Is our nation's present labor policy creating a fictitious manpower shortage? Has this manpower shortage necessitated the drafting of teen-age boys? Is it creating a financial burden to endanger our national financial structure? Is this labor policy sapping the farmers and ranches of labor, thus contributing to the potential food shortage? Is it otherwise impeding our war effort? Senator W. Lee O'Daniel thinks so, and the senator has courage and don't think he has not. A resolution with some or all of the above thoughts in it was introduced by the senator recently. It got one vote, but that was in October. There may come a time when the country will erect a monument to Senator O'Daniel for his courage. He maintains he is not fighting against the war effort but for it. He maintains that a lot of the legislation (like the manpower law) is on the statute books not to help win the war but to effect a change in the country's social order while the people are thinking in other terms—in terms of going along with unquestioning acquiescence in anything the president thinks might be helpful toward winning the war.

Mr. O'Daniel may have something there. All of us have our own ideas about such matters. Our own idea is that a forty-hour week in industry may be the ideal week for such work. Much work in industry is quite different in its demands of a man's muscle and nervepower to work of other kinds. But we think that industry and labor, both of which are going to give and take as they go along, can best settle that. If need be, a government agency can umpire the game. But for the congress to make the 40-hour week the lawful week, without regard to the kind of work that is being done, is just as silly as we all know the neutrality law was, which played into the hands of the international brigands which would have despoiled the world and may yet get the job done. From time immemorial the working man has been robbed, despoiled and his family ill-treated by better placed people who had the upper hand. But the law we now have on the statute books may well result in fettering the working man sure enough, making him work where somebody in Washington decides for him to work, for whatever hours the authority thinks he should work, and at a price which is set for him also by authority.

Think on these things said a prominent Roman citizen once, arguing with his friends at Philippi, things you have heard and received and seen. Most of us do not even know what the forty-hour law is, how it is worded nor, for that matter, how it works. We just know it doesn't sound sensible. As a governmental policy during the depression it might have been good, but as a law that stands in depression and war-time alike, but times of great national peril, one wonders indeed. A manufacturer who must pay his own bills and doesn't have the taxpayers behind him taking up the slack, is not going to hire a man and use him 48 hours or 56 hours if he can find enough men to keep his plant going that he can work 40 hours, for these additional hours per week cost him. That is a man works 48 hours you pay him for 52 hours, he works 56 hours you pay him for 64, and so forth. It is conceived in the desire to keep the laborer from being imposed on. But it works also in the plant (thousands of them) however, where the bill is passed on to the taxpayer. This latter manufacturer doesn't need to worry about hours or any of the things that bear on efficiency. He has a blank check and you're going to sign it.

This blank check the taxpayer is going to sign is one of the things that are wrong in the defense plants. People don't get mad at the laborers for getting to the rich Jews who are running these huge air works and shipyards. Most anything goes, under the circumstances. The rich Jew, in turn, laughs up his sleeve, for he is passing the bill on to Uncle Sam, and Uncle Sam is going to let his little nephews pay off. And so viciously around and around it goes. Think on these things, might still be good advice as it was once ages ago.

As is well-known, Dame Nature has been on the jerky side for the past year or so in the southwest country. And when a dame has the jerks she is unpredictable. Thus it might well be the around-freezing temperatures The Hesperian had slated for the earlier part of November could have dipped a wee bit lower than the Old Mother warned her little ones about. But it has all happened within a degree or two of prediction and that's not so bad. Wait until the old huzzy turns Boreas loose on our barren plains country, when great chunks of ice form on the lakes and on the stock tanks, and then you'll know for sure. Dame Nature is on our side this winter because she has to be. The lower forms of earth's creatures are going to catch it before the winter is over. Gradually lowering temperatures is just like it was one other year years ago when winter caught up with the weary home-seekers right in the middle of January and side-tracked on the plains of Texas many a family that was headed for New Mexico.

Cows in the Sudan grass still, flowers in the fall flower plots, many kinds of hardy vegetables still in the gardens, all remind us that the weather man has been kind indeed to the people of the high plains this fall. Perhaps one of the biggest aids has been that late feed has gone ahead to maturity, and that the biggest feed crop in per acre yield is being gathered.

This year it behooves Christmas shoppers to do their planning and their shopping and mailing early as never before. November efforts to find what you want will come much more readily being rewarded than December. Satisfactory purchases and services will be more difficult as the Christmas season approaches. This will be due largely to the fact that merchandise will be hard to obtain by the dealers and also due to the fact that practically every store and shop is having manpower troubles. The army and other service demands are taking men and women as well. Competition of defense work has taken its toll. And the condition will not improve immediately.

