

County Schools Begin To Open Next Monday

Schools of Floyd county will begin to open on successive Mondays in the month of August until practically all of them will be in operation (where teachers are available) by the first day of September, it was indicated this week at the county superintendent's office.

First school to begin the 1943-44 term will be Sand Hill, where classes will begin Monday, August 16. On the following Monday, August 23, McCoy, Baker and Edgin will open. Most of the others will open on August 30. South Plains school has announced an opening date of September 6.

Of the rural school staff in the county eight places were vacant as late as yesterday. One school opening date is set subject to the employment of a teacher to take charge.

685 Transfers Asked

When the county board held their "transfer" meeting last week they had 685 requests for transfer to consider. These for the most part were officially approved. Of these transfers 181 were made to Lockney, 127 to Floydada and 111 to schools outside of the county, including Petersburg, Plainview, Quitaque and Flomot for the most part.

Aiken school was re-classified to teach nine grades instead of eight and will use three teachers instead of two this year.

Melvin Potts, who resigned as trustee at Erick, was replaced by the appointment of John M. Holmen. Center school district was given authority by the board to lease their 5-acre tract to the Pure Oil company.

Clonts Selling His Registered Hereford Cattle

J. W. Clonts, carrier of Route No. One out of Floydada, who recently sold his farm in Starkey community and most of his grade cattle, is getting completely out of the live stock business, he announced, and will sell his purebred registered Herefords, including both male and female specimens.

Lack of available labor to carry on his stock farming operations made it necessary for Mr. Clonts to retire from this line of endeavor. It has been his intention to carry on the farm as a place of residence and sideline until the acute shortage of help made this impractical.

An announcement, giving details as to his purebreds, is carried in this issue of The Hesperian.

Cannery Turns Out Hundreds Of Containers

The community cannery in the Randerson building, sponsored by the Floydada Public Schools with Mrs. W. C. Sims as supervisor, continues to turn out containers of vegetables for winter needs by the hundreds, H. G. Barber, Vocational agriculture teacher of the school, said this week.

People are hurrying to save all the vegetables they possibly can before the products become too mature for best results, he said. Last week's report shows 2010 pints of food saved at the cannery.

While Mrs. Sims' hours are reasonable on paper, they have, as a matter of fact, been long and tedious and she rarely is able to close down any day before 8 or 9 o'clock at night.

"We have been urging people to make their arrangements to can earlier in the day so as to avoid this imposition on the supervisor," Mr. Barber said, who also pointed out that while Mrs. Sims was supposed to over see the work she was in fact doing a large part of the work for would-be learners. The cannery, he said, is supposed to be a place where adults learn by doing.

Facilities have been much more limited than was expected early in the season. An improvised heater and an improvised heating arrangement is taking the place of large cookers that are supposed to be in use, but which have not as yet been received, Barber said.

Christmas Parcel Mail To Soldiers Oversea Limited

Christmas packages may be mailed to American soldiers serving overseas without presentation of a request from the soldier, during period from September 15 through October 15, which has been designated as Christmas mail month for soldiers overseas, the War Department announced.

The term "overseas" is regarded as covering the personnel of our armed forces who receive their mail through an A. P. O. or fleet postoffice in care of the postmaster at New York, N. Y.; San Francisco, California; New Orleans, Louisiana; Miami, Florida; Presque Isle, Maine; or Seattle, Washington; or through a naval installation or station in care of the postmaster of Seattle.

Size And Weight

Christmas gift packages will be accepted for mailing only within the present limitations of weight and size five pounds in weight; 15 inches in length, and 36 inches in length and girth combined. The instructions suggest double-faced corrugated fiberboard or strong cardboard boxes, securely wrapped in strong paper and tied with twine.

As each parcel is subject to censorship, delay in handling may be minimized by tying the parcel instead of sealing, so as to permit ready inspection of the contents. Perishable matter will not be accepted for mailing, and every effort will be made to discourage mailing of fragile articles.

Christmas packages mailed through this period should bear the endorsement "Christmas Gift Parcel."

Only one such package will be accepted for mailing by or on behalf of the same person or concern to or for the same addressee during any one week.

City Puts Crew On Drainage And Clean-Up

Need for effective measures to carry on the clean up of all possible sources of filth and fly breeding spots in the community is getting the recognition of city authorities this week.

In addition to a check-up on all spots which may harbor or promote the spread of disease, the city itself has a crew of men who are working on drainage ditches and cleaning out culverts to make sure that ample drainage is afforded and that no stagnant waters are allowed to accumulate and become polluted.

Mayor W. U. White Monday said the city council had given assurance that every possible thing would be done to assure healthful conditions. "While we have had no cases, so far as we know, that have actually developed from infection in Floydada, we just don't want to take any chances that we know how to head off," Mr. White said.

"It has been proven time and again that flies are carriers of filth and that the same is true of some species of the mosquito. Now that doctors and scientists are finding some suspicious relation between outbreaks of poliomyelitis and the presence of filth and flies, we have added reason for doing everything possible to separate filth from our community."

