NUMBER 36

4-Days Rain Soaks Plains

As overcast became lighter this week from the week-end of heavy rains, Floyd county and area residents counted up seven and more inches of rainfall recorded Friday to Monday in the heaviest rain period since 1942.

And although farm lands and ranges were already soaked with water from late September moisture, the run-off was light because nearly 60 hours was consumed from the first downpour late Friday night until the last shower of Wednesday. Floydada station recorded a fall of 5.42 inches.

The unusual experience of many hours of continuous rainfall caught many local travelers on the highways and on the farm to market roads, but no accidents of more than minor nature were reported throughout the period. Relatively few passenger cars or trucks were in the bar ditches from slippery roads and most of the mail on more than 300 miles of rural routes out of Floydada Post office made destination as usual Monday.

Maize Damage Depends
A considerable portion of the wheat crop of the fall planting is yet to be done and most of these fields will have to be plowed again before the drills are set to rolling. Likewise, wheat men say that a considerable acreage already in the ground will have to be re-sowed for various reasons — winter weeds washing, standing water on the ground, and the like.

A source of anxiety for many forage feed growers are the fields of heavily grained maize and heftia, where $80 to $100 worth of grain per acre is waiting for the harvester and won't be benefited by any delay. Some of this feed has been ready for two to four weeks but has been kept in the field by wet underfoot.

Late feed is booting and range grasses are maturing seeds and the moisture is quite beneficial to these. The "bunch crop" is going to be a big one, some of it very light. (See HEAVY RAINS, back page)

Autumn Flowers at Floydada Garden Club Show

—Picture Courtesy Southwestern Public Service Company, by Jackson's Studio.

That many pretty fall flowers greeted visitors at the Floydada Garden club's fall show last week is indicated in these panels, which, however, include few of the roses shown. Large flowers dominated the show but many of the more delicate blossoms also were shown. In the lower panel the large vase of lilies, centering the display, is not lilies, but bare grass flags. The arrangement was done by Mrs. Maud Hollums. The inset, bottom, was a display of begonias, pansies and verbenas. Many flowers formerly thought impossible of culture in the blustery areas of West Texas are being grown successfully by members of the Floydada Garden club and others.

Engineer Makes New Road Plans

Approval of Floyd county's next farm-to-market road construction and a contract letting for December is one of the possibilities foreseen this week in the office of resident engineer James W. Potts, who says, however, that much depends on what happens at Austin and Washington in the State Highway engineer's office and the Federal Good Roads administration.

The Floyd county road that has the nod is Number 54 in the farm-to-market highway system. It extends westward from Highway 207 between Starkey school house and Blanco canyon through McCoy and will join up with hard-surfaced roads in Hale county at Petersburg, Mr. Potts said. If the letting does not make the December list it will come shortly after the first of the year.

Next Floyd county farm-to-market road due to get attention is the Lakeview road. Plans will be started on it before No. 54 is completed.

Norvell Case November 12

The case of J. H. Norvell, returned to Floyd county District court for re-trial, after going up to the Court of Criminal Appeals, has been set for November 12, Judge Altor B. Chapman, announced this week, after a conference of attorneys in the case.

Competency of the testimony of a witness was involved in the appeal of the rape charge from the verdict of the Floyd county petit jury. Status of this witness, formerly the wife of the accused man, has been changed by the fact that she has become divorced from him, according to the theory of the state.

Oden's Tenth Anniversary In Floydada

Oden Chevrolet company is celebrating the tenth anniversary of the firm's entry into the automotive field in Floydada this week.

In spite of four years of war conditions the firm points to greatly increased investment in facilities in an expansion program that has been carried on consistently throughout the period.

Since purchase of the Chevrolet agency from Roy L. Snodgrass, the company has bought the building in which it is housed and has made extensive changes to increase room for the various departments.

Buff-Whirlwind Tilt Moved to Floydada Field

Late yesterday it was announced that the conference tilt between the Floydada High School Whirlwinds and the Petersburg Buffaloes Friday night will be played on Wester field at Floydada.

The Buffalo field at Petersburg is hopelessly under water and no submarine attachments are available there for the players. Coach Dean SOS-ed to the Floydada school authorities, with the suggestion that the game be played here.

It was on Wester field last year that Coach Gresham saw his warriors nosed out because of a fast-smacking Buffalo line and he readily agreed to the change in the hope that his charges this season will make the story a different one before the eyes of their home backers.

"It will have to rain cats and dogs Friday afternoon and on up toward playing time before our field is too wet for a game Friday night," Coach Gresham said.

The Buffalo coach indicated his boys have recovered sufficiently from the pummeling they got from the Spur Bulldogs to put up a stout game, both on offensive and defensive, in this their first try at conference opponents of the "Winds."

