Dealers Plan Huge Appliance Show

South Plains Scout Troop Commend Outstanding

Postwar electrical appliances, their application and use in the home and on the farm will be featured on April 15 in Floydada when the annual meeting of the Floyd county Rural Electric cooperative members is held. It was announced this week by L. W. Chapman, superintendent of the far-flung distribution system for electric energy.

Nearly a score of local appliance dealers are going to work along with the idea of making the display of late merchandise the biggest thing seen in this section, especially featuring home appliances.

Show Will Be For All

And, said Mr. Chapman, although the meeting of the coop members on April 15 furnishes the principal incentive for the display to acquaint REA members with the newest and latest in things electrical the displays will be wide open to the public and hundreds of Floydada people, no doubt, will also want to view the array of good things which postwar electrical contrivances are bringing to America, urban as well as rural.

The plan was initiated Tuesday night when 15 representatives of dealers held their first meeting amidst marked enthusiasm.

Plans include securing a large space for use so that each dealer will be able to display leading items of his merchandise. And unless some wholly unforeseen hindrance should interfere the new electrical appliances as well as their application in the home will be seen in greater array than ever before here.

More Electrical Merchandise

While some of the electrical items for the home are still on the critical list, the future months hold out promise for increasing quantities, and Mr. Chapman thinks the display should draw the interest of a large number of prospective buyers of all types of appliances.

Meeting of REA Members

The big display of electrical items and the membership annual meeting will be carried along in such a way that neither will interfere materially with the other. The REA meeting hour is 1 o'clock in the afternoon and not over two hours will be necessary to cover all reports, the naming of directors, election of officers and official routine. The remainder of the day will be given over to the displays.

Represented in the Tuesday night meeting were Hickerson-Strickland Butane Co., O'Neal Furniture and Hardware Co., Cline & Rainier, Holme Electrical service, Oden Appliance company, White Auto Store Parker Furniture company, Collier Auto Supply, Radio Electric company, McDonald hardware, Willson & Son Lumber company, Nichol Lumber company, Eller Bros., Floyd Electric Co., Plains Equipment company, Southwestern Public Service company, City of Floydada, C. D. Poote, Consumers Fuel association, Floyd County Rural Electric cooperative.

In addition to these several manufacturers and distributors have indicated an interest and it appears that many devices which are not now ready for general distribution will be shown as samples of what the public may look forward to later.

One-Third Red Cross Quota In County Raised, Reports Show

According to the latest reports says J. W. Reue, Red Cross fund campaign chairman, Floyd County is making considerable strides towards its 1947 goal of $3608.

Complete reports have been turned in by the following communities: Liberty, Baker, Lakeview, Starkey Hillcrest, and Pleasant Hill. They show that the people in these communities gave generously. Excellent partial reports have been turned in by Lockney, Blanco, Erick, Prairie Chapel, and Harmony.

"We have received contributions amounting to about one third of our goal," says Reue, "and are optimistic that we will reach our quota by the end of the week. In order to do this it will be necessary that everyone, who has not done so, see their committee chairman or J. W. Reue or Carl Minor as soon as possible. As President Truman so aptly said the other night, 'The Red Cross is by your side all through the year and during the month of March they ask you to help them!'"

POSTAL RATE CHANGES DUE

Changes in postal rates are being urged upon Congress by the Post Office department, which hopes to get adjustments that will make that department self-sustaining. The department is pointing out in hearings which have been under way for several days that second, third and fourth class rates are out of line and represent a heavy loss to the department. Also, the postal authorities point to the heavy mail which is franked by various departments of the federal government, which show up as losses from postal operations. Some kind of books should be kept or a special postal charge made so as to show where these losses to the government originate and be charged to the various departments, say postal experts.

Newspapers, which have their charges set up on the present rates for second class matter may find themselves somewhat pinched by a revision upward of their mailing costs. It is not to be presumed that newspapers should be immune from fair and equitable changes, except if the new costs are so high as to be confiscatory.

CITY ELECTION APRIL 1

With the candidates' names all in the pot and ready for the consideration of the voters of the municipality, it is evident there will be enough "for" and "against" sentiment to make the election campaign period an interesting one and assure a good to big vote.

