TAKING CARE OF THE ORDERS

Some of the larger newspapers in the area, who finally resolved to go into the "open market," called "black" by some, and get paper to take care of their mounting backlog of orders for advertising, are now beginning to use that supply. Scores and scores of fat advertising orders they had been holding in abeyance are showing up in the pages of these newspapers as a result. Mr. Tack, up at Amarillo, is one candid publisher who said he was going back east and get his publications some of that paper.

Smaller publishers, anxious, did not get the fat orders in the first place, particularly in the food lines. The larger dailies have said the big food advertisers on the idea that they "cover" the field.

Advertising agencies get in line because it is difficult to do business with smaller publications and the gross cost per customer reached is greater. The agencies also get in line because the smaller publications do not do a good job of selling. Accordingly many Floyd county people do not get to read about all the newer things in food in the newspapers they seek it in—The Hesperian for one.

The big newspapers have gotten so brash about it their advertising departments even write letters to the small fry asking for lists of "articles" so they can put this information in their press of "coverage."

And does it make the small fry green-eyed? But not green-eyed enough to figure out a way, if there is a way, to get in on some of this wonderful, rich-laden business.

DIARY OF A BUCK FARMER

This spring has seen an unusual green bug situation in at least two respects. The first is that while the weather has been just right for the little green scamps and one batch has hatched off right after another, the wheat has had enough moisture in the subsoil and has been tough enough that the bugs have not made any appreciable difference in the appearance of the stalk.

Another unusual fact is that the air has been full of the bugs for nearly three weeks. They are small enough to be just gnats to anybody who is not interested otherwise. If you've tried to paint or enamel anything during the month of April, and put the article out in the backyard to dry there were plenty of "gnats"—all green if you look close enough—attack to the surface to make you a bit unhappy about the outcome of the job.

What the actual outcome of the greenbug resurgence may be will be told late in May or early in June. Apparently the wheat is standing the onslaught very good. The conditions also have been ideal for wheat. A shower and one or two hot days would have made the green bugs swell up and burst and what were left would have been eaten up by the lady bugs.

Preview of what may be happening out in the wheat fields are samples of embryo heads, now two and three joints up the stalk, with 15 or so meshes and part of them with two embryo grains to the mesh, and plenty of moisture on the ground for the present. That is the kind of thing that took place once before in Floyd county, around Dougherty in the spring of 1937. Hold your breath and keep your shirt on! Maybe it can be true twice in the same decade!

It may be $2 wheat by the time harvest gets here and it may be stacks and stacks of wheat on the ground when the elevators and railways bog down in it about mid-harvest. A man could go broke with a field full of wheat. For instance, if he contracted delivery of a certain amount of grain at a stipulated price and price. If a car shortage and a spell of weather hit at the same time he could lose at both ends and break himself in the middle.

Saw-Scare: Farmer with a trailer at the hog barns looking around. He could have been looking for some gilts or he could have been looking for a fat hog to kill for a meat supply in the locker. He might have just taken some hogs to market and was waiting for his check. But the trailer was clean, no signs of any animals having been justled to market. Being a man who believes in cleanliness and sanitation it could have been he led his hogs behind the trailer. But that would seem like a mighty slow way to get to market and just to keep the trailer clean. We conclude that man was down there to buy him a fat hog to butcher.

Scorpion Note: There is more grazing for animals down one Floyd county lane this April than was in all the lanes and fields of the county in April of 1934. It may never be again but it was once.

SECRET OF SUCCESS

The editor of a country newspaper retired with a fortune. When asked the secret of his success he replied: "I attribute my ability to retire with $200,000 savings, after 20 years in newspaper work, to diligent application to work, pursuing a policy of strict honesty, always practicing rigorous rules of economy, and to the death of my uncle who left me $120,000.00—John Quill.

Man Who Bought Lots at Crosbyton Opening Is Dead

CROSBYTON, April 25—Patrolman for Abraham Lincoln Elmer H. was held at the Crosbyton court Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Earl T. A. Dorn of Crosbyton, arrested.

Mr. Dorn died in an Austin hospital Thursday following a long illness. He had moved only recently to Crosbyton, and was taken to Austin in a short time for treatment. Born at Wheelock, Tennessee, on August 16, 1882, he was married to Beulah Elmer in 1912. He moved to Crosby County in 1937 and purchased the first lot in the city of Crosbyton after two years was out of it in 1939. Mr. Dorn lived here for nearly forty years.

