

Slain Petersburg Man's Funeral Held Tuesday

Funeral rites for J. A. O'Dell, 33, Petersburg mechanic, slain Saturday afternoon at Lorenzo, were held Tuesday afternoon at Petersburg, and interment made in the cemetery there.

Lorenzo Constable John A. Johnson, has made bond for $1,000 for the slaying of the Petersburg man, which occurred, he told investigating officers, when a pistol was discharged accidentally in a scuffle. He said he was taking O'Dell and two other Petersburg men, Albert R. Clubb and J. E. deCordova, before L. J. Jones, Justice of the Peace at Lorenzo. He declared they were in a state of intoxication. Both Clubb and deCordova, he said, were witnesses of the shooting which occurred in the car, driven by deCordova.

Detailing their actions he said that he and O'Dell were riding in the back seat with the other two men in the front. The scuffle took place, he said, when O'Dell attempted to take his gun away from Jones, and sought to hit him with a wine bottle. deCordova also struck him, he said.

Dr. E. S. Davidson, Lorenzo physician, who examined the body of O'Dell, said the bullet entered the left side, tore through the abdomen and lodged near the skin on the right side.

One other witness to the shooting, Mrs. B. B. Hutson, Lorenzo teacher, is quoted by authorities as saying she saw the men scuffling in the car for the gun which was pointed out of the car. She lives near the scene of the shooting. Mrs. Hutson looked away briefly and then she heard a shot.

Young O'Dell was born in Hale county in 1911. He is survived by his widow and four children, one of them three weeks old. Also surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. O'Dell of Petersburg, three brothers and seven sisters.

Funeral services were held at 10 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. J. O'Dell, 1007 Houston street, Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, of the funeral home of J. E. deCordova, 28, and Clubb, 41, pleaded guilty to drunkenness and were fined $1 and costs in Justice Huckabee's court.

Floydada High school's Whirlwind football squad will get another testing out tomorrow night at Wester field, when they attempt to take the heavy Levelland High school Lobos, already victors in two important pre-conference games in their own territory.

The game will be called at 8:30, the athletic council announced. Everybody in gasoline-saving tires, no football hungry, a big crowd is expected.

Invalid 23 Years, Luther Roberts Died Saturday

Hit for 23 years, the whole of that time he helps invalid, Luther M. Roberts, 44, of Floydada, died in Plainview at 907 Houston street, Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, of a stroke. Attending physicians say a blood clot formed in an artery that fed the walls of the heart. The body was brought home and prepared for burial at Harmon Funeral home.

The deceased had been moved from the home of a brother, Poyner, here to Plainview one week before for treatment.

Last rites were said Sunday afternoon at 4 at Lakeview Baptist church, where Elder C. L. Jarrett of South Plains, officiated, assisted by Elders T. A. Dunn of Crosbyton and D. L. Handley of Lockney. Pallbearers were R. B. Calhoun, Buren Cates, Tom Hopper and E. L. Teague of Floydada, George Birch of Dimmitt, and O. M. Miller of Roaring Springs.

Had Baffled Physicians A robust specimen of young manhood when he was stricken with influenza in February of 1920, one of the last local victims of the post-war epidemic, young Roberts was apparently recovering from the disease when a paralytic condition set in that baffled physicians in the southwest and as far away as Mayo's clinic in Rochester, Minnesota. His parents traveled far and wide and spent many thousands of dollars in an effort to effect a cure, finally settling down after years of an inevitable wait that only ended after both of them had passed away. His father, J. P. Roberts, died in May of this year, his mother four years ago.

Surviving members of the family are six brothers, A. J. of Riverside, California; H. W. of Friona; E. L. of Tahoka; Julian of Falls; Frank of Abbott City; and Poyner of Floydada; and three sisters, Mrs. W. C. Wright of Lakeview; Mrs. Tilford Taylor of Mt. Blanco; Mrs. Ellis Head of Houston.

The firm is located in the White building in the 200 block and they are checking in merchandise and shop equipment this week, making ready to begin serving the public at once.

Folley Chosen On Supreme Court Commission

Associate Justice A. J. Folley, of the Seventh District Court of Civil Appeals at Amarillo, has been named as a member of the commission of appeals of the Supreme Court of Texas, it was announced this week.

His appointment to the new high place in the state judiciary was made by Governor Coke R. Stevenson, following the resignation of Judge J. D. Harvey.

