Scout Week Observance Has Youth Exercising Leadership

Boys Take Over County, City Tomorrow

"Toughen Up, Buckle Down and Carry On To Victory" has been the theme of Boy Scout Week observances the past week that marks the thirty-third birthday of Boy Scouts of America.

As a climax to Boy Scout Week in Floydada, Scouts from Troops 57 and 64 will be sworn to City and County officials, in a ceremony open to the public at 10 a. m. tomorrow, when they will take office for a day.

"The main objective for this part of the program is that the boys will have a chance to observe the functions of the affairs of the city and county, the meaning of good citizenship and to get a constructive approach as officials," Rev. L. W. Bridges, scoutmaster of Troop 57 said.

County Officials Named
County officials were named Monday night in a meeting held at the Scout hall. They are as follows: Sheriff, Johnny Hammonds, deputies, Tom Roy Snodgrass, Billy Wester, Johnny Collins and Jimmie Tye; County Judge: D. I. Bolding, Commissioners, Orby Tye McCleskey and Bobby McGuire;
County Clerk: Gene Collins, deputy, Dale Goen;

City Officials
Glenn Carmack was chosen to serve as mayor; City Secretary, Claud Parrish; Assistant Secretary, Wilkie Parrish; Marshal, Jimmie Laminack and Eugene Wilkinson; Aldermen: Billy Jeter, Leonard Grigsby, Van Collins, Elmer Turner, Jim Bob Rafferty and Bruce Womack;

Water Superintendent: C. L. Berry assisted by John Ray Tribbie; in the City Light Plant and Fire Department will be Charles Presley, truck driver; Bobby D. Mickey, and Delmar Hartley lineamen; Elmer Gene Mickey and Dennis Dillard, utility men, Arthur L. Rice, fireman.

Other Observances
The official opening of Boy Scout Week observance was held Sunday night at the First Christian church when Scoutmasters G. G. Glover, L. W. Bridges and W. B. Harris officiated in a program presented by approximately thirty scouts.

The dignity of the patriotic program was impressive as the boys presented the twelve laws of Boy Scouts in a candle lighting service. Assistant Scoutmaster Harris spoke briefly of "The Home and Ideals of Boy Scouts."

Scout Howard Howell assisted by "Vendell Daniel at the piano, rendered a cornet solo entitled, "The Bells of St. Mary's." Scoutmaster Glover dedicated a song, of his own composition, to the Boy Scouts. He was assisted at the piano by Mrs. L. W. Bridges. The Youth Choir of the church assisted in the service and presented a special number entitled, "Angry Words."

ANSWERS FIRE DEPT. VOLUNTEERS THREE ALARMS

The Floydada Volunteer Fire department answered three alarms, two on Sunday and one Tuesday when fires were extinguished quickly with little damage reported.

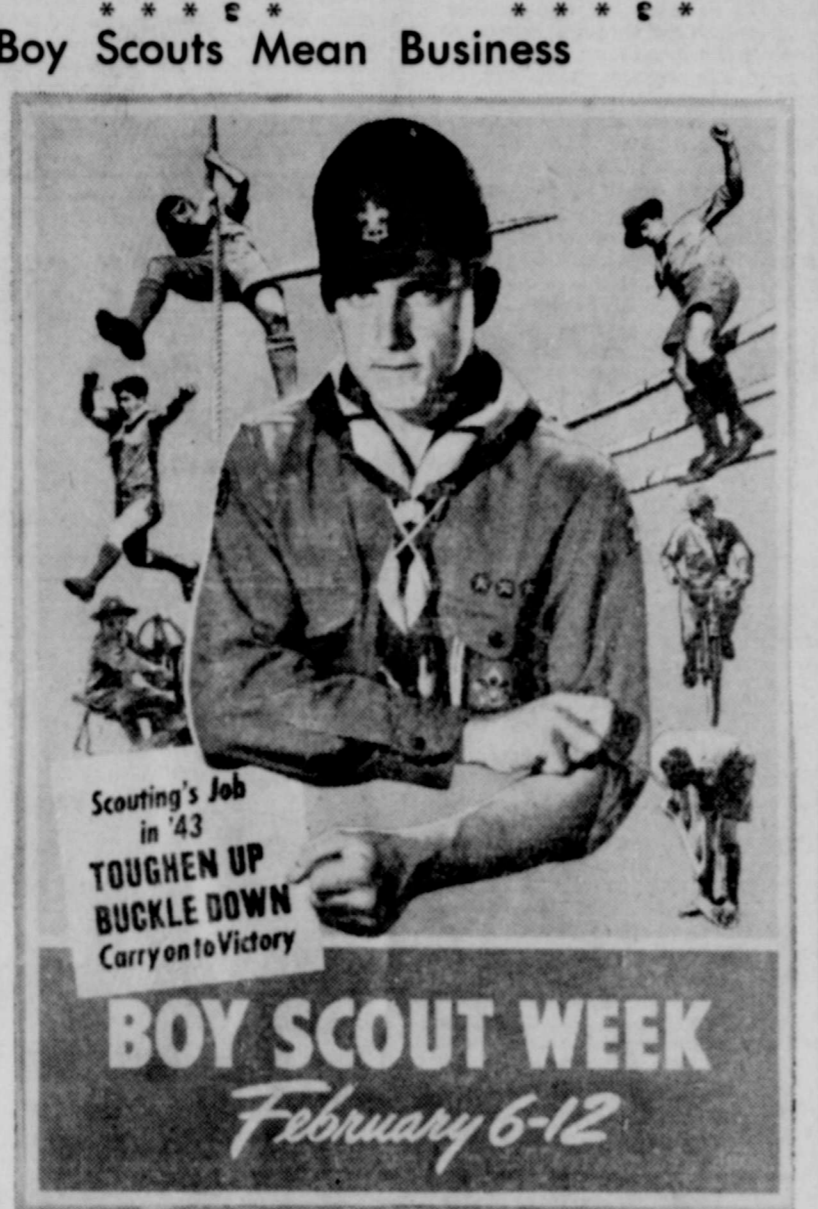

The first one was a large trash pile in an alley in the business section which was soon brought under control; the second one on the same day at 4 o'clock, the fire boys extinguished a grass fire at the G. M. Bullard home on East Ollie street.

The third alarm was sounded at 2:50 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when they were called to the Scott gun, where a fire in the cotton warehouse was extinguished.

Teacher Exams Offered Again April 3 And 4

County Superintendent Clarence Guffee announced this week that examinations for teachers for both first and second class certificates would be held again at his office April 3 and 4. Those desiring to take either of the examinations are required to register between now and March 20. The cost of each set of questions is $4.00.

"High school graduates and others qualified who are at least 18 years of age are eligible to take the examinations," Mr. Guffee said. "The teacher shortage remains an acute situation and it is believed that those who pass the tests will have little difficulty in finding places to begin teaching."

"Toughen up, Buckle down, and Carry on to Victory," is the Boy Scout major task this year. Their 1,570,000 members are in the conflict to the hilt on the home front, doing everything boys of Scout age can do to help win the war speedily and a just peace permanently.

Liquidating Relief Agencies In County Expected To Be Completed By March First

Affairs of the Works Progress administration are in process of liquidation in Floyd county this month as the work and commodity relief organization of the federal government makes ready to fold up and make its final bow.

Having served the purpose of bolstering up sub-par incomes with work and surplus commodity gifts for more than eight years, the agency is being liquidated on a nationwide scale.