Policy in small cities is determined by the board of aldermen or city council and hence the choices made for these posts will be the more actual importance to the community. An alderman who serves Floydada for two years does so at a personal sacrifice and likely the races of most actual interest will be those of city marshal and city secretary. Jobs and a living are involved in these instances, of course.

From our point of view the city is due to have a "good" council when the new one goes in. From eight candidates, all of fair to excellent business judgment, the people can't go far wrong in choosing five. Further, they will have to choose at least two from the old board. This has value in the fact that many of the problems the council will face will be old problems.

WILL BE MONEY SPENDING

One of the things the new council will have to do during their tenure is to spend a considerable bit of the taxpayers' money. Not only will the council have largely to do with how well the bond issue money already voted is disposed, they also are going to have to do something about enlarging the city light and power plant.

Floydada has been growing apace since 1940 when the plant that was installed could play along and carry the load of business that was offered. Assuming that affairs run along normally, the city will have to expand the light and power system. We mean, in particular the city will have to have more power plant. And power plants cost money.

It will hardly be a question of what the council would like to do, it will be a question of how to do what will have to be done.

NO FIREARMS LAW NEEDED

One of the valuable safety valves incident to the kind of government we have in the United States is that any citizen can advocate the passage of any kind of a law he wants to back, and legislatures can do the same. Harm that results from this is that the lawbooks are cluttered with a number of inane and unnecessary statutes that fortunately do no real harm and which can be taken off by the codifiers every 25 years or so. Only occasionally does an actually vicious proposal get enacted.

Such an enactment is now being sought by some uniformed people who want a gun registration law enacted similar to that which followed World War I. They are agitating for more firearms legislation because of the large number of guns claimed to be in the borders of the nation now.

We doubt that there are any more guns in the country now than before the war. We conclude there may not even be as many because gun manufacturers quit making guns for public sale for sometime; during the same time the government bought up thousands of firearms, and a good many rifles and pistols just simply wore out.

Experience is, as pointed out by the National Rifle association, that criminals won't register their guns, and restrictive legislation only would result in hampering law-abiding citizens and make it more difficult for them to exercise their constitutional right to carry arms. Passage of such a law won't lower the crime rate and it will lend impetus to a black market in fire arms.

I think the people of this nation are sick and tired of a government controlled and operated where those in power utilize the public purse to satisfy groups and blocks and thereby make sure their safety in the forthcoming election. I believe the people of this nation will applaud the members of Congress who have the courage to stand firm and square for real sure-enough economy.—Anonymously.

JUDGE HOLT REPORTS ON UNDERGROUND WATER CONTROL BILL

House of Representatives, Austin, Texas, Feb. 26, 1947, To The Hesperian, Floydada, Texas.

House Bill No. 80, which, as you know, was the underground water control bill and was scheduled for hearing Tuesday, February 25, has been referred to a sub-committee. This action relieves us from any threat of water control by this bill for this term of the Legislature. Whether any more bills will show their heads remains to be seen. Approximately seventy-five representatives from the high plains, all members of the High Plains Water Conservation Association, were present for the hearing. The presence of so many from so great a distance really created an impression in the Capitol and showed the committee the intense concern of the high plains relative to their water.

We of the plains country value our underground water more than any other natural resource that we possess; or if we do not, we certainly should begin to realize what a prize possession it is. I am very happy that we have such an organization as the High Plains Water Conservation Association, and may I urge that this organization be kept

Latta Has Movie Color Coming Here Wednesday

A general invitation to farmers in this community and of nearby areas to view "Men with a Mission" a motion picture in full color just been issued by S. J. Latta Implements, Minneapolis - Moline of Floydada.

The picture will shown on March 11 at 7:30 p. m. in the store. The program arranged for this occasion by the local farm implement dealer will also include attendance prizes.

The picture tells the story of a boy and a girl who at first seem dissatisfied with their life on a farm and do not appreciate the highly interesting role farmers are playing today in producing the essential needs of humanity and of industry. By a series of amusing incidents they are convinced in the end that modern farmers are men with a mission that challenges the imagination.

The picture also depicts the part farmers and modern farm machinery are playing in expanding production and in meeting growing demands by the world for food and by industry for raw materials produced on farms. Scenes for this picture were filmed entirely in color and in all parts of the United States.

pany's 41th annual financial statement to policyholders.

