Floyd County Pioneer Reunion Friday, May 26

Designated Decoration Day at Floyd Cemetery

Decoration day will be observed as a memorial day at Floyd cemetery by the American Legion. They will be joined by many other Floyd county people.

Announcing the date this week J. Turner, chairman of the post's committee having charge of the day, said that while no elaborate ceremonies or rites had been planned it is the aim of the Legion to have flowers at the graves in Floyd cemetery of soldiers of all wars represented in the cemetery here.

Registration as to Flowers

This year the post was aided to a great extent by many persons who have flowers at the Legion's home in Floydada, corner of Fifth and Virginia streets, to be used in decorating the graves of the soldiers. Mr. Turner and his committee hope that they will be done again this year and that flowers left and hours between 9 a. m. and 2 p. m., could be used by the Legion in placing flowers in memory of the deceased at the graves.

It seemed probable this week that the residents of the county will observe the day in the observance of a memorial day at Floyd cemetery. Work of the cemetery association in maintaining the grounds has been praised by those who have visited the plot in recent months and those who have not been to the cemetery recently but have relatives buried there might like to make a visit one of respect and remembrance by taking flowers on the day.

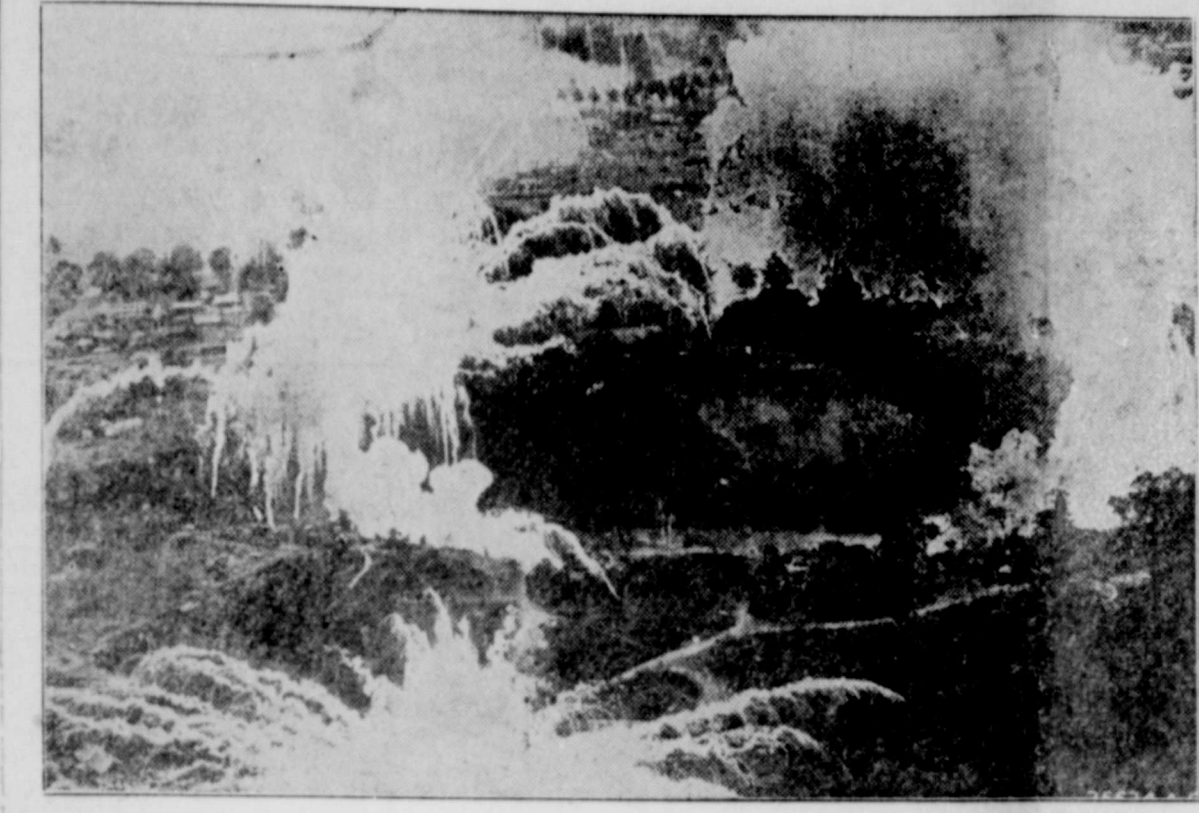

May 30 Memorial Day

While it is true that Memorial day comes on May 30 and the observance thus would be two days later, Mr. Turner pointed out that because of the shortage of flowers and the work of the community throughout the work days is such that a day afternoon observance can be combined in and aided by many people under the circumstances.

While something may be worked out as to ceremonies, possibly a memorial service, the committee is announcing the grave decorations as a remembrance that definitely will have attention by the post, and the matter of a program to be held during the week-end.

