Com. Light Rate Reduction Made By Municipality

A deep cut in lighting rates for commercial users in Floydada, was announced this week by the municipality, effective as to bills payable on July 1.

The second reduction in rates to be promulgated by the city since it began the operation of a power and light plant early in 1940, the new rates take one-third off of the first bracket of lighting cost to the user and averages a reduction to even the larger users of approximately 25 per cent.

The new rate voted by the council in its regular April session, was confirmed as the rate for users following a hearing Tuesday night of this week. The changed rate makes the commercial lighting charges relatively more equitable in comparison with residence rates, it was pointed out by members of the council.

Following are the new rates effective on July 1 bills, in comparison with rates which have been in effect for a long period of time:

Table with 3 columns: KW Hours, Old Rate, New Rate. Rows include First 50, Next 200, Next 750, Next 2,000, and Excess.

Trash, Tree Trimmings Blocking Alleys; Council Calls On Owners To Help Out By Cleaning Up

John W. Lanier and J. D. McBrien, councilmen who are particularly assigned to aid the clean up brigade this week, join the matter seriously and really clean up. The city couldn't begin to haul off all the trash accumulated with the facilities at hand and have no place they could haul to if they did have. The city does, however, attempt to haul off trash that cannot be burned after the property owner cleans up rubbish down to the non-inflammable stuff. Allevs after which are practically blocked on block after block, report the aldermen, who say the condition should be remedied at the earliest possible moment.

Start of the clean up campaign this week revealed to the city council a "serious mess" in so many alleys as to make a serious menace to the welfare of the community. Not only are alleys blocked so badly as to prevent fire calls to some hydrants, but the same trees and other trash would add flames and smoke to the holocaust that a fire and a high dry wind could bring to the community.

EDITORIALS

Land that went begging for years is now changing ownership with remarkable alacrity and price ranges are being revised upward fast. Whether this is a healthy thing is one of the debated questions of this century. What price land should be and who have the last say about it? Is the land worth $22.50 per acre in Floyd county or is it worth $55? And if land is worth double what it sold for during the depression can the public pay prices for the farm products that will justify twice as much money invested in farm lands? There isn't a satisfactory answer to these questions—satisfactory that is to all interests. We know that investments in land equities based on high prices was a part of the depression in the southwest, in fact, made a depression, so far as the farms were concerned, long before Washington or New York City or Pittsburgh had any inkling or so much as saw what was taking place. Will the same thing happen again? One can't say for sure. Maby "they" do have something in mind that will prevent it. In Russia the way they settled things like that, and may do yet for all we know, was to take the big land holder out and shoot him. Official Soviet Russia was a skilled workman's country, all authorities being such. They knew nothing of the land problem and no patience was wasted on the landed gentry, either of the peasantry or of the nobility. Lately, since all are having to fight to save Russia from the German horde, it is said the workmen have come to think better of the farmers. A man who loves the land is the best fighter in the world. A fighter always commands respect in any man's society. And so, if the program is revised in that country and they cease shooting the big land owner what will they do about prices and how will they get the homeless and the land together on an equitable basis? Land has been at the bottom of most social problems in all times and in all lands. Likely it always shall be. It may indeed be one of those unsearchable things about which Job wrote much. Man knoweth not the price thereof, neither is it found in the land of the living.

Well, the poor folks have scored again. One of the leading newsnotes of the week is that the folks who buy theirs out of a can, having the money to spend their points on, had an unhappy hour or two buying up what they could get with their stamps before they expired last Friday night. The other folks weren't bothered. We looked on while the well-to-do tugged and sweated in the food emporiums; trying to get their food and get checked out in time to get home for bed. They worried themselves and the food clerks mightily. But us others, we had been down by the lake and gathered us some lambs quarter and out in the corner of the lot and got us some good old poke greens. Already, the blood stream purified, iron and calcium were giving the vitamins a merry chase through our systems, the pepper uppers were already at work. Thus again it is proved that nature is abundantly ready to provide for those who seeing do see. It also proves that the poor man, if he works at it hard enough, can find some advantages he has over his well-to-do neighbor. Sometimes you have to think hard though.

