Death Lays Claim To Two Officials Monday Evening

Death laid claim to two Floyd county officials Monday evening, when Henry Roberson, 57, Commissioner of Precinct No. 2, of Lockney succumbed to a long illness at 6 o'clock, and within an hour B. P. Woody, 80, Justice of the Peace of Precinct No. 1, of Floyd county, died at the P. S. hospital from a fracture of the skull, sustained when he fell Saturday noon. He died without regaining consciousness.

Roberson Funeral Tuesday
Funeral rites for the Lockney official, held Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, were held at the West Side Church of Christ, Elder Tully Cordeur, of Tulla, a friend of many years officiating. Interment was made in Lockney cemetery.

Roberson who came to this county in pioneer days, had been associated in business and farming enterprises for years in the north part of the county. He was elected commissioner in 1940 and again in November of 1942 and was serving in this capacity at the time of his death. In ill health for sometime, he had been confined to his home for many weeks.

Among the numerous people from over the county present for the last rites were the members of two commissioners court, and other officials of the county.

Last Rites For Loved Minister At Plainview

Funeral rites for Rev. G. I. Britain, 87, beloved pioneer West Texas minister, and former pastor of the First Baptist church of Floydada, were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Plainview. Rev. Britain died Friday night at the home of a daughter, Mrs. S. W. Shaver at Fort Worth, where he had made his home since the death of Mrs. Britain, October 15, 1942.

Services were held at the First Baptist church with the pastor, Rev. L. B. Reavis, officiating. Burial was made in the Plainview cemetery beside the grave of Mrs. Britain.

Rev. Britain first began preaching for the Floydada Baptist church in 1900, while a resident of Matador. Later, in 1909, he moved here accepting a call to the church as pastor, and served in that capacity until he moved to Plainview in 1915. As a missionary he was a welcome visitor in score of pioneer homes all over this county at the turn of the century.

Founded 50 Churches
In the ministry since he was 27 years of age, Rev. Britain held pastorates, led in founding churches and participated in religious work from Nacogdoches where he was married December 7, 1876, to the Plains. He founded approximately fifty churches and served for 36 years as moderator of the Staked Plains Baptist association. He resigned his last pastorate seven years ago and continued to perform various religious duties for the second generation of his parishioners.

Usually stationed at the fringes of civilization, Mr. Britain frequently rode horseback or in buckboard to conduct services which often were held in brush arbors or in ranchers' homes. Rev. Britain was ordained a Baptist minister in 1882 and never missed a preaching engagement for 53 years.

Rev. and Mrs. Britain were loved by many people as they worked hand in hand throughout the many years of their married life. Rev. Britain was very devoted to his work and always maintained a bright outlook on life.

Meat-Fats Ration 'Points' More Liberal Than In Canned Goods Schedule, Tables Disclose

Meats-fats official table of consumer point values released Wednesday afternoon from Washington discloses that items rationed beginning Monday morning, March 29, are more liberal than the rations of canned foods.

Weekly allotment of 16 points per person (red stamps in War Ration Book No. 2) compares with an average of 12 points per person for processed foods. On the "per pound" basis the point values are sharply lower.

Apparently, however, the process of retailing the new rationed items will represent a more involved job for the meat department than for the retailers' processed foods. Numerous "foot-notes" govern various sales and in other instances the dealer must weight and assess the point value after which he processes the purchase, such as "boning," "dicing," grinding.

Here are the point values on some of the principal items the housewife will ask for:

Eight Points Per Pound
Porterhouse (T-Bone) steak, sirloin steak, round steak, and flank steak.
Standing rib roast (7-in. cut).
Veal loin chops, veal cutlets, and calves liver.
Loin lamb chops, boneless lamb shoulder.
Center cut pork chops and roasts fresh or cured sliced ham, boneless picnic and boneless butts.

Ready-to-eat tongues and boneless picnics.
Bacon, rind off, by the piece or sliced.
Semi-dry sausage (such as soft salami, thuringer, and mortadella).
Butter.
Cheese—cheddar (American), Swiss, brick, limburger, adam, smoked, etc.