The court at Amarillo, where Judge Folley has been serving for the past six and a half years, has jurisdiction in 34 counties of the panhandle area. He was re-elected to the judgeship in the last general election and his term would have expired on January 1, 1947. Salary in the Amarillo court is $6,500 per year, the appeals commission stipend being $7,500. Appointment to a successor is tantamount to a life-time job, should the holder so desire.

After graduating from Baylor University Law school in 1925, Judge Folley practiced in Oklahoma for a short time but began his Texas practice in Floydada, associated with Judge L. G. Matthews. Later he was elected district judge of the 110th District, in which capacity he served for two and a half years, when he was chosen to the appellate court associate justiceship in Amarillo.

Speculation on the choice of a successor to the Amarillo court was rife among lawyers of the Seventh district this mid-week. Geographically an Amarillo or northwest panhandle man is favored, the present chief justice, Judge E. L. Pitts being from Lubbock on the South Plains and the other member of the appellate court being Judge W. A. Stokes, whose home is at Vernon.

War Loan Campaign Nears End; County 15-thousand Shy of Quota

Shelling the woods for the last twenty or thirty thousand dollars that would represent the successful culmination of Floyd county's Third War Loan Bond campaign, rose to a higher pitch even than previous efforts this mid-week.

With $324,000 of an assigned quota of $383,400 subscribed and paid on Saturday night, work began Monday morning of this week with slightly over $48,000 to go to reach the goal. Brisk purchases—but not brisk enough—marked all issuing offices, both large and small subscribers.

Day Of Hard Work Late yesterday afternoon, in a special compilation of reports to catch local newspaper deadlines, J. M. Willson, general chairman of the Third War Loan drive, announced that bond purchases at the close of business was $367,402.75, exactly $15,997.25 short of the goal. This represents two days of hard work and an outpouring of small subscriptions along with a few larger ones, he said. Since Monday Lockney issuing offices have made sales netting $15,000.50 and Floydada offices $16,640.25.

taking bonds, and late yesterday the total sales amounted to a figure close to $350,000, possibly a little bit more.

But as numerous neighboring counties reported over the top with their drives, it appeared to the U. S. Treasury War Finance Committee of Floyd county, as the set-up is officially known, that more work and hard work at that, would have to continue in this county if the goal set is to be reached. The figures for the county quotas, set by the Federal Reserve bank officials, are most likely quite close to being equitable, J. M. Willson, general chairman of the committee, declared and he said that the committee would not be satisfied or happy about the matter unless the total asked from the county is subscribed.

Handbills Blanket Floydada To be sure that the urgency of the situation is realized and that the government's message of need for funds is spread to every home locally, the Floydada district committee yesterday afternoon, put scout cars with distributors on every street in the city and left handbills at every home. The message was directed to the small investors, to whom it now appears the job of making the job complete will fall. The appeal declares that "Floyd County is short of its Third War loan quota. To keep our record good we must get on the job now—before Saturday night."

"Have you bought your bond? And that extra bond? We appeal to you to do it today—and tell your neighbor, too."

Every home on every street was reached by the appeal in the hope that the intense canvass would result today and Friday in a big shower of purchases of small bonds. Most of the big investors have already done what they are going to do and unless the small man comes in in larger numbers of some windfall takes place the county is going to be short of its total quota.

Meanwhile, other districts in the county also are taking every means to see that every citizen is reached and committed this mid-week were taking off from their jobs of various kinds to see their citizens and give every resident a chance to help out.

With many other counties, like Floyd, still behind with their quotas, Texas was a long way from being out of the woods at the last tabulation made by Nathan Adams, state chairman.

Q A & P Takes Big Slice Materially aiding in the total subscriptions for the county in the Third War Loan drive was the subscription announced the first of the week by the Quanah, Acme & Pacific Railway company. Food For Prisoners Of War—Contents of an American Red Cross standard food package, 400,000 of which now are being decorated with Christmas motifs in red and green preparatory to distribution through the Red Cross to United States prisoners of war in Europe during the Christmas season. In addition to the standard food parcels, 10,000 special Christmas packages containing such items as baked ham, fruit cake, fruit bars, jam, peanut butter, hard candy, candied nuts and one game also are being prepared for shipment to prisoners. Contents of the boxes are furnished by the government, but the American Red Cross is responsible for the packing, shipping and distribution.

Two indictments, each charging felony, were returned into district court Monday afternoon by the Floyd county grand jury.

One defendant, Mack C. Williams, a young negro, is in jail awaiting trial on a charge of burglarizing the Oden Chevrolet company office, and the other was given a penitentiary sentence of two years by a jury Tuesday, when he pled guilty to theft. He is Murray John Lewis, a 17-year-old boy, who stole a pick-up from R. T. Jones near Dougherty, according to evidence, and was caught while using the machine in the harvest at Crowell a few days later. He pled guilty.

