FLOYD COUNTY POULTRYMEN WASTE MUCH FEED; OUTBREAK OF DISEASE THREATENED BY CARELESSNESS

Reports sent by the State Poultry Conservation committee to this county reveals the government has requested that all farmers thoroughly cull their poultry flocks at this time.

Monday afternoon he gave a culling demonstration at W. H. Brock's and W. T. Williams'.

Disease Spreading Practice At Monday night's meeting parasites and diseases were discussed and it was emphasized that the people of Floyd county run undue risk and that no doubt many birds are lost through the spread of diseases by people throwing birds that have died at home in the bar ditches on the public roads.

That practice should not be followed but the birds should be burned or buried.

Mrs. D. S. Batten will discuss turkey production and management and Oliver Allen will talk on pedigreed poultry raising Thursday night.

EDITORIALS

The army and navy insist that the fathers and mothers, wives, sweethearts, brothers and sisters—in other words the folks—of the soldiers in overseas service are making a mistake in their continued dislike or aversion to V-mail. They are costing their service men many a chance to hear from the folks by using the other and slower method of getting their letters to the fronts, the lonely islands, the far-away places, even including the big cities, where a person can be as lonely almost as any place on earth. Claims the armed services, V-mail can ride when there is not room for the other kind. A V-mail letter averages taking 2 per cent of as much room as other letters, travels quicker, comes nearer getting to destination before the service man has to move, gets him the news from home and all those things. We took occasion once before to comment on the fact that people just naturally didn't like the V-mail plan and it seems to be that the idea still hangs on. What we would do if we had a boy in the overseas contingent we can only guess. You know after you get one there. But we imagine we'd go ahead and write the long kind of letters with all the gossip that wasn't disheartening and mail them,—and mail a V-letter pretty regularly also. That way we'd have what we wanted to do and what the services want done at the same time.

The Hesperian thinks that, while it may be true that experts in the Treasury department are responsible for the involved manner in which the reports are framed and the wording of the lines in the schedules and the report itself, there is no reason why we couldn't get our representatives in Washington to "do something about it." Why can't Congress see that, as these experts die out new names and faces appear who have the common touch, who know that ciping is ciping. And if the whole thing is so involved that it must be that way, it should be un-involved. After all, the government is just us—leastwise we have hoped so—and why should there be so much of this kind of thing? Perhaps we have to put up with OPA and WPB and all of the alphabet things the war has brought on, but sure, surely, not in such a procedure as taking the people's money for the support of the war effort and the government in general. People want to do the right thing, but impediments are in the way—surely not purposely, but there just the same, and most aggravating and discouraging they are. We think people will call names and point fingers before March 15. They'll want to know why our congressman and our senators can't do something about it. Why have a congressman and senators who'll permit such to happen to us?

Poverty is not the money we fail to get, but the beauty we fail to see.

If the plan of the Office of Price administration works out like they say it is, gasoline dealers are going to become quite positive in their attitude toward the endorsement of gasoline rationing coupons. Wholesalers and dealers of Floydada who attended the most recent meeting called by OPA came home certain that the dealer who failed to meet the new requirements would soon find himself out of coupons with which to buy gasoline and automatically be out of business. The new plan, which has been worked up to gradually by OPA, will mean just that to the retailer and in turn the wholesaler. The carelessness and waste in coupon values, alleged to have been going on will be brought to an abrupt halt. Just what embarrassment the new order may have for farmers and for other large users of gasoline is yet to be learned. Undoubtedly a more careful accounting for this type of gasoline, as for instance gasoline that goes through tractors, will be one of the results. The farmer who thinks of himself already as pretty well harried may find something else to bother about. Perhaps it won't be as bad when the time comes as it appears beforehand. Often the troubles we have are worse in contemplation than in the actual occurrence.