Seven Points Per Pound
Standing rib roasts and steaks (10-in. cut) boneless chuck or shoulder.
Veal rib chops and veal sirloin.
Lamb rib, leg and shoulder chops.
Pork loin end and shoulder chops and steak, whole or half pork loins, whole or half hams (fresh or smoked), and boston butts (bone in).
Bouillon cubes, beef extract and all other meat extracts and concentrates.
Bacon, rind on, by the slab or piece.
Pork sausage, weiners, bologna and liver sausage.

All fish in hermetically sealed containers, including sardines, salmon tuna fish, crab meat, fish roe, caviar, mackerel, etc.

Two or glass jars of beef, lamb and veal tongue and Vienna sausage. (See MEAT-FATS, back page)

Fry Anticipates Final Figures For Floyd County Will Exceed $5,000 In Red Cross Campaign

R. E. Fry, War Fund chairman for March Red Cross campaign, late Tuesday anticipated that when final figures have been made on the drive in Floyd county, subscriptions will be $5,000 or above.

As of Tuesday afternoon the funds from the drive actually accounted for and in the bank had reached $4,500 with at least four, possibly five, community committees yet to report, and numerous individuals donating who had been missed in various sections of the county.

Assigned a quota of $2,750 by mid-western headquarters, County Red Cross Chairman Clarence Guffee early in the month reported, the quota had been reached and that funds were still rolling in. A most remarkable campaign, he and Fry described it, with ample number of willing workers and subscribers the most liberal in every level, from the lowest to the highest bracket.

Date for the closing of the campaign is the last day of the month. But Mr. Fry pointed out that any who wish to subscribe may yet do so. The fact that the quota has been reached does not mean that any and all others who feel it their duty to do so, may not subscribe. Funds may be left with either of the county's banks to the credit of the Red Cross War fund, or may be handed any of the many committees whose services are continuing until the close of the month.

No report has been made Tuesday on the progress of the drive, nationwide.

District Attorney

Appointed. Richard F. Stovall has been appointed district attorney of the 110th district, Governor Stevenson announcing the appointment of the Floydada attorney last week-end. Stovall has taken the oath of office and is at work in District court for Motley county this week.

Governor Names Stovall Attorney 110th District

Richard F. Stovall, court reporter of the 110th district since 1935, and a member of the bar since 1938, was named district attorney of the 110th Judicial district Saturday by Governor Coke R. Stevenson, who announced the appointment to fill the unexpired term of John Hamilton, of Matador, resigned and now serving as a lieutenant (jg) in the U. S. navy.

Accepting the appointment as an officer in the navy in December Hamilton's formal resignation had been in the hands of Governor Stevenson since March 1. No grand jury was used in Floyd county during the winter term due to the fact the county had neither district nor county attorney. In Motley county where a similar condition existed, a grand jury had been holding sessions without the services of an attorney until the appointment of Stovall. He qualified and began work at Matador on Saturday.

Reared In This County
The district's new district attorney has been a resident of Floyd county for 23 years. He graduated from Floydada High school with the class of 1927. He studied at the University of Texas, taking a pre-law course and majoring in business administration. He is a native of Hill county, coming here in 1920.

With the election of A. J. Polley as district judge, Stovall was named as court reporter of the then new 110th judicial district in 1935, a position he has filled since. In 1938 he was admitted to the bar and has engaged in practice of law, when not in conflict with his official duties, since. He is one of the best known officials of the district composed of Briscoe, Dickens, Floyd and Motley counties.

Married to Miss Hazel Tyson in 1930, he has two sons, Franklin and Robert.

EDITORIALS

Cottonseed in particular and cotton products in general must certainly be needed in the war effort of the country. So think many people who are somewhat panicky because the government is still holding to cotton quotas in spite of the fact that there is now, or is supposed to be, a shortage of cotton seed meal and cake. These are vitally needed for their high protein content in fattening cattle and in dairy production. Both fat feeders and dairy people are scrambling around in search of meal and cake and are having less luck than they had hoped. We imagine the biggest argument in favor of unrestricted cotton production is that this is a source of vegetable fats and of high protein feed which the cotton man knows and knows he knows how to produce. Put him into some other type of fats production and protein making and he will be lost, taking the word and advice of somebody who may or may not know. Undoubtedly, we will hear more of this before the cotton planting season is over.