Last week Joe A. Stanley, Jr., sanitary engineer of the Texas State Department of Health in discussions with local officials, urged a campaign to eliminate breeding places for harmful forms on private premises, and told newspaper representatives while here that epidemics in other portions of the state appeared to have direct relation to unsanitary conditions.

No new polio cases had been reported locally since last mid-week. Seven cases, of which four were fatal, were diagnosed in July and the first days of August.

A broadside last week, signed by the mayor, City Marshal Bob Smith and Acting Health Officer Geo. V. Smith, pointing out possible sources of infection and suggesting ways of eliminating them, created widespread interest in this and adjacent communities.

FLIES BELIEVED CARRIERS OF POLIO INFECTION

AUSTIN, Aug. 7. (AP).—A University of Texas bacteriologist today suggests that crowded and insanitary conditions in defense areas have probably increased incidence of infantile paralysis as well as dysentery in certain Texas cities.

Dr. T. V. Schubert, professor of bacteriology, cited additional evidence that flies and sewage are responsible for the spread of infantile paralysis.

Growing belief that flies pick up the virus from insanitary sewage systems was based on the close correlation of the rise of dysentery, a fly-an-sewage-spread disease, paralysis as shown by the state health departments' weekly current reports. For the two weeks ending July 21, 201 cases of infantile paralysis were reported, as compared to an average of 17 cases for the same period during the past seven years, while 1,030 cases of dysentery were reported, compared to the previous seven year average of 297 cases.

The Fuquas will move soon to their newly acquired home in South Floydada, Mr. Fuqua said.

Many Trees In Floydada Suffer For Lack Of Attention, R. E. Fry Warns Home Owners

Trees by the hundred over Floydada are suffering for the lack of water, some of them actually in a dying state right now, for lack of water and attention, R. E. Fry, local tree student and enthusiast warns home owners this week.

With the skies like brass overhead and the ground hard as flint below, many trees are actually approaching the stage where it will be impossible to revive them, while others are damaging and will have such low vitality they will be subject to insect attacks. Fry is sure. Borers, bagworms, webworms and the myriads of insects that are in the country will take advantage of the situation to ruin many a tree.

Best and most economical way to water a tree in town, Mr. Fry says he has found in his experience, is to leave the water barely dripping out of the hose at the base of the tree overnight. While it may not use any less water through the meter, it certainly will not use more and the slow penetration of the water gets down through the hard top surface to where the roots of the tree are. "A dashing sort of watering

Groves On Labor-Management Committee, Pantex

Ralph Groves, former resident of Floydada, was one of three Certainated Products corporation employees selected to serve on a Labor-Management committee at Pantex Ordnance plant, Amarillo, during a recent plant-wide election.

Groves was one of 11 candidates and won his office by a comfortable majority.

The purpose of the Labor-Management committee is to provide a means for considering problems at Pantex which affect both labor and management and for working out a cooperative solution of them. At other war production plants such groups have been instrumental in maintaining good relations between employees and management, in promoting conservation programs and in increasing efficiency, it is understood.

Groves moved to Amarillo and entered war production work at the bomb loading plant last August, 1942 and has been prominent in employee activities at Pantex.

Turn Wheat Loose New Order Of Farm Program

There will be no wheat allotments, no wheat goals, no wheat penalties for 1944.

Wheat raisers are turned loose with no strings attached to handle their own acreages as they please, so far as wheat is concerned.

This is the order that came out to the Floyd County Agricultural Conservation committee here Saturday and to all other committees where wheat is raised in the nation.

Save and except to urge that farmers watch their land and not plant it from fence to fence and get the land started to blowing once more, the local committee administrative officer, Ray McEntire, said the committee had no comment. The measure is a war emergency undertaking. Its effect on agricultural economy of the country will be watched with interest.

Local Force Is Pared

McEntire announced yesterday that on Tuesday night seven members of the local force of clerical helpers had been given their release, leaving a skeleton crew to carry on the work of the county organization. "The office will continue open and will function as in the past on the committee system, will all committees, county and community, intact," Mr. McEntire said yesterday afternoon. "The only change is in the crew of workers, the office using a skeleton crew to carry on as a matter of wartime economy provided for by the congress. All agriculture appropriations were deeply pared in this bill, Mr. McEntire said.

Liquor Troubles For Three Who Plead Guilty

The high price and scarcity of drinking liquor were reflected in troubles of three recorded in Floyd county court this week.

Two negroes were arrested southwest of town by Sheriff Lee Howard, City Marshal Bob Smith, assisted by Leon Bowen of the State Liquor Control board, and pled guilty before Judge G. C. Tubbs, when charged with the unlawful manufacture of whiskey. They were given a year each in jail.

Sheriff Howard said the colored boys, living southwest of town seven miles, had on a cooking when they were arrested and their paraphernalia confiscated. With the mash and some liquor also was taken some chow beer.

A white man at Lockney, charged with the possession for sale of five gallons of home-made malt beer was assessed a fine of $100 and costs.