Do what you are asked to do and don't complain or ask too many questions is the advice coming back to some of the homefolks from the battlefronts on land and sea. Assume that you do not know all the conditions and you'll be about right. Also assume that some mistakes will be made and some things done that you think are mistakes which are not in fact.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

By Nellie Witt Spikes

Like the passing of a swift heavy storm the cotton gathering has rumbled by, the first pulling-over finished and the remainder opening in the warm late autumn sun. Such a hurry it was. Everyone looked after his own part. Flat empty sacks filled to overflowing in such short seconds, gloves hardly worn until tossed away fingers out worn and useless, cool dippers of water airily poured down hot throats, a minute to stand in the shade of the loaded wagons to match a passing breeze of coolness and the picker was bent over the white bolls again, hidden by the long white sack that looked from the back like it was creeping down the long rows without aid. I liked to listen to the talk of the pickers as they weighed and emptied out. Was very much amused when one said to another "Ef'n I had got a few more pounds, Rockefeller would have looked like a paupah." One of the women told me she lived in the "pinery of East Texas." Another told the tragic story of one of her race being "lechnutated" by the state. She said that one could not have told that he had been "burnt" only that he looked a little "dahkka". Skilled hands these colored folks are, skilled in the gathering of cotton. Every day or so one leaves to go back home, a call from the "wah boahd." Uncle Sam calling his children to duties, all to fight for the freedom they enjoy and appreciate.

Of course I do not believe in Friday the thirteenth being an unlucky day, but well something must have been in the air the day before. I started to Lubbock by myself to see my son's family off. Only some three miles from home the car began backing and sullenly refusing to do more than jump and snort. Being low on gasoline I thought the tank full. I got some two miles farther on and thought everything was alright. I sailed on a couple of miles, then the persuasion began. I pumped with my right foot on the foot feed, gave out and changed to the left, then back, like pumping the pedals on an old parlor organ, but with a different result. Such discord, jumping and pitching like a bronc. I stopped when I found Lawrence Davis at the end of a row. He found the gas was squirting from a small pipe. I pumped the car on to the Gillion home, a stop, there filled the carburetor and I sailed a mile again.

A stop at Lorenzo only made me know it was the fuel tank played out. Desperately I started on to Lubbock where I could get another. Cars passed my ten miles or less gait. I tried to look happy and as if I liked to drive slow. Traffic got almost jammed, I pulled on the gravel to let it unsnarl down a hill. I would fly at about twelve, only to pump harder to get up the hill. The whole afternoon it took me when sore and exhausted I drove into my brother-in-law's shop. When I got home the next day Friday the thirteenth I started to tell my troubles when I found out the family had had troubles of their own and was not even interested in mine. Paul had turned a corner too short with two wagons of cotton, the wagons uncoupled from the tractor, broke out one tongue, a coupling pole and other minor damages. In the field a wooden-legged negro had tried to jump off the high wagon, falling and breaking three ribs. Besides his suffering, valuable time was lost taking him to the doctor. The gin was broke down and cotton had to be piled on the ground, the hard job of picking up to come later. Paul's car would not start, the engine was a trifle caved in by the pushing car. Still, I hardly, if any, believe in Friday the thirteenth's hoodoo.

When two old timers get together it is good, but when five get together it is a convention, and that was the pleasant thing that happened to more than offset the above tale of woe. Leslie and Lucy Smith of Portales drove up to our door late on Sunday eve and last night Lena Bonine of Falls was here. How we sat around the table warmed our hearts at the fire of friendship kindled in the warm summer days and the blizzards of winter so long ago at Emma. Pictures and scenes of Emma days were brought from the album of memory and shown and talked over. Lucy Gee, dainty and sweet slipping into a knife scarred seat at the school, a new pupil just from Roby, her little sister Fay with fly-away white hair and soft brown eyes, Leslie, a slim young man just from the East, working in my father's hotel adored by all us young Witt children. The courtship of Leslie and Lucy, their moving to New Mexico on a claim to make a home that was to be admired by many a passer-by and enjoyed by many a stranger as well as friend. How changed Leslie and Lucy found this country after forty years absence, not to mention the change in years and looks of the boys and girls they left here. So the fire of friendship has been replenished, and like a candle in a church before a shrine it will burn on to the end of all our days lighting our way in the darkness that comes to all, gleaming like a star to beckon us on to the better world. Leslie and Lucy, friends of our youth, lovely flowers and shady trees have sprung up in your path, the troubled have found a way to your door and been comforted, youth has called and you have answered, laughter has always found an abiding place with you, may your days be blessed and cheered by the many good deeds you have done.

The wind has blown the burning leaves from the pear trees, where for a few days they looked like red embers on the carpet, now they are gray ashes of a leaf, mingled with the dirt, not lost, but to enrich the tree that nourished it. Life going on and on, changing, but never lost.

Just of the week. Sarge—"Look here soldier, what's the idea of the barrel? Are you a poker player?" Private—"No, sarge, but I spent a couple of hours with some guys who are."

Passenger service over the South Plains lines of the Fort Worth & Denver will be established Thursday, November 22. Service from the South Plains will start Friday evening.

Mrs. Lon V. Smith and Mrs. C. M. Wilson are in Denton this week attending the 35th annual convention of the Texas Federation of women's clubs.

With the discontinuance of the Matador Star route out of Floydada tomorrow, extensions and changes on Routes Two and Five southeast also will become effective. J. D. Starks, postmaster, said today. Adequate service for people of the star route will be arranged, he said.

Continued damp weather throughout the past week has slowed down farming operations in the county. Not over four full days of gathering has been possible in the past 15 days.

