Utilities Co. Will Build Added Power Lines

Construction of a new high voltage electric transmission line some 25 miles in length is being projected by the Southwestern Public Service company, which has been granted priority by the War Production Board for the materials needed.

Construction, it was announced last week, will be from a point some seven miles west of Plainview to the Rural Electric co-operative station near Aiken, with a connection into Plainview where a new transformer bank and substation will be located. The new transformers are of the new type which automatically controls the output voltage depending upon the load.

The new transmission line will be a 60,000-volt line and will incorporate the new and modern H-type construction.

Two steel shield wires located above the main electrical conductors and strung between the pole tops, act much the same as lightning rods and will materially reduce line damage and outages due to lightning strokes. This new transmission will provide ample power for future growth and development of the area. This line will provide additional power for the Plainview, Aiken and Lockney area.

The company hopes to finish the new lines before the coming irrigation season opening in April. Estimated cost of the project is in excess of $100,000. Most of the material for the new construction had arrived last week, it was announced.

Invalidation Dates Set On Food Stamps

A new policy of definite invalidation dates for food ration stamps, with each series good for about four months, has been established, according to Opal L. Wood, District CPA Food Rationing Officer.

Continuing the present policy, a new series of red stamps for meat and dairy products and blue stamps for processed food will be validated each month. Instead of being good indefinitely, however, they will expire after about 16 weeks.

The same policy applies to expiration of sugar stamps. Stamp No. 34, the only one now valid, will expire February 28. Stamp No. 35 will become valid February 1, for five pounds of sugar.

Red stamps Q5, R5, and S5, which became valid December 3 will expire March 31. Blue stamps X5, Y5, Z5, A2, and B2 became valid December 1 and will expire March 31.

Hale Boys Meet In Philippines; Each Reports Other Doing Fine

The families of T/Sgt. J. S. Hale, and Pfc. Wayland Hale, both of the Army Air Corps, were pleased to learn recently that the brothers had an opportunity to visit each other.

Wayland Hale arrived in the Dutch East Indies sometime in December and immediately started making plans to visit J. S., also stationed in the Dutch East Indies. J. S. was moved to the Philippines before Wayland could see him, but arrangements were made for Way-

Switzer, Box 222, Floydada, Texas in front of their temporary home on the front in Germany. They are both members of the 78th (Lightning) division in Germany.

Last direct news Switzer's wife had from him was in a letter dated January 6 in which he said he was up in the line. Earl went into training in February of 1943 and left the American camp for overseas in October last.

His wife is the former Myrtle Coleman. They have been married seven years.

Earl has one brother Sgt. Meredith R. (Doc) Switzer who is in a tank outfit in England. Another brother, Bill, who lives at Starkey, and a brother-in-law who lives at Cone will join up sometime in February. Parents of the Switzer boys are Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Switzer, who live at Starkey. Members of the family know which army Earl is in but for security reasons it is not publicized.

Big Tax Rush Yesterday at Local Offices

Yesterday, last day for paying local ad valorem taxes without penalty, climaxed a busy week for tax collectors of the county, cities of Floydada and Lockney and the independent school districts.

Yesterday's rush had the force at the county collector's office pretty well swamped and tired by the end of the day, Mrs. Graham said.

With check-ups still in progress no figures were available as to total collections and per centages this morning.

Polio Campaign Continues Over Co. With Success

Floyd county churches, schools, clubs and individuals had paid in an amount above $1,000 to the funds of the chapter for the fight against infantile paralysis, according to incomplete figures made yesterday at noon by Garland G. Glover chairman of the campaign, which came to a climax nationally Tuesday night with parties and balls honoring the president on his 63rd birthday.

Yesterday it was indicated only partial reports had been made by most communities in the county. Mr. Glover expects to keep the campaign account open for several days, yet he said, probably until February 10 or there about. That the donations to the Floyd county fund would considerably exceed the total of last year's drive is certain, he said. Communities, churches, schools, clubs and civic organizations are joining in wholeheartedly.

At South Plains Boy Scout Troop No. 31 was assigned the work of contacting the people of the community, and in addition to a box supper given at the school auditorium, made personal contacts to recruit a total of $125.00. W. C. Plumlee, member of the Boy Scout troop committee, on behalf of the boys this week expressed appreciation for the hearty response. Mose Damron, principal of South Plains school, is Scoutmaster of Troop No. 31.

Funeral efforts at Cedar were centered in a box-supper, arranged for by Mrs. Pearl Childress, Miss Eloise Langley and Joe Fortenberry on Friday night.

Clarence Ginn and Johnnie Lackey served as auctioneers, and Mr. and Mrs. Robin Fortenberry were among those active in staging the successful gathering. The proceeds for the infantile paralysis fund were $85.85.

Yesterday at noon Blanco with $20, Edgin with $27 and Center and Liberty were among the communities from which churches, clubs or assemblies had made partial reports. Chairman Garland G. Glover said.

