MEDDLING WITH NATURE

In the matter of the weather which as all know The Hesperian has been tracking down and cornering these years, and making known the device, even nefarious, ways of Nature, things now are not going so good. The still, small voices are still out there but their pretty idyll may be in the process of being shattered by modern man. We say this in the hope that our future investigation will prove it is wrong. We hope it is. We fear it is not.

As for instance, now, we had as well tell our readers frankly, man in his (inhuman, shall we say) cunning can change the ways of nature and is doing it. That is, changing for the moment, thwarting the forces of the universe. We refer, specifically, to the little known fact that man can make it snow, under certain circumstances, when and where he would like for it to snow, --or he can make it rain or make it be a balmy day when nature intended it to be otherwise. By treading the paths of the ethereal realm and treating the clouds (not necessary the clouds you see with the product of the cyclotron, he has it snow in Floydada or Lockney, or stay clear or whatnot, as his benevolent (or malevolent) mind may dictate.

It is indeed a bad state of things which we relate so frankly, and against which a country newspaper has no effective device to combat.

GOING TO CUT US OFF

Thus you will see, as you follow us, the bad state of things that may well be. The rascally Republicans are back now. They have started in on the patriots who have been pulling the public teat for it these many years. They say they are going to cut off these by the million. They are going to make some of our good friends get out and see if they can make a living working hours that other people work, possibly out of walking distance of the coffee joint four times a day. Possibly without benefit of 40 hours a week, two weeks paid vacation, two weeks sickness leave seven holidays a year and an hour and a half off every day for every hour they worked the evening before.

These patriotic friends of ours may even be robbed of that happy privilege of acting too busy to see an old boy who has rubbed his rump--and vest bare of all down, while they chatter innocent banter back and forth. We say this may happen --we mean it can happen. But not for long.

FORESEE MORE OF THE SAME

What we mean is that all kinds of things will be made to take place in this age of synthetics. It will be made to snow in Floydada when the barometer says it is a pretty day. The dewpoint needle may be twisted to register dry as a Sahara wind and other things equally as bad but you can't twist human nature around like that.

As soon as the Republicans get the house cleaned they will begin to put the furniture back in place and when they do there'll be nobody to use it and so they will begin to look around. And they will find somebody. That somebody won't be the ones we are used to, it will be somebody else. Instead of the sons' daughters of the ones it used to be it will be the staunch sons and daughters and uncles, aunts, nephews and nieces of the Grand Old Party and their friends. There has never been found a political device so good to keep people staunch and steadfast as good, well peddled jobs. Republicans have ever been hell for strong and steadfast and can be depended upon to add some chapters to the book they have just taken away from the Democrats.

Floyd County 14 Years Ago

These news items were from the Floyd County Hesperian published 14 years ago.

Issue of November 21, 1932: All the eyes in the football realm of District 3 will be turned to Floydada Thanksgiving Day when the mighty Whirlwinds of F. H. S. champions of the north half, battle the Brownfield Cubs, holders of the laurels from the southern section, for the Class B district crown. The game, which will be played on the Whirlwind Athletic field will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

The protest filed by the Spur High school authorities against the Post team, claiming inequity on account of failure to pay the football interscholastic fee on the date it was due, was disallowed Monday at a meeting of the executive committee of District 3, and the status of the teams in the south half of the district left intact.

Several members of the Floydada church were present at the annual State Baptist convention in Abilene last week, some of whom remained in that city, however, only for the W. M. U. sessions which closed on Tuesday, reaching home Tuesday night.

Floydada baseball park is no more. Dismantled last week by John H. Reasen and S. F. Conner on contract with the stock holders in the company which owned it, the lumber from the fences and the grand stand have been moved to the high school grounds where they have been rebuilt into bleacher seats for the high school athletic field.

On Monday, November 28, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. McLain of Sand Hill will have been married sixty years. Saturday their children and numerous relatives and friends will be with them when the event will be celebrated at their home.

Only slight damage resulted from a blaze in the bathroom of W. E. Meador apartments at 730 South Main Street at 10:15 o'clock Monday morning.

That the hoped for increase in tax payments for the current school year has not materialized, following the radical reductions in the tax roll is indicated in figures at the office of collector J. T. J. Dawson this week.

