AWARDED DISTINGUISHED FLYING CROSS IN INDIA FOR HAZARDOUS FLIGHTS

AIR TRANSPORT BASE IN INDIA, Feb. 4—Award of the Distinguished Flying Cross to Flight Officer Frank H. Jones, of Floydada was announced here today by Brigadier General Earl S. Hoag, commanding general of the India China Wing, Air Transport command, Army Air forces.

The medal, according to the citation, was awarded for "extraordinary achievement by participating in more than fifty flights in heavily loaded transport airplanes through the combat zones of Upper Assam, Burma and Southwest China, where enemy interceptions and attacks were probable and expected. These flights, requiring three to five hours each, were frequently made on successive days over high, rugged mountainous terrain, subject to inclement conditions, at altitudes seldom reached during average flying, through weather requiring long periods of instrument flying and over areas where adequate navigational aids were not provided."

"Undaunted by the hazards faced regularly and continuously, he performed his duties in such manner that the highest credit is reflected upon himself and the military forces of the United States."

Flight Officer Jones is the son of Mrs. Dean H. Hill, of Terrell Wells, Texas, and has had nearly a year's service in this theatre of war with the India China wing—the outfit responsible for the operation of heavy transport planes on a 24-hour schedule between India and China over a rugged spur of the Himalaya mountains known as the "Hump". Invitations were being mailed out this week far in advance of the date so as to give ample time for preparation to attend, and meet problems incident to even short travel trips, the superintendent said.

Miss Margaret Doak, clothing teacher in the school and Miss Marcella Fryer, foods teacher, are being joined by the superintendent in sending out the invitations.

In addition to the club representatives of the 16 schools local school people hope to have home demonstration agents from the surrounding counties as well as area supervisors.

Schools included in the list are Abernathy, plainview, Lockney, Hale Center, Matador, Crosbyton, Rails, Lorenzo, Idalou, Patton Springs, Silvertown, Quitaque, Turkey, Dickens, Roaring Springs, and Spur.

Loose Gas Valve Cause Of Costly Gas Explosion

An accumulated pocket of natural gas in the south wing of the J. M. Willson residence on South First street, is believed the cause of an explosion Saturday afternoon that caused damage probably amounting to $3,000.

Force of the blast blew out the fire which scorched timbers in the building. Fire Chief Carl Rodgers and City Inspector E. S. Price said ceiling and frame timbers as well as bricks on the walls of the wing were loosened. No damage was done to the gas furnace.

No windows were broken and Mrs. Willson who was in that portion of the building was uninjured, and no other members of the family were hurt.

A loosened gas valve that controls the gas before it enters the furnace is credited with permitting the leak that filled the house and caused the unusual explosion.

Two Indictments Returned; Grand Jury Adjourns

Floyd county grand jury for the first six months of the year, empaneled Monday morning, held its first session the same day, returned two felony indictments charging forgery, ad adjourned to await further call of Judge Chapman in 110th District court.

FORGERY IS CHARGED

Indicted were Collins Burnett and Chas. Evans, 17 and 18 years of age respectively and the charge state alleges that the checks passed were forged by Tommy Atkins, 23, who committed suicide in the Stephenville jail 10 days ago. Atkins cut his own throat and bled to death. He is alleged to have forged many checks on contract truckers of the southwest, among them one Floyd county trucker-merchant, D. W. Fyffe.

The check on which the indictments here are based was written on an A. K. Anderson against funds in the City National bank at Lawton, Oklahoma. The check was honored by Jack Sims Day and Night service station here on November 20. Burnett said that Atkins wrote the check in his presence. Evans actually cashed the check at the local station. Burnett worked for Fyffe for some 30 days.

During the month of January, Floyd county dairy farmers were paid $3,671.80 as dairy subsidies on 2699 hundred weight whole milk and 51944 pounds butterfat. The rate of payment was 40 cents per hundred pounds of whole milk and 5 cents per pound butterfat for cream. Application should be made immediately.

show was not held last year because of the desire to conserve gasoline, but on the other hand the contribution of food for war effort by juniors has been a factor, and there are arguments both for and against the matter.

Gordon is calling the meeting so the matter may be brought to a decision. If it is favorable to this year, a date should be set immediately, he pointed out.

GOVERNMENT MEDICINE

In all the Administration discussions of post-war plans the point is always made that "Social Security" will be expanded. This proposed rapid change to cradle-to-grave paternalism is excellent politics but more careful examination reveals it as an unheard of extension of Federal power over the lives and jobs of the individual citizens. A study of the bureaucratic mind at work is the Wagner-Murray-Dingell Bill (S. 1161) which is under consideration at this time. This bill proposes to guarantee the individual against all the hazards of life and it is financed by taking 6% of the employees wage, 6% from his employer, and 7% from the self-employed. For this everyone will receive free government medical care along with other assurance of protection.

The more sordid features of the Bill in addition to its very high cost are that all medical matters are under the absolute control of the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service and that all employment and change of employment is placed under the permanent rule of the U. S. Employment Service. Such National Socialism is against all the principles of the native born Americans who still prefer to select his own doctor without government permission and who still wants to feel free to get a job of his own choosing without requiring an O.K. from the Employment Service. Also, the free American likes to think that he can buy his own insurance and pay for it as he sees fit without being compelled to join the 6% government plan.

Under the Wagner Act, every employed person would be compelled to pay the government up to $200.00 a year for medical care whether he needs it or not. And this, it must be recalled, is over and above all present taxes which are already very high and bound to go much higher before this war is paid off.

Senator Wagner, himself born in Germany, likes to point out the great accomplishments of government medicine in Germany with their expanded social security. He fails to mention, however, that this resulted in a National Socialistic Party which championed it but which also dissolved the trade unions, nationalized agriculture and industry, and finally placed the leader, Hitler, in absolute control of the country. The result of this National Socialistic control has been autocratic government, hopeless debt, war and suffering rather than good health, long life and secure, comfortable old age.

