Mounds of Wheat Pile Up In County

Yesterday it appeared that Floyd county's 6 million bushel wheat crop had been 70 per cent harvested. But the problem of what to do with the most of it remains to be solved.

A great deal of the crop—The Hesperian estimates a fourth of it—is lying in piles on driveways, and cleaned off places around in the fields. Most of the rest of the crop yet to be combined will go the same way, and at present rate of marketing will be weeks getting cleaned up.

The wheat is fine grain, the yield is averaging above 20 bushels straight through on more than 300,000 acres but for the most part there is nothing to do with the grain but pile it out on the ground and hope a prolonged rainy spell doesn't hit. Railways have been wholly unable to cope with the situation at any of the nine shipping points where seven-teen dealers with 25 receiving waiting for cars more hours every 24 than they have been open. Their bins stay full and no box cars.

Check on the actual shipments of wheat by rail yesterday afternoon from Floyd county elevators indicates there has been one and three quarter million bushels sent out by rail. This is equal to about 890 carloads for the three railroads that serve this county since wheat harvest began.

Arrival of empties to take out part of the crop is heralded to the on-looker by the appearance within a few minutes of long lines of trucks waiting to be unloaded.

Combines Trek Northward Ample number of trucks for all but emergency cases have been on hand all during the rush, and while some raisers of wheat have spent time hunting combines to help them, a generally ample supply of harvesting machines has been on hand.

Scores and scores of combines, up into the hundreds, have now trekked northward and the big push starts in the north panhandle and on up into the Oklahoma strip and into Kansas and Colorado.

Checking on the average yield of the crop it appears that practically no fields have yielded as little as 15 bushels, many run around 24 bushels and a considerable per cent—(See Wheat Harvest, back page)

Worsham and Son to Open Shop Saturday

Worsham and Son Plumbing company will open Saturday in the J. Reagan building, 127 West California as an addition to the business establishments of our fast growing city. The company, owned by E. J. Worsham and his son, Jack, formerly located in the north part of Lockney, was almost completely demolished by fire a month ago.

Mr. Worsham plans to establish a branch in Floydada and rebuild in Lockney as soon as fire-damaged materials are available. The new shop will open Saturday, but it will be some time before the interior is completed.

Red Boerner Pays Visit to Floydada

Red W. Boerner, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Boerner, who grew up in Floyd county, was here for several days last week visiting his old haunts while the best of his sisters, Mrs. E. P. Nelson and Mrs. S. W. Ross and their husbands. He was accompanied by Mrs. Boerner. Their home is at Huntington Park, California, where they have resided more than a quarter of a century.

Wheat Piled on Ground Proving Temptation to Theft; Sheriff's Office Cautions Grain Growers

Hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain piled on the ground in fields and corners, on driveways and in fields, everywhere in Floyd county, are proving too much temptation for some of the county's lawless elements. Sheriff Howard E. Whitaker said Tuesday, Sheriff's office was out of the county on official business when the office was alerted.

Whitaker ruefully said that reports of missing grain have been piling up and if all of them were true, the foundation wheat thefts on the piles have reached the epidemic stage. A load of wheat is just a load when it gets to market. Deputy Whitaker, "and unless somebody takes some identification marks of the man and the field the officer doesn't have anything to work on when he gets a report."

"disappeared" between farm and elevator. One unhappy grower, reporting a loss, gave the following description when asked for information: "It was a 1937 Chevrolet with a black body, a blue cab and a one-eyed Mexican driving it." They are a good many trucks with black bodies and blue cabs and a truck going down the road at 40 miles an hour is just another truck going down the road unless the officers have some road reports of stolen wheat are of the books of the sheriff.

Hangers On Light-Fingered The sheriff's office also is beginning to get reports of entries being made into homes. One such in Floydada Friday night and again on Tuesday night. Cold check and forgery charges also are being investigated. Some cold check complaints have been filed but none for forgery as yet.

The vast majority of the strangers here for the harvest have been orderly, hard working citizens, and the reports given are not intended to reflect on them, the sheriff's office wants it said.

Texas Governor Due Today

Dr. J. A. Hill Makes Ready for Successor to Take over in 1948; Dr. James P. Cornette Successor

Dr. J. A. Hill associated with the faculty of West Texas State Teachers college since its founding and president of the school for the past 20 years, has announced his successor and is making his preparations to bow out as president in 1948.

Dr. J. A. Hill Retiring

His successor is to be Dr. James P. Cornette, dean of Baylor university, Waco.

Dr. Hill, who went to West Texas when it consisted of 40 acres and one building has been instrumental in carrying on until the school has a plant which exceeds 3 million dollars in value, has the outstanding museum in the state and has furnished educational opportunity to untold thousands of young men and women.

Announcement of Dr. Hill's retirement and naming his successor was made Saturday. The new Buffalo president is a native of Kentucky. He is a graduate of the University of Virginia where he received his master's degree in 1930. He taught at Bowling Green, Kentucky, was in the College Training de-

Hurriedly grabbing up their best bibs and tuckers, Floydada people made ready this week to entertain the governor of the great State of Texas in the person of Beauford H. Jester, who is due to arrive here this morning and address a large assemblage of people on the court house lawn at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Band a-playing, the streets roped off, red, white and blue bunting floating from every building, the men folks hereabout have taken a quick shave and bath, brushed back their untrimmed locks, and are set to smile a "Howdy, Governor!" The biggest wheat crop in all history, later than it was ever known, has caught them off balance, but they are proud the governor is headed for Floydada and "paying them some mind."

Governor Can Take It The Governor, too, is taking it in stride. Yesterday he spent all day and last night in Stamford doing the honors of our great state at Stamford's Cowboy Re-Union, the biggest thing of its kind. Of course everybody who had something they just had to tell the governor, had had to see him.

Up early this morning Governor Jester is due to land at Lubbock Airport in a plane and be whisked by car to Floydada for his visit here and the broadcast speech this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Thence on to Amarillo where he owes the Range Riders a visit tomorrow to help them celebrate Waddy week. Not only that but some more down-state, at Dallas and around, before he gets back to the governor's mansion on Saturday night and (hopefully) a bit of rest, if he can make it in time.

