Air Crash Fatal At Nashville For Dale Strickland

Funeral services were held at the First Methodist church in Floyd Tuesday morning for Flight Officer Harold Dale Strickland, 32, killed last Friday morning in a crash of a B-26 transport plane at Nashville, Tennessee.

News of the death of the Floydada business man, who had just completed training as an army transport pilot and assigned to the Nashville base, was received by his wife at Tulsa and by his mother here the same day and the tragedy released to the newspapers of Saturday morning. The brief statement released by the commander of the base, gave no details other than that F/O Strickland and a companion were killed in the crash.

The body reached home on Monday morning and lay in state at the home of his mother, Mrs. G. R. Strickland, 201 West Crockett street until the hour of the funeral.

The religious service was conducted by Rev. H. E. East, Tulsa Baptist minister of the church with which Mrs. Strickland, his wife, was affiliated. He was assisted by Rev. L. A. Doyle, of Floydada. A quartet composed of Clifford Tubbs, E. S. Randolph, Earl Rainier, and Garland Glover sang "Sometime We'll Understand." Other special numbers were a violin duet "In the Garden" by Carlyn and June Wimberly accompanied by Freda Wimberly. The girls are cousins of Mrs. Dale Strickland. Democratic Run-Off Primary Set For Saturday

Although interest is so lacking as to be almost lethargic the machinery is oiled and ready to set in motion for the Democratic second or runoff primary next Saturday.

Saturday boxes were filled and made ready for all precincts in the county and presiding judges reminded of the date and time. Usual voting hours from 8 o'clock a. m. to 7 o'clock p. m. will be observed. The official ballot would be a short one, indeed, were it not for the insistence by the executive committee that Democrats of the various precincts make their own choices for precinct chairman. Six precincts in the first primary gave no majority to any write in "candidate" and one precinct indicated no choice whatever. In the last indicated instance Fairmount—the voting box has since been abolished by the Commissioners court. In the other six two high men have been placed on the ballot. Two Floydada boxes, Alken and Cedar, Lakeview and Harmony are the precincts in which voters are asked to make choice of a precinct chairman.

Scholastics from Fairmount have been transferred to Flomot for some eight or nine years, Flomot district operating a bus into the Fairmount district.

Since Edgin school house where the Goodnight district election is held is approximately on the route of residents of Fairmount to their principal trading place at Quitaque, the change is not expected to work undue hardship.

Official voting place for residents of Precinct 23, Northeast Floydada, made of the northeast basement room in the court house, heretofore used by the county welfare officer, and official voting place in Precinct No. 1, Southwest Floydada, will be the high school building, according to order entered by the court.

Members of Company G 39th Battalion, Texas State Guard, have been for the past several days building a rifle range in Blanco canyon. With the issuance of 53 Enfield army rifles by the federal government the Guard will spend part of their training period on the range.

Rules Governing Christmas Mail For Overseas

Save strong string and box material and start to plan shopping.

This year the Christmas mailing period for both Army and Navy overseas forces is the same—September 15 to October 15. After October 15 no gift parcel may be mailed to a soldier without the presentation of a written request from him.

The great demands upon shipping and the need for giving preference to arms, munitions, medicine, and food is the prime reason for the early mailing date. Moreover, gift parcels must travel great distances to reach Army and Navy personnel who are located at remote points, and frequently the transfer of large numbers to new stations necessitates forwarding of the packages and additional time is required.

The response that our people made last year during the overseas mailing period demonstrated that they will cooperate in any measure designed for the welfare of our armed forces personnel. Mr. Walker said. It is not easy to concentrate on Christmas gifts in the midst of warm weather here at home but our people recognized the need, and because they want the men and women who are absent from their homes to know they are not forgotten at Christmas they took pains to assure prompt delivery of Christmas gifts.

I know that our people will observe the overseas mailing schedule once more this year but I do wish to stress this fact: More care must be taken in wrapping and packing parcels securely and addressing them clearly and correctly.

It is not a pleasant thing to visit a postal concentration center and see the numbers of Christmas parcels which will never reach servicemen and servicewomen. Post office personnel have orders to do everything they can to effect delivery of such gifts, because we know how (See XMAS MAILING, back page)

EDITORIALS

Saturday is the date of the second Democratic primary in Texas. It promises to go down as the most unusual run-off primary of many years. Unusual, for one thing, in the lack of the number of interesting political fights. Always the major, number one, tussle is either for governor or for United States senator and the folks are given a barrel full of political fire works for their money. But this time not so. Two state races for offices of major importance but of minor interest so far as the politics of it goes. Many counties are having no primaries and in the others the interest is only so so.