Lumbermen say the people have gone building materials crazy. Hearing about the shortage a lot of folks have decided they better get their lumber and whatnot "before the hoarders get started." Of course, the high prices of poultry and all kinds of live stock, and the profitable prices of feeds have made better quarters, better granaries and barns highly desirable. But this demand, running counter to the demand of the army and government need has made any old kind of a board easy to sell. Some of the boards one sees wouldn't have been more than glanced at formerly by the average buyer. The fact is some of these boards are going to start crawling before the builder can get nails in them and it may take a man on a good cutting horse to run them down by the end of the year. It might make the lumbermen hostile to say this but it is definitely not meant disparagingly. People are demanding boards of some kind, and if they can't get one thing they insist on another. A buying spree that seems to be endless so far as the building materials man is concerned, and a considerable part of it justified by conditions, we admit.

The building materials people doubtless have in mind the day which the scientists tell us about—the post-war day when lots of materials are going to be used that are not now on the markets. Plastics, synthetics, and many other kinds of materials will be used, we are told—non-rusting drain pipes, light and pliable to take the place of iron just to mention one of the many things hinted at and talked about. Even now you read advertisements about prefabricated houses in the big centers where housing is a nightmarish problem, houses that can be assembled in "six man hours."

The next ration book the government puts out—No. 3 now in the making or already made—they are going to try the experiment of mailing to people, instead of having the public going to all the trouble that a registration at the school house calls for. The assumption is that the bill will be far less for the books to travel to the folks instead of the folks traveling to the books. Stamps in Book One and Two will be voided, of course, when that happens. Naturally, your curiosity arises as to how the new book will look and how it will work. Everything in the food line that is rationed will be handled through it, it is assumed, and shoes as well. Reports that clothing will be rationed are being strongly denied in official circles.

Here's a tip on breaking up clumps and replanting flowering shrubs: A lot of people take such things as spirea and, as soon as the blossoming season is over, re-plant. Why not leave them be until the light of the moon next November, when the sap is started down? Very likely, that way, you'll have blossoms next spring, much better chance than tearing them up just as the sap is coming up strong in the late spring. Modern young women with college degrees and bachelor of science degrees they could tie on to their names didn't get taught any of that, and it will be difficult for them to break over from their school room book learning. But book learning isn't worth anything to anybody except to impart knowledge and wisdom. Mother Nature's school was doing business at the same old stand when the first college was only a wise man on one end of a log and a boy on the other.

Thinking and keeping at it creates everything.

Prayer For A Birthday

By R. H. Greenville
"On this day especially, dear Father, let us remember your great gift of life. Let me remember and cherish those who shared with you in the giving; whose encouragement and understanding with me from the first.

"But let me remember that birthdays are only symbols of something infinitely higher. That every day of my life is a birthday in spirit. A day in which some new beauty, or joy, or strength may be born into my soul; in which I may express the divine life force in giving birth to newer and better things. Each day opens to me new opportunities more radiant health deeper understanding firmer faith, greater success richer ideas abundant wealth; these and so much more if I but claim them. This then dear Father is my prayer: That each day I may bring forth some new good into my life and that each day I may give it forth for the joy and benefit for those around me. Amen."

As May the fourth is the day I was born way back in 1888, the prayer above is mine.

Congratulations also to Mrs. Bob Willis whose birthday is the same as mine.

News Items from the Files of The Hesperian

(Issue of May 9, 1929)

For one hour this Thursday afternoon the city government of Floydada will be run entirely by the children of the city. The Junior Town Organization, sponsored by the Chautauqua which has been here throughout the week, will take charge at 4:45 o'clock.

Waldo Houghton was elected mayor of Floydada Junior Town. Other officers and commissioners elected by the juniors were as follows: Town Clerk, Lloyd Murray; reporter of Junior Town events, Kyle Glover; Law and Order commission, Floyd Murray, chairman, Walton Henderson and John Harvey Scogins; Town Service Commission, William Barnett, chairman, Bert Ione Smith and Addie Barker; Health Commission, Reba Duncan, chairman, Mary Lynn Fry and Mardell Mitchell.

More than 160 children took part in the Junior Town parade Tuesday afternoon. Judges were selected to pick the prettiest, the cleverest, and the funniest characters represented in the parade. Marquinta Price, representing a Spanish Senorita, was selected as the prettiest and Bill Moody, representing Huckleberry Finn, was chosen as the cleverest. Betty Lou Pippen with her snuff box was judged the funniest character in the parade.