Mr. Gresham announced that he would use the same beginning line Friday night as used last week, with Grigsby, fast-developing at end, still out of the game with a "green stick crack"—small bone injury in the lower leg. For him will substitute Bobby McGuire. The remaining line-up will be:

Nixon and Bruce Womack at tackles, Bunch and Hart at guards, Anburn at center, Bill Womack at right end, Carmaek and Hagood at the halves, Bill Hale at quarter and Travis Jones in fullback position. But practically every man on the team is going to see some action unless the Buffaloes crowd his boys too much, said the coach.

District Four-A Games This Week

While Ralls and Paducah are idle this week-end in District 4-A, Floydada will entertain Petersburg here Friday night, (site changed Wednesday because of water logged field at Petersburg) Lockney Longhorns go to Crosbyton, and the Spur Bulldogs to Matador.

Last Week's Results
In conference tilts last week Floydada won from Ralls 32 to 6, Crosbyton spilled Matador 19 to 12 and Paducah got the long end of a 36-20 score from Lockney. Spur played a non-conference game against Hamlin, losing 27 to 7.

Burglary Charge Finds Accused in N. M. Penitentiary

The indictment last week of Thomas J. Lambert, of Clovis, New Mexico, for the burglary of the I. C. Surginer home on South Main street, Floydada, revealed that the accused man, who had signed a confession, is in a New Mexico penitentiary, and that charges have also been filed against him in other counties of West Texas, including Cottle, Deaf Smith and Randall.

The burglary here was committed on August 15, a part of the Surginer home being sacked and several articles of value taken. Floyd county officials, however, are likely to wait indefinitely before they get a chance to try the accused man, on account of prior claims to him.

USO-Travelers Aid to service men's wives and families are only one phase of USO activity, which also includes: USO-Camp Shows for hospitalized GIs and men overseas; recreation and a "home away from home" for "teen-age draftees and other members of the armed forces through 1947.

Organization for the USO two-day campaign Monday and Tuesday of next week -- October 14 and 15 -- had been completed this mid week throughout the county.

Cecil Hagood, county chairman, and his cohorts are pressing for completion of the drive for $1220 quota in the two days, and hoping that Old Man Weather will be as co-operative as everybody has to date.

Headed by Col. Carl L. Phinney, of Dallas, president of the 36th Division association, the state campaign quota is $800,000, and the Floyd county quota appears to be quite reasonable, said Mr. Hagood.

Many Texans in Service
"There are about 125,000 Texans still in the service, overseas, in hospitals, or beginning training," Mr. Hagood pointed out. "And while the combat phase of the war is finished, the transition period presents fully as many morale problems as though a war were on."

"What we hope to do is to see that USO services are continued for these men who need and deserve a home away from home now more than ever," said Mr. Hagood. This is a "see-it-through" campaign and we are confident Floyd county people will be interested and ready with their help, as they have always been."

Committeemen are Named
The campaign organization is county-wide. Payton Powers is chairman at Lockney, J. M. Willson, Jr. at Floydada. In other communities of the county, the following have been named:

COMPULSORY MEDICINE

Orthodox medical men of America feel very keenly on the subject of tax supported medicine for the people of America. Particularly is the nation-wide feeling among them that the centralized controls continually urged and the operation of mechanisms of administration pointed in only one direction—Compulsion -- which in turn is the key to collectivism. The proposed law on which hearings have been held intermittently for the past two years would put into effect a compulsory tax to pay for a compulsory service—medical, dental and medical. The list of witnesses, says the National Physicians committee, was "a perfectly normal pattern of bureaucrats at work in quest of more power over the lives of the people." In a recent report to the press, in which the physicians declare the issue is a principle around which all others revolve. Even the decisions of the United Nations council is less important. "For in this matter, we are dealing with the essence which is the Soul of Man," declares the committee.

DOCTORS OUGHT TO LEAD US

In full sympathy with the attitude of the physicians -- and we would not have anyone left in doubt about what we think along this line -- we respectfully call the attention of the physicians to the fact that, if they do not find a better solution the leftist sooner or later are going to convince the American people that they have something good for the people and a socialized law of some kind is going to go on the statute books. We cannot see it happening any other way, and along with many other laymen who do not pretend to know anything about medicine, urge the medical men to make medical care available to the masses at a cost which the masses can afford. In the transition from the old kind of practice to the newer -- and is it better? -- type of medical care, highly technical and specialized, the public being pushed around to a considerable extent. And so far as the ordinarily informed person can see the physicians cannot see what is happening -- that is, see to do something about it. Un-

WELCOME HOME PARTY FOR RETURNED VETERAN AND WIFE

LOCKNEY, Oct. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gentry were honored in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McCollum Tuesday evening, October 1 with a welcome home and birthday party on the occasion of Cecil's birthday. He was recently discharged after several years overseas. He returned to make his home here.

Mrs. Arthur Robertson was co-hostess.

A scientist maintains that it isn't the eyes that reveal one's thoughts but the lower part of the face. Meaning the mouth, of course.