We are due to find out how it can be done, presumably, but at this time we are at a loss to understand how it is planned by pro-Roosevelt forces in Texas to "un-elect" the electoral delegates from this state chosen at the May presidential convention. This convention is a distinct entity from the September (governor's) convention, and one has nothing (presumably) to do with the other. The only way we know of that would be according to our hide-bound regular way of choosing representatives of the people would be for the "Roosevelt" forces to name a slate and present them for popular vote in the November election. As said above we are, presumably, to find out more than we know now about the matter along in the early days of September when the big political show is held in Dallas. That ought to be an interesting session to look in on.

We find it fits in with our mood or our need or something of the kind to do a considerable bit of complaining about this and that of the government, especially of the fiddle fiddle that goes with sundry bureaus that pass laws, act as judge, prosecutor and jury—and the oratorically at least—send us to jail without trial by jury. Most likely we will keep it up as long as it lasts or as long as we last, about sixty to forty the latter, we'd guess. And since we do spout off in this somewhat Job-like manner it might be assumed—we fear—that we do not intend to go down the line with Mr. Roosevelt. This would be and is far from the fact of the matter. We do not like the way the government's relations with the public are carried on. We (and the neighbors) are the government and don't you forget that we know it. These birds that are buzzing around over the country ruling us and pushing and shoving us around are going to get put back on WPA when the folks get around to it. Surely we must be right on that. We think we are the kind of people that can be taken into confidence and told the truth, not falsehoods, about things, and we don't think that is being done whatsoever. Practically everything we can be told a fib about we are so being done. But we are going right on down the line with the man who is running affairs now. With all his faults he means well here at home and the boys out doing the fighting say he sure has a grip on the conduct of the war and is listening to the smartest military men America ever had. We're for Mr. Roosevelt today and we'll be on election day, blast his fear-less old, lathery, humanity-loving hide.

Whether he is winning an election or losing one by it, it is a great thing to see how Cordell Hull, present secretary of state, is working with the minority in congress to be sure that there is no debacle in the final peace arrangements should it so happen that peace comes before Mr. Roosevelt goes out of office and while his political opponents would have an opportunity to block an arrangement that might be made tentatively and subject to the senate's approval. It was such a thing that Mr. Wilson's secretary of state did not do, perhaps could not have done. Also Mr. Hull, it is to be noted, is working with his successor in the event the Democrats should lose the election. This is one time when there can be no claim of a misunderstanding, of secret agreements. The opposition is in position to shout from the housetops a warning to the people. Mr. Hull's most astute recognition of the fact that the people have the last say is another proof of his greatness, proof which he gave in the early days of his career as secretary of state, and which he gives again and again. Tennessee's great son is Cordell Hull, who makes diplomatic talk in the language which all may understand.

That there can be such a thing as a war job playing out is a truth many defense plant workers are having brought home to them rather forcibly the past 10 days. Change from one type of work to another, probably from one center to another, is putting a good many thousand on the roads again, rooted up from one job, suddenly found not to be needed, to go to another where the God of War is making greater and greater demand. Bomb loading, shell making and rubber tire building are three jobs right now that are critical. Along with them goes lumber logging and pulp processing. The readjustment is taking place rapidly, but in some instances the folks are going back to their old stamping grounds to take root again rather than to spend too much time following the game of defense plant work.

Few trucks have had to be tied up in the southwest on account of the lack of large-size tires as yet, but this is due to the care which the truck owners have exercised in taking care of what they already had in the way of equipment. New tires of the large sizes are being held in reserve for the armed forces and when a tire "goes down" it has just gone down for a time and that much of the home-front effort will have to await less bitter days of fighting. Army requirements in Europe are so much greater than was at first thought probable that boatloads of big tires are going over and more put on the docks for shipment. When the bombers get through with a given area there is little left in the way of railways or other transportation facilities and what there is the Nazis eliminate if they have time. The army, and all the things that go with an advancing army, must travel by truck or something of the kind, and take along with them supplies as well for the civilians. Perhaps the thing will work out before many months but right now it is a matter of tie up and wait for awhile if you have big tires and tire trouble at one and the same time.

The cigarette shortage is making the folks at home begin to look around for the Bull Durham and the Duke's Mixture. A news story this week said the situation would get better along about Christmas but added that this may be just so much wishful thinking. Cigarettes are being used by the boys for trading purposes in the lands wherever they go in this wide, wide world. This can be a part of the explanation for the shortage. For the small city and town dweller the situation may be, probably will be, more difficult than for the big town man until the tire shortage clears up. The point being that the distributor is going to get rid of the cigarettes he receives with the least effort, the least use of tires and gasoline. Consequently the customers the closest by will get the best supply. Or so it would seem, to run true to form with human nature.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)

Every year we can remember since we have been on this place, some thirty-four, we take out and try to tell when the rain came to break a drought this time of year. It seems that no two years have been just alike. There has been no measuring rule to judge this one by the ones that have passed. One year, way back at this time of year I was drying apples. On the low sloping porch roof on tables in the yard, the sweet-smelling drying went on in the hot glare of the late summer sun. Apples almost dry were sacked and left in the sun to finish. The rain came, cold and wet, the apples were brought in. I tried to finish them in the big range oven, many were burnt and scorched. I spread them all over the attic floor, mold set in and most of the ones that had not been perfectly dry were lost. We scan the sky each morning for signs of rain that day. At the close the rain has not come. We sigh and say, perhaps another day.