In Floyd county the Commissioners' court has set the deadline for completing the dismantling of the relief organization as March 1. On that date the Surplus Marketing administration will cease functioning here and the office which has disbursed orange and blue stamps good for surplus commodities in stores for those on relief and those who have

Consumers Will Register Again February 25

Consumers will register again February 25, 26 and 27—last Thursday, Friday and Saturday of the month—and housewives will have another War Ration book to study and use beginning March 1.

This will be the much-talked-of War Ration Book No. 2—the introduction of "point" rationing. This book will allow 48 "points" for each member of the family for the month of March, and official point values will be made known as soon as grocers' stocks are "frozen" on February 20. Stamps in the new book will have values of 3, 5, 2 and 1. More than 200 items of canned, dried and frozen fruits and vegetables will be rationed with this book.

Registration at Schools
The registration will be held at the school houses in Floyd county. It has been announced by the local War Price and Rationing board after conferring with teachers, who will have charge of the registration. Meanwhile the board is going to "school" to learn all the details of the "point" rationing system, some members of the board being in Plainview today on the subject. Teachers will be acquainted with the plan as rapidly as possible. OPA officials declare the job will be a much bigger one than the first registration but local authorities believe that, with careful co-operation of the public, the registration will be finished within about the same time as the sugar ration registration.

Canned Foods Not Included
Several kinds of canned foods are not included in the rationed list. These include all home-canned foods, also commercial canned olives, canned meat and fish, pickles, relish, jellies, jams and preserves, spaghetti, macaroni and noodles. If a family has more than five cans of any other canned, dried or frozen fruit and vegetables stamps will be removed from Book No. 2 in proportion to their excess holdings.

Meanwhile for the whole week beginning February 20 all canned goods of the kind to be rationed will be "frozen" in the shelves of the dealers.

DALLAS, February 10.—Plans are being laid to train many "explainers" who will assist in putting the rationing program before the people. These "explainers," by making the rationing plan clear to store customers, can speed up the shopping service and relieve merchants and their clerks of the necessity for explaining, since they will have to give extra time to handling the food coupons and keeping records. Community service members of local war price and rationing boards will be responsible for determining where and how many "explainers" will be needed, and for the assignment of the volunteers to the various stores.

There are a few important things to remember about the point rationing system. They are:

1. All canned fruits, vegetables and soups; all frozen fruits and vegetables; all fruit juices in bottles or cans of one gallon or less and all dried fruits will be rationed.
2. Retail sales of the foods to be rationed will be suspended as of midnight Saturday, February 20.
3. Registration for War Ration Book Two will be conducted during the three days beginning Thursday, February 25.
4. Any adult member of the family may make the application and receive the books for the entire family.
5. War Ration Book 1 of each member of the family must be presented at the registration.
6. Each applicant must file a declaration of goods on hand as of February 21. The consumer declaration sheet simply asks for amounts of coffee on hand as of November 28—and of canned goods on hand as of February 21.
7. OPA is not requiring the use of official copies of the consumer declaration sheets and local boards are being instructed to accept any reproductions of the sheet that may appear in newspapers.

A. H. MATTHEWS FAMILY MOVE TO HAMILTON COUNTY
Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Matthews and family this week are leaving Floyd county for Hamilton county, where they have purchased a farm and where they will make their home.

The 211-acre place they have bought is southwest of the town of Hamilton, Mr. Matthews said, and he plans to make live stock and poultry farming his major activity in much the same manner as in this county.

Contingent Of Twenty-Six Men Leave For Fort Sill Induction Center Last Week And This

Floyd county's first February contingent of men for the U. S. army and navy, consisting of 26 young men, left last Thursday for examination and induction, and of this number 20 left immediately for Fort Sill, the remaining six returning to complete a brief stay at home and arrange their affairs.

The enlistees, forwarded by the local board, is a portion of one of the biggest calls for men for the army of the winter months. Others will be forwarded to complete the county's complement of men in the call as soon as names can be made available and processed.

Following are the Floyd county men who made the trip to the induction center and were accepted for service:

Olaf Kyle Glover, Ershel Glenn Pryer, Oatis Ray McIntosh, James Edwin Burke, Charles Jackson Smith, Clifford Dale Helms, William Arthur Graham, David Layne Kirk, Kenneth Eugene Mickey, Samuel Paul Woody, Eugene P. Loyd Snodgrass, Donald Eugene Green, Marion Floyd Bradford, Tommie Griffin, Samuel Pink Pyles, Austin Terrell Beedy, Wilson Bond, Joe Chenoweth, Lavane Alton Kincheole, all of Floydada;

Bennie Herbert Crawford, James Edgar Owens, of Dougherty;

Melvin Francis Visage, Linnard Earl Gorley, William B. Parrack, Jr., Lavern Robert Husky, Billy Jack Rigdon, Roma Wilson Pemberton, of Lockney.

With The Armed Forces News Of Floyd County Sons In Service At Home And Abroad

Weldon Standefer Aids In Capture Submarine Crew

Seaman 3 C James Weldon Standefer, grandson of Mrs. E. C. Nelson, recently featured in an interesting incident, the capture of eighteen German soldiers, a submarine crew.

The capture was made off the coast of Savannah, Georgia. Seaman Standefer with his captain and crew were on patrol duty when they discovered the submarine. Immediately after the discovery, the boat came to the surface and raised a white flag, surrendering to the United States government.

Named by the Commissioners court Monday, Judge Kenneth Bain this week was sworn in as county attorney of Floyd county to succeed John Stapleton who is in the armed forces and resigned in January. Judge Bain will continue the private practice of law in offices in the Read-himer building.

Members of the German crew stated they had been in dock for the past eighteen months awaiting the launching of a designated American ship with orders from the German government not to return until the ship was destroyed. The men were half starved and glad to surrender, fearing their fate should they return without carrying out their order.

Weldon is the seventeen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Standefer, former residents of Floydada and now of Plainview. He has been in service in the Coast guard since September.

GOOD NEWS FOR MRS. LAURA D. REEVES; HER SON IS PROMOTED TO MAJOR

Mrs. Laura D. Reeves, wife of H. K. Reeves, has the good news this week that her son, Captain Archie L. Taylor, has been promoted to the rank of major. In the army since the first World war when he went into service as a volunteer private, Major Taylor has made the army his career. He has reared a family and has a son in the air force at this time, finishing as a bombardier at Houston and anticipating early entry into active service.

Major Taylor is located at the San Angelo Army Air base, where he is post inspector.

LUTHER WILLIAM NORVELL STUDYING AT WISCONSIN U. FOR RADIO OPERATOR

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 3.—Luther William Norvell, 20, son of J. H. Norvell, Route 3, Box 134, Floydada, Texas, is studying to be a Navy radio operator at the U. S. Naval Training School on the University of Wisconsin campus here. Upon completing the 16-week course he may obtain a petty officer rating and be assigned to duty at sea, or at a Naval shore station.

The course includes intensive instruction in sending and receiving messages on all frequencies used by the Navy, enciphering and deciphering Navy code messages, and an understanding of the basic operating principles of all Navy radio and electrical equipment.

More than 1,300 Bluejackets and approximately 500 WAVES from all parts of the country are enrolled in the radio schools here. The students are quartered in dormitories, temporarily converted into barracks, and have access to all athletic and recreational facilities of the university.

ROBT. REEVES OVERSEAS SINCE JULY BELIEVED TO BE IN NEW CALEDONIA

Robt. Reeves, son of H. K. Reeves, who is in the armed forces, and has been overseas since July of last year, is believed by his father to be in New Caledonia.