Not many weeks ago The Hesperian spoke of the cost to the farmer and the public of sampling at the mills of all the cottonseed that was forwarded to them by gins and of the wait the ginner had to learn whether or not he had made money or lost money on the cottonseed he bought several days previously. Apparently, we had our facts on straight as to the sampling that was being done and of the cost of it in dollars and cents. Also, it appears we were correct in one more thing, namely, that it was being done by a government agency at taxpayer cost. However, the cost in money at this end of the line may be equalized by the cost at another place. Here is the low-down as given us by an anonymous friend, who very likely knows what he is talking about, having had something to do with the business and knowing the ins and the outs of it. Says he the War Production board instigated the plan, because the linters taken from these seed are used for explosives. The samples taken told the manufacturers whether a particular batch of seed, or an aggregate of a particular warehouse of seed had too much foreign matter in the linters that would be taken from the seed. Foreign matter in these linters had occasioned some unfortunate explosions, costing lives and time (in the war effort) and money, of course. It was to eliminate these that all the sampling expense was gone into. Which seems a pretty fair explanation of what appeared to be a silly notion of another bureaucrat, as might have been concluded more or less logically. On the other hand, it might not have been too much logic in the editorial writer's mind but a nose too close to the ground on the scent of another straw man to throw a brick at.

It is our prediction that, as they find out the need for localized authority, national administration officials of the war on the home front are going to put more and more responsibility in the hands of local boards. Since this is already taking place to some extent, we should not say we are predicting it, but rather call attention to what is happening. One thing beginning to become clearer is that the Triple A authorities, as represented by the committee's representation on the USDA War board, are going to be saddled with more responsibility as time goes on. This will be true of all agricultural counties. Deferments from military service, parts for implements, gasoline needs, and other problems related to the farming program are some of the things that will be left in the laps of the county war boards. Additionally, other local problems, including those under rationing, are going to be left up to the respective boards, under broad general administrative instructions. Common sense has insisted on this all the time. Somebody out where the problem is always has to solve it, making the theory of need jibe with the practice of it.

The present rate of change of occupation, of address, of outlook of the people of the country is unprecedented in the nation's history. In every community, large or small, the "turn over" of labor never bulked so large in the problem of business, as people strike out to make changes which they feel will better serve their own families and their country. Our newspaper office is experiencing a part of the problem that goes with the unrest and the change. Clerical work keeping up with addresses from week to week has just about quadrupled. This means additional chances to be wrong, additional calls from subscribers. For the most part the public is being patient, as they are learning to be with most everybody who serves them.

Many points of view are finding expression in the public prints and over the air as to the manpower problem. Most likely the average resident of the farms and small cities feels more strongly on the waste of manpower in the defense plants than on any other. Their sons and brothers who write or visit them and tell of the waste of time that is going on can't all be wrong. Some young men will tell you frankly, that although they have been used to real work all their lives they now have in a defense plant a job at which they are not working, at which they are not earning their salt. Not just one testifies in this vein but almost everyone you talk to. Why the nation is helpless before a condition that cannot be remedied is something people of an area like West Texas, for instance, cannot understand. People like to see a man well paid and really working. The country needs results that are not being produced, one fears after hearing the story. What a waste of manpower when manpower is so seriously in demand, if only half the stories that come to your ears are true.

As cold weather has continued through the first three weeks of March there continues to be hope that some of the fruit of peaches, cherries, plums and similar trees are going to be saved. Reports say that part of the peach crop has been lost, some plums, but no cherries or grapes to date. Whether this is correct remains to be seen. But this would be a finer year for a fairly good crop for fruit to "hit" and be put into cans against next winter's needs. Doubtless, not a bushel of fruit will be wasted and the same can be said of vegetables. Give the people one chance at saving enough food for their needs and rationing will hold no terrors for the population out on the farms and in the small cities and towns. Victory gardens and the produce of fruit trees, whatever the frost leaves, will fill many a larder this summer and fall in Floyd county. Surprising what a great store of canned food is already in pantries and cellars, in probably half of the homes. And the rest can say the same comes another fall and half a chance meanwhile to store food away. Remarkable what people can do once they decide it needs to be done.

