Saschal, Lanier and Prairie Lea Quiet Champions

Saschal High school of Fort Worth won the Class AA schoolboy basketball title of Texas last week-end in state finals with a 3-29 victory over Lufkin.

Sidney Lanier High school of San Antonio won the Class A title and Prairie Lea school won the Class B championship of the state.

Canadian regional Class A winners of the plains and panhandle were eliminated in the state tournament in their first game when they drew East Mountain, a contender which later became runner-up to the champion Sidney Lanier school.

District 3-A Loses Regional
Lockney Longhorns, representative of District 3-A Texas Intercollegiate basketball, gave proof of their right to the district title in regional tournament at Plainville when they went to the semifinals before being eliminated by Welland Lobos 38 to 27. The Longhorns outscored their rivals in the final period but were too far behind to overcome the Lobo lead.

Drawing the Canadian Wildcats in their first game Friday afternoon the Longhorns suffered a 53 to 31 loss. In the losing team bracket of the double elimination Friday night the Lockney boys eliminated the favored Friona Chiefs 42 to 35. Meyers, D. Perkins, Carroll, T. Perkins and Jeffcoat played practically all the time for the Longhorns and Carroll was chosen a member of the all-regional team. Canadian Wildcats won the regional title in the finals, taking the Welland Lobos 48 to 44. It was the third successive year for a Leveland team to be runners-up to the champs in the region.

Thanks! Enough Papers to Fill Our Needs Now

Thanks to the good people of the area we have enough papers of three missing issues in Volume 51 to fill our filing needs now.

In preparing for binding the volume a check-up revealed that we had an insufficient number of March 9, 1944, August 17, 1944, and January 4, 1945. It was just one of those things that did happen that you don't let happen in a newspaper office. So we had to call on our friends to help us out. We used want advertisements for the purpose and the response was most gratifying.

Mrs. J. I. Connelley, Mrs. R. H. Willis, Mrs. Lucy Bollman, Mrs. A. Dorsey, Mrs. J. A. Grigsby, Mrs. W. Turner, Mrs. E. E. Johnson and Mrs. John Green, were among those who helped us out with one or more issues they had filed or stored away. Others whose names are not available also helped us out.

The J. J. Smalleys of Lockney, the M. Carrs of Petersburg, Route 1, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Cummings, and the P. L. Feagans of Deatur also obliged with appreciated copies of the issues we needed.

Aside from the files in The Hesperian office there are only three other places where copies of this newspaper are being filed. West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon, and the University of Texas have complete files for a number of years, and the office of the county superintendent of Floyd county also has a file, complete as to recent years only.

Jack N. Jennings Prisoner of War In German Hands

The tension of grave concern over the fate of a brother, Jack Neil Jennings, of Amarillo, reported on January 5 by the War department as missing in action, was considerably relieved last week by Mrs. Cecil Hagood by the receipt of the information that the brother had been found a prisoner of war in the hands of the Germans.

An infantryman, caught in the German break-through in the Belgian bulge Jennings had been in the army only a short time when he was shipped over, his experiences being much the same as numerous other plains men sent to the "quiet sector" of the western front. He was an employe of an Amarillo bank before entering the service. His wife is employed at this time with the First National bank at Canyon.

HUBERT E. DAVIS WITHDRAWS FROM CITY MARSHAL RACE

Just to inform the public that I have withdrawn from the race for city marshal of Floydada and will not be a candidate. Thanks to one and all.

French Gets to Dinner

believe you'll enjoy this letter from Francis Wester, somewhere in Belgium—portions of a letter to family—in which he talks about and that he sees and experiences in continental Europe. Paraphrasing your boy is a "poorly written" one from the Floydada boy may give you some of the things you may be doing between battles. Incidentally, Francis got a three-day trip to Paris for some sort of essay or check on the saving in the army is carrying on to conserve the vital rubber supply.

weather here has finally cleared up and the last few days have really been like spring. I hope its not a fooler and we really going to have some good weather. I honestly believe if they give old Patton a few days of weather he will beat Joe to the point. I am of the opinion of you and that is should let Joe go on in and do never he thinks should happen in his so. Tonights news is good. They cannot, however, end too fast for me. I'm plenty to come home and I don't want to.

our post-war planning in today's sounds mighty good to me. I haven't done any serious thinking these lines over here. I have thought that I would have time for that after I have been loose. Of course I have thought many things I would like to do. I'm getting along in age now where if I don't watch myself future is going to be behind me you get what I mean.

would actually like to go to school but these different schools I have attended in the Army set me to thinking it might be waste of money as I can tell that I don't grasp things like I did when I was younger and like the younger ones who were in schools with me.