Legion Meets Monday Night

Billie Crabtree, commander of the post, American Legion, announced this week that a called meeting of the post will be held on Monday night of next week.

Close-Up of an Aerial Bombing—In this photograph of a recent American air raid on Rabaul, New Britain, the effects of bombs on enemy targets is apparent. Japanese anti-aircraft gun emplacements where guns and gunners will be put out of action may be seen through rifts in the bomb bursts.

County Demos Report Hot Battle in State Convention

The convention of Texas Democrats, as organized by the regular party set-up was attended and participated in by the Floyd county delegation as well as by most 19th district county delegates at Austin on Tuesday.

J. C. Wester, Judge G. C. Tubbs and Judge W. E. Grimes voted Floyd county's five votes in the convention.

Probably 60 per cent of the "instructed" delegations such as from Floyd, remained in the "regular" convention, while 40 per cent or thereabout joined in the convention which went across the hall from the Senate chamber to the House of Representatives hall and set up a convention of their own, naming delegates to the National convention in opposition to the delegates as named by the "regulars."

Early Split in Ranks

The split in the ranks of the convention delegations came on an early vote, when it was seen that the "instructed" delegations on the first roll call vote.

Mr. Wester said he could only guess whether the split would be patched up before the national convention. It is his belief that the breach will not be healed, and incidentally, that the pro-administration group may have their delegation seated when the Chicago meeting is held, especially in view of strong resolutions indicating the determination of the controlling group of the "regulars" to play an independent roll at Chicago.

Saturday Poppy Sale Predicted Biggest Ever

The biggest poppy sale in the history of the American Legion auxiliary is predicted by Mrs. E. L. Angus, president of the local unit, who said yesterday she would not be surprised if more than double the usual number were sold.

As few people know what the arrangements are for making these Memorial day flowers, Mrs. E. L. Angus explained that the materials are furnished free to the veterans by the American Legion auxiliary. Volunteer workers teach the disabled men to make the poppies.

Memorial Tuesday Night

Following the poppy sale Saturday, decoration of the graves of the community's soldier dead on Tuesday by McDermott post and friends, the Legion auxiliary will hold a special memorial service on Tuesday night, Mrs. Angus said.

The 'Plane' You Saw Saturday Night Was Huge Meteor

If you saw a plane fall about July dark Saturday night two to 10 miles north of where you lived, it wasn't a plane at all. It was a huge meteor that was seen at points as far distant as Dallas and Tucumcari, New Mexico, according to press dispatches, which related the story of the incident created by the phenomena.

At Floydada several who saw the "crash" said the plane probably fell in the vicinity of South Plains.

One of the benefits of the drive for funds in January for the Infantile Paralysis foundation, and the early organization there after of a chapter in Floyd county to combat the disease, became apparent this week with the visit here of Mrs. Geo. H. Pittman, Dallas, state representative of the foundation.

Committees Named By Directors To Handle Re-Union Features

Committees and women named by the old settlers' directors for the current year are as follows:

Cedar School Close Friday

Cedar Hill closed Friday night, plays, songs and readings were given by pupils.

Floyd county pioneers in their annual re-union tomorrow, gathering here to observe the 54th anniversary of the founding of Floyd county, will have largely in their minds their thousand-odd sons and daughters serving their country on far-flung battle fronts and will encourage each other with reminiscences of the days when these stalwart sons were at home engaged in peaceful pursuits.

Registration First Up

Registration will be the first order of the day for those who attend—and attendance this year is expected to be about par in spite of the toll of the war.

At 11 o'clock will come the old settlers parade and in this parade will be featured some of the best horse flesh in the country, including some of the animals that will be used in the Lone Star rodeo later in the day, offered as a variety program for those who tire of the pioneers' proceedings.

J. M. Masse President

President and presiding this year will be J. M. Masse, veteran real estate dealer, and the master of ceremonies will be Postmaster C. J. McCollum, son of a pioneer family.

Rodeo At Wester Field

SAVE HOUSEHOLD FATS

Governor Coke Stevenson last week issued an appeal to Texas housewives to save more Used Household fats. Texas, he said, was lagging by about 34% in producing its quota of this vital salvage.

Almost all of our import sources of fats and oils were cut off when the Japanese occupied the Philippines and the Dutch East Indies. This stoppage presented the nation with a crucial problem in the manufacture of explosives, synthetic rubber, military medicines and countless other war-time necessities.

And the problem did not end there. Our allies also needed huge quantities of these fats and millions of pounds have been shipped to them under lend-lease. The United States not only had to become self-sustaining in a commodity which she normally imported but had to become an exporting nation. The conversion was a great one and made possible almost wholly through the efforts of the American housewife.