Two partition suits, dividing property of decedents to Floyd county heirs, have recently been completed and reports turned into court for final judgment. Of these are settled the estate of M. Whitfill and Lena Whitfill among eight heirs, each of whom received 50 acres of land out of 320 acres, comprising the east half of Survey 43, Block D3, and 40 acres, the east half of the south-east one-fourth of the same survey, totalling 400 acres. In the settlement awards were made of improvements on the property. The case was styled Winnie Wilson vs. Dessie Whitfill and others, and the court appointed Lester McCormick, J. A. Dunlap and J. V. Gilley as the partition commission. W. D. Newell, licensed land surveyor of Texas, was employed to make the survey and plat the ground.

Residence Property In Lockney A piece of property which was not susceptible of partition, but which was sold by A. R. Meriwether, receiver appointed by the court, was involved in the suit styled John Belt vs. Virgie Cox and others. Lots 13, 14 and 15 in Block 4, Muncy addition to Lockney, was the property involved and it was sold by the receiver to S. J. Williams for a price of $850.

Rushing-Baker Case In the Lee Rushing suit against Artie Baker, the latest judgment entered by the court continues the temporary injunction in force until October 18, when it is agreed among the litigants the case will be tried on its merits.

The suit of Charles Boedeker and others against C. A. Schrameck and others has been dismissed on the plaintiff's motion, the order including cancellation of his pendens lien.

Three Divorce Decrees During September three divorce decrees have been issued by Judge Chapman. In one, that of J. H. Newberry vs. Jessie Lee Newberry the judgment recites that a private settlement made between the parties was stricken by the defendant of 320 acres of land in this county, the south one-half of Survey 22, Abstract 1773.

Larue Reid Pool was given a divorce decree and the restoration of her maiden name, LaRue Reid, in her suit against Herman L. Pool.

In O. C. Cox vs. Lena Mae Cox, the plaintiff was given a decree of divorce and also the care and cus-ody of two minor children, Charles Edwin Cox and Norma Jean Cox.

The petition of Arbie L. Parker for the removal of his disabilities as a minor was granted and made of record by the court.

Gets Suspended Sentence J. D. Jackson, arraigned before the court on a charge of burglary, pled guilty to the charge and was given a suspended sentence of two to five years. It was alleged Jackson burglarized the residence of Dave Sherrill.

Producers Co-Op Stockholders Keep Directors Producers Co-operative Elevator, incorporated of Floydada, will be operated by the same board of officers and directors as last year, it was voted by the stockholders in their annual meeting last week. However, a switch in the terms of office of directors was made. In this change terms of John Lloyd and Rex Jones expire in one year, terms of G. C. Collins and Fred Battey expire in two years, and term of P. J. Wilkes expires in three years.

A complete audited financial statement was made showing the progress of the co-op. Three cents on the dollar of preferred stock is being paid this week at the Floydada office of the concern, Norman Hamilton, recently named manager, announced.

Weather and Crops Murky weather and overcast skies that have dripped enough to stop cotton harvest and forage feed combines, has been the rule since Monday morning.

Not enough moisture has fallen to make more than a trace in the rain gauges, however, and wheat ground is still needing the moisture for fall plowing and sowing to start up again.

Temperatures have been mild, and wind has blown barely sufficiently to keep water in stock tanks.

Why the Russians will hate Germans for at least two generations hence and why American-promoted societies of the love-thine-enemy type which will spring up a few short years hence, will be scorned by the Russian people is given by a word picture of what Russians are finding in the path of their re-treating enemies in the Ukraine. Two professors of the Moscow University are responsible for the following contained in an "Information Bulletin," embassy of USSR, issued from the Russian embassy, Washington D. C.:

"In the city of Orel and parts of the Orel Region which the Germans occupied for two years, the Nazis destroyed 881 buildings of educational and cultural establishments and 181 medical establishments; the Nazis blew up hospitals containing hundreds of beds, destroyed maternity homes and children's clinics and sanatoriums, women's welfare centers and many other medical institutions. The Nazis did everything in their power to leave this large city and the whole region without any medical aid.

The Hitlerites destroyed museums and libraries. The Pushkin Library was plundered of 25,000 books, the Turgenyev Library of 22,000 and the Central Children's library of 20,000.