Special trains, assembled at Childress for the run out over the lines of the Fort Worth & Denver South Plains railway, will reach Lockney at 15-minute intervals next Wednesday, making that point the noon stop for the six specials on the first day. ## Floydada Stores Are Stocked For Holiday Buying

There are three things we must do for friends and relatives in the service this Christmas—send them gifts for remembrance and cheer, mail early enough so that the parcels will reach their destination in time for Christmas and wrap the parcels so securely that gifts will arrive safely, and in good condition.

Don't puzzle over what to send. Floydada stores are stocked full of timely suggestions. Gifts for everyone from the youngest to the oldest member on your list. Merchants have especially stocked their stores with thoughts of the boys in service. Assist you in making your purchases.

Correct Address Necessary

The matter of mailing involves more than wrapping; although that is the first consideration. There is also the need for addressing your package correctly. If you are not sure of all the necessary information, rank, company, unit, camp, location, etc., do make sure before you mail your package. Distribution at camps and posts will be a "major engagement," come Christmas, and plainly written, fully detailed addressing will be not only wise, but also helpful in making the delivery.

It is permissible to put "Merry Christmas" or "Please Do Not Open Until Christmas" "Happy New Year" or "With Best Wishes" on the cover of packages; providing the inscription doesn't interfere with the legibility of the address. However, stickers or labels resembling postage stamps are definitely taboo!

"Shop Early" is more than a slogan this year. It's your patriotic duty! Of course we know that around this time each year, all of us have the best intentions in the world to do our Christmas shopping early—but somehow or other most of us wind up in that last minute rush. But this year we repeat, it's your patriotic duty to really shop early to help our wartime effort because it will relieve transportation facilities. And if you must shop by car, plan your trips to town, share your car with your neighbors so that you'll save gas, oil, rubber. Remember, too, that wartime defense jobs and our armed forces have taken a great toll of salespeople and by shopping early, you make it so much easier for yourself and for the stores. As an added incentive to early Christmas shopping, keep in mind that many of the things now in the stores might be irreplaceable, so by shopping early you avoid disappointment and get the best choice of everything in stock.

There's more than just the gift involved this Christmas. There's the need to make sure the men and women in the service have a wonderful vote of confidence and support from the Home Front, expressed in giving generously at Christmas, to those who are giving every day!

WELDON WILKINSON ENJOYS LETTERS, CARDS FROM HOME

Geiger Field, Spokane, Wash., Nov. 11th.

Dear Friends:

Just a few lines to thank you for the many nice letters and cards I have received. Even though it's been several weeks since I've lived in Floydada, I can see you still have the wonderful people the same spirit as always. We meet lots of fine people up here, but there's always something missing. It seems that it's the same with all the boys. If you're from east or west, or north or south, the "Folks" back home and the little news through cards or letters mean an awful lot.

We had our first real snow last week, it's really pretty on the mountains and the tall pines surrounding Spokane. It makes us think of Christmas. However we will prolong it this year, hoping that each day, night and hour will mean the undoing of those who have taken our Christmas away. Also last but not least to remember those dear to us who have already given their lives so we might live.

Must close and get busy, hoping this finds each of you in good health, and fine as can be.

TUCC Contempt Charge Filed On Employer

Austin, November 10.—For the first time since the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission was created, an employer has been held in contempt in a District court for failure to comply with an order to permit representatives of the agency to inspect his books and records, it was announced here today.

The Unemployment Compensation Act gives authority to representatives of the Commissioner to inspect employer's records, and make provision for enforcement of the requirement in the courts. In only a few instances during the seven-year existence of the Commission have subpoenas and court orders been necessary, it was said by Lee G. Williams, Director of the Unemployment Compensation Division of the Commission.

The recent test case originated in Cochran county, where a Morton grocer failed to respond to a subpoena duces tecum directing him to bring his records to the office of the Unemployment Compensation commission at Lubbock. His failure to respond resulted in a citation for contempt which was heard before Judge Daniel A. Blair of the 72nd District Court on November 3. Grindstaff was fined and assessed all costs in the case.

B. H. Thomson, TUC supervisor for the Amarillo District, said that employers had been very cooperative in this district and that in only a few extreme cases had legal action been necessary.

The gust of wind picked up the light plane and whammed it against the ground, damaging the propeller, one wing and a part of the tail structure. Deakins took the plane to Fort Worth for repairs in a trailer.

What's worse: 35 miles an hour or 00 miles an hour?

Don't flunk an easy one!... This is worth thought... The prize at stake is your car!

... Today's sensible top speed of 35 for patriots is a cinch for your engine, compared to unlubricated cold starting—way down at 00 miles an hour!

People in dead earnest to battle wear from the very start, are having their engines OIL-PLATED. Without using up extra moments or money, they simply change to Conoco Nth motor oil—patented. And this oil's added modern synthetic—with apparent "magnetic attraction"—closely bonds lubricant to inner engine parts. That's called OIL-PLATING because it resembles any good protective plating in not all "going elsewhere" while the car stands cold.