Why then is the president calling on Americans to support the Wagner Bill with all its implications? The only possible answer is that the superficial voter thinks it sounds fine and is likely to vote for a candidate who espouses it. It is a case of anything to win a campaign and let the storm and pestilence follow. Thinking Americans and those with a deep love of country will say with Cyrano de Bergerac, "No, thank you, No thank you, and No, thank you."

If you are sitting around wondering why you don't get a raise, maybe that's why.

A man who starts out to show his wife who's boss often learns soon enough.

When the treasury department said that the Fourth War Loan would prove the first real test of the temper of the American people its heads evidently had in mind that the glamour of the financing job would begin to pall and that cold reason and logic and realization of necessity would have to take the place of enthusiasm. That plugging at the job would have to take the place of the round table conference where the quota would be divided up and a community's part would be subscribed within a few hours. As the campaign enters February and only a bit more than ten days yet remain in which the people are to meet their quotas or not meet them, the quota for Floyd county lacks a great deal of being met. One thing that is making the job more difficult than before is the demand of the treasury department that more of the E and F bonds be bought than the other kind. E and F bonds represent the best type of personal investment, in which corporations and foundations and investment trusts may not even participate. And we can't call on the big corporations, such as we might desire to do so, to fill out the total for which the private citizen feels unequal.

An unfortunate angle to the timing for release of the story of the atrocities, as we think, is that it hit right in the midst of the Fourth War Loan campaign. We hope we are wrong but fear the release of the facts in the matter at this particular stage of the war effort may have the wrong effect on the public, at least for a time. Why assume that we have to be done that way to do our utmost duty? Aren't we in the war up to the hilt? We are indeed and only that small minority who have not waked up to the fact are not doing what they should. The public might see too plainly the strings that are being pulled to make the puppets go through their motions. However, as we keep saying, right or wrong, we must have faith in the leaders. Army men who are in the fight say the high strategy of the war is good, that the leadership is not lacking. And so we take what comes knowing that the load of responsibility is a high one and that if we have our doubts, they do also and, after due counsel, have to take one course or another.

The use of ration tokens, for which merchants the nation over are making preparations, means that late in February this means will be taken to give retail customers their change for ration points. The tokens will be used, for the present at least, only in food stores, one color for processed foods, another color for meats. The tokens are not meant to take the place of ration books, which will have to be used as usual, but to supplement them. It is now indicated that Ration Book IV will be made to last for the duration. They will be difficult to replace, OPA says, for some reason.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)

Seven of mother's children—there are eight of us living—gathered Saturday and Sunday in honor of her birthday. Jim, the youngest son, could not come. He lives in San Antonio. Mother's loved sister, Aunt Mirtle was not there this year, either. She had a hard fall over a cat and as her sister Nettie addressed, "She fell right top of the trash can and smashed it into flitters." I wonder if mother does not think we can still make as much noise when we get together as we did when we were children. The small children simply could not be heard and went outside to play. Guy and Jim were the champion domino players Saturday night, but they argued they were not good players, all the rest were very poor ones. Some of us were talking about buying mother an easy chair and she overheard us and said she did not want one as she was afraid it would make us settle down.

Mother is so happy she never takes time to worry. There are always folks who need a bit of cheer, a smile, or a kind word, and these she passes on unstintedly. A few happy hours as children again, brothers and sisters and mother, then each leaves to go back to duties in their own home, better for the reunion together of ones who love one another dearly.

The muffler on Wilda's car split open and the car roared like a tractor. "I wouldn't mind," I told her. "The main thing nowadays is that a car will run." With good looks gone, fenders swinging loose, seats coming to pieces, all kind of queer noises, we care not, only that the car takes us where we need to go, is all we ask.

Wilda, Margaret Nell, and I had such pleasant visits last Friday afternoon. An hour with Mrs. Lincoln and Artie, friends of many years, a short time with Mrs. Jenkins and Ruth. A few minutes with Mrs. Bob Smith, Worth and adorable daughter. Time passed so quickly and pleasantly as we visited and we regretted to leave each home.

"Grandmother I do not want to miss school as I would lose a head-mark if you know what that means," Anne told me as she ran on to play a little before she had to go home. And I do know what that means? Why I can still feel the chalky line on the rough school floor as my bare toes squinched tightly to their place. I could spell even if I could not figure and what a thrill it was to spell a word that has come down a long line, missed by even then the best and turn the whole class down by knowing the proper way to spell it. Some teachers had us to number our places in the long line by naming the presidents in order, another had us number by Spanish count.

I can see the black smudged marks in the back of my speller, and do I wish I had it now. History repeats itself, even school history, I told myself as I thought of the eagerness Anne had in getting a headmark in this modern way of schooling.

Thoughts while driving on the highway as I drove to the reunion of our family. Now I know that man a head is not going fast enough, driving from twenty-five to thirty I must pass him. Now that is better, I can get home a little quicker. My goodness what does he mean, passing me like he was going to a fire? Now he slows down again, weaving from the middle of the pavement to the outside, driving slow, spurring up a little now and then. Well I will have to stay behind, happy that it is not a dusty road. I like to hear the whistle of the train, makes me think of going places and of friends coming to see us—Wasn't that whistle of the tugboat on the broad Mississippi I heard several years ago Papa could whistle so sweet I remember he would take a leaf in his mouth and make the sweetest whistle—always liked to hear the whistle blow when the thresher started early in the morning—even the gin whistle sounds good—wish I could hear my boy whistle—the funny little whistle of my grandson just learning how—I like the whistle the tea kettle makes, such a cozy sound—The honk of a horn sounds nice when a friend comes to one's house—but goodness me, what is that whistle I now hear, Live steam escaping—my, my this is one whistle I do like, the one a tire makes, kinda leaves one flat so to speak.

