Harmon Installed Mayor; Council Begins New Term

When the formality of canvassing the city election returns had been completed Tuesday night, everybody turned in for their duties, and squared away for the beginning of a two-year term, only change the electors had made was in the seating arrangement. W. U. White had stepped out of the mayor's place into that of an alderman and F. C. Harmon stepped into the mayor's chair, to assume the troubles and worries that go with being the mayor of a small city.

Re-elected and taking their places again were Conner Oden, J. W. Lanier, J. D. McBrien and Walton Hale. B. K. Barker and Bob Smith as secretary and marshal respectively completed the personnel chosen by the voters. J. D. McBrien was named mayor protem. Dr. A. E. Guthrie, city health officer, and The Hesperian the official newspaper.

Decision on Negro Problem
Decision on the problem of a negro housing area was settled temporarily at least by the designation of blocks 14, 31, 36, 37, 38 and 39, all adjacent to Washington park, as property on which the city secretary could issue permits for the construction of homes by colored people.

Contract for the audit of the city's books for the period of two years from April 1, 1943, to April 1, 1945, was given Geo. L. Grogen, an Amarillo auditor, at $475 and need for cleaning and painting the up-tank of the city water supply was recognized by letting a contract to L. C. Kurtz, a Tulla steeplejack at $245.

Irrigation Rates Begin Soon

Irrigation rates for the spring and summer will begin with bills representing use by city residents on April 20. This reduction will be reflected in June 1 bills. Minimum rate remains the same with a reduction that represents 25 per cent saving on all amounts above the minimum. The rates are made to encourage lawn and garden growers and keeping trees in condition during the hot, dry period of the year.

Thos. Wright Re-Assigned

Flight Officer Thomas R. Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Wright, back in the states after 15 months of campaigning over the jungles of New Guinea and other Southwest Pacific areas, was here for a short time with his wife and baby, guest in the home of his parents and other relatives, enroute from the west coast to Boca Raton, Florida, for re-assignment. He will take a refresher course there.

Thomas is the Floyd county boy who got into the headlines a few months ago, when his plane was shot down behind the Japanese lines. He survived 22 days in the slimy jungle to report for duty and resume the routine of flights against the enemy in a bomber plane. His wife, the former Norma Harris, and their little son have been living in California during his absence. Thomas had to get acquainted with his son and heir after his return home. He is a brother of Mrs. P. Y. Bradford and Mrs. Noman Hamilton here and Mrs. Ewell Crawford of Lockney.

The funeral was held at the First Baptist church in Berger Thursday afternoon and the body was brought overland to Floydada the same afternoon for interment here. She had been ill two weeks, her death following an operation.

Funeral services at the graveside were held by Rev. L. A. Doyle, pastor of the First Baptist church of Fort Worth, Jim Hart and Woodrow Wilson of Floydada.

Hospitalized he has undergone an operation and is doing well, he said in the letter.

Communities Over County Show Interest in Iron Lung Drive

Interest in the proposal of the Floydada Fire department that people over the county help in obtaining an iron lung and respirator to have available in instances of acute need, has been gratifying to date. Several committees announced last week have indicated they will make reports soon and a few individual donations are coming in, said Fire Chief Carl Rodgers yesterday.

In Floydada Cecil Hagood and W. G. Collins are making an appeal through the mails for funds. Every district is making its own plans.

"We can't afford for the drive to interfere with the progress of the war, we do need to be in position to help ourselves on the home front in case of epidemic without calling for too much help from the outside," said the chief. "Right now it is being insisted that every community take every precaution to safeguard the health of the people on account of the lack of manpower for hospital

Intensive Sales Effort Begins Presenting Federal All-Risk Cotton Insurance to Growers

Intensive sales efforts were begun this week by the personnel and committees of the Agricultural Conservation Association in order to offer the new Federal all-risk cotton crop insurance program to all Floyd county cotton growers, was the announcement made by Ray S. McIntire, Administrative Officer of the AAA. Last Thursday was held the second educational meeting for the sales force which consists of AAA personnel, county committeemen, and community committeemen. The authorized agents will attempt to contact every cotton farmer prior to the closing date for accepting policies, which is April 25 for Floyd county.

McIntire said, "The new insurance program offers individual growers protection against all unavoidable hazards to cotton growing and helps keep the community in a healthy financial condition. We all remember the terrible droughts of 1934 and 1936. Many farmers were completely wiped out during these years, and those who managed to keep going had little to sell. As a result, they could not meet mortgage payments and other obligations. They could not buy machinery, furniture, clothing, or other necessities."

"Whole communities suffered from these crop losses, but with crop insurance the economic shock could have been absorbed," he declared. "The present program offers cotton growers a choice of coverage of 50 or 75 percent of their average farm yields and protects against such unavoidable hazards as floods, drought, storms, frost, wildfire, excessive rainfall, snow, hail, fire, lightning, wind, plant disease, and insects."

Through Monday noon, according to McIntire 87 Floyd county growers had assured themselves income from their 112 farms by taking the all risk insurance. He emphasized that cotton producers have until April 25, 1945 to file applications for the insurance. Applications are now being taken by AAA committeemen, who administer the program locally, and by authorized agents.

Navy Reports DennyC Ivey Lost at Sea

After a thorough search and hearing evidence given by rescued seaman, the United States Navy has given up all hopes that DennyC Ivey, Floydada-born Texan can be alive, and have formally notified his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ivey of Big Spring, and members of the family here, including DennyC's grandmother, Mrs. C. S. Sarginer, that he has been listed as dead.

The family were notified on March 4 that he was missing. Later it was officially announced that the Bismark Sea, a converted carrier, had been lost in one of the strikes at the Japanese mainland. DennyC was an engineering expert with an especial aptitude for diesel. He was a member of the crew of the lost carrier.

Major Geo. H. Shackelford, Lubbock Army Air field and a squad of enlisted men gave the demonstrations.