Reports with funds have also come in from Fairview, Lakeview, Sand Hill, Prairie Chapel, Baker, Harmony, Dougherty and Campbell, and others. Mr. Glover said, to bring the total, with what was reported last week, to a figure above $1,000.

Crabtree House On North Highway Burned Monday

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Crabtree three miles north of Floydada on the Silverton highway, was destroyed by fire Monday shortly after noon and with it practically all the household effects of the W. P. Neff family who have occupied the residence since September last.

Mr. and Mrs. Crabtree went to Amarillo to make their home temporarily last fall and work in the ordinance plant, leasing to the Neffs. Origin of the fire was not learned by Chief Carl Rodgers of Floydada Fire department, who with members of the department made a run to the fire too late to be of service.

This Service Man's Hesperian Beat All The Other Mail Thru

Roy Burrows Writes The Folks From France He's a Busy Man

Hundreds of Floyd county servicemen in foreign parts of the globe will be interested to learn that at least one of their number got his Hesperian before he got any other mail. In fact a Hesperian he received after landing in France was the first mail that any of his company received from anywhere.

Word The Hesperian office has been getting from other sources in general has been somewhat different in some instances very different.

Pfc. Roy W. Burrows who is in the Quartermaster corps working at one of the rail heads in France in a letter written on January 22 said the first mail he or any of his company received from home was a Hesperian. "No letter yet," he says, "I got The Hesperian last week only by one in the company has gotten anything for over a month until yesterday."

"The Hesperian was read by fellows from states all over. That is a pretty good word for it. I don't see how it came through first but it did. Was first mail received in France by the company. Funny thing, it had two pictures on the front page taken in France. Looked familiar."

Roy adds that time is passing faster as he is working long hours and every day, and he sure stays busy. He thinks a little work won't hurt him since he is getting good food and rest.

Roy's letter was received here by his parents Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Burrows this week. Roy has been across for more than a year. He spent Christmas in England and it was after they moved across to France that his mail slowed up—all except the Hesperian.

Pfc. Burrows went into the service from Lubbock where his wife and three children still reside.

Longhorns Take Lead in District 3-A Basketball

Lockney Longhorns took the lead in District 3-A basketball Friday night of last week when they whipped the Whirlwinds' cagers of Floydada High school on their home court 23 to 18, to open the second half of the six-school round robin.

At the end of the first round the Longhorns and the Winds were tied for first place in the loop, each with four wins and one loss.

The Whirlwinds hung on to their second place rung on the ladder, however, Tuesday night by winning from Matador at Matador 28 to 23, while the Lockney cages were maintaining their winning gait by taking Spur 44 to 32.

No figures were available at this office or at high school this morning on the outcome of the four other games in the district and the standing today of the teams following Friday night's and Tuesday night's schedules.

Governor's Signature Yesterday To Teacher's Salary Raise Bill

Affixing of the governor's signature to the rural school teachers salary raise bill yesterday will mean more than $10,000 to Floyd county rural school teachers this year, according to figures made in the office of County Superintendent Clarence Guffee.

In addition benefits to the rural schools will include funds to help in tuition, transportation and general expenses, amounting probably to $30 per teacher per school.

Military Forces Get 23 More Men Here in January

In the month of January Floyd county sent 23 more men to the military forces of the nation, a large per cent of them from the farm.

These were inducted on January 22 at Fort Bliss, filling the county's call for January. They are as follows:

Henry E. Graham, Leighton O. Teeple, Floyd D. Box, Cecil Lee Coble, Frank A. Breed, William H. Finley, Jr., L. M. Powell, Jr., Bobby Leon Jones, Thomas Edwin Warren of Floydada;

Leon R. McCravy, J. W. Permenter, Clem Wilton Patterson, Geo. V. Wright, Billy Joe DuBois, Clemens M. Muse, Raymond Lee Parrish of Floydada;

J. T. Sanderson, John A. Damron, Cecil L. Carthel, Gene Harold Bell, Joel Dean Vance, Warren E. Thornton, of Lockney, and Wayne Carmickle, of Petersburg.

Of these six were assigned to service with the navy, according to the information returned to the Local board from the induction center. They were Teeple, Carthel, DuBois, Jones, Belt and Wright. The others went into the army.

Transfers to other boards for induction may account for a few more men for this county to get credit for in the January call, but official information of these will not be in the hands of the board here until they are processed through the state office, it was said at the office of the board when the list was released.

Leave Ungathered Crops

Several of the inductees included in the January call from this county left ungathered crops in the fields, which will be finished by other members of their families as time and weather will permit. Fall and winter weather conditions have been unfavorable for harvest and deferments given to finish the farm jobs were of little value to the inductees on this account, it was said.

OLD-AGE AND SURVIVORS' INSURANCE QUESTIONS

Question No. 3
"What does a person have to do to come into this system?"