The Governor urged every Texas housewife to save at least one tablespoonful of fat a day and help bring Texas to the top of her production quota.

It is better to buy coal in the summertime than to burn the Christmas tree next winter instead of hanging Christmas presents on it, said a Fuel administrator recently in a speech at Kansas City. The government's fuel man was attempting to bring to the minds of the people the importance of buying coal in the spring and summer while it could be obtained from the mines and while the railroads had opportunity to haul it. This is one item the government would like to see hoarded. Every coal user, including school districts, residential places and business houses, can well afford to lay in the coal supply now.

In the first place, it is pointed out, the coal likely will be sold at a lower level now; in the second, if it is bought and paid for now the buyer is not hurt even should it develop that the scare turned out to be unnecessary. It is not an attempt to make people believe there is a coal shortage, merely that a shortage of coal in the hands of your dealer is likely to occur this fall and winter when mines will have more orders than they can fill and railroads more cars offered than they can haul.

During the war years of 1917-18 there were a good many coal yard riots and near riots. People were cold and they wanted coal. When a few carloads showed up there was a rush and a scramble in many towns. In Floydada it is recalled the demand for coal during a hard winter was more than the supply by a great deal. Fortunately for the public there are a number of other fuels now in use that decrease the demand for coal, leaving the coal user a better chance to get fuels, with less competition for it. But last winter's experience, when many did without, is a fair sample of what could occur again this year, on a more pronounced scale. Coal can be had now. Possibly it cannot this fall and winter. It is a matter of taking the opportunity by the forelock and being sure.

The dairy industry is fighting a proposed amendment to the Emergency Price Control act now under consideration by a committee of congress, which amendment would make a public utility of the milk and dairy products business from the farm to consumer. This amendment would require regional hearings all over the country every six months to establish milk and dairy product prices. One thing that will make the average person engaged in some part of the dairy industry be inclined to oppose the change is that it can readily be seen the thing would call for a greatly expanded federal agency with vast numbers more of employees to carry out its provisions. Acts now in effect that seem to be sufficient for all needs of the public are two in number. The first is the agreement authorizing the fixing of minimum prices to milk producers and the other is OPA regulations which establish ceiling prices for milk and dairy products.

How to get the feel of what the folks are doing and thinking, condensed or expanded to put into cold type, not only the fact of current affairs but the feel as well, is a gift born of genius practiced on the treadmill until it becomes an art. Some of us who try it are just naturally born in the objective case and state the most obvious fact obliquely, slaunchwise might be a better term. Others are over-anxious, over-enthusiastic, and put their own "feel" on the paper instead of that of the pulse which they presumably hold. Thus about the war. How the folks feel about it. How they yearn for the welfare of their sons and husbands, and pray that they shall win a worthy victory and come home even-minded still as they went away. How they wonder about the Invasion Defense wall and what have our master minds proven by experience that makes them so confident the wall will be smashed and that victory even this year on continental Europe may be in sight. These and other things, like how will the returning sons and husbands fit in when the day has come for their return? How will they feel about the way the homefolks have carried on. Will they be pleased or disgruntled? Will they want to take up again where they left off? Must adjustments be made and if so, will the home folks be able to make them? And on and on. But mostly the yearning for the right now welfare of that old lad who went away. And for the news of how he and his buddies are living and where they are. A few can put a great deal of that into the atmosphere of what goes into cold type.

How really confident the generals and admirals do express themselves! While the everyday folks ponder and wonder how all the ordnance and equipment and men will be used to get the job done the higher ranking officers speak with great firmness and confidence. One reads that General Eisenhower already is training a large staff of men to administer affairs in the satellite countries and Germany until such time as the internal matters can be turned back to civil authorities. And of other after-the-battle decisions which are being made in advance. How can they be being made in advance. How can they be being made in advance. How can they be being made in advance. And still it thrills to know that the leaders do feel that way.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)

"Sweet Beulah Land, Sweet Beulah Land, tis on the Dugout Roof I stand and look across the plains, and wonder why it never rains. Till Gabriel comes and blows his horn and says the rain has gone around." These words of a song folks used to sing in Eastern New Mexico has come to my mind as the clouds gather, threaten a little and pass on as if they had done their work for today. We remember how we complained when the rain fell so copiously in '41 and wonder why we ever did. The water runs down the green rows in the garden fed from the windmill, but as soon as the other side of the garden is reached the first watered is dry. But we hope on, work as if we expect rain the next hour.

As the time comes around for Old Settlers' reunion, my thoughts go back and I turn to the old day-books to check on what people were buying and doing when they were settlers, for by what they bought one can tell what they did. I turn to May 20, 1898, Mirtle Ishmael is in town and buys 16 yards of lawn and three dozen buttons, lots of buttons for one dress it seems and for one dollar. Must have been for the dress she so carefully pintucked the sleeves to find out when she was through that both sleeves were tucked for the same arm, and not another yard in the store.

