Seven Years Perseverance Pays Golfer

Seven years ago the golf bug bit Clark and it was seven years ago that one day, after he had been long at golfing in odd hours, he vowed he would one day win the course at Floydada Country Club...

Known to be 21 years old and possibly older, the plant in April began budding out from the thorns with which nature surrounds it and grew at the rate of eight inches to a foot a day until it reached the height of nearly 15 feet.

On the right is shown a picture of the plant made about May 20. On the left is the picture as it was a few days ago when the photographer snapped it. In the background is the Lanier's Spanish-type home.

The century plant was put out in the spring of 1929 here, a present from friends at Ballinger, who thought the plant was five years old at the time. It had stood dormant through all these years until it suddenly burst forth this spring and began to run up the stalk.

Softball Second Half Meeting Set For Friday Night

A meeting Friday night of this week, July 12, to determine the number of teams that can and will play in the second half of the league games, has been called by Garlan G. Glover at Glover's Barber shop.

With the ending of the first half in games late this afternoon, the second half decision looms large in local softball circles.

"It is important that all managers and team captains be there, as we are going to find out the number of teams that can and will play in the second half," said Mr. Glover yesterday. Glover was elected league manager at the opening of the season. "If a manager can't be present be sure to have a man there who can tell us what you want and what you are going to do," Glover said. Eleven teams competed in the first half.

District Governor Chas. Dean, of Plainview, who delivered the charter and set the organization to functioning, was accompanied by H. B. Earthman, district cabinet officer. At present there are 28 members although only 19 names appear on the official charter roster.

Edd Johnson was chosen president at the election of officers, G. E. Mayo secretary-treasurer, J. G. Wood first vice-president and Walter Collins second vice-president. Directors are J. M. Willson sr., W. B. Henry, J. M. Daniel and W. E. Grimes. John Garner is Lion tamer and Jake Watson tall twister.

Rainey's Saturday Date Cancelled

AUSTIN, Texas, July 8.—(Spl)—Dr. Homer P. Rainey's appearance in Floydada has been cancelled because the candidate for governor is to testify in Dallas on July 12-13 before the Federal Communications commission.

The FCC hearing in Dallas concerns Dr. Rainey's charge against the Texas Quality network of "restrictive agreement" among the four 50,000-watt stations. Dr. Rainey charges that the agreement was entered into after it was generally known he would be a candidate for governor, and was designed to keep him from presenting his program to the public.

Dr. Rainey's revamped schedule cancels speeches in Paducah, Tullis and Plainview on Friday and in Floydada, Spur, and Tahoka Saturday.

HALL FAVORS RAINEY

Claude V. Hall, former Floyd county journalist, teacher and lawyer, who has been making his home at Commerce, Texas, for many years strongly favors the candidacy of Dr. Homer P. Rainey, former president of the University of Texas.

The better Dr. Rainey is known and understood the better he stands in popular esteem and support, Mr. Hall declares in a recent letter to his cousin, Mrs. Maud Hollums, this week. Mr. Hall entertained Dr. Rainey in his home on the occasion of the latter's visit to Commerce on May 7.

Church Roof Beams Placed

Work is progressing rapidly on the new auditorium of the First Baptist church. The beams are in place and the roof will be begun soon, resulting in a beautiful church edifice.

Celebration Acclaimed Success

During the Celebration. High light of the 4th of July in Floydada was the appearance of General Wainwright, who is shown above after he made his address being presented textile gifts from Texas Technological college by J. M. Willson, whose committee furnished the materials. On the left of the general Mr. Willson is speaking, on his right is Gaines Davis, who was master of ceremonies. Below note the inevitable tow head, always present when there's a speaking, a uniform or a band.

Thousands Hear Gen. Wainwright

Floydada's crowd on Independence day, who turned out to see and honor General Jonathan M. Wainwright, numbered some 15,000 persons, all in good spirits, on the closing day of the two-day celebration.

The celebration, sponsored and carried through by McDermott post, American Legion with Gaines Davis in the role of general chairman, was without doubt one of the most successfully executed entertainments ever staged in the community.

Despite the fact that a rush of farm work, plowing in particular kept many hundreds from attending the crowd was as large as any ever gathered here for an occasion, observers said.