Walter B. Adams
An angry monster treads the land,
Dust fogging from his feet,
And parches branch and leaf and stem
With breath of airy heat
One eye he blazes at the fields,
Forbidding crops to grow,
And with the other scans the sky,
Commanding clouds to go.
Bold streams he robs of song and speech,
The sinking pools sip dry;
And where his grip is tightest, elms
And ancient oak trees die

We found Miss Hearne very likeable, in fact belonging to West Texas, speaking our language, ready to help and very gracious. Miss Hill, a true Texan, our district agent, was also present and we found her very interested and enthusiastic about the history of our county which pleased us immensely. Mrs. Matthews, the county chairman, conducted the meeting in a pleasing manner. She and Mrs. Lemon gave a good account of their trip to Austin, and they found many laughs as well as learned many things of value which they passed on.

As we sat on the benches under the shady trees the sounds of the canyon came to our ears. A colony of doodle bugs kept on digging their round holes under the polecat bushes at our feet, the rippling of water came from the falls below. Cars and buses and trucks passed on the highway nearby, the inmates straining necks and eyes to catch a better glimpse of the group of women, children and men. As I sat and listened to the program one part of my mind was busy with the scenes of this place in long ago times. I looked to the rock house, now the roof burned off and the floor out, and pictured a woman there an August day, sitting down to her quilting, her eyes fastened on the jars of purple grape jelly that cooled in her window, soon to take place by the red, plum jelly that had long cooled and set up for winter goodies. The woman knew that inside the cover of her quilt, the cotton was as soft and white and fleecy as the clouds that purple-shadowed the blue misted hills. The coo of the dove came plaintive to her ears as she listened to hear her playing children under the whispering cottonwood trees.

She looked up the hill as the scent of burning cowchips came on the breeze. A covered wagon, her heart beat fast. That might mean a woman. So long since she had seen one and had a good woman's talk. Yes, there was a woman climbing out of the wagon, a woman dressed in a long mother-hubbard and split bonnet, coming on down the hill, on to the rock house.

Timidly at first they looked at one another, then the traveler asked that she might bake a pan of biscuits in an oven, long since they had tasted such bread. The woman arose from her cane-bottomed chair and soon the biscuits were browning in the oven. Milk cold and sweet from the spring, with a pat of butter was added, a glass of the red jelly and the one of the purple of jewels, and the woman went back up the hill, taking her things to the wagon.

That night after the sun had crimsoned the once white clouds with beauty and gone on behind the caprock, the rockhouse folks climbed the hill and went avisting the covered wagon folks. As the men squatted on their heels, and the women sat in the wagon seat round drying fire, they talked as if they could never stop.

The traveling woman went to her chuck box and let down the lid, reached in and took out a glass dish of extraordinary beauty which she handed the other woman who had given her so much. They exchanged recipes and in the morning they exchanged quilt scraps and patterns. I wondered if they could have foreseen many women sitting under the trees on the little hill exchanging things they knew and had, eating together and planning together.

The other day my husband was telling about some people he once knew and said, "They were like wild ducks, lighting first on one lake then another." Might not be such a bad idea this dry weather.

Poen for the week.
As I write the above I think I should not be discouraged. Rain may be just around the edge of the horizon and may fall and make lots of food yet. I will go to the poet for words of comfort and hope.

No Furlough, No Need for Money In New Britain

Harold L. Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Berry is somewhere in New Britain, a member of the U. S. army there. An interesting and chatty sort of letter from him dated July 23, is reprinted below. The Frankie mentioned in the letter is his wife, who is making her home at Lockney with her mother.—Ed.)

Received the cablegram you sent. So far I haven't received the money, but it looks like now I won't need it. Only two have got the furloughs from this outfit so far. However they may open their hearts and let several go next time. Hope so. If I don't get the furlough within the next two months, I will return the money, as we have no need for it here unless we do get a furlough. Everything is going pretty well here. I feel pretty good now that the war seems to be going our way at last.

Naives Learn Fast

It's really fun to talk to the natives here. They seem to learn pretty fast. Several of the natives got shots in the arm a few days ago for prevention of some disease. Everytime one got a shot, one of the natives cut a notch in a stick. After it was all over it was easy to count the notches and tell how many had received shots.