How do the little snakes get into house, and outhouses around the place that have no openings you can find? Having no way to get into the house, do you suppose the little reptiles were hatched and grew up inside the four walls? You would hardly think so, but so many home owners are reporting little mice catchers in their places of abode it makes you wonder.

It used to be in this country, and still is presumably, that a water dog in the dugout was not an unexpected guest. How they got in, either through the descending door or through holes dug down through the ground and into the walls, was beside the question. Some of the pioneer women said the ugly, creepy things would get on their nerves so they could hardly stand to stay in the dugout with them long enough to get them in a shovel and out of the door. Others said the presence of the waterdogs did not bother them so much. Nonchalantly they heaved the unwelcome visitors out of doors. Something about the waterdog that is interesting is the way sunshine will dry the gentleman up. It sure does not take a waterdog long to turn to a crisp and die, get him into the sunshine. And even a big one will shrivel up to nearly nothing.

Continuing with the lesson on nature this week, one is amazed to visit a lake or bar pit that is drying up to see the fish that are dying by the tons. All over the county the lakes have begun to lap down to the mud and the earth about them greedily soaks up the moisture from the thirsting fish. Planting the finny tribes of catfish in particular but also other kinds two or three years ago has paid big dividends, and the removal of fish from one lake to another as they dried up has been helpful. People sure have enjoyed eating catfish, but unless the combination of winds and moisture turn this way soon the fun will be over pretty quick. Mighty few full lakes left, and continued soaking and evaporation will get them soon. Hooks and lines, trotlines, seines, most every kind of fishing has been done.

It had always been our idea that plover made their shrill but fulsome calls only in the spring of lush years, when grass and water and insects are plentiful. Never had we heard a call of the plover in August time—especially do we know at least in a dry, hot August time—until a morning or two ago. The sun was turning the high, floating clouds into gold in the east. It was cool, pleasant, but the promise of a scorch in the sky and in the air, when the call came unmistakably from out across the prairie. Once upon a time they tell us that plover were thick in all of this country but not so now. Times have brought a change. Perhaps the same reason that antelope and deer and prairie chickens have practically disappeared.

Who in Floyd county milks the most cows per day? Many are not milking near so many as formerly others have increased their milking job two and threefold (1) to help out with the milk supply in the emergency, and (2) to reap the financial reward that comes from the price that is fully three times the low of the depression. One man we know is milking more than 25 cows twice per day, not having them milked by some youngster, but milking them himself. A good many men and women fiftyish and better are doing this and others are doing almost as bad, trying to handle hundreds of acres of ground and a bunch of live stock that formerly called for a boy or two at home and a hired hand part or all time, besides the old man and his better half. Trying to attend to all the neighbors' business, we just pointedly say, debts or no debts, cut down on some of this. Rare is the man (or woman) who is good enough physically at 50 or better to keep up any such pace. The doctor bills very probably will take it all, even if you make a pile of dough.

We very readily sense why this unusual effort is being made by people in so many parts of the county. Many of them are just crawling out from under a load of debt that began back in the twenties when the farmers were all going broke—going broke while at least one prominent man who didn't know what was happening was envisioning two cars for every family and a double garage to house them. How it comes about they are just crawling out of debt is that they went many a year trying to balance their budgets selling their produce at prices below cost. Now that the things they have to sell are bringing more than cost they'd sure like to cash in and are crowding their own physical capacity to do it. They think (and we hope it works if they insist) the "machine" will hold out until they get over the hump, although they feel the "gears" grinding and hear the inward "squeaks."

A considerable bit of the shortages you read about may be like the ice "shortage" in this area. Ice makers are having to limit their customers in an effort to make the supply go around. Apparently the demand during the heat wave has been unlimited. But there is just as much ice, maybe more, than there was a year ago. The ice "shortage" is a money "longage". Hundreds of folks who formerly bought 25 pounds of ice Saturday afternoon now demand 50 pounds at least every two days. You can't blame them. They have the money, the weather is hotter than a firecracker. Most of the ice men right now could trade their storage boxes off for something they need worse.

Another thing about shortages is that these people with B and C books have wised up to the fact that if a few cases of soap or soap flakes show up in Floydada, they also show up the same day in Lockney, Plainview and Matador and the other places. In their hoopies and off to get some soap they go. If you're out of soap isn't it a business trip to go get some? Prints and calico and ducking the same way, and binder twine and what not, including drop siding, wire and rough fencing. We do not minimize the fact that some of the shortages are real, but the fact is many of them are imaginary. The buying power of the people has been multiplied several fold by good crops and good prices. Let Old Man Dry have a lick at us for a year or two and the story will be a different one. We will be wiring the congressman to get us special freight rates to ship feed into the country to save our foundation herds like the files of The Hesperian say we did in the last war and right afterwards. This isn't being pessimistic, it is being realistic.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

By Nellie Wilt Spikes

No gentle rain has come to soak into the cracked ground and water the withering feed. No dashing rain has found its way to sweep over the fields as life-saving floods. It is very dry and the world seems like a heated oven. Even our best friend the wind, has come somewhere else to blow. Chickens stand in the shade, their wings outspread and mouths wide open. It is summer on the plains, and we all say to one another, and especially to visitors and new-comers as if in apology for the heat, "Why, I never have seen it as hot and still as this." Forgetting years we have said the very same thing.