Just how high indignation is going to rise in this part of the world over the form and manner in which income tax reports are to be made we can only guess. But our guess is that the fever is going to mount quite considerably before March 15, which is the last day on which reports are to be mailed. Our own experience is our background for the wonderment. Briefly we started to read one of the blanks over to get the general drift, since it was being norated around that the new forms are different and more difficult. To be perfectly frank, we are not sure that the first entry we would make on the first line of the first "schedule" and the maze grows progressively more involved as one proceeds. We doubt if the experienced maker-outers of income tax reports are going to be able to make headway on all the reports they are asked to make. We are confident that no individual of just ordinary book keeping experience and intelligence is going to be able to make out his own. Well, when all the thousands who have made a "stab" at their own for all these years talk in on the professionals and ask for help to be told that the man already has more than he can do before the deadline, then is when the fever really will mount.

What you hear never sounds as important as what you overhear.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)

It is quiet on the farm this Monday morning. Jeff is tending the stock, Wilda has gone to her school and the baby is asleep. The radio is turned low and the music comes in soft and sweet as songs of memory. Yesterday was not so quiet. All the family were here but Wilson and James. Joe and Carey and granddaddy picked up their guns and were gone to the pasture for hours hunting. Although the guns were of the play variety many a rabbit went down so they told. Anne played with the baby and made Valentines, bringing back my own youthful Valentine days with almost a pain for the bygone pleasures.

Jerry and the children came over Saturday night. Somehow it seemed that Wilson was close and was happy in our being together. I remember the words of a woman who once said of families, "It is so nice to belong" and the words came back time and again.

Our folks across are made more contented when they read of families carrying on in their absence, holding dear all the happy ways of getting together. They want to come back to pleasures they knew, ice cream and cake and mom and pop and all the rest having a good old fashioned time together.

Words cannot express the thoughts of the people who stood crowded on every side of the streets in Lubbock as the soldiers and sailors and air men marched by last Saturday. Tearfully the folks stood, most with tear-filled eyes, as they thought of uniforms ones far from home or across in battle. Leather shoes marched and Mr and Mrs. Civilian were proud that the soldiers could have them. Uniforms on men and boys with chins held high and faces straight ahead. Why do we not want wool anyway?

On they came, company after company, girls and boys of Uncle Sam's army, preparing to give their best that men and women may inhabit the west. The story's setting is Western Europe just before this last war. There are plots and intrigues, men suddenly disappearing or sent to foreign wars to die. We have hot political battles in America but men who oppose the powers that be in office do not disappear, never to be heard of again. I think if anyone who is dissatisfied with the way of life over here would read this book, he would change his mind about things.

A whisper of spring is in the air, a cool fog is rising and disappearing as the sun climbs the sky ladder, hens are scratching in the dead grass and finding green shoots at the surface, seed catalogs make a flower garden on the shelves in the house, wish books show summer dresses and hats. I have not had time to put down all the seeds and plants I want as I look through the books, but this I know from past years, the list will have to be cut more than once. I turn with something like envy from the dresses for slim women with glamour but perk up somewhat when I see dresses for the "woman more mature" and not so slender and glamorous.

We were shocked and grieved when we learned that Sammie Paschall of near Lubbock was hurt when a school bus hit her and threw her to the pavement one morning before sunrise near her home as she was trying to catch the bus for school. Her father, Sam Paschall is a nephew of Mr. Spikes. We hope Sammie gets well soon and can run and play as she did.

We had such a nice letter from Alvin Busby somewhere in New Guinea. The dollar we so casually gave to have a kit packed for the Red Cross to give to the boys bore a wonderful result that we wish we had been more generous. "My home is near Seattle in the State of Washington," Alvin writes. "They moved me around so much when I was in the states, I felt like a jackrabbit." Relatives and friends of Walter

Used Car Ration Return Assured By OPA Plan

Motorists and automobile dealers of Floyd county were reminded today by W. Edd Brown chairman of the local War Price and Rationing board, that the new plan designed to assure the return of outstanding gasoline ration coupons for all new and used automobiles and trucks that are sold is now in effect.

Since January 1, persons buying new or used vehicles from anyone, whether a dealer or a private individual, have had to obtain a duplicate receipt for surrendered gasoline rations from the seller in order to be eligible for a gasoline ration, Mr. Brown explained.

"Under the plan, the owner of a vehicle intending to sell it must return to the board, in person or by mail, all unused ration coupons issued for the vehicle," he said. "After it receives the coupons the board will issue in duplicate, a receipt for surrendered gasoline rations. Both copies of this receipt together with the tire inspection record are to be given by the seller to the person buying the car or truck."