I have noticed though that I have learned what French I can speak much faster than some. Of course that involves the desire to learn. Many don't trouble themselves to learn a bit. I bet our commanding officer couldn't say a dozen words if he was going to be shot. Mostly because he has always had an interpreter with him and it wasn't necessary for him to learn any. I may and I may not be interested in going to some good school of journalism. Do you suppose they could ever learn me to spell? I bet dollars they couldn't, wouldn't you?

Don't know whether I wrote you about my visit to the wealthy Belgian's house or not. I met the Madame on the street car one night. She could speak a little English and a little French so we got to talking and before I got off she gave me her address and invited me to her home to meet her husband. I wasn't at all prepared to walk into what I did. A maid met me at the door and as she was taking my hat and dirty jacket, down the wide steps all dressed up came Madame who greeted me and dismissed the maid.

She took me right into the dining room, or what I thought was the dining room, and showed me my seat when I came her husband. He was a fine looking fellow about 53 or 54 who was an officer in the other war and lost a leg in the war. After we had sat around a few minutes and he had enjoyed to what looked like heavenly satisfaction an American cigarette, Madame pressed a button, the maid appeared—another one—and Madame told her to proceed with the meal. As all French meals do it started with wine and ended with wine. I didn't feel so bad about drinking wine as our 4th grade was a Catholic father who spoke very good English and had visited America on two different occasions.

As a French meal takes from two to three hours I didn't have time to even go over the rest of the house as I would have liked to do. I am invited to visit them any time I care and the next time I am going to ask to see the house. I noticed that a big part of their doors are made of this thick glass. Think I told you I am not actually doing any cooking now but I still have plenty of work trying to keep these Belgian civilians busy. I have 16 of them and I really have a time trying to tell them what I want done. Six are cooks. Have one chef, so about all the talking I have to do to them is to tell the chef. I am fortunate inasmuch as one of my chefs can speak some English. The other 10 are just K. P.s and I do know some of the dumbest people I have ever had the chance to know. Not sure whether it's me or them, however. They always have a different way to do everything and you know the army. Come civilian or what have you they want it done the G. I. way and they don't mean maybe.

Francis
Mrs. A. W. Yonts and children and Mrs. Mildred Oats and daughter Drucilla and son, Sydney, of Bay City, Texas, have returned to their home after a visit here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Fuller. They left Monday.
Mrs. Chas. Wiseman, of Hartley Texas, has been here the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Fuller. Mr. Fuller has been ill with pneumonia, but is reported as improving at this time.

I wish people would quit askin' me how I like bathin' beauties. I ain't ever bathed any.

Fund for Red Cross Nears $10,000 Mark

The War Fund campaign in Floyd county, passed the minimum quota of $7,700 twelve days ago, had reached $9,400 yesterday at noon, R. E. Fry, county chairman, announced. Biggest community in the county where the drive had not been completed was Lockney where the drive was under way Wednesday and expected to be completed before the week-end. Several other communities have made partial reports indicating they have not finished as yet. In four communities, McCoy, Allmon, Erick and Ramsey, delays have prevented the campaign being put on and these are yet to make reports, Mr. Fry said. Considerable drop in contribution to the fund continue to come in through the banks and the secretaries. Frank Perkins at Lockney and Mrs. John Stapleton at Floydada, are among others to whom Red Cross War funds may be paid, in cases where givers are not seen by their local committeemen, Mr. Fry said.

Lt. J. R. Burrus Back in States

Lt. James Riley Burrus, who has been in the Southwest Pacific War theatre for the past 20 months, is back on the states side of the world and is being sent to San Antonio hospitalized, he told his wife, the former Arline Fyffe, and mother, Mrs. Maud Burrus, by telephone the first of the week, shortly after arrival in San Francisco. Probably he is already in San Antonio. According to news here some weeks ago it was indicated that Lt. Burrus became ill on New Guinea, suffering from asthma developed in that climate. He was visited at a hospital on that island by Lt. Jack McIntosh, also a Floydada boy, early in this year.