G. N. Shirey, of this city was elected president of the South Plains Rural Carriers association last Saturday evening at the regular semi-annual meeting held in Plainview. Mr. Shirey extended the carriers an invitation to hold their next meeting in this city and the association voted to accept his invitation. T. W. Salisbury local carrier, was elected as a delegate, representing this district at the state meeting at Dallas. Misses Louise Allen and Juanita Shirey were on the program precedes looked quite serene and peaceful. On the hills one could see small fields and pastures and farm homes here and there. Just below was a railroad with its small trains and whistle which have a "peep, peep" whistle. Apple trees are in bloom and peach and cherry. Jonquils and many other flowers are out. It is beautiful and wouldn't be a bad place to live at all. I shall get things now and then to remember the country by and bring home all I can. The people I have met I shall have to bring home in memory but they will be very vivid and delightful memories.

This letter from my son gave me peace in my heart and I know the grand country and people of England will some day have the peace they so rightly deserve and little children can go to sleep at night safe with their mothers and their daddies.

And does it make me angry to have some one grab the lawn mower and cut a swath right down through the lawn that I had so carefully and painfully mowed just four days ago

The pyraeanthra was like a lovely dream, gone just as you awoke to its bridal beauty.

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love
Foolishment
I'm her spearmint
She's my plug
I'm her cockroach
She's my bug
If she's crazy
I'm demented
If she's happy
I'm contented.

Leve's Old Sweet Song
They sat in a hammock built for two.
And they talked about—well, what they always do;
And he held her tight in a throbbing hold
And told her a story that's never old
And a skeeter sat on his leg and sung
And he never moved, tho it stung and stung.

And there was the cowboy who was protesting his love to the rancher's pretty daughter and he said just give me a chance to prove my love
Well she sweetly said "Try sitting a while on the hot stove."

If the young people's fancy turns to thoughts of love in the spring the elders turn to thoughts of garden sass and fried chicken. And that reminds me that it would be so nice to live in town and get mad at the neighbors chickens for scratching up the garden and flowers. In the country it is your own chickens that do this. A woman can get mad at her husbands roving pigs though and this helps a whole lot.

Oh if we only had one rain that we complained so much about this time last spring.

The sparrows have nibbled off all the leaves on the English peas. Their ugly nests sway from every limb it seems on every tree. Their young chirp high up in the barn, around the eaves in the henhouse. I wonder why the sparrow does not have a redeeming feature. They are not pretty, they do not even have a pleasant chirp, they are quarreling, they drive away other birds. This is a bad case against them, but what do they care for are just that much encouragement for them to carry on.

George B. McAllister, formerly of Dallas, is now a permanent resident of Floydada and expects this week to be ready to open up the new wholesale station of the Texas Company.

Mrs. Stanley Johnston, who has been taking a course in beauty work under a graduate of Plainview, completed her course last week and this week opened a beauty shop in the balcony of the Floydada Drug company.

Contract for a new brick school building for Dougherty will be let Tuesday, May 21.

Judge E. C. Nelson, Jr. underwent a major operation in an Oklahoma City hospital last Friday afternoon.

V. Williams, of Seagraves, announcement of whose appointment to the position of agent of the Santa Fe at Floydada was made last week, succeeding F. J. Barkhurst.

Mrs. Ray Clements and Mrs. Polk Goen, recent brides, were honored by the Sassa Sassa Bridge club with a miscellaneous shower Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jeff Welborn.

Mrs. C. E. Bartlett was honored on her birthday last Wednesday with a surprise birthday dinner given by her daughter, Miss Ophelia Bartlett.

It's Patriotic... and it's plain common sense... to keep your driving at minimum until victory comes.
Rubber, which can be used against the enemy in every battle area, is too precious to be used for anything but essential driving... for going to work... for necessary shopping... for travel to and from places without other transportation facilities.

Remember, the rubber-saving, gaso-line-saving, legal speed-limit is 35 miles an hour. Remember, too, that a tire worn beyond the danger point cannot be re-capped.

So be sure to get the help of the Phillips 66 Service Man.

See him at least once a week. He will check the air pressure in your tires, inspect them for cuts and bruises, criss-cross them with the spare every 3000 miles, tell you when re-capping is advisable. He will check your radiator, battery, and air filter. Will lubricate your car from fan-drive to stop-light. Then, with Phillips 66 Poly Gas and Phillips 66 Motor Oil... your money, your car, and your tires will all go farther.

Millions of drivers know from experience that Phillips 66 Poly Gas is famous for pep and mileage. So next time you are ready to use a coupon or two, stop at the Orange and Black 66 Shield, and find out just how good today's Phillips 66 Poly Gas is.