OIL-PLATING doesn't all quickly go draining off down to the crankcase. Oil down there in the depths is still trying to "get a move on" as the engine starts, while OIL-PLATING is already faithfully fastened clear up to the topmost piston rings. Simply because OIL-PLATING doesn't all go away, it's there ahead of time, to get ahead of rampant wear in starting cold. It's there the rest of the time, too. And so the strong liquid-type film of Conoco Nth oil is sliding between OIL-PLATED surfaces. Not much look-in for wartime wear. ## First Baptist Church News

"Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful" I Cor. 4:2. As good stewards of the manifold grace of God, it is our opportunity as well as our obligation to be faithful in these testing days. Our day is a testing time that brings to light our real character. Many things come to take our attention and our service and some will become so busy that they do not have time for God and the church. God has always claimed our first love and asked for our first obedience and stewardship; it is a mistake to let any condition come between us and our loyalty to Him.

For some two or three weeks now large numbers of our people have forsaken the assembling of themselves together, because of the impending gas rationing. God is not pleased to see His House deserted and His Day desecrated. We hope that our people will be back in their places for service Sunday. Bring your company and let us be faithful to the Lord.

The pastor will give a report of the Convention Sunday morning and will preach on National Security, Sunday night.

Let us honor God and develop our spiritual lives by being in all our services Sunday.

America Almost Equals English Bomb-Scarred Death Record With Fire Deaths In Three Years

AUSTIN, Nov. 16.—The loss of American lives by fire, when compared with death lists during three years of war in bomb-battered England, is described by Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner, as "deplorable." The comparison he makes presents "a very unpleasant picture."

In a vain effort to defeat the "British," continued Hall, "Nazi planes rained flaming hell from the skies over England. War casualties in the first three years ending August 31, 1942, show that German air raiders killed 45,871 persons in England."

Approximately 30,000 civilians burned to death in America during the same three-year period. In a land free from the roar of enemy planes; where screaming bombs are unknown, our carelessness with fire caused a death toll two-thirds as great as wartime deaths in England.

The Commissioner said last week's incomplete fire reports list at least 20 deaths in Texas. In one, a man was burned to death when he fell asleep while smoking in bed. The other death resulted from the dangerous practice of keeping gasoline in the home. A can of gasoline near a water heater was ignited. A shower of flames covered a child standing nearby, causing death within a few minutes.

Fatal fires are almost a daily occurrence in Texas," Commissioner Hall said. "They result from carelessness—our failure to consider either the safety of others or our own safety. If as many of our people in Texas were killed by bombs as there are by fire, we would be doing something to stop it. Yet, a life lost by fire is just as horrible a tragedy as one lost by an enemy bomb."

Greater Supply Octane Gas Is Now In Sight

More 100 Octane aviation gasoline for the allied air forces and more vital synthetic rubber for war needs can be made as the result of a revolutionary new catalytic process, Isoversion, recently discovered in Phillips Petroleum company's research laboratories.

Isoversion, according to a statement released today by Frank Phillips, changes petroleum products formerly of almost no value in the war program, into products which are vitally needed in large quantities to make 100 octane gasoline, synthetic rubber, and other critical war materials.

Secrey, said Mr. Phillips, prevents the release of any definite data concerning the process or the extent to which it will increase the supply of this valuable and essential war material. He was able to say, however, that Isoversion will substantially increase the total potential supply of this product and thus will be extremely important in alleviating any shortage which might result from the increasing tempo of aerial warfare.

CANNED KRAUT "CANNED" FOR THE DURATION

Not modern design, but a reversion to the old practice of packing kraut in wooden barrels will make it possible for grocers to sell sauerkraut to consumers again this year, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Because of the tin shortage, Mrs. Consumer will buy kraut by the pound instead of by the can, in much the same way she now buys coleslaw from the delicatessen.

With no tin allowed for packing civilian supplies of kraut this year, it appeared for a while that housewives would have difficulty in including kraut in menus. To farmers who, because of almost ideal growing conditions, had produced a bumper cabbage crop, the tin shortage apparently meant letting the crop rot in the fields.

To solve these two problems, and to prevent the waste of food, the Agricultural Marketing Administration announced a program to encourage kraut makers to buy and process the cabbage crop—and pack it in wood.

By providing financial help the AMA program lessened the risks involved in the transition back to selling kraut in bulk.

Kraut makers responded, buying the cabbage from farmers and turning out millions of gallons of bulk kraut which consumers are now beginning to find on retail counters.

On the home front, at least, canned kraut is "canned" for the duration.

Lieut. Gen. R. L. Eichelberger

VETERAN COMMANDER—

Lieutenant General Robert L. Eichelberger, whose promotion to this rank was recently announced, holds an important command in United Nations forces. In 1918-20 General Eichelberger, then a lieutenant colonel, served as Chief Intelligence Officer, A. E. F., in Siberia, and was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action.

In his citation it is stated: "On July 2, 1919, an American platoon was halted by enemy enfilading fire, seriously wounding the members of the patrol. General Eichelberger, without regard for his own safety and armed with a rifle, voluntarily covered the withdrawal of the platoon . . . assisted in establishing the firing line . . . raised the morale of the American forces to a high pitch."