EMERT SALE MONDAY

The W. W. Emert farm sale scheduled for yesterday afternoon was stopped by the rainstorm and Mr. Emert announced that it would be held on Monday of next week, March 19.

QUICKER FOOD ANALYSIS

Amino acids are now sharing the nutrition limelight with vitamins. The amino acids are the "building blocks" in proteins, stuff of which body tissues are built. With protein foods assuming increasing importance in war and post-war plans for world supply nutrition chemists face the challenge of speeding up research on protein values of everyday foods. A step toward speedier analysis of foods has been achieved in protein research laboratories of the U. S. Department of Agriculture where short cut methods have been developed to determine two of the important amino acids directly in foods. Drs. D. Breese Jones and M. J. Horn have worked out a method for determining tryptophane. This new way reduces from weeks to days the time formerly required to make such analyses. Dr. F. A. Csonka, H. Lichtenstein and Dr. Charles A. Denton have developed a new method for cystine. Using color-measuring instruments, the chemists ascertain the quantities of these amino acids in foods by the intensity of color produced when the food is combined with certain chemicals. Although there are hundreds of kinds of proteins in foods, all of these are made up of combinations of the approximately 22 amino acids, 8 of which—including tryptophane—are essential to the growth and well-being of the human body. Eggs, milk, meat and other foods of animal origin have long been recognized as good sources of high-quality protein, that is, protein that contains the essential amino acids. More exact knowledge of proteins will show to what extent plant sources, such as beans and cereals, can be used to supplement the animal protein foods which are—from a world standpoint—short in supply.

"We consider it a good reminder, sir!"

This might be an excellent use for some of the barbed wire left over from the beachheads and barricades.

Placed between a man and the War Bonds he's safely tucked away, it would give him pause . . . in case he was tempted to cash in a single Bond.

It would make him stop and think . . .

Stop and think that those Bonds will mean income . . . security . . . perhaps even a good measure of financial independence in the unpredictable postwar world.

Stop and think that every Bond will bring back—not just its purchase price—but $4 for every $3 at maturity.

Stop and think that holding War Bonds is as vital to Victory as buying them . . . and as vital to a secure future for the individual, a secure future for his country.

Put your War Bonds in a safe place. And keep them there . . . as you keep on buying more.

Ten years from now, you'll thank your lucky stars you did.

Rationing Dates And Deadlines

List of all food ration stamps good for consumer use—In the new red and blue stamps March and an explanation of the stamp invalidation—was issued today by the District Office of Price Administration.

Stamps Q5 through Z5 and A2 through J2 each good for 10 points, now good for buying meats and stamps Q5, R5, and S5, will expire March 31. Likewise, E2 through J2, which became good through 4, will expire June 30. In other words, OPA pointed out, the stamps overlap, with four sets valid each for about four months. The same system applies to blue stamps. Those now valid for buying processed foods are X5 through A2 through S2. X5 through S2 will expire March 31.

Officials emphasized the fact that new set of blue and red stamps will become good on April 1. Only one sugar stamp, No. 35 is now good. It came into use February 1 and will be good through June 2. Another sugar stamp will come good on May 1.

TOLD HIM OFF FOR CAUSE

Just before he went overseas, Pvt. Anthony Zerr of Hondo, Texas, a 35th Division infantryman with Patton's Third army, received an automatic pencil from a representative of the Santa Fe Railway, which was inscribed with the railroad's trade mark.

A little thing, perhaps, but to Pvt. Zerr the pencil was one of his proudest possessions, and when the intrepid 35th went into the battle of St. Lo last July, it nestled snugly in his breast pocket.

One night he lost the pencil while on patrol deep within the enemy's lines. Soldiers are accustomed to losing personal articles in this war's fast pace, so he forgot about it.

Six months passed and the 35th reached German soil. Lined up in the snow was a group of captured Nazis, and searching one of them was Pvt. Zerr. Suddenly, he pulled an object from the prisoner's pocket. You guessed it—his long-lost pencil was found.