Here today at noon Mr. Jester will be guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Stovall. That comes about by the fact that Mrs. Stovall is a kinswoman of the governor's former law partner and the families have been friends for a generation or two.

Will Broadcast The Speech The governor's talk will be broadcast over KVOP for the benefit of those who cannot attend the celebration in person. He will speak from a bunting-clad stand on the court house lawn, where arrangements have been made to seat 5,000 persons. Linn Colville will be master of ceremonies, and in a 5-minute prelude Mayor Frank C. Harmon will formally welcome the people to hear the governor, Commander L. W. Chapman will extend the formal welcome to Floydada on behalf of the community and of McDermet post, and 30th district Senator Sterling J. Parrish, of Lubbock will present the state's chief magistrate.

The state's chief officer is the son of a pioneer lieutenant governor and is at home amid the trappings of gubernatorial and other state affairs, having been reared in the atmosphere. What his broadcast speech will say other than to carry the greetings of the chief executive, has not been given to the local press in advance.

Two Big Dances Tonight The big day in the life of the community will wind up in two big dances, both in the down-town area tonight. Of these one will be held at the Legion home at the corner of Fifth and Virginia, the other on the court house square. At the latter place the old timers will do their squares and toe dances to the music of a stringed orchestra led by Mrs. W. L. Davis, of Slaton, Mrs. Davis was chosen because she plays music of the range, chosen from a wide repertoire of her father, himself a musician of no mean ability, who played for the fun of it years ago for dances from the Mill Iron south to the Espuelas, west to the Spades and east to the Ox Bows.

Senior Candidate Dunlap Scholarship Word has been received here that Kelly Hagood has been chosen as a candidate for a Dunlap scholarship for the fall semester, 1947, at Texas Technological college. This scholarship is to be granted for both fall and spring semesters on condition that the candidate maintains good citizenship and a high scholastic standing.

Kelly's exceptional scholastic average during his high school course made him eligible to take the test for the scholarship. This test was given at Texas Tech in May with approximately 125 students from this section of the state competing for 30 such scholarships. The test included a two hour general intelligence and achievement test, a 70 minute English test, a 40 minute mathematics test and a personal interview by James G. Allen, Dean of men, at Texas Tech.

Leaves for Long Beach Mrs. Lulu Slaughter left yesterday morning for Long Beach, California, where she will spend an indefinite visit with her daughter, Mrs. Joe M. Day and Mr. Day.

Wheat in Fields Damaged by Fires Some fire loss to wheat in the fields has occurred in the past week but considering the hazards the figure has been extremely low.

W. S. Poole lost 150 acres of wheat last week-end, and according to J. H. Reagan would have lost quite a bit more except for quick-thoughted efforts of Mr. Poole and others who quickly plowed a guard through the wheat field and stopped the spread of the flames.

Loans and Purchase Agreements Offered on Crop of 1947 Wheat Both commodity loans and purchase agreements will be available to growers on their 1947 wheat crops under the Department of Agriculture's price support program. The program is expected to simplify the program for farmers and reduce administrative costs.

Hesperian to Have Breather July 4 The Hesperian will be one of the numerous businesses in Floydada which will not be a total necessity to the people on July Fourth, Independence day -- and accordingly will be closed for the day to give all the force a "breather," and to enjoy the event according to their various desires.

Col. Seale Opening New Bargain Store Col. W. H. Seale, come Saturday morning, will open Seale's Bargain store, located at 204 South Main street, adjoining Stanley's Barber shop. Col. Seale is widely known in this territory as a veteran merchandiser and invites his friends to come in and look over the stock he will have on display, mainly all kinds of dry goods, toys and shoes.

WHEAT IS ALL RIGHT

Wheat is all right. It has put many a man's financial affairs on the black side of the ledger over the past two or three decades in Floyd county. It sure does go along with the farmer, especially the big farmer, since the technique of combating smut and the art of holding down the expense bill with modern machinery have been developed. Necessity forced these measures and combining them has made wheat a good year in and year out gamble, good markets and bad.

But for money in the poor man's pocket and business in the retailer's still you can't compare wheat with cotton. The poor man with money in his pocket surely is a much more liberal spender than the rich man. For more reasons than one. The poor man spends his money right where he makes it in large measure and he buys the things his family needs or desires—the simple things of life, as it were. Overalls, jumpers, coats, blankets, potatoes, beans, side meat. The man who is used to wealth spends just about the same, good years and bad, so far as the local channels of business are concerned. When he goes all out on a spending binge it is somewhere a way off from here—objects d'art, shoes imported from England, overcoats with fuzz on them from the Himalayas goat's back, fun in the Rockies, things of that kind. None of that on the market hereabout. So nobody gets hired to jump counters to wait on big wheat crop bulge in trade. But just let a big cotton crop come along!

GEOGRAPHY IS RESPONSIBLE

Anderson, Clayton & Company has made up an estimate of the cotton acreage and production in plains and south plains counties which puts Floyd county down at 11,000 bales this year. The most cotton Floyd county ever made in one year was slightly less than 48,000 bales and it has run as low as 4,500 after it became one of the standby crops of the plains country.

In contrast Lubbock county, which touches Floyd on the southwest, their corners joining south of Petersburg—Lubbock county is credited with 350,000 acres and considerably more than a hundred thousand bales of cotton. The geography of the thing is that Floyd county, mainly, is tight mesquite or buffalo grass country, hog wallow, while the catclaws and more of a sandy loam took over in Lubbock. The southwest corner of Floyd county has a bit of this type of soil but the rest of it for the most part does not, except that part under the hill, where the rich flats lend themselves admirably to cotton and row crop feeds.

HOW TO GET RICH QUICK

We'll say you are one of us who stand around green-eyed and watch the lucky neighbors who are reaping what they sowed last fall, at long last getting their money back in spite of rains, hails, greenbugs, dry spells, wire worms, rust, smut, stem rot, winter weeds, blue weeds and pepper grass.