General Wainwright was a modest hero and easily won the plaudits of his huge audience in the afternoon of the second day. He was presented by Herman Nami commander of the Department of Texas American Legion. His official party which arrived from San Antonio after a plane landing in Lubbock included his aide, Col. O. I. Holman, Nami, Lawrence Newton, San Antonio, Nami's aide, Henry Teubel Tulla, past division commander American Legion, A. C. Jackson Lubbock, district commander. The Floydada Legionnaires who met them were J. M. Willson and John B. Stapleton of the committee, W. B. Henry, post commander, and Lynn Colville.

The Domino bull donated by Johnnie Lackey to the Legion post was bought by George Kuykendall of Lubbock.

Mrs. Smalley Winner of Car
Mrs. John Smalley of Lockney was presented with the Legion post's Chevrolet, bought especially for the celebration.

Rodeo Had Good Crowds
Good crowds, especially on the second day, marked the attendance at the rodeo, where Calvin Steen was assisted by Jack Johnson, president of the rodeo club, Buren Cates, A. H. Thornton and a half dozen of more other volunteers to make the rodeo a success financially as well as an entertainment feature.

College Sets Up Laboratory Soil Testing Service

A long needed soil testing laboratory has been set up at Texas A. and M. college to make chemical analysis of soil samples according to A. L. Hartog, Floyd county agent. The service, as set up by the board of directors, is open to the general public. The laboratory will be operated by the Division of Chemistry, Texas Agricultural Experiment station, in cooperation with the School of Agriculture and the Extension service. Fees will be charged ranging from 25 cents for pH test to $7.50 for complete soil analysis.

"An analysis of a sample of soil improperly taken is without value," said Hartog quoting Dr. J. P. Fudge, who is to be in charge of the laboratory. Persons wishing to submit soil samples should contact their county agent for sampling directions. Before analysis information with reference to the soil, its use and location, is needed and a form is available at the agent's office and must be filled out and returned with the soil sample.

After the analysis is completed the results will be turned over to M. K. Thornton, Extension service agricultural chemist, and his associates will make recommendations for the improvement of the soil in the light of the chemical content and history.

The county agricultural agent in the county concerned will receive a copy of the analysis and recommendations, and will be able to aid in the solution of any other problem which may arise in the light of local conditions.

Canned fruits have been added to the exhibit program for 1946. The growers exhibit will be in competition with exhibits that cover all of Texas and out of state entries.

A Farm Woman Thinks

By Nellie Witt Spikes)

There has been so much work the week I have not had time to write and really take stock of my days. The potatoes had been planted last week. Mr. Spikes sat down and pulled the potatoes in the vines as Wilda and I dug. We made four bushels off of short rows. Not too bad. Beans had to be canned last week and this Monday morning was a wash tub full of Ken-Wonders, as nice as the ones in seed catalogues. A bucket of white Refuges. Now they are in the jars to be canned. Cannery are ready to come off the line. Beans put in for processing. Hot, heavy work, canning. It pays in the winter time to have the lawn at last got enough to cut. It is not such a job, either. Joe Ellis was here and he helped me cut it. We made up a pot of soap from the last of the soap grease. Then the pears which were had to be picked up. We gave most of them away. There is no sugar for preserving. They are good to eat fresh, anyway. I might catch up with the work in a while if washing and drying did not come once a week.

Almost got to hear General Wright speak. We went after Mr. Spikes and I. He got near the courthouse and I had to find a parking place. I went west and more cars. I turned east, but did not want to go to Matador. Then I heard the famous Tech band music from the ever turning round. Goodness sakes, was a place under some shady trees. I looked longingly at the green trees at the house. I looked at the hot sun and my aching feet rebelled. I was fascinated watching the children bobbing up and down in the merry-go-round. Heard laughing than in a long time. Saw more love-making than I have at a picture show. For once did I leave my cool under the shady trees till the sun began to leave town and I could park close enough to Mr. Spikes.

When I planted my flowers would give pleasure to me and some of them went to the friends the Ryals who have a new son and many went to the Baptist church at the wedding of two of my friends when Mr. and Mrs. Hart's sweet, pretty daughter became the bride of Morris Wideman. May the roses be many along their way their lives be as sweet and fragrant as the flowers at their wedding.