In writing of this strange coincidence to his railroad friend, Pvt. Zerr added, "Of course, I was glad to get back my pencil, but I told off the blankety-blank Kraut anyway for using up all the lead."

The Floyd County Junior Livestock show will be held on Saturday, April 21. Beef, calves, hogs, sheep and dairy cattle will be exhibited by 4-H club and F. F. A. members. Adults who have livestock that they would like to exhibit are invited to do so. Facilities for taking care of them will be available but they will not compete for prizes. Prospects are bright for a good show this year.

Four of the gilts given to club boys last year in the Cow-Hog-Hen program have farrowed ten pigs each. At this writing 38 pigs are living. Owners of the gilts that have farrowed are Herschel Nelson, Jr., Eddie Joe Fortenberry, Earl Esbanks and Robert Hambricht. Four gilts are yet to farrow.

James Powell of Alken had the first place fine wool lamb at the Amarillo Livestock show last week; in addition to his cash prize he was presented with a registered Rambouillet ewe by Edd Rogers of Claude, Texas. Mr. Rogers has a good flock of registered sheep and is extremely interested in 4-H club and F. F. A. boys. He was very instrumental in starting the lamb show at Amarillo. The lamb which James showed sold in the auction for 30c per pound.

The government veterinarian will be back in the county in about two months to test cattle for Bangs' disease. Farmers who are interested in having their herds tested may get the details of the program and sign applications at the agent's office.

The time is near to treat vines and fruit trees against damage by worms, bugs and disease.

Two or three applications of spray or dust may mean the difference between a good crop of fruit and one which is almost worthless, says J. P. Rosborough, horticulturist for the A. and M. College Extension Service. The first spray should be applied as soon as most of the blossoms have fallen, especially on plum and peach trees, to control worms. The spray is easy to make. Simply mix a half pound of lead arsenate with sixteen gallons of water and shoot it.

Rosborough says that in applying the spray you should try to get it on all the young leaves and also to thoroughly coat the whole surface of the tiny peaches and plums. About ten to fourteen days after the first one give the trees a second spraying. This is to prevent early disease damage decay of the fruit and as a further control of worms. The second spray mixture consists of one half pound of lead arsenate, two and one half pounds of wettable sulphur, and sixteen gallons of water.

A third and final spraying should be applied three or four weeks before the fruit ripens. Use a sprayer with enough pressure to create a fine mist which will cover the entire surface of the fruit. This will prevent rot spores from getting a foothold on any unsprayed portions of it. The lead arsenate is omitted from the final spray mixture but the same amount of wettable sulphur and water as in the second spray remain.

While you're among the trees take a last look at the trunk and framework branches for any remaining scale. If any are found, apply a mixture of one pound of dry lime sulphur in three gallons of moisture at a cost of 2c per hundred pounds.

Floyd Wilkes of Lakeview plans to grow 3,000 turkeys this year. He will receive 2,500 poults from the hatchery on March 26. He has recently completed a brooder house with four compartments 12 x 20 feet in dimension. Brooding will be done with electricity.

Impossible Snap Roll

A NINTH AIR FORCE BOMBER BASE, France—Six crew members of a certain B-26 Marauder named "C. O. D." find it hard to believe they are alive. They are probably the only men who have ever flown upside-down in a B-26 Marauder bomber and lived to tell about it. This near-miracle happened recently at the Ninth Air Force base, in France, of the 397th Bombardment Group, the B-26 group known as the "Bridge Busters," and commanded by Colonel Richard T. Colner, Jr., of San Antonio. Below, the pilot himself tells the extraordinary tale.

First, here is a list of the airman who were in the plane. Enlisted bombardier: Staff Sergeant James E. Burke, 22, of Route 4, Floydada, Texas. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Burke, live at the same address. Co-pilot: Second Lieutenant James L. Schell, 23, of 3617 Ryan Avenue, Fort Worth, Texas, whose wife, Mrs. Lorraine Schell, lives at the same address. His mother, Mrs. E. Roy Schell, lives at 2809 Benbrook Boulevard, Fort Worth. Pilot: First Lieutenant John L. Hathorn, 25, of Compton, Cal. Turret-gunner: Staff Sergeant Alpha J. Rogers, 22, of Burlington, Ky. Armorer-gunner: Staff Sergeant Sylvester G. Niensaber, 21, of Newport, Ky. Engineer-gunner: Private Guy F. Moody, Jr., 20, of Gering, Neb.