Nothing definite from the son has been written to indicate the exact location, but he is known to be in the Pacific war area and references made in letters seem to fit New Caledonia.

PRIVATE FIRST CLASS

Fred Armand Cardinal in the Marine corps since October 1, stationed at San Diego, California was recently promoted to private first class. Mrs. Cardinal, the former Bert Ione Smith is with her husband.

Pfc. Cardinal is the son of T. J. Cardinal of Floydada.

FLOYDADA HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATE IS LISTED AS PRISONER OF WAR

The name of Sgt. Egbert Bruce McLaughlin of McAdoo was listed as being one of the 1036 American soldiers who are prisoners of the Japanese government.

Sgt. McLaughlin has his mother Mrs. Jewell McLaughlin and former residents of Floydada. He is a former graduate of the Floydada High school.

RENEW TRAPPER CONTRACT

The Commissioners' court this week renewed the contract with the government agency for continuation of predatory animal trapping for a period of six months.

A government trapper was put to work in the county about three years ago, when predatory animals, principally coyotes, began to show rapid increase and preyed considerably on live stock and domestic fowls.

Bain Appointed County Attorney Floyd County

Judge Kenneth Bain, veteran practitioner and jurist of the Floyd county bar, has been named by the Commissioners court of Floyd county, as county attorney.

In the armed forces of the country for nearly eight months, Stapleton's resignation was made when it became evident that he would be retained indefinitely in the army. Recently he attended an officer candidate school, by appointment of the commander of Camp Shelby, Mississippi, and following that was commissioned as a lieutenant. He was sent last week to El Paso for assignment.

The vote on the selection of a county attorney was made by secret ballot, the minutes of the meeting indicating that Bain was chosen by a majority, without indicating how the vote stood.

Bain Accepts Place
Following the offer of the place to Judge Bain Monday the latter conferred with the commissioners and accepted the assignment with the understanding that he will continue to maintain his office at the present location where he is engaged in private practice, and will continue to practice law.

With a long record as a lawyer in the district and formerly district judge, Judge Bain is taking on the new duties as a service in the emergency, his first work after assuming the office being in conference with the Commissioners' court on legal aspects of their official duties.

Cemetery Ass'n Asks For Dues And Donations

A call was made this week for donations and dues to be paid to the Floydada Cemetery association. Funds are badly needed to continue the work of caring for the cemetery, members of the association said.

A meeting of the association has been called for Tuesday, February 16, to be held at the Harmon Funeral home when a financial report and election of officers will be held. The public is invited to attend this meeting. F. C. Harmon, secretary-treasurer said.

Dues or donations can be made in person or mailed to F. C. Harmon, Byron Clark or Edgar Jones. The work of the association the past year has been commendable and much comment has been made on the improvements and appearance of the cemetery.

Passenger, Truck License Plates Begin To Sell

First trickle of business in the automobile license department of the assessor-collector office has begun in Floyd county, a dozen or so passenger car license plates having been purchased and somewhat fewer farm truck license plate receipts issued. It was indicated Tuesday by Geo. B. Marshall, assessor-collector. License plate receipts can be issued for all types of vehicles from now on until April first midnight, but the new tags cannot be applied to cars until March 1, Marshall explained.

HERSHELL HINSON IN ARMY AIR CORPS RESERVE

Hershell Hinson, freshman engineering student of Texas Tech called his parents the first of the week to tell them he has passed the examinations for Army Air corps reserve. He will be called to active duty as a flying cadet, in six months when he reaches his eighteenth birthday.

Another son of the Hinsons, Emmett Earl, who is a C. P. T. student at Abilene in the Naval Air corps, made his first solo flight Thursday. He entered service four weeks ago.

Feed Wheat Price 91c Per Bushel

Floyd county farmers will pay 91 cents for feed wheat which is being sold under the new "wheat to meat" program of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, it is announced by the County AAA committee.

Sales of feed wheat on this basis will help utilize part of the tremendous wheat surplus, thus relieving storage space congestion, and at the same time, will provide America with more badly-needed meat supplies.

Meat is one of our most vital crops and the feed program will enable us to produce more meats, provide the food needed to feed America's civilians, armed forces allies, says the USDA.

The AAA committee or the office will give any detailed information asked for.

EDITORIALS

Newspaper people are having their troubles. Numerous printing establishments, though fairly well entrenched, have fallen by the wayside. Various and sundry causes, all traceable to the war, are responsible. Others will go down the same trail. Newsprint supply will be one of the aggravating situations for the larger users, and smaller users will have to watch their step. Three-fourths of the paper on which the newspapers are printed in the United States is imported in the form of pulp from Canada. This pulp, due to recent developments, has been used in the production of explosives increasingly. And while the mills which supply it have increased in number since World War I, this new war we are in takes far and away more of the products of the forest. Manpower is also a considerable problem with newspapers and printing offices in general. Capable newspaper workers, both writers and mechanical workers, are a bit scarcer with every passing week. Another one of the fortunes of war. Newspapermen must take it and like it, as many others have done already and others will do.

How the types can mistreat you, Gremlin-like, comes to the printers' and newspaperman's mind nearly as often as he prints a newspaper. For instance, just recently the types made an Amarillo newspaper minimize the big fire in Lockney that destroyed tens of thousands of bushels of wheat in the big storage house of the Patterson grain concern. The same gnome horned in at The Hesperian office and had us saying some 130,000 bushels of wheat was nearly 13,000 bushels in the issue immediately following the fire. It is said that of the large stock much was completely burned up and many thousand bushels will have to be used for live stock feeding purposes. Elevator and storage losses, fortunately, are largely covered by insurance, a fact which friends of the firm are proud to know.

Many and varied are the problems raised by war. It strikes in unexpected places and trips one up while leaving others more or less unbothered. The latest to come to our attention are the chiropractors, who have no legal status as practitioners in Texas. Having no license from the state to carry on practice they can obtain no gasoline and no tires to carry on their professional affairs. A recent bill introduced into the legislature takes cognizance of this fact. It would establish, if passed, a licensing board and set up standards for their guidance. But until such a law is passed the chiropractor, as such, is an A card holder.

Surprise of the week is the announced shoe rationing. Monday shoe stocks were "frozen" in the hands of dealers but store stocks were re-opened Tuesday morning. You can buy shoes with your Ration Book No. 1 Stamp No. 17. The stamps are interchangeable within the family. A wife can buy shoes with her husband's No. 17 stamp, or vice versa. Also the children's shoes can be purchased by the use of any stamps the family may have. Right now use Stamp No. 17. After a certain period another stamp will be used, it is presumed, for the individual is limited to three pairs a year, entirely too many shoes for some of us. Probably not enough for others.

The Ruml tax plan seems to have caught on with the people in general, but was so unpopular in the Treasury department at first that no hope of its passage was held forth. More recently the public continues to urge the plan on congress and it has been revived to such an extent that some kind of a measure that will take the income as it is made will be passed. What the Ruml plan would do if put into effect as the tax law would be in effect to "forgive" one year (1942) of taxes, and start collecting immediately as new income was reported. Ruml claims the treasury would not suffer from the plan, but in fact would get about the same amount of money while crossing off hundreds of millions in delinquent taxes that will never be collected. However, better make your plans to make your income report just as though no new law is contemplated. The treasury department say it is going to be required, new law or not.