My husband and I were guests of Guy Wilt of Plainview at a swains luncheon that city last Friday. Judge Russell gave an impressive talk and we enjoyed it all very much.

I wonder why we say death has walked in our midst when we should say new life has come for some. This time two of our friends have passed on to that new life, to a home of many mansions.

Mrs. Duncan made an earthly mansion in any place she lived. Her life glorified the dugout home in the canyon's steep walls, in the new pine room in the new town of Floydada, and later in the newly papered and painted home she left only a short time ago. I think of the words of the Savior before he left His disciples about His joy He was leaving them. This was the kind of joy Mrs. Duncan knew, the joy of giving pleasure to a child, of comfort to the sorrowing, food and lodging for the traveler, smiles instead of frowns, praise instead of condemnation. Long, happy years, she had to give to the world, and she gave as freely as the sunshine that shone on her prairie home.

Not so long years did Leroy Cates have to give to the world, yet what he gave cannot be measured in units of time, for he gave the supreme sacrifice, his life for his country and for freedom.

Yes these two, the young and the old, whom we knew and loved and honored, are gone from our midst, but the lives they lived made the world better.

The following lines from Robert Nichols are copied for the sorrowing friends and loved ones of Mrs. Arthur Duncan and Leroy Cates.

Our Dead
They have not gone from us. O no! they are The inmost essence of each thing that is Perfect for us; they flame in every star;
The trees are emerald with their presences.
They are not gone from us; they do not roam

The flaw and turmoil of the lower deep,
But have now made the whole wide world their home,
And in its loveliness themselves they sleep.
They fall not ever; theirs is a diurn Splendor of sunny hill and forest grave;
In every glittering rainbow's glittering drop they burn;
They dazzle in the massed clouds' architrave.
They chant on every wind and they return
In the long roll of any deep blue wave.

Mr. Spikes' sister, Mrs. Etna, Paschall of La Crescenta, California, is visiting us. Her son, John A. Paschall of Detroit, Michigan, stopped over for a few days visit. It has been a time of relatives getting together. One night a party under the stars in the lovely back yard of Mr. and Mrs. Guy McTee of Lubbock a supper at our house and dinner at Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gillions of Falls. I like to sit and listen to the brothers and sisters talk of childhood days, Jeff and Lizzie and Etna and Fred of the long years of separation and of what each has done, of the children and grandchildren. At times the talk is gay, at others sad. Then as kin get to frank with one another, one might think a fight as in childhood was brewing. But underneath all, I know there is a stream of love flowing that started in the tree shaded home on Spikes Prairie in Kaufman county long years ago, and a family knit so closely together that the separation and trials of life cannot break.

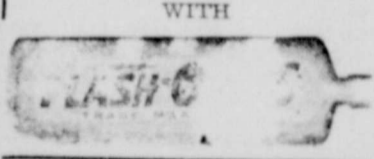

I sometimes envy the old grandmothers who sat in the chimney corners and knitted, the cares of life taken off their shoulders by the younger generation. New grandmothers try to carry on, and do, although the other day I longed for the chimney corner. Wilda and I went to Floydada and were on our way home, tired and longing for rest and for lunch. What in the world is the matter? My goodness, there goes that old worn-out casing and not a spare!

What to do. A tire could not be bought for love nor dollars. A car stopped, in it were friends in a time of need. George and Mary Smith of McCoy. They kindly brought us home, where we would get Wilda's car and go for ours. Hers had a flat. We changed it and started back to town, only to go about a mile and a half when, whew-ee-ee, another tire sunk wearily and quickly to the earth. Nothing to do only take it off and come home on the rim where we had no patches, no pump as all were in the car near town. Bumping and careening along we started to the nearest filling station, but this time Paul came along with a spare and soon all our troubles were over. By this time I was too tired and exasperated to sit patiently in a chimney corner even if there had been one.

I am reading by stops and starts Western Star by Stephen Vincent Benet. It is so very good that all I would ask would be for a place to sit and go for ours. There was a wind over England, and it blew (Have you heard the news from Virginia?) A west wind blowing, the wind of a western star, to gather men's lives like pollen and cast them forth, blowing in hedge and highway and seaport town, whirling dead leaf and living, but always blowing, a salt wind, a sea wind, a wind from the world's end, from the coasts that have new wild names, from the huge unknown.

I advise you to read this poem. I am sure you will enjoy it.

WARNING...

Floydada residents are warned this week that the practice of "dumping" dead dogs, cats, calves, rats and chickens on vacant lots and on little used streets and alleys must stop at once. Numerous complaints have been filed with city officers concerning such practices, and we give due notice said "dumping" is a violation of city ordinances.

Dead carcasses on streets and vacant lots results in spreading of disease—a thing Floydada people cannot afford at any time. Either bury your dead cats, dogs or chickens deep underground, or cremate them. Violations will be immediately prosecuted.