(Case of May 4, 1933)

Efforts to join the Quoniam, Acme & Pacific Railway company in a present unpaid voting restriction when it placed in effect is a restriction would close the "gateway" out of Floydada on transportation. Effort has been led before the Interstate Commerce Commission by the local Chamber of Commerce by President J. J. Jenkins and Secretary S. W. Ross. The State is sending the Interstate Public from the Transportation Finance Corporation for transportation in Texas have been held by the treasury department until such time as some action shall be taken by the State of Texas to supplement unemployment relief funds furnished, according to information from the United committee at Austin to the local committee.

Practically a full complement of teachers for the school year 1942-43 of Floydada Public Schools, were named Monday night at the regular meeting of the school board, present members of the faculty being returned to the places they now hold.

Worth Graduate Student, daughter of Mrs. E. D. Smith with an average grade of 87.33, will be the valedictorian of the 1942-43 seventh grade graduation class of Andrew Wood School, and Michèle Henry will be salutatorian. Her average grade for the year is 83.33. Truman Kirk is a very close third with a 82.5 average grade.

The tenth worst school of Floydada closed Monday night with a very interesting program. Annie M. Taylor, teacher in charge. Twenty-five numbers were rendered including songs, recitations, plays and jokes.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Holmes of Sand Hill are the parents of a son, Charles Little, Junior, who was born on April 18.

A bridal shower was given last Wednesday afternoon honoring Mrs. Reynolds Sanders, nee Miss Jennie Greenlaw. Mrs. C. A. Caffee and Mrs. E. W. Terry were joint hostesses, the affair being given at the home of Mrs. Terry.

Mrs. G. A. Luter presided at the installation of officers for the school year 1942-43 for the Parent Teachers association of the meeting held at the school last Wednesday afternoon.

Lafayette will present the play "Antony and Cleopatra" at the Baker school Monday night.

Miss Lilla Stinson returned home Monday from Houston where she spent the past six months. She was met in Plainview by her mother, Mrs. J. S. Stinson, her sister, Mrs. W. W. Williams and Mrs. W. E. Henderson, and her brother, W. L. Stinson.

Mrs. N. A. Green, of Whitten Texas, is here for a visit of several weeks with her son, J. L. Green and family.

BUILDING FOR LAUNDRY

LOCKNEY, April 25—Ray Ragle owner of the U & I Laundry here announced this week that construction would start soon on a one story tile and stucco building on the east side of Main Street, just in front of the Beach office.

Mr. Ragle will move his laundry into the building when it is finished.

Mrs. J. C. Odum and Mrs. C. E. Barlett were in Lockney recently in business and while there, they visited with Miss Odum. Poore.

Contractor Begins Briscoe Co. Work

O. B. Lafon, of Lubbock, is building the farm-to-market highways in Briscoe county, the first job being the Rock-Francis six miles leading off of No. 86 in the west part of the county.

The three mile road to Gasoline will be built after the work on the Francis job is finished.

Building Small Structures

While they have a 30 - block paving program on in Petersburg Stone & Falls, the contractors on Highway No. 51, have poured concrete for the small structures on that road, carrying on their contract. They are due to begin placing caliche on the ground.

James F. Potts is resident engineer on the jobs in this district.

Pressure System Gains Popularity

Even tho the wind is free on the plains, at times it does damage such as tearing up windmills towers and the like. Members of the Rural Electric coop are finding that in the long run it is as cheap and the supply is constant and unlimited with the use of the pressure system.

A garden spot can suffer considerably from lack of water just when it is needed most. This need not be the case when an electric water system is installed. A caution on this subject is to be sure that the pump is installed in such a way that the freezing temperatures will not affect its operation.

With depth of water around 100 feet a half horse power motor will do the job in most instances. A half - horse has to run approximately

Conservation District News

Checks are being made this week on the amount of green matter produced by winter legume crops. A number of cooperators sowed Austrian Winter peas, Dixie Wonder peas and Hairy vetch last fall and expect to turn it under this spring as green manure and a soil builder.

These legumes were sowed in pure stands and also oversewn in feed crops. Clippings were made by the Soil Conservation service technicians assigned to the district on the Lockney farms just before the legumes were plowed under. Hairy vetch that had been planted in October had produced an average of 3,250 pounds of green matter per acre and where a heavy stand was observed it produced 13,200 pounds per acre. Austrian Winter peas sowed in October produced 7,250 pounds of green manure per acre while Dixie Wonder peas which were sowed in November produced 3,600 pounds per acre. Dixie Wonders are a new variety of Austrian Winter peas and have an advantage in that they can be planted later in the fall. All of these legume crops had been inoculated with nodule producing bacteria so that the greatest possible nitrogen fixation would result. Winter legumes are becoming increasingly important as a means of replenishing nitrogen in the soil and as a winter grazing crop.