Worthy Mothers As Described By Solomon

(By J. G. Malphurs, minister)
The crying need of America today is more mothers of the kind as glorified by Solomon, the old-fashioned mothers. There are a few of these Bible kind of mothers, and the boy that is fortunate to have one can not forget her. He will need no special day to boost his love for her but here are a few lines from Solomon's tribute to such a mother:

"She openeth her mouth with wisdom; and the law of kindness is on her tongue. She looketh well to the ways of her household and eateth not the bread of idleness. Her children rise up and call her blessed; Her husband also and he praiseth her, saying

Many daughters have done worthy but thou excellest them all! Grace is deceitful and beauty is vain; but a woman that feareth Jehovah, she shall be praised. Give her the fruit of her hands; and let her works praise her in the gates." Prov. 31:26-31.

The City Park church will be glad to have all mothers and their children worship God with us next Lord's day, both morning and evening. We would like for fathers to come along too. A special Bible lesson will be conducted at 10:15 in the auditorium as a climax to the course in Hebrews. The two classes in this course will meet together. Come and listen to this general survey and review of this book. It will do you good.

Mother's Day Services To Be Observed

(By L. A. Doyle, pastor)
Sunday is Mother's day and we will observe the day with a special Mother's day program honoring all mothers but especially the mothers of men in the army. We want the mothers of our soldier boys to be our special guest and sit in a group. This is not to be a sob scene and the pastor will not take advantage of this occasion to play on your emotions but the service will be interesting and helpful.

We are purchasing a large album for the pictures of the men in service and would like for each mother to bring a picture for this album Sunday morning. We believe the album is much better than a board for these pictures.

Sunday night services will meet at the regular time, 7:45 for Training Union and 8:45 for preaching. May we have one hundred in Training Union, come and back the evening services.

Dailey's Circus Insured Against Labor Trouble

The circus carries very unusual insurance against labor troubles, at least the Dailey Bros. Circus, coming to Floydada Thursday, May 13 claims it has very dependable insurance against any such troubles.

When Dailey Bros. Circus arrives on the show grounds in Floydada the six big elephants will do many acts not on the show bills. People who chance to be on the grounds will see the big elephants raise the huge center poles, pull up the peaks of the big tents, shove the heavy loads into positions, carry seat plank into the big top and do many acts to help the busy workmen erect the city of tents. Then after the night show, they will be seen going around the big tents, wrapping their powerful trunks around the iron stakes and pulling them from the ground as if they were straw, and they do this without the presence of any man.

All of the elephants on the Dailey Circus are natives of India and in that country they are trained to work. Unlike their African cousins who are very stubborn and temperamental the Indian elephant is docile, intelligent, and willing to work, in fact they are like dogs in that they seem eager to do what is expected of what they can do.

Always Sober, Contented
The circus manager like the elephants in his labor ranks since they never strike, are always sober and contented as long as they have plenty of good hay or sugar cane with an occasional loaf of white bread. Just as the horse trainer will always slip some loaf sugar to the horse, the elephant trainer, even little Norma Devenport, after the work is over will hand the big fellows a loaf of bread apiece.

The Dailey Circus is doubly pleased with its elephants account of their remarkable act in the center ring, especially their base ball act, where the catcher scolds the pitcher and the batter slides to third base.

Ham Smith Fast Competitor In Track Event

DENTON, Texas, May 3. — With nearly 200 North Texas State Teachers College Army, Navy and Marine reserves participating in the recent Lone Star Conference Telegraphic Track meet, the Denton school turned in plenty of good times and distances on the NTSTC track.

Hamilton Smith of Floydada, junior student at North Texas State, took first place in the 880 yard run, competing in the Marine Reserve division. Smith, the son of W. H. Smith of Floydada, is a member of the Eagle football and track squads, and is also an active member in the Talons fraternity.

The telegraphic meet was installed by a unanimous vote of the Lone Star Conference athletic directors, faculty sponsors, and coaches in order to save tires and gasoline and to provide an opportunity for all college students in the Army, Navy and Marine reserves to enter real competition.

Knowing about the track meet seven months in advance, the reserves have been working hard in order to get themselves in the best of condition for trips to Berlin and Tokyo, as well as for first places in the LSC Telegraphic Track Meet.