During the past decade, 1936-1946 the total gain in insurance in force for all legal reserve life companies in the United States was 66 per cent, according to composite statistics compiled by the Institute of Life Insurance. The comparable gain for Southwestern Life during the same period was 99 per cent. The composite gain in a year for the decade was 95 per cent. That of Southwestern Life was 173 per cent.

Selling Us Off; Capitol Writer Knows Answers

Writing in the Austin American February 27, Clint Pace, of that newspaper's capitol staff, writes assertively and confidently regarding the visit of plains water conservation representatives to Austin and subsequent events which may develop in West Texas as a result of House Bill No. 80. Many think this bill would have put Texas into the water business, would have confiscated the landowners' right to the water underground, and have had West Texas farmers spending their time traveling to and from Austin begging before the high-backed desk of a board or commission. Anyway, here is what Mr. Pace and the Austin American say about the situation, which may as well be studied by every man who has an irrigation well or intends to put in one. —Ed Note.

which would regulate the use of underground water in five Texas counties may someday be back here with their tongues hanging out hollering, "Water, water!" It is probably then that they will begin to blame the Legislature for not doing something about preserving it.

The 100 persons were largely responsible for the reference of the bill to a sub-committee, where by agreement it will die a slow and painful death. Introduction by Representatives B. T. Edwards Jr. and Donald I. Peters, House Bill 80 would have set up strict control of underground waters in Zavala, Dimmitt, Atascosa, Frio and LaSalle Counties.

Take it from people who know (but who are a long way from taking sides in the question). West Texas is in for a rough time some of these days when their irrigation pumps begin to suck air. If they don't do something about it now they may never get another chance.

Perennially dryer than a British joke, parts of West Texas are living off the fat of the land now, pumping their rainfall onto their fields by fast-moving machinery which is emptying underground lakes that required thousands of years to form. Now, many of these irrigation farmers are pumping from 100 feet down. Things are working well; when it doesn't rain, they flip a switch and presto! they have as much water as they need.

Level Is Going Down
As a result, the water tables in the aqueous sands are dropping. Some day, they will go below the casing of the wells, because the water is being removed infinitely faster than rainfall can replace it. Then, of course, the end of the pipe will be continued as usual. But when the depth necessary to pump the water results in greater expense than irrigation can stand, what can be done but plug up the hole, sell the machinery and pray for rain?

Colonel E. V. Spence, member of the State Board of Water Engin-ers (who is one of the people not taking sides in the matter), says that irrigation of West Texas is resulting in the state's second largest population shift. The largest move is to industrializing cities and along the coast and into Dallas and Fort Worth. The colonel doesn't say it in as many words, but when the irrigation pumps start sucking like a kid with a used soda straw, Texas may have its own brand of "water Ookies."

The 100 persons who helped kill the water bill designed for five Texas counties said their objection was that "it might result in statewide application." According to geological surveys for their part of the state that wouldn't be so bad.

The High Plains farmers who are now irrigating are pulling water from a gigantic aquifer which has been thousands of years in forming like those in other parts of the state. Before irrigation, springs and seeps drained off about the same amount of water at the ends as entered in the top, and the underground sand was kept at about the same saturation. Now that pumps are taking water out in wholesale lots (and more efficient pumps are now pulling out a thousand times as much as the old windmills used to), the water table is going down. It will never disappear, but it may as well—it'll be too low for pumping.

True the irrigation water is put back into the ground, where it ought to seep back into the lake. But it doesn't. Roots take up a lot; some is evaporated still more saturates topsoil from which there is no recovery.

The Method Is Debatable
Whether there should be a board to tell a farmer where he can sink his well (as the bill set out), is something again. When land is purchased, the deed specifically gives title to water and mineral rights. Many farmers and ranchers say that what water they have under their ground belongs to them. Truthfully, it does. Just as the oil under East Texas land belongs to those who own or lease it, but there is control over drilling, in order that most good can be accomplished. At least, that's the theory.

To give you some idea of how serious West Texas' water shortage might become, the Water Board is tampering with the idea of trying to pump surface lakes, which now help nobody, back into the water bearing sands. It can be stored there without the six-foot-per-year loss by evaporation it is now undergoing.

