Release of mail from England that was bottled up for several days by the high command to make sure that invasion news did not slip out of the British Isles prematurely, began to come through again the first of the week, a few letters reaching recipients here as early as Sunday. The fact that the army and navy would not permit mail to come back home from the invasion forces illustrates one weakness of human nature whether it is clothed in officer's uniform or in the garb of an enlisted man. Big news bears on one's mind so strongly that it just will be told. One or two good officers, maybe more that we do not know of, got sent home for gossiping about the invasion. Doubtless many a reprimand was handed out where too much and too indiscreet conversation was made. It seems to be a part of being an American to talk a great deal, and the less we know about a thing the louder our tongues wag. It is a common fault. We don't do it maliciously but often it gets the same result as though we did. Which is probably why the high command put a blab on all hands, high and low.

There may be some dry spots in Floyd county this week. We do not know that there are not. We do know that there are many farms where the ground is too wet for best operating conditions and that a good many farmers would like to see dry weather to finish a forage feed planting job. Where the rain has been somewhat continuous the ground is wet enough to be black, except for the myriad weeds, goat heads in particular that have sprung up. One hay grower also complained that he hadn't yet got a crop of hay on the ground that rain didn't begin. The perversities of nature in our high plains country are just plain marvelous.

Uncle Sam's guaranteed price for forage feeds, including Martin maize and other types that lend themselves to one-man and machinery handling, is going to make the cotton acreage in Floyd county this year a mighty slim one. We hardly know whether you would call Cotton the step-child of Circumstances the step-child of Misunderstanding. Anyway, Cotton as such is being bootled about in the agricultural program. Probably Mr. Jones of WFA and other key men in the administration see an ample supply of cotton fibre in sight for immediate needs and hope to make soybean meal from Up Nawth take the place of cottonseed meal on the ranches of the Southwest. There is not going to be enough cottonseed meal to go around, we assume when we say this. Perhaps circumstances will come around so that the few who do plant cotton will find themselves fortunate this fall, with a crop that pays off big dividends. Things do come around that way sometimes, a hindcast in December next being better than a forecast right now. A good many people, given to study of such matters, are indignant because the War Food administration is taking advantage of the squeeze in manpower to discourage cotton culture. Once upon a time cotton gins were built close to a gulch or creek so that when rain came the seed thrown away as useless could be washed downstream. Cottonseed products are still viewed in somewhat the same light in many quarters, forgetting that a big cattle feeding industry has been built upon cottonseed meal as a fattening foundation. Perhaps our masters are right. Anyway, feeders will learn to use soybean meal.

One notes with interest that many who were making up their minds not to vote for Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. And/or Wallace this fall, have cooled off in their ardor now with the prospect that the spirit of Warren Gamaliel Harding is being groomed in the person of Thos. E. Dewey for president by the Old Guard of the GOP. The balance of power in the nation's electorate this year lies in the Mugwump camp, people who are not Party men. Those who wait to see who puts up whom and then make a choice, Mr. Dewey's trouble is that he will stand for anything that his experts tell him 60 per cent of the people stand for and against anything that 60 per cent of them are against. The story they tell on him is that he refuses to say anything until his poll experts tell him how the wind is blowing. Then he just comes out flat and final. Those who view the prospect of a Fourth term and continued government by decree of district supervisors with alarm had high hopes for a time. But a continuation of the present regime is better than return to Harding and Hoover times, they seem to think. Those who take their party straight, but who were not enthusiastic about the Democratic candidates and/or the Fourth term, naturally did not plan to go fishing or anything of the kind. They planned to take it and like it. But they represent a minority. The electing power, as we said, lies that year among the Mugwumps, who will choose a Fourth term in preference to something worse.

The truth of the matter is that when the people get around to it they are going to try to find out who is running the country. Once we thought of Congress as passing the laws, of the executive department as enforcing them and of the judicial department interpreting them. Now we know that the rules and regulations that have been made to govern the people are made by executive order. A heck of a thing to be editorializing about right in the middle of the 5th War Loan campaign and the second week of the Invasion. But a semblance of the old order—including the right to make up our own minds—is part and parcel of both. It is most likely that it will take at least one full four-year administration to get at the bottom of things and weed out the gentlemen who have decided that you are not smart enough to mind your own affairs and that they have to mind them for you—with beneficent pats on the head as long as you are a good boy.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)

Mother, Jerry and the children, Carey and Anne, came Saturday afternoon and spent the night and Sunday with us. Jeff's sister, Lizzie Ellis came in the afternoon and also Mr. and Mrs. Jim Crump and Paul, Wilma and Joe. We had a fine time. This Monday morning seems so quiet and still without them talking and laughing. The children are going in the concrete tank now to try to learn to swim and to splash. There are play houses under the arched grapevines. Mud pies are left to bake under the apricot. The place comes alive when the grandchildren come.