One of the boys gave the natives two flasks a few days ago to help work. They exchange their money once or twice a week for cigarettes. They really like to smoke, women, babies and all.

I saw two nativeboys about the size of my boy swimming the other day. They would go into the ocean ways and one of the waves would hit them and scoot them right into shore. They would really laugh. They learn to swim about as soon as they learn to walk.

It's really fun to watch them (the natives) spear fish. They seldom miss.

I have two Jap coins I picked up a few days ago. Enclosed is one for you and I will send the other to Frankie. They are the equivalent to our dimes in name, but not valued as high. It takes 10 of these to make a yen.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for their sympathy and kindness during the illness and death of my husband and our father.

To the wonderful neighbors words cannot express our thanks for all the many deeds of kindness and untiring help. From our hearts we say thank you and God bless all of you.

Further Every Day Into France

Dallas Patton, who is with an AAA outfit in France, writes one to his sister, Mrs. R. S. Patton, (July 16) that is short and to the point. He has been in France since D-day plus five.—Ed.)

Just a few lines to let you know that I am still in the land of the living. Just dodging around you know like a rabbit from hole to hole and having dinner on the ground just like the fourth of July (you know with a lot of fire works). It rains most of the time, not a hard rain just a slow drizzle which adds to the misery of a foxhole dweller.

However, on the other hand I am getting along splendid and going further into France day by day. I get your letters, so write.

Tires Wear Out twice as fast at 90°

WHEN YOU SUFFER with the heat, remember that your tires really sizzle on the road... because road-surfaces are usually 25° hotter than air temperatures.

This frying-pan heat saps the strength of rubber... produces doubled wear as the thermometer rises from 60° to 90°... and multiplies tire-failure by twenty per cent.

Obviously, you and every other patriotic driver, want to get every bit of precious mileage remaining in your present set of tires. That is why we bring you these authoritative suggestions:

Avoid hot-road driving as much as you can... Drive at slower speeds... Don't over-inflate tires, but avoid under-inflation as you would a plague... And don't neglect to have your tires cross-switched every 3,000 miles.

Your Phillips 66 Service Man is anxious and waiting to help you. Give him the opportunity, at least once a week, to check air pressures... to inspect for nail holes, cuts, and bruises... to examine tires so he can warn you when re-capping is advisable.

This is only part of the Tire-Saving and Car-Saving Service pledged to you at every Phillips 66 Service Station, to help you "Care For Your Car For Your Country."

In the Nation's interest and in your own, be watchful and intelligent about making your car and your tires last longer and go farther. Drive in for help at the Orange and Black 66 Shield, the sign of famous Phillips 66 Gasoline and Phillips 66 Motor Oil.

"I'M A WAR WORKER TOO!"

... says

Reddy Kilowatt
YOUR ELECTRICAL SERVANT

Yes sir! Long before Pearl Harbor I was busy helping to turn out defense materials. Since then I've been even busier. War plants all over this area couldn't turn a wheel without ample and dependable electric power. In fact, the production of electricity has been declared an essential industry.

But it's not only in the factories that I am helping to win the war. Every farm is a war plant these days, producing food to sustain both our fighting men and civilian war workers. The uses of electricity on the farm are almost limitless. Farmers everywhere are making me work overtime to help them get the chores done.

And in your homes—did you ever stop to think how much time electrical appliances save the housewife? That's time which she can devote to Red Cross, or victory gardening, or getting into an essential industry herself.

The only thing about me that doesn't look like a war worker is my pay check. It's just as small as it ever was. So I'm proud of my war record. Who wouldn't be?

Pressure-Group Politics Decried By Judge Critz

AUSTIN, AUG.—Justice Richard Critz of the Texas Supreme Court, seeking re-election in the run-off Democratic primary August 26, declared today that the CIO is attempting to gain control of Texas Courts and that his opponent has the 100 per cent indorsement of the CIO Political Action committee. He denounced the CIO pressure-group political methods.

"This Political Action committee has leaders who are not satisfied with fair and impartial rulings from the bench," said Justice Critz. "They will not be satisfied until they have packed our courts with men who will close their eyes to the rights of the people and interpret the law the way these CIO leaders want it interpreted."

He said that the huge vote given him in the first primary is proof that the public resents attempts of pressure groups to intimidate Texas' courts.

Judge Critz was appointed to the Supreme Court Commission by former Gov. Dan Moody and later to the court itself by former Gov. James V. Allred to fill an unexpired term. He is seeking re-election to his second elective term.