Now that the Germans are retreating westward under the blows of the Red Army and in some places abandoning everything in their flight, we are able to establish exactly how the Soviet people lived under the German yoke. . . . In Orel the investigations were carried on by the world-famous Academician Nikolai Burdenko.

Monstrous facts without parallel in history were laid bare during these investigations. The bodies of patients of a mental hospital who had been shot were discovered. The Germans also shot those refusing to go to Germany to work, people active in Soviet State organizations, and war prisoners. These crimes were carried out methodically on certain days, as on Tuesdays and Fridays, at 10:30 a. m. The murderers shot their victims in the back; they shot men, women and children, young and old, sick and healthy, and many thousands of these bodies have already been recovered. . . . Sometimes the Germans tested out the effectiveness of poison gases on the Russian people, after which the victims were subjected to clinical and laboratory examinations in German hospitals, photographed and demonstrated to German doctors who came from Kiev, Kharkov, and Odessa. What can be more horrible than a doctor who carries out experiments with poisons on human beings and "scientifically" studies their effects? . . . Civilized mankind must realize the brutality of the Hitlerites. All facts mentioned here are confirmed by documents, by the evidence of witnesses, and more convincing still—by the torfured bodies of victims, the blown-up buildings and plundered museums and libraries.

The leaders in Russia say these things are true and their millions who have been under the heel of the oppressor will, as human nature must, keep the fires of hatred burning. With this kind of background it will be difficult for America to get the Russian people to see sweetness and light and kindness and sympathy as a part of their duty toward the Hitlerites. This is the kind of official statements that are coming out of Russia by reams on top of reams. Having sown the wind the Germans will reap the whirlwind, unable to stay the hands of Russian people by playing on the soft heart strings of Americans.

Indications point to the probability that the unusual success of The Hesperian's weather department in organizing and handling the weather, especially fall weather, is creating some envy, even jealousy, in high quarters of the panhandle newspaper and radio world. Aspersions are being cast by the radio boys. One such person has gone so far as to say flatly that our weather department has not "hit" a killing frost in many years. Our readers who have been picking their green tomatoes for chow chow all these seasons strictly according to The Hesperian were undoubtedly greatly surprised to hear this, as were we. Now, a Dalhart newspaper writer by the name of Ed Bishop has even gone so far as to take the matter up and offer a reward of $25 out of his own pocket for the man who names the date of the first killing frost in his area. This newspaper is organized on a local scale. Our weather man goes by Floyd county tarantulas, mesquite bushes, and crawling things of various species as to what is going to happen here. They could not possibly know what is going to happen in Dalhart and naturally we are not permitted by such conditions to qualify to enter the contest at that distant point. And, as we have warned our customers ever since late July, we have a war on and a terrific manpower shortage that has kept us too closely in office for our own good and for the good of the country. We have made only a wild guess at the First Killing Frost date, based on information we snatched up as we rushed by, and while it is probably about right that we'll have a killing frost early this year, we do not offer our usual guarantee to cash subscribers. These are on their own now and will have to watch their own green tomato saving time. We want to do better but can't. Meanwhile keep in mind there is a better day coming when the lights will go on again all over the world, when we'll ring the bell just as regular as we always have, the horrible war will be over, and things of that kind. But there'll always be Doubting Thomases and there'll always be radio announcers and newspapermen who are envious of such unusual ability as has been demonstrated by this unparalleled purveyor of phacts relating to phenomena of nature.

The strange thing is that a man is satisfied with so little in himself but demands so much in others.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

By Nellie Witt Spikes

In all my life there has never been so many things to think about and such little time in which to think. Great events are taking place and before we can get the paper read, the radio comes in with more happenings. This is Saturday a few noon and I am alone and will think things out as I sit here and write this column or next week's paper. My, my, who in the world is that stopping here? Land's sake it is my mother. Mrs. J. M. Witt of Lubbock and my sister, Mrs. Carl Hill from Amarillo. Monday morning. Well my folks are gone, but I don't think I will bother to think and just put down things that come to my mind, helter-skelter. We had a grand time visiting and the old clock rolled to twelve before we even thought about going to bed and you know there is always much to be said after breaking up time and getting ready for sleep. Mother keeps up with all the kin from brothers and sisters to Jessie's and Roy's sons-in-law in the army. And where Aunt Omega and Uncle Frank are moving and how many children cousin Beulah has. She is kind of a gathering-in and distributing center of life and thus we keep up without having to bother. Edna always delights us with her keen sense of humor and she enjoys a good joke on herself as well as she does on her husband Carl. We took them back to Lubbock and saw other members of the family and found our brother-in-law, Jack Wadsworth sore and tired and grunting and taking a hot water bath after his first night and day of Defense Guard maneuvers.

