IT'S RED CROSS TIME AGAIN

Red Cross time again this March: Time to help re-finance the work of the humanitarian organization which answers the call when disaster hits, which does the personal unofficial things for our service men and their families which cannot be done through official sources. Red Cross is the organization which we try to make project our own human impulses across seas and continents to distress wherever it may be found.

Your and our impatience with the little, pettifogging things that are a part of Red Cross should not be permitted to becloud the major fact, that Red Cross is us, willy nilly.

What we are asked to do this year in Floyd county is to put up $3,608 to carry on. Forget the part you don't like and do as you would be done by. Using methods and doing silly things that you don't like and we don't like the Red Cross gets the job done just the same. God moves in mysterious ways his wonders to perform. Right now, for humanity's sake, He needs a bit of your help. Obey the impulse to lend a hand, whilst you forget to be critical.

SOIL CONSERVATION PROGRAM

About the most nearly Democratic organization which has grown up in the past few years under the sponsorship of the federal and state governments, having to do with the general welfare, directly the welfare of the land, is that of the Soil districts created by the farmers themselves under laws set up by the state, with federal agencies participating with expert knowledge of procedure.

What we like, in particular, is that the program which one of these soil conservation districts carries on, is that it is one which has been studied and given the nod by the farmer himself, to be carried out by himself, for his own selfish good, first of all, for generations to come ultimately. The program that will do good for the nation in the long run benefits now the man who is putting it over.

This kind of an agency we would dislike very much to see disturbed, if and when congress goes to making changes in the status of its federal agencies. Whereas some of the agencies say here is the program, take it, it will do you good, the soil conservation plan is one which the man on the land considers and then undertakes after deliberation. After some years practical operation it seems safe to say the soil district have shown the way.

TO HAVE LEGAL STATUS

It seems probable that a chiropractic law will be passed by the Fiftieth legislature and thus give to several hundred men and women who are practicing in this state a legal status which they have not had heretofore.

Two identical bills in the Senate and the House have been passed out of committees for the consideration of the legislature. And coming thus early on the calendar are due to have ample time for all argument and debate and eventual vote. If the bills pass and get the approval of the governor a board of examiners will be set up and all chiropractors thus will be licensed, whereas as indicated aforesaid they have had no legal status heretofore.

BOX CAR SHORTAGE ACUTE

War always brings dislocations and oftentimes unexpected hardships and inconveniences in its wake. Also, as in some states of Europe, such a complete state of ruin and exhaustion that effort at rehabilitation seems futile. Only similar condition which any American can recall is that which faced people of the deep south after the Civil war.

Fortunately for America emergence from World War II, although beset with many problems none are faced with conditions which make us wholly helpless. Nearest approach is in the housing situation, and in any line where good steel and wood and good workmen are needed in unlimited amounts and numbers.

Among the sufferers in a business way are the railways which sure do need box cars badly. While it should not be said that there is a breakdown of box car service in prospect, the manner of our people of exaggerating for the sake of emphasis is such that we would say it that way to indicate a serious situation in many parts of the nation. Railways had no opportunity to build rolling stock during the war to any extent and now that the war days have passed the lack of steel and the high costs make it questionable, some executives say, whether or not to spend some more time waiting.

REPLENISHING THE HOG SUPPLY

As might have been expected the high price of hog meat and hog by-products on the markets are beginning to be recognized in the farrowing pens and the feed lots. Men who know how to raise hogs are beginning to get back in the business which they deserted a year ago when the producing price and the selling price were so far out of line as to leave less than nothing for the work and the investment.

How long it will take production to overtake consumption, how soon if at all will the public begin to refuse to accept swine meat at the present price levels? There are two of the questions that pose themselves for the man who is deciding whether he will or won't get back into swine raising. It seems sure that one consideration should be that as long as prices are as high as they are for feed a heavy drop in selling price would not want to catch a man with too many hogs that he couldn't take to town quickly. Which argues for the use of concentrates and conditioners—all the things that will add up to quick production and economy in the feed lot. Time is going to count. Time certainly is going to "mean something to a hog."