Conquest Over Diphtheria Final And Complete

AUSTIN, Texas, August 12.—Few conquests of science have been as spectacular and complete as those relating to diphtheria. Dr. Geo. W. Rife, State Health Officer, said today. "Science has firmly established the value of serum treatment in the value of preventive and curative phases. However, toxin-antitoxin, or its successor toxoid for immunization and antitoxin for cure, are serums of which the general public is even yet not fully aware."

As indicated, toxoid is the immunizing or preventive agent now usually employed. However, three or four months are required for the body to develop immunity. At that time the Schick test can be applied to determine the results of the preventive treatment.

Cox Urges Immunization
Dr. Cox urged that children receive diphtheria immunization as early as possible, preferably as soon as they are six months old. The necessity for this immunization is recognized when it is known that two-thirds of all deaths from diphtheria occur in the age group six years.

"It cannot be too strongly emphasized that to deprive children of this protection which science has made possible is to subject them to unwarranted and unnecessary hazards that can easily turn into a tragedy," Dr. Cox said. "Parental interest in immunization must be more widespread if the Texas death rate from this disease is to be eliminated as a cause of death."

"When a child has been stricken with diphtheria, antitoxin is the only treatment that will save his life. Also, to be effective, it must be given early in the illness and in large doses. Delay is usually caused by parents' failing to realize that any sore throat may actually be diphtheria."

17-YEAR-OLD PICK-UP DISAPPEAR SAME TIME

A 17-year-old orphan boy, John Lewis Murry, of Athens, Texas, who had worked for a day or two for R. T. Jones near Dougherty, disappeared from the Jones premises last Monday while the Jones family were away from home and at the same time a ton pick-up, the property of Mr. Jones, also disappeared. Broadcast information from the sheriff's office here indicates the boy is wanted for theft of the pick-up and officers in all directions have been notified, Sheriff Howard said.

Personal effects from the Jones household, as well as a small amount of money were missing at the same time, Mr. Jones said.

The sheriff of Henderson county told Sheriff Howard the boy was wanted in that county on a charge of stealing an automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Wilson of Eastland are guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Norman, since the first of the week.

SOUTH PLAINS H. D. CLUB STUDIES 'DRIED FOODS' AT MEETING WEDNESDAY

Dried Foods was the subject presented in a demonstration by Home Demonstration agent, Edith L. Wilson at a meeting of the South Plains club Wednesday of last week.

Parent At Pampa Graduation Made To Feel At Home

The people of Pampa threw open their homes to the parents, relatives and friends of the graduating cadets at Pampa Air field when Class 43G, of which Lieut. Richard I. Tubbs, son of Judge and Mrs. G. C. Tubbs was a member, received their wings recently.

Under the leadership of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce with Carl Benefiel as president, and Don Williams, as Chairman of the Army hospitality committee, the citizens of Pampa, in the heart of the Panhandle oil and gas field, take as complimentary guests at each graduation, all parents, relatives and friends who attend, who are unable to secure hotel rooms. Because of the air school, and two nearby ordnance plants and a nearby synthetic rubber plant, as well as the usual activity in the oil, gas and carbon black manufacturing industry around Pampa, it is practically impossible to secure a hotel room.

"We are the only town in the nation, carrying on a program of this kind, that we know of," President Carl Benefiel says. "We saw the need and knew that our own people have sons in Army camps over the country, so we are just trying to do what our own people would like to enjoy if they were away from home and unable to secure a room."

Miss Winnie McLain, of Dallas, was here for several days last week on a visit with her mother, J. T. McLain and family, and other relatives in this area, while on a vacation.

Miss Elaine Moering, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Earl Moering of Lockney is a guest in the home of Delma and Mary Alice Sammann. They spent Sunday with Ruth Elaine Harmon.

J. W. Smith Land Partitioned By Court Action

In closing the estate of the late John W. Smith, of Plomot, who died in March of last year, under the provisions of a will and codicil, an action in district court was required because of the illness of one son, Floyd, who is in a hospital.

The will of the deceased was probated in county court here the latter part of last year and Tom W. Deen, A. B. Clark and R. C. Scott were named trustees for this son, one of six children surviving the testator.

Bulk of the estate was represented by 1,458.1 acres of land lying near Plomot but in Floyd county. Beneficiaries under the will other than Floyd Smith were two daughters, Mrs. Mattie Skinner and Miss Naomi Smith, and three sons, Edgar N. S. and R. C. Smith.

Floyd Stone, S. V. George and Ford Johnson were the partitioning commissioners, whose findings as to division of the land was approved and made effective by the court.

Burglary Brings Indictment

current grand jury serving the court for the second half of the year both charged burglary. J. D. Jackson, a Rails man has filed a bond of $1,000 as one of the defendants, unable to appear on account of injuries sustained shortly before the court term was called. Jackson had a serious back injury.

Another Jackson, Samuel R., no relation of the first-named, is also indicted on a burglary charge. He is in the U. S. army at this time and has not been arrested as yet. They are alleged to have burglarized the Dave Sherrill residence.