Getting jittery about what might happen won't help any. The one thing that will help is to roll up our sleeves . . . all of us . . . and hit the line harder. That's the American way, and we have not the least doubt that is just exactly what we are going to do.—American Business.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

By Nellie Witt Soikes

This is March the 22 and still cold. I have to keep running out to the shack to see about the chickens. Three hundred Buff Orpingtons belong to me and one hundred white leghorns I am starting for Wilma. As it is so much trouble to go at night to see about them, I have moved a bed in the other room of the shack and sleep out there. The pet pig sleeps in the room with the chickens so you see I have plenty of company. The cold wind has been howling around the shack shaking it as a dog does a rabbit, the cold creeps in every crack and crevice but I stay warm. We are making every effort on the farm to produce as much food as we possibly can, and our task is to stay on the job day and night.

I am sure some of the peach crop is gone, does not look as if the wild plums will bloom this spring, the ends of the spirea leaves are black from the freeze, spring is a harsh month on the prairies, only the hardy things escape, the killed ones came too early this year their plaintive cries make one depressed, only when we see the mesquite trees putting forth green lace and hear the whirring sound of the bullbat, do we perk up and know summer will come again. I remember the story of the Quakers living in Estacado that cold windy spring so long ago. The winter had been hard, the frail tents not too warm, the endurance of the plain people almost to the breaking point. The spring they had so longed for as they battled the winter brought no relief, in fact an extra hard wind blew down some tents and shattered the Quakers few belongings across the bare land. Aunt Hank Smith related that some of the things reached the canyon and found lodging there. But the Quakers who they did not stay long in an unfriendly climate, left much to make lighter the burdens of the incoming "Gentiles." They left a story of endurance and of kindness. The perfume of the flowers they raised in the summer have sweetened the lives of many. They set out trees that still stand, built such a strong house that time with its many winters and springs of high winds has not destroyed. They left lessons of hope and courage, and they softened the harsh ways of the cow country with their gentleness.

My son writes such an interesting letter from "somewhere" in England. He tells of a business trip he made on which he saw the Stratford-on-Avon and the Shakespeare Memorial and theatre. "I saw a very picturesque region," he continues, "with low hills, farms, woods, stone houses with thatched roofs. Also visited the ruins of Kenilworth Castle. (Thrill of thrills, my son has a rock from that historic castle to one day take its place on my fence) I am going to make a little garden and plant a few flowers where I am billeted and will mow the lawn this evening." What people these English Allies of ours are, going about the business of living as closely as possible to that of many centuries, even as bombs fall on their land. How life changes. My son making a garden in England. I can remember when he was a boy at home, reading the beloved books about England, always liking the ways of other lands to read about. Now he is at home there, in the land where his great-grandfather, Dr. Fox, lived as a boy, calmly doing his work and at leisure moments planting a small plot where flowers make gay the greens of the vegetables.

Good morning, Mrs. N. T. A. Byars and congratulations too. I know you leave your work to pick up that lovely little grand-daughter, Robin Sue. Life takes away our children from our homes when they are grown but hands back such sweet little babies for us to love and spoil.

Last week Joe Ellis fell through a glass show case, not getting a scratch and his grand-daddy fell on top of a burning bundle he was carrying from one shock to another to burn deheaded sheeks, he said he just rolled off, neither boy received any damage.

Best poem of the week by B. Y. Williams in Household Magazine. God, when the war is over And peace returns to earth, Restore to saddened children Their heritage of mirth; Bring back the old enchantment Of dreams and summer days; Erase the sorrow from their hearts, The terror from their gaze. Let there be paths of safety For small brown questing feet, And a hurdy-gurdy's music For the children in the street. Please let a circus visit Each quiet little town. With acrobats and dancers, Gay pink-and-tinsel dancers, And a feather-hearted clown! God, when the war is over And all the world is sane, Let strangely silent children Sound laughter's note again; Let swift wings whir over Mean only birds in flight; Let no more blackened windows Shut out the stars at night. Let there be violets in the wood, Wild berries in the sun, And bread enough and love enough And joy for every one. Oh, let someone remember A carnival with bells, And the galloping sleek horses, The gallant arch-necked horses, Superb breath-taking horses That prance in carrouzels!