By First Lieutenant John L. Hathorn.

The formation came back from the mission—we'd bombed a Rhine Bridge by instruments—and found the field almost invisible. We got into the traffic pattern turned from the downwind leg to the base leg, and were about to start our final approach. I made a steep peel-off, in order to keep as near the field as possible because of poor visibility.

Flipped on her Back

"It was too steep. We went into an aileron-and-rudder stall and suddenly old 'C. O. D.' flipped right over on her back—and there we were, flying upside-down in a 14-ton bomber with a crew of six at an altitude of 800 feet! I had no time to be frightened. I remember what I thought. 'This is ridiculous. I can't possibly land her this way. I'll have to do something else. I shoved the power to her and kept her rolling. In a matter of seconds, she had gone all the way over and we were all right. She hit another stall right away and shuddered and bucked and groaned. But she came out of that and we landed as though nothing had happened.

"I got on the interphone as we taxied and found that everybody was all right. The 'snap-roll' that we had unintentionally executed had been so fast that centrifugal pressure froze everybody and everything. My goggles, on the floor between me and my co-pilot, didn't even stir. We got up at our headstand and I cut the motors and the crew came forward. Their eyes were round as buttons. I remember what they said.

Ground, Sky Change Places
"Sgt. Burke, the enlisted bombardier said: 'I thought we were in a dive. I looked out my window and the ground was where the sky ought to have been. I reviewed my past life hastily. I prepared for the dull thud, but then suddenly we were all right.'

"Lt. Schell, my co-pilot said: 'John, you know perfectly well that's no way to fly a bomber.'
"Your face is pea-green,' I said to change the subject.
"Yours, he said, 'is scarlet. And should be. Anyway, I don't believe it happened. It couldn't. The book says it's aerodynamically impossible or at least very unhealthy.'

"Sgt. Rogers, the turret-gunner, said: 'During the very seconds that we were upside down, I climbed down, or up, out of the turret. That turret is a tight squeeze to get in or out of; usually I bark my nose or my elbow. This time I made the cleanest getaway ever. I realized I was upside-down, too. Didn't seem to make the slightest difference. Funny stuff, this centrifugal force.'
"Sgt. Niensaber, the armorer-gunner, said: 'I had just crawled out of the tail to pull in the waist guns. I was about to close the waist windows when, wham!—over we went! I was paralyzed. After we righted, I yelled to Rogers and asked him what happened. He said we had just completed a very nice snap-roll. I thought he was crazy.'

"Pvt. Moody, my engineer-gunner said: 'What, sir, in the hell goes on? I'm still feeling myself all over. Am I alive or not?'

Forget To Ball 'em Out
"After they'd finished telling their reactions, they looked at me. I guess I looked pretty foolish. I said: 'C'est la guerre!' They didn't seem to think that very funny.

"Our commanding officer—Col. Colner—came up. He'd seen it all from the control tower. He looked at us as though we were ghosts, then shook hands feelingly with every one of us. He was so happy to see us alive that he forgot to bawl me out for making too steep a peel-off.

"The ground crew checked 'C. O. D.' and found her sound as a dollar—not a trace of strain. She flew again three days later. Today she's flying leadship of the 397th's mission. I can't praise too highly the soundness of the B-26 construction. A snap-roll is one of the most violent of all aerial maneuvers."

Few Re-Actors In Tests So Far Reported

There were few re-actors in the first list of animals tested in Floyd county for Bangs disease by the veterinary of the State Sanitary Live Stock commission and the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry, according to the list furnished the county agent here last week-end.

Out of 25 herds, 248 cattle were tested and 30 calves were immunized these figures reveal. Of the tested cattle nine were shown as "reactors" in the test and five were "suspect." The herds tested, however, were largely of owners who had been carrying on vaccination programs or had been weeding out suspects for some time.