If so be, and you bemoan the fact that you couldn't get in on the deal because the stakes were too high, or the land not available, this is to remind you that good gambles look you in the face every day. For instance, in March you could have loaded up on grain loaders. How many do you suppose you could have sold the past ten days? Would you say 250? or perhaps 500? Whatever the number, if you'd had $50 apiece profit in them so how rich you would be by this time, and all in cash money. You didn't know all of this was going to happen, you say? Neither did the wheat man.

Everybody likes to know about the figures of a big crop and the eagerness for this information on Floyd county wheat production this year is not going to be less keen. The figures will be closely approached in estimate form after the last pile of wheat has been scooped up and finally put on the market. But you can't take the elevator figures and say it came to so much like you'd think you could. Certainly not that, this season. For Floyd county wheat has been marketed in far and sundry places. Fort Worth, Spur, Roaring Springs, Oklahoma points, Amarillo, Lubbock and others that you will hear about. Some wheat growers have been marketing what little they could get in to loading chutes in half a dozen places. It will take some of them a week to round up all their "tickets," after the season is over! You can't assemble scattered figures like that for an adding machine. Incidentally, it should be recorded, perhaps, that the railways have been so exasperatingly casual about trying to take care of the situation!

Approximately a million dollars has been spent by oil companies, big and little, in exploration for oil in Floyd county in the run of the years. The amount may be much larger than that, in fact. Many of the holes drilled, we now know, did not go deep enough into the earth to reach the probable producing horizon. Others ran into trouble. Some of them hit the granite, which was unfortunate for that particular venture, but does go to prove that some where in the area is likely to be located oil producing types of sand or earth.

Conservation District News

Lee Pope, a District cooperater who lives in the North Barwise conservation group harvested seed from seven acres of weeping love grass on Monday of this week. The work was done with an Allis Chalmers all crop combine belonging to and operated by Robin Byars. Definite yield figures are not yet available since the seed have not yet been re-cleaned, but it is estimated that a yield of nearly seventy five pounds was obtained.

Mr. Byars also harvested one acre of weeping love grass and one acre of smooth brome grass for Bill Goodie, another District cooperater living in the North Barwise group. Soil Conservation Service technicians assigned to the local District designed a complete contour system for R. G. Dunlap of the Liberty conservation group early this week. Raymond Rucker, a cooperater who lives in the Pleasant Valley conservation group has given the first watering to a field of Hubam clover overgrown on wheat. The wheat was harvested last week and water was applied immediately following harvest.

A. R. Good, a cooperater living in the Perkins conservation group two miles southeast of Alken, cut and baled a portion of his irrigated pasture which was planted last fall. He reports that the hay which consists of brome grass, perennial rye, crested wheat and clover, cures well and is of excellent quality.

J. R. deCordova who lives in the Almon conservation group has up to a stand, three acres of sericea lespedeza on chalky land which is unsuited for the usual cash crops. The planting was made as a trial in an effort to find the most desirable crop to stabilize this type of soil.

District cooperaters who have hairy vetch which they planted to weed, report very light seed production this year. In fact it is so light that most vetch growers here do not plan to attempt a seed harvest but will plow the crop up and plant the land to late feed. They say they will have received the soil building benefit from the crop along with a considerable amount of winter and spring pasture so feed that they are ahead even without the seed crop.

Quality of Hay Depends on Time of the Harvest

COLLEGE STATION, June—Better methods of harvesting, curing and storing could mean a big rise in the quality of hay that is produced on Texas farms at this season every year.

The time of harvesting a hay crop, says E. A. Miller, Extension agronomist of Texas A. and M. College, has more to do with turning out good hay than many producers realize. When the crop is allowed to get ripe, it becomes coarse and loses a great deal of its feed value especially protein. Sudden grass and Johnson grass seed cutting as soon as the first seed heads begin to form, or even earlier, to get a balch rich in feed value, says Miller. Producers have found that alfalfa makes the richest hay if cut when the field is about one-tenth to one-fourth in bloom. Sweet clover, the agronomist says, is best cut before it begins to bloom.

Curing has a lot to do with the way the hay turns out, too. Grass hay may be left in the swath until fairly well cured, Miller explains, but legume hay, like alfalfa, clovers and cowpeas, will suffer a big loss of leaves through shattering if it is not raked into windrows soon after cutting. The leaves contain most of the feed value, the agronomist says, so it's the wise farmer who gets his legume hay shocked before the leaves begin to shatter.

CRICKET EATS WEIGHT DAILY

Steaks would be scarcer than they were under wartime rationing if a steer had an appetite that compared with that of a grasshopper or a Mormon cricket and did not make more efficient use of his feed. This is evident from recent studies by U. S. Department of Agriculture entomologists working to control the ravages of these insects, so that forage will be preserved for the steers. These insects consume green forage roughly 8 times as fast in proportion to their weight. An adult grasshopper will eat its own weight in about 16 hours and a Mormon cricket in about 18, calculates J. R. Parker, U. S. Department of Agriculture entomologist at Bozeman, Montana. If human appetite was on the scale, the worldwide food shortage would be far more acute with a 150 pound person devouring 150 pounds of food daily.

"A migratory appetite" is the impression the Mormon cricket leaves with western farmers and ranchers who have had experience with the pest. This cricket does not fly -- as do some of the equally active feeders among the grasshopper -- but it gets around by hopping and crawling. A cricket invasion can cause havoc to wheat, alfalfa, sugar beets and garden crops, and is able to practically strip range land of grasses and weedy forage so that cattle and sheep may go hungry. It is on this account that ranchers favor cricket control by spreading poison bait in the path of migrating cricket bands.

A cricket that eats a bait of bran mash poisoned with sodium fluosilicate ceases to eat crop forage plants and that leaves the plants for harvest or grazing. For baiting grasshoppers, sodium arsenite was formerly used widely, but crickets dislike this chemical and will not touch arsenite baits. Sodium fluosilicate baits are effective against both Mormon crickets and grasshoppers the entomologists reports.