Floydada Boys on Guam Plan all-Day Get-Together, Brit Reports

L. D. (Brit) Britton, who went with the navy as an electrician early after Pearl Harbor, and helped with the vast installations that dot the islands of the Southwest Pacific gained in conquest by our forces, is now chief electrician and is stationed on Guam.

Recent news had by his mother, Mrs. Lillie Britton, indicates that he now is seeing or has recently seen several Floydada boys, among them Arthur DeHart, Fred Cardin, Alvin Cardinal, Lee Cavin, George Robt. Montgomery, Ad-Ross Hanna, Jake Hill and Buck Dickerson. A recent letter said up on the number of Japs he had killed and count his native wives so that full details could be given the home paper.

Fugitive's Vanity Their Undoing As Chase Ends Here

Vanity of two fugitives from a Muskogee, Oklahoma, jail was their undoing here last Friday night. Likewise it probably saved Sheriff Lee Howard a considerable headache and a chance to eat one of his own jail breakfasts.

The two men, Donald Corn, 25, Hobbs, New Mexico, and Howard "Al" Allen, 19, of Pryor, Oklahoma, made a jail break at Muskogee the night of April 4. They bludgeoned two guards, injuring one critically, to effect their escape, and fled in an automobile belonging to President Earl Riley, of Bacone college. One of the guards, E. M. Vann was in an "extremely critical" condition and Tom Brooks, the other guard, had cuts on his scalp.

Find Newspaper Account
The men were picked up in Floydada Friday night by Sheriff Howard and Deputy H. E. Whitaker. The latter discovered the pair attempting to put a new carburetor just purchased on the stolen vehicle near the city hall. Taken to jail when they could produce no evidence of identity and gave unsatisfactory answers to questions, the two men were searched and put in cells. Later finding the newspaper account of their escapes in the stolen car in the Muskogee Times-Democrat, the sheriff knew the men had to have a weapon of some kind and decided it must have got into the jail with the men unnoticed. A re-search disclosed a big thumb-screw type of pistol under the pillow of one of the men which the sheriff possessed. Corn has a penitentiary record and several charges are on file in Oklahoma against him. He and Allen were being held at Muskogee on second degree forgery charges. It would have been another escape story with the locale in Floydada had the sheriff not decided to make the second search. Mr. Howard had no idea, he said, how the men could have gotten past him with such a big concealed weapon.

Probably Stopped Enroute
Probably that the men stopped enroute southwest at Frederick, Oklahoma, and Vernon, Texas, and engaged in some burglaries was indicated by some of the items found in the car, which tallied with description received from the two named towns. One of these was a sack full of pennies. Four places were entered in Vernon which could have been effected by the men arrested here.

One of the numerous charges at various places filed against Corn is at Lubbock, where he is wanted on a forgery charge. For greater safety the men were taken to Lubbock Saturday morning and were in jail there the first of this week. The automobile belonging to the Muskogee school man, was recovered here with only minor damage Sunday by Miss Gladys Peterson, of Bacone college, who claimed it for President Riley. She was accompanied on the trip to Floydada by three women companions.

State Takes Over Cut-off

Formal notice that the state is taking over the operation and maintenance of the Lockney-Silverton highway cut-off eight mile road through mid-Floyd county, was received by the Floyd County Commissioners court this week in their regular session.

The cut-off will have the designation of a farm-to-market route. The court and the Highway Commission had been in practical agreement on the matter for many months, but delay in obtaining title to lands had been a hindrance to final consummation. The court had been using every effort to get the commission to take the route under contract as a part of the state highway system. Other business of the Commissioners in their regular session was principally routine.

Killed In Action

Pfc. John A. Duncan, above, son of Mrs. Beatrice Duncan of Petersburg, whose death on the German front with the Ninth Army on February 25th was recently published in this newspaper, was an infantryman and had been overseas seven months. He was reared in Floyd county.

Before going into combat he had been stationed in France, Belgium, Holland and Germany. Entering the army in July of 1942, John trained in California, and Washington and his first service away from the continental United States was in the Aleutians, where he spent 14 months and where the above likeness was made. Returning home in January, 1944, John went through another training period at Fort Bliss, Little Rock and Ft. Meade, Maryland, before leaving for Europe.

John was unmarried, and was engaged in farming before he entered the service. Survivors are his mother, Mrs. Beatrice Duncan, and two brothers, Albert of Floydada and Melvin of Petersburg, three sisters, Mrs. Harold Robertson of Floydada and Virginia of the parental home. His grandmother, Mrs. Dennie Powell, of Joy, Texas, also survives.

Orchard Meeting Set For Monday at Wofford's Place

Two experts of the Extension Service will attend a meeting of Floyd county people interested on orchards and orchard pest control to be held on Monday of next week, April 16, at the Lloyd Wofford place in Southwest Lockney. It was announced this week by Leon C. Ranson, county agent.

The experts are J. P. Rosborough, Extension horticulturist, and Paul Gregg, Extension entomologist. The hour is 2 o'clock.

Prior to the afternoon demonstration, the Extension experts will meet with county and home demonstration agents of the area at the county agent's office here Monday morning.

Need Clothing Shop is Located in Post Office

Need clothing was being received in the United Nations Relief Administration Floyd county homes, but thousands of pounds hoped for—relatively small amount checked in by the depot at the court house until the first of the week was the disappointing side to the issue.

Walton Hale, county chairman of the drive, said that a new depot was being opened in the post office and that donors who had not taken the time to leave their clothing at the box arranged for in the post office. An effort is being made by the county to get the clothing represents a job so that it is impractical to attend to it now, and the clothing will have to be a volunteer.

C. J. McCollum is chairman of the Lockney area in the campaign. Mrs. Billie Stanforth at Plains and Mrs. W. D. Poole at Doughtery.

Way It Can Be Done
The war torn lands hunger is now less than lack of clothing, and disease from exposure has surpassed the toll of starvation, as revealed recently by Herbert Lehman, Director General of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, in a White House meeting of civic, religious, and business leaders.