Amphibian Jeep Being Built For Armed Forces

DEARBORN, Mich. — The most flexible new machine of the war, on land or in the water, the new four-wheel drive Ford-built amphibian car, is being used by U. S. fighting forces in war zones, it was announced today.

With a carrying capacity of five men, the new addition to the Army's transportation arm can plumb into the water and propel itself as a boat.

The wide range of possible uses of the new Ford-built car is one of the most interesting developments in war transportation.

It can ford a river, navigate a lake, even operate in seas that a boat of comparable size can negotiate. This latter operation is made possible by a device which automatically seals off the motor from water penetration when waves on rough water are breaking over the bow. On land it can perform every task ordinarily done by a 4-wheel four-wheel drive truck designed for land operations only.

NEW FACTS ABOUT MILK PROFITS

A CLEARER understanding of profits in milk distribution is made possible by data from a nation-wide study released by the Milk Industry Foundation. Charts show profits of 2.4¢ per dollar of sales, a figure slightly overstated as some reporting firms did not include income taxes.

The report covers operating results of 141 milk distributing companies in 33 states and the District of Columbia with combined sales of $167,014,909 in 1941. All U. S. cities of 500,000 population or more are represented. Averages were based on figures submitted to the Harvard Bureau of Business Research.

Out of the average sales dollar of the 141 companies, 57¢ went to the farmer for milk delivered to plants. Wages and salaries paid to labor and employees in the distributing branch totaled 22¢ on a nation-wide average — the second largest cost item. Officers' salaries were only ¼ of a cent.

Necessary operating expenses amounted to 18¢, of which 8¢ went for bottles, cans, crates, other plant and delivery supplies; 8.5¢ for taxes, licenses, insurance and depreciation; the remaining 4.5¢ for power, light, fuel, etc.

According to the Milk Industry Foundation, profit of 2.4¢ cents per sales dollar would represent approximately ¼ of a cent profit on a quart of milk.

Guess Work HAS NO PLACE IN BANK WORK

Do you realize that the routine of a bank must be operated with the precision of a time-lock on a vault door? Every penny must be accounted for. Records must be faultlessly kept. Checks for collection must go out on a rigid "train and plane" time schedule. There must be no guesses, no gaps in the orderly flow of detail. It is by such disciplined efficiency that some 15,000 banks are enabled to serve and safeguard the interests of 131,000,000 people.

Sabotage in your Garage - Arrest ACID!

THE ENEMY'S forced you to rationing. Now he'd make your engine the victim of vicious acid. The mere stopping of your engine always leaves it stuffed with vile fumes and dilute acids—the ever-present products of combustion. And there they stay.

Formerly these sources of corrosion were kept mostly cleared out, because you drove frequently and fast. But now in saving coupons and tires you may not soon use your car again, and you don't make those long speedy runs that maintained normal engine heat a good while, to help drive acids off. That's why harmful leftovers in the cylinders nowadays are serious. But you can combat their dirty work by keeping your engine internally OIL-PLATED.

How? Just change to Conoco Nth motor oil this Spring. It's made under U. S. Patent No. 1,944,941, covering an added modern synthetic in Conoco Nth, whose proved purpose is to give inner engine parts their preservative layer of OIL-PLATING. And like the more familiar platings that arrest the attacks of mere water, this OIL-PLATING powerfully tends to arrest acid action... inner corrosion of precious parts that often can't be promptly replaced today. Yet you pay only an everyday price for Conoco Nth. Change for Spring at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company

Developments Of The Week On The Farm Front

Floyd county farmers will be interested in recent announcements made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Cotton Plantings Increased
Of paramount interest is the announcement that cotton farmers will be permitted to exceed their 1943 cotton acreage allotments by 10% but marketing quotas will be retained.