He was also awarded the Distinguished Service Medal and decorations from several allied nations during the World War. He served with distinction in the Philippines and China and with the General Staff in Washington. October 18, 1940, he was appointed superintendent of the United States Military Academy at West Point. In February, 1942, he was designated commanding general of the 77th Infantry Division, and since has held other important commands. General Eichelberger was born in Urbana, Ohio, March 9, 1886.

I HAVEN'T TIME

An issue of a certain magazine of fifteen years ago cites the instance of the business man who paid $1,000 for an idea which he afterwards found was contained in a trade paper which lay unopened on his desk at the very moment he was writing his substantial check for the duplicate plan. It is not hard to imagine that his sensations were the reverse of pleasant when he discovered his needless expenditure. Nor is it presuming to feel that this same business man decided to pause a bit from that time on before assigning unopened mail to an overworked waste basket.

The autobiographies of famous people are filled with anecdotes of their early struggles and colored with the abrupt recollections of those higher up in their professions who "hadn't time" to see them in their first years of climbing and who later lived to regret that they had not helped them to success. Pathetic, is it not, that in this day of forward vision smug selfishness can yet close doors on genius.

Those who make their living by salesmanship or interviewing agree that it is always the "little men" in the trade who "haven't time" to be courteously polite, who send them away peremptorily. The men who have reached their goals are those who, on the contrary, are willing to listen, to sit open-minded, to give the proffered proposition or article a fair chance in their minds.

Don't wall yourself about with such a high barricade of petty details and prejudices that you may miss the light of something worthwhile. There's a large possibility that if you take time off to listen and see you won't have cause to regret it.—Ex.

WAR-STYLE BOB FOR CARROTS

Carrots are getting a "military haircut" these days—nothing fancy, just a quick bob. As a result Uncle Sam is saving on wood and nails and on transportation space needed in war.

Bobbing carrot tops has been practiced on a small scale for several years. Now the shortage of packing materials may give it an impetus. Some growers and shippers have found that by cutting the carrot tops to a length of 4 inches or less they can save up to 40 percent of the crate space. This means saving on crating material, lumber and nails.

Carrots with 4-inch tops remain fresh just as long as those with full foliage, and much longer than those whose tops are pared at their base, say marketing specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

To facilitate marketing of these carrots with short-trimmed tops, the Agricultural Marketing Administration recently announced new U. S. Standards for topped carrots. In addition to meeting other quality requirements, these carrots "shall have leaf stems which are free from damage by any cause and which shall be cut back to not more than 4 inches in length."

WATCH ADDRESS OF ARMY MAIL

Improper and insufficient addresses on both letters and parcels are resulting in serious delays or non-delivery of thousands of pieces of mail intended for soldiers overseas, the Army Postal Service of the War Department reveals.

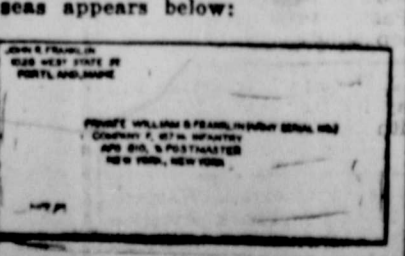

A survey conducted within the last few days at Ports of Embarkation on both coasts disclosed that approximately 10 per cent of all mail intended for delivery overseas to the armed forces was incorrectly or insufficiently addressed, thereby making delivery very difficult or altogether impossible.

Cautioning the public to use the full name, rank, serial number, service organization, and Army post office number on all overseas mail to the armed forces, the Army Postal Service warned that prompt delivery could not be assured unless mail was addressed in this manner.

In many cases of non-delivery, the Army Postal Service has found that the address contained only the soldier's name and Army post office number. Pointing out that thousands of troops may be served through a single Army post office, the War Department states that it is impossible to effect delivery of mail so addressed without serious delay.

With the thirty day period—October 1 to November 1—for mailing Christmas packages to soldiers overseas now under way, the Army Postal Service states that it will be impossible to deliver these packages in time to be in keeping with the spirit of the holiday season unless the address thereon includes the full name, rank, serial number, service organization, and Army post office number.

The correct method to be followed in addressing a soldier overseas appears below:

NOREPOL IS PROMISING

Norepol is a rubber substitute made from soybean oil which particularly interested Secretary Wickard at his recent visit to the North Region Laboratory of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. "Norepol can be used for some of the things rubber is used for," he commented, "or mixed with real rubber as an extender. It doesn't have the stretch and strength of natural rubber, but there are many uses for much Norepol already is very promising for sealing jars are just three of them. The scientists are continuing to improve it. Norepol is comparatively simple to make, and it can be made from several other farm products—such as corn, cottonseed and linseed."

Whirlwinds And Matadors Score Point A Minute

Floydada Boys Sweep To Their Third Conference Game 40 To 19

Football fans who like action got practically a point a minute for their money last Friday night when the Whirlwinds of Floydada High school and the Matadors of Matador played the wildest scoring conference game of recent years on Western field. The score was 40 to 19, favoring the Whirlwinds.