Summer
Myle Vorst Sheppard walk the open field before it is too late revel in this season at Heaven's gate!
do not hesitate.
This beauty is a fleeting thing;
mine will not forever bloom,
the birds forever sing.
Summer is such a short, brief span that deeply while you can of warmth and growth.
beath to accept less lets your full share of this green loveliness.
me, walk in quiet joy
While skies are sunny overhead.
In this rich season
the hopes of mankind fed in this bright hour, then bird songs flood meadow and hill and blossoms, cool and still,
and lovingly the pulsing sod, the hearts of men grow closer to their God!

Conservation District News

Roe Dalton, who lives in the Trick conservation group completed the conservation plan for his farm last week and will receive assistance from the Floyd County Soil Conservation district in getting the plan in operation. His plan includes plantings of legumes in a rotation for improvement of soil fertility and the retirement from cultivation of a small acreage which was found to be too steep to safely cultivate year after year.

T. B. Mitchell, a district cooperator who lives in the Pleasant Valley conservation group, recently harvested seed from a 14-acre field of hairy vetch. He stated that the yield was light and that a large number of seed pods had shattered before harvest.

W. M. Goode of the North Barwise conservation group has harvested seed from a small planting of weeping love grass with a combine. The small size of the seed make them very difficult to harvest and special adjustments are needed on the combine before it will do a satisfactory job. According to Noman Hamilton, Soil Conservation service technician who helped Mr. Goode with the harvesting, the yield was good but the exact yield cannot be determined until the seed have been cleaned.

P. F. Bertrand a District cooperator of the South Floydada conservation group, completed terraces this week on his 160 acre farm.

Floyd Moore, of the South Lockney conservation group is preparing sixty acres of irrigated land for seeding to grass and legume mixture in late summer.

Total rainfall for the month of June as recorded at various farms over the District is as follows: W. O. Jones, 2.31 inches; J. J. Smith, 2.52 inches; J. A. Taylor, 2.47 inches; Herman King, 3.04 inches; Claude Ring, 2.91 inches; J. S. Lackey, 2.04 inches; and H. W. Schacht, 3.58 inches.

SHOULD WE ASK TO KNOW?

The first big test of the atomic bomb on the far reaches of the Pacific has been made. The navy furnished a ninety-seven million dollar "guinea pig" in old ships capital and smaller. Everything was done to be sure the test would be a good one. No expense was spared of course, the army and navy working together to see that everything was just right. And with them also worked some of the country's top-flight scientists, who uncovered the secret of re-arranging the elements of matter. The goats and the palm trees, the ships and the island—everything was placed just so.

However, nobody seems to be satisfied with the test, or at least with that portion of the test which has been made public. Perhaps we should say nobody is pleased with the way the publicity in connection with the test was handled. The people would like to know what actually happened when the atoms were split over Bikini, when the clouds rolled up to 50 thousand feet high. They suspect they have not been told.

Whether the taxpayer is entitled to learn the facts or not we would have to leave to somebody else to know. The taxpayer paid or will pay the bill. Possibly, if he had all the information he would have something too dangerous, for his experience in this world, to handle wisely. Maybe it is as well that he does not know—that the information be kept away from him, also kept away from such subversive persons as might handle the facts in a way that would be dangerous to world welfare. It looks like, though, there could be no harm in the newspaper men and the radio boys telling what they actually saw and heard. Not being scientists they could not give away secrets which they knew not The Hesperian, along with a lot of other newspapers, large and small paid for "coverage" on the test
 What we got instead of coverage, it seems to us, was several columns of bologna. We hope we are wrong and suspect we are right about this.

Exploit Huge Deposit of Rock Road Building

CROSBYTON, July 5—Crosbyton's rock enterprise, which is to be as Northwest Materials will be ready to start business in a short time, judging progress being made in the plant on the Arno! north of the city says a review in a story to the plant Sunday showed that the main unit crusher has already been using a steam shovel, and has been dug above the which the massive rock has been placed. It has been on a large concrete which indicates that the business set up on a permanent

Ed. S. Ballard was busy Sunday at the site digging a well to furnish water for the business. A road leading down to the crusher and another one from the crusher down to the quarry have been laid out. A large amount of other machinery including a big filter for grading the crushed rock, conveyors, and auxiliary crushers, are on the site ready for placing.