Farmers may plant this 10% excess acreage without loss of agricultural conservation program payments, without being liable for cotton marketing quota penalties, and without forfeiture of cotton loan privileges. Farmers will receive no payment for the 10% in excess of the allotment, and the 10% increase in no way relaxes the provisions pertaining to the achievement of war crop goals.

Grain Sorghum Loans
Producers will receive higher loan rates for grain sorghum and barley this year than in 1942. Under the announcement will take in preventing "black markets." At the meeting opportunity will be given for making applications for slaughter permits. In making the application each slaughterer will need to know the number of animals he slaughtered each month in 1941.

Cotton Crop Insurance
Floyd county cotton farmers can't go broke so long as they have cotton crop insurance. That's the statement made by Ray S. McIntire, Administrative Officer, AAA, when he urged farmers to sign cotton insurance applications before April 15, the closing date.

"Some of us depend on cotton as our chief source of income and it is good business to safeguard that source with crop insurance," he said.

He explained that farmers should insure their cotton when protection is needed, when it is growing in the field. Cotton which is insured, is protected from the time the seed is planted until the cotton is weighed in at the gin.

Unavoidable hazards covered by insurance include drought, boll weevil and other insects, frost, flood, plant disease, storms, hail and wind.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates McClung and little daughter Sue of Amarillo came Thursday and visited until Sunday with Mrs. McClung's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Patton.

Polk Goen returned home from Dallas where he attended a session of Hall Insurance adjustors and underwriters held there last week.

DO YOUR BIT IN THE FIGHT

KEEP YOUR RANGE IN FIGHTING TRIM

1. Wipe top burners with damp cloth after meals.
2. Use mild cleaner only for enamel, aluminum and chromium burners. Rinse with clear water, dry thoroughly. (Removable top sections, when so equipped, should be removed and cleaned firmly in place.)
3. Should burner ports ever need cleaning, use stiff wire brush or gently insert small wire to remove food particles.
4. Gas range burners last for years. Star shaped burners of even the oldest ranges can generally be kept working like new by occasionally boiling each three quarts of water. This should be followed by a rinse in hot soapsuds and cleaned at same time. Replace in exact original positions.

Urge Restriction Be Taken Off Of Cotton Products

How strongly cotton people feel that all restrictions should be lifted on cotton and cottonseed production, is indicated by the following appearing in a recent issue of Cotton appearing in the Dallas Oil Press, a Dallas publication. It is an excerpt from an address delivered at the New York Cotton Exchange National Cotton Conference forum, held on March 8, and called to attention by Grady Harris, manager of the Scott Glyn company here:

Every bale of lint that the Cotton Belt fails to produce in 1943 will deprive our armed forces of the powder to fire 12,000 to 15,000 bullets, because it will reduce the production of linters. One hundred and thirty or more pounds of needed cottonseed oil is lost with every unproduced bale—400 pounds of rich protein feed, already extremely scarce throughout the United States, will be lost—and about 240 pounds of cottonseed hulls, needed for feed and in the production of aviation gasoline and synthetic rubber, will be lost with every bale of cotton we do not produce this year. And, of course, we lose 500 pounds of lint, a most versatile and useful war material—a material which will be needed in increasing quantities during the war and after the war.

The time is very short in which to act to overcome the danger that the Cotton Belt will not produce enough of these war materials. In fact, it may be too late to insure production of "enough", but it is, certainly, not too late to prevent further reduction in planting and production of cotton. Day after day, farmers and the public must be told of the need for cotton and cottonseed. They must be convinced of the need to plant cotton—of the need for reducing the costly toll from insects—of the importance of picking every pound and of getting the seed and lint to the gin and oil mill. There can be no "let-up" in the effort throughout the spring, summer and fall—the fight cannot be won until all of the potential production has become cotton and cottonseed products.

The protein shortage is a serious matter on most farms, but in many cases livestock feeders are feeding too much cottonseed meal when cattle are running on wheat pasture. Feeding reports from the Experiment Stations have proven conclusively that an animal is capable of utilizing only a definite amount of high protein feeds, and all extra is thrown off as waste matter.