Like private individuals who sell their cars, automobile dealers are to obtain duplicate receipts for surrendered gasoline rations for each car they have for sale, and will deliver both copies of the receipt to the buyer when a car is sold. Each dealer must report his inventory as of December 31 to the local Board, and the Board will send him a receipt. In duplicate, for each car reported by him.

Mr. Brown explained that the buyer of a vehicle is to give the original copy of the receipt for surrendered gasoline rations to the state motor vehicle registrar when applying for a new registration certificate. The duplicate copy of the receipt and the tire inspection record are to be given by the buyer to his local Board when he applies for a new gasoline ration for his car.

Without this receipt the county Board cannot issue a new gasoline ration, Mr. Brown said.

COLLEGE STATION, January 27.—The shortage of new containers is so acute that many fruits, vegetables and other food items in 1944 will either be delivered in used containers or not at all.

According to information from the Texas A. and M. College Extension service from the War Food administration, wooden container materials will be short of the demand by 10 to 20 per cent if yields are normal. WFA's office of materials and facilities points out that if the nation's 1943 tree fruit crop is equal to that of 1942, 16,000,000 more bushel baskets will be needed than actually were used in 1943. New fruit baskets will not be available to that extent this year.

The shortage of wooden containers is an example of the general scarcity of commercial wood and lumber products. Accordingly, the WFA urges growers and handlers of fruits and vegetables to put into service used containers of all types, such as wooden crates and boxes, and open mesh bags.

At the same time, the WFA asks retailers and the buying public to accept produce on its merits regardless of whether it is delivered in new or second-hand packaging. Used containers, the agency officials explain, should be regarded as necessary "wartime packages," comparable with a recapped rubber tire.

Special freight rates are in effect for the shipment of secondhand fruit and vegetable containers from Official Classification territory into Southern Freight association territory, the WFA discloses. In the field, the Extension service and representatives of the Food Distribution administration will be the sources of informers for food growers. Inquiries should be directed to county agricultural agents and local FDA officials.

Durrant Accepts Church Pastorate At Indianapolis

Rev. A. C. Durrant, who resigned the first of the year effective next Sunday from the pastorate of the Cumberland Presbyterian church here, will go to Indianapolis to take up similar work. He has accepted the call of a congregation in that city and will leave Monday with his wife and two daughters for the new field.

During the Christmas holidays the Durrants visited relatives in Detroit, returning about the first of the year. They have lived here the past 15 months, and Rev. Durrant has served as pastor of the church.

"Our own congregation, the citizenship of the community and the pastors of other congregations of Floydada have been most cooperative and helpful," said the minister in announcing his early departure for another work.

Rev. Durrant will preach his last sermons for the church Sunday morning and evening.

Rotary Organized Fifteen Years Ago In Floydada

Floydada Rotary club in its meeting yesterday observed the fifteenth anniversary of its organization with a 100 per cent attendance of members and with guests and Rotarians from Halls, Plainview and Lockney present.

Invited were all charter members, whether local residents or now removed from Floydada. Among telegrams of felicitation received were those from Robt. A. Sone, Corpus Christi; B. L. Blacklock, Munday; A. D. Cummings, Olney; and Geo. A. Linder, Wichita Falls. All these were charter members of the club and others included Frank L. Moore of Dalhart and C. M. Wilson of Huntington Park, California.

Organization of the Floydada club, it was brought out at the meeting was sponsored by Plainview Rotary club. Fred Lowe, D. D. Bowman and J. B. Cardwell, of that club, instrumental in the organization of the club here, were among those present in a delegation of 12 Tuesday from Plainview. Others who attended from Plainview were J. W. Walker, president of the club, J. K. Crews, G. K. Rogers, Bill Deerdoff, Rev. Lester Rickman, O. J. Laas, Ashley Mixon, J. B. Hardeman and E. G. Alexander. Rev. Rickman of the Plainview delegation made an address and Fred Lowe recounted that D. W. Fyffe, local business man, was the prime local mover in the organization. Fyffe served as the first president of the club.