Notice Of Appeal Given
In the suit of Maud E. Hollums and others against I. W. Hicks, a peremptory verdict by the court in favor of the defendant was given by Judge Chapman at the close of testimony in the case here in the third week of the session. Title to residence property on South Second street was involved. Notice of appeal was given by the plaintiff's attorneys.

Other judgments entered during the term have included the following:
Decree of divorce as petitioned by B. F. Harris from Minnie Harris;

Registered Herefords

FOR SALE

A FEW CHOICE LOTS IN

Straight Hazlett Breeding

We are sorry to part with them but circumstances beyond our control have forced us to sell our farm and our good Herefords must go. We sincerely hope to find them a good home in this territory as Floyd County needs more like them. These cattle are not just 'subject' to registration but are of the famous Hazlett breeding that is making such a reputation for the Arledge Stock Farms at Knox City, Texas. Turner Ranch at Sulphur, Okla., and numerous other ranches too numerous to mention. They are noted for their easy fleshing, quick maturing qualities, are short coupled and close to the ground.

These cattle are not specially fitted; just in pasture, condition, but when you see them we think you will agree with us that they don't require pampering to stay in excellent shape. Ask our neighbors.

The Old Saying That A Bull Is Half The Herd Is Still True

We think we have some bloodlines that would improve most of the herds in these parts. They can be had for less than half what you'd be compelled to pay for them elsewhere, quality and breeding considered. Don't force us to consign these good cattle to the Ross Bros. Registered Hereford Sale at Fort Worth the 23rd and 24th of September.

Somebody here at home needs them, and they need, and deserve a good home.

Our herd sire, Rupert Tone 82d, No. 3300020, by the noted Arledge Herd Sire, Hazford Tone 123d, out of Lady Nan. Bred by Arledge Stock Farms, Knox City, Texas. Look again at his depth from end to end, thickness and closeness to ground. You don't need to stand this kind in straw to make them look good. Has been used on a very limited number of cows. Just in his prime. We paid $400 for him as a senior calf and think he was a good buy. Calved February 4th, 1941.

WESLEY TONE No. 3723861, BULL

By Rupert Tone 55th, No. 2722383. Out of Maxine Tone No. 3119413. Calved September 3rd, 1942. Bred by Arledge Stock Farms, Knox City, Texas.

Here is a calf that anyone should be proud to own. We think he is indeed a real bull prospect. His sire, Rupert Tone 55th is siring some of the best calves in the country today. Two of them sold in the Fort Worth sale and show last Spring for $4900.00. The grand sire of our calf Wesley Tone is the nationally known champion Hazford Rupert 81st, owned by Turner Ranch Sulphur, Okla. He was Grand Champion at the International in 1936 and American Royal in 1937. Also sire of T. Royal Rupert 15th, the undefeated grand champion bull of 1940. One of his calves sold last week for the record price of $2500 at the age of 27 days. Of course big prices in themselves don't mean a thing. But put big prices and national awards together you are bound to have something. We think we have some good blooded cattle. Maxine Tone No. 3119413 is the dam of this calf we are so proud of. When you see her you will understand why we are so sweet on her calf.

JOE RUPERT, Jr., No. 3777172, BULL

By Hazford Tone 123d, No. 2458981—out of—Lady Rupert 60th No. 25493008. A big boned golden calf that has a lot of the points of his 2200 lb. sire. Should make someone a good bull. Calved February 18th, 1943. Bred by J. W. Clonts.

MAXINE TONE No. 3119413, COW

Calved February 17th, 1940. Sire, Hazford Tone 123d No. 2458981. Dam, Lady Choice V No. 2344695. Bred by Arledge Stock Farms, Knox City, Texas. Bred to Rupert Tone 82d, Aug. 1st, 1943.

We bought Maxine Tone at the Arledge auction on January 19th, 1942. We think she has almost everything that a good matron should have and think you will agree with us when you see her. You can't keep this kind thin as they are bred the other way. Does not get special care, yet she has weighed around 1500 pounds ever since we bought her. We paid $400 for her at auction and have never regretted it. Your chance to own the best and get started right. Dam of Wesley Tone.

LADY RUPERT 60th, No. 2549308, COW

Calved August 22nd, 1936. Sire, Sunset Rupert No. 1394517. Dam, Miss Superior No. 1891321. Bred to Rupert Tone 82d, March 30th, 1943.

A cow that will make you money. Short coupled, low to the ground and easy kept. She is the dam of our own Joe Rupert, Jr. You can see the kind of calves she has.

These cattle can be seen at farm 9 miles South of Floydada just 1 mile N. E. of Starkey School.

Crosby Landmark Built In 1904, Razed Last Week

Crosbytown Review: One of the few remaining old land mark plank buildings, moved here from Old Emma in 1909 is being torn down this week and moved to the Ralph Fowler farm in the Big Four community. The Laundry building on the west highway, owned by W. P. Lamar has seen much of Crosbytown and Crosby county history unfold.

The building was erected by J. F. Littlefield, father of Olen and Fred Littlefield of this city at Old Emma for a drug store in about 1904 or 1905 as near as we can learn.