There have been cases in some of our countries, said Mr. Lehman, in spite of starvation, their people indicated that they wanted clothes given to clothing rather than food (See Clothing, back page)

The pioneers observe the nearest annual date to May 23. It was on that date in 1890 that the county was organized.

Representatives Consumers Fuel At Amarillo Meet

M. L. Probasco, president, Jno. A. Lloyd, vice-president, and Chas. C. Huckabee, secretary-treasurer of Consumers Fuel association of Floydada, were among those who attended the meeting in Amarillo last week-end of CCA, wholesale cooperative concern in which an area-wide membership is held by co-operatives.

A feature of the two-day session was an address on the closing day by W. J. McAnelly, president of the Houston Bank for co-operatives, who was heard by representatives of 120 local co-ops. Enthusiasm in the meeting was built up by the plans and possibilities of future developments according to news reports, which said that the co-ops plan to market a full line of machinery after the war, featuring tractors and farm machinery. Machinery exhibits at the two-day meeting previewed the types of machinery offered.

Recently the organization bought an oil refinery at Levelland and now have in mind the purchase of terminal elevator facilities in Fort Worth. Also a recent addition to the co-operative organizations on the plains is a feed mixing plant in Amarillo now in operation. Plans for expansion of CCA quarters include the early construction of a new building adjacent to present quarters.

Methodist Notes, Aiken District

Carr's Chapel community, as well as the Methodist church, was well represented at services Sunday; the joy of being there was just as great as we had anticipated, and our expectations were high. The church school is under the leadership of F. B. Trowbridge. The report of their Easter program was good, and the attendance was large with an increase in membership. If you live in going distance of this Sunday school, and don't attend elsewhere we urge you to go.

We are still trying to preach about the things that will help us most in our evangelistic Crusade-for-Christ. The raising twenty five million dollars will be practically worthless, unless it can be touched by the Master's hands. If He is allowed to make distribution of it; it can multiply in a thousand fold ratio. Don't be misled, in thinking that gathering in members, or raising large sums of money will take the place of a Spirit-filled Crusade for Christ. Read your Bible, the Southwestern Advocate, and all the Christian literature that you can get.

Come to Belview or Aiken this Sunday. We are to elect delegates to the District conference, which is to be at Mileshee May 8 and 9. Let's have all our Crusade pledges in cash by that time.

C. N. (Dude) Wadkin, motor machinist mate second class, stationed at San Diego, California, will leave this week to report for duty at the same naval station after a visit with his wife and children and other relatives.

Clinton Mitchell, Star of Football and Track, Killed

Cpl. Clinton Mitchell was killed in action on the island of Iwo Jima on March 9 according to a telegram received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mitchell of Petersburg recently.

Clinton was a graduate of Lockney high school with the class of 1943. He was a noted athlete, starring especially in football and track events.

Cpl. Mitchell went into service on August 12, 1943, joining the U. S. Marine corps. He was a tank driver and went overseas in January 1944. He had participated in several campaigns, including the capture of the island of Guam. He was wounded in the Guam campaign and had been awarded the Purple Heart.

Young Mitchell was an outstanding student at Lockney. He went to the state meet twice in the 100 yard dash, being defeated both times by Charley Parker of San Antonio, meet winner. He participated in an athletic meet on Guam, in which he won first place in the 100 yard dash and several other events, he had written his parents.

MOVING FARM SHOP THIS WEEK TO NEW LOCATION

The Farm shop, sponsored by the Floydada High school vocational agriculture department, which has been located at the farm of W. F. Brock for several months, was being moved Tuesday to a new location across the road south from the Sand Hill store. It was announced this week by H. G. Barber, Vocational instructor of the school.

The equipment made available by the federal government has been a very popular aid to farmers in keeping their machinery moving, Barber said. To make the change in location farmers have contributed the material and labor to build a structure to house the equipment. While the shop was at the Brock farm it was housed in a building furnished by him.

This month, the millions of men and women in the Payroll Savings Plan are being extra smart.

Here's how, and why:

In the first place, this war isn't getting any cheaper. It's going to cost us just about as much in 1945, as it did in 1944.

No matter what happens to Germany, or when, there'll be no easing up! The quickest way to end the whole nasty business is to keep going full steam ahead.

But this year, there will be only TWO War Loans—instead of three, as there were in 1944.

That means we've got to lend, in 2 chunks, as much as we lent last year in 3! It means that, in the 7th War Loan, which starts next month, each of us will have to buy a BIGGER share of extra War Bonds!

And right there is where the men and women on the Payroll Plan are being extra smart.

Right now—they're boosting their allotments for April, May, and June. Saving extra money so that they can buy more extra Bonds, and spread their buying over more pay checks.

When the big 7th War Loan starts, these people won't have to scrape so hard for extra cash. A good share of their extra Bonds will be already paid for—because they're putting part of the extra money aside right now!

That's a swell idea for all of us. It's better for us—better for Uncle Sam. It's the easiest way to fulfill our obligation to the men who fight. Let's all start saving now for the 7th War Loan!

START SAVING NOW FOR THE MIGHTY 7TH.

COTTON Crop Insurance . . . Is Now Available

Crop Insurance Is—

PROTECTION against crop losses.

PROTECTION for paying interest, taxes, mortgages, and making improvements as planned.

PROTECTION for the education of children.

PROTECTION for the future, for the years when Mother and Dad want to ease up and travel around. Crop Insurance is a good investment.

Benjamin Franklin, sage of Colonial Days, advocated Crop Insurance.

Farmers have long wanted a crop insurance program. From the time of Benjamin Franklin, farmers have talked about some way to protect themselves through insurance against crop losses. But the insurance of crops against all hazards, from planting through harvest, is a large and difficult undertaking, requiring accurate data on which to base premiums, wide participation, and large financial resources.

The Federal Crop Insurance Provides—

Assured returns from the day the seed goes in the ground until delivery of cotton at the gin;

Protection against unavoidable risks such as Drought, Fire, Hail, Flood, Wind, Insects, Disease, Excessive Rain, Frost, Wildlife, etc.