TRANSPORT TRUCK DAMAGED BUT DRIVER UNINJURED AND GASOLINE IS SAVED

A 4,000-gallon transport truck headed for Plainview with a full load of gasoline was over-turned and the vehicle badly damaged in the eastern suburbs of Floydada Monday afternoon, of last week, without seriously injuring the driver and wasting practically no gasoline.

No names were obtained. The highway department righted the load of gas and cleared the highway adjacent to the Q. A. & P. tracks where the accident occurred on a highway curve into Houston street.

Dr. and Mrs. Pitts are vacationing this week at Red River and points in New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam McClesky and son, Don, returned Monday from Mineral Wells.

Sergeant Yeary Saves a Platoon With Mortar Fire

Below is a write up released by the War department of Sgt. Yeary, the grandson of Mrs. A. J. Jetton of Cedar. Sgt. Yeary was born and raised here in Floyd county. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Myrth M. Yeary now of Globe, Arizona. The story is as follows:

"Mortar fire, the front line infantryman's ace in the hole, was credited with saving an entire platoon when it was attacked by 20 German raiders on the Fifth army in Italy recently.

"Sergeant Myrth M. Yeary, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Myrth M. Yeary, 705 South Broad Street, Globe, Arizona, was one of the courageous and adept gunners of the heavy weapons company which sent death into the enemy ranks and sent them reeling back to their own lines.

"The rifle company had flashed an urgent request for mortar support and an officer ordered gun sights fixed for the target. Some kind of a record was established in this sector when the guns fired 1100 rounds in an hour's concentrated fire.

"With uncanny destiny Sgt. Yeary and his mates of the mortar, lobbed shell after shell into the Jerry's—sometimes within 30 yards of the American defenders.

"The line company men were enthusiastic over the support they had received.

"We fixed it so a gnat couldn't sneak a peak without losing an eyebrow," Sgt. Yeary reported. After driving the Germans away from the position the Yanks kept shells blasting forward, forcing them to fall back."

Sgt. Yeary's wife resides in the district with his parents. At present ent she is employed by the John-Manville Company at Chrysolite.

NUMBER 13 PROMINENT IN HIS SERVICE RECORD

Number thirteen is prominent in the service record of Floyd County's Cpl. Warren Johnstone. He was inducted into the Marine Corps on the thirteenth of February, 1943, sailed from the states on April 13, was on board ship thirteen days, and has two thirteens in his address. He is now somewhere in the South Pacific.

Warren lived with his sister, Mrs. Walter, from the time that he was eight years of age until he went into the service. He finished Floydada High school in 1941.

Goofy, am I?

Go ahead—that's your privilege—thinking I'm just plain hipped on everlastingly keeping this engine's insides OIL-PLATED with Conoco Nth oil. Maybe there is and maybe there isn't sixty other ways that would have kept engine acids from raising Ned with this pre-Pearl Harbor limousine. But one thing I know is this: it's still running swell on nothing but Conoco Nth motor oil. You needn't be a scientist to know that acids from every explosion are forever trying to spoil an engine. Looks like the proper idea is to try blockading those acids by getting your engine OIL-PLATED. I learned there's a modern synthetic in Conoco Nth oil that reminds you of magnetism, because it makes inside surfaces attract a shield of OIL-PLATING. Acids can't so easily tear right into this. Then your OIL-PLATED engine has an extra chance to last you. When new cars arrive, hurrah! But a real advanced improvement right now is to switch to Conoco Nth motor oil, see.

MUSICIAN FORSAKES CAREER JOINS CADET NURSE CORPS

Forsaking a musical career, Louise Homer Stires, Lake George, N. Y., 22-year-old granddaughter of Mrs. Louise Homer, has joined the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps to make her contribution to the war effort. The Cadet Nurse corps appealed to Louise because it provided maintenance, tuition, fees, books, housing and outdoor uniforms and a monthly spending allowance in return for a pledge to remain in nursing either essential civilian or military, for the duration of the war.

In the mating season, the Purple Finch picks up a straw with his bill and handles it like a drum major in intricate maneuvers calculated to impress the chick of his choice. At the conclusion of his dance he falls dead as a 'possum—a bid for sympathy, to which the female responds by pecking at him until he gets up.

Plane Crash—

(Continued from first page) Joe Arnold, Mrs. W. C. Cowan, Jr. and Mrs. Lloyd Evans of Tulla. Masonic Rites At Grave Colors of McDermitt post, American Legion, and of Company G, Texas State guard, with color guards, had places at the funeral rites. Burial was with Masonic rites with Floydada Lodge A. F. & A. M. in charge. The deceased was a member of this lodge as well as of Khiva Shrine. Dale's body was escorted to Floydada by Flight Officer Norman C. Winchester, of Nashville, who was his roommate. Practically every business in the community was closed during the funeral hour out of respect to the deceased member of the community's business family. At the time of his death Flight Officer Strickland was owner of the Dale Strickland Butane company which Buck Hickerson continues as manager. Harold Dale Strickland was born at Wolfe City, Texas, on February 18, 1912, and the family moved to Floyd county in 1919. He went into business with his father in 1930, after finishing high school and studying at Texas Tech. In 1939, when his father died, he took over the business, an oil distributorship. In 1940 he resigned from this agency and went into the butane business.