He must work in a job that comes under the law that is in a factory, mill, shop, mine, store, filling station, cafe, hotel, theatre, laundry or some other business or industry and he must get a Social Security Account Number card to make certain that his wages are properly credited. After the worker obtains an account number, the Social Security board sets up an individual account for him. Every time his employer reports a certain amount of wage earnings for him, these wages are credited to the worker's Social Security account. Later on when the time comes for the payment of benefits this account will be used as the basis upon which the insurance payments are calculated.

Next week's question will be on voluntary participation under the old-age and survivors insurance program.

STILL BATTING THEIR GUMS

There isn't going to be any let-up in the quarrel down Austin way over the University of Texas regents and faculty squabble for awhile. The ex-students' association, the former president, Homer P. Rainey, many of the church folks, and others with angles on the matter are determined to keep up the hubbub, which may be fully justified, but which is somewhat unfortunate, we think, at least irritating.

One of the latest to say something about the matter declares it is his opinion that Governor Stevenson is falling to solve the University of Texas problem. Appointments of regents, awaiting confirmation by the senate, has displeased this man, who is president of the ex-students association. He told this to an investigating committee of the powerful accrediting committee of the Southern Association of colleges.

The probers, a committee of five, were in Texas for several days. The

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)

Mrs. Paul Looney of Floydada sends me two original poems which would be very nice to clip and send to friends when something special is wanted.

You
I heard of a nice lovely someone, you;
I then met a mighty sweet someone, you;
And, I shall remember a darling someone, you!

A Bulwark of Love

I am glad you are my mother
For what you are to me
I am glad you are my mother
For love that made me see
To see all things in the right light
Anything that might bother;
That problem can be solved right
Because of you and father.
Thank you very much Mrs. Looney, for the poems and the nice things you said to me.

Last week was very full. Mrs. Temple Anne Ellis, a sister of Mr. Spikes, came and brought a brother, Fred Spikes, of Lubbock, and a relative, George Carter of Ropesville. What a time these old friends of childhood had together as Frank Pox, a cousin, is also here! I cooked old fashioned dishes, shortenin' bread, backbones, turnips and baked chess pies which helped them to feel more like children again. Old jokes were retold, pranks played in memory, kin, long at rest, were talked of softly and tenderly. I sat on the side lines as I never lived in Kaufman County, but I enjoyed it all.

As sunshine skips over the land on a partly cloudy day, followed by shadows, the sunshine of the mid-week was followed by the shadow of death, for Aunt Sadie's eyelids were drawn over her soft brown eyes for the last time and her work-worn hands with the narrow gold band on her finger, at rest after years of ceaseless doing for others.

She was my mother's sister and governor is not appointing anybody but the "same class" he always appointed, said the ex-students' president. What this "class" is he doesn't say. He does say, however, that the governor is drawing nearly all of his appointees from the ranks of the Texas Regulars and that he has passed over a number of prominent ex-students to appoint men who did not attend the University.

West Texas newspapermen who had begun to point with pride to the fact that David M. Warren, a newspaperman at Panhandle had been named to the board, will wonder if all of the appointees are of the same "class" as Warren, and if so, what is the matter with them. Some how we had thought Warren was all right, just plum right.

she married my father's brother and when I was a child I loved her dearly. On through the years passed I have loved her and now.

Her loving heart knew the bitterness of tears over the loss of Hardy and Mary and Uncle Jim, but she remembered and told with laughter the funny things that happened as life was lived, all the cute things that the children of the families said. She knew the hard work of pioneer life, the loneliness that all pioneer women knew, but she also enjoyed the picnics and the day visiting in a neighbor's home. She loved, all the children, never got tired of them combing and twisting up her hair, sitting in her broad lap before she grew so thin. Her many good deeds lighted the world she live in as the oil lamp lighted her way to bed at night after a hard day's washing. Folks were not "bad" to her, they were only "off" their way and only needed to be shown the right road.

Tenderly she and her son, Ernest cared for the sick negro boy who was working for them and his parents and friends so far away. "Why don't you send him to town?" friends urged, but Aunt Sadie knew he would die that way and the boy's mother blessed her and we heard a voice, "In as much as ye have done it for the lowliest, ye have done it for Me."

Oh, dear Aunt, many times I shall be a-remembering the good table you set. The broad pink slices of ham, the big black pot filled with tender green beans, the peach cobbler that melted like sugared snow in one's mouth. The fat feather bed will be in my mind, the long cool milk trough with creamy jars of sweet milk and rich cream and smooth butter milk. The bowls of yellow butter and the bowls of red, red plum jelly. But the most and best I will be a-remembering will be the gay happy laugh with your pink cheeks dimpling and your brown eyes shining. The love you gave me will keep my heart warm when trouble comes to me and the life example you set will guide me to the place of rest where you have gone. Goodbye now, the separation is only for a time.

