OPA Office to Stay Same Location

Developments this week in the plans for administration of the OPA regulations in Floyd county include a concession from the Office of Price administration not only to permit the office to be retained in Floydada, but also exactly as in the same old location, and all citizens of Floyd county will have their needs supplied in Floydada insofar as rationing and price control are concerned.

This report was made this week by W. Edd Brown, chairman of the board, who commended the county judge and county commissioners for their move in helping retain a board in this county. The commissioners, in petition from citizens had taken action to provide quarters and equipment for the board when and if OPA was unwilling to keep the office here functioning. The trip to Plainview and back to apply for tires and other rationed items, where the panel handling the matter meets one day each week instead of every day as is the case in Floyd County's board, would have proved to be irksome and expensive.

Plans were made and orders given for the closing of the Rationing office in Floydada on December 11, 1945, and consolidating it with the Board at Plainview.

When this information was released by OPA hundreds of Floyd county citizens voiced their objection to the move, because of the trouble and inconvenience that would result where applicants for rationed articles would be compelled to make a trip to Plainview to present their applications.

A petition was presented to the County Judge and the commissioners, signed by some five hundred citizens of the county, asking that an effort be made to retain the office of the Rationing board in Floydada. This petition was forwarded by Judge Grimes to the OPA officials in Ft. Worth, and a copy to our congressman, George Mahon. Through the concerted effort of Judge Grimes, the four County Commissioners, R. Irwin Bennett and some five hundred other Floyd county citizens, and members of the Ration board, a concession has been made by the OPA and the office will be retained in Floydada, exactly as in the past, at the same old location, and all citizens of Floyd county will have their needs supplied in Floydada insofar as Rationing and Price Control is concerned.

Side Lights From Washington

By George Mahon

There is every indication that the Labor-Management Conference in Washington is getting nowhere. In the meantime, the reconversion program is being definitely retarded by dissension and strikes.

There are usually two sides to every controversy, but it is regrettable that labor and management refuse to compose their differences and thereby promote the public interest.

Legislation designed to improve the situation and make both labor and management accountable has been recommended by a Congressional committee. What may be done will depend upon developments.

President Truman has requested that no legislation involving the Labor-Management conference be passed during the war period.

Unfortunately, during the war period a few racketeers ran roughshod over the public, fomenting strikes in war industries, hampering the war effort, and jeopardizing the safety of our fighting men. They did a great disservice to the war effort, particularly to the men of the armed forces. They should have been stopped. But despite the efforts, protests and votes of some of us who were referred to as "Southern Democrats," these racketeers were not stopped in their tracks as they should have been. The failure to stop them at that time and fix a definite labor-management policy only makes the solution of the present problem more difficult.

China In The Spotlight

There is so much happening both at home and abroad that it is impossible for anyone to keep abreast of the news. China is far away and little known to us, but colorful Pat Hurley put the Chinese situation in the spotlight last week by issuing a blast and resigning as Ambassador to China. The President of the National Press club in Washington invited me to a luncheon where Mr. Hurley spoke to the newsmen for two hours about the controversy.

In September I had spent two nights with Mr. Hurley in Chungking. The first night he took our group out to a dinner at the home of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. The Generalissimo was evidently sincere in his praise of Ambassador Hurley and General Al Wedemeyer, the Commanding General of the Chinese theatre. Moreover, Chiang seemed to be a man of great sincerity of purpose, though there were rumors that his family had profited financially during the war. At the dinner, a Mr. Frank Price, the son of an American missionary, told me he had complete faith in the Generalissimo; that he believed him to be a devout Christian gentleman. Mr. Price told me of an incident that occurred during the darkest days of the war when it seemed that Japan would completely engulf China. He said that the Generalissimo sent for him and asked him to make a list of scripture references that would give strength and guidance to the Generalissimo during those trying times.

Everything In China Confusing

Ambassador Hurley also introduced us to General Mao Tze-Tung, the head of the Communists, and his staff, who had come to Chungking at Hurley's request for conference with the Generalissimo. All Chinese more or less look alike to me, and these Communist military leaders were no exception. They were dressed in plain blue denim without brass buttons. General "Joe", as one of them was called, could speak English, and with him and an interpreter, a bright young Chinese official who was a graduate of Princeton University, we carried on a conversation. However, we learned but little. Everything in China is confusing. It is a country that seems hopelessly enmeshed in tradition, ignorance and poverty.

There appears to be little hope for stability and real democracy in China for a long time to come. I hope General George Marshall, who is going on a mission to China as a special representative of President Truman, can help bring order out of chaos. Our own security is best promoted by a peaceful world

Moreover, the Chinese people have a deep and genuine affection for America, and we could not do other than wish them well.