... till they are able to see the point. The nation's medical men are going to have to wage a fight against collective medicine, and in the long run lose the battle. What the American people are entitled to under the situation, we feel, is a positive leadership away from collective medicine by the doctors themselves. Scolding will hardly suffice when such a grave issue is at stake.

OIL-PLATES Your Engine!

In the great San Francisco-Oakland bridge, a tremendous tug-of-war goes on continuously between gravity and molecular attraction. Because the attractive force between the molecules in the cables balances gravity's down-pull the bridge stays up.

Through continuous experiment with the mighty forces of molecular attraction, Conoco scientists are able to produce new and better oils for America's motorists. For instance, by utilizing forces of molecular attraction, a special ingredient of Conoco Nth motor oil is bonded to working surfaces of your engine, so that cylinder walls are OIL-PLATED.

And because molecular attraction holds Conoco OIL-PLATING up where it belongs...prevents it from all draining down to the crankcase, even overnight... you get these benefits:

they started in the long with two guides, a blonde called Miep and a black member of the Dutch underground named Jan by name. There were eighteen soldiers, an sergeant, two WACs and a Red Cross nurse. They were all taking the Holland trip by Theatre Special and the Dutch Allied Goodwill Committee for the European War and they were going to the flower garden of Europe.

Jane Froman, singing star, helps provide herself with soap and other needed supplies by saving every drop of used cooking fat. The Department of Agriculture says that fat salvage will continue to be needed "as far ahead as we can see," to replace fats and oils normally imported from islands now devastated by war.

Star Saves For Soap!

the snub nosed private from Connecticut, wasn't at all would rather have been the Holland Club. What look at flowers for?" he asked his friend Frank, a T/4 from Arizona, was determined everything in Europe went home about it. So the others were different reasons. The two sergeants stationed at the camp wanted to buy some flowers for the corporal from Philadelphia, a friendly boy who was a nurse, was a nurse, and was carrying rolls of film for her Leica. The rest of the group -- they just went. The bus was misty and as they were in the bus, the fields were green and the little houses were in the distance. Cows grazed in the fields under tall dark trees. In a rear seat respectfully talked earnestly with the girl about the activities underground in the harrowing days of the Occupation. Tony and the two little WACs eagerly as they pointed out moving their lazy arms.

America. This over, on they went, until they pulled to a halt in front of a rambling wooden building fronted with rows of cars. "Come along," said Miep, and they went inside. The Red Cross girl, the WACs and the Nurse uttered little subdued shrieks as the fragrance of ten thousand roses greeted them, dewy fresh and delicate. "Gosh," said Frank.

Table after table heaped with blooms -- phlox, zinnias, snapdragons, the first gladioli in a riot of color -- but mostly the roses, pale pink, yellow, crimson, white, and the delicately flushed "tea rose" shade.

WAC from Floydada. "Oh," said Curtis, the WAC from Floydada, Texas, and "Oh," said Frances, her colleague from Sutherlin, Oregon. And they breathed deeply of the intoxicating fragrance. "Come along," said Jan. "We'll miss the auction." Wonderingly they all filed into a room built like a college lecture room, with tiers of desks and chairs slanting toward the back. At each seat sat two buyers in their properly numbered chairs. "Take any of the empty seats," advised Miep. "But don't push the little button," she cautioned as Craig fingered the one at his place.

On the wall at the front of the room was a great circle with prices running clock-fashion around its edge and a large hand swinging to and fro. Cartloads of flowers were wheeled in and as each bunch was held up, the auctioneer droned what must have been in Dutch, "What am I bid?" The hand swung round, going always down from the highest price -- 39, 38, 37, 36, 35 -- BZZ, a button at desk 4 was pushed and Mynheer Van Thiel had just bought some roses for 35 cents.

"Can I buy some flowers?" asked the littlest WAC excitedly, her eyes glowing.

Tables Heaped Full "Come along." It was Jan speaking this time, and again they followed. Back to another long room, the tables heaped with flowers. "The best ones are in here," explained Miep as they wandered from table to table, inhaling the fragrance and arguing furiously with themselves. "I'll have some of these -- and these -- and these --" and these, the littlest WAC was murmuring dreamily. And before she finished she had five lots of twenty each -- roses, pink, yellow, crimson and white. "Only fifteen guilders for them all," she said proudly to Billie, the Nurse, who was pinning a tissue thin orchid to her lapel. "That's about a nickel apiece -- gosh." "Come along," said the imperturbable Miep again, and they straggled out to the bus.

As they clambered aboard, "Why Tony," came the cry from delighted feminine throats. And the snub nosed private with the close cropped hair grinned sheepishly over his armload of pink carnations and white roses. "Aw, they're just for that old lady who asked me to dinner last night," he muttered. And the bus was off to Amsterdam to continue the rest of this tour by Theatre Special Services for the United States soldier.