But life is sweet, though all that makes it sweet
Lessen like sound of friend's departing feet;
And death is bountiful as feet of friend
Coming with welcome at our journeys end.

SPARE THE BUTTER

The custom of eating gravy on one's bread has been vigorously revived since butter became scarce. It makes that delicious meat flavor go farther too. To go one better—serve rich luscious gravy on fresh hot biscuits and for extra-tender, flaky biscuits, make them with lard.

Methodist Notes, Aiken District

The weather was bad Sunday morning and some of the Carr's Chapel people said that they were not looking for the pastor; but he was the first man there except the janitor. Don't you doubt this pastor's attendance unless he is providentially hindered. Being on the spot is where I shine though we confess inefficiency after arrival.

I'm glad I was there because we had a good attendance; and very fine services morning and evening. Such a good work had been done in securing subscriptions to the Southwestern Advocate. Eighteen subscriptions had been received and cash to pay all. They were working for a subscription for every active family; and I believe they got them. Many thanks to these good people. If they keep doing things like they have started off you will see good results in the very near future.

Then the offering to the Methodist home had increased from 65.00 to 78.00 thus making a total for the charge 179.00. I started to work for

It is alright to do this work in such a Christian way and spirit; but we hope none of the Methodists in Aiken circuit attended the dance. Too much room for evil croppings at a dance. King Herod gave a Birthday Party and permitted dancing at it; an evil spirit caused him to admire a dancing girl and he made a promise that he would not have made under other conditions. Rather than break this promise he murdered John the Baptist. If a King could thus be influenced by the dance; how much more might the people who are so frivolously minded as to turn to the dance at such a serious time as this. While our boys fighting and dying over seas, people at home dancing. May the Lord help us all to draw closer to Him.

Next Sunday at Aiken and Bellevue.

Insurance Fire!!!

We have been quietly going about our own business of building a strong co-operative Farmers Union Fire Insurance Company in this part of the state, that is on a state-wide and national basis, that guarantees farmers protection on their property for about one-half the regular, old-line rate. Some of the old line salesmen have been very, very nice to me but others of them ride me pretty strong, and as usual don't think farmers have sense enough to organize and run their own company.

I think the reason they are after me is because of the personal gain they think I am taking away from them and not because they think there is anything wrong with our company. If there is any other reason get them to put it in writing and sign their name to it.

I know and they know that I can't make a living writing cooperative Farmers Union Fire Insurance. They won't write it for the same reason. Now I make my living FARMING and I am not going to take advantage of them. We have some of the finest sandy land in the world and two irrigation wells. Marvin Jones, last Sunday night in Washington, said we were 5 million farmers short and that we were liable to run short of food, and he was begging us to grow more truck gardens.

Now there is not an old line fire insurance salesman in Floydada but would admit that he could handle all of his competitors' business. I believe everyone reading this will agree that it would be better to grow some more food than to beg farmers to insure their property with them at the identical same old double price rate.

Now, if there is anyone of you boys that wishes to get right, I'll rent, lease or let you have any amount of fine, sandy land that you can work and guarantee you the irrigation water when you want it to grow food for our soldier boys and your own people in town who need it. I'll get you a permit to sell Farmers Union Fire Insurance to your customers at your spare time.

After the war is over if you find that you haven't done the right thing you will be welcome to go back to asking the public to give you a free ticket again. If you don't want to work my land, there are hundreds of farmers in this section that will beg you to help them at high wages.

Yours truly,

CEH Farm-Ed Holmes

Business Loans To Service Men Are Explained

DALLAS, Jan. 29—The necessary machinery for processing applications by veterans of World War II for business loans under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944 (G. I. Bill of Rights) has been set up in the Dallas Loan Agency of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. L. B. Glidden, manager of the local agency announced today.

Mr. Glidden's statement followed an announcement from Washington, D. C. that the Veterans Administration had designated the Reconstruction Finance Corporation as an agency to review applications to banks for veterans for the guaranty of business loans. Under the program, the RFC will recommend to the appropriate office of the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs whether that office should approve or disapprove such applications.

One-Half Guaranteed

Loans applied for may be used in purchasing any business, supplies, equipment, machinery or tools to be used by the veterans in pursuing a particular occupation. The government may guarantee repayment of such loans to the extent of 50 per cent, but not in an amount exceeding $2,000 as its maximum guaranty. The veteran who qualifies for a business loan may obtain a guaranty for 50 per cent of any loan up to $4,000. He may, of course, obtain from his banker a loan of greater amount, for instance, $6,000, but the guaranty is limited to $2,000. In loans of less than $4,000 the Government guarantees half; in a $3,000 loan the guaranty amounts to $1,500, not more.