Gins have been operating largely on the by-product of their operations, cotton burrs, the past few weeks. Numerous dairy and range cattle men who had depended upon this source of supply for a certain percentage of their live stock roughness already know this, of course. The gins, along with other industrial users of gas, were cut off except for a certain proportion of their needs back in December. The supply of gas is ample at the wells but the pipelines have been overtaxed on account of the demands of army bases at Lubbock and further south. Accordingly since the gins need the burrs for fuel those who have been driving up and helping themselves are now not so fortunate. The burrs were a problem to the gins, being in the way, but the quick change brought about by war conditions, make them very welcome at the burr spout near the engine room.

Bottlenecks of the war are likely to turn out to be men to operate the farms and dairies of the country and shipping, meaning rails and ships in particular. This is the forecast of Herbert Hoover, who went through the mill in the other war. The railroads have done a most wonderful job so far in this war, but inability to get ships to haul materials has hurt on every front. Farmers, their help gone to war or defense work, are really suffering but sawing wood. Perhaps the authorities will have something worked out before another harvest comes around, the man with crops and live stock is hoping.

To make it possible for the oil companies to resume their exploration activities once more, agencies of the state and nation are studying the producing problem and, it may be assumed, will give the companies a bit more margin with which to cover their losses occasioned by digging for oil. Formerly the oil companies managed their own affairs, announcing increases when needed and decreasing when conditions justified or competition demanded. Not so any more. Not only the regulatory bodies of the state but the nation as well have their fingers in the oil man's business, quite likely not to the advantage of either the oil industry or the public which they serve, or, for that matter, to the conduct of the war.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

By Nellie Witt Solkes

The J. M. Witt family had a reunion yesterday, mother's birthday the 7th. All eight children were at her home in Lubbock. Two of her sisters were there.

—Mrs. J. C. Witt of Lubbock and Mrs. R. W. Smith of Odessa, a sister-in-law, Mrs. Ella Jnes of Seymour, a niece and two sons, Mrs. Mary Lee Waddell of Odessa. All the in-laws did not get to come for various reasons. Nowadays some one has to stay at home to keep the fires of defense burning. It seems we had a grand time, and the dictators could have looked in on the scene they would have better realized that here was a bit of America, one of many reasons why we are fighting to win the American way of life, for families to meet without fear of secret police or that one of the family was a spy to tell on the rest.

Being human I must brag a little in this column about my family. I am the oldest, but this would not have been true if little Emma Francis had not been laid to rest in the oak-shaded cemetery in old Parker county, where the lilies still blossom blue as the sky in the spring and the acorns still fall with the red leaves over the small mound in the fall. None of us ever laid eyes on this sister but we fondle with sweet affection the tiny pink dress and golden lock of soft curl that has rested in the old tin trunk these fifty-six years. Lowell the next to me, my playmate of happy childhood days, Edna, the last to be born in Parker county. Then Lois who opened her brown eyes on a wintry West Texas day. Joe and Guy made their appearance in the Witt hotel at Emma and rode proudly in high-wheeled baby buggies in parade with me pushing the handle before all the district court grandees, and the city drummers. Jim broke the small box quarantine and got in the family, as father was quarantined with small pox at that time. Josephine the last cooed and laughed inside a little home on a quarter-section claim in New Mexico after I was proudly holding my little six months old son.

The one who takes the pictures of the family group always has my sympathy. They go around looking as distracted as an old hen trying to gather up a flock of chickens. All get together, wipe the pie and cake crumbs off of faces. No not all Guy has gone. The group scatters while waiting; at last all are together, some making faces, others striking all kinds of ludicrous poses. Well you have all been there at some time and know as well as I do how a family of grown ups can act at a time like this.

We can all work better now that we have been reunited for a short while, as with tears we speak of our father that is not with us any more, and say goodbye as each goes to his or her duty. Lowell to defense work at Amarillo, Jim to the same at Houston, Guy to his job of secretary of Plainview Chamber of Commerce Joe to his place as court reporter at Amarillo, Josephine his secretary, Edna and her husband to a store, a farm and elevator at Bushland west of Amarillo, and Lois and mother their respective homes in Lubbock and myself to the farm. The noise you hear this Monday morning is made by women, frantically searching through closets and attics and boxes to see what they can find in the way of shoes that were once worn because they were out of style, did not fit too well, or just plainly were disliked. Now some polish and new strings will put them on feet again to do this part in the all-out war.

If I were doing what I would like to do this Monday morning, I would be reading another chapter in Shine Phillips' new book, Big Spring. In the book he writes just like he was talking to a stranger, but somehow that stranger vanishes like a mirage and you are the one he is telling about the early days when Big Spring huddled around the only water for some sixty miles, where the Texas and Pacific followed the old Indian and freight road up Sulphur Draw, where the saddle bag doctor and the praying parson rode the windy prairie to dugout homes alike. I lived in another growing town, Emma, that is now a ghost town, and I like to read of other towns of the early western days.

Did you ever see such a growing fad for horseback riding? Makes me almost long to ride again. Now don't laugh. I did ride, and in a run too, if I wished. I remember a grayer horse I owned, my first. He was a kind of dirty dun, with a black stripe down his back. I called him Dexter, not then seeing the absurdity of naming such a horse, a class English name. But as far as I remember the horse did not mind. Once I was sitting relaxed on his back, letting him drink from the court-house watering trough. All of a sudden I was on the ground and my horse was gone, much to the amusement of groups on the store porches, but was my face red?

The sheriff put two men in jail for stealing a pair of mules. They owned two saddle horses which my father kept. Lowell and I did not care how long the sentence lasted so we could have free access to their horses.

Father traded horses often getting ones worse each time, old flea-bitten grays, tall raw-boned horses and what have you, but Lowell and I were always thrilled to ride them after we had walked some three or four miles to drive them in from near-by lakes. How many times we walked to the lake south of Ralls that was north of Emma I do not know. But a short ride was always worth walking for through the hot sultry days.

Once I walked a couple of miles to catch a horse. He was tall and I was short and none too active. I piled a mound of bones and succeeded in getting on his bony back. I started off in a lope, riding the proper way for a ten year old girl, sideways, but the horse was too rough, the gait too fast and I slid off, with not another buffalo or cow bone in sight, to make another mounting block.

I wonder if any of you that read this remember the barrel cement blocks at each gate on the road from Emma to the Three H ranch. The ranch got in some barrels of cement. They were rained on and turned into stone blocks for ladies mountings. I am sure you can see a white shirt waist tucked into a black skirt, coming into view as the long riding skirt was modestly pulled off and the white and pink face of a young lady as she pulled off the long thick veil that shaded her face from the glow of the summer sun or the bite of the north wind of winter. The old riding skirt has sailed away taking the thick black veil for wings

Approval of the bill creating the One Hundred and Tenth Judicial District composed of Floyd, Briscoe, Motley and Dickens counties, was given by Governor Dan Moody Monday and Wednesday it was announced from his office that he had appointed Kenneth Bain and A. J. Polley, both of this city as judge and district attorney respectively. The bill is effective at once and it is probable that the two officials will receive their commissions and be sworn in this week.

Floydada station of the Qanuah Route—a plant which cost in excess of $50,000 was formally opened to the public Monday afternoon of this week with Agent Robert Medlen and other officials of the line acting as hosts and several hundred, probably a thousand, persons enjoyed the hospitality of the railway company, inspected their plant and the fine new passenger train. "The Plainsman."