Other guests for the day included Floyd Wofford, president of Lockney Rotary club, L. A. Wicks and Kendall Young of the Halls club.

FIRE CHIEF ON BRIEF VACATION TRIP SOUTH

Fire Chief Carl Rodgers is absent from home for a few days this mid-week, while he has a rest from his duties at the city hall as fire chief.

In his absence he will visit San Antonio among other points, returning home this week-end.

HOPE FOR GOOD HEALTH—BUT PREPARE FOR ILLNESS

To be ready for emergencies, farm families in many neighborhoods are making up medical supply kits they can exchange among themselves if sickness strikes, the Farm Security administration reports to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

In North Carolina, for example, two groups of families on the Farm Security Administration program have outfitted kits and circulate them much as a rental library distributes books. A type kit contains sheets, pillow cases, towels, washcloths, hot water bottles, ice caps, rubber sheets, a bedpan, gauze, adhesive tape, cotton and other items. The families cooperating choose one woman of their group as custodian of the kit, and she sees that it is sent promptly to the household needing it, and is returned. The fee for using the kit is 5 cents a week, plus cost of laundering the linens.

Similarly, a group of FSA families in Candler County, Georgia, organized a "Community Health Chest" which is actually a wooden chest containing sickroom supplies. Nineteen families were charter members, contributing a dollar each to buy the equipment. Within a few weeks, influenza and pneumonia struck in several homes, one of the men suffered a paralytic stroke, and another came home from the hospital to convalesce from an appendectomy. One family had a new baby born at home. In each case, the kit was available and the families found that it proved very useful.

ENEMIES IN GIFT PACKAGES

Fighting men abroad have the familiar tourist passion for souvenirs and for sending gifts home, the U. S. Department of Agriculture can testify. Its plant quarantine inspectors have the job of guarding the country against introduction of insect pests and plant diseases. They find the souvenir urge works out as a real hazard for the homeland. There is an unending stream of parcels from "military postoffices," some containing exotic nuts and fruits, some "slips" or cuttings from plants. This living plant material is dangerous—may carry pests.

But even more dangerous, because there is so much more of it, is the seemingly less dangerous dead and dry material used as packing to prevent breakage while souvenirs are in the mails. Just before Christmas the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine issued a public warning and request that receivers of Christmas gifts from abroad burn packing material in such parcels. Straw, dried leaves, unstamped cotton and linters, grain husks and hulls, and weedy materials are some of the things that may carry insects, diseases, or weed seeds to American fields, gardens or forests, the entomologists warn.

Ordinarily, plant inspectors work with customs and postal officers and examine incoming parcels thoroughly. But gifts from soldiers up to a value of $50 are duty free and Treasury inspectors pass many unopened parcels. A reduced staff of Federal inspectors may miss some dangerous material that would ordinarily be destroyed. They have already dealt with living insects in plant material; for example pink bollworm larvae in gift packages bound for homes in the Cotton Belt. There is real risk that gift parcels may introduce the rice borer and other insects as troublesome as the Japanese beetle or Hessian fly, or diseases of the type of chestnut blight or white pine blister rust.

The department is appealing for continuing attention to the warning. Burn any packing material that comes with gifts from soldiers abroad. These tokens are welcome but they should be kept from bringing in dangerous and unwelcome guests.

Our Merchant Marine

Tankers

This is a war of petroleum. Not a tank could roll, not a plane could fly and not a gun could fire without it.

The first petroleum was carried in barrels aboard ships. In 1886 the English developed a bulk tanker which could unload in three days instead of a month.

American longshoremen protested and petitioned Congress to halt the building of tankers.

The type continued to increase, however, so that at the beginning of this war we had one-fourth of the world's tankers.

Our tankers now supply all our allied armies. It takes four tankers per fighting day to keep our armies in action in Europe alone.

Changing Jobs? You Need Proof Of Availability

PLAINVIEW, Texas, January 16.—“A number of Floydada people who quit their jobs without obtaining a Certificate of Availability and move to other parts of the country, often find it hard to get another job.”