Flying Club Member Dale was one of five organizers of the Floydada Flying club in February of 1941 and he had several hundred hours in the air in the club's light plane before he volunteered as a civilian instructor for the army air corps in March of 1942. Shortly after his appointment as flight commander there he became a member of the army air corps reserve and entered the service in March of this year. Graduating from Randolph field as a flight officer on August 4, he was assigned to the ferrying group of the Air Transport command on August 9, at Nashville, where his fatal crash occurred.

He was married to Miss Lula Marjorie Conner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Conner, of Tulla, on January 2, 1944. He is survived by his widow, his mother, Mrs. G. R. Strickland, a sister, Mrs. E. C. Carter and two brothers, Herwin of Vernon and Reid of Dallas. The latter is pilot for one of the airlines operating out of that city. His grandmother, Mrs. Dollie Stone, of this city, also survives.

Out-of-town relatives attending the funeral included Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Stone and daughter, Mrs. Ruth Howell, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Stone and son Gene, all of Clovis, New Mexico, and Ed Davis and son of Wolfe City. Relatives of Mrs. Strickland who were present for the last rites were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Conner, of Tulla, an uncle, J. B. Conner and Mrs. Conner of Phoenix, Arizona; her grandmother, Mrs. A. C. Wimberly, and an aunt, Mrs. J. A. Oden, of Carlsbad, New Mexico, an aunt, Mrs. Carl Wimberly of Silverton and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wimberly of Vega.

The Dale Strickland Butane company, headed by the stricken flyer, and managed since his absence from home by Buck Hickerson, will continue to operate as before, an announcement by Mr. Hickerson said yesterday. "The only change will be in that of ownership, Mrs. Strickland succeeding her husband in this capacity," said Mr. Hickerson.

The most northern point of the United States is in Minnesota. IN SPITE OF WAR Italy—One Saturday, under a thick smoke screen laid protectively over the beach, American Red Cross workers went out to gather red and white roses. After a ten-minute drive that actually took two hours, they returned just in time for an air-raid alert, unloaded the flowers by the dim light of one hooded candle, and wrapped them in dampened sheets to keep them fresh over night. The next morning, with the help of the chaplain, the Red Cross girls distributed the flowers to the patients at the 38th Evacuation hospital. It was Mother's Day on the Anzio Beachhead.

BUSINESS AIN'T A PINK TEA

Do you work vigorously! If you are going to be more than a name on a payroll, put a certain amount of vigor in the way you do your work! Tom Shevlin said that in playing football the main thing is to go crazy. Two good men can handle any sane man, but it takes five men to hold a crazy one. The idea is worth fooling with! If you aren't going places in this world as you planned, if you've stood still for a decade or more, if you long for hollyhocks of your own—it might be a good idea to treat that job of yours as though it was your own business—love the d—n thing lick it, master it, make it say uncle,—edge slightly over on the crazy side—and make up your mind about the hollyhocks. Will you have them on each side of your front door—or only in the corners of your acre? It's got to be decided by you!

THE AMERICAN HEROES

In raw red fields where no flowers grow. Are stark white crosses, row on row Gave up their all in war's mad strife. There were no flowers upon their tier— But we thing the Angels shed a tear, And God, as He sat on His great white throne, Looked down upon them and called them his own. They are unsung heroes in unknown graves. But they died, as Christ did, the world to save.

Xmas Mailing—

(Continued from First page) important they are for the happiness of the armed forces. Too frequently, nothing can be done. I am sorry that anyone ever mentioned that the size of a shoe box is the approximate limit for packages intended for gift mailing overseas. Unhappily many people became convinced that a shoe box is the best possible container. We must be mindful that these gifts must travel far, with shipping space crowded. If the gifts are to be protected in transit they must be packed in boxes made of metal, wood, solid fiberboard, or strong double-faced corrugated fiberboard, reinforced with strong gummed paper tape or tied with strong twine. If both tape and strong twine are used, so much the better. If the outer wrapper is crushed—and this is likely to happen—the loss of contents may be prevented if fiberboard boxes are wrapped in heavy paper.

We were unable to deliver many parcels which families and friends sent to men and women overseas last year because they were crushed in transit and the gift and the outside wrapper became separated. We would have been able to make delivery if the address had been shown on the inside wrapper. We advise that everyone write the address of the sender and addressee inside the package as well as outside.