We have a new electric cream separator and it is dandy to stand and watch the milk go in and the cream and separated milk pour out without the labor of handturning. But what bothers me is that some morning I will go off for a few minutes to do something else while it turns and there will be no one to yell, "Nellie, come change these buckets," and the milk will spread out over the floor from the overflowing bucket.

An amazing statement from the beginning of Van Loon's Geography: "It sounds incredible, but nevertheless it is true. If everybody in this world of ours were six feet tall and a foot and a half wide and a foot thick (and this is making people a little bigger than they usually are), then the whole of the human race (and according to the latest available statistics there are nearly 2,000,000,000 descendants of the original Homo Sapeens and his wife) could be packed into a box measuring half a mile in each direction. That, as I just said sounds incredible, but if you don't believe it, figure it for yourself and you will find it to be correct."

If we transported that box to Grand Canyon of Arizona and balanced it neatly on the low stone wall that keeps people from breaking their necks when stunned by the incredible beauty of that silent witness of the forces of Eternity and then called little Noodle, the dachshund, and told him (the tiny beast is very intelligent and loves to oblige) to give the unwieldy contraption a push with his soft brown nose, there would be a moment of crunching and ripping as the wooden planks loosened stone and shrubs and trees on their downward path, and then a low and even softer bumpity-bumpity-bump and a sudden splash when the outer edges struck the banks of the Colorado River.

"Then silence and oblivion! The human sardines in their mortuary chest would soon be forgotten. The Canyon would go on battling wind and air and sun and rain as it has done since it was created." Now isn't that strange! All the people in this warring world could be packed in a box a half a mile north and south and west and half a mile high. Van Loon continues: "The world would continue to run its even course through the uncharted heavens. The astronomers on distant and nearby planets would have noticed nothing out of the ordinary. A century from now, a little mound, densely covered with vegetable matter, would perhaps indicate where humanity lay buried. And that would be all!"

A., will serve as a tutor in chemistry on the staff of the school next long session during the absence of a faculty member. Miss Green's appointment is considered all the more remarkable in view of the fact that only once before in the history of the institution has the requirement of a master's degree for faculty members been waived as is being done in Miss Green's case.

"What is man," rings through the centuries from the Word of God, "That Thou are mindful of him?"

The morning of D Day I rose and went to the kitchen as usual and turned on the radio. The static was fierce but there was a marching song being played that instantly caught my attention and interest. Oh could it be, I whispered, the long waited dreading day? I tried to pierce through the grinding static to hear more. Fragments now and then, the day was actually at hand! Was my boy landing on the beaches of France? Pray to God that his hand is steady, his eyes clear and his strength firm to wait on the wounded boys. Was he still at his post in the hospital somewhere in England? I will not ask for him to be idle in a safe place, I will ask for strength, both physical and spiritual, for him. May all that he has learned since he first studied medicine come to his aid and mind.

The lowering clouds of that Great Day in the history of our beloved country and of the world, looked as if they might feel some of the storm of that far-away invasion. We sat down to breakfast, food did not taste right, we were not hungry for things the body needed. Our hunger was of the soul, the desire for the Nations of the Allies to accomplish the freeing slaves and of the weak and depressed and underfed of conquered lands. Somehow the big ships seemed near as we heard how they hovered smaller vessels with screens of smoke. We could see the people of France slipping out of cellars to welcome the incoming soldiers, soldiers, not to enslave but to free. "Yes, grandmother remembers D Day," long years afterward the children will be told as glowing young eyes look into mydim ones and the memories of the day will be revived for them.

Your flag and my flag, And how it flies today In your land and my land And half a world away! Rose-red and blood-red The stripes forever gleam; Snow-white and soul-white— The good forefather's dream; Sky-blue and true-blue, with stars to gleam aright— The gloried guidon of the day, A shelter through the night. An Advertisement Addressed to Buyers of BLACK MARKET Gasoline Phillips production of 100-octane gasoline could fuel enough Flying Forts to drop 3,000 tons of bombs on the "Invasion Coast" every day!