Golden Eagle Both Good, Bad

Of all the birds of prey, Texas golden eagle is one of the greatest hunters, declares an article in the November issue of Coronet magazine. Like most of nature's creatures he is both bad and good. If he destroys countless harmful rodents, he also destroys game birds, deer and antelope, fawns, lambs, kids and even calves.

The magnificent golden hunter sits on a mountain scanning the valleys below, or he glides thousands of feet in the air searching out his prey with telescopic vision. When he sees what he wants, he folds his wings against his sides and comes down in a power dive with bullet-like swiftness, making a sound like air being forced through a pipe.

Sometimes in flight the golden eagle plays a game of catch, dropping a ground squirrel from a great height and catching it in mid-air. When attacking birds on the wing he dives under them, turns over and fastens his talons in their breasts. Many observers have marveled at the eagle's catch-games while he builds his nest. He repeatedly drops sticks and dives for them apparently testing his accuracy.

Eagles prefer mountain cliffs for their nests, but they have been seen building in trees on grasswood flats in Spanish dagers and on old windmills. They use the same nest year after year, making repairs each spring until the nest becomes four or five feet across and about the same amount deep. They lay their eggs, ordinarily two, in March. Young eagles take their preflight training seriously. They stand on the edge of the nest and flap their wings until they almost knock themselves out, continues Coronet.

When ranchers learned that the airplane could be used effectively in protecting their ranches from eagle raids, they organized eagle clubs, paying an annual membership fee of about sixty dollars for each ranch they owned or operated. Now, the state or county government helps to pay the expenses of a pilot and plane for predatory animal control. In the Trans-Pecos region of Texas, where the golden eagles have for years inflicted heavy losses on livestock and wild game herds, there are now about ninety members in the eagle clubs.

Smarter Than the Devil
Recently, John Casparis, an eagle hunting pilot, said: "Eagles are smarter than the devil. They sit on the smooth side of a mountain and when you jump them, they take to the up-wind side where the air is rough and it is hard to shoot. They will fly as close in as they can, then you have to use the plane like a cutting horse in a herd, banking it and flying close to the mountain to cut the eagle out in the open. An eagle can out-climb a plane. We've followed them up to 12,000 feet and just when we thought we're in gunning distance the eagle would dive under the nose of the plane or fold its wings and drop to earth like a rock. I've followed them down at 120 miles an hour and they left me like I was tied to a cloud."

The golden eagle is a beautiful bird and a wise one, and he does much good. He should be protected, but because of his hunters instinct and voracious appetite, he will always have to be controlled, lest his hunting habits conflict with the right and needs of the ranchmen.

come Volunteer head the herds of J. A. Jameson and Charlie Smith. Local breeders are very desirous of making the utmost advance in butter fat production and herd improvement by using these four sons of this great bull. Extension Service through the County Agent has been very active in the securing of these bulls for local breed improvement.

Topping the list of County achievements for the month in the 4-H dairy program for the year is the recent award of the National Dairy Production contest award and scholarship sponsored by the Kraft Cheese Company to Earl Edwards, Jr., of the Lakeview community. Earl's record of Dairy Improvement and Jersey breed improvement have merited national recognition and he appeared on the American Broadcasting Company national-wide network, Tuesday December 4, to give a summary of his 4-H club dairy achievements to the dairy farmers of the nation.

Conservation Fund Allotment
There has been allocated to Floyd county $151,601.16 to be used as assistance to farmers in carrying out needed conservation practices during the 1946 program year. The Floyd County ACA committee, assisted by members of the community committees and other agricultural workers, have selected the practices considered as most needed in this county for which assistance will be available. The practices selected are as follows:

1. Construction of standard or sprayer terraces for which proper outlets are provided;
2. Construction of earthen dams or reservoirs;
3. Drilling or digging wells - (b) Casings of 4 inches or more in diameter;
4. Contour furrowing noncrop land;
5. Protecting summer fallowed acreage;
6. Contour listing or furrowing of cropland or land planted to crops in 1946;
7. Contour farming intertilled crops;
8. Seeding drilled crops on the contour;
9. Pit cultivation;
10. Deferred grazing;
11. Seeding perennial pasture grasses;
12. Seeding adapted pasture grasses, pasture legumes, or mixtures of grasses and legume;
13. Plowing fireguards on non-crop open pasture and range land;
14. Harvesting grass and legume seed;
15. Establishing a satisfactory cover of winter legumes seeded in the fall of 1945;
16. Establishing a satisfactory cover of small grains (except wheat) seeded in the fall of 1945 and the growth not harvested for grain or hay;
17. Growing green manure or cover crops;
18. Application of phosphate other than raw rock phosphate;
19. Control of destructive plants on noncrop pasture and range land.