E. Herron, who lives in the South Floydada Conservation Group and recently became a cooperator with the district, set his pump and started developing his new well on Tuesday afternoon. Soil Conservation Service technicians assigned to the district located the high point and assisted Mr. Herron in installing an irrigation system on his wheat land. Plans for an irrigation system on the remainder of his land have been made and the mains and laterals will be staked in the near future. Baylor Byars, a cooperator living in the Erick Conservation Group has started drilling operations on his well. The high point location was made by the Soil Conservation Service boys who also laid out a contour irrigation system which will water an acreage of contoured row crops and a large block of alfalfa.

Two clock hours to use one KWH of electricity.

Bruce Whitlock, whose farm is four miles east and two north of Lockney in the South Sterley Conservation group became a new district cooperator the first part of the week and expects to put a complete soil and water conservation program on his land. Mr. Whitlock has recently completed and developed a good well on his farm and plans on having a sizeable block of alfalfa for hay and hog pasture along with his regular farm crops. Mr. Whitlock will also furnish water to a block of land on the east which is owned by Mr. Marble. Soil Conservation Service technicians assigned to the district were on these farms this week developing conservation plans and laying out irrigation systems.

E. A. McLeod, whose farm is northeast of Floydada in the North Floydada Conservation Group became a district cooperator this week. Mr. McLeod has a dry land farm and expects to follow a sound conservation program and follow all conservation practices applicable to his land such as, contour cultivation, trashy tillage and crop rotation and will also follow a sound grazing management plan. Contour lines have been run by the Soil Conservation Service technicians assigned to the district which Mr. McLeod will follow in his farming operations.

This seems to be a bad spring for leaky ditches and district technicians urge farmers to take special care in firming their ditch banks. It has been pointed out that as the ditches are constructed the dirt seems to come up in a very cloddy and loose condition which makes the ditch burn or bank very porous. Water leaking through small openings in the bank soon washes out loose dirt causing ditch failure. This condition can be remedied by running the tractor wheel over the ditch bank after each roll of dirt has been placed thereby compacting the bank and closing the small crevices between the larger clods of dirt. On new elevated ditches it is wise to run a small amount of water down the ditch in order to settle it, let it dry out and then finish it to proper size.

Petersburg Paving Work Is Started

PETERSBURG, April — Much activity is going on in Petersburg this week in the way of street paving, as the dirt work on South Main street and the street leading to the cemetery, gets underway preparatory to paving with asphalt with caliche base and hot toppings.

This paving will be 18 feet wide with a 20 foot crown. Work is being done by the contractors that are paving the highway east of town connecting with the Ralls-Floydada highway.

O'Brien Twins Write from Tokio

(Ed Note: The twin sons of Sgt. and Mrs. P. O. O'Brien, Robert and Richard, while the family lived here, since their father, now in the United States Army, they write to the Gen. Latham, former neighbor here. Many of the boys' letters and their pictures can be seen in the country letters from the letter box at the Latham's, Floydada, Texas.

We have been intending to write you for so long I almost feel that we have. The boys are flying in so quickly we just didn't have time to do so before we were in another week or another month in already gone.

We joined the Army on the 1st of October and began our eleven-month tour and our army careers at the same time. We really didn't want to enlist, but it was hard to convince down our nerves so we decided to plunge in and get it over with. We made our minds to like it and so far we haven't had to change them.

We took our basic training in Fort Knox, Kentucky in the field artillery. You have heard about the Army placing you where you are best suited, but sometimes they're wrong sometimes they're not. We received our training in the Medical Corps and weren't too pleased to be wearing berets and rifles. We loved Kentucky though and were there just as the boys were getting their uniforms and we enjoyed watching them and the native people for winter. We didn't enjoy the winter half though - we just couldn't at sometime get used to breathing sleeping with, and drinking cold water and food. Give me Texas and home and good!

We left Knox on the 28th of December and by flying back through we were almost to home for Christmas. We were afraid we were going to take our first one away from home and were afraid the only time of John L. Lewis for his strike which held us over an extra month. We reported to Camp Newman, California, on the 28th and spent the next nine days preparing to ship overseas. The mail was a lot deep and needed a lot long as we were sure that ready to set sail.