FORD DEVELOP QUICK CHANGE PLANE POWER PLANT HOOK UP

DEARBORN, Mich. -- A quick-change power plant hook-up developed by Ford Motor Company engineers has reduced the time for switching engines and accessories on a standard P-47 Thunderbolt from 40 man-hours to less than half an hour.

"Climaxing more than two years of effort, the new development promises to revolutionize servicing of military aircraft as well as commercial and privately owned airplanes," Ford engineers said. By this large reduction in the time necessary to service any airplane so equipped, greater percentage of available aircraft may be kept in the air. In military language this means more hitting power; in commercial language it means more profits.

The Ford-designed motor mount and quick change disconnections make it possible for five men to remove a 2400 pound double-row, 2200-hp engine from the nose of the Thunderbolt and replace it with another engine in approximately half an hour. This is half the time specified in the experimental contract awarded the Ford Motor company two years ago by the Air Material Command. In timed tests the change has been accomplished in 25 minutes.

A total of 63 connections must be broken for removal of one engine and a similar number connected for installation of a replacement. The latter involves engine mountings, engine control connections, fluid couplings, air lines and cowling.

WAR-TORN HIGHWAYS

Three million miles of war-worn roads will share the United States for the next few years -- a jagged, bumpy scar on the nation's face says Pathfinder News Magazine.

Given the "go-sign" by President Truman and blessed by a generous Congress, the sorely needed road building program has succeeded only in bogging down.

States were never in better shape for plans and funds. Federal grants are the largest ever -- $1.5 billion for a three-year face-lifting. Revenues from gas and license taxes are 40 percent higher than 1940 receipts. Unused funds lie musty in state vaults.

Nevertheless, rugged road blocks obstruct the Federal Bureau of Public Roads and every state highway department.

Inflated costs (a dollar's worth of road in 1941 today costs $1.66), labor uncertainties and shortages of equipment and materials hamstringing the highway program.

THEY'RE PAID TO LOAF

In Carson City, Nev., a rancher asked two men receiving unemployment compensation to help him harvest some hay. They told him: "Sorry, brother, but we can't help you. The Unemployment Compensation Law prohibits it." In the United States today an estimated two million people are drawing unemployment pay ranging from $3 to $28 weekly. At the same time industries are slowing up and some closing down because they can't get workers to man their machines. -- Pathfinder News Magazine.

Weekly SURPLUS NEWS

Farmers of this region who certify through the Department of Agriculture, that their production is impaired by a shortage of farm equipment and supplies will be given assistance to obtain available property from government surplus. Hamilton Morton, WAA regional director announced this week.

As part of its program to relieve the veterans' housing shortage, the FPWA has purchased from War Assets Administration $3,270 worth of valves and fittings for gas and water mains. With many of the items selling for as low as two and three cents each, this adds up to a huge quantity of valves and fittings.

Believe it or not, there need be no shortage of shaving brushes WAA in Fort Worth has 161,000 brushes for sale. In addition, WAA has many cases of famous brands of after shave lotion on hand, acquired, of all places, from the army. Toothpaste and toothpowder, shaving cream and antiseptic powder are other items offered for sale.

Much in demand prior to the war, double-deck wooden bunks are now being offered for sale by War Assets in Fort Worth. Ideal for families with two or more children, WAA has 41,502 of these beds suitable for painting any color.

Returned doctors and dentists back from services in the army or navy and seeking to again equip their offices will find many items of essential equipment available to them through the veteran's division of the Fort Worth office in the T & P building.

10 YEARS OF ... PROGRESS

Ten Years Ago This Week

Conner Oden Assumed the Management of the Chevrolet Agency in Floydada

THESE TEN YEARS have been Momentous ones in the history of Transportation in Floyd County, and our company takes pride in the fact that we have played an important part in helping to keep the Wheels of America rolling.

During the Hard Years of the War it was our constant aim to do all we could to help Floyd County people maintain their automobiles, with adequate Shop and Parts service. With new cars out of the question it was (and still is) our job to keep the cars our friends had doing full-time duty.

WE ARE PROUD of the Good Men who went to the service from our organization. Several of these have returned now and are at your service once more with Oden Chevrolet Company. And today our Shop Service, both as to manpower and equipment, is better prepared than ever before to help you keep your car in operation.

Our plans for expansion to care for the ever-increasing demands of the public, have been hampered as have the plans of others due to material shortages. But we are moving forward and assure you that Oden Chevrolet will keep abreast of the times.

Our Thanks to You People of Floydada Trade Territory

Who have constantly given us encouragement, with your patronage. To merit your confidence has been our continued aim. To this end we continue to add needed equipment as your needs grow or change. Oden Chevrolet Company believes in the people and in the country in which we live. We believe in American ability to get things done, and with this faith in YOU we are confident of what the future has for us if we continue to EARN your confidence.

Body and Fender Department

We have built a new building across the street and south of our Main Building, and added new equipment in order to do more and better work in this department.