Entailing a loss probably in excess of $5,000, the residence of C. Snowgrass was destroyed by fire Tuesday shortly afternoon, and considerable loss and damage was also done to the household furniture and effects of the family. No insurance was carried on the house or household goods.

Mr. and Mrs. Thurmond Bishop and Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGuire entertained friends Monday and Tuesday nights with a series of and say parties at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McGuire, 411 West Mississippi street. Games of eighty-four were played. Refreshments were in keeping with the Valentine idea.

March 15 and 16 are the dates set for a preliminary meeting of the Floyd County Interscholastic League preceding the final meet on March 29 and 30, both meets to be held in Floydada, it was decided Saturday of last week when directors of the county organization met at the county court room. The preliminary meet will be held for the elimination of Class B and Rural School contestants and the final meet to decide county representatives among Class A representatives and the winners of the preliminary meet.

NOW WE SERVE ON A NEW "WAR FRONT"

"Ration Banking" Starts This Month

By arrangement with the OPA, we are taking over the bookkeeping details which the ration boards are not so well equipped to handle.

Under "Ration Banking" retailers, wholesalers, and others will open sugar or gasoline ration accounts. But instead of dollars, all figuring will be in pounds or gallons.

The dealer's Sugar Purchase Order from his ration board will be his "deposit." The coupons from customers will be the "checks" against his account. Therefore, his "sugar balance" in the bank will show how much he is entitled to order again. We are proud to serve on this new "war front."

Grain Sorghums Is 'Incentive' Crop Of Year

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 3. — Maximum production of food and feed crops will mean thousands of additional dollars to Texas farmers under the incentive payments program.

Designed to obtain greater production of crops vital to war, payments are offered to the nation's farmers as compensation in achieving goals despite increased production costs.

Commenting on the program, the state USDA War Board said that most of the additional money to be realized by Texas farmers would come from increased production of peanuts, grain sorghums and soybeans.

Payments on these crops range from $30 per acre for peanuts and $15 per acre for soybeans to $8 per acre on grain sorghums but are applicable only on the acreage over 90 percent and up to 110 percent of the farm goal. Under the war production plan sheet, acreage goals are established for individual farms.

Although the soybean and grain sorghum goals probably will be increased, no increase in the state peanut goal is anticipated.

Goals already established in the state for soybeans and grain sorghums are 50,000 acres and 4,969,000 acres, respectively. The national soybean goal has been increased from 10 1/2 million acres to 12 million acres while the grain sorghum goal has been stepped up from 10 million to 12 million acres and Texas farmers likely will be asked to share the increase in both crops.

The increase in oil crops is needed to meet more adequately the increasing needs for oil and proteins while grain sorghums are needed to increase the feed supply for the nation's expanding livestock program.

Other crops under the program which apply to Texas farmers are sweet potatoes and Irish potatoes. Farmers in approved areas will receive payment of 50 cents a bushel on the normal yield of the acreage planted to sweet potatoes over 30 percent of the farm goal and up to 110 percent of the goal.

The Irish potato payments, which was announced several days ago, also is 50 cents per acre and applies to potatoes planted after February 1.

Batthey's Turkey farm will have three entries in the Fourth Annual Kansas Dressed Turkey show, at Kansas State college, Manhattan, February 9 to 12.

One entry is a 45-pound tom and another is a nice young hen. Mrs. Batthey is also sending entries in the oven dressed class.

Oliver Allen of Floydada community is well impressed with his Parmenter Reds. He has one hen, number 164, that has laid 133 eggs in 138 days.

Mr. Allen started this season with 31 Parmenter hens and expects to hatch and raise 500 pullets for his egg production in 1944.

A farmer who has cottonseed on hand can profit by selling it and buying cottonseed meal for feeding purposes. By doing so he can nearly double his available digestible protein. The percentage of digestible protein in a pound of cottonseed meal is about twice as high as in a pound of cottonseed. He would also make a contribution to the war effort.

At prevailing prices a farmer can buy around nineteen hundred pounds of cottonseed meal with the returns from one ton of cottonseed. Based upon the national average farm prices for cottonseed and cottonseed meal the exchange, ton for ton, would involve a net cost of around two dollars.

There is a consideration beyond the profit in feed value by trading a ton of cottonseed for a similar amount of cottonseed meal. The nation's supply of vegetable oil and linters would be increased. Each is an important element in the war effort. A ton of cottonseed will yield about 310 pounds of oil and 180 pounds of linters. The oil goes into the stock of edible fats and linters is a highly necessary article in the manufacture of high explosives which fill the shells and bombs the Army and Navy drop on the Japs and Nazis.

March Revival At South Side Baptist Church

(R. N. Power, pastor)
We were back in our own pulpit Sunday. Sunday school attendance was good. We had a wonderful trip to San Antonio the week January 24 to 28. It was our privilege to speak at the Mission three nights. Several were saved and they are still having a revival we have been told.

We urge all of our friends to pray for our revival that is to begin March 15 with Rev. L. J. Power doing the preaching. He is a mighty preacher. If you love the Bible and souls, then come and hear this man of God and pray for sinners to be saved. Service at regular time.

Ted Allen, who has been working in the mechanical department of a Clovis, New Mexico, Chevrolet agency, has returned to Floydada and is again in the shop of the Oden Chevrolet company here.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for the kind words and deeds during the illness of our father and husband. We are glad to report he is improving at this time.
Mrs. W. J. Browning and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Hungate and son, Larry, of Dumas, were visitors here Saturday and Sunday in the homes of Rev. P. H. Gates of Floydada and W. C. Trobridge at Harmony. The Hungate farm was among those taken by the government for war purposes in the vicinity of Dumas and the family has been prospecting.

Second Sheets. The Hesperian.

Now that the share the meat program is on all patriotic farm families are going to save every bit of the meat they butcher.

In order to not waste any meat, liver, paste, tongue, brains and heart may be canned. While these meats are not included in the share-the-meat program they are good meats and contain important vitamins and minerals and should be used this year in effort to not waste any meats butchered.

Here is a recipe for making liver paste:

- 1 1/2 pounds fresh pork (a greater portion of this should be lean)
- 2 tablespoons salt
- 3 eggs
- 1 teaspoon black pepper
- 1 teaspoon cloves
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 cup toasted bread or cracker crumbs

Run the meat and seasoning through meat chopper, beat eggs and mix all together.

Preheat by heating to boiling temperature 170 degrees F. Fill cans and seal immediately.

Process at 15 pounds pressure No. 1 cans 55 minutes. No. 2 cans 70 minutes and pint glass jars 80 minutes.

Peanut butter contains protein and can be used as a meat substitute. USDA home economists say peanut butter does contain protein, but by itself it is not so efficient. It may be used in cream soup, white sauce, or substituted as part of the fat in making muffin cakes or cookies. Peanut butter and raisins may be used to stuff cored apples before baking.

Dehydrated Foods Are Demonstrated At Club Meeting

The Campbell-Fairview Home Demonstration club met February 4 in an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. E. J. Barber with Mrs. E. B. Chesnut as hostess.

The house was called to order by the chairman and roll call was answered by "The Thing I Enjoy Most in My Home" and a "Garden Hint." The demonstrations were given by Mrs. M. J. McNeill and Miss Edith L. Wilson. Mrs. McNeill gave a demonstration on "Tempting Trays for the Sick," illustrating them with liquid, soft and light diets. Miss Wilson gave a demonstration on "New Foods and How to Use Them," emphasizing the use of dehydrated foods.