When the county site was moved to Crosbytown in 1909, Mr. Littlefield moved his drug store and building to a lot just north of where the Emma Hardware is now located. A disastrous fire in 1912 or 1913 burned out the block of buildings north of the square on Berkshire avenue. The Littlefield building was about the only building left. Olen Littlefield said, Mr. Littlefield tore down the building after the big fire and erected it on the northwest corner of the square where the Pig-bly Wigly building now stands. He continued to operate his drug store for 20 years, adding a grocery store next door and a Gent's Furnishing store.

Later Mr. Littlefield sold the building to Jake M. Mabe and R. E. Karr, who carried a stock of dry goods and groceries in the building.

After a number of years Mabe-Karr sold the building to J. Powell, of Spur, who moved it off and built the present brick building.

Through the various transactions, W. P. Lamar became the owner of the building and rented it for the first Help-Yourself laundry business ever operated in this city. Later the building was used to house cotton pickers during the fall season.

Last week Ralph Fowler bought the building and is tearing it down and moving it to his farm. The best lumber will be used in a farm house Mr. Fowler is building. This we presume will be the last resting place of one of Crosby county's old land marks, built from lumber freighted in by wagon train from Colorado City, the nearest railroad point for many years. This week when workmen tore the walls of the building down they found an old 1913 silver and jewelry catalogue, addressed to J. F. Littlefield, Crosbytown, Texas. The catalogue was in good condition.

Mrs. Leon Wheeler and little son, Gary, of Houston, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Price for an indefinite time. Mrs. Wheeler spent last week in Matador visiting her sister, Mrs. Bobby Echols and family. She was accompanied home Sunday by Mrs. Price, who went after her daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Faye Hart of Amarillo visited friends and relatives here from Thursday until Sunday. Joe and James Robertson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Robertson returned home the first of the week from Dallas where they visited in the home of their grandparents and other relatives.

Miss Jimmie Poore of Lubbock spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Poore.

Floyd county is affected by a ceiling price on corn. The ceiling price affects farmers, truckers, feeders and grain dealers on the corn they buy and sell.

Any one who may desire to see a map of the state of Texas showing the ceiling price for any given county may do so at the county agent's office.

Beef cattle which carry bruises to market mean a money loss to the producer and a loss of meat to the consumer. It is estimated that more than one-half of our market livestock enter the stock yards with bruises.

Bruised meat cannot be sold. That means wasted feed, labor, and most important of all heavy loss of an important food—meat.

Farmers and cattlemen can prevent bruises to cattle by avoiding rough handling or striking animals with canes, whips, clubs or pitchforks. They should also avoid overcrowding animals in chutes, trucks or cars and guard against injuries to cattle from bumping against gates, posts, doors or sharp corners and in loading and unloading.

Handle cattle easy in order to produce more meat, more leather and more money to purchase War bonds.

Cotton leaf worm is now distributed over the entire cotton-growing area of Texas, according to Extension entomologists. Leaf worm eggs have been observed on plants at the Lockview farm, Robert Stewart, Plant breeder for the farm, has reported.

The leaf worm is about three weeks ahead of the normal time in which it occurs in this state, reports indicate, and this fact coupled with the late planting of cotton may create an extremely serious situation unless proper control measures are applied early.

We can remember the damage to cotton last year. The actual loss on many farms ran into hundreds of dollars. It might be advisable to have at least one application of poison available or know where it can be obtained should the need arise.

The supply of poison is adequate to meet demands, and it means proper distribution into those areas that have a serious out-break of the leaf worm.

Help save 72,000,000 pounds of feed. That is what Texas poultrymen can do by culling the approximate 20% of the non-layers in the flock. It is estimated this amount of feed could be saved in the next two months if proper culling methods were followed.

Make good use of the culls. The fact they have not been on the job would indicate they are fat. You can accomplish four important savings when you cull now: (1) Meat for the table—Saves ration points. (2) Canned chicken—for year-round use. (3) Saves feed, and (4) Cash for the loafers.

You don't have to be an expert poultryman to be able to cull. Just select those fat hens. You can easily tell a diseased bird or one that is laying an egg every day. And you don't need a rooster on the yard to make the hens lay. Can him and enjoy the eating this winter.

W. Coffee, Jr., county judge of Briscoe county has purchased the Silverton Hardware, Furniture and Implement store from H. Roy Brown and took active management of the concern the first of last week. Saving vegetable seed from the home garden is an activity popular among home demonstration club women of Floyd county.

Seeds saved from vegetables harvested during July and August may be used for planting this fall or next spring. Seeds need to be saved from healthy, vigorous plants and allowed to stay on the plant until fully matured.

Tomato, bean, pea, cantaloupe, squash and cucumber seed can be saved.

According to Mr. Rosborough, Extension horticulturist, in saving beans both bush and pole varieties, allow the seed to mature thoroughly on the plant, then pull up the entire plant in the early morning and place it in the shade to dry. This will prevent the pods splitting. English peas may be left on plants until thoroughly matured, then picked when the pods turn brown and placed in storage. For tomato seed, place the jelly-like material containing the seed in a wire screener and wash it until only the seed remain. Another method is to scrape the seed on a piece of paper and place in the sun to dry.