John Clapp and his son, John Clapp, Jr., owners of the business were not on hand Sunday, but it is learned that they are buying and erecting their machinery on a permanent basis. There is enough rock on hand to last for many years, and it has all passed rigid state highway department requirements.

Some time ago Mr. Clapp said that the business would employ from 25 to 30 men, counting the truck drivers. This will be Crosbyton's largest single payroll, and will bring about an increase of at least 150 people in the town's population.

Francis Wester of San Diego California, arrived Tuesday, July 2 for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wester during the holiday celebration. He plans to return to California this week-end.

Thompson, also a Methodist minister and serving the First Methodist church in Albany, Texas, have collaborated in writing a booklet of brief sermons entitled "Every Day Religion". This timely booklet of sermons is being received with enthusiasm since its publication. The pastor and people of First Methodist welcome Brother Thompson to this church. Morning worship is conducted at 11 and evening worship at 7:30.

Marion Barton In Sheriff's Race

"I want to serve the people of Floyd County as their next sheriff, because I feel I am qualified by experience to fill the office. I am asking the people to give me a job," said M. A. (Marion) Barton, who has worked as a peace officer here and as a guard at McLean, Texas, helping build that internment camp.

"If elected sheriff I pledge an intelligent and business-like administration with the best law enforcement that I am capable of giving," said Barton. "I will also lend full co-operation with all other peace enforcement agencies, city, state, and federal and will solicit suggestions and assistance from all the law-abiding citizens. I invite a searching examination of my records as an officer and as a citizen."

Barton has been a citizen of Floyd County since 1925, has farmed part of the time and was your deputy sheriff two years after working at McLean, Texas. He is a native of Texas, having been born in Hood county. Barton says he will not be inexperienced in the sheriff's office because he has already performed every duty of the office many times.

"I will appreciate each vote and each person's influence in helping me in this race," he concluded.

Jennings Makes Reply to Scandal

When I entered this race for state representative two years ago I promised not to indulge in any smear campaign or mud-slinging and through both campaigns I have lived up to this pledge religiously and so far as I know none of my friends have participated in such tactics. If they have, it certainly was without my knowledge or consent. If I have to be elected with the aid of a smear campaign, I do not want the office.

I have tried to abstain from making any mention of any or all political rumors spread during this campaign, but there are a few scoundrel-mongers who are persistently spreading these untruths. There is an old adage which says "SILENCE GIVES CONSENT" and since there is not one iota of truth in these scandalous smears I deny the allegations and defy the alligators. Now I know that none of the opposition (please note that I did not say opponents) will admit to having made these rash statements, but it is an evident fact that none of my friends or supporters would be guilty of such ugly remarks. So, I will leave it to the people to decide from whom these rumors are coming.

Now, I shall list and reply to these rumors as follows:

(1) That Joe Jennings was brought out and that his entire campaign expenses are being paid by Anderson, Clayton & Company That Anderson, Clayton & Company paid for his farm for him. I emphatically state that I bought and paid for my own farm without any gift or help of any kind other than ordinary commercial loans. Furthermore, Anderson, Clayton & Company knew nothing of my intentions until I had announced for this office. And they have not paid a single cent to my campaign expenses. I will pay a reward of $500 to any person who can produce any evidence that any of the above charges are correct or have any foundation.

(2) That Joe Jennings went to Austin to get money to make his campaign on. I will pay $50.00 for the name and address of any party or parties in Austin or elsewhere who are putting up this money. I will pay another $50.00 for proof that I received a red cent of such moneys.

(3) That Joe Jennings said down in Lamb county "to hell with the old folks." I will pay $50.00 for proof of this statement giving date, place, and to whom this statement was made.

(4) That Joe Jennings burned two Sudan pummy stacks rather than sell same for $10.00 per ton. I will pay $50.00 for proof that I was offered $10.00 per ton or any other amount for these pummies.

(5) That Joe Jennings is growing Sudan on a Johnson grass farm and that so many Johnson seed per pound were found in every sack of Sudan seed he sold. Of the more than 2000 bags of Sudan seed I have sold, not one bag has been turned down on account of Johnson grass or for any other cause. I will pay $100.00 for proof of this dastardly statement.