You can insure for 50 or 75 percent of the average yield.

You must make application for the insurance before April 25, closing date for Floyd County.

Rates are based upon the risks of your area and your farm.

Anyone who has an interest in the crop at planting time may insure his interest.

One application covers all farms owned or operated by one person.

A crop-insurance contract can be assigned for credit purposes.

Premium due at maturity, payable in cash, and also deductible from AAA payments, CCC loans, or indemnities.

Losses—

Adjustment of losses by FCIC field representatives.

The amount of loss payable varies according to the stage of the crop's development. If a loss occurs too late to replant to cotton but prior to the first cultivation, 40 percent of the maximum insured production will be paid. After the beginning of harvest, 100 percent less saving in harvest expenses will be paid.

Ted's outfit landed on southern Luzon about six weeks ago. He is with a regional combat team. Mail service so far isn't so good, he says, but should clear up in time. Speaking of the natives on Luzon he says:

"I've made some Filipino friends. They've asked me to come and see them after the war and in turn as a good neighbor I've asked them to come and see us. They really are good Joes. They can't speak English too good, but they make a sincere effort and one can catch on to the accent after while.

"The V for Victory is really being worked over. The Philippines poke up two fingers and yell 'Victoree' and then in the same breath and a twist of the wrist 'Got a cigarete, Joe?' Those words they know how to speak clearly and loudly."

Ted has been "over" about six months. He first went to New Guinea and later back up to the Philippines.

Rag Flag Makes Wonderful Sight

(Lt. Tom Bishop, who is at a Mid-west Pacific base of the U. S. army, writes an interesting Easter letter to his mother, Mrs. Jennie Bishop, which she has consented to have used in print. It tells among other things of a historic event in the Far West.—Ed. Note) You ought to see my Easter outfit. Suntan trousers, khaki shirt with gold collar decorations and a small, tan brimless cap. ion parade here was really wonderful. It rained all morning and I had to work, so I didn't get to go to church. Honestly, I did want to go badly.

But mother, I spent an hour last night that was worth an hour or more in any church. I went aboard a ship, one of the most luxurious I have ever been on, and spent an hour or so talking to about the happiest people I have ever seen. They were American civilians who have just been released from Jap concentration camps in the Philippines. Mostly women and children. They had been in Jap prison camps ever since December, 1941. Some of the children were born in prison. Most of these people were missionaries and business people from places in the United States just like Floydada, Amarillo, and Dalhart. I was in hopes I would get to see Hester West, but she was not on this particular ship. I was quite disappointed.

Flag of Rags and Clothing
While on the ship I held in my hands the most wonderful flag I have ever seen. It was an American flag made from rags and discarded clothing. It was made secretly by the internees of the Bagio prison and was hoisted when the American soldiers neared the camp. They said they tried to sing the national anthem, but were just too choked up to sing. This was at Bagio. Some of those aboard ship was from the Santa Thomas prison. I talked to an elderly couple from Seattle, Washington, who had received only one letter from home during the three years. I talked to one missionary's wife who said that the only package they had received from the States was a red cross box on Christmas of 1943. She still had two cans of food that she had been saving, opening one can at a time and making it last for weeks. I have never seen such faith as these people have. Although they had no news of the war at all for over three years, they knew that we were coming someday, their only dread was that they might not live to see that day.

Maybe I didn't go to Easter church services, but mamma, don't you agree with me that I did see the real Easter in the eyes of those grateful people?

Rainy and Chilly
It has been raining most all day and it is honestly chilly tonight. I go to work at midnight and am off from 8 in the morning until six tomorrow night, then one from 6 to midnight. This cool weather is going to make it swell.

Hale came over for a while this afternoon and brought the papers you sent him. He has applied for O. C. S. Sure hope the kid makes it, and he has a pretty good chance. If he is accepted he will go to Sydney, Australia, for his training.

I wrote Bernice about my new work, how does it sound to you? I am tickled to death over it, and sure hope it leads to something better. During my 12 hours off now I don't have a lot of additional duties and have more time to myself. Sure had a pleasant swim the other day. Five of us went in and sure had a big time. The first time I have been in since I have been over here. May try to go again tomorrow. If so, I'll go by for Hale to go with me.

This afternoon I received three letters and it's about time, one from you dated March 23 and one from Bernice dated March 25, then one from you dated February 9. It was addressed to the 51st Port company and I think it must have travelled all over the whole Pacific, anyway, it got here and I sure enjoyed it. Mom, if you send any more date candy, wrap it in cloth and put it in an ice cream container. It stays dry and better than in a can unless the can is sealed. Tell Mrs. Sims that I am saving her fruit cake for some special occasion, maybe like the end of the European war, and I hope that won't be too long. Sure sounds good.

Please don't worry about me. Mamma, I am feeling fine, and have honestly enjoyed this past week. Now, you know, I'm feeling tops.

Thank You, Ford Owners!

YOU OWNERS of Ford-built cars and trucks deserve great credit for your part in keeping one quarter of the nation's vital automotive transportation rolling. With shortages in manpower and parts, we've been able to do our share of the job only because you have been patient and cooperative. And we thank you!

•• Repair needs mounted swiftly as cars grew older. Parts were scarce. We had to train mechanics and rebuild parts, engines and whole assemblies—normally factory jobs—in our own service departments, often at higher overtime costs.

•• You saw and understood our great problems. You set an example of fair play and common sense, and you helped us by being patient during this critical period.

•• Your cars and trucks still have a long way to go. Probably they already have been driven much farther than normally would be the case. And even when new cars are produced again, it will be a long time before they are available for all who want them!

•• Don't neglect your present car. Working together we can help you get all the "extra" miles that Ford built in! Keep on bringing your car "home" for the best service possible under wartime conditions.