IDEAL HUSBAND ONE WHO:

Is so handsome that he makes every heart flutter, but who never looks at another woman.
Makes mints of money, but never goes away on business trips, stays late at the office, brings business friends home for dinner, brings work home with him at night, or drags his wife to company parties.
Is capable with his hands and if necessary, could make his living as a plumber, carpenter, or electrician.
Dances Divinely and plays a beautiful game of contract, but is not above helping with the dishes or setting up at dawn to give the baby its bottle.
Composes all bread-and-butter letters and letters of condolence.
Loves sympathy and lectures on the arts and can be drafted to carve turkeys at church suppers.
Is always open to constructive suggestions on how to drive a car and does not sulk when corrected.
Can find a parking space within a few yards of a theatre or other place of amusement, and pushes right ahead and gets the only remaining seats at a crowded movie.
Does not lose his hair or add an inch to his girth as time goes on -- can be let out alone with pruning knife, sickle, or other lethal weapon in a flower garden and not leave ruin in his wake.
Is totally free of entangling relatives and has no recollection of his life prior to his marriage.
Is a man's man, but does not leave him on tables with wet glasses or burn places on the mantle with cigarettes.
Makes out checks for monthly bills without uttering a single groan, and does not have to be reminded to hand over the marital money.
Corrects the children and never shatters discipline by taking sides with them.
Is a paragon of virtue, but when things go wrong at home, humbly confesses that it is all his fault.

THE DRAIN OF FERTILITY

"Our soil resources have been damaged to an alarming degree," Secretary Anderson warned recently. "And the drain of fertility has been accelerated by production for war and for relief of the postwar world food shortage. As soils lose fertility farmers are more restricted in the crops they can raise. Also, the dangers of erosion increase. This in turn increases the danger of flood and of filling our streams, lakes and reservoirs with silt. Farming becomes a less profitable occupation and as the mineral resources of the soil decrease, the hazards of poor quality national food supply increases.

"Farmers want more fertilizer than is now available, despite the fact that they are using about three times as much plant food materials as in 1920 and about twice as much as in 1940. The needs of the soil call for much more fertilizer than is now being used. The Department of Agriculture is working with the War Department to find ways of modifying existing facilities which may be used by private industry to meet additional demands for nitrogen fertilizer in this country."

TURKEYS NEED QUALITY FEEDS

Chick feed will not do for turkey poult feed. To thrive, young turkeys require a more concentrated diet than chickens, according to feeding tests by poultry scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Turkey poult, says H. R. Bird of the Bureau of Animal Industry, require about 4 1/2 times as much vitamin D as young chicks, about twice as much vitamin A and calcium, and somewhat more vitamin G. They also need more protein and phosphorus in their feed. If the turkey poult does not get a full allowance of the high quality feed they show the lack more clearly than chicks. Breeding birds, too, need a higher level of vitamins A, D, and G. than chickens. Turkeys, however, make excellent use of good green pasture in summer. A turkey grower who provides good pasture, says Bird, may save up to 15 percent of the grain he would otherwise have to feed.

RIISING FERTILIZER TONAGE

An estimate of 15 million tons of commercial fertilizer used in 1946 sets a new high record for the United States. A table prepared by A. L. Mehring of the Department of Agriculture shows that 1942 was the first year in which fertilizer tonnage was more than 10 million tons and 1910 was the year when fertilizer passed the 5 million ton mark.

The rapid wartime increase in fertilizer was in contrast to the record in World War I. In 1914, the record shows a consumption of more than 7 million tons, which dropped to a little more than 5 million in 1916 and did not pass the 1914 figure again until 1920. In 1921 the figure dropped below 5 million. A year by year increase followed until 1930 with nearly 8 1/2 million tons followed by a "depression" slump to about 4 1/2 million tons in 1932. Since then the trend has been sharply upward. Use of fertilizer more than doubled in the 10 year period from 1936 to 1946, says Mehring.

Tribute to Henry Ford Paid By Edgar A. Guest

This tribute to Henry Ford was written by Edgar A. Guest, his long-time friend. It was given by Mr. Guest on a national radio broadcast, April 9, 1947—a program dedicated to the Ford and Lincoln Centennial by the Ford and Lincoln Centennial Dealers of America to the memory of Henry Ford. —(Ed. Note.)

It would like to tell you about a great friend of mine and a great friend of all mankind, known to presidents, potentates, princes and noble peoples of every land on the earth, as Henry Ford.

Among those of us who knew him, he will walk no more, but his human achievements are remembered and his name is a living force and an inspiration to all the generations to come.

Henry Ford has been called in the past the greatest of the few who have made the answer to the mystery of life and death of which he often thought and talked. Life to him was a thrilling experience; a never-ending struggle for the perfection of the human soul. Among the few who come closest to attaining that perfection in a single lifetime his name must be recorded.

He is all his debtors now. There are no rich or poor, in humbler or high places, whose life has been bettered by his labor. He has gone into the world when the men were weary and heavy-laden. By the dreams he had, pursued and achieved, the burdens of misery were taken from the shoulders of the humble and given to them and wheel.

He would not have us mourn for him too deeply. He knew that his

YOUR NATIONAL GUARD DIVISIONS CONTINUE THE OLD TRADITIONS

This is the second of a series of the Infantry and Armored Divisions of the new National Guard. They are presented to acquaint you with the organization which will be an M-Day Force, trained, equipped and available for immediate service with the Regular Army in the event of any future declaration of war by an outlaw nation.

27th INFANTRY DIVISION—Composed of New York National Guard units in both World Wars, the 27th Infantry Division is known as the "New York Division," and the letters "NY" identify the shoulder patch which has been worn proudly in Europe and the Pacific.

From Revolutionary days to the present, the men of New York's Own have distinguished themselves in every conflict into which the United States has been forced.

The Troy Citizens Corps was the oldest of several independent companies organized into the 105th Infantry in 1829 for service in the Spanish-American War, a tradition of service that reached its culmination on Saipan in 1944 when two Troy citizens, Lieutenant Colonel William J. O'Brien and Sergeant Thomas Baker, were killed during a Banzai charge. Members of the 105th Infantry, both men were awarded the Medal of Honor posthumously.