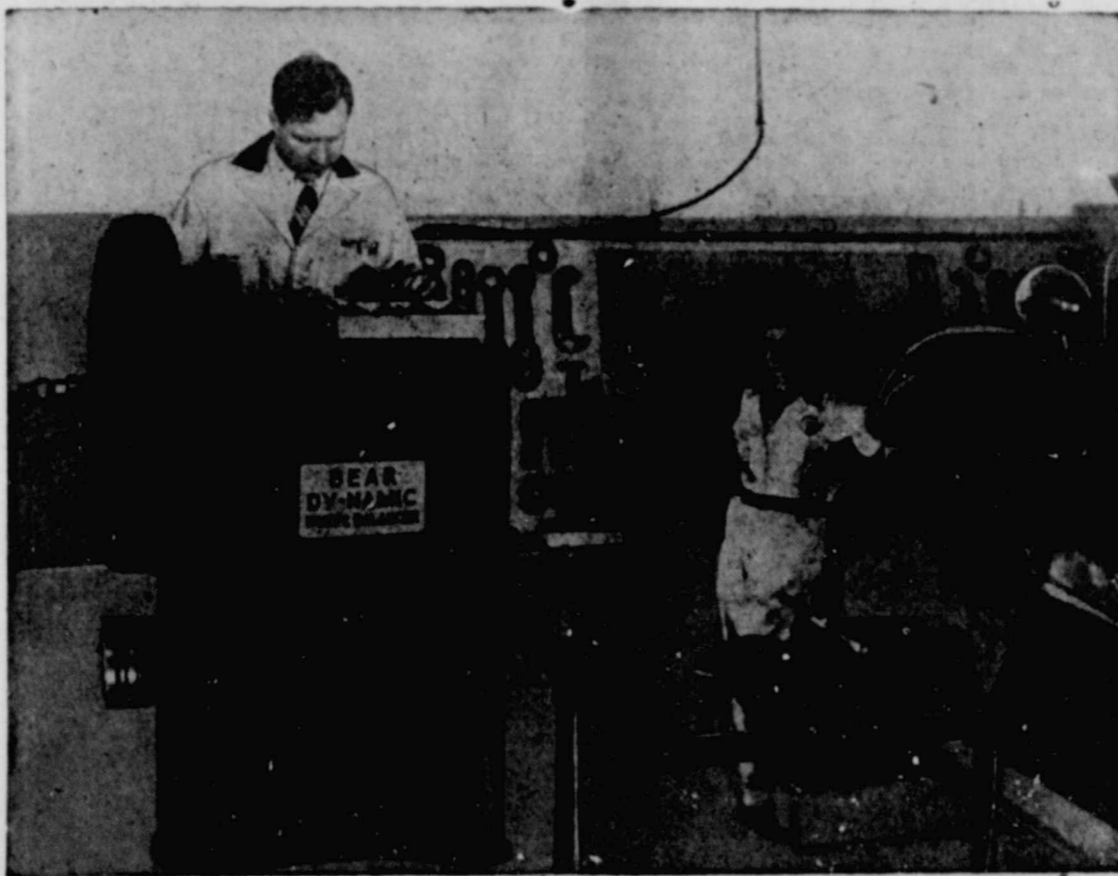

John McKinney, who is in charge of our Body and Fender Works, invites you to inspect the Equipment at any time and will gladly make estimates of any repairs your car or truck might need.

Repair Parts Department

In the past several weeks we have been re-arranging our parts room, adding more storage space, and making room for more and more Repair Parts stock to meet the demand of Chevrolet car and truck owners.

We have this department well-manned and can give you good service on all Models, except for parts not yet in production.

Get Genuine Chevrolet parts for your Chevrolet automobile or truck.

The Bear Front End Service

Machinery for which we installed the latter part of 1945, has been of inestimable aid to many motorists of this area. It is a service which, for a long time, was available to motorists of the Larger Centers.

BEAR FRONT END SERVICE can be worth a lot to help prevent accidents, to get the Greatest possible service out of your car, to save you money on upkeep. Bear Front End service will save you money and time if you'll take advantage of the work which our experts do. Drive in for a free inspection.

The Case Agency

At Present we are operating our Case Power Farm Machinery agency in the same building with the Chevrolet agency. However, as we are able to get materials from the makers we have plans all made to house this business in a building of its own.

Frigidaire Dealership

L. D. Britton, Manager

As you know, Frigidaire is the outstanding leader in Refrigeration.

During 1944 we took this agency and are maintaining parts and service for Frigidaire owners. We are receiving new units occasionally and are glad to book your orders for delivery when we receive new machines.

Frigidaire has a department of its own in our organization and it in no way conflicts with our other services to the public.