Pacific Island Jungles Furnish Needed Lumber

DALLAS, March.—The lumbermen of Construction Battalion Maintenance Unit 609, 610, 611 and 612, the Seabee Maintenance Units which operate the logging camp and lumber mill at this loggers learning a new trade of cutting culling shrapnel jungle—after and live bombs out of the surrounding brush.

"We always seem to hit shrapnel in the logs," said Arthur G. Batts, Machineist's mate, first class, USNR, of 2802 4th Avenue, Seattle, Washington. "Just as we're gettin in that lick—and always when we get a new saw in."

Not only is much of the timber in the area studded with Jap and American shrapnel from sharp skirmishes which were fought in the surrounding jungle only months before, but also loggers swinging axes, chainsaws snaking logs and bulldozer operators leading in roads must keep one eye peeled for falling timber and the other for stray unexploded bombs which still are found in the area.

"We picked up a thousand pounder the other day," recalled Millen F. Malvick, Shipfitter, First Class, U. S. N. R. of Chester, California. "Our men had been felling and bulging timber all around it for days."

Straddled Both Sides
Lennis E. Smith, Carpenter's mate, Second class, USNR, bulldozer operator, of Willamina, Oregon added, "I sure was glad to be able to see my dozer tracks that day. When they picked up the bomb, my track marks straddled both sides on her."

When the men aren't chopping steel out of trees, replacing teeth in shrapnel-torn circular saws or disposing of live bombs, they log and cut lumber—to the total of 15,000 board feet a day with occasional record days of sixteen thousand.

The officers and men of these maintenance units can't identify the various types of tropical lumber in this area, but they can point to the mountainous piles of two-by-fours, one-by-twelves, one-by-tens and boards and planks of any required size used for the myriad tasks in construction and maintenance on this base and substituted for the chiploads of stateside lumber which would otherwise be necessary. "We don't know what it is," said Thomas G. Cassidy, Shipfitter, second class, USNR, of 7702 8th Avenue Southwest, Seattle, Washington and a former Grays Harbor lumberman at home, "but it looks like wood, bulds like wood—and we sure do have a lot of customers."

Botts and Cassidy are both Seattle woodsmen while Malvick, a Californian and the logging 'boss' at this tropical sawmill, spent 20 years felling and cutting timber up and down the North-Northwesterner of Oregon and much of his life has been spent in construction work near forest country.

"It's a mite hotter here than on the coast," commented Malvick, "but shrapnel and bombs keep us from taking siestas."

Lots of Hot Water With Natural Gas

Hot water spells freedom to the housewife... freedom from the old-fashioned tea kettle and from the tyranny of an uncertain supply. Hot water makes light work of laundry, dish-washing, cooking, and cleaning, as well as baby-care and health and beauty routines. Every household can afford the luxury of WATER HEATED BY NATURAL GAS. The extra economy and satisfaction of an AUTOMATIC GAS WATER HEATER soon pays for the cost. After the war, look for the embodiment of new ideas in the science of water-heating by gas, and make your plans now to enjoy these benefits.

Values rose 15 percent during the year ended in March, 1944, and 21 percent in 1919-1920, when the peak of the World War I boom was reached.

Values have now advanced at an average rate of one percent a month for four years. The rise for the 1941-45 period is 85 percent of the increase for the four-year period 1916-1920. During the year average values increased 15 percent or more in nine states, and 10 percent or more in 26 states.

The increased during the year equalled or exceeded the record increases of 1919-1920 in five states.

SALVAGED CLOTHES WILL SALVAGE THEIR LIVES

Salvation for millions of suffering war victims is to be found in the closets, attics, drawers and trunks of the American people. Discarded clothing—outgrown, outmoded, long forgotten and unworn, can bring untold relief to the stricken people of war-ravaged lands—millions of whom are literally naked. A concerted drive is now under way, by the United National Clothing Collection for War Relief, to make it easy for you to give help where it is most needed.

In Europe alone, men, women and children, totalling more than the entire population of the United States, are in dire need of aid. When the ruthless Nazis overran defenseless countries, they left destruction and desolation in their wake. Many of their hapless victims were left only with whatever clothes they happened to be wearing. These meager coverings have long since worn threadbare.

Reports that have come out of war-devastated countries are heart-rending. Confirmed stories tell of countless deaths due to exposure of seven people sharing a single shirt—of feet wrapping in newspapers for lack of shoes—of children ravaged by illness and disease due to inadequate clothing for their emaciated bodies. All are in desperate need of clothing, shoes and bedding. Unless these needs are filled, the indiscriminate visitations of weather will take a greater toll of human health and human lives adding to the huge total attributable to sadistic oppressors.

These people are our friends and allies. By extending help to them now, we not only give them warmth of body, but also the inner warmth of heart that comes with the knowledge that they have not been forgotten. By helping them, we help ourselves—for with adequate clothing and regained self-respect, these fellow world-citizens can go on to rebuild their part of a war-shattered world.

The drive is set for the entire month of April. The goal is 150,000,000 pounds of clothing. This quota can be reached only if everyone pitches in. Go to it now. Pack your contributions in a bundle so that yours will be ready when your neighborhood receiving center opens. Durable, wearable clothing; shoes; clean bedding; infants' and children's wear; knitted caps—everything usable will be welcomed as heaven-sent!

You can bet a dollar to a doughnut today without giving such big odds.

CONTINUING THE ARGUMENT

The Hesperian's hurried report last week on the wheat crop following the severe freeze, when temperature as low as 19 above zero was recorded, was only the beginning of the argument, of course. The answer will be given when harvest time gets here.

The Hesperian's story said the damage was slight. But there were immediate callers and it could well be that our report is to turn out a poor one. However, to compare last week's weather happening with the same kind of an event that spoiled many prospects in 1938, would be incorrect. We mean there is hardly any comparison, more of a contrast. Whereas last week the temperature reached 19 degrees and remained there for two hours, a low of nine degrees was recorded in 1938 and the thermometer registered 12 and below for hours and hours, and freezing for several more hours. Furthermore the crop that year was some two weeks further advanced than the crop this year.