Mallory W. Etter, Manager of the United States Employment office in Plainview, said January 15, “That is because employers are refusing to hire workers unless they have a Statement of Availability from their previous employer.”

Etter further explained that this Statement of Availability is part of the Labor Stabilization plan of the War Manpower Commission and assists in regulating the movement of workers about the country and referral of workers with critical skills to jobs most important to the war effort.

Floyd county 4-H club boys are taking the lead in gathering old discarded fountain pens and discarded costume jewelry. This salvage drive ends January 29th.

The broken and discarded pens will be repaired and rebuilt into pens as good as new by Emerson McCord of Houston, Texas, and distributed to Overseas Servicemen, without cost, by U. S. Army Chaplains. 4-H club boys have agreed to bring in any kind of broken fountain pen so long as it has at least one usable part.

The discarded costume jewelry will be distributed by the International Red Cross to those far distant posts where natives are friendly to Allied soldiers. These items will be exchanged for valuable information and appreciation of native friendship.

Now is a good time to have a germination and purity test run on the seed you expect to plant or sell this season. The test is free.

Farm operators are requested to mail their samples direct to Early J. Peltier, Seed Analyst, Box 236 Texas Tech, Lubbock, Texas. It requires about ten days to run the test, and this plant will be very crowded later in the season.

Cotton growers who plant either certified Paymaster or Deltapine in 1944 are eligible for a subsidy payment under the provisions of the Cotton Improvement Planting Seed Program.

One poultry authority estimates that 25,000 tons of protein supplement for fattening hogs is available in the huge quantities of infertile and dead-germ eggs discarded from commercial hatcheries this season.

Herman King of Lone Star community has fed many pounds of infertile eggs to fattening hogs with excellent results. Tankage and cottonseed meal are not readily available on the market, and the wise hog feeder will contact our hatcherymen for these infertile eggs to determine their protein replacement value.

Try a plant bed this year. Garden plants such as tomatoes, cabbage, pepper and eggplants can be started in a plant bed and then transplanted to the garden. This practice gives slow-growing plants a "head start" in the early spring so they'll be ready by planting time six to eight weeks later.

If you're interested in a plant bed, listen to this advice from J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist for the A. and M. College Extension Service. He says get a small container that can be picked up and brought into the kitchen on cold days and nights, then put outside on warm days. An old wash tub or dishpan will do.

In the bottom of the bed put two or three inches of manure, sand, and top soil, well-mixed. Use about one-fourth rotted manure, one-fourth sand, and one-fourth top soil. Next put in a layer of coarse sand about an inch thick.

The final step is to add a layer of small size gravel about one-fourth inch deep. This will help prevent damping off of the young plants. And last, sprinkle the bed with water.

Rosborough says the plant bed should be started six to eight weeks before time for setting the plants in the open garden.

Notes On Council Meeting Of H. D. Clubs Saturday

"Watch Out" was the name of our first game of the first Council meeting which was held January 23. We played other games that were very interesting. Roll call was answered by introducing new club presidents and council representatives.

Miss Wilson impressed on the club women the importance of collecting used and broken fountain pens to be repaired and distributed to our service men who need them. If you have read our agent's column in the Hesperian you have the announcement of how the pens are repaired and sent out.

Did you know pressure cookers are off the ration list? You can buy one if you can find it anywhere. As chairman of post-war work of the Rotary club County Agent, Jason O. Gordon, asked the women for a list of post-war articles needed most to be put in circulation as soon as conditions make it possible. A lengthy list was supplied.

Mrs. Everett Miller announced to club recreation chairmen that a "Handbook for Recreation Leaders" could be had for fifteen cents on sale by Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C.; also two pamphlets listing entertainment can be had from National Recreation Association, 315, 4th Ave. New York 10, New York.

Mary Louise Childress, 4-H gold star girl, was introduced and Miss Wilson told a few of her achievements of the year. Mrs. Hardin Jackson, 4-H sponsor, urged club women to help and give encouragement to our girls in the club work.

The possibility of the council sponsoring one evening entertainment at the Lubbock U. S. O. with host, hostesses, and refreshments, for a thousand soldiers was discussed. Council voted to cooperate and will await word what date on some Saturday evening it will be.