The frame garden is almost ready for the table. The pale-green lettuce rosettes, and pink top of tender radishes with curly darker green, mustard make a tempting sight. The chickens walk the wire over the top of the frame, sadly viewing the tender green below, the wire a bill off sign.

The clouds hang low and heavy this morning, moisten the dry soil with a few tears and pass on as if having wept a trifle over having to go somewhere else to pour down their rain.

Wonder why men always think wife always hides the paper he has so carelessly thrown down? Maybe Irish potatoes three times a day would taste better if they were rationed.

Our Uncle Sam's nutritionists tell us that the well-dressed potato comes to the dinner table with his clean brown jacket on. Somehow this morning I think of the cemetery at Old Emma. This was a place I always liked to go when a child. It seemed to me the tall mesquite grew taller and waved prettier there than anywhere else on the prairie. When we were riding around, we almost always went by the cemetery. There was the grave of Levi Jones. We thought with pity that he went so young. We will have to kill off some old codger round about and start us a grave-yard." He told a group of early settlers as they whittled round the rusty stove in the dim store. Alas, young Levi started the burial place. As he took his gun off a load of wood, only a day from its home in the brakes, he was shot and was the first of all the rest to find a last home on the prairie. Then there was the grave covered with shells, the whiteness and purity of the ocean shells we had never seen before. Two graves were enclosed with a fence of woven wire with arch of intricate lace on the ground. It seemed so peaceful there, only the whispering of a south wind in summer and the fragrance of wild flowers on every breeze. We walked behind our dignified teachers as the funeral procession wound its way, keeping in step and being as quiet as girls and boys full of fun and life could be. We stood at attention as the older ones sang hymns of the Unclouded River. We started timidly at the men and women in their deep grief, the black veils of the sorrowing women hiding tear-wetted eyes. Today the cemetery still lies on the prairie and our own Grandpa and Grandma Witt lie sleeping by the side of their son, Albert who fell from the tall windmill tower and added another life to the tragedies of early days. The tall white marble shaft still holds out the letters of murder and it still seems to me that they are blood red. Lie peaceful, early settlers, friends and kin of my young days. Your names are written in gold, and on the Day of Judgement they will be called. The dead abide with us. Tho' stark and cold earth seems to grip them, they are with us still.

Women at Work for a Railroad at War

America needs millions of women to take over war jobs... to stay with those jobs... to help speed the day when our fighting men will return victorious!

Santa Fe women are answering this call all along the line.

Right now thousands of Santa Fe women are doing war-vital work to "keep 'em rolling." Many are pitching into "unglamorous" jobs... greasing engines, operating turntables, welding shovels, working in blacksmith shops, and cleaning roller bearings. They take pride in their work, too!

Many of these women have husbands, sweethearts, brothers or sons in the armed forces. Many came to work to replace a Santa Fe relative who had been called into service. Others took jobs because they knew womanpower must step in when manpower goes to war.

☆ We of the Santa Fe salute these women who know that what they are doing is vital to Victory!

"TWO-USE" JARS FOR FOODS WILL HELP HOME CANNERS

New to home canners is the "two-use" glass jar which glass manufacturers have designed for double duty, to save materials and factory labor.

Used first as a container for mayonnaise, coffee, pickles, or other foods, it doubles in home canning.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture predicts twice as much home canning in 1943 as in peace years—or between 4 and 5 billion jars of food. The pack will include vegetables from 18 million Victory gardens, fruits from home orchards and berry patches, home-raised meats and poultry. A large part of this home preserved food will have to go into glass. Even if every jar from last year's canning is salvaged and filled again, the problem of finding another 2 or 2½ billion jars remains. The War Production Board end the glass industry are trying hard to provide a large proportion of the new jars needed, and the "two-use" jar seems likely to be another helpful step.

Not all commercial glass food containers are re-usable. Certain types of fruit and vegetable jars can only be vacuum sealed with special commercial equipment not available to the home canner. But if the housewife is careful to save the original screw caps that come on the re-usable types of jars, she will be able to get metal disks so she may use the jars safely for canning.

Some of these jars are re-usable also without the original screw caps. These will take a 3-piece cap made of a screw band, glass disk, and top seal rubber, or a 2-piece cap made of a screw band and metal disk with rubber compound flowed on. The screw band can be removed to use on another jar when the seal is complete. If dealers cannot supply these new closure materials for jars, the county home demonstration agent may know where to get them.