This season much wheat had been "pastured down." It doesn't seem at all possible it was damaged by the freeze. Where the damage will be found, if more than just slight, will be in the tall wheat where the head was already pushing its way up through the stalk in that particular way nature has provided.

We still maintain the damage was slight and hope we are right. But in case we are wrong we won't want to admit it and will be looking for an out. And here it may be:

We have a late, backward spring with us. Perhaps we'll have some more weather of the same kind before May days get here or—who knows—after that. Then the argument would be over which freeze ruined the crop. You never can tell about weather in this western climate of ours. Sometimes it wins arguments for you that you had rather lose.

PLANTING ANY COTTON?

If you have been following the advertisements of Scott Gin company in the Hesperian the past few weeks you may have come to the conclusion to plant some cotton this year, after all. We have felt, all along, that unless a person would have to re-equip for the job and make a change over in his style of farming, some cotton on most any farm might not be a bad thing this year. For a year or two the world is going to need more of the fleecy staple and more cotton seed than will be available, and cotton products have every chance to go up. Machinery offers a way to harvest that will, or could, by-pass the labor bottleneck. Of for that matter it could happen that labor will be available by November. Or if not that happen then something else. Anyway, as to farming it always seems that when everybody decides that something is not the thing to do, it turns out that it was the thing to do.

After somewhat more normal world commerce comes back and Brazil and Russia, possibly some other cheap labor countries, develop their natural cotton lands then will be time enough to get out and stay out of the cotton business. That can't happen for another season at least, it would seem.

DIFFERENT KINDS OF FARMS

As to what to plant and what route to take to make the most of the markets as well as of the kind

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)

One morning last week I awoke, pulled the covers tighter round me and hated to get up for I could feel it was very cold. I have how cold I could not tell, but when I did get up I went outside to see what the weather was up to. What a sight! Only yesterday the fresh green leaves had waved with the wind, the blossoms promising much fruit. Now the same green leaves were stiff and looked as if made of green plastic, myriads of green leaves to be strung for necklaces. The flowers were of pink plastic, thousands ready for the thread and needle to make more necklaces, or so I thought to myself. But when the sun came out the necklace material was turned to rags.

The vision of juicy peaches, red, red plums and orange pears faded and was lost as if of so many years past and gone. April needs to weep over what she has done, tears so plentiful that will seep to the roots of the trees she has tried to destroy, tears that will gurgle and go down to the roots of the wheat and in the land that is plowed and ready for planting. Yes, April needs to weep and weep a plenty.

Last Tuesday was my time for the Farmer Home Demonstration club and only on the day preceding was I fully aware of it. I have had so much to do since we have been milking 10 cows that I had done lots of my work the slap-dash method. But I thought about the only extra I had to do to get ready for the club was to clean out the oven as the last cobbler had run all over the bottom of it and we had sprinkled salt to stop the smoking.

I thought it was the day that our agent Mrs. Ruth Marshall would be with us and demonstrate quick breads. I would have no refreshments to fix other than coffee and butter and jams for the bread.

I cleaned out the oven, goodness the whole stove needed a thorough cleaning. I washed the cabinet doors only to see that the other doors of the kitchen were dirty, too. One thing called for another. Of course everybody would be in the kitchen. I hit the high spots or of weather that one gambles nature will provide, it should be borne in mind that an argument which fits one type of farmer doesn't fit another.

For instance, the man sitting out on 200 acres or 320, making a home of it and rearing a family that the farm must keep up, has and must have a viewpoint entirely different from that of the investment of syndicate farmer. The latter figures on how he can take land and machinery and labor and make a return on his investment that will equal or better the percentage he could get from some other source. As for instance bonds or stocks or money lending.

What the investment farmer can afford to go ahead on a long range but might be disastrous to his nearby neighbor who has got to make a living out of his land every year. So, if you are watching some nearby big operator that may be, and probably is pretty smart, for your que on what and how to do, remember that his circumstances don't fit yours. You'll either have to go his route the whole way or go it practically not at all. The circumstances and necessities of the matter are not the same at all.

This is not all the book says about farming but it ought to suffice for this issue.

rather cleaned the worst, then on Tuesday awaited the women.

We sat around and talked, I anxiously looking out the door for Mrs. Marshall. Finally I said to Wilma that she must be late in coming, only to be told that it wasn't her day. I sat there in shocked silence! What would I do? What was there in the kitchen that would make sandwiches? I longed for the little boy with the leaves and fishes.

As calmly as I could I excused myself saying not a word of my predicament and went to the pantry, but Wilda was there and she saved the day by taking hold and no one knew but what we served was planned. Anyway I have my kitchen clean for a while!

The day was long and the wind blew hard and I was a little girl in school at Old Emma. Dirt had settled on the desks, lessons had been drabby and long. The day was too warm to study anyhow, but the wind was too high to get outside and play. Gray ashes shopped messily around the rusty stove that had glowed all winter long like a red ruby, now only an old rusty stove, its duty over for a while.

The grass outside was still gray, spring was so far away, I sighed. What was there to show there would ever be a spring? I picked up my books as the last bell rang and went by my father's store, my face warm from the walk and stinging from the wind. The locust trees in the courtyard, my joy and pleasure when in bloom, were still a dark brown as if life had completely gone. Some green grass showed where the prairie fire swept to the edge of the little town in the winter.

Nothing seemed right that day, 'til the south door of the store opened and Marsh Wheeler walked in smiling and lo, spring was here for Marsh Wheeler wore a yellow rose in his buttonhole of his new suit and I knew he had been courting pretty Esther Murray. A yellow rose and romance! The empty day was full and complete.

Our home is not full of wild beasts and dangers all the week but when Friday night comes, the beasts and mean men come to prey on us. Pink parrots talk and purple monkeys climb around. Jaguars and bears are lurking in every dark spot, lions hide to spring out at us, but we are not afraid for Joe Ellis is here with two guns that hiss and sputter and bark and the beasts fall over dead. We talk with the parrots, and all the wild things that are not shot dead as a doorman on the spot, sneak away in the dark of the night, for a mighty hunter gets all that stay. Do you have a guard to keep the wild animals away from your place?