THE LOSERS
By Elaine V. Emans
I think they love, who put away the best
They have in drawers, and closets, sayin, "I shall use it some day;
Its too good for right now"
And so they live their decades out, possessed
Of hidden loveliness until they die
Not having known, nor understood
Well, how
This treasure in their rooms had held sunlight
Even for cloudy days, and that had lent
A kind of courage, something else, content.
I shall not let most beauty out of sight.

WHEN WILL I GET SYNTHETIC TIRES?

Facts on the rubber situation by Phillips Petroleum Company, operating a 90,000,000 pound butadiene plant, for an annual production of rubber equivalent to 11,000,000 tires

THE RACE FOR RUBBER is right now entering the homestretch. Swiftly and surely, the nation's synthetic rubber plants are approaching peak annual production of 850,000 tons.

Despite this record-breaking achievement, the next six months are the time of crisis, because the full fighting power of rubber is needed for war: Tires for planes, and combat trucks and cars; rubber for life rafts and landing boats; rubber for bullet-sealing tanks and electrical insulation; rubber for a thousand and one victory needs.

This is why only the most essential civilian drivers can be supplied with new tires of synthetic rubber at least until late in the year. The rest of us must continue to save miles and rubber, and recap in time to keep rolling.

As a major producer of butadiene (the chief ingredient in synthetic rubber) and 100 octane aviation gasoline, the Phillips Petroleum Company presents these facts as a contribution to general understanding of the present transportation problem.

With us, as with every American motorist, the needs of war come first. But when victory is won, car owners will begin enjoying the benefits and product-improvements flowing from Phillips' gigantic chemical plants, devoted to producing new and better things from petroleum gases as well as petroleum. Truck Operators Danger Being Fought Without Tires

FLOYD COUNTY, Texas, January 26.—Danger of hundreds of Texas trucks being left on account of lack of tires, stressed here today by W. W. Shriver, assistant to the rubber

Washington. Truck and bus operators of the state pay more attention to loading and speeds and ease to recapping tires, many of themselves without tires in a few months, he said.

A meeting of truck operators representatives of the Office of Transportation and Office Administration, the Washington, D. C., office called attention to that only 33 tires have been in recent months in Texas every 100 new tires issued. National average is 65.4, New York's average is approximately 88 and Minnesota's more operators blamed lack of tires for failure to take tires when worn smooth.

People of Texas must practice conservation as you never have in the Washington official. Tires have been shipped to keep cars going but I know the supply is vanishing.

Plans would bring their repair to the national average, effect a saving of 25,000 tons in the Dallas region. He pointed out that even does not get all the tires are more than 20 million on the road," he said. To the users of those tires we them if we keep rolling.

Keeping Healthy One Way To Help Win The War

Austin, Texas.—In discussing the possible danger of inflation to the American way of life, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has declared that he believes one phase of this menace which should not be overlooked is the danger of inflation in the incident of disease.

"Just because we have a war going on is no reason why we should allow the disease and death rates in the country to become higher than in recent peacetimes," Dr. Cox said.

"Indeed, it is an urgent reason why we should sharply reduce these rates among our people and use every effort to keep the health levels among our civilians and military population at their highest possible peak."

The State Health Officer emphasized once again, as he has often done in the past, the necessity for using the more easily, common-sense safeguards of health. Immunization against several of the more killing diseases is available to all, at little or no cost. Such protection should not be neglected and the person who allows himself, or his family to suffer from a preventable illness is, whether he realizes it or not, actually handicapping the nation's war effort.

Another health precaution which can and should be practiced in every home and community is careful sanitation; clean clothes, a clean body, and clean home environments do much to prevent the appearance of illness in the home and the sanitation practiced throughout the community will help to insure the health of that community.

"Good, wholesome, nourishing foods, home and community sanitation, and the protection afforded by this disease and death rates in this country," Dr. Cox asserted.

Mrs. R. F. Luttrell returned home Tuesday from Clovis, New Mexico where she had spent a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Clay Anderson and family.

Scouts Will Get Per Cent Waste Paper Income

Because for one thing Boy Scouts have been and will continue to be quite useful in the waste paper collection campaign, the local troops will be "cut in" in the modest profits which may accrue from the sale of waste paper to salvage houses from this area, it was indicated this week.

Because people of the county for so long have been disappointed in being unable to make disposal of waste papers and magazines to a war agency, although urged by radio and press to salvage them, the public has been slow to respond to the newly adopted plan worked out recently and announced by Jason O. Gordon.

A few thousand pounds were delivered this week to the storage place at the McDonald Implement company, but the hope is that the amount will steadily increase. Waste paper has been sorely needed in the war effort, the War Production board has been urging.

Gypsy Moth is Epicure

Gypsy moth caterpillars are "chompy" eaters. When they can find forest trees to their liking they pass by other species that only serve as makeshifts when they cannot get the favored food. There are also at least ten species definitely distasteful to these caterpillars. The gypsy moth control workers find that areas where there are many pines and oaks suffer from repeated attacks, while regions with only a few oaks or pines—and with many of the hardwoods the gypsy moth do not like—may be virtually free of infestation.

In all stages of growth, gypsy moth larvae eat alder, apple, basswood, boxelder, gray birch, hawthorn, river birch, willow, all species of oak, and all species of poplar except yellow. Larch and paper birch are second choice. If they can get any of the preferred species, larvae ignore black birch, black cherry, black gum, elm, hickory of all species, honebeam, maple of all species, sassafras and yellow birch. Large caterpillars, but not young ones, eat the leaves of beech, hemlock, all species of pine, southern white cedar, and all eastern species of spruce.

The trees the gypsy moth larva do not like include American holly, ash, balsam, black walnut, butternut, dogwood, locust, red cedar, sycamore and tuliptree. So control workers recommend, among other measures, removing pockets of favored host plants whenever possible, and replanting with species the caterpillars leave alone.