Makin, Eniwetok and Okinawa are other glorious stars on the record of the 27th Division in World War II. In World War I the New Yorkers went into action on the north face of the Lys salient, later merging into the Ypres-Lys offensive. The 27th also took part in the Somme offensive and went on to gain a foothold in the Hindenburg Line's principal trench.

The 108th Infantry, which also served on the Mexican Border and with the 105th as part of the 27th Division in World War I, fought with the 40th "Sunburst" Division of the California and Utah National Guard in World War II, distinguishing itself in New Guinea and in the recapture of the Philippines. The 49th Division fought 53 continuous days on Luzon and then added Panay and Negros to its victory list.

Men of the 174th Infantry formed four companies which served with the 21st New York Volunteers in the War Between the States. Following service on the Mexican Border, it fought in France as the 55th Pioneer Infantry in addition to furnishing men and officers for the 108th Infantry, the 106th Field Artillery and the 102d Engineers.

This is the heritage of the 27th Infantry Division which will take its place with other National Guard troops as an integral part of the nation's security team.

loved ones and his friends would be saddened by his absence, but as he was often heard say: "There is too much to do in a day to spend minutes of it in the futility of grief."

Once when he was asked by one who now and then walked the woods with him in springtime if he had not wished that his mother could have lived long enough to have seen and shared the glory of his triumphs, in the quiet and quaint way he had, he said softly: "I can think of no one who has gone whom I would recall."

Henry Ford had the gift of genius, but he had much more. Genius though brilliant, can be bitter at times, harsh and selfish and disinterested in the lives of others. Henry Ford showed never those traits.

His was a sensitive heart and his was an understanding mind. He had known hardship and the pang of disappointment; he had known the agony of wanting comforts for his loved ones which he could not supply. He had known what it means to be poor of purse, and he could and did read the eyes in the unhappiness. He had both sympathy and pity for the woes of others.

It was out of that feeling for his fellows the five-dollar-a-day wage came when the daily universal rate of pay for a workman was a little less than two dollars. He called it good business to have as many contented men about him as were possible. It took courage of a rare sort to lead the way to a decent living wage for the common man.

Henry Ford woke early every morning eager to greet the day and all it held for him. Nothing was too small for him to notice. He loved the earth and all it grew and all that dwells upon it. He knew the birds by names and song and habits and found peace and happiness in their company.

He loved to escape from the shadow of his greatness and walk and talk with humble men. He often said: "You can learn more from the thoughts of simple folk than you can from those of the learned and the wise. Wise minds know what can't be done, and they don't find out the things that can be done until someone not so wise comes along and tries them and does them."

Henry Ford will be missed. He will be missed in the many places where kindness is still needed; he will be missed when courage to right a wrong and to fight injustice is required; he will be missed by all the creatures of the woods and fields who found in him a friend; and he will be missed by many a struggling youth to whom a word of hope and encouragement would mean so much.

What an example he has set for boyhood to look up to and to follow! His life for generations to come will be a beacon light for all ambitious youths. I can hear his voice whispering down the many years to young dreamers everywhere: "It can be done! Follow your light; learn by study and by patient practice. Let neither sneer nor mockery daunt you. Believe in yourself; have faith in your ability and your purpose. Success will surely follow."

Not many come to earth so wise, So tender and so true, To show what faith and enterprise

AUSTIN.—Texas voters will decide within the next 18 months whether their state constitution should be changed in nine respects.

The changes were proposed by the 50th legislature.

The amendments must be approved by popular vote.

Voters will go to the polls on August 23 to approve or disapprove a $60,000,000 college building program. The long-range program would allow the University of Texas and Texas A. and M. to float a bond issue on the permanent university fund to raise $15,000,000 for new buildings; the 14 other state colleges and universities would be allocated five cents of ad valorem tax on which to float $45,000,000 in bonds.

To Submit Others

All of the other amendments will be submitted to the people at the general election in November, 1948. These provide:

(1) For a board to reapportion the state's legislative districts after each federal census if the legislature itself fails to do so.

(2) Permit the legislature to provide by law the line of gubernatorial succession when not specified by the constitution, which now specifies only that the lieutenant governor and the president pro tempore of the Senate shall fill a vacancy in the governor's office.

(3) Authorize a judicial retirement system.

(4) Authorize counties to provide workmen's compensation insurance for county employees and permit the counties to set up their own insurance plans.

Abolish Fee System

(5) Abolish the fee system for paying county officials and provide on a salary basis.

(6) Permit partition of community property of husband and wife to avoid federal inheritance "double taxation" in event of either's death.

(7) Abolish the general ad valorem tax for state purposes and allow counties to increase their property tax rate up to 30-cents per $100 valuation. The revenue thus raised would be limited to flood control and farm-to-market road use. It would not become effective until 1951.

(8) Correct an oversight in the ad valorem tax abolition amendment. It would preserve the $3,000 homestead exemption on such taxes collected by counties.

FAIR SUPERINTENDENTS

LUBBOCK, July.—Two experienced men will head the general livestock and agricultural department of the Thirtieth Annual Panhandle South Plains Fair, September 29 through October 4. Homer D. Grant, Fair Association president, expects the 1947 fair to be the greatest ever held.

Grant announced the recent appointments of Jason O. Gordon of Lubbock as general livestock superintendent, and L. H. McElroy, Terry County agent, as superintendent of the agricultural department. Among their division superintendents will be A. L. Hartzog of Floyd County, County exhibits.

Car Shortage Felt by Crosbyton and Petersburg Areas

CROSBYTON, June.—Crosbyton, along with all other wheat growing counties on the Plains, felt the pinch of the box car shortage this week as shipments out of the city came to an abrupt halt Tuesday. On that date only three cars were received here over the Santa Fe lines, while at least 30 were needed. The local harvest was in full swing by Monday of this week, with approximately 135 cars shipped out by Monday night.

Only bright spot in the picture was the fact that most of the wheat received here Tuesday was down below 14 per cent moisture content, the safety mark for storing the grain.