NEW COTTON DRIER FURNACE MAY PROCESS OTHER PRODUCTS

What has been called a "war-time economy drier furnace" for drying cotton by direct heat from oil or gas has been developed by U. S. Department of Agriculture engineers. It is the result of an effort by the Agricultural Research Administration to develop an effective source of heat using a minimum quantity of critical materials. With slight modifications, the furnace might be used in the drying and processing of other materials, the engineers think, possibly in the dehydration of foods.

The designer, Charles A. Bennett of the Bureau of Plant Industry, Soils and Agricultural Engineering, describes the new furnace as constructed of common brick on the outside with fire brick lining the combustion space. A diesel oil burner is the source of heat. A filter of fine glass fibers which strains sparks and dirt from the hot gases is a protection against fire in the drying cotton. Because hot gases are used directly, no boiler or steam pipes are needed, a big saving in steel. Use of brick in construction also saves steel. By making the circulation system of the "blow through" type, the engineers have gained the advantage of keeping the dried fan and its bearing cool, which simplifies lubrication.

Plans are available from the U. S. D. A. Cotton Ginning Laboratory, Stoneville, Mississippi.

"DEN TREE" PAYS ITS WAY

Cutting down a large den tree to catch a 'coon or possum is as shortsighted as setting the barn on fire to smoke a tramp out of the hay. Even if a den tree has little or no timber value, its money value as a den for an annual crop of at least two rocons is likely to entitle it to standing room in the forest, soil conservationists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture point out.

It takes about 70 years for a good den tree to develop—maybe 25 years for the cavity to form. Foresters agree that a den tree from which a farmer can sell two 'coon pelts a year may be worth more, from the standpoint of annual returns, than a good timber tree occupying the same space. A fair allowance of den trees—about one to each two acres of woodland—to accommodate a crop of rocons is good management, the foresters say.

On The Farm & Home Front

JASON O. GORDON County Agricultural Agent
EDITH L. WILSON Home Demonstration Agent
Texas A. & M. College Extension Service

Are we saving grain for next spring? At the rate the grain is moving to market it appears that consideration should be given to the total amount of grain that will be needed on the farm for the entire year. We have pledged the food production on the Farm Front and the fact there no longer remains a wide spread in the feeding program is no good reason for discontinuing that operation. We must realize the boys on the fighting fronts all over the world must have the remnants they need.

There have been times when the grain was hauled to market and sold at a good price and later the operator realized he must go and purchase the same kind of feed not at the price he sold for, but at a much higher price. One time he was selling . . . the next time he was buying . . .

You can get all of the assistance you want in determining the feed requirements for the different classes of livestock and poultry on your farm. From these calculations a feed reserve can be retained on the farm. We all agree that a good feed reserve is like money in the bank.

Two good dairy farmers have pooled their ideas in the ownership of a Jersey bull that should prove to be an outstanding herd sire. These two men are C. B. Carmack of Floyd county and T. B. Herring of Crosby County.

This is a one Star bull with thirteen credits. He is sired by an Imported bull whose daughters have not had time to complete the production test, but they are under observation at the present time and are making a good record.

The son of an Imported bull is now stationed in Floydada at the C. B. Carmack farm.

Nineteen people who are interested in poultry attended the meeting Saturday afternoon, September 25. The interest was good and present plans call for another meeting of poultrymen during the month of October.

We have in Floyd County as good poultrymen as you find anywhere. The greatest trouble is the fact we do not recognize the fine program that we have, and do not assume the responsibility of informing others. Some of our poultrymen have suggested a Poultry Club.

Extension poultrymen advise us feed can be saved these four ways: (1) Cull all non-producers and sick birds as they appear in the flock. This can save 100,000,000 pounds of feed annually in Texas. (2) A 5% reduction in chick and growing stock annually in Texas. (3) A 5% reduction in laying house mortality will save 15,000 tons of feed annually in Texas, and (4) A 5% reduction in egg losses will save 15,000,000 pounds of feed annually in Texas.

What contribution to this saving program can you make on your farm? Better methods in poultry management will help reduce this loss. The best place to secure the information is from the poultryman who is conducting the best program.

Let us help you to find that successful poultryman.

Opening Hotel Coffee Shop Friday

Mrs. S. H. Shultz, who has operated the Andrews Ward school cafeteria the past three years, today announces the opening of the main dining room of the Commercial hotel, know as Hotel Coffee shop, Friday of this week.

Family style meals will be served at noon and in the evening, short orders for breakfast.