Miss Christine Trowbridge, daughter of Mrs. Chas. Trowbridge of Harmony, was awarded a loving cup at the annual banquet last Thursday night of the student body of the School of Home Economics in Oklahoma University, Norman.

Check for the first appropriation from the Reconstruction Finance corporation was received last Friday morning by W. Edd Brown and S. W. Ross, president and secretary-treasurer respectively of the Floyd County Relief committee, who attended a conference of relief committees in Lubbock Friday morning.

One Sure-treatment Little Grubs

STATION.—Rotenone is a sure-fire treatment in West Texas. J. Jenkins, Edwards man, got rid of practically all grubs on 55 head of cattle that were badly infested. Edwards County Agricultural Store, Jr. re-commended a grub treatment at a cost of only $7.50. The cattle through a chute rotenone-sulphur solution and backs of the wire brush. Prior to treatment, which was given every animal in the herd from forty to fifty grubs. Jenkins and his assistants showed only nine grubs carrying grubs, and only slightly infested. He is convinced, says Storey, that men can eventually get rid of grubs and heel the regular rotenone each fall.

TO USE AND MAINTAIN

"Productive land is unlike any other natural resource," says H. H. Bennett, Chief of the Soil Conservation Service. "It is characterized by the element of life placed by Nature in the thin mantle of fruitful soil occurring over a limited portion of the earth's surface. It is this life-producing quality that makes some lands productive, and it is the absence of this quality that makes some barren. Productive land is further differentiated from other natural resources in that it must be maintained and used simultaneously. That is it must be kept intact while in use. All other natural resources, with very few exceptions, must be taken from the earth, separated from it in order to be used by man. The exceptions are certain forms of wildlife and those natural areas which, because of their aesthetic values, are kept in the original state."

TURKEY BUSINESS

"The growth of the turkey industry in this country in the last fifteen years has been phenomenal," Secretary of Agriculture Anderson commented recently. "In the twenties turkey production was small. Since 1930 national production has increased 160 percent. The 1946 national crop will furnish a record 4 1/2 pounds of turkey for every person of the Nation. Though this year's crop is a little smaller than last year's record high, the armed forces took a good portion of last year's crop and the number carried over in storage was high. The big demand and shortage of other meats coupled with the early hatch will mean that this year's turkey crop will be marketed early. We expect 65 percent to be sold by Thanksgiving."

SCHOOL LUNCH GAINS

"The school lunch program can supply half of the child's daily food needs," said Surgeon General Thomas Parran of the U. S. Public Health Service at the National School Lunch conference at the U. S. Department of Agriculture. "It can train him in proper food habits. Better nutrition increases his resistance to disease, promotes his learning ability, saves teaching costs, and helps to develop the healthy body and the free mind. . . Great Britain with about one third our population spends for free school meals about 300 million dollars, which at the same per capita rate here would cost us nearly one billion dollars."

Mr. and Mrs. Travis P. Collins returned home the first of the week from Houston, where they attended the Rice-A. & M. game of the Southwestern conference Saturday after making a brief visit at College Station with their son, Pat Collins and family.

Signs of Borer on Peach Trees

COLLEGE STATION, November 20.—Masses of gum, mixed with bits of sawdust, on the bark of peach plum or apricot trees is an unmistakable sign of peach tree borers.

Entomologists of the Texas A and M. College Extension Service say that the peach tree borers, small white worms with brown heads, can cause the death of a tree by eating out the living tissue in the trunk. There are two species of the borers—the peach tree borer, which feeds on the tree trunk, and the lesser borer which feeds under the bark of large branches or on the trunk where the limbs fork.

For fall treatment of both the borers, the Extension entomologists recommend ethylene dichloride emulsion, which has been found effective at low soil temperatures. The emulsion treatment requires very little preparation of the soil before application and can be applied either by spraying or pouring. In some cases, cupping the soil to prevent the liquid from running off or loosening the earth around the base of the tree to allow it to soak in, will give better results.

The entomologists warn that the quantity of ethylene dichloride used should be carefully regulated, since applications in excess may cause tree injury. For trees of average size and larger that are six years old and older, an emulsion of 2 per cent strength is safe. Small trees of the same age should be treated with a 20 per cent emulsion. Four or five year old trees—15 per cent dosage; one year old trees—seven and one half per cent dosage.