Steps To Be Taken

Mr. Glidden outlined the following essential steps for veterans desiring guaranteed business loans:

1. The veteran should first contact his local banker.
2. If the veteran is unable to obtain a loan from his local banker, he should then apply to his nearest R. F. D. Loan Agency for a loan. The address of the appropriate agency of this region is 301 Cotton Exchange Building, Dallas 1, Texas.
3. Banks desiring to assist veterans in this program may obtain the necessary regulations and loan application blanks from the local regional office of the Veterans Administration, Mr. Glidden said.
4. The requirements of the Law are that the veteran must be found qualified by training or experience to engage in the type of business for which he seeks a loan, the property to be acquired is reasonable in price and suited to its intended use, and that the venture is likely to succeed.

Guard Against Inexperience

Since the act does not provide for loans to run businesses, the lender wants to know whether the veteran has sufficient funds for this purpose, as well as ability, dependability, business experience, and business character, to assume a reasonable likelihood that the veteran's contemplated operations will be successful. The lender will also want to know whether the veteran has engaged in such business before entering the service and the nature of his previous experience and training.

Veterans are well advised to be guard against fraudulent or abrupt propositions and careful of exhortations. With the aid of the banker who is schooled in such matters, veterans should investigate very carefully all propositions presented to them. There are many pitfalls, difficulties and hard work in operating one's own business.

WILL GETTING CHRISTMAS CARDS IN JANUARY, W. R. DANIEL WRITES HIS MOTHER

W. R. Daniel, like other soldiers, enjoys getting mail very much. On January 15 letter, received recently, indicating he is thrilled over getting so many Christmas cards, arriving long after Christmas. "I will thank them all," he said.

Carl Daniels of South Plains has treated his cattle for grubs. He states that the 458 head were run through the chute in a much shorter time than he thought was possible.

Two men dusted the backs of the cattle faster than I could vaccinate them," he said. Fifty pounds of grub dope was used on the herd. Mr. Daniels plans to repeat the treatment in thirty days.

Bill Beedy of South Plains also treated his herd for grubs a few days ago. The dope for treating cattle can be bought in Floydada for 17½¢ per pound. One pound will treat ten to 15 animals.

H. R. Leaverton is the first World War II veteran to buy a farm in Floyd County. He is now located one mile north and one half mile west of Sterley on a farm recently purchased from Cecil Hagood. Mr. Leaverton was in several major engagements in the Pacific. He is a native Texan. Mrs. Leaverton is a former resident of Arkansas. This former couple is entering into a new enterprise with great enthusiasm. "We've got a lot of work to do to make a home out of this place," Mrs. Leaverton said, and "I'll wager they do it. Henry Schacht who is a member of the Veterans Advisory Committee has been assisting the Leavertons in this capacity."

Harvey Dale Tardy a member of the McCoy 4-H Club is doing a remarkable job with his pig project. He recently bought a pig to feed for the spring show. When the pig was 101 days old it weighed 102 pounds. If he keeps gaining so rapidly he will weigh about 260 pounds at six months of age. The pig is getting whole milk and protein supplement free choice, and Harvey Dale feeds a wet mash of ground milo and milk twice each day. The pig was given a worm pill two weeks after weaning and is treated twice each month to eliminate the lice.

Mange is very prevalent in hogs all over the county. The best way to eliminate this parasite is the proper use of lime sulphur, which can be bought already prepared.

Bill Buth is a new resident of the Providence Community, coming from Oklahoma. He plans to plant some Mung beans on soil that needs to be built up. The Mung beans should prove to be a good soil builder for this county and the beans will be a source of cash income for the grower.

Ben Quebe of Providence harvested 50 bushels of Caprock Milo per acre as compared to 34 bushels of Martin Milo. The two crops were planted at the same time and received the same cultivation and irrigation. Seed from this crop will be available in Lockney.

Some cast iron cooking ware is on the market now but most of it is unseasoned and this job must be done in the kitchen.

This task is simple, even if it is new to most homemakers, says Bernice Claytor, specialist in home management for the A. and M. College Extension service. Before the war manufacturers seasoned practically all iron cooking ware at the factory, and it was ready for use as soon as it was washed. Failure to season iron utensils causes food to stick to the metal.

Mrs. Claytor recommends this procedure for seasoning iron utensils: First rub the inside with some unsalted fat such as vegetable oil, suet, or lard. Then heat it for several hours, either over low heat on top of the stove or in the oven. Rub off the fat with absorbent paper or a clean, dry cloth, and let the utensil cool. Do not wash it. Next day, the specialist advises, repeat the same treatment. The first few times you use your iron utensil, cook only fresh meat or bread in it. Clean it by rubbing it with paper or cloth, but not with soap and water. Finally, when the fat has been worked in thoroughly, the metal is seasoned and can be washed or not. When it is stored however, it should be coated with unsalted fat and left uncovered to prevent rusting.

Cast iron discolors most acid foods but this discoloration is harmless. Tomatoes, for example, which have turned brownish from cooking in an iron pan are wholesome but are less attractive in color and flavor.