Both sets of coaches used everything but the water boy and the ineligible. Murray had two different lines and three or four combinations of backfields doing business for the green and white boys. As many as eight different men carried the ball for the Winds during the game, and Meryl Boteier, who has warmed the bench practically all season while Pyffe carried the load at center, got to play quite a bit of the game.

Kick Off Touchdown

An unusual touchdown play for the Whirlwinds came about the middle of the third quarter in which Battey, an end, was the only man to touch the ball after the kickoff, and scored without assistance.

The way it came about, Sparks kicked off to the Matadors, and the ball came to rest a foot over the goal line. Both teams circled around the ball trying to make up their minds, apparently expecting the referee to pick up the ball and return it to the 0-yard line, but it in play there with Matador on the offensive. Instead he smilingly waited for the boys to make up their minds. Battey finally eased over gingerly and touched the ball. The referee called it a touchdown. Sparks kicked the extra point.

Beginning the game Floydada kicked off to Matador defending the south goal. After making one first down Fullback Campbell kicked but it was a bad one and the Whirlwinds took over on the Matador 30. Sparks and Allen carrying, the distance to the goal was covered in six plays between guard and tackle and between guard and center.

Matadors Offensive Erratic

Four times during the game the Matadors put on offensives that swept three times across the goal line, but their green line played in and out ball. When they were good they were very good, and when bad very poor.

For the Whirlwinds Allen scored just before the close of the first quarter and Cardinal in mid-second quarter, flanking the left end. In the third Allen swept off tackle and cut back for 13 yards to make his second score of the game, to be followed immediately by Battey's made-to-order score. In the fourth quarter Dudley made his first score of the year and Cardinal his second. Cardinal kicked for his extra point and Dudley did the same. While Allen and Conner were out of the backfield Coach Murry had Trowbridge calling the Whirlwind offensive and he did a nice job. Trowbridge and Johnson both toted the ball for good gains while they were in the ball carrier's slot.

Runs For Touchdown

Vance Campbell, Matador fullback, made an end sweep that caught the Green and White right side of the line sleeping for the Matadors first score. Taking the kick-off from Floydada on his own 30 late in the second quarter Campbell swept back upfield 20 yards to the Matador 46. Then on a fake to the right he swept around an unprotected left. After eluding two tackles across the scrimmage line he outran the field. His attempt to convert for extra point failed.

Campbell scored again in the first play of the fourth quarter after Durbin had done yeoman work in carrying down field behind a line that was clicking nicely. Again a few plays before the end of the game Durbin put the ball on the 9-yard line in scoring position with an off tackle play that gained 22 yards. In two plays he and Campbell alternated to get the one-foot stripe and Campbell bucked over again. Durbin kicked the extra point.

Center News

CENTER, Nov. 17.—We had a real frost last week and it almost hit on the date the Hesperian Editor said it would. Anyway we think feed crops had about matured. Cotton isn't turning out as good a yield as prospects were good for but there had been that question mark about how much damage the worms had done that even yet isn't known.

There were no preaching services Sunday but we hope to have Rev. Burnham fill the pulpit Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Anderson spent Sunday with his parents Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. E. Green and son Clyde were Sunday dinner guests in the W. B. Jordan home. Jimmy Green left Saturday for Army induction at Ft. Sill, Oklahoma.

Clyde Green was home from Wayland for the week-end.

Mrs. W. B. Jordan returned Wednesday from Fort Worth where she attended the W. M. U. State Convention and one session of the General Convention. She also visited her daughter Ruth who is attending the Seminary this year.

Cotton pulling is in full sway. Everyone who can is helping with the job. School was dismissed last week so that the children might lend a helping hand.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Mankins spent Sunday with her brother, D. W. Burke and family. Their son Dewitt was home on a few days furlough.

Our community was saddened Saturday by the news that one of our former residents Harold Tubbs had been wounded while in combat service somewhere in the Pacific.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy O'Brien of San Antonio visited with his parents Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Jordan from Wednesday until Saturday. Mr. O'Brien will be inducted into service at Randolph Field November 20.

A. L. Jordan of Goose Creek spent Friday here with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Maggard were hosts at dinner Friday for the Jordan family.

Margaret Green visited with Norma June Ross Sunday. Eunice Welborn visited Virginia Frizzell Sunday. Grandmother Welborn was ill Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jordan visited Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Jones of Floydada Sunday. Mrs. O. G. Mayfield and Mrs. C. J. McClure visited Mrs. J. B. Jordan Thursday night.

Miss Arlene Coppell, employed at Kress' store in Amarillo, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Coppell. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Colville and sons Billy and Gene of Amarillo spent the week-end with his mother Mrs. W. M. Colville.

On The Farm & Home Front

JASON O. GORDON
County Agricultural Agent
Texas A. & M. College Extension Service

Home Demonstration Agent

Mrs. David Battey of the Harmony, community followed a trap nest program on 31 turkey hens this past season to determine the "profit" and "loss" in the turkey business. The records show some very interesting results. For example, her number 22 laid 54 eggs, 36 were placed in the incubator and all of them were infertile, while hen number 3 laid 54 eggs, 27 of which were set and 24 poults were hatched.