The main objective of the Federal control work under the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine of the U. S. Department of Agriculture is to prevent moths spreading westward and southward from New England. It would be impossible to treat all areas, and control work is concentrated on the establishment barrier zone, and in eradicating new trouble spots beyond the zone. In areas beyond the zone, by trapping, scouting, and spraying by autogiro or airplane, the control forces kill off moths and check the spread of the pest to other parts of the country.

FEED LAYERS, NOT ROOSTERS

"Get rid of the roosters in the poultry flock unless you are planning to hatch your own baby chicks," says H. L. Shriver, extension poultry specialist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. "Roosters eat feed that could better go to pullets and laying hens. The egg goal this year in 192 percent of last year's goal of 4-1/2 billion dozen eggs. The feed situation is tighter. The best use of feed is to convert it into eggs. Pullets will lay whether or not there are male birds in the flock."

"Cull out the old hens, too," says Shriver—"the birds that are over 2 years old and not earning their keep. Both roosters and old hens are more valuable in the soup kettle and salad bowl than they are as non-paying borders in the poultry flock."

The extra 2 percent of eggs marketed called for this season can be reached, Shriver says. In addition to getting rid of worn out hens, the poultry owner will need to take care to prevent eggs going bad. Even one egg a day lost by failing to gather eggs promptly, or by allowing them to become soiled or cracked, results in a high loss for the year.

To lay well the hens will need a good-quality laying mash fed in the right quantity. It is better to feed 20 hens well than it is to divide the same quantity of feed among 30 birds. A full hen has the extra energy to keep her egg manufacturing plant going.

SELECTIVE FARMING FOR WAR

"Our huge increase in food since 1939 is the result," says Secretary Wickard in his annual report for 1943, "not of uniform but of selective crop expansion developed farm by farm through careful thought and advance planning. It represents not just any kind of farm production, but the kind we need for war. The achievement reflects the decisions and efforts of millions of farmers, expressed in planting, breeding, and feeding operations. Much shifting of crops has taken place, along with improvement and changes in crop rotations. Science has contributed significantly to the results. Our food production has increased faster in this war than it did during the first years of World War I, largely because the work has been more thoroughly planned, more highly organized, and more scientific."

A remarkable civilization was developed in Central America by the Mayans before the time of Columbus.

COFFEE GROUNDS NOT GOOD FOR CHICKENS, SAY EXPERTS

Coffee grounds are not good for chickens, and backyard poultry keepers had better dispose of them in some other way than feeding them to poultry with the table scraps.

The question rose, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports, as a serious inquiry. Soluble coffee is in demand in wartime in connection with any rationing. In manufacturing it quantities of dregs accumulate and it was considered possible that the dregs might have real food value and would help conserve grain.

To answer the question, the Bureau of Animal Industry made comparative feeding tests in which coffee grounds were substituted for part of the grain in standard diets. Two sets of tests were enough to convince the experimenters that coffee grounds are not good feed. Chickens fed on mixtures containing coffee grounds did not grow as rapidly as with the standard ration. The higher the percentage of grounds, the more the growth lagged.

The conclusion is that coffee grounds do not make good poultry feed.

NOT CENSORED

There is a soldier letter making the rounds according to Matt Weinstein, which was written by a soldier now in foreign country and the letter is censor proof. The soldier wrote:

"After leaving where we were, we left for here. Not knowing we were coming from there to here, we couldn't tell if we would arrive here or not. Nevertheless we are now here and not there. The weather here is just as it is usually at this season but, of course, quite unlike the weather where we were before we came here. After leaving by what we left by, we had a good trip. The people here are just like they look. The whole thing is quite a new experience here because it is not like what it was where we came from, even the grounds and houses. It's time to stop this too newsy letter before I give away too much valuable information as the censor is liable to be a spy."

"Why are you sobbing, my little man?"
"My pa's a millionaire philanthropist."
"Well, well! That's nothing to cry about, is it?"
"It ain't, ain't it? He's just promised to give me $5 to spend for Christmas provided I raise a similar amount."
"I wish you would shave that mustach off, John. You look like Hitler."
"Don't worry dear. The neighbors know I'm no dictator."
Molly: "Did you enjoy the canoe ride with Jerry?"
Polly: "No, he was too cautious. He just hugged the shore."

Measles in Texas Shows Big Gain During Week

Floydada, Texas, Feb. 10. The incidence of measles in Texas last week shown as more than 50 per cent above the seven year median, in a report issued by Dr. Geo. W. State Health Officer.