Mrs. Shultz will have her daughter, Mary associated with her in the management and operation of the coffee shop. Noon-day diners Sunday are asked to make reservations.

Blackspot is one of the important causes of "dieback" of rose bushes. Sadie Hatfield of the A. and M. College Extension Service attributes to this disease responsibility for the destruction of more roses in Texas than any other.

It is active in spring and fall and dew and rain encourage its development. Hot, dry weather checks, but does not destroy the disease; which takes the form of black or dark brown spots on leaves, stems and, sometimes, on the shoots of rose bushes. As a spot increases in size the leaf turns yellow, then falls off. Leaves of some rose bushes turn yellow and fall when only a small part of the surface has darkened. Others remain green although largely covered by blackspot. It attacks top and bottom leaves, sometimes both, and grows on all ages of leaves. But it spreads faster on young leaves.

Roses badly infected look as though most of the leaves had been shed. When a large portion of the leaves have gone some of the canes or spots begin dying from the top downward. Entire plants are destroyed in this way.

As first steps in control Miss Hatfield, who is specialist in landscape gardening, suggests burning all fallen leaves and not permitting water to touch leaves weekly with finely ground sulphur containing from five to 10 per cent insoluble copper, or sulphur such as is used for cotton leaf hopper. Plants should have a coating of dust between rains, but it should be omitted during dry, hot weather to avoid burning leaves.

Letter From Home Warms The Heart Of A Soldier

This letter is for the folks who love freedom and their rights. I hope this is printed even though it is poorly written but is easy to understand.

It is a pleasure to see the light in a soldier's eyes as he receives a letter from home and his loved ones. The soldiers are humans who are fighting for loved ones and freedom. They miss the comforts of home and their loved ones. Write them a letter. No matter if a letter is poorly written it reveals the love and gratitude that is in your hearts. The soldier is always waiting for a letter from home.

Maybe you are his mother whom he looks upon with tender love, or his daddy or sisters so brave or maybe a sweetheart that he is looking to come back to someday. Even a friend he cherishes the word from home.

So write him and tell your loved one that he is your hero and that you are praying for him, honoring him and your letter will fill his heart with joy.

I am a soldier and proud to be an American. Not only in the service, but also doing my bit in the purchase of War Bonds which will bring peace and freedom to our great country.

In North Africa, Pvt. William Edward Smith, one of many boys from Floyd County, who is serving in the Medical corps of the U. S. Army somewhere in North Africa. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Smith.

Wm. Edward Smith Writes Parents From N. Africa

(Following is a letter recently received by Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Smith of Route 1, from their son, Pvt. William Edward Smith of the U. S. Army Medical corps. Pvt. Smith was inducted into the Army May 3, 1943 and trained at Camp Barkley, Texas.—Ed Note.)

September 3, 1943.

Dear Folks:
How is every one at home getting along these hot days? I guess I am O. K. as far as I know. I am somewhere in North Africa and that is all I can say. It sure is hot here in the day time and it was pretty cold last night. I don't know how I am going to like this country over here.

We had a pretty nice time coming over on the boat. I never got sick all the way. I was kind of dizzy-headed for the first few days, but after that it was all over. I don't know how long we are going to have to stay here in this place as it just a place where they take you when you get here.

We are living in some tents now and we are eating some C rations out of cans. I don't have much more room so I will close for now.

Write when you can as I am just waiting to get a letter from home. Your son, Edward.

We still have a great fight ahead each and everyone will have to pull together to win. Your letters to the soldier is one way to show that you are doing your part by just a few words. We are backing you with the purchases of war bonds. Will you write your soldier today, let him know your doing your bit? It will lighten his work a great deal. Cpl. T-5 Roy E. Hollingsworth.

Picture Show Booked Here By Harley Sadler

Harley Sadler, West Texas showman, who has visited Floydada under canvas for many years, is coming back again this month—Monday, October 4, to be exact—but this time with a picture show.

The show will be presented under canvas one night only under the sponsorship of the American Legion. The title of the show is "Ravaged Earth."

Shows Uncensored Atrocities
This is the picture that tells the actual truth about what happened when the bestial barbarians, the Chinese, the Japanese, invaded this peaceful country, and attempted to destroy it, body and soul. For the first time, it shows the uncensored atrocities perpetrated upon this defenseless people.

It was filmed on 16 mm. film by Mark L. Moody, an American business man, who had lived in Shanghai for 23 years. Enjoying the confidence of both the Chinese and the Japs, he was able to photograph scenes which are so atrocious, they stagger the imagination. "Ravaged Earth" is definitely not entertainment... but it is the pictorial record of what actually occurred in China, and what could happen right here, if the Japs were to be successful in their present treacherous attack. It will be shown at Sadler's Tent Theatre for one night only, Monday, October 4.