Christmas gifts mean much to our people overseas. Because strong twine, heavy paper and boxes and fiberboard will prove of real help in making delivery of gifts possible I urge those at home to begin saving these materials now. As time goes on they are going to become even more scarce than ever. Among the most important rules for Christmas mailings to the armed forces overseas are the following: The parcel must not exceed five pounds, and must not be more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined. It should be marked Christmas parcel so that it may be given special attention to assure its arrival before December 25.

Not more than one parcel may be mailed in any one week to the same member of the armed forces by or in behalf of the same mailer. When combination packages are made up of such items as miscellaneous toilet articles, hard candies, soaps, etc., the contents should be tightly packed so that they will not become loosened in transit and damage the contents or the cover. Hard candies, nuts, caramels (including those covered with chocolate), cookies, fruit cake, and chocolate bars individually wrapped in waxed paper should be enclosed in inner boxes of wood, metal, or card board. Perishable goods, such as fruits and vegetables that may spoil, are prohibited. Intoxicants, inflammable materials such as matches or lighter fluids, poisons, and anything that may damage other mail also are prohibited. Gifts enclosed in glass should be substantially packed to avoid breakage. Sharp instruments, such as razors and knives, should have their edges and points protected so that they cannot cut through the coverings and injure postal personnel or damage other packages. Relatives and friends who know that the personnel in the armed services to whom they plan to send gifts are at far distant points should begin to mail their packages on the opening day—September 15—of the mailing period. Last year late mailings causing concentration of great numbers of packages in the final days of the mailing period, threatened to defeat the program. It is stressed that success can be assured, with the limited personnel and facilities available, only if the public gives full cooperation through prompt mailings of the overseas gift parcels from the opening of the mailing period.

MUSICIAN FORSAKES CAREER JOINS CADET NURSE CORPS

Forsaking a musical career, Louise Homer Stires, Lake George, N. Y., 22-year-old granddaughter of Mrs. U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps to make her contribution to the war effort.

The Cadet Nurse corps appealed to Louise because it provided maintenance, tuition, fees, books, hospital and outdoor uniforms and a monthly spending allowance in return for a pledge to remain in nursing either essential civilian or military, for the duration of the war.

In the mating season, the Purple Finch picks up a straw with his bill and handles it like a drum major in intricate maneuvers calculated to impress the chick of his choice. At the conclusion of his dance he falls dead as a "possum—a bid for sympathy, to which the female responds by pecking at him until he gets up.

Masonic Rites At Grave
Colors of McDermitt post, American Legion, and of Company G, Texas State guard, with color guards, had places at the funeral rites. Burial was with Masonic rites with Floydada Lodge A. F. & A. M. in charge. The deceased was a member of this lodge as well as of Khiva Shrine.

Dale's body was escorted to Floydada by Flight Officer Norman C. Winchester, of Nashville, who was his roommate.

Practically every business in the community was closed during the funeral hour out of respect to the deceased member of the community's business family. At the time of his death Flight Officer Strickland was owner of the Dale Strickland Butane company which Buck Hickerson continues as manager.

Harold Dale Strickland was born at Wolfe City, Texas, on February 16, 1912, and the family moved to Floyd county in 1919. He went into business with his father in 1930, after finishing high school and studying at Texas Tech. In 1939, when his father died, he took over the business, an oil distributorship. In 1940 he resigned from this agency and went into the butane business.

Flying Club Member

Dale was one of five organizers of the Floydada Flying club in February of 1941 and had several hundred hours in the air in the club's light plane before he volunteered as a civilian instructor for the army air corps in March of 1942. Shortly after his appointment as flight commander there he became a member of the army air corps reserve and entered the service in March of this year. Graduating from Randolph field as a flight officer on August 4, he was assigned to the ferrying group of the Air Transport command on August 9, at Nashville, where his fatal crash occurred.

He was married to Miss Lula Marjorie Conner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Conner, of Tulla, on January 2, 1944. He is survived by his widow, his mother, Mrs. G. R. Strickland, a sister, Mrs. E. C. Carter and two brothers, Herwin of Vernon, and Reid of Dallas. The latter is pilot for one of the air lines operating out of that city. His grandmother, Mrs. Dollie Stone, of this city, also survives.

Out-of-town relatives attending the funeral included Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Stone and daughter, Mrs. Ruth Howell, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Stone and son Gene, all of Clovis, New Mexico, and Ed Davis and son of Wolfe City. Relatives of Mrs. Strickland who were present for the last rites were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Conner, of Tulla, an uncle, J. B. Conner and Mrs. Conner of Phoenix, Arizona; her grandmother, Mrs. A. C. Wimberly, and an aunt, Mrs. J. A. Oden, of Carlsbad, New Mexico, an aunt, Mrs. Carl Wimberly of Silverton and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wimberly of Vega.