Down the page I go, buyers come in, then Aunt Mirt comes back and buys the spool of thread she forgot. George Witt buys a pound of starch and a bottle of tasteless quinine, trying to fool the children, I suppose. Marsh Wheeler is in town from the breakers and buys one stick of gumbers, 35c and three sticks of gum for 10c. Flour sells for three dollars a hundred and sugar fourteen pounds the dollar.

We pick up the yellowed crumbling book of 1899 and find Will DeLoach who is Mrs. Arlois Cowart's father) buying a tie and a pair of boots. A day or so later he buys a pair of gloves, $1.25, eats 2 cans of oysters and a ten cent box of crackers. J. M. Witt buys a load of mesquite wood for three dollars. Wonder if that was the load I tried to cut enough for a fire to cook dinner one day and was so peevish. Flour and sugar sold as of the year before.

By the way, the twentieth that year of 1899 came on Saturday, the same as this of 1944.

The 1891 book is open at May 20, Marsh Wheeler to check, $187.75 which reminds us that there was no bank at Emma, nor within a hundred miles and the store kept money for anyone that wanted them to. Roy Ezell comes in and buys a pair of gloves and twenty cents worth of candy. J. C. Woody buys a fly trap and if you did not know the date you would know that summer was at hand for here and there a paper of seed bought, flour is $2.80 a hundred and sugar unchanged.

People are buying cottonolens and Gold Dust. Miss Susie Ekkins buys fishing lines which needs no explanation.

Now go on to the next chapter of the history of the town of Emma, named for the sweetheart of one of the founders of the town. Tom Wayne buys a quilt which sets him back a dollar and a quarter, Eli Jones buys a suit of clothes for the large sum of $8.50, probably hard enough to get together that day and time. Dick Heard buys a pair of slippers for his wife, P. L. Parrish gets ready to go up the trail with a herd of cattle for he buys a slicker, $3.00, a blanket, $1.75. Allen Burleson purchases a ring for which he pays $2.90, must have worn it himself for he remained an old bachelor all his days.

W. F. Ezell goes in for farming and takes home a forty dollar sulky plow a gallon of machine oil and a paper of seed. Not many seed did the first settlers have to buy for they had seeds of red beans, and seed corn for rosin' ears, and seed of the little white soup beans we all called the Detwilers in honor of Mrs. Detweiler first planting them. Also there was never a scarcity of black eyed peas and kashaw punkins.

W. H. Hames' name appears as he takes home a fifty cent pair of boys

Appropriation Bill for Army in Final Stage

According to Representative George Mahon in Washington, hearings will be completed this week on the annual War Department Appropriation Bill, a bill to supply the Army with funds for the fiscal year beginning July 1. The bill now in the subcommittee to be considered by Congress this year, the Army requesting the total sum of forty-nine billion dollars, including reappropriations.

Mahon is a member of a seven-man subcommittee of four Democrats and three Republicans, which conducts hearings and handles in the House the appropriations for the Army.

On the current bill General George Marshall, Chief of Staff, General Arnold, and many other officers of the Army have appeared before the committee to discuss and explain the war situation and the need for the funds requested. However, because of the nature of much of the testimony, the hearings on the bill are not to the public. The bill covers appropriations for all items of expense of every nature for the carrying on of the war by the War Department. Included are pay, food, clothing, guns, ammunition, airplanes, fuel, and innumerable other requirements for an army of 700,000 men. One of the unusual requests of the Medical Corps is for one hundred million dollars for the new wonder drug Penicillin designed to save the lives of thousands of our fighting men.

Mahon states that the belief is that no funds other than those now being requested will be required by the Army for the defeat of Germany—that while the fighting has not reached its peak, war spending has reached its peak and will taper off very sharply within a few months.

Careless Mouth Hygiene Causes Pyorrhea Cases

AUSTIN, Texas, May 18—Contrary to the belief that pyorrhea is incurable, this is only true in the most advanced cases. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, advises those persons who even suspect this presence of pyorrhea to take time by the forelock and seek an early diagnosis so that proper treatment can be instituted while the disease is still curable.

"Early detection and proper treatment represent the formula for a successful cure. This means that the dentist must have an opportunity to discover the presence of pyorrhea at the earliest possible moment since the symptoms are often so vague that the patient is unaware of its existence," Dr. Cox said. "Regular visits to the family dentist are therefore extremely important."

The treatment of pyorrhea is not an involved procedure. In the average early case one of the main therapeutic features is the proper hygienic care of teeth and gums as outlined by any reputable dentist. Carelessness regarding mouth hygiene is usually the basic cause for the condition.