Floyd County 14 Years Ago

(Issue of March 2, 1933)

Election will be held Saturday, April 1, of two members to the Board of trustees of the Floydada Independent School district to fill vacancies created by the expiring terms of L. H. Dorrell and J. B. Turner, it was indicated Wednesday by J. T. J. Dawson, secretary.

Moisture Saturday, Sunday and Monday, which fell slowly in the form of rain, sleet and snow, gave 57 inch of precipitation at Floydada and at other points in the county about the same, according to reports.

That interest in the forthcoming municipal election in Floydada on April 4 will be keen, was indicated this week by the filing of two petitions naming a total of fourteen candidates for the five offices of aldermen, which are to be filled at the election. Offices of mayor, marshal and city secretary also are to be filled at the same time.

Membership of the Farmers and Home Owners Protective league of Floyd county had reached a total of 123 Wednesday of this week, according to figures on the records of Ed Holmes, secretary of the organization.

Harold Chaoman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Chapman, of this city student in Floydada High school until this week had not missed a day in school for five consecutive years. Monday he was feeling ill with a sore throat and had to miss a part of the day. He went to classes, but had to return home.

Condition of F. F. Eastridge of this city, ill at the Piatview sanitarium, was considered grave this week and yesterday he was reported as "about the same."

Have You Ever Seen A Gadget Like This?

It's a "LIGHT METER" to test Lighting in Your Home or Place of Business

The "camera bug" in the family may say it's an exposure meter, but that's wrong. It's another sort of meter, designed expressly to measure the amount of light received on any eye task in your home or place of business.

When our lighting specialist finishes his survey you'll know just how good or bad your lighting is. Is there enough light to read by in that easy chair? Should you sew by the light of those wall lamps? Do the children have enough light in their room? Is that bed lamp right for reading?

All these questions will be answered at no cost or obligation to you. Just fill in and mail the coupon, or call your nearest Public Service Company office.

Motley County Farm-to-Market Road Activities

MATADOR, Feb. 20—Additional improved farm-to-market highways for Motley county became the object of efforts by county officials last week when County Judge Wm. R. Cammack and Commissioner J. N. Fletcher of Roaring Springs appeared before the State Highway Commission, February 14, to plead for an extension of the Matador-Childress road, via Northfield and the proposed Roaring Springs-Dougherty route.

The Roaring Springs-Dougherty road would start at Roaring Springs and connect with farm-to-market road in Floyd county at Dougherty.

Flomot Job Delays
Landowners and the Commissioners court failed to reach an agreement on the value of additional property for the nine-mile Flomot farm-to-market road right-of-way and appraisal will now go to a jury-review appointed by County Judge Wm. R. Cammack.

Letting of the contract for construction of the road which will start at Highway 18 and extend west for nine miles through Flomot to the west county line, has been delayed until an agreement of value can be reached between the landowners and the court.

The State Highway commission will let the contract for construction of the road when the appraisal report of the jury-of-view is made Judge Cammack declared.

Side Lights From Washington

(By George Mahon)

This is being airmailed from Washington on George Washington's birthday. There are eight inches of snow on the ground but the sky is clear and planes are scheduled to begin flying west again at noon today. Personally, however, I do not care about airplane travel in this kind of weather. Yet despite crashes in recent weeks which have taken considerable toll of human life, we are told that commercial air travel was twice as safe in 1946 as in the previous year. Authorities point out that a passenger could fly around the world 38 times before according to the law of averages, he would lose his life in a fatal accident. Few would desire to tempt fate that far.

Yesterday the House of Representatives celebrated Washington's birthday by listening to Congressman Lodge, descendant of Henry Cabot Lodge, read Washington's Farwell address and passing a bill to provide extensive cooperation with Mexico in an effort to prevent the spread of the hoof and mouth disease of the herds of Texas and the Southwest.

Earlier in the week we passed a resolution proposing a cut of 6 billion dollars in government spending. Though I favor economy and feel that many reductions can be effected, I made an 11-minute speech against the resolution on the ground that the Republicans were concealing the principal facts as to what cuts were contemplated and that drastic cuts in the armed forces would jeopardize our national security.

My principal job this week has been to attend daily hearings of the War Department subcommittee on appropriations. We are scheduled to meet almost daily for a month or six weeks in hearings and in preparation for submission of the bill to the House.