Trucks Lined Up a Mile

PETERSBURG, June.—The wheat situation in Petersburg has been a mad scramble all week. Elevators full to capacity and trucks lined up for a mile or more in length waiting to unload. This is the greatest amount of wheat ever to roll into Petersburg. The average yield is about 29 bushels and the acreage is larger than average years. The harvest is about 65 per cent complete in the community.

Since the harvest started 149 cars have been shipped by rail and at least 50 cars have gone out by truck hauling for elevators. Forty cars have been shipped from Becton and Barwick, making a total of 239 cars for this area.

VACATION PLANNING PROGRAM GIVEN BY CLUB AT SAND HILL.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames W. R. Billington, Homer Bartram, Ed Holmes, Albert Pricer, W. M. Knight, Eddie King, Arlon Miller, Jim Holmes, M. B. Holmes and the hostess.

Veterans to Have First Chance at Big Surplus Sale

D. G. Ayres, veterans service officer for Floyd county, said last week-end that the big war surplus sale of auto parts and garage supplies in Houston June 30 to July 14, is likely to be of much interest to veterans of this area.

For one reason veterans will have first chance at the big assembly of surplus materials. Veterans who think they might be interested can contact Mr. Ayres or can write direct for information to War Assets Administration, Customers Service center, 7700 Wallisville Road, Houston, Texas.

Half Minute Interviews

C. L. Berry: "The poultry industry has reached the 2 billion dollar mark three years in a row, while this is the first year that the wheat business has reached the 2 billion dollar mark."

C. H. Bedford: "So far as I know and I am pretty sure, Monday, June 30, 1947, was the biggest day's business in cash and deposits the First National of Floydada has ever had."

Clifford and F. A. Weigel of Knoxville, Tennessee, visited the first of the week in the home of their brother, A. H. Kreis and Mrs. Kreis.

A Wise Polio Precaution: Keep Foods Well Covered!

Cover food to keep flies away, especially during the polio danger months in summer, is another wise precaution to follow in combatting spread of the disease, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis cautions through its local chapter.

The "blue-bottle" fly, particularly, is suspected as a possible factor in transmitting the virus as a result of evidence disclosed by investigations financed by March of Dimes funds.

The National Foundation also urges that all fresh fruit and vegetables should be washed before use; left-over foods covered properly, and garbage or rubbish placed in containers with lids so that flies cannot get to it.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)

Joe Ellis, Margaret Nell and I have made a tour of the place, hunting ripe plums, blackberries and seeing things in general. We played like the wild plum trees growing round an old dirt tank no longer holding water, were in the canyon and when we heard a turtle dove's plaintive call, it made it more real.

Some red, red hollyhocks have found their way among the trees, a big mulberry tree sheds its ripe black fruit at an end, scraping limbs with a tall pecan. A smaller pecan stands friendly in a group of persimmon bushes and on the east side grows the giant pecan tree that is our pride and joy. I say giant, for it is a giant compared with most of the trees in this country. The weeping willow at the back of the house is as tall and large as the pecan and it gives me infinite pleasure every time I look at it. The little persimmon at the south of the old tank is loaded with its pale gray-green knobby fruits. Currant bushes march along the southeast corner and we have cobbler pies from their black berries.

We went to the north side of the piece of ground we call the orchard for once it was filled with many kinds of fruit trees. The big black walnut tree is now supporting the long arms and branches of a wild grape. Clusters of little green balls hang among the walnut leaves. We found a few ripe plums, some scattering black berries, marvelled at the grace and beauty and fragrance whispering of the cotton wood leaves, wondering what secret they were telling, remembered the history of the box elder trees, whose ancestors came with the Quakers to Etacado as pioneer trees.

We are now in the house. I am very tired, scratches on my arms, but the children are still ready to play and Mr. Spikes is taking his turn as entertainer.

Jeff and I had a nice visit with the Noble families yesterday afternoon. It was good to talk with Jesse again and remember old days and friends of that time. It was also Mrs. Emma Noble's birthday. Of course Emma and I are not old enough to be the eldest guest on Tom Brenneman's program, and get an orchid and a kiss from that laughing broadcaster, but we could remember along with Lee and Jess, Emma and Coke Pullingim and Jeff many of the things they brought to memory. Here is wishing you, Jess, a safe return to Washington and a hope you will come back home again. And a nice wish for you, Emma, friend of many years!

It makes one's age jump up like a thermometer on a hot sidewalk when we older ones see boys and girls we knew only as babies yesterday or so it seems. For instance John and Russell Nobles children we know only by the resemblance to the older ones of the family. We puzzle even at that to know just who the goodlooking young boy or the very pretty girl is that knows us so well.

Aunt Mirtle writes from her summer home in the Baptist encampment in the Davis mountains that they have built a new room to their two room cottage and have glass windows. She says she has found out a new use for rocks and there are a plenty of them there. She filled a bottle with little rocks and uses it for her rolling pin. By that you know she still makes biscuits. It any one that reads this column goes to the Encampment this summer, do not fail to ask for Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Smith and tell them I sent you to them. They are the "salt of the earth".

Thought for the week is found in the Adult Student for July and is written by Josephine Mathers Cook: "Just as the golden sunset adds its finishing touches to the day, so should man's declining years crown his personality. Too often dark clouds obscure the last of life's horizon. We who are younger should seek to lift the clouds and let the sun shine through. The last of nine things for the younger one to do she adds. "We owe the aged protection in their last years. Let us infuse this protection with generous portions of love. We should help them realize the poet's wish: Let me grow lovely growing old. So many fine things to do: Laces and ivory and gold. And silks need not be new; Why not I, as well as these Grow lovely growing old."

Iron Ranks High As Cause of Fire

COLLEGE STATION, June—Among the items that help start household fires as the housewife goes about her daily tasks, the electric iron ranks up among the worst of them.

Ordinarily the blame can't be put on the iron, but on the person who goes off for a few minutes and forgets to turn it off.

Home management specialists of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service say that if a housewife is really safety-minded, she will not only turn off her iron when she leaves it, but will disconnect it as well, even if she leaves only for a few minutes.