Local county Extension office now have copies of MS-769, "Peach Tree Borers", which gives details of treatment.

"Last Roundup" Before Thanksgiving

An abundant turkey crop for 1946 promises that the nation will observe Thanksgiving in the established tradition. But not every family will dine on a gobble chosen "on the hoof." Pretty Marys Paasoe, of Detroit, Mich., made sure of her selection by driving her new Chevrolet out to Shady Valley Farms, one of the largest turkey farms in the country, where Orville M. Feinlee assisted in the selection.

colleges games. Close to a million had seen professional contests. Uncounted thousands more had attended high school and sandlot games.

Now it was clear that 1946 would better even these astounding figures. Not only was attendance soaring. It was next to impossible to get tickets for leading college and pro attractions.

Sell-Outs. As early as August Michigan had sold out its 86,000 seats for the Wolverine-Army meeting Oct. 12. In September, Notre Dame returned $400,000 in unfilled ticket orders for the Army game at New York Nov. 2.

The reason for all this was no mystery. The war was over. There

DIESEL CARS UNLIKELY

According to T. B. Rendel, automotive engineer, there is no prospect that high-speed diesel engines will be used in pleasure automobiles and light airplanes. It is hardly probable, he says, that the overall economy—taking into account the increased weight—will enable it to compete with the gasoline engine. Says the Ostrich Does Not Hide Head in the Sand

SCHENECTADY, Oct.—Contrary to popular belief, the ostrich does not stick its head into the sand when frightened or in danger.

Neither does the beaver work all the time "like a beaver," nor does a bull "see red" just because a red cloth is waved in front of it.

These popular myths were exploded here in a General Electric Science Forum address over WGY and WGFM by John R. Saunders of New York city, associate curator in the department of public education American Museum of Natural History.

"We can trace clear back to Roman times the belief that the ostrich, when frightened, sticks its head into the sand," Mr. Saunders pointed out. "Through twenty centuries of time, and in the face of all that it is reasonable, millions of people believe this to be true."

"Meanwhile, the ostrich goes about his business, never thinking of sticking his head in the sand, living in a land where lions and other predatory animals are ready to accommodate a bird so foolish. The ostrich would, in all probability, have disappeared from the earth if it persisted in this supposed behavior every time danger approached. In this case of bird behavior and man's belief, I leave it to you to determine where the foolishness lies."

The naturalist said that the "busy beaver" does not work all the time.

"The animal does work, to be sure, and when he does, he works hard," said Mr. Saunders, "but he also loaf and plays; and observers note that he does a great deal of the latter. In addition, the beaver does not use his tail as a towel, nor does he drive stakes with it, or use it as a sled to carry mud or other materials upon."

With regard to bulls, Mr. Saunders explained that they are color-blind. "In fact, the scientist can find support in the statement of the noted matador, Sidney Franklin that it is not the color but the motion of the cloth that annoy the bull," the naturalist declared.

"Some experimenters have found that even in the course of a thousand trials the animals still not able to discriminate between colors," Mr. Saunders asserted.

"Dogs as well as bulls are color-blind," he said.

Whirlwinds Look as Winners Crosbyton

Whirlwind football squad of High school looked good last night winning from the Crosbyton Chiefs 27 to 0. The Chiefs the local team their last obstacle in their try for the honors against the Spur Bulldogs. They will be repeat, said Coach L. P. and Estie Baker this week Kelly Hagood turned on to carry over three of the touchdowns scores and made the fourth. Womack kicked three of for extra points. The 14-0 at the end of the first quarter being a take affair in which nothing threatened.

Travis Jones was given ball-toting assignment in the second quarter, saving a good performance, saving the still ailing leg. The scores came in deceptive ball when players swarmed and Carmack to let Hagood with the ball.

Jones, hurt in the latter third quarter, was succeeded by Bobby McGuire at fullback back from the wing position. McGuire responded. Fred Conner went in after and got the praise of coaches also. Jones will not out any this week. Coach hopes he will be able to light scrimmage again by and, and thinks that Carmack will continue to show improvement.

standout for the Whirlwinds was Bruce Womack playing at tackle, who sparked a forward wall that absorbed heavy punishment from the Chiefs, whose standout offensive man was Pullback Virgil Lawson. Bill Simmons, the Chiefs' linebacker, and Bill Blackwood, end made no little trouble for the Whirlwinds when they were on the offensive.