Competes At San Marcos
Smith also represented the North Texas State Teachers college track squad in the 440 yard run and the 440 yard relay events May 1 when the Eagles journeyed to San Marcos for the 12th annual Lone Star conference track and field meet.

Conservation District News

O. L. Head who recently moved to his place in the Baker community needed terraces badly. He applied to the District's supervisors for help. After the District's technicians had planned the farm and run the lines Mr. Head found that his tractor would not handle the terracing machine. Not to be outdone he rustled up an old sulky plow and a discarded piece of grader blade. With these improvised implements and a one-way he has built an excellent set of terraces. That's the old spirit, O. L.!

"Since my 640 acre farm was terraced I have not failed once on a crop. I have harvested feed several years when neighboring unterraced farms did not make any feed at all. I now have 700 tons of silage and 340 tons of dry stacked feed. I can easily say that the following of the practices recommended by the Floyd County Soil Conservation district has increased my crops more than 100 percent. — Jess M. Sandusky Lockney, Texas.

The District Supervisors urge every Floyd county farmer to assist in the war effort by applying every possible simple widespread farming practice.

If you are in need of help in farm planning and engineering, apply to Chairman Nelson, W. F. Ferguson, Johnnie Lackey, F. L. Brown, Webb Taylor, Supervisors or to the District office.

Watch this column each week for comments by Floyd county farmers.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Fenner and little daughter Carolyn Sue, who have been making their home in Canyon for the past month, moved back to Floydada Monday and Mr. Fenner will again be associated with his father-in-law, C. P. Looper in the grocery business.

THANKS A LOT . . . For Your Faithful Patronage

It is sad to think we were forced out of business on account of health. We had a constant increase in business each and every week and, best of all, we feel our business relations have caused our friendships to grow warmer and more sincere than ever. Of course, we are happy over this and after all, life wouldn't be worth much without your kindly feeling toward us.

We have sold out to a very Deserving Young Couple—

MR. AND MRS. V. H. TURNER

We only sold the equipment and we are still interested and will appreciate your continued patronage. We feel we can highly recommend Mr. and Mrs. Turner—trying to get a start in Life and Very Deserving of your Patronage.

We feel we have lived up to our advertising. We did not advertise service as we did not want to disappoint you—no one can expect pre-war service. We sincerely appreciate your being so considerate about our service.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner have agreed to go right ahead and not disappoint on the contest, so the box will be there for you to drop your criticism of the business; and the winners will be announced the week following the close of the contest—the third week in May.

The red spider is a broad-minded insect because it attacks nearly every cultivated crop and also feeds on flowers, shrubbery, greenhouse plants, weeds and many small plants. It over-winters in the adult stage, feeding on everything that is green. Reproduction is slow in winter, but when warm weather arrives it can produce a generation of young every 11 or 12 days.

Most noticeable damage this time of the year will be a brown cast to expensive evergreens. This pest is so small that it seldom is seen by the naked eye. The spider sucks the juice from leaves, and the first symptom of its presence is small, light, rusty spots on the leaves.

Red spider can be easily controlled by dusting with regular dusting sulphur. Do a thorough job of dusting and be sure the entire plant is covered.

Dairy cows cannot be expected to give maximum production when they are annoyed by bloodsucking flies. The horn fly and stable fly are the chief pests to cattle in summer. These species also are capable of transmitting certain disease of both cattle and people.

Experiments have shown that horn flies can be controlled by using a trap so placed that cows will have to pass through it daily. A series of curtains within the trap framework brush the flies from the animal and they are caught in screen wire traps along the sides. Plans for constructing such a trap may be secured at the county agent's office.

The most practical means of control of the stable fly is the elimination of breeding places.

Taxes will be higher in 1943, and record books will sure prove their value at the close of the year. A Victory tax will have to be paid on all income over $234 ($12 a week) and if that tax is not being deducted monthly the exact income will be important.

It is not too late to start that record for the year. You will thank yourself for having good judgment next March if you start the book this month.

Call at the office and select the book you like from the sample copies available for your inspection.

In South Africa one white man out of every seven is in the armed forces.

A number of questions have been asked about regulations which affect rationed products which are produced and sold. Miss Myrtle Murry, specialist in home industries from A. and M. college has collected answers to typical questions. One question is how to sell home canned food. They can be sold, she says, but first you must register as a processor with your local rationing board and must have ration coupons the same as the value of customers and the same as he would give if he bought the canned food at the grocery store.