Maintain Accurate Accounts
Since we have been allotted a certain amount of funds it is necessary that an accurate account be maintained throughout the program year as to the amount being earned therefore, it is necessary for each producer that expects assistance in carrying out one of these selected practices to secure prior approval from the county ACA committee. When prior approval is issued the amount to be earned is charged against this county allotment, therefore, when the county allotment is obligated by prior approvals no additional practices can be approved.

Whooping Cough Can be Checked

Although whooping cough is still the most crippling and fatal of childhood infections, recent tests indicate it can be controlled through inoculations. Whooping cough is particularly deadly to infants in their first year, and from 1938 to 1940 more than 10,000 children died from this disease.

Hope that this fatal malady may soon be brought under nation-wide control is seen in the result of recent tests in Cleveland, according to the October issue of Good Housekeeping magazine, which states: "Children of Shaker Heights, a suburb of Cleveland, were inoculated against whooping cough with a vaccine and were compared after a period of time with similar groups of Cleveland children who had not been inoculated. 'Proof was positive that such inoculations actually do prevent whooping cough. There was a tremendous reduction in the cases in Shaker Heights and only a very small reduction in Cleveland. 'Among six cases of whooping cough in pre-school children in Shaker Heights, not one had been inoculated.'"

Basketball Next on List
Sometime this week Coach Gresham expected to begin practice in basketball. He still has to find out what he has in the way of material for this game. With a good deal of illness and some injuries he did not intend to rush the boys for a short time, the coach said.

Petersburg will be an official team in District 4-A this year and an eight-team schedule is due to be carried on beginning on Friday January 4, and running through February 8. A total of nine games will be played by each team against seven opponents. The two extra games on each schedule calls for each team to play its nearest neighbor three times in all, but these three games will be called equal to one game.

JONES SUPER STILL THINKS "CUSTOMERS ARE PEOPLE"

If I possessed a shop or store, I'd drive the grouches off my floor!

I'd never let some gloomy guy offend the folks who come to buy;

I'd never keep a boy or clerk . . . with mental toothache at his work.

Nor let a man who draws my pay, drive customers of mine away.

I'd treat the man who takes my time . . . and spends a nickle or a dime

With courtesy and make him feel that I was pleased to close the deal.

Because tomorrow, who can tell, He may want stuff I have to sell.

And in that case, then glad he'll be to spend his dollars all with me.

The reason people pass one door . . . to patronize another store,

Is not because the busier place has better silks, or gloves or lace

Or special prices, but it lies in pleasant words and smiling eyes;

The only difference, I believe, is in the treatment folks receive!

PURCELL'S  Graphs

WE HEAR OFTEN, THESE DAYS, about the loss of "man hours" from strikes and enforced idleness in general. The great economic loss in man hours from sickness in a year's total is appalling but the lamentable fact of this unhappy condition is that a very large percentage of this total could be avoided by All-Chiropractic Method—an occasional adjustment of the spine—an effective and economical way to stay well, indeed.

The satisfactory results obtained by years of experience by the Purcell All-Chiropractic office prove beyond any question of doubt that this natural health method can, by the removal of the cause of disease, get the sick well. THE SAME METHODS CAN AND DO ASSIST IN KEEPING THE WELL FROM GETTING SICK.

BIG TELEPHONE CONSTRUCTION PROGRAM is under way

Telephone service for those waiting is first goal of $53,000,000 project for Texas

The postwar telephone construction and improvement program already has started. It is a $140,000,000 program—of which $53,000,000 will be for Texas—designed, first, to catch up with the demand for service, and second, to provide telephone users with the most adequate and modern service possible in the years ahead.

Service for waiting applicants

We are making thousands of new telephones, hundreds of miles of cable and wire, and equipment to expand scores of central offices. As facilities become available, we are putting in telephones in proper turn for those waiting.

New telephone instruments are being installed as rapidly as they are delivered, and by the first of the year—or shortly thereafter—we shall be able to furnish service for those waiting in neighborhoods where there already is enough central office equipment and cable to connect their telephones.

The slower, more complicated job of building and installing central office equipment, in the many towns where it is needed, is being pushed. A lot of progress will be made by the middle of 1946, and most of this job should be completed by the end of the year.

Service will be even better

When waiting customers have been served, the job of expanding the telephone system to provide the kind and amount of service people want will get into full swing. These include individual lines and residence extensions. More equipment and the most modern devices also will be added.

Hundreds of miles of long distance lines will be placed in underground cable, and steps will be taken to introduce in some places a system by which operators can dial telephones in distant cities.

In the next five years, we plan to install 165,000 new rural telephones, more than doubling the number of farm telephones in this territory.

The conversion of telephone exchanges from manual to dial telephones will be resumed.