The family dentist can usually remove the cause of the trouble, Dr. Cox said, and when this has been done intelligent routine home-care of the mouth by the patient will effect a cure in the majority of early cases.

Concern regarding pyorrhea should not be based upon the misguided notion of its incurability, according to the State Health Officer, but rather that it be discovered by the dentist when still in a curable stage.

SEND SOME POPCORN

Here at home it is difficult to imagine just what little eatable or other conveniences the boys across in England might be missing. And here is one answer, maybe there are others also:

Sgt. Harvey L. Howard, with the Air corps, writes his parents a note saying if you'd like to send something, make it popcorn. Harvey L. says the weather is warming up in the tight little isle now. Temperature one day recently hit 55 degrees there and hung for an hour or two. It was a scorcher, he says.

Waste of Foods In Homes Add to Staggering Total

Little drops of water and little grains of sand, the poet wrote, add up to a lot. That's just what happens to the little food wastes in your home—the tiny bits of butter, the heels of bread, and the outer leaves of vegetables like cabbage that are thrown away.

War Food Administration statisticians say that such waste amounts to 15 per cent of all the food bought by American housewives.

In terms of the nation's 34 million families the totals are staggering. Those little dabs of butter left on family dinner plates and added up as little as a half-ounce a week per person would be enough to have supplied our whole army with butter in 1942. One heel of bread thrown away by each family per week figures up to two million loaves in one week—an amount of bread equivalent to the maximum safe amount of cereal foods, including baked goods, for 300,000 persons.

Conservation is up to Housewife. A big part of the food saving obligation falls on the housewife. The "hows" of food conservation start with the plans she makes before she goes out to buy. Her shopping list should include only foods for which there is safe-keeping room in the refrigerator or other storage facilities.

When menus are planned ahead of time, other foods can be substituted for those that are scarce at the corner grocery. It's a wise idea to buy the abundant foods, WFA says. Newspapers and the radio carry news about these. Such foods will pay dividends in better quality and almost always may be bought at lower cost. Victory Food Selections can be fitted in frequently, and the housewife should not overlook on dealers' counters the fruits and vegetables with discolored spots and specks. Often these are only slightly discolored, not spoiled at all, according to WFA.

Good shopping habits, too, aid in saving food. Vegetables and fruits can be judged by looking at them rather than by prodding or pinching. Such man-handling causes bruises and broken skins, and lets rot begin.

Shopping before the week-end is the way to get better service and to get foods, especially perishables, when they're fresh, before they're picked over. Stores, too, are less crowded.

Foods whose nutritive values are high are the best buy. Cereals made from whole grain or cereals that have been restored give their full nutritional value. The same thing applies to flour, so canny housewives choose the whole wheat or enriched kinds.

Correct Storage Is Important

As soon as foods are brought home they should be stored immediately and correctly. Remember that they spoil more easily in warm weather and that eggs, meat, and milk spoil the most easily. WFA warns that meat belongs in the coldest part of the refrigerator. The ice-box needs attention, too. Overcrowding it with foods that don't need immediate refrigeration means it won't do a good job of keeping the foods that do. Daily refrigerator inventories keep left overs from being forgotten. Too often the refrigerator becomes the way station to the garbage pail. Packaged foods need careful periodic inspection, too, and once they're opened they should be stored in clean jars away from mice and insects.

Fresh bread can be kept from moulding in bread boxes by scouring out the boxes twice a week. In warm weather bread can be kept fresh by loosening its wrapper and storing in the refrigerator.

TREATMENT HELPS BAMBOO

American-grown bamboo poles were not accepted before the war for purposes requiring long, very smooth surfaces; but, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture, ways have been found to impregnate the culms (the botanists' name for the stalks of this giant grass with a plastic material to make the poles smooth and stronger, especially where the rough nodes have been rasped down.

As a result of experiments with plastic treatments, a manufacturing company using poles of Phyllostachys bamboo grown at the Department's Plant Introduction Garden at Savannah, Georgia, has made them acceptable in place of the formerly imported Tonkin bamboo. They have been used successfully for military ski poles, and for detachable masts on Coast Guard vessels. They also have been used for vaulting poles, fishing rods, ski poles for sports use, and for other purposes for which poles were formerly obtained from Asia.

The Agricultural Research Administration also reports supplying raw material for promising commercial experiments with bamboo pulp as a source of very thin white papers such as is used for cigarettes. Toluol, the main ingredient in TNT, is derived chiefly from petroleum and is one of the blending agents in 100 octane aviation gasoline as well as a material for making bombs.

By using 100 octane gasoline, bombers can carry more explosives or fly deeper into enemy territory, whichever objective is paramount on a mission.

During the bloody battle of Tarawa, planes from "Carrier B" burned up 45,000 gallons of 100 octane gasoline and dumped 113,000 pounds of bombs on enemy installations.