Such a project was tried by the Highway Department in 1920 when a small creek kept part of a road continually under water. A hole was drilled into the sands; its cover was graveled over to act as a filter. Part of the water drained back into the ground, but almost no time, silt and vegetation completely sealed the tube and the project was abandoned.

Oil operators for a long time have pumped water back into the ground to float out oil. But oil sells for $1.30 a barrel, more or less, and water is still about the cheapest fluid known to man. The oil operators can afford the operation, but a farmer can't. To filter out the algae so the tube will remain clear is economically impossible.

Grubbs Candidate For City Marshal

I came to Floyd county in 1924 and lived in and around Floydada for 10 years. Then I was away for about 10 years, but returned in 1945. Since that time I have lived in your midst. I feel that the people of Floydada know me, and know about my life and character.

Since many of my friends have asked me to enter the race for City marshal, I have decided to offer my services in that capacity. I am not running against anyone, but simply offering to serve the community provided the people desire to use me.

Since my present job requires my full time, I shall not try to make a house to house canvass of the city.

I, therefore, take this means to thank you in advance for your confidence in me, and if the voters of this community choose me as City marshal, I assure you that I shall consider the office as my job and responsibility, and that I shall discharge the duties enjoined upon me with all diligence.

And again I thank you.
Your friend and neighbor,
M. R. Grubbs

What enables these new suits to withstand terrific wind-pressures from outside and air pressure from inside is the force of molecular attraction... basic force that holds things together!

SO THIS SPRING CHANGE TO OIL-PLATING! Because when Conoco Nth motor oil enters your engine, the tremendous force of molecular attraction fastens molecules of a special lubricant so closely to molecules of engine metal that cylinder walls and other surfaces are actually OIL-PLATED!

BECAUSE OIL-PLATING RESISTS GRAVITY... stays up on cylinder walls... won't all drain down even overnight, you get: EXTRA protection when you first start your engine "dry"... Mrs. Bond Reviews 'New Orleans Woman' at 1934 Study Club

The 1934 Study Club met Tuesday evening at 6:45 in the home of Bernice Stapleton 421 W. California with Ruby Cleveland leader of the program. "New Orleans Woman" by Harnett T. Kane was reviewed by Mrs. Hollis Bond. "New Orleans Woman" is a biographical novel of Myra Clark Gaines.

Interesting Novel Reviewed
Based on one of the most sensational episodes in the history of America's courts, the novel, is the almost incredible story, inspiringly told, of the lifelong fight of Myra Gaines against all New Orleans to regain the name and the fortune of which she had been robbed. The story - some have called it the most remarkable and romantic in the nation's history - begins in the early years of the nineteenth century. Myra was in her twenties when she suddenly learned from the man who reared her that she was not his child. Her father, she discovered had been the enigmatic Daniel Clark, merchant prince of New Orleans; her mother a mysterious Creole named Zulie. Myra, reared in luxury, a red head beauty with a will of her own, invaded glamorously New Orleans, unwittingly she became its bitter storm center. For her father had been tremendously wealthy; his land comprised one third of the city - including Canal Street, its Main Street, and thousands of acres of fertile plantations.

Battles For Name and Fortune
It was for this fortune - which would have made her perhaps the richest woman in the world - and also for the clearing of her name that Myra battled through all her life. Against her rallied every force in the community: respectability, prestige, money. She was ostracized, sneered at, her life threatened. But still she fought on. Many men feared and many men loved this amazing woman; Myra's romantic attachments are an important part of the fabulous story. Her first husband's loyalty cost him his life. Later she married General Gaines, who almost became commander of the American army and who aspired to the presidency.

Here is the fiery saga of a truly indomitable woman and a superb picture of racy, violent New Orleans in its most exciting period.

Geologist Talks on Underground Seas, Structures

PLAINVIEW—John Daily, geologist with Honolulu Oil Co., reviewed the geological structures of this area as far as they have been determined at a recent meeting here.

He stated that geology is a science of surprises, and that the Fisher well in Hale county was one of such surprises, the first well found in the Pennsylvanian in this part of the West Texas series of fields. Oil bearing Pennsylvanian has been encountered in the Midland field.