A demonstration was given on the uses of peanuts, including flour, oil and candy, which was made and served by Miss Wilson.

Those attending were Mrs. W. H. Bethel, Mrs. J. M. Smith, Mrs. R. M. Stovall, Mrs. M. J. McNeill, Mrs. F. O. Conner, Mrs. Mal Jarboe, Mrs. L. D. Woodward, a new member, Miss Wilson, agent, and Mrs. Chesnut, hostess.

Guests of the club were Mrs. P. M. Smith, Mrs. E. J. Barker and Mrs. J. W. Lyles.

The club will hold an all-day meeting March 4 at the home of Mrs. F. O. Conner.
Joe W. Gates, son of Rev. and Mrs. Phil H. Gates, returned home the first of the week from Dallas, where he has been attending Southern Methodist university in his freshman year. He is one of the many 18-year-olds who anticipate being called into service at an early date.

munity and throughout the nation in March.
"Careful planning means everything in the success of the March appeal by the Floyd County Red Cross chapter and we go to the meeting to supplement our ideas on how best to round out preparations already well under way here," said Mr. Guffee.

"We will be able to bring back to the community latest details concerning the vital services rendered by the American Red Cross to our armed forces at home and on the widest battlefronts the world has ever known. Red Cross facilities have necessarily expanded many times in keeping pace with the growing forces in a global war. Since the organization also serves the families of the fighters back home there is need for the closest cooperation between the volunteers of the local chapter with other chapters and Red Cross field directors with the armed forces."

Klutz And His Jokes Legend Of The Old Days

By R. E. L. McLain
He was a long, lanky, loose-jointed, jolly, joking individual, raised in Denton county and worked on the Matador ranch for many years as a cowhand; afterwards established a ranch of his own and died of heart trouble while driving home from Childress in his automobile about ten years ago.

George was one of those fellows who delighted in practical jokes upon his friends as well as on strangers—made no difference—and would make one believe that he was a desperado, yet he would stand his ground and make his "bluff" stick. The first time that I met him it looked like we were going to have serious trouble. He came into the store and wanted to buy some corn goods and when the goods were priced to him he began cursing and reading around about high-jackers and robbers and then began personal abuse; but just at this juncture an acquaintance interfered and the joke was explained satisfactorily.

Borrowed Clothes
One time the management of the ranch had invited a number of ladies from East Texas out to the ranch for an outing and Mrs. Campbell decided to have a dance for their entertainment and called all the ranch hands to participate in the festivities. All hands were agreeable but George who demurred giving as his excuse that he had no clothes to wear but Mrs. Campbell told him that she would see to it that he was supplied from the clothes of the other boys. Everything had gone satisfactory and George had been introduced to the ladies and he was paired off with a beautiful young lady who was so pleased that she soon began an animated conversation with the apparent embarrassment of George. They were ready for the dance when George staged one of his stunts by burping: "Say, how do I look anyway?" "You look all right. I don't see anything wrong with you." "Well how do you like this coat—how does it fit?" "It looks all right and fits you to a T," said the lady. "This is Bill Wilson's coat and he loaned it to me, and how does this vest look. I borrowed it from Sammy Chadwick. These pants I borrowed from Jim Beckman—they are a little bit tight around the waist—and this shirt I got from Buck Beckham—it is bit large in the neck—but I got the tie from Old Mack Campbell and it holds the darn thing together. These boots are borrowed from French—my boots were so run over that I couldn't stand up straight, and the socks are a pair that I borrowed from Ridge Greathouse—they got holes in them but I can wear them alright. But the undershirt and drawers are my own." You can imagine the embarrassment of the young lady but George was so calm and nonchalant that he enjoyed the dance hugely and bragged about what a swell time they had.

Loses Job
George had accumulated a number of cattle, as many of the cow hands had, which was against the company rules and when it was found out by Manager Henry Campbell he promptly notified George that he would either have to sell his cattle or quit the employment of the ranch. George refused to dispose of his cattle and notified Mr. Campbell that he was going to ride Matador horses, eat Matador grub and tend Klutz's cattle, as he had taken up a school section in the pasture and was making it his home, so naturally he was fired.
George, while riding around, dropped in at the Pitchfork ranch to visit his old friend D. B. Gardner, who had purchased a brand of cattle in Southern Texas and got about a hundred head of Spanish horses, with the cattle and these horses were outlaws—spoiled—and Gardner's cowboys would not ride them, and he proposed to sell them to George for $20 per head. George was an expert horse man and he saddled up one and tried him out. The horse proved to be a splendid saddle horse so George rode the horse up to Matador and called on Mr. Campbell to look the horse over and ride him. The test was satisfactory and Campbell told him that if the hundred head of horses he had would average up with this one he would take the bunch and pay George $75 per head so George went back to the Pitchfork ranch and rounded up the herd and drove them to Matador where Mr. Campbell told George to turn the horses into the horse pasture and keep the cash and get his money. The horses proved to be good horses but there wasn't a man on the ranch that could ride them. They were all outlaws for sure and crippled up several of the Matador hands. The horses were a total loss to the ranch as they had been to the Pitchfork ranch but George had the money and revenge for being fired from the Matador ranch. George sold his land in Matador and took up four sections in the Good-night pasture and established a ranch of his own, then he decided to get married, and in looking around he selected the pretty daughter of Old Man Ip Terry but Ip did not like George or his bluff manners; yet the girl liked George and was willing to go riding with him but she knew that her father disliked him so she would make clandestine dates. Knowing that Ip and this writer were on intimate terms of friendship George came by one day and invited me to drive out to Ip's farm to see his patent gate and fine stock of which Ip was very proud, and while we were inspecting the barn yard where Ip stayed most of his waking hours, George slipped into the house and had Media go riding in the buggy down to her sister's place for the evening. Ip and I discussed the stock and patent gate for several hours before George returned. The trip was a waterhaul for George however and he turned his attentions elsewhere and eventually he married another girl in that neighborhood and proved a successful cowman and a good husband, leaving his wife and children in prosperous circumstances and a good ranch and home environments.

A four-pound pot-roast can be a patriotic dish by providing three meals for a family of four. The pot-roast above can be served as a meal in itself and the left-overs will provide two other tasty and nutritious meals as a meat and vegetable pie, lower left, and as a creamed meat dish, lower right.

was amusing to watch his as he sat in his buggy, sitting on the extreme edge of the seat, bent forward with his hands holding the reins out over the dash as if he were trying to push the horse along and continuously clucking to the animal as from Childress to his ranch home. He was always happy and jovial, no matter what the provocation was. He must have been a kind and generous father and husband.