General Eisenhower, Army Chief of Staff, spent three hours with us on Wednesday explaining the reasons why he thought the army needed 6 billion dollars for the fiscal year beginning July 1. We hope some substantial reductions can safely be made, but it is too early to say where we can cut. We are requested to provide for an army of slightly over one million men. In view of the general world situation and the fact that none of the peace treaties have been finally approved I feel that an army of the strength requested is required. Secretary of State George Marshall will soon be sitting across the table from Generalissimo Stalin in Moscow. We should strengthen Marshall's position as much as reasonably possible.

Our subcommittee is still composed of seven members. This year four of the members are Republicans and Albert Engel of Michigan is chairman. Al has a farm up in Michigan which is devoted to the growing of Christmas trees. He says it takes several seasons in which to grow a good Christmas tree. Unfortunately, we West Texans have found that it sometimes takes several seasons in which to grow a good cotton crop.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Harold Huggins and family of Colorado City, spent Saturday and Sunday here and at Lockney, guests of their parents Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Roy here, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Huggins at Lockney.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Bullock and Mrs. J. R. Cardwell of Lela, Texas, spent the week-end here visiting with relatives.

Biggest Since the Borger Boom Amarillo Report

(Angle of N. D. Bartlett, the oil editor of the Amarillo Globe-News on the new area of search for oil written last week-end and published Sunday, is given herewith. Mr. Bartlett is a veteran and probably writes with better background than any other oil writer in the area.—Ed. Note)

The Hale County play described as the biggest oil play in this area since the Borger boom, is still going strong, but it is checkmated somewhat by lack of well casing. Several operators who have short time leases are in a scramble for pipe. Reports are that Hunt Oil Company has secured five strings of pipe and has marked three strings for the Hale play. The company has several leases close in to the new producer Stanolind O&G Co. No. 1 Fisher. Acreage and royalties are selling high. Twenty-five dollars is being paid for leases 8 and 9 miles north and northwest. One piece of royalty within a mile of the Fisher discovery sold for better than $750 per acre. One lease owner southwest of the Fisher was reported to have refused $300 cash and $300 in oil. A deep flowing well of high gravity oil brings the answer in any area and Hale County is no exception.

The question often asked is what town in the immediate territory is going to get the big supply house play. That's a hard one to answer. Supply houses are definitely making inquiries and looking over the ground Lubbock is the largest city in this area but the farthest away. Plainview is the next largest with several things in its favor. Abernathy and Petersburg are both on paved roads and both have railroads besides being closest to the play, and although small, this factor is not a serious handicap. Office locations for operating companies are something else. These naturally go to the larger cities in the district. Those companies now having offices in Amarillo will probably stay here.

The striking new front end styling of the 1947 Pontiac is shown in the above picture. New grille styling combines with a massive bumper to create this beautiful new effect. Pontiac for 1947, now in production, is offered in two series and ten distinctive body types.

Morris Wheeler, Crosby Pioneer, Died February 18

CROSBYTON, Feb. 21—Funeral services for Morris Wheeler, 72, a commissioner of Crosby county for 24 years, were held Thursday afternoon, February 20 at 2:30 p. m. at the Robertson Methodist church. Mr. Wheeler died February 18, at the Lubbock Memorial hospital where he had been taken two weeks previously. He was buried in Ralls cemetery with the Marr Funera home in charge of the arrangements. Mr. Wheeler came to Crosby county in 1891 from Knox county, and had been a leader in county affairs from the early days. He served as commissioner from Precinct 4 until a few years ago when he retired from public life. His passing takes one more from the fast dwindling list of pioneer settlers of this county.

Production, engineering and pipeline offices will get closer in. With Floyd county getting hotter than ever, developments can be expected to form rapidly when materials are available.

Stanolind's No. 1 La Pont about half a mile to the southeast of the discovery, No. 1 Fisher, in section 10 directly south of section 5, is drilling at 2400. It's the second test for the area and will mean a lot if it comes in a good producer.

Employment Service Offers Aid to Jobless

(State Employment service has submitted the release below which may or may not have value to the actual prospective employers and employees of Floyd county. It is chosen from the reams of state and national agency "releases" as having possible value to Floyd county people, and is reprinted for what it may be worth. TUCC is the alphabetical name for a state agency which annually impounds millions of Texas employers' money and does it out to employees who lose their jobs, according to the theory on which the law is based, to relieve distress among employees who lose their jobs through no fault of their own. —Ed. Note.)