The word "tip" is said to have been derived from the first letters of words in the phrase, "to insure promptness."

NEW LETTUCE STRAINS SPROUT IN HEAT OF 90 DEGREES

Since lettuce is a cool weather plant, the seed germinates at relatively low temperatures, yet strains that give a fair germination at 90 degrees F. have been found by plant breeders of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This discovery is the result of efforts to develop lettuce better adapted for those regions such as the Southwest, where winter crops are grown from seed planted in hot localities in mid-summer. Its value is indicated by the fact that many commercial varieties of lettuce germinate poorly at temperatures above 70 degrees F.

SPEEDY WEEDING

Keep down the weeds and V G will stand for very good as well as for Victory Garden.

Once good varieties have been planted and fertilizer provided weed killing gives the plants a chance. Garden specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture say that keeping the weeds down is the most important part of cultivation. Early in the season when weeds are small, that is, seedlings, many can be killed by merely breaking up the soil with the rake pulled and pushed back and forth, covering ground rapidly. Also, they say to use the hoe a sharp one, that will cut weeds just below the surface.

Keep a flat file handy and touch up the hoe frequently, say these garden experts, to speed the weeding. To get the weeds out of the rows of seedling plants it may be necessary to do some weeding with the flippers, but here, too, the smaller the weeds, the easier it is to dispose of them, and the less they compete with the crop plants.

To Our Friends and Customers

In the series of advertisements published in recent weeks, we have acquainted you with the service record and public policy of the Southwestern Public Service Company. We have stated that the Company was originally organized in New Mexico in 1925 and, until acquiring the facilities in Floydada, it served principally the Pecos Valley area of New Mexico and the Central Panhandle area of Texas. We have stated that, through the long period of years following the founding of the Company, our policy has been to furnish the best possible service to the public at rates which were voluntarily and repeatedly reduced.

Our efforts have merited the approval of those we serve. The public response has been generous, as evidence of which, during the past twelve months every incorporated city and town in the Pecos Valley of New Mexico, six in all, granted the Company new long term franchises under which it can continue to plan on a long term basis and preserve its service policies. In the Central Panhandle area also, franchise renewals have been granted in each city where expiration dates were near. In not a single case, has a renewal ever been refused.

The extension of our permits to serve all of these cities and towns was based upon the public acceptance of the Company and its policy of operation. We now bring this policy to the people of Floydada, and we are confident that you will find it genuinely in the public interest in the years to come.

4-H Club Boys Launch Cow-Hog-Hen Program

The 4-H club boys of Floyd county are this week starting their cow-hog-hen program, which is designed to assist in the improvement in the type, quality, and management of livestock in the county. As the program develops these young future farmers will learn many valuable lessons in handling livestock.

To start the program off, the boys are writing essays on "Why We Should Have Livestock on Our Farm," and sending them in to the county agent. The essays will be judged by a committee which will award nine registered pigs, eight gilts, and one boar, to the highest ranking boys. These pigs will be developed into breeding animals and returned to Floydada for a show next fall, at which time the owner of the best gilt will be awarded a registered Jersey heifer. The others will receive baby chick awards.

The owner of the boar will furnish free service to the owners of the gilts and the latter will return the best gilt pig from their first successful litter to the committee to be used in a similar contest next year. In this manner nine registered pigs will be distributed each year. At the proper time the program will be expanded to include fat hog shows, cooperative marketing by the members, and other activities to stimulate greater interests in better livestock throughout the country.

The program is sponsored by four of the Farmer's cooperatives in the county: The Consumer's Fuel Association in Floydada, The Consumer's Fuel association in Lockney, the Floydada Cooperative gin and the Floydada Cooperative elevator.

The first essay was written by Billy Joe Hambright president of the Lakeview club and was left at the agent's office last Monday. All essays are due by Saturday of this week.

Trying To Make Rationing Least Painful Possible

Under the most favorable circumstances rationing is tiresome to the average American and the local War Price and Rationing board has made every effort to hold the irritations incident to rationed items to the minimum. Below is a letter from W. Ed Brown, general chairman of the local board which gives information to citizens who have complained relative to inconveniences and lost time incident to visits to the board in Floydada from distant parts of the county:

Floydada, Texas
May 20, 1944

The Hesperian:

There seems to be some misunderstanding on the part of the citizens of Floyd county regarding the filing of applications for rationed items by mail. Recently we have had complaints from citizens of the north end of the county that it is oftentimes very inconvenient for them to make a trip to Floydada to file applications for tires, gasoline, sugar, etc.

As we have several times heretofore announced through the Floyd county papers, it is not necessary for all applications to be filed in person in the Floydada office. Any application that is filled through the mails, provided all the information required is listed in the blank spaces in the application, will be given the same consideration by the various Panels as though presented in person.