Spur Bulldogs Also Win

The Spur Bulldogs also won Friday night, taking Paducah 7 to 6 in a conference game. Still ailing from the beating they took from the powerful Munday Moguls a week before the Bulldogs were sluggish in the Paducah tussle, but were a considerably better team than the Dragons put on the field, despite the story the score tells.

In the other two conference tussles, Matador went to town 40 to 0 on their home grounds against the Lockney Longhorns, and the Ralls Jackrabbits fattened their conference standing, also, at the expense of the Petersburg Buffaloes 18 to 0. The Ralls team is a vastly improved aggregation since they played here early in the season.

When the Ounce of Prevention Fails

★ Warning against accidents in the home and on the highways is old stuff to most of us. Many industries have made real progress in accident prevention, but our homes continue to produce minor and major injuries on an ever-increasing scale.

In spite of every precaution, accidents will occur. When the "ounce of prevention" fails, it is wise to have "the pound of cure" ready and at hand. See that your medicine cabinet is amply stocked with standard first-aid materials. Keep a first-aid kit in the pocket of your car. We shall be pleased to help you select the essential items from our complete stock.

Name Architect For New Motley Co. Court House

Frank Beauford, architect with the firm of Wyatt Hendricks, Ft. Worth has been employed by Motley county to prepare plans and specifications for the county building approved by voters in November, 1945. Amount of the bond issue was $175,000.

Employing of an architect by the commissioners court meeting Monday will have no bearing on the time when construction of the new courthouse is started, County Judge Wm. R. Carmack is quoted by the Matador Tribune as saying. He said that county officials and the architect believe that the building should not be started at the present time because of the shortages of labor and materials and also because of the advanced costs.

The architect has been retained by the county to look after its interests during the preparing of the plans and until the building is finally completed. It is probable that no direct action on the courthouse will be started for one year, two years or longer.

Meeting To Oppose Water Proration Set for Saturday

PETERSBURG, Nov. 15—A meeting of farmers and business men who are opposed to water proration for irrigation purposes will be held in Petersburg on Saturday, November 23, at 2 o'clock at the school building, according to those interested in the proposition.

A movement has been started down state, and by some municipalities on the South Plains and upper Panhandle. An effort will be made at the coming session of the State legislature to have such laws passed governing the use of our irrigation water. In order to be on guard against any damaging legislation that might be introduced farmers and other interested parties in irrigation are forming associations over the South Plains to look after their interests.

As to this date it is not believed that we have sufficient information as to the source and amount of our underground water to ask for legislation governing same.

Thieves Take Windows From New Hospital

CROSBYTON, Nov. 15—Someone drove a truck or pick-up up beside the Crosbyton Co-operative General hospital building sometime Saturday night, removed nine of the new aluminum windows which had been installed the previous week and took off for parts unknown.

The thieves would not have stopped at nine windows, only that seemed to be all they could pry loose from the casings. They were bolted in and spotted with plaster, which had to be removed before the windows would come out. Several other windows bore marks which indicated they had been worked on.

Prosperity Hits As Crops Pour In At Petersburg

PETERSBURG, Nov. 15—With half of the estimated cotton crop of 4,000 bales for this community already ginned, prosperity is on a rampage in this area.

With a bale of cotton bringing on an average of $165 per bale, including the seed, one can readily see that we are entering an era of prosperity on a large scale. This coupled with a half million dollar maize crop and one million dollar wheat crop and a million dollars worth of live stock, poultry, cream, milk and alfalfa adds up to a total of three million dollars for this community this crop year.

Discharges

Discharges recorded in the county clerk's office the past few days include the following:

Extension Says Buy Sudan Now

COLLEGE STATION, November—Texas farmers who wait until spring to start hunting seed for a sudan crop are likely to find themselves out of luck.

According to a report received by the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service from the USDA Bureau of Agricultural Economics, production of sudan grass seed in Texas this year is estimated to be only 5,200,000 pounds—the smallest since 1929. Indicating just how low that figure is, the report showed the average seed production of this state over the past 10 years to be 27,400,000 pounds. Last year's crop was only 9,000,000 which was still nearly twice as large as the current crop.