Now, here is an opportunity for some one to make $500.00 in easy money. The first to produce the proof or proofs will get the money so you had better hurry.

Sand Does Heavy Damage to Cotton in South Crosby

CROSBYTON, July 5—Crosby County lost 10,000 acres of cotton in two wind storms during the past week, W. R. Kimbrough, county agent, said Monday following a trip through parts of the county worst hit by the storms. And this is a conservative estimate, he believes. The storms hit the county Wednesday of last week and on Sunday night.

In addition, at least 5,000 acres of feed were destroyed by the sand. Most of the damage occurred in the Kalgary, Canyon Valley, Owens and Robertson communities, a strip across the south part of the county.

Miss Merle Simmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Simmons became the bride of Doyle Holmes son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. BUT . . .

. . . These new higher prices are due entirely to the in the cost of feed ingredients. All ingredients have sharply . . . some as much as $37.50 a ton.

. . . This increase in the price of Purina Chows is not as the increase in ingredient costs. New prices reflect part of the out-of-pocket increase to Purina.

. . . The new prices on Purina Chows do not include cent per bag or per ton more profit for Purina. The margins on Purina Chows have never been up to amount allowed under OPA and will not be raised more than previously permitted.

We Are Proud To Follow Purina's Policy

As authorized Purina dealers we are pledging to follow the manufacturer's lead. We know that responsibility is to our customers—we want to keep prices down as much as possible. We are not increasing margins—we will not be short-sighted and take advantage of the present situation at your expense.

True, feed prices will go up or down as prices of ingredients vary—but we promise as always to do our best to all the Purina Chows we can get at the best price possible.

We Build for Peace We Must Utilize World is Not Tranquil, Winwright Tells July 4th Crowd

Indeed a pleasure to be part with you in your day celebration, because for the first time in years, we can commemorate our nation in no way that our nation is not at war.

There has been an important Americans for one hundred years, for on July 2, the Continental Congress of the United States heard a resolution to the effect "that these United States are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states."

Two days later this resolution was adopted by congress and one of the most famous documents in our history—the Declaration of Independence—was born. The telegraph, the telephone, the radio—had not yet been invented, and the means of communication over long distances were primitive, but the news spread to the colonies—repercussions were felt throughout the world. In Bowling Green, New York, cheering citizens tore down the statue to George III—in France, the Marquis De Lafayette placed a copy of the historic document on his desk and dreamed of the moment when he could place next to it an equally momentous declaration of freedom for the people of France.

The Declaration of Independence proclaimed that the colonies were from that day forward, free and independent states and no longer under any allegiance or obligation to the British king—that they had full power to make war or peace or to take any action which other independent states had a right to take.

The colonists were successful in their war of independence. The courage of George Washington and his army, the American victory at Saratoga, and the failure of the British armies to defeat the scattered and weak colonists led France to make an alliance with "the United States of America" in February 1778. Soon after, they sent a fleet of war vessels to help the Americans. Spain and Holland joined the war against England although they did not send help to the colonists. Before long the British began to have troubles in many places. Philadelphia, which they had captured in 1777, had to be relinquished, and they were only able to hold onto New York City and parts of the Southern states. Finally, their only fighting army in America was surrounded at Yorktown in Virginia and FORCED to surrender. The patience and able leadership of George Washington, the courage of his little army and its officers, and the help given by our French allies had won the war. When the treaty of peace was signed in 1783, the colonies were recognized by the great nations of Europe as independent states and an independent nation which they had been claiming to be since 1776. And so we celebrate July Fourth as our nation's birthday.

Meaning Brought Into Focus

The sublime meaning of that declaration of our independence which our forefathers signed at Philadelphia was brought into sharp focus only a few years ago when we saw the rights of man denied to millions in Nazi Germany. Hitler's claim of racial superiority was a direct contradiction of the truth "that all men are created equal". The form of government which he headed was a blatant antithesis to the principle that "governments are instituted among men—deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed"—which is the very foundation of our democracy—and of our liberty. The people of this nation have bled, suffered, and died for the preservation of that principle.

The memory is still strong in all our minds that the past four Independence days have seen us engaged in a struggle to preserve the very same ideals for which our forefathers gave their lives. From that struggle we emerged victorious—but only after having paid a terrible price—because World War II was the costliest conflict ever known to mankind. World War III—if it comes—will take an even higher toll in lives, materials, and ravaged civilizations. It is up to us to find the solution to lasting peace in cooperation with the other nations of the world.