Too rich protein feeds for dairy cattle on wheat pasture will result in udder troubles. Without doubt this is one contributing factor to mastitis. While dairy cows are on wheat pasture they should have all of the dry bundles they will eat, plus a mixture to one part of cottonseed meal. Feed three pounds of this mixture for each gallon of milk the cow produces.

Based on present feed and butterfat prices a cow giving two gallons of milk daily will return her owner $9.00 per acre when grazing wheat, barley or rye pasture; providing other feeds are fed according to her production.

The protein shortage can be partially relieved if all livestock feeders will provide actual requirements for the animals they are feeding.

Longer staple cotton is needed this year, and to encourage the planting and harvesting of these types a program has been announced by the Department of Agriculture providing a payment of $2.25 per hundred to the grower planting certified Paymaster or Delta and Pine Lland. These two varieties have been approved for cotton growers in Floyd county.

Growers may receive $1.20 per hundred for planting seed of either of these varieties one year from state certification.

Cotton growers who may be interested in this program are requested to contact the county agent.

Free cotton classing is again available to cotton producers under the provisions of the Smith-Doxey Act. Growers must be members of cotton improvement associations, and adopt the variety best adapted to their conditions. The variety approved by the group need not be any special variety as recognized in the cotton seed subsidy program.

The Smith-Doxey program enables the grower to know the grade and staple of his cotton and serves as an official classing for the government loan program.

Cotton producers within a gin territory may take advantage of this service. The application should be filed by May 15.

Pvt. and Mrs. Glenn Jarnagin of Wichita Falls spent the week-end here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jarnagin at South Plains and Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Dorrell, city Pvt. Jarnagin is an instructor in the army air corps at Sheppard Field.

Metals which have previously been used for making pots and pans have gone to war. In their places are various sorts of kitchen utensils made of non-strategic materials.

The new kitchen ware made of pottery, earthenware and glass will provide very satisfactory if it is handled carefully. Sudden changes in temperature needs to be avoided. That is do not add food to a cold dish. Make sure the container does not boil dry.

Here are some tips for the home-maker who sews. Cover the cutting table with oil cloth, wrong side up. The rough surface will keep the material from slipping. They will also find it practical to keep a pair of tweezers in the machine drawer to pull the bobbin thread when it is too short to be pulled with the fingers.

For a small city garden Mrs. Rosborough, Horticulturist of Texas Extension Service, recommends a space 10x20 feet. Beets, onions, lettuce, mustard, carrots, spinach, beans and tomatoes have been suggested for this space. He suggests that all rows be 18 inches apart except tomatoes and they should be 36 inches apart.

Gardeners will find that the small packages of seed found in grocery stores have more than enough seed to plant a small garden. Save the extra seed for planting a fall garden.

Miss Helen Swift, Organization Specialist of the Extension Service, visited in the county Monday and talked to club officers and committee chairmen in the county courtroom in the afternoon.

Vernon McNeely Writes Parents About Africa

Vernon McNeely with a Ferrying Squadron at the present somewhere in Africa recently wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. McNeely two letters in which he tells them something about Army life in Africa. Vernon has been in the service only four months. The second week in February he made the trip to Africa by plane as one of the crew men.

The first letter dated March 1, 1943 is given as follows:

Dear Folks:
Well, here I am again as alive as ever and feeling fine. How is everything at home. How is the war coming anyway. We don't have newspapers or radios here. Tell me how we are doing over here anyway.

I had a card from Tommy yesterday. He was at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. Where have I heard that name before?

I got Wilma's picture O. K. I won't get those newspapers because no packages of any kind are coming over. I got a large package of letters from you yesterday. It was the first time I had heard from you in a couple of weeks.

Don't worry if you don't hear from me very often because the mail could get tied up somewhere and it may be some time before you get it. I am in good health and have a good appetite, also have a good bed so don't worry.

You may wonder why I don't sell my letters that is to save the censor the trouble of opening them.