Mobile radiotelephoning—whereby drivers of buses, trucks, and automobiles can talk through the central telephone system—will be developed.

How much? How long?

Besides the $140,000,000 for special construction and improvement, another $100,000,000 will be spent for the normal growth of the business. Several years will be required to complete the entire program.

Green Peppers in Assembly Program

Last week's assembly program was sponsored by the Pep squad, and we had a very inspiring program. First, Mr. Graves gave a short talk on our Wellington game and made several announcements. Then Mrs. Mitchell led us in the national anthem and several other songs. The Pep leaders, Myra Nell Hall, La Rue Graves, and Nanette Bishop, led us in many yells and songs. There seemed to be much more school spirit and interest taken in this program than is usual.

THIS WEEK'S . . . PERSONALITY

This week's personality was born in Nashville, Tennessee, and is president of the Senior class. When he was six, he decided he desired a change in climate, so he moved to Sacramento, Kentucky. Then he decided to try another part of Kentucky, and he moved to Garfield. After a while, he grew homesick for Tennessee, and back he went to Gordonville, and then on to Cookeville, Tennessee. After thinking it over for a while, he decided the summers were too warm where he was, so he skipped up to Owensville, Indiana. He was quite happy there, but soon he began to hear rumors about how wonderful Texas was, and how pretty the girls were, and so here he is, and we hope he'll stick around for quite a while, especially Oragene.

Our personality says his favorite food is banana pudding, and his favorite sport is basketball. His favorite time of day is, naturally, mealtime. He believes his favorite class is speech, and his main topic of conversation is girls (namely Oragene). He said the only outstanding thing he ever did was to roll down the stairs in his walker when he was small.

THE GAME OF THE YEAR

In baseball it isn't a run until you touch the home plate. A runner put out between third base and home is just as "out" as though he never got to first.

It's the same way with the price control program. If it's "put out" before it gets to home plate—before supply equals demand—a hurricane of inflation will blow prices sky-high and leaves us finally with a ruinous depression.

Price control came to bat right after Pearl Harbor. The count was three and two when the President issued this "hold-the-line" order in April, 1943. This order was the hit that put price control on the bases.

Price control rounded first when Mussolini fell. It passed second when Hitler collapsed. It shot by third and headed for home when Hirohito surrendered.

But the run doesn't count until you touch home plate. Rounding third is no reason for taking chances. The runner could still be put out and the anti-inflation game lost.

There's a strong temptation to relax when the ninth inning arrives. But where price control is concerned we can't afford to do it. Huge numbers of people in every community who live on fixed income depending on us to get the runner home—that is supply to equal demand. They can't afford to pay large prices for what they buy.

It takes volunteers to win any game. People who have no desire or will to win the game do not make good players. That is why the O. P. A. asks for volunteers to help with their work.

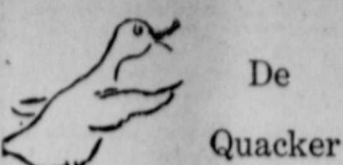

Not only are the volunteers necessary to win the game, but also it is necessary to have all the people behind them pulling and working for them.

Every opportunity is taken in a game to improve standards and qualifications of our volunteers, therefore careful and complete training is given to every volunteer. Even if you are not a volunteer you can help price control by not buying but what is absolutely necessary and not paying over ceiling price for it.

That's the American way to win an American Game.

De Quacker

I swore I saw Judy Foote with James (sh) (and he wasn't just the chauffeur, either!) last Thursday night. But I couldn't tell who the two were in the back seat.

Wilkie Parrish had a little lamb and her name was Dorothy (Lamb). Oh, me! Is this "really" serious? Bill Womack and Louise Clark in Business Arithmetic, hmmm? And what about Tommy Assiter and Betty Kenny in 6th period study hall?

Billy Jack Eudy and Willa seemed to be having a good time walking to school last Wednesday morning, didn't they?
 S. I heard: Claud Parrish going with college debs. Did you forget about Jean Childress?
 Dean, do you mind if we say we don't like your new shade of lipstick? Say, Hughetta and Martha were sure trying to avoid riding the bus to Wellington, weren't they? Can we say we blame them!
 Mistake, mistake! I'm talking about the Lathem and Morgan to do, but here's one that isn't—Pearl Simmons and Bradford Beedy. Woo woo.

Ralls is a pretty nice place, isn't it? Delmar!
 Is it Hollis (what's he got that Floydada boys don't?) and Juaneal Glover? Wilma's still interested in her old flame and Dimples is too! And we thought Louise was too. She's been seen lots with B. J. C. and C. K. H. Oh, me—another love entanglement that just ain't ironed out yet!