A special employment program to aid Floydada workers and employers engaged in rural industries was announced today by F. A. Wells, TUCC district director for the Sixth district.

Wells said that the program would make the necessary labor available to employers of rural industries on a planned basis and help workers engaged in peak farm season activities most nearly attain "year round" employment. Rural industries include processing of all agricultural products.

"We hope that this program will prove of value to employers in securing the workers they need at once and thereby preventing loss of raw products subject to spoilage, reducing overhead personnel cost and loss of production time," Wells said. "Our plan should also be of service to the worker by shortening the time that is between jobs and enabling him to maintain a higher annual income."

This special rural industries program conducted by the State Employment Service is designed to assist communities in organizing and planning for the handling of peak seasonal labor in rural industries by making the greatest possible use of the labor supply and reducing unnecessary in-migration of transient labor, Wells said.

"This is a part of the overall Texas State Employment Service program and employers and workers in rural industries will receive complete benefits of all services offered by the Plainview local office," Wells said.

Visits are now being scheduled to Floydada employers in rural industries, Wells said, in order to get labor requirement estimates for the 1947 season and to explain how the Texas State Employment Service can assist them in getting labor and in placing their workers when laid off at the end of peak seasons.

Employers who have seasonal layoffs can help reduce their Unemployment Compensation tax rate by notifying the Texas State Employment Service at the earliest possible date of planned reductions in force so that these workers can be placed in other employment with the least possible loss in working time, Wells said.

FARM "DAYTIME STRETCHER"

With rural electric power system enlarging their networks over the countryside, more and more farm people are discovering the value of good lighting in saving time, preventing accidents, and protecting eyesight. Now they are insisting on the electrical conveniences which have become commonplace in cities says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Chores have to be done every day on the farm, summer or winter—sometimes before sun-up or after sun-down—and electricity is the "daytime stretcher" that can provide the proper illumination for all farm tasks. The few minutes saved every day by a light over the feed bin or in the milking barn, for example, may total to a considerable saving in time. A recent nationwide survey of several hundred farms shows that chores taking three and a half hours on an un-electrified farm take only two hours on a properly lighted electrified farm.

Lights strategically placed around the farmstead may keep the farmer from a nasty dive down a dark stairway, or from a tumble in the yard. The multiple switch has these and other uses on the farm. It is already familiar to many city homes where the hall light is controlled from both upstairs and down. On the farm they're used to control the yard lights from both the back porch and barn or garage, or to light the area around the henhouse from a bedroom if a marauder threatens. Eyes that might be strained and weakened because of poor illumination are saved by good lighting. Children at home work, the farmer working over his books, all need proper lighting to protect their eyesight.

Good lighting is intimately related to good living, say REA experts, and under the stimulus of the REA program which already has brought electric service to more than half the Nation's farms, it is becoming just as easy for farm people to have good lighting as for their city cousins.

Oil Men Ponder What to Do, Says Crosby Review

CROSBYTON, Feb. 21—Oil operators, including the major companies, are apparently in a quandary themselves as to what development can be expected in Crosby and Floyd counties within the next few months. As one representative of a major company said this week, "Something is going to happen, but we don't know just what."

The operators have been caught flatfooted because the well at Petersburg is a much bigger thing than anyone expected, says the Crosbyton Review. It being a wildcat, no one knows whether it is a small pool or whether it is a long deposit lying at the north base of what geologists refer to as the "granite ridge" which runs through this section about six or seven thousand feet under the surface of the plains.

Taking No Chances
But the big boys are taking no chances and are leasing all land adjacent to this "ridge", including a strip across the north part of Crosby County from Estacado to McAdoo and a similar strip in the south part of Floyd county.

According to rumors this week leasing has been active on the East Plains along the north edge of the county. None of these leases have been recorded, however. Oil men continue to arrive in the city, some spending only a few hours while others have been here for several days.

DEPARTMENT CENSORED SELF

A wartime activity of the U. S. Department of Agriculture not widely known at the time -- self-censorship of its own scientific and technical information -- is revealed in the annual report of the Librarian, Ralph R. Shaw.