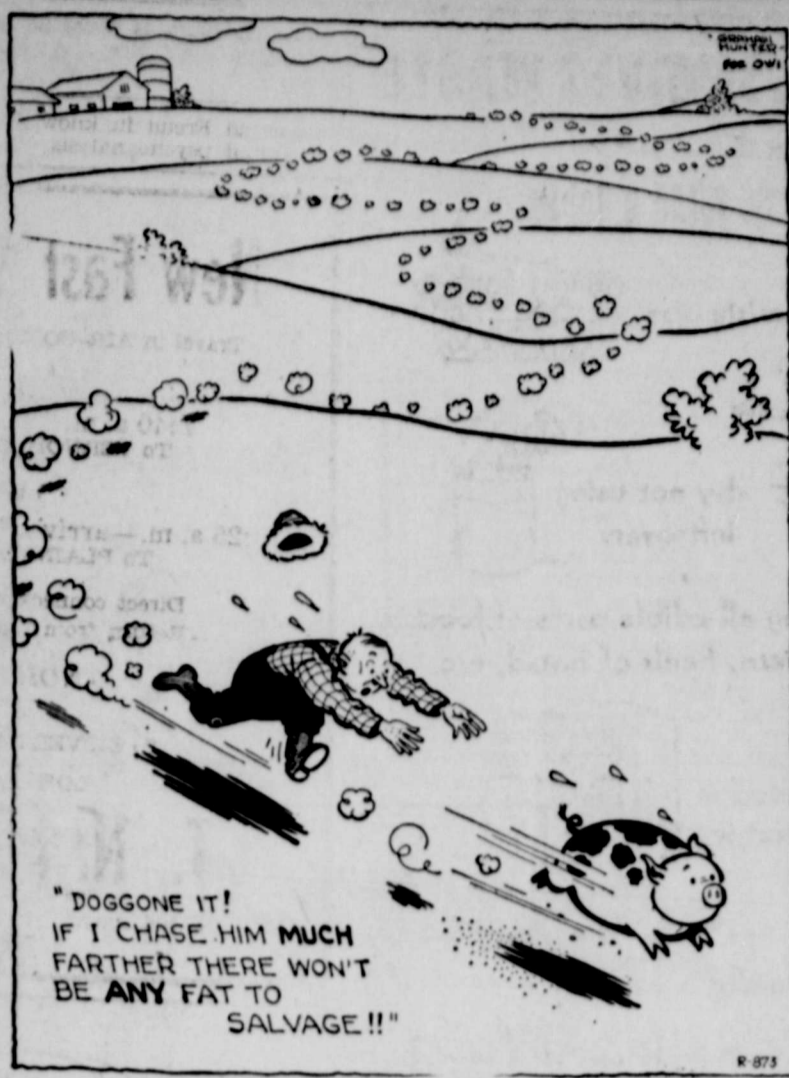

Any contagious disease can lead to epidemic proportions," Dr. Cox warned, "if proper care is not taken to isolate the patient, and prevent others from exposure."

Dr. Cox said that measles had not reached even a near-epidemic stage as yet; nevertheless he wanted to emphasize the need for proper isolation and strict compliance with quarantine laws, in order to prevent widespread appearance.

Measles alone is not necessarily a dangerous disease, Dr. Cox stated. Serious complications, such as pneumonia, mastoiditis, and pneumonia, which frequently follows, are a disease to be carefully watched, with close attention from a physician.

Unskilled treatment of a plain case of measles can result in complications which often kill," Dr. Cox said, "and it is not to be regarded as simply another childhood disease."

Dr. Cox urged parents to watch their children carefully, and at first sign of temperature, flushed face, or watering eyes, add that the children be put to bed immediately and placed under doctor's care.

Dougherty Rally Really 'Goes To Town' For Bonds

Biggest War Bond news for any Floyd county community for any given occasion comes from the Dougherty Fourth War Loan bond rally on Friday night of last week, where and when $45,000 net value in bonds was subscribed by residents of Dougherty, Hillcrest and Antelope on the spot and another $5,000 pledged to bring the three-district area amount to $50,000 plus.

"Everybody had a good time at the rally," said A. H. Kreis, chairman, who maneuvered the big meeting. L. A. Doyle, Floydada minister served as the auctioneer and made an impromptu speech in support of bond sales that exactly suited his audience.

Help Polio Fund, Too
While they were at it the crowd at the bond rally also poured out a contribution of $64 for the infantile paralysis fund, adding to a $31 fund already made up at the churches on the previous Sunday there.

$7,150 Bought At Starkey
Chairman L. E. Kiker of Starkey announced a total sale of $7,150 in bonds for Starkey community. This figure is the result of a rally and bond selling tour made Tuesday, February 8 by Mr. Kiker and W. F. Ferguson. The tour netted $625 in bond sales and the rally $5,975.

Other purchases made by Starkey community add $550 to the total of $7,150 out of the $8,000 quota set for this community.

Allmon Adds $4,014
Allmon's Chairman for the 4th War Loan Drive E. E. Foster announced war bond sales at $4,014.25 at the rally held Friday night at Allmon.

Baker Rally Nets $4,100
Baker community held a Bond Rally Friday night, February 4 at the Baker school house and sold $4,100 worth in bonds for the 4th War Loan Drive which will close February 14th.

Chairman Claud Favver said the Rally was well attended and that tickets were auctioned for the price of the bonds.

Wants To Organize Chapter
Chairman Glover is getting information on procedure to organize a chapter under the auspices of the National Infantile Paralysis foundation and will present the matter to the people of the county for consideration. "Although Floyd county people have been helping with funds to fight infantile paralysis for several years, we are not in position to get sufficient help to fight a real epidemic of infantile paralysis should it break out in our county," Glover said. "With an adequate organization we would be in much better position to get skilled help when and if we needed it," he said.

FORMER DISTRICT ATTORNEY NOW IN THE NAVY, MAKES TRIP HOME WHILE ON LEAVE

John Hamilton, of Matador, former district attorney of the 119th district, who resigned early last year to enter the armed forces of the country, was in Floydada yesterday for a few minutes on a flying trip around the district to meet what friends he could contact in a few minutes at each point.

Now a lieutenant (j. g.) in the navy and stationed in Florida, where he has his family, the former official had 10 days leave, of which six days will be taken up in travel, with four days to see the folks and friends, and fill his eyes once more with the sight of white face cattle.

"We are happy in what we are doing," said Hamilton of himself and his family, "which is a lot to say in any man's language."

Paralysis Fund Passes $405 In Floyd County

The campaign for funds for the infantile paralysis fight, due to close on January 31 but because of a late start allowed to continue in this county through last week, was still gaining funds as late as yesterday as additional communities over the county reported. Garlan G. Glover, county chairman for the campaign, said.

$405.89 had been deposited to the account yesterday afternoon and the chairman is anxious that any clubs, organizations or communities which have raised money for the fund, make their reports in order that he can make his final report and close the books on this year's drive.

Reporting during the week and not previously reported were Lockney, Starkey and Fairview. The campaign has been carried on quietly so as not to poach on the major battle of the month, the drive for 4th War Loan bond sales.