We're wondering why all the girls preferred Childress as a place to eat coming back from the ball game. "Hint—the Bombardier school there."
 Thirty minutes wuzn't long enough for Mickey and Corky in Childress. At least they were alone! Time flies doesn't it!
 Surely, everybody will understand why the back seat wuz reserved on the school bus for "Chick" Lambert and Pete ("Meet me in Floydada, Petite", she sang so sweetly!) As they and Wills and Squirt were homeward bound. Yet, I must declare "Spring Night as well be here."
 Nita—Royce McNeill, Don and

June Finley. It's a pity there weren't "more" Wellington football games!!

HALF-MINUTE INTERVIEW

Subject—Wellington Football Game
 George Reid—We got beat but they have pretty girls.
 Melvin—I just wish we had the last half to play again.
 Myra Nell—I thought they did pretty good, myself.
 Bill Womack—Pretty rough.
 Clara—We'll not talk about that, but I do wish we'd won.
 Betty Lou Tye—Looked fine till the half.
 Weims—Could have been better if we'd made more touchdowns.
 Mary Helen—Wellington ran and left us behind.
 Nita Merie—The Whirlwinds put up a pretty hard fight even though they didn't win.
 Jenny—Just fine, I reckon.
 John Gordon—Good game anyway.

John Ray—Just hard luck.
 Mr. Moore—I think we got beat.
 Coach—Not much comment, but we played a good game.

SOCIAL CLUB DINNER

All of the members of the Social club were entertained by a beautifully served turkey dinner last Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Jim Willson. Mrs. E. E. Hinson and Mrs. D. D. Cudd were also hostesses. We all ate until we couldn't eat another bite and had a wonderful time in general. However, when we eat such delicious food, we always have a good time.

Those present were Nancy Brown, Clara Cozby, Hughetta Smartt, Hazel Patton, Martha Cudd, Oragene Willson, Beth Hinson, Mary Helen Lewis, Marjorie Oden, Valerie Burke, Bessie Mae Morrison, Nanette Bishop, La Rue Graves, Myra

Nell Hall, Lavell Hall, Joy Lambert, Mary Eunice Hennessee, Jimmy Hicks, Wanda Sue Teague, Dwina Glassmoyer, Mickey Kennamer, Nita Merie Patterson, Lovene Jones, and June Foster. Miss Anne Swepton, out sponsor, was also present.

We all enjoyed the dinner very much and are looking forward to many more enjoyable affairs.

BAND NEWS

The Band has suddenly discovered that one of the twirlers can do acrobatics. For the last two times June Powell has been doing flips while the band does its formation.

At the Wellington and Floydada "me" the two bands marched out on the field before the game began, met, and played the "Star Spangled Banner." This was very colorful. At the half the Wellington and Floydada bands made formations. Colored pictures were made at this time, also.

CHECK BOOK STUBS are worth money

Cigar stubs are not worth saving. They go into the gutter. Pencil stubs are tossed away. Ticket stubs, you clear out of your pockets. But check stubs are valuable. Each one is a record of a check you have written. Each one is both a guide and a guard to your spending. They tell you how things are going for you financially.

By all means, pay by check these days—for your protection, for your convenience, for your peace of mind.

HOMES FOR VETERANS
 As we see it, most serious problems of post-war readjustment is that of getting the veterans and their families housed at prices they can afford to pay. We do not know the answer to the problem but it is one that is affecting thousands, possibly millions, of young couples all over the land. And the problem is not confined alone to the big cities, but also to small cities, towns and villages.
 Youngsters who have done a good job by their country, taking whatever assignment came their way during the war and have now returned to their little families once more to take up on the home front, need to find a place to live so they can go along and make good homes, happy homes. But they can't do this because there simply are not enough places to live to go around. What the people in established homes can or will do about this remains to be seen. It is a hard assignment for one of us to tell another to move over and give a young couple a place to live. But temporarily that is the only solution we see—to make the houses that now exist house all of those who need to be housed.

KEEPS THEM TORN UP
 One of the things that is happening in connection with the shortage of homes is that veterans who take on jobs find they cannot have their families with them only at a prohibitive cost—cost in dollars and cents not only but cost also in sorry abodes with quite primitive accommodations. They are asking terrible prices for just any kind of an old run-down shack, or for cooped up quarters in the back end of some garage or warehouse.
 Naturally the provider who gets home and proudly assumes the command of the household but finds himself unable to do any better than that of his family is going to be a poor man to have around as an employee. He is going to be out of sorts—torn up as we call it—and will eventually drift away from the job trying to find reasonably good quarters some way somewhere for his family.
 Between this time and Christmas this is going to happen in a good many instances—a veteran is working somewhere away from his family. He is thinking that after two, three or four years away from his family that he is not going to let the same thing happen again. And so he will leave the job to go back to his family to be with them at Christmas-time. That is just about as natural a thing as could be expected. But his worries begin over again the first of the year.