Geologists Not Agreed

Daily stated that geologists are quite at variance in their opinions of the Matador Uplift which seemingly traverses a southern strip of Hale county. Some think it a

B. K. Barker Asks Re-Election City Secretary Office

I want to announce myself as a candidate for re-election to the office of City Secretary of Floydada in the city election on April 1. In doing so, I want to say it has been my effort to operate the secretary's office with the efficiency and courtesy which you are entitled to expect as taxpayers.

I hope you will see fit to return me to the job. If you do I will make every effort to serve you well.

Candidate for Secretary, City of Floydada.

continuous range of granite; others that it is a series of peaks. He called for a "guess" in the light of the A. F. Byrd well near Petersburg in which granite was hit in 1941 at a depth of 6719 feet, a well in Cochran county which encountered granite at 6,900 feet and the Kurpees well which struck granite at 10,250 feet. The extent of this granite to the north of a somewhat undetermined line across the county is not certain. It is certain, however, that the Pennsylvanian encountered in the Fisher well is above granite.

Once Several Seas

The geologist said that four elements must be satisfied to get oil: porous rocks, permeable rocks, a caprock, and water. He explained impervious dome structures and oil bearing strata.

At first it was thought that a wide area of West Texas was a Permian sea. It is now thought that there were several such seas in the area. Oil is found, he said, in deeper drilling as testing proceeds north from the Slaughter of the Levelland and to the Anton fields. Pennsylvanian is geologically older and deeper than the Permian. Geologists, he said do not yet know what to expect of the Pennsylvanian in this section or where it may be found.

Expect Degree of Success

Daily spoke of the seismograph crews, 25 of which are now working in Northwest Texas.

The percentage of success of these crews was one in three; that the cost of this "reconnoitering" would run from $10,000 to $25,000 a month per crew and since oil men, like other business men want the most for their money, they expect a good degree of success when these crews are set in an area.

Chiselers Play Emotions of Grieving Kin

It is estimated that individuals who are to have inside information of the government program to return the remains of World War II dead are "chiselers" trading the emotions of grieving families for money. Colonel E. V. Macatee, commanding officer, San Antonio General Depot, today outlined the plan which now exists for the repatriation of our war dead.

Colonel Macatee pointed out that to each temporary cemetery as being evacuated, the next day - wives, children, parents and sisters will receive an official letter of inquiry and application for disposition of remains at Washington. As there are 209 temporary cemeteries, letters of inquiry may be received as late as the end of 1948. Self-styled big shots promise return of servicemen's remains ahead of schedule are seeking money for service they can never perform.

Complaints have already been received of "chiselers" operating in the Texas Area. Colonel Macatee urged relatives of the deceased to refuse to have any dealings with these racketeers but rather to address all requests for information on the repatriation program to the American Graves Registration Service, San Antonio General Depot, San Antonio & Texas or the Fort Worth Quartermaster Depot, Fort Worth, Texas. He further urges that report be made to the above when any individual approaches relatives with promises of "cutting red tape" or arranging for the early return of loved ones upon the payment of a fee for such service.