Liberty Most Precious

But while we are seeking that solution, it is imperative that we maintain the strength which has made us a leading power in the world today—for our liberty is still the most precious thing we have. Thomas Jefferson, the great author of the Declaration of Independence stated, "Men who will not fight for liberty can lose it." The veracity of this statement was forcefully illustrated in 1939 when Adolph Hitler began his relentless march towards subjugation of every nation which refused to subscribe to his insane ideologies. Those countries who were too weak to put up an adequate resistance were quickly overwhelmed and trampled ruthlessly beneath the heel of tyranny. Economic destruction and an enslaved populace were inevitable results.

Today we build for peace, but we must realize that the world is not yet tranquil. There are riots in Berlin and Tokyo. Civil war rages in the Far East and the Near East. Small nations are being intimidated and occupied by the armed forces of more powerful neighbors. In Germany, Italy, and the Balkans—in India and China—millions of human beings are dying day by day or threatened with starvation. Millions of others are rioting or fighting from what little food there is available. The violent forces released by war are still on the march throughout the world—famine and pestilence are everywhere. Huge armies remain under arms. Obviously, their resistance bears no relationship to peaceful purposes or the requirements of peace.

Dangerous Explosive Elements

And so we are confronted with a world containing more dangerously explosive elements than at the time either world war started. As a nation it is our responsibility to do our utmost to preserve what peace we have. It is our solemn duty to do whatever we can to prevent the outbreak of another war—and to try through the United Nations Organization, and otherwise, to build a permanent peace. However—we cannot expect to do this by showing weakness or by abandoning our obligations.

The men of our army are helping to fulfill some of these obligations today by occupation duties in Germany and Japan. Their job is not an easy one—for they are far from home—and life in the homeland of a defeated enemy is far from pleasant.

Much has been said and written from an academic viewpoint concerning the occupation, too little has been heard of the subjective angle from the men who are on the spot doing the countless tasks which are not spectacular enough to be included in magazine articles or radio commentators' paragraphs.

Occupation Not Pleasant

The daily security patrol under the hostile and resentful eyes of conquered people; seeing human beings starving to death and being helpless to assist more than but a pitiful few; the lonely nights on guard posts, not knowing what lurks in the darkness beyond the eye's range; the constant thoughts of home, wives, sweethearts, parents and the comparative luxury of life in the United States; the constant threat of disease bred out of the filth and squalor which is the inevitable aftermath of war.

Yes, occupation duty is far from pleasant, but it is necessary—if we are to protect the victory for which we paid such a terrible price. No one really knows just how long we must stand watch in order to destroy the festering disease of Fascism, Nazism, and Imperialism. One thing is certain—we must not cease our efforts until these threats to peace and our way of life have been thoroughly eradicated.

Strangely enough, although our newspapers are no longer filled with accounts of our army's actions in various combat theaters, in a real as well as technical sense, we are still at war. Although the enemy has surrendered, there is still no peace. Not one treaty of peace has yet been signed. No peace conferences have been held and the elements of peace have yet to succeed in the turmoil and reverberations of war. Except for actual fighting, WE—ARE—AT—WAR!

We are at war because we are not at peace.

Our troops are now—today—occupying hostile territory. Our armed forces are now—today—facing the angry, frustrated, desperate and hostile forces of other countries both in Europe and the Far East. That is the actual situation. And not even the U. N., in which we hope to find a formula for peace has changed it. Most recently, the Paris peace discussions have just ended in failure to agree.

What is the Answer?

What is the answer? What can we do to counteract these dangerous indications of a world unsettled for years to come?

I wish that I could answer that question—but I cannot. However there are a few things which I consider to be necessary. Our army must not be permitted to disintegrate into an impotent force. We must make certain that there will be no shortage of manpower when we need it. The basic problem is to GUARANTEE that the army will be able from month to month to maintain that strength which we all know to be necessary to the national security.

The people of the United States have given their army a job to do—a job that requires one million seventy thousand men to accomplish. That figure is General Eisenhower's estimate. It is supported by staff studies and accepted by Secretary Patterson. This figure will stand until conditions change and it is possible to say what size army will be required in peacetime, following the discharge of our wartime obligations.