Through the year 1943 and 1944 and until censorship was discontinued on Sept. 1, 1945, the Office of Censorship and the Board of Economic Warfare delegated to the Department the job of making sure that the results of wartime research within the Department did not get to the enemy through publications or letters mailed by the Department. The Department's approval was recognized as clearance adequate to safeguard technical information in the interest of the national security.

In actual practice scientists in the major agencies helped in the clearance procedures. These men had fairly definite information as to whether enemy countries already knew the results of wartime research or not. When there was doubt that an enemy had full information on such subjects as use of DDT, the methods of penicillin manufacture, the development of insecticides and repellants, the development of fertilizer materials, packaging materials, preservatives for wood and fabrics, improved methods of food processing, the publication and distribution of such information was guarded carefully. When it was known that the Axis nations already had the information, it was possible to distribute such information more freely to friendly nations.

New Assembly Line at Ford Truck Plant

DETROIT—The first truck moved from the Ford Motor Company's new $2,100,000 truck assembly line at the Highland Park plant on Monday, it has been announced by E. J. Wedge, plant superintendent.

The company expanded its truck assembly facilities after moving them from the Rouge to Highland Park in order to boost production and speed delivery of badly needed trucks to the public. The move also gave the company additional space at the Rouge for building Ford and Mercury automobiles.

The new line is considered one of the most modern in the industry. It is 1,410 feet long as compared to the old one at the Rouge plant which was 800 feet long. At peak production, 400 trucks can be built daily.

What can we do to better this situation? Certainly, at a very minimum, you can care for your own health and the health of your family. In the end, most problems are resolved in the individual's sense of personal responsibility. Observe common health rules. Consult your physician in case of illness. Granite Ridge, Where Is It Big Question Mark

(Patching information together from whatsoever source he can get it, the Sunday report of the oil writer for the Lubbock Avalanche boils down to a question of who is lucky on the location of the "granite ridge" supposedly extending through this area. Below is his report and conclusions on developments in the week.—Ed. Note.)

The biggest news developed in the petroleum exploration activity on the South Plains during the past week has been the active, intensive and widespread leasing play which has been generated in the south half of Floyd county.

Very little definite information has been released regarding the Floyd county leasing play. It is known that a large number of independent lease men and brokers have been working actively in that region, and also in south Hale county during recent weeks.

Several Blocks Leased
It appears that several considerable size blocks have been formed in south Floyd county, and that possibly some of them are likely to go to some of the major oil companies.

So far as has been learned, all of the leasing has been done by individuals and since very few of the lease contracts have been filed for record it is too early to determine exactly what sort of a play has been going on, or to do any predicting as to any immediate results that may come from it.

Bonuses Average $1 Acre
Bonus prices paid up to now, for most of the acreage which has been bought in Floyd county have been $6 per acre, with the most of the contracts on ten-year commercial lease bases, with fifty cents per acre annual rentals.

In a few instances, bonuses of above $1 per acre have been paid for some leases in Floyd county—but those sorts of trades have been rare.

ARWINE DRUG COMPANY BISHOP'S PHARMACY

So far as has been reported none of the lease contracts on Floyd county acreage call for the drilling of wildcat tests on any specified tracts.

Set Off Fisher Well
The activity was set off by the showings made at Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 1 Fisher, recent discovery six miles northwest of Petersburg, in southeast Hale county, which is a flowing oil well lying at 6,381-6,992 feet, with an initial potential of 1,341 barrels per day.

All of the lease buying which has been done, since the Fisher discovery has been purely speculative. The principal foundation for the buying is the idea that the apex of an underground granite ridge, which is known to go across the north side of the Permian Basin, might be along the south sides of Hale and Floyd counties.

Oil In Upper Stratas?
If that should be the case, it is possible, some geologists say, for the upper stratas which might lay above the granite, to carry oil, in a number of places.

Only widespread drilling will determine whether or not the apex of the granite is in the area now being played, and if it is, whether the formations above it will carry the hoped for oil pay sections.

There is no question but that the Fisher discovery has set off a rather widespread and active development program in the territory which lays both north and south and east and west of the new Hale county discovery.