The second letter, dated March 4 reads as follows:

Hello Folks:
Well, here I am again just as spry as ever. I am sending 120 snail-mailed letters this time. This is the money that I have been saving for some time. I will put it to some good cause after the war. I may go to that Spartan Aeronautical school after I have been at home a couple of months.

How is everything at home now? I hope you are all well. I got a letter from you and one from Wilma yesterday. She said she hadn't heard from you in nearly two weeks. She was wondering why you didn't write. The one I got from you is the one you wrote when you first heard I was in Africa. Gosh Mom, don't worry so much. From the sound of your letter I am having a much easier time of it over here than you are over there. I am O. K. and I expect to remain that way. I am like P. C. Vasser. I have not made any plans to get bumped off.

I had a card from Tommy McIntosh, he was at the Fort Sill reception center. I will bet he was sure sweating when he wrote that card if they are still as rough as when I was there.

Yes we have air mail stamps now. I could not get them for a long time. I got the ones you sent me O. K. How long does it take my letters to get to you? Yours are always old when I get them. Oh yes, I got the Christmas issues of The Hesperian today. A lot of the fellows are just now getting their Christmas packages.

No Mom, I didn't have anything to do with my being sent overseas. I guess Uncle Sam needed me pretty bad and when he said "come along" I had to go. I am seeing a lot of strange people and country over here. I could write a library on what I have seen already. I think I will write a book about Africa when I get home.

Activities At The City Park Church Of Christ

(J. G. Malphurs, minister)
What the world is to be in the next generation will depend upon the training of children now. This training must be done by parents, churches and schools. To expand these duties in the training of children the minister will take for his text Prov. 22:6, "Train up a child in the way he should go, and even when he is old he will not depart from it."

At the evening hour, 8 o'clock, the subject will be: "The Worst Place to get a Fall," from Heb. 10:31.

Our mid-week services are holding out in a very good way. As long as the world is in a crisis and society is going into a total eclipse, the "praying squad" of the church must be more vigilant than ever. These services are on Wednesday night at 8:30.

Plans are being made to make the "singing revival" a success. This new way of preaching the gospel will begin April 4th, and continue through the 11th. An expert song director of Abilene Christian college has been secured to lead the congregation in the preaching of the gospel sermons by singing them. We hope that all music lovers of the city will come and both help and enjoy this unusual treat.

PENNEY'S 41st ANNIVERSARY

it's lovely dresses... smart pajamas... new clothes for the kids.

NOT just a bolt of Yard Goods, it's much more than that! It's the hundreds of useful and pretty things into which the clever fingers of women can transform it. In a sense, this simple bolt of Yard Goods symbolizes a great American business—the J. C. Penney Company.

Yard Goods were a major part of the stock in trade of Mr. J. C. Penney's first little store—opened 41 years ago in Kemmerer, Wyoming.

From the outside this first Penney store looked far from impressive. Inside, though, people discovered it was different. For it set a new pattern of low-cost retail store service as neighborly and as typically American as ride-sharing and quilting bees!

Mr. Penney didn't think "How much can I take?" but "How much can I give?" He cut out useless frills, charge accounts and deliveries; pared prices to the bone; preferred many sales at small profit to a few at large profit.

THE PENNEY IDEA GREW—TODAY PENNEY STORES DOT THE MAP!

Kemmerer took to that first Penney store! So did Moscow, Idaho later on. And Salt Lake City, Utah. And San Antonio, Texas. And today there are over 1600 Penney stores in all 48 states.

For every hundred dollars worth of sheets, or blankets, or shoes, or yard goods the Penney store sells in Peoria, Illinois or Scranton, Pennsylvania, or Savannah, Georgia, it pays back honest and substantial savings.

For every hundred dresses, or shirts, or overalls it sells in Waltham, Massachusetts, or Stockton, California, or Chillicothe, Ohio, it pays back rich dividends in local salaries, advertising, rent and taxes.

Today Penney stores from Coast to Coast, in neighborhood fashion, are helping to balance the household budgets of millions of Americans. Today Mr. Penney's 41 year old idea of success through giving, rather than taking, is still the Penney way.