When seeds are thoroughly dry, they may be stored in cotton cloth sacks or containers that will allow air to penetrate. They may then be placed in a cool dark place.

General Arnold Sends Sympathy To Cates Family

The following letter, the second from the War Department since the news of the death of their son, Lieut. Charles Leroy Cates, was received Thursday by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cates, from the Commanding General Army Air Forces.—Ed.)

July 30, 1943.

My Dear Mr. Cates: It is with keen regret that I have learned of the death of your son, Second Lieutenant Charles Leroy Cates, on July 13, 1943, as a result of an airplane accident in the African Middle Eastern theatre of operations.

It has been brought to my attention that throughout his training in the Advanced Flying school at Ellington field, Lieutenant Cates maintained a fine record which he had begun in his earlier cadet period, as an officer and pilot. He accomplished his assignments in a thoroughly conscientious and capable manner. His pleasant personality and willingness to cooperate with his comrades to the full extent of his ability in all instances made Lieutenant Cates a popular and respected officer, whose many friends were saddened by his passing.

I hope that the knowledge of the reputation made by your son, and the memory that he gave his life for his country, will console you in your grief.

I offer my heartfelt sympathy to you and to other members of the family.

Very sincerely,
H. H. Arnold,
General, U. S. Army,
Commanding General, Army Air Forces.

War Takes More DAIRY FOODS

One of the most phenomenal changes in the food industry in the past quarter of a century is that registered by the increase in foreign demand for dairy products since the first World War. At that time milk and its products only accounted for 2 per cent of the total food supplies sent abroad to the American fighting forces and the Allied nations.

Today, Dr. George E. Holm, Chief of the Dairy Research Laboratories of the Bureau of Dairying of the United States Department of Agriculture, states that 20 per cent of all food exported for war purposes is made up of dairy products. Russians are demanding butter because they insist it is better for their wounded soldiers than other fats. All of the Allied nations are making requests for the products of milk in quantities far beyond the productive ability of the dairy industry of the United States.

The American fighting forces, at home and abroad, are being given approximately double the amount of dairy products allotted to civilians. This, states Mrs. Ethel Austin Martin, Director of Nutrition for the National Dairy Council, is largely due to nutrition research and education during the past quarter of a century, which has brought about national recognition of the superior protective qualities of milk and its products.

The Dairy Cow—a Weapon of War!

Plains Co-Operative, Inc.

There'll always be a U.S.A. and places you long to drive to!

Just as sure as Victory comes you'll long to ease this war strain by going places...wondrous Yellowstone again...sea-swept Cape Cod...the vivid Southwest...even Alaska perhaps. Your boy...your hero out of Africa or Iceland—or cloudland—can take spells at the wheel with you. The mileage your car is kept from making now, it can make then—but not if today's restricted mileage and speed sacrifice your engine to acid!

Acid that's greedy for metal is left over after combustion ceases in any engine. When you used to start often, and make long runs, thoroughly heating the engine, the acid mostly took leave. It wasn't the steady danger that it is today, with car usage restricted. But you can tame rampant acid by OIL-PLATING your little-used engine with Conoco Nth motor oil. Patented Conoco Nth brings your engine this oil's "magnet-like" effect—created synthetically. And that's how OIL-PLATING is held close against steepest inner engine surfaces, much like any good anti-corrosive plating...not all promptly draining down to the crankcase...not leaving fine surfaces all unfortified... hence not allowing free play to acid.

New engine parts—new cars, too—would still be scarce if the Axis forced this minute. Do your best to assure today's vital trips as well as tomorrow's richly-earned tour, by OIL-PLATING your engine now. Get Conoco Nth at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company

House Committee Investigates Welfare Dept.

The House investigating committee of the State legislature, appointed to investigate the conduct of the State Department of Public Welfare, apparently built a fire under the State Board in their public hearings last week held in Austin. Also the committee declared in their report that the resignation of Marvin Leonard and Thomas H. Taylor as board members would have a wholesome and beneficial effect on the social security program of the state.

Organization For Sept. War Loan Drive

Local organization for Floyd county participation in the Third War Loan drive, set to begin September 9, is being set up this week.

Announcement of the appointment of J. M. Wilson to lead the loan campaign forces in this county was made last night out of Washington, at which time all county and district chairmen were named for this area.

To be known as the U. S. Treasury War Finance committee the new set-up takes the place of the Victory committee and also the War Savings committee for the period of this drive. Fifteen billion ($15 billion) is the nation-wide goal.

Wilson, who was advised several days ago of his appointment, has been perfecting the county organization this week.

Glad Snodgrass and O. M. Watson will serve as vice-chairmen here, and Sam Miller will have general charge of the campaign in north Floyd county, with Postmaster C. J. McCollum as high right-hand man. A leader in every school district of the county will be named shortly, Mr. Wilson said, pointing out that the county's quota will be heavy and that an intensive drive will be necessary to raise the funds that will be sought.