STRIKES WILL WORK OUT
 Also we are of the opinion that the strike situation will work itself out pretty soon—with the passing of New Year or perhaps soon thereafter.
 Right now labor and management are jockeying for position like two traders in a horse swap. Laborers are still trying to adjust themselves to places to live, get settled back into normal, while management has that big difference in the tax on production in mind that will adjust itself around January 1. Both want to get busy but both figure another 90 days won't hurt a lot, and that things will look somewhat better in January.
 Labor will reap some advantage in more take home pay, while management likely will reap an advantage of having a more responsible worker on the job if they wait a bit to settle their differences.
 As to labor being gone Bolshevik that is all hokey, we think. The great mass of laboring people still have their wits about them. They know the men they work for have not to make money or they can't keep their help. The laborers' bosses are trying to bargain as well as they can while the bargaining is good.
 Meanwhile the country most likely would be much better off with fewer instead of more laws to govern the relations of employer and employee. They need to be turned loose, both of them. The route we are headed—regimenting labor and capital through the acts of congress—just won't work any more than it worked in Germany, any more than it has worked in Russia. In neither of those unhappy countries is the working man nor his employer a free man.
WHO WILL BE IT
 The milkmen quite likely are like the rest of the folks. The situation must be kept in hand, they admit. Inflation must not do its deadly work as it did after the last war. All are sympathetic with Mr. Bowles and the OPA all the way down the line and including the price of milk and canned tomatoes.
 Their situation, however, is like that of the service man who wrote from the Pacific that the war-conquered countries must be occupied and Uncle Sam must maintain armies in those countries composed of somebody else, not him. Personally, he wants to come home and resume his civilian status.
 She who gorges is never gorgeous.

As A Farm Woman Thinks
 (By Nellie Witt Spikes)

This is a beautiful Saturday morning, a little cloudy and cool but the coolness makes one feel good. The sunshine comes intermittently through a thin covering of clouds that look like snow is not far off. The wheat needs moisture, tho, and as much as we dislike bad weather, we have to have it to make another crop.
 Mr. Spikes is walking around. Went down to his shop. I know he will find things pretty well strewn around and not the way he kept them. Wilda and I have had to do things as we could. Instead of patching the plank fence to hold the old sow and pigs, we got all the wagon sideboards and wired them to the sides where they were needed. Well there isn't any cotton and they will not be needed for a long, long time.
 "One Woman's Opinion" is back in the newsy, good paper. The Petersburg Journal and we are glad that Ann Claitor has had time to write it again. She finds such interesting things in her life and surely puts them down well. Her "grass-hopper days" will have to hurry up to catch such an interesting columnist.
 We used the Home Demonstration method of cooking our turkey at Thanksgiving and found the turkey unusually delicious. We put the turkey in the dishpan as our roaster was not large enough, turned the breast down and covered the back of the bird with a large thick cloth dipped and soaked in melted butter.

I appreciate so much the interest several folks showed by sending me the old song, "The Fatal Wedding." Thanks to Mrs. A. S. Cummings, Mrs. Jim Griggs, Tucumcari, New Mexico, Mrs. Pearl Roberts, Sullivan, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Jester of Montague, Texas. I will print it at the end of this column.
 Mrs. Ruth Simpson Cooper of Goodland, Kansas, remembers that Mr. Spikes likes fried pies as well as her own husband and got busy on a delightful poem which she dedicates to both, and will make your own mouth water for the taste of old fashioned fried pies:
 Nectar and ambrosia
 Nor caviar and ice cream
 Do not approach the pinnacle
 Of digestion's sweetest dream
 But give me fruit that's tart, but sweet—
 Apple, peach, or apricot—
 Then wrap it in a doughy coat
 And fry it, piping hot.
 The fragrance of the orchard blends
 With richness of the fat;
 And crispness of the crust is crowned
 With a melting butter pat.
 If I should merit Heaven's gates,
 It won't be Paradise
 Unless an aproned angel serves
 Me stacks of fresh fried pies.