Gasoline shortage on the home front is a grim reality, and gasoline rationing is our American system of sharing the available supplies fairly, in accordance with car-owners' essential needs.

Why is gasoline short? : : : Re-read the headline above. It is presented not in boastful spirit, but in explanation of one of the vital military uses of the gasoline which you cannot purchase.

Remember, Phillips is only one of many producers of 100-octane aviation gasoline, of butadiene for synthetic rubber, of various fuels for ships and tanks and combat cars. The petroleum raw materials which go into the literally oceans of these military fuels are obviously not available for the manufacture of civilian supplies of gasoline.

Every Black Market purchase reduces the already greatly diminished pool of gasoline which must suffice for our country's essential transportation needs. That is why no thinking, patriotic American will be a Black Buyer. And without Black Buyers there can be no Black Markets.

So do your patriotic part to break the Black Market in gasoline: Endorse every gasoline ration coupon in your possession. Don't accept any gasoline at any price without giving up coupons. And most important of all, use the legal gasoline you buy for essential driving only.

DRIVE IT HOME!

"That's the way I like to see them," said Gen. MacArthur when he saw the rows of dead Japs in the Admiralty Islands. In this war—the costliest, cruellest war of all time—our boys must fight with savage fury. Kill or be killed! And on how well each plays his part depends the lives of many of his buddies.

Here on the home front, too, just cheering the attack on isn't enough.

That's why there's a Fifth War Bond drive on now, a drive in which you're needed to support the men on the fighting fronts who are facing the most treacherous forces Americans have ever met in combat. We on the home front can't let them down—and we won't. So resolve now to at least double your Bond buying in the 5th War Loan drive. This is the time to do better than your best.

What news will Gen. Eisenhower get from us?

You know now what we've heard from him.

We've heard that Eisenhower and his Americans have hurled themselves like a thunderbolt against the bristling defenses of Hitler's Wehrmacht!

We've heard that they are smashing at our foe — sparing neither steel nor sweat nor blood in one final, furious assault that marks the supreme military effort of this War!

And what news do Eisenhower and his men expect from us?

Men and women of America — what the Invasion is to our fighting men, the 5th War Loan is to us at home!

For us, as well as for them, this is the crisis — the time for tremendous, overwhelming effort! Make no mistake! The 5th War Loan will undoubtedly be the biggest, most vitally important financial effort of this whole War!

If the 5th War Loan is to succeed, each one of us must do more than ever before — must buy double . . . yes, triple . . . the Bonds we bought last time.

Our men expect to hear that we are buying double — that we are matching their sacrifice as best we can — that the American nation, soldiers and civilians together, is making one gigantic effort to win this War!

That's the news our men expect to hear from us.

Will you personally see that they get it?

And here are 5 More reasons for buying Extra Bonds in the 5th!

1. War Bonds are the best, the safest investment in the world!
2. War Bonds return you $4 for every $3 in 10 years.
3. War Bonds help keep prices down.
4. War Bonds will help win the Peace by increasing purchasing power after the War.
5. War Bonds mean education for your children, security for you, funds for retirement.

CPL. HAROLD CARPENTER IN ADMIRALTY ISLANDS

I have had several of my brothers' friends to ask for his address, so I am printing it in the paper. He also asked me to tell all his friends to write. His address is:
Corpl. Harold D. Carpenter, ASN 18021415, Hq. TR. 5th Cav., APO 201, Care postmaster, San Francisco, California.

He said in a recent letter that he is in the Admiralty Islands and doing fine. His sister,
Mrs. Tom Warren

2nd Lt. Eldon Bishop Howard who is stationed at Selman Field, Monroe, Louisiana, was called home last Friday because of the illness of his wife who is in the Lubbock Hospital. Lt. Howard has returned to Louisiana.

Etha Bell Pickett of Lubbock is visiting this week with J. H. Poore and family and Mrs. J. C. Odum.

On The Farm & Home Front

Leon C. Ranson
County Agricultural Agent
Texas A. & M. College Extension Service
Home Demonstration Agent

The Home Demonstration council served about 500 boys homemade cake and fruit punch at the Lubbock U. S. O. Saturday night. The Floydada Rotary Club furnished the money for the drink.