Weather and Crops

Under the urge of a mild sun and lots of top moisture late wheat has begun to "shove up out of the ground" in the past week to lend encouragement to many growers who have been on an enforced schedule of waiting for many weeks as light rains have fallen to keep plows, bundle wagons and cotton sleds out of the fields.

A few plows ran in widely separated fields for a day or two last week and this, and there will be much activity in cultivated fields this week-end, if the weather continues open.

Some fog and overcast skies have marked the week.

Low temperatures for the week were recorded Sunday morning and this morning, the reading at 34 degrees. High for the week came Tuesday afternoon with a 68 degree reading.

"Prisoner" said the judge, "you say your wife hit you on the head with a plate. Is that so?" "Yes, sir."

"But your head doesn't show any marks of any kind."

"No sir, but you should have seen the plate!"

Mother: "Junior, you must not forget to use the napkin."
Sonny: "Well I'm using it, mother. I've got the dog tied under the table with it."

He: "Since I met you I can't eat. I can't sleep. I can't drink."

He: "I'm broke."

The Santa Fe Railway has purchased large amounts of Government securities—and that policy will be continued.

If you were "Workin' on the Railroad" these days, we believe you, too, would buy an extra War Bond during this 4th War Bond Drive.

But no matter where you do work, let's ALL back the attack!

Troop trains... hospital trains... trains loaded with tanks, planes, guns, and food, bring us pretty close to the war. We see lots of them on the Santa Fe. Already over 9,000 of our employees are in the armed forces. That's why we railroad folks know how important it is to buy War Bonds and keep on buying them. Approximately 50,000 of our people

Pigs Supply Farm Families Help Fill Nation's Larder

Because every pig farrowed this year can be used to supply farm families with meat and lard and to help fill the nation's larder, every practicable means should be used to cut down pig losses, said H. G. Barber, agricultural teacher. Thousands of pigs have been farrowed this year. Every one of these should be saved. Loss of part of the litter increases the cost of the pigs that are left and decreases the amount of meat available. Adequate preparations should be made before the sow farrows. The sow and pigs should be provided with clean dry, warm quarters. They should be kept out of muddy, filthy pens, and given plenty of clean ground and good pasture. ASKS SENATOR CONNALLY TO SUPPORT FOOD SUBSIDIES IN VOTE OF U. S. SENATE

Supporting the contention that food subsidies is the right and proper method of handling the price support program for farm products during the emergency, Ed Holmes, Floyd county farmer, prominently associated with the Farmers' Union, has wired Senator Tom Connally to support food subsidies in the senate. A vote on the measure was anticipated at an early date when Home's wire was sent "Give us the food subsidies. It's only fair," he urged in the message. "But regardless, Floyd county farmers will try to produce the food," he added.

"THERE ARE MANY PERFECT DIETS," SAYS THE DOCTOR

"There is no single perfect diet—there are many perfect diets!" Dr. Hazel K. Steibling of the U. S. Department of Agriculture develops this theme in discussing the work done by the United Nations Conference on Food and Agriculture. "The challenge," says Dr. Steibling, who is assistant chief of Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, "is to develop food plans for each country that will insure proper nourishment and at the same time be palatable, acceptable to consumer tastes and habits, and suitable to production resources. This task is one to be tackled by nutrition experts who are thoroughly familiar with conditions in each country. In consultation with agriculturists and economists, recommendations for improved agricultural and economic policies can then be made that will conform with the highest goal of feeding possible of achievement at a given time."

DOUGHERTY CLUB WILL MEET ON MARCH FIRST

Because of bad roads the club didn't meet February 2. The club will meet March 1 with Mrs. Orlin Howard at 2:30 o'clock. Your Income Tax Return; Treasury Suggestions

Income tax returns of farmers as well as of most other persons will be due on or before March 15, and livestock raisers, fruit and truck growers, poultry raisers, and operators of plantations and ranches are considered farmers by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Farmers may keep their records and file their returns of income either on the basis of cash received and paid out during the taxable year or on accrual basis—meaning on a basis of income earned and obligations incurred during the taxable year whether or not cash changed hands. If a farmer uses the cash basis, he must fill in and file Form 1040, "Schedule of Farm Income and Expenses," along with Form 1040. If he uses the accrual basis, use of Form 1040F is optional, regardless of which he uses, he may report on the calendar year or he may report on his own fiscal year.

Using The Cash Basis

Let's suppose that the farmer decides to use the cash basis. In that case he does not use inventories to determine his profit. He must include in his gross income the amount of cash or the value of merchandise or other property received during the taxable year from the sale of livestock or produce he raised, regardless of when he raised it; (2) his profits from the sale of any livestock or other items; and (3) his gross income from all other sources.

Using The Accrual Basis

If the farmer decides to use the accrual basis, he uses inventories to determine gross profits. First, he adds to the inventory value of livestock and produce on hand at the end of the year, the amount he received from the sale of livestock and produce and miscellaneous income he received during the year. Then he deducts from this sum the inventory value of livestock and produce on hand at the beginning of the year and bought during the year. He must include in the inventory, livestock acquired for draft, breeding or dairy purposes and not for sale, instead of treating them as capital assets subject to depreciation, provided he consistently follows such practice.

Other Items Considered Income

Regardless of whether he uses the cash or accrual basis, certain items must be included. If the farmer exchanged his produce for merchandise, groceries, or other items, the market value of the articles he received must be included in gross income. The value of the farmer's products consumed by him is not taxable. Rents he received in crop shares he must report as of the year in which the crop shares were sold for money or used as money. Any proceeds the farmer got from such insurance as hail or fire insurance on growing crops, he must include in his gross income.

Any amounts the farmers received as loans from the Commodity Credit Corporation, he may if he wishes, include in his gross income for the taxable year in which he received them. Once he makes his choice, however, he must do the same in all following years unless the Commissioner approves a change.

For federal income tax purposes the farmer must include as taxable income any amounts he received under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, as amended, the Price Adjustment Act of 1938, section 303 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as amended, and the Sugar Act of 1937.