Although Texas farmers aren't ordinarily on the lookout for sudan seed this far ahead of the spring planting season, the crop, as indicated by the BAE report should move them to buy sudan seed now instead of waiting until spring when a mad rush to find seed usually occurs.

Present supplies of the sudan seed for the entire nation, including production this year plus the carryover

LET'S HAVE A Heart-to-Heart TALK ABOUT THIS

You believe in life insurance. That's why you are a policyowner. And you believe in your family, too. You want that little girl to grow up in the neighborhood where you've built your home. You want your wife to have that home as long as she wishes to keep it. And if anything should happen to you, you want her to be able to bring your little girl up under the teaching and guidance that only a mother could give her. You don't want your wife to have to leave your child in some day nursery all day long while she works—or looks for work.

That's why you bought your life insurance, isn't it—to take care of them.

Well, let's look at your life insurance. Will it do the things you want it to do? If you have $2,500 of life insurance, it will provide your beneficiary with $50 a month for about four and a half years. Is that enough? Will that assure them of that home—give them food and clothing, and the necessities of life you'd want them to have if you were not here to provide them? Is that enough to give that little girl the start in life you want your daughter to have?

YOUR THANKSGIVING TURKEY

Will Be

More Tender... More Delicious

When Baked In A

CP GAS RANGE

MORE tender and more delicious because only in the fresh-air oven of a Live-Flame Gas Range, with CONTROLLED and sustained low temperature, do you get finest baking results. Not only will the turkey be uniformly done throughout, tender and juicy, but with low temperature, so easily and accurately maintained, you have minimum shrinkage. Nothing equals GAS for superb baking or roasting.

Grimms Also Give Thanks for Sturdy Health

AUSTIN, Texas—The first Thanksgiving day in this country was proclaimed for the purpose of expressing thanks not only for the harvest which the colonists respected but for the sturdy and endurance that had enabled them to survive the hardships and exposure, that first winter in America. On the occasion of this Thanksgiving day, State Health officer, Dr. Geo. Cox, is appealing to every citizen of Texas to give serious thought to the preservation of his health and that of his community.

to be thankful for the steadily increasing interest and cooperation being shown in matters pertaining to general sanitation and the control of communicable diseases," Dr. Cox asserted. "Responsibility for advancement of the public health program lies not with the State Health department primarily but with the people who support and encourage the local community efforts exerted and who apply in their own individual lives the health rules with which they have become acquainted through public health education."

Dr. Cox pointed out that one direct result of public health efforts in this nation has been the lengthening of the normal life span by more than 15 years.

"Certainly this is something to be thankful for and it should lend incentive for further efforts to promote and maintain community as well as statewide public health programs."

TURKEYS DO BETTER ALONE

Relative plenty in the turkey supply this year is a striking example of the better and more scientific methods that have helped to boost food production in recent years, say the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

In the years following World War I, turkey production declined rapidly, and reached a low in 1927. This was because of the growing hazard of turkey production. It was a poor speculation to feed young turkeys because so many died from a variety of disease, particularly from blackhead. Investigation revealed that blackhead affected chickens only lightly, but was deadly to turkeys. The emphasis in turkey production was to keep turkeys and chickens apart. One result was the growth of specialized turkey production. Others were various steps in better management that also made turkey growing safer. Keeping turkeys on summer range and away from chickens and changing them frequently to fresh range controlled the spread of blackhead in the flocks—and damage from other poultry parasites as well.

The results of this better management are reflected in figures of production compiled since 1929 by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. In 1930 turkey production was 217 million pounds. By 1940 this had more than doubled to 482 million pounds, and by 1944 had gone up to 547 million pounds. In 1930 turkeys supplied only 1.8 pounds of meat per capita. In 1940 the per capita supply had just doubled at 3.6 pounds. The estimate for this year is about 4.5 pounds per capita or practically two and one-half times what it was in 1930.

A further stimulus to turkey production and marketing has been the breeding of smaller and better fleshed turkeys that are better adapted to the ovens, the food budgets, and turkey capacity of average families.

Fats Are Short

He urged continued fat salvage by housewives.