"Octopus connections" -- several electrical connections from one outlet -- are another serious household fire hazard, the specialists say. A safe rule is to make only one or two connections from an outlet and avoid the use of extension cords except as temporary wiring.

Other electrical "don'ts" around the house are: don't hang extension cords over nails, or run them through doors or underneath rugs; don't use worn cords on lamps and appliances; don't let clothing, diapers, or other inflammable materials come too close to light bulbs.

New Legislation Will Aid Safety in Texas Traffic

Summary of the traffic safety legislation sponsored by the Association and cooperating groups included:

1. Uniform Traffic Code.
2. Appropriation Measures:
  - (1) Texas Highway Patrol. Increased strength by 200 men - beginning December, 1947, and each 4 months thereafter, a training class of 50 new patrolmen will launch the program which will result in a total increase of 200 men on the highways at the end of the biennium, 1949.
  - (2) The Patrol budget was increased from $982,000.00 per year to $1,550,956 (for the year ending August 31, 1948) and $1,865,456.00 (for that ending August 31, 1949).
  - (3) Driver License Law Administration. Present income from driver license fees amounts to approximately $860,000.00 annually out of which has been appropriated approximately $500,000.00 a year for administration.
  - (4) The new appropriations provide for $840,772 (for year ending August 31, 1948) and $786,172.00 (for that August 31, 1947). This will provide 20 additional examiner - patrolmen, enlargement of the Driver Improvement Section and the Accident Record Section.
  - (5) School Safety Division, Department of Education. Funds were provided for a Director of Safety Education and staff with operating expenses. Duties will involve direction and coordination of driver education and driver training courses, as well as other safety education courses. Some 400 high schools now teach driver education courses to over 40,000 students.
  - (6) Driver Education Textbooks for High School Use. This bill authorizes the State Board of Education to select driver education textbooks from a multiple-choice list of textbooks provided as many as ten thousand high school students are enrolled throughout Texas for such courses.

Mr. and Mrs. Alva Sparks had visiting in their home over the week-end Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cline and family, Mrs. Jack Chaney, Mrs. J. C. Sparks and Harold Sparks, all of Lubbock, and Mrs. Max Ward and sons of Eastland, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sparks of Floydada.

Chairman Taber of the House Appropriations committee invited me to fly to Old Mexico today - June 28 - with a group from the Agriculture and Appropriations committees for the purpose of investigating the hoof and mouth disease. The group is headed by Congressman Gillie of Indiana, a veterinarian. Congressman Worley of the Amarillo district, a member of the House Agriculture committee, is making the trip and since Texas will be well represented I have remained in Washington to attend to duties here.

Here is the reason for the trip. The deadly hoof and mouth disease broke out in Old Mexico late last year. This past spring we appropriated $10,500,000 to be used in fighting the disease in Old Mexico, hoping to prevent the spread of the infection to the cattle of Texas and the Southwest. Secretary of Agriculture Clint Anderson recently appeared before our committee, and requested $5 million dollars more. Chairman Taber balked at this request and said that he would block the appropriation of further money until Congress has more information. Judge Joe Montague of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association, and Bob Kleberg, of the famed King ranch, provided some very convincing facts to the Committee a few days ago and I feel sure that when Dr. Gillie's group returns from Mexico Congress will provide the additional funds for combating the spread of this disease.

I hate to see us have to spend millions of American dollars for the slaughter of Mexican cattle in the infected area but everyone agrees that without such action on our part, the hoof and mouth disease will spread to the United States and neutralize the cattle industry of the nation.

The U. S. government operates on a fiscal year basis which begins on July 1 of each year and ends June 30 -- not on a calendar year basis as is the case with most businesses. Therefore, the annual appropriation bills for the various government agencies must be passed by Congress and approved by the President prior to July 1, otherwise government agencies will lack funds with which to operate after July 1.

The present Congress has unfortunately failed to carry out the normal procedure of government. Only one of the 12 annual appropriations bills has passed both the house and senate and been sent to the president for approval. A stop-gap measure has been passed authorizing the agencies to continue to operate on a temporary basis but they cannot pay their obligations.

Agencies which will lack funds with which to operate on July 1 include the Department of agriculture, Veterans administration, State department, War and Navy departments, Justice department, in fact all government agencies except the Post Office and Treasury departments.

This is being written on June 28. The chances are that within 15 days all the major appropriations bills will have cleared Congress and gone to the president for his signature. The House has passed all of them with one exception. The delay is in the Senate.

On the tax veto, Texans in the House voted 13 to 4 to sustain the Labor bill. Texans voted 15 to 3 to override the veto. I voted to sustain the President on the tax bill and to override the veto on the Taft-Hartley bill.

Virel Orman left Monday for Hamilton Field, California, after visiting here for several days with his father, P. L. Orman and other relatives and friends.

WILL DELAY TECH STADIUM FOR THREE MORE MONTHS

LUBBOCK, June.—Completion of the new stadium at Texas Technological college will be delayed three months as the result of a fire which wrecked most construction in the east stands, officials have been advised by Floyd Oldt, Dallas contractor in charge.

The blaze, late Thursday, burned oil soaked forms for concrete tiers which were to be poured Friday. Heat twisted and cracked concrete and steel columns and ruined materials to be used in other sections. Standing portions have been condemned and must be removed before reconstruction of the wrecked area is started.

Mrs. Effie Smith returned home Thursday of last week from Compton, California, where she had been for the past 10 months, guest in the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. C. Duncan.

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Foster and family of Los Alamos, New Mexico visited recently in the home of Mr. Foster's mother, Mrs. Mabel Foster.

June Foster, Garland Foster and A. B. Clark returned last Thursday from Bentonville, Arkansas where they were guests for several days in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Clark.

COLD FACTS about HOT WATER

by Margaret Mallaby

Considering that the average American family has to wash a full acre of dishes and laundry three miles of clothes every year . . . the present enthusiasm for automatic laundries and dishwashers is not surprising.

and rinse nine pounds of clothes.