For the benefit of those who live in the Lockney, Sterley, Aiken, and South Plains territory we would like to advise that applications for tires, gasoline and foods may be filed respectively with Mr. G. A. Barton at the lumber yard, Mr. Frank Perkins at his office, and Mr. Edgar Hays at the Lockney Beacon, there in Lockney and they will be mailed to the Floydada office. Or, if properly filled out and all the needed information is shown the applications may be filed direct by the applicant.

We are trying to make rationing as efficient and as painless as possible and welcome any suggestions on the part of Floyd County citizens.

Very truly yours,
W. Ed Brown, Gen. Chrmn.

Tell Your Cleaner Kind of Spots on Your Clothing

"Tell your cleaner what kinds of spots are on your clothing you take to him, and he can do a better job of cleaning," Mrs. Ruth Marshall, Demonstrator for Crosby county said in an all-day meeting of the Farmer Home Demonstration club held in the home of Mrs. Bill Robertson of Statkey community, as she demonstrated cleaning and putting away clothing during the summer.

"I find it a good plan," she further advised. "To have winter clothing cleaned but not pressed and hung away until fall then take them to the tailor and have them pressed."

A covered dish luncheon was served and an auction sale held netting the club $745 and the members finding themselves with some queer as well as good purchases.

Members present were Mesdames T. J. Davis, Lois Davis, J. J. Spikes, Paul Wheeler, Bill Switzer, Oma Patterson, Leona Paterson, J. W. Crump, Ruth Marshall, and Misses Woottle and Alma D. Crump.

Mrs. O. R. Gollightly and Mrs. Claud Patton, of Floydada, are proud of an unusual record of a nephew, Lt. Z. O. Robertson, of Hillsboro, who went into service from Hillsboro with one of the national guard companies and is now a second lieutenant. He received a battle commission for fine leadership after the Salerno landing and in the mountain fighting. Merkel Mail and Hillsboro Mirror both have carried extensive write ups of Robertson's exploits.

A recent ruling by OPA provides that the on track price of grain sorghums produced in Texas shall be $2.08 per cwt. This price is F. O. B. any Texas common point. This means that the ceiling price for grain sorghums loaded on cars at any point in Floyd County is $2.08. The farmer will get this much, less the dealers handling charges.

The ceiling price for broilers during May is 29.5c per pound. For June it is 29.5c this is the price that can be paid the farmer by the retailer. If the farmer sells direct to the consumer he can get 57c per pound for dressed broilers and a little over 32c when sold on foot.

Are you wondering if you are making any money off your poultry flock? Here's an easy way to find out multiply the price of feed by 3 and divide the result by the price of eggs. The answer will be the percentage of production needed to pay for the feed. For example: if the average price of mash and grain is $3, and the price of eggs is 27c, it will take a 33% production to pay for the feed.

In a meeting last Saturday, the directors of the newly formed Floyd County Jersey Cattle club decided to have their herds classified on July 3d. Application will be made to the American Jersey Cattle club for an official classifier on that date. All farmers who have registered Jerseys have been invited to have them classified.

Recent information received on the Jersey bull Observer Volunteer Foxy, owned by the Floyd County Bull Circle Co-operative shows him to be an outstanding animal. His dam has a record of 542.2 lbs. of fat as a senior yearling. She freshened on January 1 this year and has produced 405.5 lbs. fat up to May 1. She broke all production records in March when she produced 124.7 lbs of fat and 1540.5 lbs of milk. This bull is kept by Roy Hollums who is a member of the co-op.

Stomach worms cause 90% of the sheepman's troubles. An easy way to control this parasite is now recommended by the Bureau of Animal Industry. Mix 1 lb. Phenothiazine powder with 10 lbs. salt and feed it free choice.

Australian Wild Life Interesting Says Floyd Boy

This letter written by T. S. Roy E. Hollingsworth to his mother, Mrs. R. C. Hollingsworth from Australia may be of interest to many of his friends. The letter is as follows:

I received two letters, one with pictures in it and thanks a lot. I am still o. k. and enjoy my work very much. I think it will be a start for me when I get out, although I haven't completely given up motorcycles yet.

I am starting quite a picture gallery around my bed and I hope to get more pictures soon.

Well I like my new home fine but of course it's still the army and will never really mean home to me.

Grandmother wanted to know about the people and animals over here. If you don't mind I will try to say something on the subject and she can read it also. As for the people they are much like the Americans although of course the dress is quite different and the language is bad, for example, when they say Bastard they mean friend or Pal, so I understand, and a lot of other things such as that. I think I have told you they drive on the left hand side of the road. The cars are built with the steering wheel on the right side. It will seem very odd when I get home to see the people on the wrong side of the road.