Poem from Sir Edwin Arnold dedicated to Ken Bishop and his lovely bride, Joyce Stinnett. Somewhere there waiteth in this world of ours

For one lone soul, another lonely soul—
Each chasing each through all the weary hours,
And meeting strangely at one sudden goal;
Then blend they like green leaves with golden flowers,
Into one beautiful and perfect whole
And life's long night is ended, and the way
Lies open onward to eternal day.

Prisoner of War Camps in Germany in Chaotic State

As warned by the American Red Cross months ago, the entry of armed forces of the Allied nations into Germany and satellite nations has brought chaotic conditions in German prison camps and citizens of this country who have relatives being held as prisoners may have difficulty for sometime hearing from these, according to Mrs. E. L. Angus, home service secretary of the Floyd County American Red Cross chapter, who is serving as the prisoner of war committee chairman. Several transfers of camps have been made recently she announced and a few hundred Americans have been liberated.

Do Not Write Missing
One of the practices that American civilians are warned against is the effort to write to men who are reported missing in action. This definitely imperils the lives of the missing, Mrs. Angus said. The following directions can be followed safely:

Do not address any correspondence to a soldier in a missing-in-action status:

If you have the address of a prisoner of war use it;
Use the International Red Cross Directory service only if a soldier has been officially reported a prisoner and the camp is unstated.

Phillips has played a major part in "achieving the almost impossible"

THE DEADLY STING of the new Douglas A-26 Invader, already felt in Germany, will soon hit Japan. One of the world's flying fronts, United Nations planes fight with Phillips high-octane fuels.

AVIATION GASOLINE, one of the indispensable munitions of war, was an item with very small production at the beginning of World War II.

The recent situation, however, is best described in the official words of the Special Sub-Committee on Petroleum Investigation, of the House of Representatives:

"The United States has achieved the almost impossible by stepping up its daily production (of 100-octane fuel) from 45,000 barrels in December 1941 to more than 500,000 barrels. In the meantime, a remarkable improvement has been accomplished in the quality of the 100-octane product."

Of those who have contributed to this triumph of production, Phillips is especially proud of its record in having maintained its leading position with the handful of petroleum organizations which are the nation's largest producers of high-octane aviation fuel.