Furthermore, clothes washing is just one of the many modern hot water requirements. The new automatic dishwashers need plenty, too. In doing the complete job they use three fillings . . . clean-off with lukewarm, actual washing with extra hot, and steam rinsing with 180 degree water . . . all of which must be instantaneously on tap! Add to that the dozens of house-cleaning tasks, baths, showers, shaves and cooking needs and it's easy to see why the reliable temperature control and super abundance of an automatic Gas water-heater is the only answer today.

The situation is so serious that one of the leading manufacturers of laundry equipment asked the Gas Industry to double its promotion of automatic Gas water-heaters for private homes.

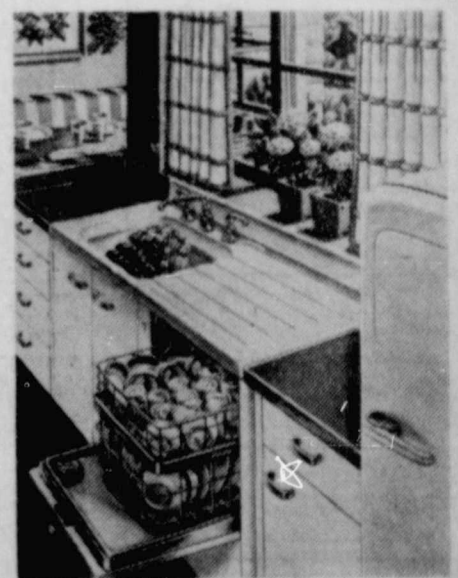

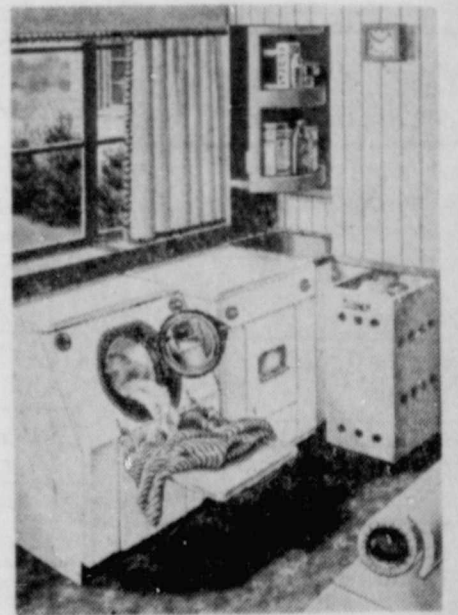

The reason why Gas is preferred for water-heating . . . particularly by washer makers . . . is simply this: Gas heats water faster than any other agent; A 30-gallon automatic Gas water-heater provides as much constant high-temperature water as a 100-gallon heater of any other type.

The secret, of course, is the way Gas immediately replaces and stores hot water as it is drawn off . . . a vital point when you realize that the most popular do-everything laundry requires 18.3 gallons of 160 degree water to soak, wash

There's one more point without which no Gas water-heating story is complete. Economy! I like to save it for last because it seems all the more remarkable that a Gas water-heater could give so much with so little effort and yet cost so little to run. Frankly, haven't you found that's true with all Gas appliances?
Faithfully yours,

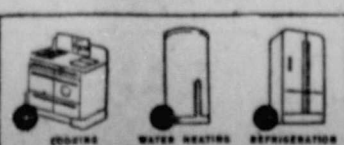

Margaret Mallaby

The meeting tonight will be held at the Andrews Ward school cafeteria. Funds obtained from the deep freezer donations have been added to those from other sources for use in the club's project at Andrews Ward school. Playground equipment will be presented to the school by the club with all the money obtained from these sources. It is beginning to become a sizeable little pile now and the club has high hopes of making the contribution worthwhile one. "Those who help us for this purpose can depend on it the money will be spent that way," said Parnell Powell yesterday. Powell is the new Liontamer of the club.

age of the land has turned out 30 bushels and more. Where exceptional conditions have prevailed reports show occasional 37 to 45 bushel yields.

Saturday the impact of the big crop had begun to hit the banks in the vicinity. At Floydada, Lockney and Plainview cash and deposits at the windows began to hit a hectic tempo. At the First National bank here officials reported the biggest day's handling of money in its history on Monday when upward of $900 thousand was handled by the tellers.

Many Hunt Other Markets

In many cases where marketing was stymied by hull elevators and no box cars growers have made use of the telephone to find openings for truckloads of their grain. Lubbock, Amarillo, Crowell, Spur, Fort Worth and Roaring Springs dealers have handled grain from the vicinity of Floyd county elevators and some growers will have to visit a half dozen points when they get ready to have a final "settlement" of their wheat accounts.

One important wheat grower is delivering 25,000 bushels of grain to an Oklahoma elevator by truck from his Floyd county fields in order to keep it off the ground. Others have kept a 12-cent dock to get their grain received and whisked by caravans of "six wheelers" to points where elevators are not over loaded with grain.

For the first time in more than two weeks the Floyd County Agricultural agents office Monday began to resume its normal functions. County Agent A. L. Hartog and his secretary Mrs. Harry Morckel had acted as clearing agents to get growers and employees together, and men and machinery where they were needed. E. C. King at Floydada and F. L.

Brown at Lockney have served as contact men on the outside aiding the US Employment service in getting men and jobs together. The demand on their time has now dwindled to a trickle, compared with the avalanche of calls a week ago.

from these (three named) varieties are definitely unsatisfactory and cannot be sold to the trade," says the letter. "Considering that we mill a good per centage of the wheat we put in our elevators, we must endeavour to fill these elevators with wheat of good varieties, and it will therefore, be necessary for us to reduce the amount of both storage wheat we accept from you and other wheat purchased from you this year."

Nebraska Wheat Is Good

Continuing the letter points out that "wheat produced in Nebraska is practically 100 per cent of good varieties and their wheat is in excellent demand from all flour mills. Kansas made a big improvement in the percentage of varieties planted on this crop."

"In Texas our parent company has done much to encourage planting good varieties of wheat. We will be grateful to have good varieties to market in place of un-usable varieties."

The letter is dated June 27 at Floyd county wheat had begun flow into the milling centers of southwest.