SOIL, LIFE EVOLVE TOGETHER

"Soil is that thin film between the earth and sky that supports all living things," says Dr. Charles E. Kellogg in the introduction to an article on the subject. "Beneath lie the sterile rocks, above it are the air and sunshine. From it all plants and animals, and man himself, draw their nourishment, either directly or indirectly from other things that live in soil. To it their dead bodies return. There is no life without soil, and no soil without life; they have evolved together.

"Even though we call this an industrial age, far more than half of the people in the world live by tilling the soil. They produce food, fiber, and many other things for themselves and for the rest of us. Some work efficiently and live well; others barely exist. A few try to cultivate soils that are unsuitable for use by any known methods. Many more could produce abundantly on their soil if they only knew what to do and had the means and skill to follow proper practices.

Enough soil exists for all to have abundance. But we shall have neither peace nor abundance until we learn more about the thousands of different kinds of soils, precisely where they are, and how to use them for good production.

Carl Sammann, of Plainview, was a business visitor in Floydada Tuesday of this week.

Maybe Governor Coke Stevenson is smiling with anticipation as he signs the proclamation which will officially start Texas and the Nation celebrating "Yam Week" from October 20-26, 1946. At any rate, in urging the nation and Texas to eat more yams, the Governor plans to set a good example. He's got the "makings" right there on his desk. They're genuine East Texas No. 1 Yams, sent by the East Texas Victory Yamboree Association from Gilmer with an invitation to their annual Yamboree festival, slated this year for October 24-25 and 26.

SOIL, LIFE EVOLVE TOGETHER

"Soil is that thin film between the earth and sky that supports all living things," says Dr. Charles E. Kellogg in the introduction to an article on the subject. "Beneath lie the sterile rocks, above it are the air and sunshine. From it all plants and animals, and man himself, draw their nourishment, either directly or indirectly from other things that live in soil. To it their dead bodies return. There is no life without soil, and no soil without life; they have evolved together.

"Even though we call this an industrial age, far more than half of the people in the world live by tilling the soil. They produce food, fiber, and many other things for themselves and for the rest of us. Some work efficiently and live well; others barely exist. A few try to cultivate soils that are unsuitable for use by any known methods. Many more could produce abundantly on their soil if they only knew what to do and had the means and skill to follow proper practices.

Enough soil exists for all to have abundance. But we shall have neither peace nor abundance until we learn more about the thousands of different kinds of soils, precisely where they are, and how to use them for good production.

A. Pope Saw Army Service In Many Invasions

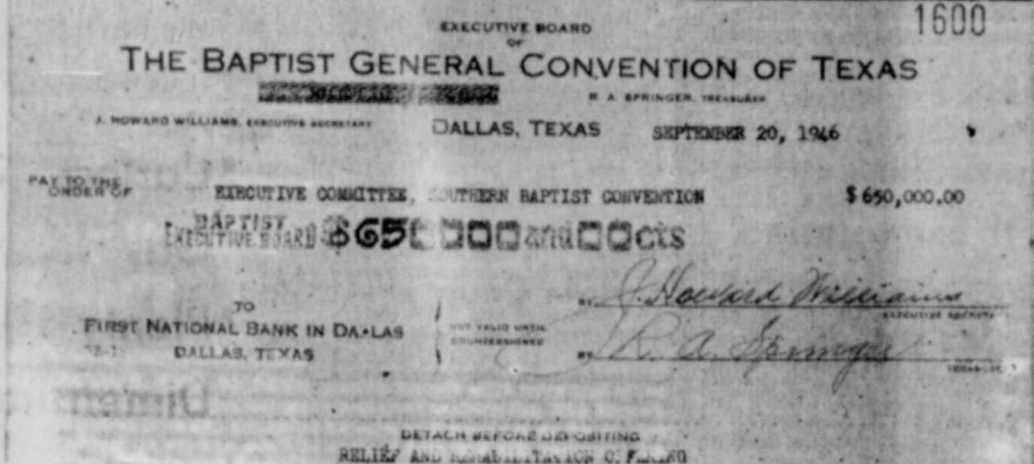

A. Pope, Floydada boy, who went to navy service 16 years ago to be exact—was at the old town again to see how the old town looked, his first trip back since 1937 when he was here for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Pope, now deceased, R. A., Jr., and his wife whom he married five years ago were guests of his uncle and Mrs. H. O. Pope while he was here.

Mr. Pope had seen a lot of foreign before any war ever broke out. He was at Norfolk, Virginia, the unpleasantness broke out on November 7, 1941, and took to sea as a chief machinist's mate. A spell in the Atlantic helping the Caribbean approaches, he was assigned that took him to the command on Southwest Pacific. He was across the world to the island of Sicily. By that time the Southwest Pacific command had decided the plan of sending in amphibious crews and pre-invasion to clear the way for the main force, a lesson learned at Bloody Point. So R. A. went into Salpan, Pelieu, Leyte, Linguyan, Iloilo and Okinawa, in successful helping haul the demolition close in to soften up the Japanese.