County Production Goals Upped By Department Of Agriculture; Sign-Up Pledges Will Be Asked

More eggs, more milk, more pork, more chickens, more turkeys are being asked from the farms of Floyd county in 1943.
Farm production goals received by the County USDA War Board call for production goals equal to or in excess of those established in 1942. "Achieving the goals will require the full cooperation of every farmer in Floyd county," the war board declares.
Community AAA committeeman and other workers will contact every farmer in the county in a survey of agricultural resources and the production pledge sign-up, it is announced.
Production goals for the county are as follows:
All cattle and calves, 31,370; cows and heifers kept for milk, 7,363; sheep and lambs, all ages, 14,778; hens and pullets kept for laying, 148,262; sows for farrow in spring, 2,878; sows for farrow in fall, 2,045; chickens raised, 259,996; turkeys raised, 8,939.
In addition to the above production goals, the following war crops have been established:
Soybeans for beans, 588 acres, Irish potatoes, 500 acres.
The war crops which are vital to war will be supported by incentive payments. These payments are offered to the nation's farmers as compensation in achieving goals despite increased production goals.
The incentive payments as explained by the AAA committee, are paid on the acreage over 90 percent and up to 110 percent of the farm goal. For example: assuming that the payment on Irish potatoes is 50c per bushel and the producer accepts a 50 acre allotment with a yield of 80 bushels, if the producer plants 45 acres (90% of goal) no payment will be made. If he plants 55 acres (110% of goal) the payment will be $400.00 (55-45 x $80). If he plants 50 acres, the payment will be $300 (50-45 x $60).
It is expected that grain sorghum will be classified as a war crop in this county as the grain sorghum are needed to increase the feed supply for the nation's expanding livestock program. Further developments will be announced as soon as they are received in the county office of the AAA.

Urgent Call Made By Red Cross For Volunteer Workers

An urgent call for more volunteer workers was issued this week by officials of the Floydada Red Cross chapter.
"We are behind schedule on the quota of surgical dressings which are to be completed by March 1 and quotas for the two succeeding months have been raised," Mrs. S. W. Ross, local supervisor said.
"Since December 28, 1942, there have been only 102 volunteer workers who have worked 961 hours, which is exceedingly good for the number of workers but we should have twice that many workers, in order to complete our quota on schedule," she continued.
Mrs. J. Frank Triplett of Amarillo, area supervisor, upon an official visit here last week was high in her praise of the efficient work being done by the local chapter and said the only thing she could see that the unit needed was more workers.
Also the area supervisor cautioned a stricter observance of regulation costumes for the workers. She said, "Everyone must wear a hair net or cotton covering over the head, a fresh laundered cotton dress or long cotton smock and not a wash silk or rayon dress. They may change their costumes either at home or at the work room. If left at the work room dresses must be enclosed in a paper bag."
Junior Red Cross
School children in Miss Ruby Norton's room of the Andrews Ward school, this week completed 50 plate favors which will be used in Camp Hood hospital at Killeen for their Washington birthday dinner.
The work was done under the direction of Miss Rita Rhodes, Junior Red Cross chairman. "There are over 1,000 children in Floyd county enrolled in the Junior Red Cross," Miss Rhodes said.
ELTON GOEN, ON LEAVE FROM NAVY, VISITS WIFE, PARENTS HERE
Elton Goen, yeoman second class, who for the past eight months has been stationed in the Pacific, is on a three weeks leave having arrived in Floydada February 2, to visit his wife and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Goen.
He has been stationed at Seattle, Washington and has made seven trips at sea which included a trip to Pearl Harbor and Dutch Harbor. Recently Goen was transferred to Bremerton, Washington, a receiving station for trained men of the navy.

Good Horse Trader

George was a remarkable horse trader, notwithstanding his bluff manner of meeting people, and managed to skin every man with whom he traded horses. Upon an occasion he drove up in front of a store in a wagon in which he had a young horse that had never been hitched before. The horse became restless, standing at the tongue of the wagon, and George proceeded to trade him off to a man who had reared up and fell under the tongue and could not get up until he was untangled from the gear. After he was untangled he refused to get up and George sat down on the horse head and asked his partner to get him a "slick rock" so he could rub his head. After this procedure the horse got to his feet and became very docile and George proceeded to trade him off to a man who had reared up and fell under the tongue and could not get up until he was untangled from the gear. After he was untangled he refused to get up and George sat down on the horse head and asked his partner to get him a "slick rock" so he could rub his head. After this procedure the horse got to his feet and became very docile and George proceeded to trade him off to a man who had reared up and fell under the tongue and could not get up until he was untangled from the gear. Careless Farmers Sabotaging The Food Program

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Feb. 8. — Farmers who are careless in 1943 will be sabotaging the food production program, J. E. Long, superintendent of safety for the Delaware and Hudson Railway company, Albany, N. Y., declared in a General Electric forum address here.

One-fourth of all occupational accidental deaths happen on farms, according to Mr. Long, who was president of the National Safety Council from 1933 to 1935.

"Farm families everywhere must realize that it is patriotic to prevent accidents—that they are really helping win the war every time they prevent an accident to a man or a machine," Mr. Long pointed out. "Accidents on the farm not only lead to broken homes and loss of production, they also take doctors and nurses away from other serious cases at a time when there is a shortage of doctors and nurses as well as war and farm workers."

"Thus it becomes immediately apparent why we cannot afford 16,500 accidental deaths among farmers and their families, which was the total for 1942."

Mr. Long, at present a member of the national executive committee of the National Safety Council, also said that special care should be taken at railroad grade crossings, where nearly 2000 people were killed last year.

Good Attendance Marks Services At Baptist Church

We are happy to report a good attendance at both the morning and evening services last Sunday. We had 287 in Sunday school and hope to get past the three hundred mark Sunday. We appreciate the splendid cooperation that our people are giving and hope that we will soon have all our membership in active attendance.

People are turning to the Lord and to the church all over our nation and it is a good time for every individual Christian to give his best in loyalty and service. Now is the opportune time to pray and work that we may have a real revival in our community and in our nation. We expect our members and invite our friends to all our services Sunday. Remember the Sunday night services, come and help us to grow a "Sunday night church."

BROTHER IS ILL

Mrs. W. W. Smith was called to Waco Monday by the serious illness of her only brother Ed Byrd. Mr. Byrd suffered a stroke Tuesday of last week and little hope was given for his recovery, according to the message, Mrs. Smith said. George and Leonard Smith, accompanied their mother to Waco.

For Your Wartime Protection Safeguard Small Appliances

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

MAKE it last! That is a wartime slogan that hits the farm home with special significance these days. With new electric appliances practically unobtainable, it is smart to give those we have efficient care to make them serve us for the duration. Our appliances not only make work easier and more enjoyable, but also reduce housekeeping time by many hours each week. Each precious hour saved is particularly important now that we must meet our country's call for more and more food production.

Takin' care of electrical appliances does not require either much skill or much time. Here are a few easily remembered hints on the care and maintenance of some of the kitchen appliances we depend on most.

Electric Toaster. Never put it in water; never use a hard object in contact with the heating element. It damages easily. Remove crumbs with a small brush, if the base is not removable.

Electric Coffee Maker. Keep very clean and never put the coffee maker heating unit or percolator in water, as that will damage the heating unit. Allow the heating element to cool before completely emptying the percolator. Rinse the filter cloth of glass coffee makers thoroughly in cold water after each use. A tablespoon of baking soda with water, allowed to boil, will remove any trace of odor or oil in a metal coffee maker. If the water is hard, washing right after use will prevent staining. Metal types should be aired in sunlight at least once a week.

Electric Food Mixer. Only two things to remember—see thoroughly and do not allow alicer attachment bowls to clog up with pulp and fill up so that juice runs into the ear case. The instruction book you obtained when the mixer was purchased will tell you how often the motor should be oiled.

Electric Roaster and Cooker. Do not plug into a circuit on which anything else is connected. It may overload the circuit, burn out the fuse and disconnect the electricity. For the same reason the roaster body and roaster should be connected on the same circuit at one time. Use only the special heavy-duty connection cord supplied. Ordinary extension cords may be too light to carry the current. Never connect a roaster to a lamp socket, or drop cord hanging from the ceiling. Incidentally, frequent check-up "peeks" into the roaster only slow up the cooking, waste electricity. Disconnect cords when roaster is not in use. Keep all parts of the roaster clean. But-never dip by part of the roaster into water.