"No part of a garden should be allowed to remain idle this year," says J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist for the A. and M. College Extension service. "All the food which can be grown will be needed. When one crop matures it should be replaced with another which will produce before frost. Farm gardeners, will have room to plant cushaws, pumpkins and summer squash under field conditions. The small Sugar variety of pumpkins and Acorn or Golden Queen squash can be harvested in September and October along with the Cushaws. These vegetables can be used fresh, or stored, until freezing weather.

"In taking out a row of spring or summer vegetables in the garden, remember to start collards now. A 10 cent package of seed will plant 100 feet of row. The Georgia or Louisiana cabbage collard varieties are both good. Plant the seed where they can be worked throughout the summer and when the first fall frosty days come they will be at their best as greens.

"People who have been cutting asparagus during the spring should be looking to next year's crop. Mr. Rosborough suggests fertilizing the plants now by side dressing with rotted stable manure. Spread it on either side of the plant row two to three inches deep. The manure can be stirred into the soil in cultivating the plants during the remainder of the season. The more vigorous the plants can be made now, the more plant food will be stored into the fleshy roots. With plenty of plant food stored, the asparagus tips next spring will be large and tender."

Mr. and Mrs. Herwin Strickland and children, of Vernon, were here last week-end visiting relatives and friends, while guests of Mr. Strickland's mother, Mrs. G. R. Strickland.

BLACK-DRAUGHT
Caution: Use Only as Directed

Comanche is the name of a new wheat that has been developed by the experiment stations. Over a period of 10 years it has been the highest yielding on the Amarillo station. It has a heavy test weight, and is preferred by the millers because of its excellent milling and baking qualities. We can get a small supply of this seed from Hansford county if we get our order in soon. It is $2.00 per bushel, plus the expense of hauling and distributing after it reaches here. Farmers who are interested in getting some of this seed for sowing next fall should get in touch with the agent's office and leave their orders. We would like to have enough of this wheat sown next fall to produce a seed supply for the county in 1945.

Twenty-two club boys and 12 adults from Floyd county enjoyed a visit to the South Plains Army Air field at Lubbock last week. The boys were invited to make the visit because each of them has produced enough food in 1943 to feed one or more fighting men. Thirty six Floyd County boys attained this goal last year.

July 3 has been designated as the date for official classification of Jersey cattle in Floyd county. There will be approximately 60 head of cattle classified that day. A meeting of the owners of the cattle will be held soon to work out the program for the occasion.

Jackie Gene Brock, 15 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brock of the Sand Hill community is at the A & M College this week taking a cow testers' short course. When he finishes the course he will go to the Knoles Jersey Farm at Sandia, Texas, for two weeks of practical experience in this kind of work. Members of the Floyd County Jersey cattle club hope to employ Jackie as their first official tester when he returns to the county.

The worm that has done so much damage this spring by eating up the grain sorghums before they come through the ground is a wire worm. This worm passes the winter in the form of a beetle which emerges from the soil rather early in the spring. They lay their eggs in the soil, and as soon as they hatch the young worm begins to feed either on germinating seed or the roots of young plants. They feed for 4 months before reaching maturity, when they change into a beetle about mid-summer. The beetles do very little damage.

Numerous experiments have been conducted in an attempt to develop satisfactory control measures but so far nothing of a practical nature has been developed. A two year crop rotation with no susceptible crops will eliminate the pest for one season, but unfortunately, such a rotation is not practical in our area. Farmers use lime, kerosene, turpentine, oil of tansy in wood alcohol, and other treatments with varying results.

Parity prices on May 15, were $1.50 for wheat, $2.06 for grain sorghums per 100 lbs., $21.08 for cotton, 42.3c per lbs. for butterfat, 30c per doz. for eggs, and $12.40 per 100 lbs. for hogs.

COUNTRY CLUB NAMES FOUR NEW MEN AS DIRECTORS

Floydada Country club stockholders last Thursday night named four new men on the board of directors for the club, retaining L. J. Welborn, Lee Rushing and B. K. Barker, from last year's executive committee.

Four new directors are T. P. Collins, R. E. Fry, Tate Jones and Glad Snodgrass. Election of officers and plans for the annual picnic of the club will be taken up in directors' meeting at an early date, it was indicated.