War-wear vacuum cleaners should not be forced to inhale string, pins, hairpins, tacks, or other stray bits of metal or cloth, says household equipment specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Metal bits may puncture the dust bag, and, in a revolving brush or agitator type of vacuum cleaner, may cut the belt or nick or bend the fan blades. String or cloth may wind around the belt pulley or revolving cylinder, sometimes breaking the belt or making it slip so that it wears out rapidly.

A little time spent in hand picking such litter from rugs and floors before running the vacuum may save the cleaner and the time, trouble and expense of repairs.

Electricity Puts Finger on 'Em

Technology is entering a stellar age, partly according to law enforcement officials, to an expansion of the use of electricity in detection. Utilized by the FBI, state police and municipal police and intelligence departments, electrical applications in the crime detection include: Red ray—Retouch artists—grafters—specializing in the retouching of paintings—must beware of red light. The days when an artist like Rembrandt, 1645, could due partly to infra-red rays usually would add varnish to give the appearance of age, and perhaps even the characteristic signature of the infra-red bores down the surface covering, revealing the underneath layer. Infra-red photography also can reveal numbers on currency and other securities.

In Sabotage Cases
Photography or radio permits examination of suspected paint samples, especially paint samples of suspected sabotage or fraud. The X-ray frequently is used to determine imperfections or welds. For instance, in a case involving an electric control cable to operate gun turrets on a ship, X-ray revealed that the cable had been short-circuited by pieces of sharpened metal had been driven through the metal casing of the cable.

Violet Ray—Certain materials exposed to this ray will glow. The light has been extinguished by the use of extinguishers. The ray is used extensively in photography and makes possible detection of chemicals used in altering prints or checks.

Explosion and Theft Alarms—These are signals to watchmen or when unlawful entry occurs. Prompt removal of valuable items takes place. Among the latest electronic alarms are photo systems, ultra-high-frequency systems, capacity controlled wires, and light contact switch-in conjunction with wired-radio.

Electronic Friskers
Metal Detectors—These are used for other things for spotting metals in the pockets of persons entering important buildings.

Also called metal spotters, electronic friskers and gun finders most types make use of the electric field in operating. Pole or field coils are set up in a way so that passersby must be in the magnetic field, thereby inducing lines of force.

Detectors—This device is utilized to detect deception in spoken words. One of the best known is the electronic crime detector. Its technical name is the polygraphometer.

Spectrographic Analysis—A spectrograph enables the operator to identify a substance in a carbon arc. The spectrum of the light given off is thrown upon a photographic plate and photographed. In the case of any particular mineral substance, the lines for each one fall at the same place in the spectrum each time. The examiner identifies the position of the lines, thus can achieve an analysis of the material burned.

In Hit-and-Run Cases
This makes possible analyzing the whole of metallic constituents of unknown specimens, is used in detecting traces of metallic impurities in various substances, lends itself to testing the purity of certain materials, and shows when minute particles of metal are present on a knife blade or the prongs of a wire cutter.

This type of examination is used often and successfully in investigating cases of "breaking and entering" and sabotage and in hit-and-run cases when small particles of paint are left in the clothing or on vehicles which figured in the accident.

Every American merchant ship is required to have at least one box kite on board, and all United States Maritime Service cadets are required to learn how to operate them. The standard kite can lift a 15-gauge piano wire 2,000 feet into the air, providing ideal protection from dive bombing or strafing.

It has been estimated that a large American passenger line uses nearly one pound of rope per gross ton a year, or 22,000 pounds for a 23,000 gross ton liner. Cargo ships use about one-third more for their proportionate size.

Patron: This isn't a portrait of me it's a picture of a Westchester roadhouse. What's the idea?
Artist: Don't get excited, I strive for the natural—you're inside getting a drink.

Patron: Well, I'll pay you when I come out.

Police Chief: What! You mean to say this fellow choked a woman to death in a cabaret in front of 200 people and nobody interfered?
Cop: Yes, Cap. Everybody thought they were dancing.

Lively Interest In Nutrition and Proper Feeding

Pronounced interest in the lecture of Dr. J. B. Johnston, student of nutrition and feeding as applied to the livestock and poultry industries, was shown Thursday night of last week by representative attendance from practically all sections of the county of live stock and poultry feeders. The county court room was comfortably full of interested listeners.

The specialist was presented by D. W. Fyffe of the D. W. Fyffe Seed company under the sponsorship. However, his talk was on feeding and proper nutrition and not as representing a feed company.

How to get the highly specialized feeds of the present day to the highly specialized animals of the present day to best advantage was the gist of the talk made by the lecturer. Many feeds which apparently should get the results sought are failing to do so, the lecturer said, because nature's ways are not being followed. This is especially true, he said, as regards the synthetics which are being introduced into feeds.

Ottawa, Ontario, Canada. The general theme for the Institute programs is "New Forces in World Affairs," discussed under the following titles: "Russia's Position—East and West," "Australia, New Zealand and the Islands of the South Pacific," and "The Role of the North American Continent."