All of the turkey hens were carefully selected for the breeding pens last December, but the only way to determine individual performance was by the trap nest method. In a few years Mrs. Battey will have eliminated the "guess work" from her turkey flock and the breeder can purchase foundation stock on the basis of actual records.

Mrs. Harry Morckel of Floydada community is preventing worm trouble in her turkeys by feeding one pound of Phenothiazine in 60 pounds of mash. She reports her birds consume the regular allowance of fattening mash with the worm treatment included, and the flock treatment for worms is much easier than giving an individual capsule.

Phenothiazine may be fed to chickens but the mixture is 3/4 pound to 25 pounds of mash. Feed two days each month, and be sure the Phenothiazine and mash are thoroughly mixed.

Rural people will be requested to ration themselves to 2 1/2 pounds of meat per person over 12 years of age per week. Community and Neighborhood Agricultural Victory leaders are asked to explain the program to their neighbors.

This share-the-meat program should provide more red-meat to the men in the armed service, and to our allies under the lend-lease program. It will encourage more farm feeding of all classes of livestock as this type feeding program will permit a more even distribution of farm labor.

Hank Corwin of the U. S. Employment service has been very successful this season in filling requests for farm laborers to harvest the cotton crop. Through November 16 a total of 3,225 placements had been made.

The successful poultryman in 1943 will be the one who allows 4 square feet of floor space for each hen. Over-loading the hen house is the important factor in causing disease troubles.

CENTER CLUB MEETS AT HOME OF MRS. BAILEY NOV. 9

The Center Home Demonstration club met Monday, November 9 with Mrs. G. C. Bailey. Mrs. Allen was present and had charge of the business session, at which time plans were completed for an Achievement Day program.

Mrs. Allen was program leader and Miss Wilson gave the approved first aid demonstration which was very interesting as well as instructive.

Refreshments of gingerbread and cocoa were served to Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. J. B. Jordan, Mrs. H. B. Mankins, Mrs. O. G. Mayfield, Mrs. C. J. McClure, Misses Frances Mitchell, Edith Wilson and Alice Willis and the hostess, Mrs. Bailey.

At the next regular meeting which will be held at 2 o'clock Mrs. C. M. Meredith will be foods demonstrator and Mrs. J. B. Jordan kitchen demonstrator.

Pvt. T. J. Scheffer and Mrs. Scheffer of Brownwood were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Matiser Monday. They are former residents of Houston but are making their home at Brownwood while Pvt. Scheffer is stationed there.

Mrs. R. P. Terrell and son J. Pat of Portales, New Mexico, are visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Lon Blasingame.

Another Game, Another Victory For The 'Winds

Another game and another victory, at least that is the way it was Friday night. It was the first game this season that every player got to play. It was a good game and both teams scored. The final score at the end of the game was 40-19 in favor of Floydada.

Victory Concert For November Is Called Off

Mr. Gray announced Monday that there would not be a Victory concert for the month of November. The Victory concert was a proclamation of Governor Stevenson and last month the concerts all over the state were a great success. The reason for calling it off was due to the holidays and the band was unable to arrange a concert in the short time for practice they had.

On the biography shelf one finds The Fun of It by Amelia Earhart, Sergeant York, Knute Rockne, Five Minute Biographies by Dale Carnegie and Boswell's Life of Samuel Johnson.

Combining Skill, Courage They Help In Crisis

This is a story of three boys. These boys went through "Hades and half of Jordan" the week school turned out. They suffered untold troubles, backaches, dizzy spells and one boy even bit himself. These boys were pulling cotton. Or rather pulling stalks and getting credit for cotton. One of these boys is tall, red and not a bit handsome. (Faye Neil might think different). The other is short, black headed and claims he is with Arla Vee Bishop. The last one is our first string guard and goes with Strip Polka. This is the line up on those dashing, stalk pulling, flea bitten cotton pullers. Let's follow the first one down a row of cotton for a ways. First he starts out like a house afire for the first ten feet, then he raises up, groans and then curses Hitler. Musso and the school board that turned out school for cotton picking. Then he looks back at his sack, sees he has enough to lay down on then goes to sleep. We'll give him credit for one thing he's not a stalk puller, he gets good clean cotton, sometimes.

Then we have the second slave. He starts off just like he finishes, slow, cautious and conservative. He slips up to a stalk and instead of pulling the cotton off, he strips the stalk, bores, leaves, stems and all. All the while he's humming the "Strip Polka." This slave never rests, he goes so slow that he's never tired. Then we have the third slave. The boy who combines skill, courage, initiative, and resourcefulness in his work. He's the guy that had just as soon put a rock in the sack as a bale of cotton. And usually does. He picks cotton for about one half hour then rests an hour. He puts cotton, stalks, rocks, dirt and I even saw him trying to get a wagon wheel in his sack once. He doesn't call it cheating, just another way to balance the budget. He's death to cotton. He never weighs in less than eighty pounds at a time.