We left San Francisco on the 22nd and what a trip we had. We never did get sea, but I must admit we did feel pretty green for a few days and got a lot of practice sailing others in reaching the rail as soon as possible. We were on board 20 days and after it was half over we almost broke out in seasickness. There is something about being on the water that gets in your blood.

Part of our last had went on to Korea and Manila but we were among the lucky ones who came ashore at Tokushima. The night was dark and cold but we really did enjoy feeling something solid under our feet. We spent a week in a replacement depot where we were assigned and then were sent by rail to Tokyo where we were for a week. When we finally found the right person to ask why we were there his explanation that we were under quarantine for scarlet fever after contracting him that we were really let to go and we were really happy to get to our jobs.

We are two of the luckiest G. I.'s in the Army for we have as nice a pair of jobs as any to be had. We are typical and death in the Fifth Army headquarters Quartermaster section. We really don't do such important work but we really feel important with longlines on our desks and making decisions with lots of minutes and an occasional second or two. We live in downtown Tokushima and are close to nearly everything. We go to school four nights a week and are working all some of our required credit in that way.

We are only half an hour from Tokyo by train and go in for anything important that happens there. We have seen MacArthur and Hirohito and are just waiting to see a Gen. G. I. We have been in the opera and ballet, and visited the biggest theater in the street. Never a night passes that there isn't at least one good program somewhere in the city.

In fact, we are almost ashamed of ourselves for enjoying it so much. We are so very fortunate to be together again we really couldn't and for a better place to spend a year if we could just be in school all the time too, it would be perfect!

We spent a week and at a Gross side resort in the little town of Atami last week and were accompanied with the famous cherry blossoms for the first time. They are in full bloom and very nice. We also have some of the finest cherry blossom fruit you might want. We really did enjoy it. We took all the attention balls we had time for and followed them with messages, and they in that order look all the more out of it and put them back in again!

Mother and dad are planning on attending the World Alliance in Denmark this summer and I really hope nothing keeps them out of the trip. It makes us feel awfully sorry!

Sincerely, Robert and Richard

ARE YOU A CHEAT?

Little bit of knowledge you get from someone else's paper... last exam might have helped you... When you rely on the other person, you don't hurt yourself... student spent a few minutes every day in preparing his own answers... that doesn't mean copying... would absorb enough knowledge to make cheating unnecessary... tests... We come to school because we think what we are supposed to learn here will prove useful... Why not learn something instead of borrowing from others the knowledge you must have to pass? Don't you think that by the time a student graduates high school, he should be able to depend on himself???

Jr.-Senior Banquet Proves Big Event

Saturday night, April 26, the annual Junior-Senior banquet-prom was held in the Andrews Ward gymnasium. The setting was a garden of a southern plantation. White lattice work covered the ceiling and walls of the garden, and the stage of the gym formed the realistic front of a southern mansion; the guests entered the banquet garden through the front door of the mansion. Japanese lanterns and various colored balloons hung from the latticed ceiling; pot plants and trellises of roses and morning glories decorated the garden walls. In one corner of the garden was an old-fashioned well where mint julep was served.

The guests which included the seniors, the juniors, the faculty, and the board members, found their places at card tables, covered with gay-colored print cloths, with programs covered with matching material. A colonial girl was the place card and the candle holder was a wax-covered bottle.

Claude Parrish, M. C. Claude Parrish, president of the Junior class, was master of ceremonies for the entertaining program. Claude gave the welcome entitled "Come on Down South"; Charles Beedy, Senior class president, responded with "Southern Hospitality." Billie Chowning and Lowanda Crumpton, two pickaninnyes, sang "Shortin' Bread" and did a jitter-bug number in very realistic negro style. Molly June French, a southern belle, strolled among the festive crowd and sang "Beautiful Dreamer" and "In the Gloaming." The last number of the program was "Southern Traditions," an appropriate address by Mr. I. T. Graves.

The Chick Lambert orchestra furnished music during the banquet hour and for the prom which followed the banquet. Generous servings of delicious food were served by little negro waitresses, who were freshmen and sophomore girls. Everyone enjoyed this lovely banquet, and the general opinion is that this is one of the prettiest banquets ever to be given here. The seniors, the honor guests, wish to express their appreciation for the time, effort, and work of the Juniors and their sponsors in making this such an outstanding event in their high school lives. It was truly a success.