Mrs. Fitch will open the series of four Institute programs at the high school auditorium on February 20, speaking on "The New China in the New Pacific." The other three programs are scheduled on successive Tuesday nights for a total of four. J. M. Willson chairman of the International service committee of the club, said yesterday that there will be no charge for persons under 21 to attend the series of lectures. Advance sale of season tickets has been started. The cost of the lectures, with dates in at least four towns in West Texas, will be low enough, he said, that a season ticket can be sold for 75 cents to hear all four of the lectures.

The speakers engaged are recommended as outstandingly interesting personages who are well-versed in the subjects which they will present.

Underground Priest

Known as the "underground priest" because his work as a seismologist keeps him in the subterranean seismograph chambers at Fordham University, Father John Joseph Lynch is shown above. Although his instruments register an average of three earthquakes weekly, there have been only a few really serious ones in the last forty years. Worst was the Japanese earthquake of 1923, which took 150,000 lives.

Lauds Stapleton As Good Officer

Praise for the able manner in which he has carried on his duties, resulting in his recent promotion to the rank of captain, is given Captain John B. Stapleton in a recent letter received by his wife here from Robt. H. Alexander, captain in the same unit serving in the Southwest Pacific Theatre of war. Captain Alexander is a chaplain. Says he in part:

Captain Stapleton has served as Battalion Intelligence officer Battery executive and Battery commander. At present he is Battalion Intelligence officer. Each office held by Captain Stapleton has been of great importance to the organization and he has functioned in a superior manner. As intelligence officer he has thought in terms of the welfare of every person in the battalion.

He is understanding, possesses a pleasing personality and is able to solve many problems which arise in the organization. As a result of his untiring efforts his loyalty and his sincere procedure and ability to understand the soldiers and give solutions to their problems, he has gained for himself the highest respect of the officers and enlisted men of this command. I am convinced beyond a shadow of a doubt that he is an officer and a gentleman of the first magnitude.

In keeping with his civilian occupation, he is the Battalion Trial Judge advocate. I have had the opportunity of sitting in on many of his cases and my observations reveal that he is capable and fair in all of his judgments. Without Captain Stapleton, this organization would be minus one of the best officers that has ever served the unit during its history.

The contributions of Captain Stapleton are a creditable reflection on the democratic principles of our government; I am sure if we had more officers of his caliber in the United States army, we would have far less problems.

Burrell Tipton In Hot Battle on Saipan Island

Cpl. Burrell A. Tipton, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Tipton of Matador, was a member of a crew of two Marine tanks that knocked out five Jap tanks in five minutes during the battle for Saipan island, according to Army announcement from somewhere in the Pacific. The Marine tanks were firing at enemy infantrymen dug in caves in a rock quarry when the five Jap tanks attacked from the side. Although the Japs fired first, they did not score a major hit on the Marines.

Tipton enlisted in March, 1942, and left for overseas duty in October, 1942. He was graduated from Matador High school in May, 1936, and was a printer before enlisting. He is a brother of Mrs. Douglas Meador of Matador.

Portrait of a man cashing in his War Bonds

BEFORE YOU decide to cash that War Bond—wait a minute.
For the last 3 years, you've been buying Bonds steadily—saving part of every dollar you earned.
You've formed the habit of saving.
You've been accumulating money against unforeseen troubles or a time of need.
You've been working to build up a nest egg—and by golly, you've got Uncle Sam helping you do it! Every time you put in $3, he will make it $4—if you hold your Bond to maturity.
You've been laying aside money to help safeguard your job after the war, and help guarantee a healthy, prosperous Country for us all.
You've been helping to fight inflation and to keep prices down.
Last, but by no means least, you've been sending your dollars into the fight—backing up G. I. Joe.
You don't want to undo all you've done. It just isn't smart. To say that it's cutting off your own nose is to put it very, very mildly.
DON'T cut off your own nose. Hang on to your War Bonds. Hang on to them till they come due—and meantime, buy some more!

Confusion Likely Prison Camps Red Cross

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—American prisoners of war in British camps on the line of the Soviet advance were moved to the center of Germany several days ago, Red Cross chairman O'Connor has announced.

Three camps already affected were to be located between Torun and Poland. One of the movement of one of the STALAG 357, was sent to in December. It is assumed that the STALAG XX-A and STALAG 64, have been moved to same manner.

The camps nearest Torun held British prisoners, but O'Connor contained at least a thousand Americans. A number of other camps for British and American in the path of the present

Officials state that undoubtedly prevails in the attempts to move large bodies who have first to be collected work detachments withdrawn from the base camp.

It is known that much hardship suffered by British and American who were moved last from STALAG LUFT VI northern Prussia to STALAG LUFT IV. These men will now have to be moved.

It has been made to send Red Cross supplies to Germany where the men taken and also to supply who may be liberated by the Allies.