DE QUACKER

DeQuacker, they say, is a gossiping old thing—
Of all our sins I love to sing,
But people don't care for this they know.
Although this column does not show I have as many loves as you
Do you wonder who I can be?
So Lindell Simmons is going to nurse in an insane asylum and Pete McGee is going to be her first patient. Does that mean he is "crazy" about her?
You should have seen Annie Lov Hopper when Bradford Beedy came into History class the other day. I was there and there is no doubt about it, it's love.
James Finley, I would like at this time to inform you that you have a new admirer. It is, none other than Pat Kirk! She swoons all over every time she sees you. I wonder how you feel about this James. Is it news to you? James, also Mickle doesn't seem to want you any more or vice-versa. I noticed that you aren't wearing her ring any more.
This certainly isn't Spring fever that's causing Tuff and Billie Frances to act as if there was no one else in the world. From where I sit it's love.
Why does Nadine Willis ignore the boys lately? Could it be because of her old flame. Who is he Nadine?
What's happened to the Norman and Lloyd case? Genelle, have you lost your one and only Louis to Gladys Roberts? It looks that way to me.
Hubba! Hubba! Margaret and Kelly seem to have a swell time in Chemistry class daily. She can't take her eyes off of him and he can't move his from her. Billie, you better watch out or she might beat your time.
Lindell Simmons and Buddy Bennett must be getting serious lately (Buddy's from Ralls). He's been up here every night to see her.
Well, it looks like poor Billie Freeman has lost Ken Taylor. I heard her singing "What is Love Without Love?"
Thomas Amburn seems to think Gladys Roberts is good company, at least that is the way it looks to me. They have really been making progress.
Dwina, I suppose you know you owe Travis a dollar. Wasn't it a bet you made that you were not going with Jim anymore. Pay off—we saw you Sunday afternoon.
Dorothy Anderson, you better be more careful how you choose your associates because I saw you in the shop with Ted Lanham and I just know Roberta did not like that self.
Ovay Oden—Go fishing.
Ruby Nichols—Sit around and day dream.
Lindell Simmons—Day dream!
Rusty Rucker—Lie around and do nothing.
Hazel Patton—Go back to Mineral Wells.

at all.
Who could have been hunting Evelyn Holder and Wilma Hamilton Saturday night but two out of town boys. I think their names were G. J. McGuire and Charles Neff. You girls should stay in sight.

Profile of the Week

It was the beautiful summer day of August 27, 1930, when suddenly a dark cloud came over Floydada Texas. The lightning flashed, the thunder rolled, and in a little green and white house at 419 West Mississippi Street, Robert Lee McGuire a true Irish son, was born.
When you see a 160 pound, 5'11" guy, with curly light brown hair, and laughing bluish gray eyes, you'll know that it could not be anyone but Bobby McGuire. He is usually found dressed in levis and a plaid wool shirt, at White's, discussing any kind of sport, but usually football, over a tall coke.
While still in ward school, Bobby spent his time tearing the town up, with the aid of Bill and Kelly. However, now, he had much rather sit around and read Knute Rockne while soft Irish music, preferably "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling", is being played.
The most likeable person that Bobby has ever known is Tom Ballard, just because Tom always had a friendly and comical word to say. Bobby's ideal is Frank Leahy, and he longs to fashion his life after his.
Among Bobby's long list of "likes" just to mention a few, we find football heading the list of course. Then for a perfect day, Bobby suggests a long hike followed by a cool swim. He thinks Mr. Baker is the best teacher he has ever had and says he wishes English is his favorite subject (since he has to take it.) His favorite color is green (isn't he typically Irish?) He likes strangers of any kind. He says he just enjoys getting to know new people. Really Bobby finally admitted, he likes to be different.
The biggest thrill of Bobby's life was getting to go to the Cotton Bowl game year before last; because not only was it a good game but he says, "You can have lots of fun in Dallas." Is she the five foot three inch, blue-eyed blonde that Bobby dreams about?
Bobby says that a vacation to the mountains, with all the time that he wanted to himself, even doing all his own cooking, would be the next thing to heaven. Even though Bobby putters around in the kitchen himself, he still likes for someone else to make the chocolate cake and enchiladas for him (of course not at the same time.)
Bobby dislikes giggling girls, well just plain girls, hominy, work, and people who talk in Church more than anything else.
His freshman year, Bobby was manager of the Whirlwind team his sophomore year he just got in everyone's way, but his junior and senior years, he really got to work and lettered both years as a very good Whirlwind end.
Bobby is looking forward to playing football again in good old Floydada High school next year. Ther after his next year at West Texas State, Bobby's deepest dream will come true—he is going to attend Notre Dame. After his graduation from college, he hopes to fulfill his life ambition and become a football coach.
Here is wishing the best of everything in life to a real Irishman, a swell football player and fan, and a really O. K. guy, who deserves the best of everything.

JUNIORS ORDER SENIOR RINGS

The face of every Junior was alight with pride and joy on February 26. The reason for this sudden change is because at last they have ordered their senior rings!
The rings are different from those in the last several years. They are an oval shape, one of the leading patterns in the nation.
A 100% vote on the style chosen is sufficient proof of the beauty of the selection and the complete satisfaction. Their arrival is anticipated sometime during the first week of school next year.