J. D. and Roxie Travis of Cone brought me some rocks when they took a trip lately. One from White City, New Mexico, and two from Signal, the highest peak in Texas. It is nice to know friends have time to remember you even when they are having such good sightseeing on trip and think to bring interesting and pretty rocks for my collection.
 Mrs. Jim Griggs writes they like the Hesperian. "We read it, then pass it to Jack Fish, then he sends it to Mr. Wagner to read. Both families used to live at Floydada, so that makes the paper very interesting and enjoyed a lot." How does that sound, Mr. Steen?
The Fatal Wedding
 The wedding bells were ringing on a cold bright winter's night,
 The church was decorated, all within was gay and bright.
 A mother with her baby came and saw those lights aglow
 She thought how those same bells had chimed for her three years ago.
 I'd like to be admitted, sir, she told the sexton
 Just for the sake of baby, to protect her from the cold.
 He told her that the wedding there was for the rich and grand
 And with the eager, watching crowd, outside she'd have to stand.
 Chorus
 While the wedding bells were ringing, while the bride and groom were there
 Marching up the aisle together

whilst the organ pealed an air.
 Telling tales of fond affection, vowing nevermore to part
 'Tis just another fatal wedding, just another broken heart.
 2. She begged the sexton once again to let her pass inside
 For baby's sake you may step in, the gray-haired man replied
 'If anyone knows the reason why this couple should not wed
 Speak now or hold your peace forever, so the preacher said.
 I must object, the woman said, in voice so meek and mild.
 The bridegroom is my husband and this our little child.
 What proof have you, the preacher said, My infant she replied.
 She raised her babe, then knelt and prayed. The little one had died.
 Chorus.
 3. The parents of the bride then took the outcast by the arm
 We'll care for you through life, they said, You've saved our child from harm.
 The parents, bride and outcast in a carriage drove away—
 The husband died by his own hand before the break of day—
 No wedding feast was spread that night. Two graves were made next day.
 In one the little baby, in one the father lay—
 This story has been often told by firesides warm and bright
 Of bride and groom, poor outcast and that fatal wedding night.

Floyd County 14 Years Ago
 (Issue of December 3, 1931)
 When mustard grows rank enough that one stalk makes enough for a meal for an ordinary family, it is growing rank. And that is exactly what a "stalk" of mustard brought into The Hesperian office yesterday by W. A. Cates did, and it was nice tender mustard, too.
 Mrs. W. T. Hopper, 49, of the Lakeside community, who died Thanksgiving day at 3 o'clock of chronic nephritis after an illness of 13 weeks, was buried at Reheobeth cemetery, seven miles south of Arlington.
 Earnest Birchfield was voted into membership in the Floydada volunteer fire department at a meeting held Tuesday night at the city hall.
 County Attorney and Mrs. Tony B. Maxey and daughters returned home the first of the week from Celina, Tennessee, where they had been visiting relatives and friends at their former home during the month of November.
 Melvin Blasingame, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Blasingame, who reside one mile west of town, is convalescing from serious burns on his left leg. Tuesday night when gasoline which he was emptying from a can became ignited.
 Search was being continued Thursday morning for a Chevrolet coupe owned by Fred Wimberly taken from in front of his home on Wednesday night.
 Price Scott, superintendent of Floyd county schools, was elected president of the county superintendents' division of the State Teachers' association at the annual convention held the latter part of last week at Amarillo.
 BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Bishop, city, November 28, a son named Joe Dan.
 With one Captain Treadway leading the attack, Lamesa's Golden Turnados roared across their freak gridiron Thanksgiving day to register a heart-breaking 6-0 victory over Floydada's powerful Whirlwind team for the football championship of District 2, Class B.
 Eight stars comprise the Great Dipper.

of his life and his principles. And Kurt Steel reveals the real Davy Crockett in his article in the November Esquire... for Davy Crockett is an American epic and his life, though filled with failures, when measured by lasting human standards, was actually a lustrous success.

Davy Crockett, — pioneer, Indian fighter, bear hunter, teller of tall tales, martyr of the Alamo—had politics thrust on him while he was still in his 20's. He was appointed one of the magistrates of a small pioneer Tennessee settlement. From there he was elected to the Tennessee legislature and re-elected for a second term. It was during this term that Crockett was compelled by his rawhide sense of honesty to vote against the man who had been his greatest hero. Andrew Jackson whose name was already in nomination for the presidency, was also put up by party hacks for a seat in the Senate against a Senator Williams, popular candidate for re-election. Since national senators were elected by the members of the state legislature, Jackson's name as the machine intended, easily defeated Williams. But Crockett, convinced that Williams was an able senator, voted against Old Hickory on this local issue. Jackson men threatened reprisal, but Crockett's independence pleased the voters in his district and in 1827 they elected him to Congress.

As a congressman elected on Jackson's ticket from Jackson's own state Davy started his Washington career trying honestly to support the President's politics. But his own rugged independence was too much for him and little by little Davy's differences with his one-time hero grew painfully acute. In 1835 Davy said good-bye to Congress with a sentence that typifies his real character. Leaving the capitol for the last time, Crockett squared his shoulders and said proudly, "I wear no man's collar." He never did. Crockett's discouragement in Congress left him with an inevitable decision. He picked up his rifle and headed west. In Texas he found the country he sought and planned to settle a 4,000-acre homestead on the Red River and build his fortunes anew. There was seething excitement in San Antonio when Crockett arrived in January, 1836. Settlers had proclaimed the separate Republic of Texas and Santa Ana was assembling his army for open war.