Conservation District News

It has come to the attention of the District that there is likely to be a good market for legumes, such as vetch, clover, alfalfa, etc., as well as certain grass seeds, which can be successfully produced in the District. It would seem that this offers an excellent opportunity for a group of the District's irrigation farmers to engage in the production of these and to market them on a cooperative or other satisfactory basis.

Herman Millican who has been operating one of the Stringer farms near Barwise for some time recently bought an irrigated farm some three miles east of Petersburg. Having seen the results of some of the work done by District technicians on other farms, he has made an application for assistance in redesigning his new set-up.

There is some mighty good terrace construction work going on now on the W. L. Thomas farm east of Lockney. As soon as this is complete Mr. Thomas plans to have the rig start work on his home place near South Plains. He says he is mighty well pleased with the work done so far, and feels that other Floyd County farmers might be helped if they would avail themselves of the help the District can give them.

Surprising as it is, after three years operation, many people of the District still do not understand the policies and purposes of the District. District technicians are repeatedly asked what the charges will be for assistance which the District makes available to cooperators without charge. The District's plans and accomplishments will be discussed by County Agent Gordon in a series of meetings now in process of being held. It is hoped these will be well attended.

Watch this column each week for comments by Floyd County farmers.

"Sorry- I'VE DONE ALL I CAN"

Don't tell that to the Invasion Troops!

AMERICA is proud of the way you answered her call for help. In the First and Second War Loan Drives you opened your hearts—and your purses—and invested generously.

But this is no time to say, "Sorry, I've done all I can."

Not when our troops are smashing ahead.

Not when the cry from every front is for more tanks... more guns... more planes to strike the knockout blow.

Today, everyone who possibly can, must invest in at least one extra $100 War Bond. More if you possibly can. That's in addition to your regular War Bond subscriptions.

A big job? Yes! But INVASION is a big job, too! And that's what the 3rd War Loan is for—INVASION!

And it's for your loved ones, too... for the sons and brothers, sweethearts and husbands who are doing the fighting.

Can you look into your heart and say to them, "I've done all I can"?

Can you tell that to the Invasion Troops?

Of course you can't! No true American could! So NOW... when America needs your help as it never has in all history... make up your mind to do MORE in September. Invest in the safest way in the world! Invest out of current income, out of idle or accumulated funds. Back the invasion with at least one extra $100 War Bond this month.

War Loan Drive

$20,000 bond purchase by Chas. H. Sommer, president of the line, who asked J. M. Willson, general sales chairman for Floyd county, to handle his subscription in this county.

Starkey Nears Quota
In Starkey district, where L. E. Kiker is chairman of the sales committee, the assigned quota of $10,000 maturity value of bonds had not been reached Tuesday afternoon. However, Kiker said that work is continuing and will be until the close of the week, as he announced sales in the past few days to bring the total maturity value of sales to $7,375.

Reporting yesterday on the type of bonds sold in Floyd county today, J. M. Willson expressed gratification that the major portion of these sales were of bonds of the non-inflationary type—E bonds, F and G bonds and treasury bonds.

Of the $350,000 (net value) worth of bonds taken into consideration in the tabulation made by Mr. Willson, E bonds represented 50 per cent of the total, F, G and Treasury bonds 29 per cent and C tax notes and 7-eighths per cent treasury certificates made up the other 11 per cent.

"Purchases of the type of government bonds as made in Floyd county form a background of solid protection against inflation, draining off surplus money into federal securities to help the government finance now and to supply the buyers with needed funds when and if emergency arises later," Mr. Willson said.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Kirchner are leaving for their home in Dallas the latter part of the week after visiting her mother, Mrs. A. P. McKinnon. They have been here the past eight weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lawson and children and Miss Gladys Powell of Lubbock, Mrs. Wm. L. Hallmark of Seattle, Washington, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Baker spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ballard.

Mrs. J. F. Tomlinson of Seymour is visiting this week in the home of her sister, Mrs. Lee Howard.

Be wise—Advertise.

VISIT SON IN DENVER

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Norman have been at Denver, Colorado, this week where they have had the pleasure of spending some of the time with their son, Glen W. Norman, who is stationed there in the medical corps at Fitzsimmons General hospital.

Mrs. D. E. Brown of Silvertown spent Tuesday with her sister, Mrs. Lee Howard.