Mr. Pope is now a lieutenant, junior grade, and has a lieutenant's commission if he ever settles at one place long enough. He came up the coast, getting his commission as an ensign on October 4, and the advance to lieutenant, junior grade, on February 1, 1945. He may be his career and R. A. Pope had no idea of making any money for the present. He said a lot of landmarks and the people he knew here in 1930 have gone, but he enjoyed his visit immensely, he said.

American Drive Farther in Older Cars This Year

One reason why tires are still scarce, though being produced in record breaking numbers, is that Americans this year are driving more miles than ever before, and using more cars which are old enough to need new rubber, Conner Oden, manager of the B. F. Goodrich store at Oden Chevrolet Co., said this week.

Statistics on gasoline consumption for the first half of the year, Oden said, point to an average of 680 gallons per passenger car for the year. This is 174 gallons, or 34 per cent, more than the average for last year, and tops the record figure of 667 gallons set in 1941. (The low point for the last decade came in 1944, at 399 gallons for passenger cars.) Trucks and buses are showing the same rise, he said, the 1946 full-year estimate being 1,440 gallons per vehicle against 1,300 last year and 1,412 in 1941.

A Tremendous Market

"This evidence of extensive driving, coupled with a better than 25 per cent increase in cars in service that are more than two years old, means a tremendously active market for replacement tires," Oden said, "and helps explain why they are still hard to get despite production levels exceeding any peacetime years." There are now more than 25,300,000 cars more than two years old on the roads, while in 1941, only about 20 million of the 27,600,000 registered autos were beyond the two-year mark—the age at which cars generally begin to "be in the market for" replacement tires.

Gas Consumption Going Up

Mr. Oden predicted that gasoline consumption per car would continue to rise—even "on top" of the coming great increase in auto registrations. He said a "very conservative" project, based on data from the U. S. Bureau of mines and the Public Roads administration, indicated 685 gallons for 1947; 709 and 727 for the following two years, and 731 in 1950, assuring "a continuing high demand for replacement tires."

Billy Morrison Rides Big Carrier on Eastern Tour

Billy H. Morrison, seaman, second class of Dougherty, Texas, has returned to the United States after serving for the last few months aboard the 35,000 ton aircraft carrier USS Antietam. This is the first trip the Antietam has made to the U. S. since the end of the war.

The carrier, which participated in the ceremonies granting and celebrating the independence of the Philippines Islands, visited the ports of Eniwetok, Guam, Salpan, Okinawa, Hong Kong, Shanghai, Tokyo, and Yokohama, on her Far Eastern tour of duty.

Mrs. R. M. McBee of Santa Paula, California arrived here Tuesday for a two weeks visit with her mother, Mrs. R. E. Warren and other relatives.

Issue Basket Ball League List Nov. 15

AUSTIN, Texas, 4—The official 1946-47 Interscholastic League basketball participants' list will be issued November 15, Rodney J. Kidd, acting director of the University of Texas Interscholastic League, has announced.

Any Texas high school planning to take part in the basketball games must be on the official list, Mr. Kidd said, and the fact that a school has paid its membership fee does not qualify that school for basketball play in the league.

A tentative basketball list has been mailed to schools taking part last year and to those requesting assignment for this year. Any school not having the list should request it immediately from the League office, Kidd said.

A former serviceman has submitted to the Quartermaster Corps a simple device made of cardboard which, he contends, will prevent soldiers from snoring.

Mrs. E. C. Reynolds was taken to the Methodist hospital at Fort Worth Sunday in the Harmon ambulance to undergo medical treatment.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)

I found an old day book the other day as I was cleaning the attic. It has lain there unnoticed in the dust for some 38 years and was kept by the Emma Drug Company in the year of 1904 and part of 1905. It is full of interest and we can readily see what kinds of medicine was sold then and tell almost to a T what ailed the folks.

In the spring of 1904 we find Marsh Wheeler buying castoria, castor oil and turpentine, also a bottle of syrup of figs. J. C. Witt must have had spring fever, or was it one of the boys? For they bought fishing lines.

What was the matter with Claud Carnahan? Looks suspicious, he bought sulphur. Reckon the itch was making its annual round in the country.

A. A. Kidd bought digitals and iron. Mrs. Kidd's bad heart must have been giving trouble. Who could play Old Zip Coon better than Mrs. Kidd, anyway?

Clabe Pearson must have worked a little too hard after a winter's rest. He bought a bottle of liniment. Mrs. Chapman made quilts from cotton batting she bought. Must have been a school picnic that spring.

John K. Pullingim needed a bottle of "Goodbye Freck" for some one in his family.

I find that Black Draught knew no season as it was sold all during the year and to lots of people. Frank Jones had toothache in his family for he bought laudanum, without a doctor's prescription, too, then.