The Army's Tasks

The army's tasks for which this force is required are:

1. Occupation of former enemy territory in accordance with our agreements with our allies.
2. Training of new recruits and replacements for men now in service, many of them overseas.
3. Maintenance of communications; of army installations in United States; and of overseas army bases, particularly air bases.
4. Development and maintenance of adequate intelligence and research organizations that the United States may be prepared to meet any dangers which may arise in the future.
5. Organization for defence of American territory against possible attack.
6. Support of the UNO with military power as our contribution to world peace.

The American people can help by trying to understand the magnitude of these assigned tasks, by making their criticism the constructive type—not that which is destructive and by insisting that legislation be passed which will make entry into the profession of arms attractive to the young, intelligent men who are needed today.

Our representatives to the United Nations are doing a conscientious job—of that I am certain.

Need Intelligent Backing

However, they need the intelligent backing of every one in the entire country if they are to succeed in reaching the objectives which we have laid out for them. Needless to say, many unpleasant conditions exist in our economy today. But name calling and hot-headed reaction will not provide a lasting solution. The time has come when every one of us—farmer, soldier, ranch owner, merchant, statesman, musician, no matter what our occupation—must sit down and think out our problems slowly and carefully—we must reach a decision as to what course of action our nation is to take for the preservation of our country.

In conclusion, I should like to leave this thought with you—it took one hundred and seventy years to develop the world power that is our nation today. Intelligent and progressive citizenship will help us maintain that position.

Those you can get with an OIL-PLATED engine

Breathes there an American who isn't checking on cars? Chief question is, "What's different for '46?" An OIL-PLATED engine brings you this swell difference: it will escape lots of carbon and sludge by escaping lots of wear. That special type of wear-defense—internal OIL-PLATING—will likewise favor your oil and gasoline mileage.

You can have an OIL-PLATED engine in any car—in the newest or oldest—just simply by making sure to use Conoco Nth motor oil; that's all.

The difference in Conoco Nth oil—patented—is its added ingredient that OIL-PLATES. This is done in a magnet-like manner—by making metals attract and hold lubricant. And that's what puts inner engine surfaces under cover of OIL-PLATING. It stands in wear's way; acts to prolong that new car feeling. . . . And it will act to prolong any older car's usefulness. So if that's your particular problem, change now to Conoco Nth oil—at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company

Dances Score with Many Dances Wednesday and Thursday night—especially the three dances on the night of the Fourth, scored handsomely with the visitors. The old-fashioned dance on the court house lawn may have been most popular, but attendance was large at the Legion hall and grounds, too as large as the space would permit. Some 1500 admissions were accounted for.

Long Thank You List
The list of thank yous from the Legion's celebration committee is a long one. Among those whom General Chairman Davis listed from out of Floydada, and who were most helpful were the Texas State Guard and the Texas tech band. Here's Davis' appreciation to them:

"Thanks to Lt. Col. Walter F. Smith and Lt. Patillo of the State guard, Slaton and Lubbock companies and G. 39th battalion; Also to 1st Lt. Moore in command of the honor guard, also to Captain Leonard Fowler, of B Company, Crosbyton, who carried out their duties to perfection, and handled the thousands of people in such an orderly manner, at the same time guarding the general and his party on every corner in his immediate vicinity.

The South Plains should be proud of the service rendered by the above command, because they can always be depended upon to do their jobs 100 per cent.

Thanks to the Tech Band
"The people of this South Plains area were treated to an hour of wonderful music by this band of 180 pieces, conducted by D. O. Wiley from Texas Tech college and by their presence at the ceremonies made the affair one of the most enjoyable ever given in this section of the country.

"When the National anthem was played by this band, with General Wainwright at attention and salute. It made every real American citizen of this South Plains area know that as long as we have generals such as Wainwright at the head of our armies we are secure."

Guest of the Honors
General Wainwright and his party, together with a number of friends were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Henry following his public appearance. Mrs. Henry was assisted in serving the sumptuous but informal meal by her sister, Mrs. John Herd of Post and Mrs. Hugh Herd of Abilene. All the official party including several of the Floydada committeemen were present for the meal.