STALIN'S LITTLE JOKE

Nobody caught Viscount Marshal Bernard Montgomery telling this one on himself, but an American general at the Yalta conference recalled it during the British Chief of Staff's visit in Washington, says Pathfinder News Magazine.

As the story goes, Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin gave a banquet for military officials at the meeting. Vodka flowed freely. Shortly before the affair ended, a bejeweled, bemuddled Soviet general leaped to the table and performed a lusty Russian dance. Finally he fell off the table, landing squarely on Premier Stalin's lap, apparently without embarrassment.

Stalin, unsmiling, spoke to Churchill through his interpreter. "I presume," the Soviet dictator deadpanned, "that you occasionally have the same trouble with your Gen Montgomery."

Why Bert Won First Prize

Folks weren't surprised when Bert Childers won first prize for his corn at the county fair.

Yet the judges admit it wasn't just because Bert had the finest ears of corn. He knew how to display them: neatly arranged, with the husks cleanly trimmed, and the both white and spotless.

"Trimmings" sure make a difference no matter what you're offering—as Andy Botkin, keeper of the Garden Tavern, well knows. Andy doesn't just sell good beer. He sells it in a place that's clean and attractive... in nice surroundings that belong with the enjoyment of a wholesome beverage of moderation.

And Andy, of course, is a whole-hearted supporter of "Self Regulation." That's the system by which the Brewers and tavern keepers themselves make sure that taverns selling beer are clean and orderly.

From where I sit, people like Andy also rate a "First prize." Not just for the quality of the product—but for the "trimmings" too.

Combine Farm Loan Facilities

Credit facilities and services formerly provided by the Farm Security Administration and the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan division of Farm Credit Administration are available to eligible farmers through the Floyd County office of the Farmers' Home Administration, Lester J. Cappelman, Texas State Director of FHA, has announced.

Mr. Cappelman also announced the designation of James F. Crump, Floyd County supervisor of the Farm Security Administration which is located on the second floor of the courthouse in Floydada, Texas.

Created by 79th Congress The Farmers' Home Administration, created by the 79th Congress took over functions of FSA and ECFL effective November 1. The new agency will make production and subsistence loans as well as loans for farm purchases. Facilities are available only to farmers who are unable to get the loans they need at interest rates not exceeding five percent from banks, cooperative lending agencies or other responsible sources in their communities. Eligibility of applicants is passed upon by a local committee of Floyd County farmers, who certify, among other things, that the applicant is not able to obtain credit elsewhere.

The production and subsistence loans made by the Farmers' Home Administration are of two types: Ad-

McCoy Will Honor Their Veterans

The McCoy community is sponsoring a Thanksgiving supper for the veterans of the community Friday night, November 29, at 7:00 o'clock. A short program and special music will furnish entertainment for the evening.

Each family is urged to bring a well filled basket for a traditional Thanksgiving supper.

Adjustment-type loans and Annual loans. Adjustment-type loans are similar to the "Rehabilitation" loans formerly made by the Farm Security Administration. They are based on improved farm and home management plans worked out jointly by the borrower family and FHA supervisors. These plans call for home production of feed and of the family living as nearly as possible; for several sources of cash income for the farm; and improved soil conservation practices and the best land utilization. The loans may be made for farm operations, for purchase of additional livestock and modern tools and equipment for the farmer and canning or other needed equipment for the farm home—in fact for anything needed to put the farm and home plan operation. The loans are accompanied by on-the-farm assistance in farm and home management problems provided by FHA Supervisors. Loans may be repaid over a maximum period of five years.

Annual Operating Loans Annual loans are operating loans made without a farm and home management plan, but must be repaid within 12 months. They are similar to the "Feed and Seed" loans formerly made by the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan division of Farm Credit Administration.

Under the provisions of the law creating the new agency, production and subsistence loans may not be made to any one borrower for more than $3,500 in any one year; total indebtedness of any one borrower to the agency is restricted to $5,000. The loans bear five percent interest.

The farm purchase loans made by the new agency are similar to those formerly made by the Farm Security Administration. Loans are made for 100 percent of the purchase price of family-type farms, plus needed improvements, providing the total cost does not exceed $12,000. Veterans will be given preference in all phases of the Farmers' Home Administration program.