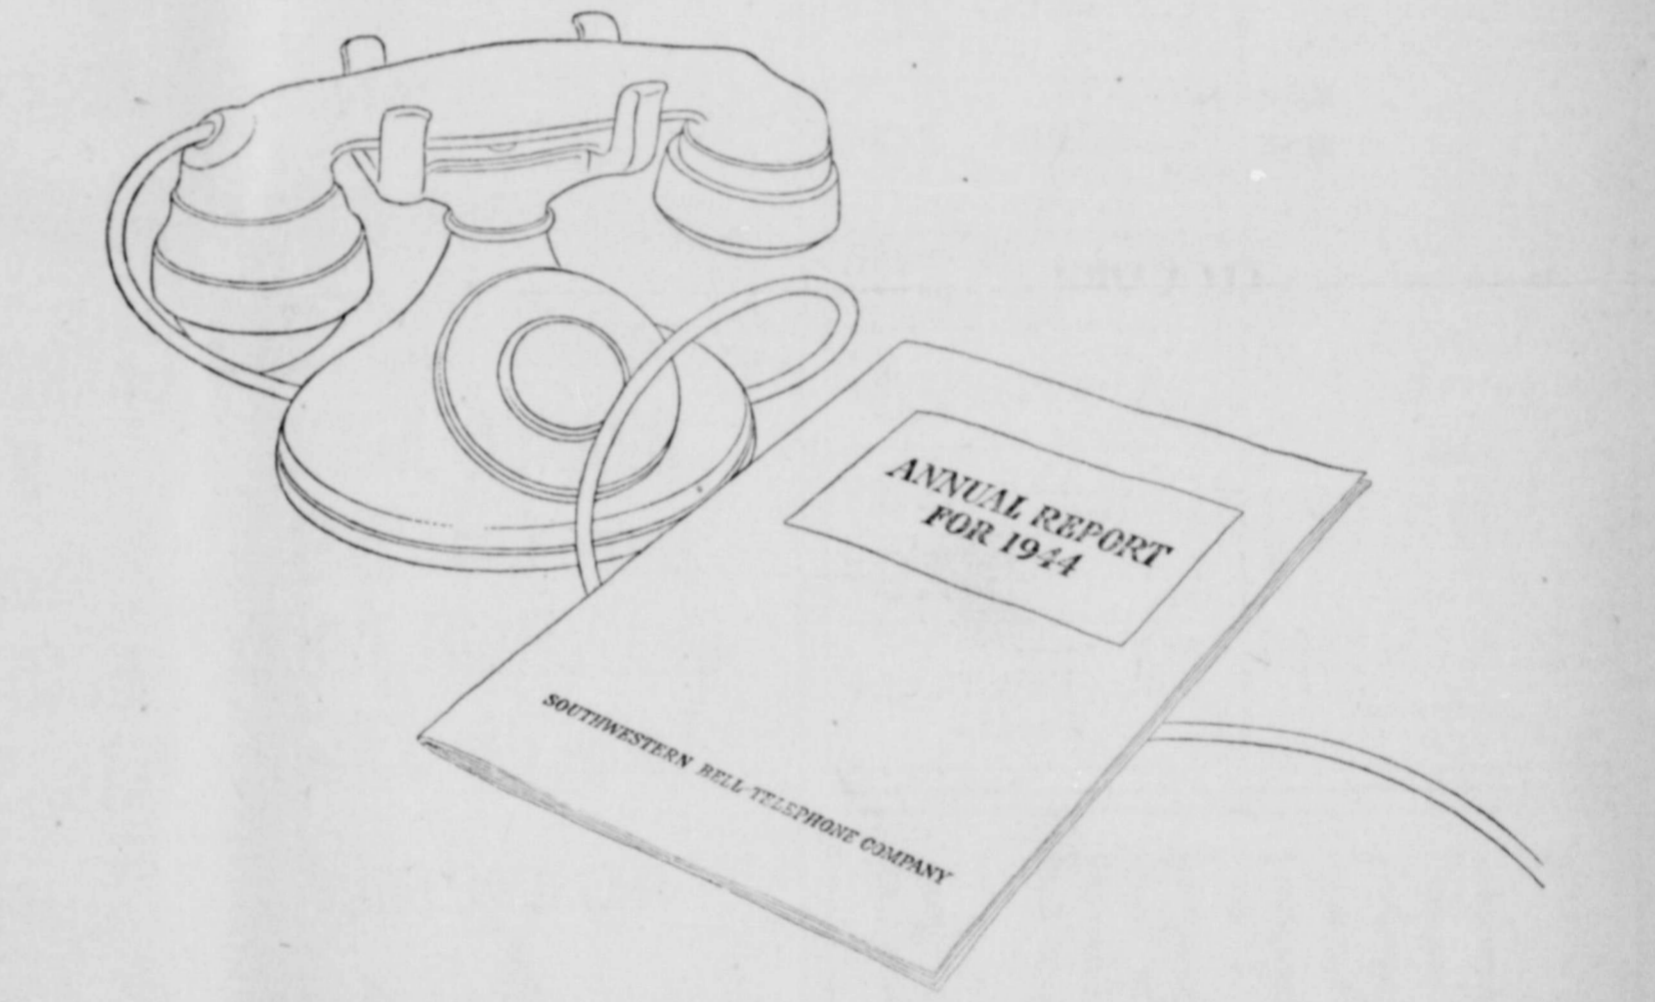

Everything that Phillips has learned, in research and experience, both before and during the war, will be lavishly poured into our wonderfully improved postwar motor fuels for car owners. With complete confidence, we say to you: Expect greater postwar gasolines from Phillips!

In the meantime, every time you see the Orange and Black Phillips 66 Shield, let it remind you that Phillips refineries... in addition to producing gasolines, lubricants, and fuel oils... are also gigantic chemical plants pouring out weapons for victory.

Telephone high lights of 1944

Our annual report, issued in March, showed 1944 was a busy year. There were more long distance calls than ever before, including thousands of war calls to rush through each day for the army, the navy, and the scores of war industries in our territory.

The demand for telephones was heavy. Service qualifying as essential under government requirements was installed promptly. Other new telephones were installed where instruments, lines, and central office equipment were available.

But still we had a big waiting list. It grew throughout the year because almost all new telephone equipment went to the armed services. At the year's end 187,000 persons were on our waiting list for telephones.

For those who had telephones we did virtually a prewar job of supplying service. Three out of every four long distance calls went through while the calling parties "held the line." Local service stood up well. The public helped by keeping calls brief and making only necessary calls.

In the eight army general hospitals in the five states served by this company, special equipment was installed to help the wounded and sick soldiers with their telephoning. Attendants were on hand in most army camps and naval stations to help service men and women call home.

On the money side, we didn't do so well. Of course, revenues were up—10 per cent over 1943. But operating costs and taxes climbed even faster—they rose 11 per cent. The return on the company's investment in telephone property was 4.34 per cent—lower than in 1933, the worst depression year.

As long as the fighting goes on, war demands will be met first. But telephone users here at home can depend on the fact that, even in wartime, this company will bend every effort to give them the best service possible.

8. July 1, shall be the base date for determining the age of dairy animals.

Six Ribbons Each Class
Six ribbons will be awarded in each class judged in all departments, the announcement states, first prize in all divisions being $5 and the second prize $3, except for champions which will get a ribbon in addition to first prize money and award; and also in showmanship, a new event, in which five prizes will be awarded. Showmanship winner will be determined 50 per cent on the condition of the animal and 50 per cent on the boy's ability to show his animal to best advantage. The prizes in this new class will be $5 first, $4 second, $3 third, $2 fourth and $1 fifth.

Although ribbons will be tied on only the first six animals or groups of animals in each class, it is announced that fifth place money will be paid on every animal exhibited by the club boys.

Following are the classes that will be judged:

Fyffe Seed company, and for the grand champion fat lamb 25 cents per pound is offered by E. L. Angus.

Used Clothing—

than to food. That is how bad the situation is."

With large textile shortages for non-military materials in the United States, England, and Canada, Mr. Lehman said that the only way to fill even a fraction of the need overseas is to ask civilians here to contribute usable used clothing to the April drive of the United National Clothing collection.

Here is the test of whether you can help in the used clothing drive with contributions from your family:

Does anybody in your family have a dress that's out of style?

A suit that no longer fits?

Shoes that are seldom worn?

Usable spare quilts or blankets?

Worn cotton garments such as children's clothing or underwear?

more blouses or housecoats than are needed?

An outmoded top coat?

War victims in devastated lands desperately need all kinds of wearable clothing (except evening gowns, dress suits, frivolous slippers, and women's hats).

Mrs. Ruddick—

Born at Odell, Texas, on August 14, 1900, Sophia Austin was married to John Ruddick in Floyd county in 1924. They moved to Borger in 1937. This husband and five children survive her. The children are two sons, Austin, a student in Wayland college, Roger, a member of the naval forces, and three daughters, Laura Jo, Betty June and Virginia Lynn. Also surviving, in addition to the parents and sisters here are six brothers, Paul Austin of Abilene, John Austin of Lubbock, Vern Austin of Van Buren, Arkansas, who were here for the last rites, Lewis Austin, of California, Hulbert with the Army in England, and Truett with the army in France and a third sister, Mrs. Glennis Bullard of Latuna, Texas. Harmon Funeral home had charge of the burial rites.

Judge and Mrs. C. L. Lincoln and daughter, of Brownfield, were here Sunday visiting the judge's mother, Mrs. C. F. Lincoln.