There are still a lot of kangaroos and walaby, also a lot of wild parrots, water buffalo, and different kinds of birds and animals. Saw some wild horses, but I haven't seen a chicken, cow or cat since I left Townsville. So you can guess what a desolate spot this is.

There are original Negroes which are very black, much blacker than those in the States. Of course, a lot of Australia has timber on it.

The ant hills here are quite thick in places. I think I would be safe in saying ten steps apart, three or four feet around the base and from two to 10 or 12 feet high, much higher than my head. I wish I had a camera and films to get some pictures of such things here.

COMMISSIONERS COURT SEES HIGHWAY COMMISSION ON TRIP TO AUSTIN LAST WEEK

Members of the Floyd County Commissioners court, spent two days in Austin last week conferring with the Highway department on road problems of Floyd county and the farm to market system which the court hopes to have ready for work as a post-war project.

Mrs. Dick Fenner and little daughter Carolyn Sue, left Friday for Little Rock, Arkansas, where they will visit with husband and father, Pvt. Dick Fenner, who has finished his basic and is going to cook and bakers school. He has been in service since the middle of March.

Mrs. Floyd Simpson and sons, Lanny, Tony, and David of Hobbs, New Mexico, came last week for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Looper and her sister, Mrs. Dick Fenner.

Mr. and Mrs. John McKinney are here this week from San Antonio on a vacation visit. Mr. McKinney is on leave from Duncan field, where he has been employed since shortly after the opening of the war.

Some Homemakers seem to be having trouble getting jars to seal. According to Food specialists, we should follow manufacturers' directions for using all lids or closures. Even though for years we have been sealing tight before processing, we cannot do that with these wartime three-piece closures, which have glass disc, rubber ring, and steel band. The steel in the band of this type does not expand as the lids of pre-war material did, therefore, we must allow space for air to exhaust as they are being processed. If glass discs are hard to remove from the jar when ready to use the contents, immerse the top of the jar in hot water for a few minutes.

The two piece type, which is often called self-seal or vacuum lid and which consists of metal disc with a rubber compound flowed on and metal band may be screwed on tight before processing and not tightened again after processing.

The bands of both types of closures should be removed after the jars are cold for two reasons. First, you can check the seal. In case the jars are not sealed, you can use the food or recan it and prevent it from spoiling. Second, the steel rings rust very badly, and if they are left on the jar they are difficult to remove when ready to use. The bands should be stored in absorbent paper or rubbed with vaseline to prevent rusting so they may be used again. Do not use rusty bands. When re-using bands, be sure that they are proper depth to fit jar and lid.

If using pre-war zinc screw top or glass lightning top or three-piece type of closure, use the same directions you used then.

STEWART'S CLEANERS

I was some pest.

I bothered the life out of auto service men after the curtain went down on new cars. I knew I'd be in some pickle if this car wouldn't last, so I kept quizzing the fellows. Every man-jack of them had a good motor oil or some other life-saver, if I could judge. By good luck I paid real attention to one chap who had his reasons why to OIL-PLATE this engine with Conoco Nth oil. He said every explosion in your engine makes acids, which corrode bare metal. Sounds straight, eh? But with something synthetic in Conoco Nth oil keeping the metal OIL-PLATED, you'd say the fine finish receives special protection to fight the acids off. When you see you're not needing a trade-in nearly as soon as usual, you can give real credit to OIL-PLATING. New cars will be going some if they're half as far ahead as you can be right now by switching to Conoco Nth oil.

staged as part of the pioneers' celebration as a sponsored event. However, the Floyd county boys who are staging the event will have the well-wishes of the re-union crowd—and quite a bit of their patronage as well.

Square Dance Late

Following the pattern of former years the old settlers late in the evening will throw off their cares and join in the old-fashioned square dance, which was once the main social event of the area. Fiddle music with accompaniment will be used. The Brown building has been loaned for the purpose.

Fire Department Dance

Floydada Fire department is sponsoring a dance for the youngsters on tomorrow night at the Martin building, West California street, which will be in progress while their elders kick up their heels and do cee do at the square dance in the Brown building.

Honor Roll not Placed

The honor roll dedication on the court house lawn, which was to have been a feature of the re-union this year will have to await a future date. While thoughts of the boys and girls from this county who are in service will be uppermost in the minds of those in attendance, the placing of the large panels bearing the names of the honored servicemen has been delayed due to emergencies of the war period and will not be in place. Eight hundred twenty-nine names were on the first list furnished the manufacturers by the committee of McDermott post, American Legion, which has undertaken to furnish names in co-operation with the county authorities. Additional supplemental lists are also being prepared for use on the scroll, the total being at this time close to 1,000.

Mrs. C. F. Lincoln and Mrs. L. H. Newell returned home this week from Dallas where they visited relatives the past two weeks.