FARM CREDIT by "Long Distance"

(is not so good)

Why get Washington on the wire when you need a crop or machinery loan? That, in principle, is what you do when you ask credit from a Federal loan agency which must look to the Capitol for all its decisions.
Your farm is here. Your credit dealings should be here by preference, with someone able to make on-the-spot decisions and give you needed credit quickly without unneeded red tape.
You will find if you come to this bank that there is plenty of home credit available. We have money to lend to farmers—and we are lending it.

Side Lights From Washington

(By George Mahon)

West Texas wheat and grain sorghum producers have long known of the critical box car shortage, but not until very recently has the nation as a whole felt the full impact of the shortage.

Officials in Washington told us that we are being threatened with a national calamity because of the shortage of box cars.

It is claimed by Monroe Johnson, a member of the Interstate Commerce committee who appeared before our committee on appropriations the other day, that many manufacturing concerns will have to slow down production or close entirely because goods are piling up and transportation is not available. He predicts that this sort of thing might easily precipitate widespread unemployment and economic chaos.

Among shipments most seriously affected by the box car shortage are those of grain and newsprint, but nearly all items of commerce are now affected to some degree. A cut of approximately 40% in the production of flour milling concerns has been necessary, and some daily papers have temporarily suspended publication.

The railroads did a great job during the war, but the fact is that since V-J Day, box car loadings have increased each week over the corresponding week of the previous year, and loadings are now at an all-time high. In the face of this great transportation demand, the number of box cars is decreasing rather than increasing. 40,000 new cars were built last year, but 59,000 became unfit for further service. One-third of all box cars in service are over 25 years of age, despite the fact that the average life of a box car is supposed to be only 25 years. A single box car costs about $35,000. There are 22 factories in the United States which are engaged in the production of these cars.

There is now a definite ray of hope that decisive action will be taken to meet the situation. Senator Reed, chairman of a Senate committee investigating the box car shortage, called a conference of railroad presidents, steel manufacturers and Government officials which met last week in an effort to work out a plan for increasing the production of box cars. At this meeting agreements were made between steel companies and manufacturers, and we are now promised box car production at the rate of 7,000 per month for the present, which should increase to 10,000 per month in the near future. Even so, it will take about a year for production to catch up with demand.

Our committee on appropriations has approved a request for $130,000 for the Office of Defense Transportation, which will have part in expediting the production program.

The proposed box car program is important to West Texas. A portion of last season's grain sorghum crop is still lying on the ground deteriorating because of the unavailability of box cars. The accelerated program for box cars is going to help, but unfortunately, it appears that box car difficulties will continue to plague us through the 1947 crop year.

I voted for a House resolution which was approved last week and which provides for a continuation of the Committee which has been investigating the newsprint shortage. Newspapers have been confronted with both transportation and production shortages. This committee claims credit for having been instrumental in getting necessary equipment which resulted in speeding up the production of newsprint in the paper mill at Lufkin, Texas.

Airport for Small Planes Provided

LOCKNEY, Feb. 28—Lockney City Council voted recently to allow sufficient land to be taken from the city farm at the south edge of the city limits to make an airport for small planes. The fences have been moved and landing strips laid out. The field has two runways, forming a right angle. Each runway is half a mile long and 120 feet wide. In addition a plot has been added to the runways where they meet to make the strips at that point 300 feet wide.

Two hangars are being built. Arch Crager is building one and the other is being built by W. E. Terrell and Dwight Jackson. These will be easily accessible from the street which borders the runway on the north.

A. R. Goad Loses Heavily in Blaze

LOCKNEY, Feb. 28—A large barn belonging to A. R. Goad, located three miles west of Lockney, was completely destroyed by fire last Sunday night. The fire, possibly started from a gas explosion, was discovered about midnight by neighbors, among whom was the hotel. Mr. Goad and his family were awakened while Mr. Goad cleared the barn of livestock.

Destroyed along with the barn were a milking machine, a number of milk cans, a hot water heater, gas stove, feed mill and other smaller things. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Arla Vee Bishop, who has been in California for several weeks visiting with her aunt, Bernice Bishop at Corona, returned home last week.

Mrs. O. M. McReynolds went a tooth extraction Friday.