Who Must File

Even though they filed declarations of estimated tax in September, the following persons in general must file income tax returns on or before March 15:

1. Every single person whose gross income in 1943 was $500 or more.
2. Every individual married person whose gross income was more than $624.
3. Every married couple whose combined income was $1,200 or more.
4. Every person who paid or owed a tax on 1943 income.

Excepted from filing on March 15 are servicemen and others outside the country, and wives of servicemen outside the country if the wife's own income is less than $1,200.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue advises all persons to file their returns early to determine how they stand. Many people will be about even with the government, a number of people will find they have a sizeable payment to make, and still others will find that the government owes them money.

L. G. Withers of Floydada has a pure bred Jersey cow that produced 37 pounds of milk and tested 6.1 percent butterfat in her first test of this milking period. The test is not official, but Mr. Withers plans to take a regular monthly sample so he will have the production record to calculate the feed requirements of this animal.

Private tests will give accurate information on the dairy herd and give the dairyman the data he needs in determining profitable cows, and the breeding and feeding program, but they are not recognized by any dairy association unless they are made under supervision.

Poultrymen might like to try the worm remedy that has proven results on the W. M. Windsor farm in Fairview community. Mr. Windsor reports that L. E. Fancher soaked grain sorghum seed in white gasoline and fed them to the chickens. The results? —An easy way of worming the flock.

Gasoline has been recognized for a long time as a "worm getter," but the old method called for catching each chicken or turkey and giving him the proper dose. A lot of time can be saved if the grain method proves effective.

Two 4-H club members will plant Chinch Bug resistant milo in 1944. These members are Earl Edwards Jr. of the Lakeview club and Glen Worsham of Lockney. Glen was the first member to express a desire for some of the seed and the members of his club immediately started calling him "Chinch Bug" Worsham. This is a new variety that is being released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment station this year.

Hen No. 164 at the Oliver Allen farm is still paying for her feed bill. She has laid a total of 408 eggs up to February 7th.

This hen laid 344 eggs her pullet year, and had an outstanding hatching record. She seems determined to repeat the hatchability record this season. The first hatch was two eggs and two chicks. The next was ten eggs and eight chicks.

Mr. Allen has a pen of her 29 daughters that are carrying on the family "egg laying" tradition. The present egg cycles of some of these pullets indicates they may lay well over the 300 mark this year.

Application forms are now available for those cotton growers who plant Paymaster or Delta Pine varieties. These are the two varieties approved in the Cotton Improvement Planting Seed Association.

A subsidy payment of $225 per hundred will be paid those growers who plant Certified or Registered seed of the above varieties. Application forms may be completed in the county agent's office.

Will Use Tokens To Supplement Ration Books

The nation's retail grocers will begin the use of the new ration tokens on February 27, when housewives will begin to receive them as change in the purchase of rationed food for points.

The new token plan will enable the housewife to buy about the same amount of rationed processed foods and meats-fats as she now buys, according to rationing executives.

The present 16 points for meats and fats becoming valid at the beginning of each week roughly total 64 points a month. Under the token plan 30 points (three stamps) will become valid at the beginning of each two weeks period, a total of approximately 60 points each month. For processed foods, 48 points become valid each month. Under the token plan 50 points will become valid the first of each month.

Red Tokens For Meat
The tokens are red and blue in color. The red ones will be used for meats-fats and the blue will be used for processed foods. They are about the size of a dime and have a point value of one each.

Under the token plan each stamp for meat or processed foods, regardless of the printed designation, will have a point value of 10. Sugar is not affected. Tokens will be issued only as change in bona fide purchases, and only enough tokens will be issued as change to reach the value of the number of stamps nearest the point purchase. In other words, a purchase involving 27 points will be paid for with three ten-point stamps, and change of three tokens will be given by the grocer. The supply of tokens will not permit the grocer to exchange them for more stamps than are needed for the purchase, and grocers will not be permitted to change stamps for tokens where no bona fide purchase is made.

Eliminate Buying Rushes
Stamps will be valid for a period of 12 weeks with a new series of stamps and should eliminate the buying rushes incident to the expiration of short validity periods.

Consumers are urged to familiarize themselves with the use of tokens, and to cooperate in every possible manner with the retail grocer in distributing them.

The attention of housewives is called to the fact that it will still be necessary to present their war ration books to the grocers, and to tear the stamps out of the books in the presence of the grocer. Loose stamps may not be accepted by the grocer.

Consumers' war ration books should be carefully safeguarded, as War Ration Book Four will probably have to last for the duration, and will be difficult to replace if lost.

This farm boy stopped bullets intended for you . . .

Joe Martinez, Colorado farm boy, his battalion bogged down under withering fire from Jap positions on Attu, arose alone and advanced into a hail of bullets to clean out trench after trench so his battalion could advance. He died with his rifle at his shoulder, pumping lead into the enemy, while his mates were able to move up behind him and successfully take the pass. For this, Joe Martinez has been posthumously awarded the Nation's highest military honor. Let every man who was once a farm boy himself buy an extra War Bond in Joe's honor . . . for Joe took the bullets aimed at the heart of America!

Soil Building Is Pressed In 1944 Farm Program

Agricultural Adjustment Administration programs for 1944 have been announced according to information from the local ACA office. In discussing the program, Ray S. McEnroe, Administrative Officer of the ACA, said, "The program again calls for an increase in the production of and feed crops needed in the effort. While asking for all-out attention to meet tremendous war requirements the 1944 program emphasizes the importance of increasing production so there will be enough of the essential commodities to shorten the war and bring a sound peace." With average weather, the suggested schedule of production should yield the food and feed crop in the country's history.