One Of Most Important
It is generally agreed that it is one of the most important and significant developments which have come to the oil industry in this part of Texas in several years.

The full value of the discovery will only be determined after more drilling. Some similar explorations which looked equally as good as does the Fisher discovery, have failed to live up to the original promises, when the extent to which they would go were fully determined. The same might result from further drilling in the Hale county area, and in the regions adjacent to it—but as stated above, that remains to be seen.

New Operators In Area
Another interesting feature which has resulted from the recent Hale county discovery is that a large number of lease and royalty traders from Tulsa, Oklahoma City, San Antonio, and several other cities who have heretofore not been active in West Texas, have been in the area in recent weeks.

Some of those new operators in the territory have been doing some buying, while others have just been getting acquainted with the area.

Humble Oil & Refining Company
No. 1 Thomas Montgomery, north-central county wildcat to 10,000 feet in southeast corner of section 21 block 2, Brooks and Burleson survey, about 12 miles north and slightly west of Crosbyton, had spudded and was making hole below 1,000 feet, at last report. It is to go to 10,000 feet, unless it gets commercial production at a higher level.

To Be Watched Closely
This prospector will be watched closely as it goes down, on account of the fact that it is about 20 miles east and a little south of the recent discovery in south-east Hale county.
Humble No. 1-G Matador Land and Cattle company, another 10,000-foot wildcat, one mile north of the town of Dickens, in central Dickens county, and in southeast quarter of section 8, block C, Connelley Survey had reached 5,576 feet, in lime and shale, and was drilling ahead.

Large Bobcat Hide Poultry House Trophy

MATADOR, Feb. 20—C. D. Bird heard a commotion in his chicken yard one night last week and investigated. Trapped inside the net wire fencing was one of the largest wild cats he had ever seen, glaring out of the darkness. He called to his wife to bring the shot gun.

Mr. Bird now has a large, well furred wild cat pelt for a rug, except that the hide has a large hole in the center of the animal's back. The load of turkey shot did not improve the rug but it did eliminate the chicken-thief which had destroyed three roosters. The large bob-cat hide measured almost four feet from the tip of his nose to the end of his tail.

Among the items offered are arc welders, high pressure pumps, platform trucks, button sewing machines, darning machines, lock stitch type sewing machines, overedge sewing machines, shoe sanding machines, hoist chains, platform scales, laundry trucks, pressure paint tanks, heel trimmers and one electric bank saw. The property is being offered to priority claimants, including Veterans of World War II, and commercial channels concurrently.

Seek Locations At Petersburg for Warehouse Space

PETERSBURG, Feb. 21—A day has hardly passed the past two weeks that some representative of an oil company or oil well supply house or some other concern that is closely allied with the oil field business, has not been in Petersburg looking for a location for warehouse space, supply yard, etc. Most of them seem to be interested in locating adjacent to the railroad, which is natural as their supplies will come by rail ninety per cent of the time. Some however, would take other locations if desirable and located adjacent to pavement, but pavement is not absolutely necessary in all cases.

Wives of Men in Occupation Army of Germany Big Help

Lt. Rex R. Brown, who with Mrs. Brown, the former Martha McCleskey, and their son, has just reached home from Germany, says the lot of a married man with the occupation forces is not such a bad one. In fact, he says you rate a lot higher the minute your wife joins you there.

The Browns left Nazland in January and reached home over the week-end, coming by way of New York City. Lt. Brown is on terminal leave and due for separation from the service early in March.

Works Out Pretty Good
To show how it works when you are a man of family in the occupation zone, they find you a good place to live, they see that you get good food, fresh vegetables, kleanex and such, and when your wife (not you) telephones for a car there is always one available. Not so with the single men or men whose wives are back in the states. They just do the best they can, live in barracks and never get a break in assignments.

Mrs. Brown and their son joined Lt. Brown eight months ago in Germany, after he had been stationed in Rhineland for more than a year. They are glad to be back in the states but the tour of duty in Germany was not a bad experience. Rex pointed out, since the fighting was practically over when he got there, and there was time for golf. Lt. Brown was a member of one of the army teams which played and won a match for their army at one of the famous courses adjacent to Paris, France.

During the earlier part of Mr. Brown's absence from home in the service Mrs. Brown served as a
