serial numbers of every tire which you or any relative living in your house own for that vehicle."
 The serial numbers, Mr. Brown warned, are the indented numbers on the tire walls. They are not to be confused with any raised numbers appearing on the tire. In case the serial numbers have been obliterated only the branch name of the tire need be listed.
 The rationing board chairman urged car owners with more than five tires for each vehicle to dispose of these excess tires at once, since the school house registrar cannot issue a mileage ration book to any applicant who lists more than five tires.

DALLAS, Nov. 12.—Now that registration for mileage rationing is under way throughout the Southwest, everything is in readiness for concentrated effort to be placed behind the nation's rubber conservation program.
 Beginning next week, Order No. 21 of the Office of Defense Transportation...

Register Next Week
 Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week are mileage registration days for passenger car owners. Dispose of all but five of your tires and register your car at the nearest school house where registration is being conducted to obtain your Basis A card for gasoline.

tation (effective November 15) will regulate operation of trucks and commercial vehicles. Under the order Certificates of War Necessity are required of commercial vehicles so their operators can purchase gasoline, tires and repair and replacement parts.
 The ODT regulations dovetail with the mileage rationing program of the Office of Price Administration under which sale of gasoline will be rationed beginning soon.
 Effect of the rationing program will be felt by passenger car operators only on and after the rationing date, but purchases of gasoline for trucks and commercial vehicles in the meantime will be made in compliance with ODT regulations. Under the ODT program beginning Sunday, drivers of vehicles bearing Certificates of War Necessity must stam two receipts for each gasoline purchase. The driver retains one and the seller retains one. Similar procedures will be in effect regarding the purchase of repair and replacement parts.

 Truck operators and commercial vehicle operators who have not received their certificates should get in touch with their nearest ODT office.

One More Week To Go
 Passenger car drivers have time to become better acquainted with the rationing plan. In the meantime, they are urged to form car-sharing pools and to make other arrangements to curtail driving.
 Already throughout the Southwest reports show general compliance on the part of the public with rubber conservation regulations. Few arrests are being reported for violations of the 35-mile speed limit and over-the-road drivers say there are very few "sneak" speeding violations.

THREE ALARMS GIVE FIRE BOYS PRACTICE RUNS
 Floydada Volunteer Fire department answered three calls to extinguish fires the first of the week, none of which caused any serious damage. The first was a call to Jim Stank's cafe on north Main street, Monday evening at 10 o'clock. An oil stove exploded but the fire was extinguished immediately.
 At 11 o'clock an hour later the department was called to extinguish a blaze in a car that had been wrecked earlier in the evening on the highway near the CCC camp.
 The third alarm Tuesday morning at 11:30 o'clock was a call to the home of Zolzie Burgett on East Georgia street. A blaze in the roof of the dwelling said to have been caused by faulty wiring was quickly extinguished with slight damage.