Council rules of order was read and one committee has been added that being our salvage committee to care especially for waste fats and any other salvage work we find to be done.

Our district meeting will be at Lubbock April 21, when the State president will be with us.

To the Citizens and Voters of Floyd County:

I am taking this method of announcing to you my candidacy for Sheriff of Floyd County, Texas. As I become a candidate for a second term, I wish you to know that I have enjoyed my work for the past year. I have learned lots and have tried at all times to do my work in a courteous manner.

Consult District ODT Before You Buy Used Truck

LUBBOCK, TEXAS, January 22.—All persons planning to purchase used trucks of any kind, have been advised by the Office of Defense Transportation to consult their District ODT office before purchasing such equipment.

Several cases have occurred, the ODT said, where persons have purchased trucks and then found the proposed services were of a nature that did not qualify them for allotments of gasoline and mileage.

Such purchases should not be made until the prospective buyer makes certain that a certificate of War Necessity will be issued by the ODT for the type of service in which a truck is to be used, in the event the vehicle is purchased. The ODT warning also applies to purchases of Army trucks.

By checking with the ODT, prospective purchasers can avoid possible financial loss from buying vehicles for which they will be unable to obtain gasoline allocations, the ODT pointed out.

The ODT also warned that persons contemplating businesses, where the use of trucks would be involved, should likewise consult ODT District Offices, for the same reasons.

Under the amendment to ODT General Order, the ODT will not issue gas for new or enlarged truck operations, unless they are adjudged necessary to the War Effort, or to essential civilian economy.

Eugene Beard In New Guinea Once More, He Writes

(Written December 22)

(Letter written to Sgt. H. L. Howard, Alamogordo, New Mexico at present by Sgt. Samuel Eugene Beard, son of Mrs. Sam Beard)

Sorry that I haven't written you sooner, but there just isn't much to write about and then, too, I was busy for a while moving. I am back in dear old New Guinea again. However, it is a lot better here than it was when I was in New Guinea last year. We have a swell camp site, and until about a week ago, we had the best enlisted men's club in this part of the Island. It is closed down now for the holidays and I don't know whether we will get to re-open or not. I hope so because it certainly helps to pass away the time, we had a bar, day room, game room and ping-pong room in it. The natives built it for us and we put in the fixtures in our spare time.

By the way, I guess you are a proud papa now. How about some details and I will take a rain check on the cigar until the duration plus six months. Anyway, congratulations, and how does Mrs. Howard like being a grand-mother? You had better watch Lee or he will beat your time. I sure wish I could see your mother and father again, also before too many years go by, I hope to meet your wife.

I guess I remain the wandering bachelor of the old gang for quite some time yet. However, I think I have had my share of fun and intend to have some more when I get back to the good old U. S. A. and don't believe in travels of the south sea maids. I have yet to see a Dorothy Lamour or Hedy Lamarr. You should see some of these native villages and native gals. Boy oh boy, them and the hour.

Your pal,
Skinnie.

The Office of Price Administration in Adopting a Strict policy on the Endorsement of Gasoline Ration and Mileage Coupons of ALL TYPES in an effort to Stamp Out Waste and Carelessness in Gasoline and to put a Stop to any Black Market operations in this territory. Without endorsed Coupons we cannot get Gasoline from the Refiner.

Please Take This Warning Seriously We Must Have Your Help

So that there will be no misunderstanding: On and after February 1 the undersigned will make no deliveries of Gasoline on Any type of coupon unless the same has been endorsed in the manner required by OPA.

Castor Beans Do Well; Buyers In County Saturday

Representatives of the Southwestern Peanut Growers' association, Gorman, Texas, were in Floydada, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, January 19, 20, 21, purchasing and threshing castor beans grown by Floyd county producers under a seed increase program. This is the second year for growing the castor beans in Floyd county. Only fifty acres were grown for the purpose of increasing pure seed. None at the present time is to be used for oil purposes.

This significant seed increase program was desired to supply seed for planting in the event our commercial supply from South America was disrupted. The beans are important because of their oil properties. The increased demand for drying oils used in the manufacture of paints and varnishes and processed castor oil supplies, as well as its highly specialized technical uses as lubricants in airplane motors, make the relatively small seed in great demand.