Business Will Continue

The Dale Strickland Butane company, headed by the stricken flyer, and managed since his absence from home by Buck Hickerson, will continue to operate as before, an announcement by Mr. Hickerson said yesterday. "The only change will be in that of ownership, Mrs. Strickland succeeding her husband in this capacity," said Mr. Hickerson.

IN SPITE OF WAR

Italy—One Saturday, under a thick smoke screen laid protectively over the beach, American Red Cross workers went out to gather red and white roses. After a ten-minute drive that actually took two hours, they returned just in time for an air-raid alert, unloaded the flowers by the dim light of one hooded candle, and wrapped them in dampened sheets to keep them fresh over night.

The next morning, with the help of the chaplain, the Red Cross girls distributed the flowers to the patients at the 38th Evacuation hospital. It was Mother's Day on the Anzio Beachhead.

BUSINESS AIN'T A PINK TEA

Do you work vigorously! If you are going to be more than a name on a payroll, put a certain amount of vigor in the way you do your work!

Tom Shevlin said that in playing football the main thing is to go crazy. Two good men can handle any sane man, but it takes five men to hold a crazy one.

The idea is worth fooling with! If you aren't going places in this world as you planned, if you've stood still for a decade or more, if you long for hollyhocks of your own—it might be a good idea to treat that job of yours as though it was your own business—love the d—n thing lick it, master it, make it say uncle, edge slightly over on the crazy side—and make up your mind about the hollyhocks. Will you have them on each side of your front door—or only in the corners of your acre? It's got to be decided by you!

THE AMERICAN HEROES

In raw red fields where no flowers grow Are stark white crosses, row on row Gave up their all in war's mad strife. There were no flowers upon their bier— But we thing the Angels shed a tear, And God, as He sat on His great white throne, Locked down upon them and called them his own. They are unsung heroes in unknown graves. But they died, as Christ did, the world to save.

Xmas Mailing—

important they are for the happiness of the armed forces. Too frequently, nothing can be done.

I am sorry that anyone ever mentioned that the size of a shoe box is the approximate limit for packages intended for gift mailing overseas. Unhappily many people became convinced that a shoe box is the best possible container. We must be mindful that these gifts must travel far, with shipping space crowded. If the gifts are to be protected in transit they must be packed in boxes made of metal, wood, solid fiberboard, or strong double-faced corrugated fiberboard, reinforced with strong gummed paper tape or tied with strong twine.

If both tape and strong twine are used, so much the better. If the outer wrapper is crushed—and this is likely to happen—the loss of contents may be prevented if fiberboard boxes are wrapped in heavy paper.

We were unable to deliver many parcels which families and friends sent to men and women overseas last year because they were crushed in transit and the gift and the outside wrapper became separated. We would have been able to make delivery if the address had been shown on the inside wrapper. We advise that everyone write the address of the sender and addressee inside the package as well as outside.

Christmas gifts mean much to our people overseas. Because strong twine, heavy paper and boxes and fiberboard will prove of real help in making delivery of gifts possible I urge those at home to begin saving these materials now. As time goes on they are going to become even more scarce than ever.

Among the more important rules for Christmas mailings to the armed forces overseas are the following:

The parcel must not exceed five pounds, and must not be more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined. It should be marked Christmas parcel so that it may be given special attention to assure its arrival before December 25.

Not more than one parcel may be mailed in any one week to the same member of the armed forces by or in behalf of the same mailer.

When combination packages are made up of such items as miscellaneous toilet articles, hard candies, soaps, etc., the contents should be tightly packed so that they will not become loosened in transit and damage the contents or the cover. Hard candies, nuts, caramels (including those covered with chocolate), cookies, fruit cake, and chocolate bars individually wrapped in waxed paper should be enclosed in inner boxes of wood, metal, or cardboard.

Perishable goods, such as fruits and vegetables that may spoil, are prohibited. Intoxicants, inflammable materials such as matches or lighter fluids, poisons, and anything that may damage other mail also are prohibited. Gifts enclosed in glass should be substantially packed to avoid breakage. Sharp instruments, such as razors and knives, should have their edges and points protected so that they cannot cut through the coverings and injure postal personnel or damage other packages.

Relatives and friends who know that the personnel in the armed services to whom they plan to send gifts are at far distant points should begin to mail their packages on the opening day—September 15—of the mailing period. Last year late mailings causing concentration of great numbers of packages in the final days of the mailing period, threatened to defeat the program. It is stressed that success can be assured with the limited personnel and facilities available, only if the public gives full cooperation through prompt mailings of the overseas gift parcels from the opening of the mailing period.