As much as 50 quarts may be given to relatives or friends without collecting points. A person may give canned foods to a school lunch room or a church and for a church supper without collecting points or carrying out his 50 quart gift allotment.

Miss Murry says that in order to sell butter and lard made on the farm a farmer will not be required to register with his local rationing board but he must collect points from his customers and turn them in with a monthly report on his butter and lard sales to his local rationing board.

Many of you have recently planted tomato seed in the garden where you expect to have the plants. If you planted them in a hot bed or in a tub you will probably be transferring them to the garden in a week or two. Set out only strong, hearty looking plants and put them in the ground a little deeper than they were originally. They should be placed about two feet apart and watered thoroughly. Mr. Rosborough, Extension Horticulturist, says that growth will be helped by working a shovelful of rotted manure into the soil. Where each plant is to grow along with a teaspoon full of commercial fertilizer chopped into an area of about 2 square feet.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cooper announce the arrival of Frances Evelyn, a 10-pound daughter, who was born April 28. Mother and baby are reported doing fine at their home at 621 North Henry street. Grandparents are Mrs. Ida Cooper of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Simpson of Roaring Springs.

Funds already paid in are about exhausted and new money is needed to keep the work going. Rev. Tyler said. Surplus Flowers Of Exchange Given Colored Women

A flower exchange, for all of the women of the county, sponsored by the Floydada Garden club was held Saturday afternoon in front of the Farris building, next door north of the McDonald Hardware from 2 until 5:30 o'clock.

"Although it was intended as a county affair very few of the rural women participated in the event," an official of the club said. "The city women were very happy in being able to make some exchanges, adding to the variety of their flowers and shrubs" she continued. The late season was attributed as one reason for the small attendance.

All of the surplus flowers and shrubs were presented to Annie Taylor to be distributed to the colored women.

The exchange committee was composed of Mrs. A. E. Guthrie, Mrs. G. V. Smith and Mrs. E. L. Norman.

Den Hunting In Trapper War On Coyotes

The government trapper's job, like that of the housewife, is never done. No sooner does he finish a winter of extermination work against the coyote and the bobcat until spring comes and he begins den hunting against the same enemies.

Reporting on his operations since he began work in Floyd county as a county-federal sponsored trapper T. J. Sparks pointed out this week that at this time of year the successful predatory game hunter will spend the next several weeks hunting out breeding dens of coyotes and bobcats, where he can exterminate the cubs instead of waiting until next winter when they begin to get grown and have to work on them singly.

An Interesting Job
The government trapper has an interesting job—interesting if you study the habits and tricks of the wolf and the bobcat and learn how to pit your own skill against their wiles. For neither of these specimens of predatory wildlife could survive and carry on their lines with being more than just ordinarily cagey. With all hands turned against them, they subsist and multiply only by being too smart for their enemies.

In his job the trapper has the cooperation of all the people who help as much as they can, tipping him off when they find their turkeys, chickens, sheep and small calves begin to disappear. Usually Mr. Wolf can't cover up his tracks completely. There is always some kind of a clue that leads toward his lair that the owner can give the trapper.

Today Sparks has destroyed 614 coyotes and about 35 bobcats since he began work two years ago. Practically all of these have been on the rim of the caprock or under the hill and along the eastern reaches of Blanco and Quitaque canyons. On the west side of the county he has done little or no work because he has had no complaints from that section, the terrain furnishing less protection for the coyote.

Among the unusual animals Sparks has captured and put out of business this spring was one bobcat and bob-tailed—trimmed up like a bulldog. Another had a wire tied around his neck and grown half an inch into the flesh. He was around six or seven years old Sparks estimated. Evidently caught when a pup and tied up for a pet by some youngster the coyote had escaped to grow up and prey for a number of years on other animal life. Anything but a coyote would have died with a wire grown so deeply into the flesh of his neck, the trapper opined.

During certain months of the winter the pelts of the coyote are worth saving and during that time the skin is turned in by the trapper to the authorities as proof of the reports he makes on his activities. In other times of the year, when the pelts have no value, only the ears are forwarded.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lincoln, who have been here the past ten days visiting in the home of Mr. Lincoln's mother, Mrs. C. F. Lincoln left Wednesday for their home at Los Angeles, California.

Charles Harris of Amarillo was a guest in the home of his mother Mrs. S. T. Harris Tuesday night and Wednesday.