Yes! these three boys are "God's gift to the cotton patch." To them there's no such word as can't, it's cannot. "These are the boys used for salvation. These are the boys that may save a nation, (pray not) These are boys such as hard working brings. These are my pals, poor worn out things. When day is over and pulling's done They head for town at a good hard run. They don uniforms with greatest care. Then limp outside and all collapse there. It's wonderful and glorious, to look at these souls. Who look on life like a cotton bale. They can take it or leave it or pull up a stalk. They fight to the finish at a nice slow walk."

GOSSIP

A thousand years ago today, A wilderness was here A man with powder in his gun Went forth to hunt a deer. But now the times have changed somewhat Along a different plan. A dear with powder on her nose Goes forth to hunt a man. Dean, aren't you just a bit old to be going with Andrews Ward school girls? Who was Betty Jean Swepton with after the football game with Lockney? We know but we are not going to tell, now. Mary, you might as well change seats with Betty Merle in the 3rd period study hall. You stay over there to talk to Harold all the time anyway. Bill ought to be able to save tires now. Mary Lou has moved to town. It looks like Lane Decker has held more hands than yours, Daphne. You had better watch your step. Edna Faye certainly looks forlorn when Jim is absent from the 6th period study hall. Could she have a crush on him? Helen Jones, why should Economics class be so interesting? Could it be because of James Robertson? Wonder why Joe Wilson and Cubert Gray were so late to school Monday morning? It was said that they were just returning from visiting their girl friends in Lubbock. Mighty late time of night to be getting home boys! Seems that quite a few girls are receiving letters from boys in the services. Don't get their spirits too high, girls. Not so fast Sammie Lee, that Marine here may not be here too long and be sure not to hurt R. T.'s feelings because you may want him later on. Poor James' heart has been broken or so he claims. His black headed girl friend two-timed him Sunday night!

Ag Boy Projects Reported Doing Better Than Ever

Visits have been made to the Ag. boy homes by Mr. Barber, instructor of Vocational agriculture at the Floydada High school. These visits were made to see how the boys are getting along with their projects. The report that he gave was the projects are better this year than ever in the past years. The boys are beginning to put their beef calves on balanced ration to start fattening for show and market. A number of pigs are also being fattened for show and for market. He said that the dairy calves and poultry which the boys have are doing nicely also. The Ag boys will put on an assembly program November 25 at the Floydada High school.

You buy a defense stamp for a dime; Uncle Sam gets the dime and buys a bullet; A soldier gets the bullet and shoots a Jap general; The Jap soldiers become confused without a leader; America wins the battle. The battle is the deciding point in the war; In ten years, you get the dime back with interest; You live happily ever after and so does everyone else; All because of one little dime.

Salute America's Automotive Mechanics!

They Serve America by Keeping Our Cars and Trucks Serving for Victory

Why America's Cars and Trucks Are VEHICLES OF VICTORY*

- Sole transportation for war workers in many communities.
- Sole transportation for war materials in many communities.
- Six out of every ten farms use one car or more.
- 67 per cent of all farm car mileage is necessity driving.
- Many war plants depend on trucks to haul all "Victory" freight.
- Trucks alone serve 54,000 communities not reached by railroads.

The automotive mechanics of yesterday are the Victory Service Men of today. . . For it's up to them to maintain the motorized transportation system which carries men and materials to and from America's war plants, America's farms, America's other essential industries. . . They know their job, and they're doing their job! . . . Help them to keep your car or truck serving for Victory by getting skilled service now and regularly.

TELEPHONE SERVICE IN WARTIME

We are trying to give our nation in war what we have always tried to give in time of peace—the best telephone service in the world. We can't build more lines to do it, because most of the metal is needed for arms. So the longer long distance lines, carrying vital war calls, are becoming more and more crowded. When you think of calling a faraway city, won't you please ask yourself:

1. Is it necessary?
2. If so, how can I keep it short?

War calls come first, and we know you'll gladly help clear the way for them.

Gas Rationing—

chairman of the gas rationing panel had arranged for three panels of volunteers, including members of the gas panel, to pass on applications for additional mileage above the Basic A card. Applications for additional mileage will undoubtedly pour in he feels sure.

But these three panels who will pass on the additional mileage that may or may not be granted, will not have time to question and fill out forms for all of the automobile owners in the county. Accordingly volunteers in both Floydada and Lockney were being impressed into service last night to help automobile owners fill out their additional mileage claims. Martin hopes to have a list of 20 or 30 aides for this purpose, whom the automobile owner may contact and get proper advice and help before he appears before the boards which will pass finally on the applicants' mileage requirements.

WAR INTRODUCES NEW FOODS

"More and more, as this war goes on," says Roy L. Hendrickson of the Agricultural Marketing Administration, in charge of Lend-Lease food buying, "the housewife will be asked to use some food rather than others. She will be asked to use new foods, by-products, perhaps, of farm products processed in other war needs. This year, for instance, farmers have almost doubled their acreage of soybeans in order to produce the oil we need to replace oil formerly imported. The farmers have more than doubled their peanut acreage for the same purpose. After the oil is pressed out of these soybeans and peanuts a highly nutritive residue left—a protein meal that rivals meat in food value. Yet we are using only a negligible percentage of its food. We are working right now on a program which we hope will make it possible for much more of this food to be processed for human use—in food plants and perhaps in home kitchens."