If heating units of any of these appliances are damaged or burnt out, take them to your electric dealer or electric service company for repair. Be sure, too, that all connections are tight. They may become loose through frequent changes in temperature. Also, repairing electric cords, never use heavy tape. It cakes and cracks quickly. Electrician's friction-tape is expensive and will do the job.

A few minutes spent in keeping after use will prevent staining. Metal types should be aired in sunlight at least once a week.

They represent a wise investment in yourself and your country.

T. P. Collins Now Sole Owner Felton-Collins Grocery

Effective as of February 1, Travis P. Collins has bought the interests of his former partners, P. M. Felton and T. E. Loran in the Felton-Collins Grocery company, it was mutually announced this week.

Loran is continuing with the firm for the present, until a man can be found to take his place, probably within a few days. He has been associated with the firm for 15 years, the greater part of that time in charge of the market department. His plans at this time are not matured as yet, he said yesterday.

P. M. Felton has not been active in the business.

Mr. Collins said the popular food store would be continued under the same firm name for the present.

High Wind Brings Second Fire Loss To Wilkinsons

After losing their household effects and personal belongings in a fire Monday afternoon at the Vernon Doss farm one and a half miles north of Floydada, the Bland Wilkinsons lost all of their feed stacks save a few hundred bundles of cane Tuesday noon.

Tuesday's strong wind which rose around 11 o'clock fanned embers of the first fire and blew the sparks into the stacks. To make the irony more cruel a thresher was set to thresh their feed at the time. It was while he was threshing crew of Claude Price was at lunch that the second fire caught. Price also lost two tractor tires in the blaze. There were several thousand bundles of the feed.

How the residence caught fire Monday is not known. All members of the family were absent when it was destroyed.

The farm residence belonging to Vernon Doss, of Matador, represented a loss of about $1,500, of which $1,000 was covered by insurance according to John H. Reagan, local insurance man, who insured the risk. Incidentally Doss is in a Lubbock hospital where he has been quite ill, and was notified of his loss there.

Mrs. H. N. Ritchey Funeral Rites Held Tuesday

Last rites for Mrs. H. N. Ritchey, formerly of Floydada, were held Tuesday at the Hale Center Methodist church. Rev. A. A. Collins of Lubbock officiated.

Mrs. Ritchey passed away at 10:15 p. m. Monday after a week's illness. All of her children were present during her last illness and for the funeral services.

Survivors are her husband and eight children. The children are R. J. Ritchey, Albuquerque, New Mexico; Benton Ritchey, Floydada; Mrs. Maggie Gibson, Big Spring; G. E. of Hale Center; H. P. of Las Vegas, New Mexico; Mrs. Mary Fletcher, Raton, New Mexico; Willie of Hartley, Texas and Mrs. A. A. Reynolds of Lubbock.

The deceased, born January 25, 1861 at Pittman county, Tennessee was buried in the Hale Center cemetery.

Chapman In 99th Dist., Presides At Lubbock

While carrying on the business of his own court that can be given attention without the use of petit or grand juries, District Judge Alton B. Chapman also is presiding in cases in the 99th (Lubbock) District court during this month.

Several cases have been set down for trial by the 110th judge in the 99th district. A vacancy exists there in the judgeship following the resignation of Judge E. L. Pitts following his election as chief justice of the Court of Civil Appeals of the Seventeenth Supreme Judicial district.

MARRIAGE RECORD
Licenses to marry were issued February 10 by County Clerk, Margaret Collier to Jay McPherson and Margaret Kathleen Myers.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Finley of Dumas came Wednesday for a business visit here. They plan to return to Dumas Friday.

The prison system of Texas consists of a central plant at Huntsville and ten farms.

LIVER AND BACON ROLLS

Simmer 1 pound sliced liver for about 5-8 minutes. Grind liver and combine with 1/2 cup bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons chopped onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 teaspoon sage, 1/4 cup liquid (milk or water) and 1 egg. Mix thoroughly.

Making the Rolls

Arrange one-half pound bacon on a piece of waxed paper, slightly overlapping the slices. Spread the liver mixture evenly over the bacon. Roll like a jelly roll so the ends of the slices of bacon are rolled in with the liver.

Slicing the Roll

Place wooden picks along the edge of the roll at 1-inch intervals to hold the bacon in place. Slice 1-inch thick. Broil or panbroil slowly until brown on both sides (12-15 minutes).

The Finished Rolls

Serve hot with lima beans. Fresh vegetable salad is a good accompaniment.

New Zealand's two islands have about the same area as Colorado; its population is about equal to that of Detroit.

J. C. Gilliam, of Denison, who is employed in the United States engineering as an official inspector of building materials, visited friends in Floydada Wednesday afternoon and night while en route home from business in Dumas.

Joe Schultz employed as leadman for the Consolidated Aircraft of Fort Worth, spent Sunday night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Schultz.

REMEMBER THIS..

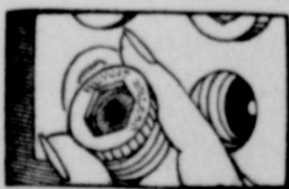

..if you're annoyed by "private blackouts"

Military blackouts are often necessary these days... but "private blackouts" aren't! You can save time and nervous strain... as well as the annoyance of an unnecessary blackout in your home by remembering two things: (1) Keep a supply of fuses... correct size... always handy. (2) Check your switch box fuses immediately if your lights go out... replace any "blown" fuses with your good ones.

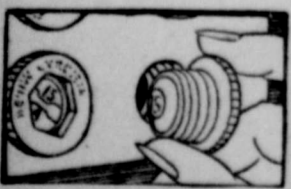

Here's How...

1. Go to the main switch at your meter box. Stand on a DRY SURFACE and turn off electricity.

2. Remove "blown" fuse, touching only its top. The fuse with the scorched spot in the "window" on top is the one to remove.

3. Replace "blown" fuse with new one, as you would a lamp bulb. Then turn on the main switch.

Salute America's Boy Scouts—
February 6th—February 12th

In 1918, the Boy Scout Movement in America was only eight years old. Today—and this is Boy Scout Week—it is 33. The important difference to the Nation at War is apparent when one realizes that in Uncle Sam's great Army, 25 per cent of the selectees are former Boy Scouts. The percentage is still higher in the enlisted brackets—and more than two-thirds of the professional military leaders who attended West Point or Annapolis were Scouts in their boyhood years.

all of reports and plans for the coming year, Tuesday night at Lubbock. Talks on leadership, emergencies and all various phases of the fundamentals of scouting were discussed.

J. M. Willson, chairman of the nominating committee was in charge of election of officers for the district when F. B. Malone was again chosen to head the organization for another year.

Approximately 400,000 Boy Scouts are aged fifteen or over, and it is entirely possible that they may see military service before the conflict ends. Army chiefs have praised Scout training as ideal pre-induction preparation, and both the Navy and the Merchant Marine have asked national Boy Scout headquarters to help enlist former Sea Scouts as special officer material.

The theme was designed to make better soldiers and sailors—as well as better citizens—by emphasizing the outdoor hikes, camps and cruises which develop stamina. Scouting practices which develop mental alertness, such as stalking, tracking, observation, signaling, compass and map work, will be stepped up along with night "commando" stunts and message-to Garcia hikes which build self-reliance, resourcefulness and initiative.