DE QUACKER

Junior romances blossoming. Make lots of juicy gossip. Who's the cutest couple? That answer is a toss up! There are blondes and brunettes. All cute as can be; Their bright, friendly smiles are pleasant to see. But, oh, you juniors, Your love is so grand It can not be equaled Anywhere in the land. Tye and Trav, with their friendly way Bobbie and Claude with laughs so gay; Carol likes Leonard, and he is a junior Biff and Orby, and he is a senior Each kid in the class has a favorite heartbeats. Some guy or gal who is oh, so sweet.

Of course to head the list of the junior romances, can you imagine anyone other than Bobbie and Claude? I wonder if this is gonna last "for keeps." I read what he wrote on her banquet program, and judging from that he expects it to He hopes that nothing will ever come between them to break them up. Well, kids, we hope so too!

Well after discussing the oldest romance, I'll move on to the newest—Carol and Leonard. Not only did they have a date for the banquet; but also every where I have gone this week I have seen them. They really make a cute couple don't you agree???

Inez Dunavant had on some beautiful flowers Saturday night. They could have been from a fairy, a eremlin, or even the little man who wasn't there; but my guess is that they were from Pete.

Doris Vinson was nervous until the banquet was over. I think that Ernest must have been waiting for her.

It was too bad that June Dunford had to break her date to the banquet with Harold Bennett. I wonder who was so interesting in Amarillo.

Have you noticed Thada's long face lately? She has lost her one and only and I mean Leon Jones. At least Pat Kirk has moved into the field of action. They both run a race to see who can arrive at the Post office first after school.

Rose Beard and Bobby Robertson were all smiles at the banquet Saturday night; Looked as if every one's heart was very happy and gay

This Payne-Anderson romance is getting very interesting. Wade and Dorothy are seen every where—together.

Tye and Trav were such a happy couple until that certain freshman boy fell so in love with Tye. Jerry is really serious about Tye. I wonder what Trav says?

Did Eddie know that Ruthie had a date with James Elliott Saturday night? They seemed to have a wonderful time anyway. Mmm—FLASH!!! Jo Muncy says that she is swearing off boys. Frankly I believe that the day for miracle is over.

"Bill, a certain girl would like to go to the banquet with you. She is a junior, works at Arwine's has auburn hair, brown eyes, and a real cute figure. She is lots of fun. She does not know anything about this." Thus read a note I found which was written to Bill Hale and signed "A friend of hers." Clara Pollen fits the description perfectly. It didn't do much good 'cause she went with Pecos.

Clara also was very careless with the notes that she was writing about Gene and Wilma. They said, "Do not let anyone else read this, but I did and they were very revealing. I wonder why Wanda Huckabee and Bob Reeves were so late to the banquet. Of course there is always the excuse of car trouble, but I rather doubt that.

Ted Lanham and Wanda Freeman both seemed to have a wonderful time at the banquet. This could grow into a new romance.

Well, ducklines, its farewell for another week but I'll be back next week with all the latest scandal! Please help me out and fill that can to the brim next week. It is still in Mr. Harris' office just waiting for all the news of all romances—old and new.

Pep Squads Join

Monday night at the exes' game the pep-squad was well represented. The pep-squad of '46-'47 and the pep-squad of '47 and '48 both yelled together. They were led by the leaders of both.

A pep-rally was held in town and the pep squads marched up to the football field to the game. The game seems to have lifted the spring fever from the pep-squad (if possible) and they are now looking forward to football season next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Carpenter who recently moved to Altus, Oklahoma, from Floyd county, were here last week-end visiting with relatives and friends.

Prof' Jackson

What the city will buy, if the council's plans go through, as now indicated as in their minds, will be a plant that will double the capacity of the present plant and make need of extensions. Added buildings will not be needed, they think.

With the $28,000 that is due to be released, M. H. Martin, one of the townsmen, said he thought the council had in mind to buy a street maintainer, a street sweeper and some other necessities of lesser cost after first putting a two-year reserve away to meet the first two bonds of the new maturities against the possibility of some hard luck not now foreseen.

Mr. Staley was county judge of Greene county in 1896. He moved to Springfield 34 years ago. He had paid many visits to Floyd County, Texas, and was widely known here, and still owns property in this county.

One other daughter, Mrs. F. E. Ross of Jefferson City, survives; and three sons, John of Artesia, Colorado; Bruce of Willard, Missouri; and Chester Staley of Tulsa, Oklahoma; and 15 grandchildren, 16 great grandchildren and three great-great grandchildren.