Barely two months later, at the age of 49, he was killed defending the Alamo when Santa Ana's 6,000 soldiers closed murderously in on a garrison of 183 riflemen. But Davy's eagerness to serve the new Republic was not futile, for the defense of the Alamo roused Texas to a new pitch of rebellion. By the end of April Santa Ana's army was destroyed, the dictator a prisoner and the independence of Texas assured.

For twenty years Crockett "Almanacs" was published annually from one end of the country to the other. Davy became the first of the dime novel heroes, but by the time of the Civil War his saga had reached epic proportions. But, concludes Steel in Esquire, none of these colorful anecdotes typifies the real character of Davy Crockett as did that simple account of his farewell to Washington.

YES, THEY'LL RUN ON GIN

According to extensive tests recently completed, automobiles will operate on gin and other mixtures of alcohol and water, with only moderate changes in their alcohol and fuel systems. Under proper conditions, power output and flexibility of operation are satisfactory. An automobile, however, that would run 100 miles on one tankful of gasoline would run only 20 miles on the same tankful of 90 proof gin. While that would add opportunities in the filling station business, motorists probably would not be so much in favor of those frequent stops.

The present cost of gin and other alcohol blends in comparison with even the most heavily-taxed gasoline seemingly presents an insurmountable hurdle to the use of alcohol blends for motor fuel in this country at present.

In case, however, motorists should decide they would like to use alcohol instead of gasoline in their tanks, the petroleum industry is prepared to produce and supply vast quantities of alcohol at prices far below those now prevailing.

HOW NOT TO RETIRE

Leonard Lyon's item about a loafer in a tank-town depot who won $15,000 from Nick the Greek, fabulous gambler, in a between-trains card game caught our eye. The win-ner, Mr. Lyons said, bought a farm and retired on it presumably to live the life Riley ever after. "Could he do it?" we asked Paul V. Maris, director of the ownership division, Farm Security Administration. "Could he buy a $15,000 farm and retire?" Mr. Maris snorted.

"If he invested $10,000 in good land and $5,000 in buildings and equipment he had a relatively small farm," Mr. Maris said.

"Then all he had to do was go to work. I mean from 4 a. m. till sundown, winter and summer, through wet weather, droughts, blizzards and all the other hazards of steps keeps curious infants from tumbling townstairs.

Throughout the hours are plenty that beset farming. By doing that he could pay the taxes, keep up repairs, replace worn-out equipment, pay the hired man and send the children to school. In good years he might even make a little money. "But buy a farm and retire on it? It's a good trick—but don't try it." —Pathfinder.

AUTOMATIC WINDOW CLOSER

Worry about rain ruining the living room rug or curtains can be eliminated by an electrical device scheduled for early production which opens and closes windows thermostatically. Thus, if the night is hot and there are threatening clouds, it will be safe to leave the house. If the storm strikes, the accompanying drop in temperature will cause the windows to close.

The automobile motor pounded and suddenly wheezed to a stop on a lonely road. "I wonder," mused the sailor "what that knock is?" "Maybe," suggested his blonde companion, "it's opportunity."

OREGON'S ONE MAN TOWN

Millikan, Ore., America's smallest town, has doubled its population. Billy Rahn, who founded it, sold out to Mr. and Mrs. George Petry of Bend, Oregon. When Mr. Rahn moved away and the Petrys moved in, Millikan's population jumped from one to two.

What the Petrys bought was a store and postoffice with living quarters; a filling station; tourist cabins; and a level field called "the airport."

Mr. Rahn founded Millikan in 1915, during Oregon's homesteading era. He filed claims on 320 acres and set up store for the other homesteaders beside a dirt road.

The other homesteaders moved away. A modern highway replaced the dirt road, and Mr. Rahn moved his store there. When the 1940 federal census was taken, Mr. Rahn counted himself, reported on the first day. Later he put up the "For Sale" sign.—Pathfinder.

A rich man lying on his death bed called his chauffeur who had been in his service for years, and said:

"Ah Sykes, I am going on a long and rugged journey, worse than ever you drove me.

"Well, sir," consoled the chauffeur, "there's one comfort, it's all down hill and you won't need gasoline."

What's your name little boy? asked the minister.

William, answered the lad.

And how old are you, William?

According to my school examination, I have a psychological age of 10, a moral age of 3, anatomically I'm 7, mentally I'm 9, but if you are referring to my chronological age I'm 8.