Things To Remember

Prisoners are better treated in this war than any previous one. Conditions are not perfect but it's still much pleasanter to be a prisoner but mail from home and Red Cross food other relief supplies help things.

Local Red Cross chapters have prisoners of war committees to give information and advice to persons concerned about prisoners.

POWs represent an international diplomatic problem which no one nation or agency can control. Cooperation by civilians may help in securing additional advantages for prisoners.

The Red Cross is constantly doing everything in its power to reach every prisoner and internee to extend relief and encouragement.

RATION FREE SHOE SALE

Limited quantities of men's and women's shoes may be sold to consumers ration-free at specified price reductions during the two week period of February 19 through March 1, OPA announces. Two-fold purpose of the temporary ration holiday, OPA states, is to give consumers the benefit of extra shoe mileage that otherwise might remain unused on dealers' shelves and to help dealers clear their stocks of the normal accumulation of old and ends and broken sizes.

Before rationing, such shoes were normally disposed of in seasonal clearance sales. OPA estimates that about 4,500,000 pairs of shoes will be sold in this special ration-free sale.

Garth is a radioman and gunner on a B-26. He was burned about the head in an accident which he has not explained in letters to the family, probably for military reasons, they think.

He had been with the air force operating with the Ninth army, the family understood. He writes cheerful letters indicating he is convalescing satisfactorily.

Garth is a brother of Mrs. Jess Wright of this city.

Mrs. Allie Morse, of Buena Park, California, has been here since Friday of last week on a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Jess Wright and family, and with her sister, Mrs. Hal Thomas. She will visit here for several days.

Has Confidence He Can Make It

"Well I am somewhere in Germany in a foxhole just as warm as a little mouse and doing o. k. I think I could do better back home and I know I would feel safer anyway."

"Don't you all worry about me for I think I can make it all right. For we keep them dam Jerrys on the run all the time. I guess you read in the papers about the 79th Division. They are fighting Devils and I am one of them."

"Tell Buck when you write him that we will have a contest when we get home and see which one can dig a foxhole the quickest. It doesn't take me long when the lead starts to flying."

The above from Pfc. Tommie Norvell was written to his father J. H. Norvell of Floydada, dated December 18. He is with an infantry division and went overseas in November.

Neighbor: Say, have you folks got a bottle opener?

Possessiveness

A Cardinal Sin Of Married Life

Possessiveness has broken up more homes than the more publicized sins of drunkenness bad temper and moral laxity combined in the opinion of experts in marital problems.

Despite the fact that possessiveness seldom becomes a court complaint it is usually the basis for the other complaints that form the bulk of reasons for a steadily increasing divorce rate in the United States.

"Possessiveness is the tarnished side of that golden coin of affection every human being seeks and craves," according to Zulma Steele. "All women, and particularly those with the homemaking instinct, carry in their hearts the seeds of possessive love. It behooves each of us to guard against the first ugly weeds of its growth and tear them out before they choke the blooms of honest affection."

This corroding possessiveness develops early in a woman, according to the writer, who states that it reaches full bloom at the altar.

"The possessive woman is usually a reformer at heart, with a strong moral sense of what is 'fitting,'" she writes. "Because she loves her husband so much she is determined that he should live the way she thinks he should."

While possessiveness is not an exclusively feminine trait, it is found more in women than in men. "Women, in fact, would do well to take a tip from men, whose attitude is to ignore personal idiosyncrasies," she states. "The cure for such inbred and unhealthy love lies in broadening one's activities. The woman who gives up everything for her home is doing herself and her home a disservice. Variety of interests gives a rounded viewpoint and a sense of balance indispensable to a happy home."

QUICK WAY TO WIN FRIENDS

In war or peace, in poverty or riches, we can share hospitably whatever we have, and invest the occasion with warm companionship and an air of festivity. No matter how charming an individual may be, he will not attain the height of his powers until he begins to reach others, to serve them in some way, and include them in his thinking. It is unwholesome to stay too long away from the pleasantries of social activities—be they ever so modest or slight. When the mind dwells too deeply and too long on the self, it shrivels those tendrils of the heart which reach out from the warm and inclusive human being. As true in everything else, only practice will keep a talent bright and shining; you can't sleep twenty years, twenty months, or twenty days, and wake to find the world is the same.

You may think that you can neglect people and still keep your way with them but you cannot! You should take it, at least a sufficiently active part to keep your hand in, as the saying goes. You do not need to be a master of ceremonies. A modest person has charm. Timidity is not the menace to personality that inertia and experience are.

The ancients believed that all kinds of blessings were attached to hospitality. The Hindu woman left her own food untouched until afternoon, lest some wayfarer gain from the stories of the and entertaining angels. The spirit of festivity can times rule out much that is home or at the office—strain into some festive however small it may be. of entertainment clears the relaxes everyone.—This Week