Both range and dairy cattle are included in the program. Loss from Bangs disease in usable milk and in calf crops has been heavy in some sections of this area and has been on the increase in recent years, according to veterinarians and officials of the Live Stock Sanitary commission.

How a Hell Hole, Lt. Smith Finds

There are not many complimentary adjectives to use in connection with two Jims, the first letter from a Floyd county boy on the island received this week, indicates.

Master Lieutenant W. E. Smith, Jr. who is with an amphibious outfit on the island, wrote a six-verse letter that was postmarked by the navy on March 1, in which he tells his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smith, Sr., that "things are better now." However, he was sitting in a bathhouse, glad to have a pencil with which to write, and couldn't help remarking, "what a hellhole this is."

Sam's letter from two Tuesday was the first word, so far as has been learned at the office, that any of the Floyd county boys have sent home.

Philippine and American again," she writes.

As to future plans she said there would have to be wait arrangements "I do want to go a little more for the Philippines before I go," she notes, and "then home to rest and eat, visit and see, then rest again."

No News From China

No news from your China and friends there, she notes, says she has enough money for her trip home but needs more for her trip home. She speaks of meeting some of the boys here but to one she knows as yet.

"Thank all the friends there for their interest and concern," she says closing with the wonderful thought that she is only two weeks away from home by rail and that cables may be possible later.

Sons Will Honor Father on Ninety-Fifth Birthday

Mrs. W. M. Featherston, her son, J. Charles Featherston, both of Prosserburg, and E. E. Featherston of Florida will be in Wichita Falls Saturday, March 17, to attend a party honoring the latter's father, E. E. Featherston, on the 95th anniversary of his birthday.

The birthday event is to be held at the Country Club of Wichita Falls, owned by Scott E. Featherston and Charles Featherston, sons of the honoree. Mr. and Mrs. Scott E. Featherston will be host and hostess.

The pioneer honoree has been a resident of the Apartment community more than 24 years. More than 20 relatives are expected Saturday for the birthday observance.

Collections For Cemetery Ass'n. Coming In Good

Collections for the work is being carried on by the Florida Cemetery association are coming in satisfactorily. F. C. Hartman, secretary of the association, said yesterday.

The campaign for funds was begun some two weeks ago, but quickly to avoid conflict with the war fund drive of the Red Cross.

Part of the new ground recently purchased has been planted and partially improved, Mr. Hartman said.

Donations for the cemetery fund can be made at any time, but funds are being asked for now so that the association can make up its budget and plan for the year.

Boxers Will Meet Here Friday Night

Florida and Lockney High school boxing teams who will meet in two matches, will have their first night's bouts here in Andrews Ward gymnasium Friday night of this week.

Their second meeting will come Friday night of next week. Coach Murray of the high school did not have lists of matches available last yesterday.

Pvt. W. T. Anderson Wounded Seriously

Notice that their son, Pvt. W. T. Anderson, has been seriously wounded in Germany, was received by Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Anderson last week from the adjutant general of the War Department. His injuries were received on February 24, the notice stated.

Last letter from the son was dated on February 18. He went to the army in August, training at Camp Robinson, Arkansas, and has been in Germany since December 11.

A. W. has one brother, Edwin, in the chemical warfare division, who sailed on January 1 for some point in the Pacific.

some who did not leave is not known. She had reached the Philippines and had begun work there when Manila fell in February 1942. Only sporadic and indirect word from her had been received by the family since until the letter here quoted. Last week the West was permitted to send a telegram to their daughter in spite of the overburdened wires into the war zone.

JAP BEETLES TRAPPED WIDELY

The Japanese beetle was trapped last year in 18 States outside those already under Federal quarantine. This campaign extended from Florida to the Canadian border, including States so far inland as Missouri. In 1944, east of the Mississippi, the U. S. Department of Agriculture set out nearly 7,000 beetle traps in more than 400 towns and cities. Results of the season's trapping were made known to plant pest officials of the neighboring States, so that they could act to eradicate or suppress the beetles before they had a chance to increase and cause widespread damage to crops, flowers, lawns, and golf courses.

Constable: Sorry Miss, but you can't swim here.

Proty Miss: Why didn't you tell me before I undressed?

Constable: Ain't no law against undressing.