It must have come a cold spell the last of August for A. K. Lackey needed a hot water bottle. Then school started. Sam Wright came down from Farmer and bought two spellers for 40 cents, Beginner's History 40c one Ancient History $2.00 three tablets 15c and one dozen pencils for 15c. J. M. Witt charged a bottle of toothache medicine.

Walter Davies, now judge of Lubbock county stepped out after purchasing a bottle of Hinds Honey and Almon creme. Will Reagan bought a violin for $6.25. Will Ezell was lonesome. He bought finch cards. Dr. Guyton dressed up with a $4.50 watch chain and charm.

Everybody was buying geographies, spellers, arithmetics, readers and all kinds of school books. No generous State supplied them then.

That was the fall I was teaching at the LaBarque school, near where the school of Robertson now stands. We find Marsh Wheeler still buying castoria. Every father was charged with one or more copy books, one for each child in the family of copy book age. Mrs. R. J. Heard was in town and traded eggs for stock powder and dyes. A. D. Myers bought his girls some "Goodbye Freck". Simmons Liver regulator and New Life pills were much desired and we know Dr. Carter had made a visit to a family when we find calomel tablets charged.

Remember how afraid folks were of being salivated? And for good reason, too. Listerine and antiseptics were popular medicines, and I can't recall what medicine R. X. was but nearly everyone bought a bottle every month, or so. We find Ed Gunn buying a French harp. Bromo Seltzer and camphonique, Mentholatum and herbine are on most every page.

Slates and slate pencils were still used in schools, and how much noise one could make making the slate pencil crawl up the slate! Not much like what we would find people buying in this fall of 1946 is it? Only 42 years ago, a little town one hundred and some miles from the nearest railroad but a little town where people lived and needed and bought medicines.

We are used to the delay in all kinds of things from ginghams to refrigerators and as to now there has been no deluge of these desired things. Not so with the rain which was somehow held up in shipping or maybe manufacturing. It came later than was ordered and in such large quantities we have been almost drowned.

We long for the sun even tho it may be mildewed as Uncle Jim Witt used to say and speaking of our loved Uncle Jim we recall the sorghum syrup he made every year. My how good it was to take a long simmering syrup and lick off the clean cane stalk and run it in the goody. The sweetish sour odor of the old stalks run through the mill, the heavenly scent of cooking molasses, the creaking of the grinding rollers. Wish some one now had a mill near and we could take some cane to make up.

This makes me think of what my neighbor, Mrs. Jim Crump, told me of her girlhood. She said she and her sister cut and stripped a load of cane, hauled it with a team some seven mile and had a barrel of syrup made. They brought it home and put it on some logs in the smokehouse so they could draw it easily. But someone in the night came and took some of the syrup. That would not have been so bad, but they left the faucet open and all night the thick sorghum spilled from the tipped barrel and run all over the floor. "Not only a few gallons were left," Mrs. Crump still mourns, and who wouldn't?

We feel awful out-of-date because we have had nothing yet to do with smashing, perfecting or testing the atom.

Commissioners At El Paso Convention

Do you know what a little Nip did? That's right, he killed a lot of Americans. But we're not talking about the Nip from Tokyo now -- we're referring to those short, quick nips that some motorists take. The Texas Safety Association reports that one out of every seven drivers involved in accidents had been drinking. When the wassail's flowing free leave your car at home -- park it -- do anything with it -- but don't drive it!

To an engaged couple, the three-letter-word "yes" may mean eternal bliss but it only takes a two-letter-word "no" to mean eternal freedom.

ADDRESS—Fifty nine veterans of World War II were successful in a two day sale conducted by the War Assets Administration at the Army Air field. In the sale were offered, including sedans, jeeps, scooters and trucks. Cash recovery for the sale was $31,792 for which originally cost the government $50,690.

W. Day, Jr., Route 1, Floydada, was one of the fortunate veterans to secure a pickup. Day held a party on the 9th of September, which was awarded a 1941 Dodge for $399.

The sale attracted 250 veterans from all parts of North and West Texas. All awards were made to the oldest dated certificates of type of vehicle in the sale.

At the time we spin a yarn the sun is on her brows.

At the end of a day both walkers and drivers are tired and impatient. Because reaction is slower, caution must be greater. More people are killed in the evening rush than at any other time during the day. Take care -- and don't be rushed to death!

Are Returning Veterans "Different"?

During the war you heard a lot of talk about how hard it was going to be for returning veterans to get adjusted to civilian life... how they'd be "different."

Well, plenty of them have returned to our town, and a finer bunch you couldn't ask for. Most of them are back at the jobs... going with the nice home-town girls (getting married, some of them, and bringing up families)... renewing some old friendships.

And their amusements are the same. Nothing more exciting than fishing Seward's creek or pitching horseshoes... enjoying an outdoor barbecue with friendly wholesome beer and pleasant talk.

If they've changed at all it's in the direction of maturity and tolerance... tolerance for everything except dictators, and those who would destroy our democratic principles of live and let live. And from where I sit, that's another reason to be proud of them.