The acreage assigned for 1944 in Floyd County are as follows: 45,000 acres; Wheat, 215,000 Irish Potatoes, 500 acres; Dry Beans, 400 acres; Feed Crops, oats, barley, rye, all sorghums, 125,000 acres. County goals to be established for livestock production; No penalties are asked about other changes in the program for 1944. Mr. McEnroe said, "There will be no restrictions on what the farmer can do in 1944. Marketing quotas which limited the amount of wheat a farmer could plant at a penalty have been withdrawn. There will be no crop payment on cotton and wheat in 1944. Payments will be available to assist in carrying out production needed to maintain and improve the productivity of the farm lands. This is not a promising proposition for the farmer receives from the government only about what he spends in carrying out the practice. The purpose of these payments is to protect our greatest national resource, the soil, and keep it in producing food at maximum capacity."

The practices selected for the 1944 program are those which are needed most to conserve and improve soil fertility, improve range and pasture land, prevent wind and water erosion and promote conservation and better utilization of water. Payments with respect to practices are classified as limited and unlimited.

Limited practice Payments

The limited practices are carried out according to the allowance set up for the individual farm. This is the sum of the following figures: 75 cents per acre for each acre of cropland on the farm, plus 6 cents per acre for each acre of pasture or range land on the farm. The practices to be used for earning this production practice allowance are about the same as those used in 1943. Two new practices have been added. Payment will be made for establishing a satisfactory cover of rye grass or small grains, except wheat, seeded in the fall of 1943, provided the small grain is not harvested for grain. The other new practice payment is for the harvesting of much needed legume and grass seeds.

The unlimited practices are regarded as very essential to war production and the government proposes to pay the farmer for all of these practices to the extent that they are carried out on his farm, in addition to the payment earned on limited practices. The unlimited practices are terracing, drainage ditches, pasture mowing, elimination of prickly pear, cactus, mesquite, cedar, and under brush, and the construction of one tank or dam on each farm not in excess of 2,000 cubic yards of material moved.

Soil Building Payments

Some of the soil-building practices approved for Floyd County in 1944 and the rates of payment are as follows: construction of large ridge type terraces—1.5c per linear ft. construction of small ridge type terrace—1 cent per linear foot; construction of diversion terraces—8 cents per cubic yard but not to exceed $3.00 per linear foot; construction of ditches for drainage of cropland and noncrop open pasture and range land—8 cents per cubic yard but not to exceed $3.00 per 100 linear feet.

Construction of earthen dams—15 cents per cubic yard for the first 2000 cubic yards, 10 cents per cubic yard for all dirt above 2000 cubic yards; drilling wells, not less than 4 inches in diameter—$2.00 per linear foot; drilling wells, less than 4 inches in diameter—$1.00 per linear foot; contour furrowing non-cropland—from 79 cents per mile to $1.32 per mile according to type of furrowing; strip cropping on the contour on land not contour strip cropped in 1943—$1.50 per acre; strip cropping on the contour on land contour strip cropped in 1943—$1.00 per acre; field strip cropping not on the contour—75 cents per acre; protecting summer fallowed acreage by contour listing or pit cultivation—75 cents per acre; protecting summer fallowed acreage by incorporating the stubble and other trash into the surface soil—50 cents per acre.

Contour listing or furrowing on cropland—30 cents per acre; contour farming row crops—50 cents per acre; seeding drilled crops on the contour—35 cents per acre; pit cultivation—30 cents per acre; leaving stalks or stubbles of sorghums and millets—35 cents per acre; eradication of prairie dogs, gophers, and kangaroo rats on range or pasture—cost of bait or poison; establishment of fireguards on pasture or range—$4.00 per mile; seeding pasture grasses—$2.00 to $4.00 per acre according to variety; growing a cover of winter legumes—$2.00 to $4.00 per acre according to variety; green manure and cover crops—$1.50 per acre; establishing a satisfactory cover of rye grass or small grains (except wheat)—$1.50 per acre; harvesting legume and grass seed—$3.50 per acre.

It is expected that each farmer will be contacted within the near future and asked to execute a farm plan in order that his contribution to the war effort may be known.

Further information regarding the program may be secured at the AAA office in Floydada.

CLAUDE HAMMONDS WRITES OF HIS PRIDE TO BE FIGHTING WITH THE ENGLISH

Pfc. Claude Hammonds, of the Air Transport Command, stationed somewhere in England, in a letter to his wife Maureen Hammonds expresses these briefs about the English and their country:

"I am proud of the branch of service that I am in; and they could not have sent me to a better place. When people at home start aching about the few little things they have to do without, they should read more and remember the hell these people have gone through and I will guarantee that it was not misrepresented.

"These (English) people have courage and the will to win; everyone over here is working, doing something to help win this war. I admire them and I am proud to be fighting with them side by side."

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Willson left for Dallas on a business trip. They plan to be gone for three days.

$3,400 Gift Basis Of Litigation In District Court Here

Whether a gift of a $3,400 bank account was made while the donor was in his right mind is an unusual issue that will be determined by a jury in Floyd County District court, set down to be called on March 27.

In the suit J. E. Tivis, guardian of the estate of Chas. Wagner, adjudged non compos mentis, is plaintiff, and Lee J. Burgett and his minor daughter, Neoma Burgett, are defendants.

The gift to the Floyd county girl from the elderly pioneer was made in the latter part of last year and later the donor was declared insane by a jury in probate court here. He is now in a state hospital.

Hearing on a writ of injunction filed by Tivis to restrain the defendants from spending the funds was held on January 14 last and a temporary injunction order entered. $2,820 of the original $3,400 had not been expended at the time and has been impounded to await further adjudication.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Gullion spent Monday in Lubbock on business.

Pvt. Harold Brown from Smyrna, Tennessee will visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Fred Brown until the 16th when he will return to camp in Tennessee.

"Our problems are few," stated Wood, "but they are important. The two most important are preventing rust and obtaining stock. We have to battle moisture continually and it's more of a handicap here than elsewhere," he writes relatives.