The 1943 growers here were T. S. Brown, Lee Burnett, Jimmie H. Allen, Raymond Ford, J. C. Ginn, W. B. Jordan, Olin S. Miller, Willard C. Wisdom, Paul S. Box, Clarence Ashton, R. I. Bennett, T. L. Calloway, R. T. Spence, and Billy Stanforth.

County Is Adaptable
Results from the two years planting indicate that this area is adaptable to production of castor beans. They grow equally well under either irrigation or dry land farming. Eighteen producers planted in 1943. Four were hailed out; the fourteen other producers made 18720 pounds of beans and were paid an average of $5.01 per hundred pounds.

In 1942 results were better due to the more favorable season. Twenty one producers made 33720 pounds and received an average of $3.41 per hundred pounds. On the basis of the two year production the average acre has brought the farmer about $30.00. The largest yield of either year was made by Jimmie Allen, Lockney in 1942 when he produced 4485 pounds of beans on a little less than 2 acres.

No Planting This Year
Ray S. McEntire, Administrative Officer of the Floyd County AAA said in discussing the program, "We are well pleased with the castor bean seed program in Floyd county. The beans make well in various different soils and seem adaptable to any area where cotton is grown. The 1943 crop was lighter because of the hot winds just at maturity. There will not be any seed program in 1944 because sufficient beans have been grown to insure adequate seed to meet any emergency."

Showers Bring More Moisture To Plains Fields

Much encouragement is contained in the weather news of the past 48 hours for Floyd county, a storm period that had brought light winds and weather somewhat below freezing, bringing with a considerable shower yesterday afternoon, a shower that fell for more than an hour and amounted to a downpour for several minutes.

Official measure at Floyd County Rural Electric office was 36-hundredths of an inch of moisture. Temperature was standing at the freezing point this morning at 8 o'clock, the only time in the week thermometer registered that cold. Early this morning reports were not available to indicate whether the rain was or was not general, but what information was at hand so indicated.

The shower and drop in temperature were preceded by the mildest week of weather since Thanksgiving. The thermometer registering slightly below freezing only one morning in the several days. Plowing and barley planting had started on most farms the first of the week and much bundling hauling and feed grinding had been done during the interim of clear weather following the prolonged wintery week.

As the Ralls Jackrabbits begin their strong recovery from the early season disasters they come to Floydada Friday night blowing hot to win and if they do win they go in to a tie with Floydada for second place. It could be a three-way tie should Spur take Paducah on Spur's home court the same night.
The Floydada quintet is hoping that their four home games in the second half against two away from home will be in their favor. Coach Aaron Carthel says his boys have just got to make a better showing against Matador when they come here. After the Ralls game the Whirlwinds have a game at Paducah, followed by Spur at Floydada, Matador at Floydada and Crosbyton at Crosbyton, where they close the league competition.
Supt. Clemons, district chairman, said the site of the regional tournament after district competition is over, has not been determined yet. It may be another two weeks before this matter is settled. District chairmen of District 1 (Hereford and that area) District 2 (Shamrock and towns in that area) District 3 (our own district which is numbered differently for basketball to football) and District 4 (Levelland and the southwest plains area) will determine the place. Four district winners and four runners-up will be in the regional tournament.

treating the soybeans with heat to improve the flavor, protein value, and keeping quality. This results in a "full-fat" soya flour. If oil is extracted after the heat treatment, the pressed material that is left is ground up into "low-fat" flour or grits. Only carefully selected and treated soybean are used in making these soybean food products, and they are made in modern sanitary food plants.
Whether or not the oil is extracted, the ground product retains all the protein and minerals and most of the vitamins of the soybeans. The protein of soybeans is of good quality and is an exceptionally good supplement to the protein of wheat flour. The need for more protein in wartime has led to greatly increased manufacture of soya flour and soya grits, as well as many ready-to-use mixtures containing them.

Soybean oil or fat, yielded by the soybean, has been extracted for some time for use in shortenings, cooking and salad oils, margarine and mayonnaise, and is also an important food material for American tables.
