EDITORIALS

WHY NOT DESIRABLE?

Last week's story in The Hesperian telling of what one mill is saying to one Floydada dealer about the milling quality of Floyd county wheat is somewhat disquieting. You will recall, especially if you are in the wheat business, this mill the same as told the dealer it would make it an expensive operation for him if he kept on sending them the kind of wheat they did not want. We didn't use any names, except the name of W. C. Cates, who said it was all right to use his. Apparently the mill wants the folks to make a change for the good of all, but is unwilling to come out flat footed and say so for fear of making somebody mad. Our attitude was and is that if the mill was unwilling to have its name used, we'd be unwilling to quote an unknown source on the varieties of wheat the unknown source claims are undesirable. Fifty-three per cent of a 6 and a half million bushel wheat crop undesirable for milling is quite a per cent. Evidently the situation is one that needs clarifying. A wheat man surely wouldn't want to try to make a mill take some kind of wheat the mill doesn't want any more than the mill will try to make people eat a brand of flour or toasties the public will not receive. In the latter case it can't be done, of course.

The question naturally arises, why are the varieties of wheat the mill doesn't want undesirable? And what could the grower do to get along better with his customer?

COTTON THE SAME WAY

About the only similar situation we recall, as newspaper people, was that one a good many years ago about half and half cotton. That has ceased to be a matter of moment in Floyd county now because the 30-thousand dollar cotton gins are getting forlornly amidst wheat fields stretching as far as the eye can encompass. Nobody here, to amount to anything cares any more whether the spinner wants one kind or another of cotton. Everybody is going to get rich on wheat anyhow.

In that instance the spinners raised old billy with the brokers and the brokers with the gins. But the gins couldn't tell their customers what kind of cotton the customers should raise and offer for sale. In fact, the ginner stood to lose a lot of his custom and perhaps a season's ginning by just getting a bit particular about it. He paid the half and half man the same he did the others. The newspaperman, attempting to crusade a bit, found out quickly he was just trying to stick his nose into other people's business out of pure cussedness. The gins and the mill, said "they," could take what the sons of toil brought in the way it got there and they better not try cutting the price or the aforesaid sons of toil would go to some other gin. The fact is that short staple did cost many a cotton district in this area many a dollar, but the cotton raiser had his way.

It may turn out to be the same with wheat. The wheat raisers may decide they want to raise the kind of wheat they want to raise on the theory that wheat is wheat. So far as we are concerned, it is a matter of business, not one of principle. We'd like to have a series of advertising from the mills urging their customers to raise the kind of wheat the mills want raised, or turning it around, a series from the raisers urging the mills to take and pay full price for the kind of wheat the tillers want to raise and sell. But we would not like to try to tell the wheat raisers, any more than we'd like to tell the mills, what varieties of wheat to grow.

FIGHT FOR WATER GROWS

Mentioning the story of Texas' industrial growth reminds us that the fight for water, the fresh water that flows in underground streams in northwest Texas and on to the gulf included, will continue to grow more intense as the years roll around. Watch out, for instance, next legislature will have "water conservation" measures dumped in the hopper, and the people of the high plains will rear up on their haunches to fight the threat.

Answer to this will be, by the large, a part of the pattern of greater industrial growth. Just why Houston has been the focal point for state control of all water above and beneath the ground is explained to one who understands that that city is the point around which many of the large industries are concentrating their giant plants, all demanding tide water and all demanding lots of fresh water. Already considerable fresh water has been diverted from the Brazos and court fights over water "rights" in that area already are shaping up. Big outfits usually wind up winning any battle of wits and court room clashes, but the giants of Houston will find the grizzled plainsmen rather tough foes before they get through, industry or no industry in the battle of "conservation."

The average American is drinking less milk this year than last, due in part to the fact that he is spending more for other goods and foods which were still scarce last year.

Fruit tree damage from sun scald or blister can be cut down by wrapping the tree trunks.

When saving seed from your garden, take the seed from those plants with best production records, high quality, thriftiness and are true to variety.

Floyd County 14 Years Ago

Jack Stansell, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Stansell, is recovering this morning from injuries sustained Monday morning when he was struck by a truck in the 400 block of South Wall street. A severe blow in the temple, sustained probably when he struck the pavement, caused the most serious alarm. He was semi-conscious until about Wednesday noon.

A. L. Rice suffered the loss of the third and little fingers of his right hand Thursday afternoon of last week when they were crushed on a pump jack at a well at his home in the east part of town.

James Willson, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Willson is under treatment of an eye specialist in Fort Worth this week for an injury sustained Sunday afternoon while at play.

Damage from a virtual deluge of rain and from the accompanying wind and lightning display resulted when a storm swept across a portion of Floyd county Thursday afternoon of last week. The storm center covered only a limited amount of territory, most of the damage being reported from communities a few miles northeast, east and southwest. Rains reported at 8 to 8 inches fell east and southwest of town, filling lakes and overrunning the roads in places.

West Texans, proud boosters of their cool nights, have been throwing back the cover, wiping their foreheads, fanning, watching the mercury rise, hollering "whew" and generally indicating that they're sweltering. The hottest temperature in Floydada in the three-year history of official recording by the West Texas Gas company was set Tuesday afternoon at 5:15 o'clock when the thermometer registered 106 degrees.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Fry and daughters, Maxine and Marilyn and Mrs. Lillie Britton reached home early Saturday morning from Boston after a 20 day absence during which time they attended the annual convention of Rotary International in Boston, to which Mr. Fry went as a delegate from Floydada Rotary club.

A committee from the County council of the Home Demonstration clubs of the county Monday afternoon appealed to the Commissioners' court to include an appropriation for the work of a Home Demonstration agent in this budget for 1934 which will be made up this late summer or fall.

Judge and Mrs. Kenneth Bain and daughter, Jean and son, Kenneth Jr., reached home the first of the week after a trip to the World's fair at Chicago.

BUT today, the bull that roams the plains is a BLUE RIBBON WINNER all over the world.

One of the usual features of evangelistic services is given by Mrs. Schurman by the use of a visual education machine and illustrated hymns and pictures of bible stories also are frequently used.

Tickets for West Texas Home Games Offered Floydada

Frank Kimbrough, athletic coach of West Texas State college, making the rounds of plains towns last week, said the new stadium at West Texas will be ready by the time home football games begin and expects the school's football team to make a good showing, although pitted against some strong competition.

Kimbrough expects to have three and possibly four Floyd county men on the squad when training begins next fall, among them Duane Byars, Johnny Cardinal, Eddie Wayne Conner. Byars is a veteran of last year's campaign, while Cardinal and Conner will get their first varsity experience next fall.

Several good reserved seat tickets have been marked off for Floyd county fans and left with Maurice Steen at The Hesperian office here. Mr. Kimbrough said, reminding fans who want to see their home county boys in action on the football field to assure themselves of good seats by reserving them in advance.

CROSBYTON, July—At long last the Crosbyton General hospital began limited operation this week after more than two years of planning, promoting and building against what at times seemed insurmountable odds.

Present service is limited to Clinical cases, but the scope of the service offered will be gradually increased in the next two or three weeks as additional equipment is received and installed, and hospital personnel is secured. Keltz Garrison, business manager, said Wednesday. Nurses are now being employed, a laboratory technician has already been secured and the hospital directors are searching for a general practitioner.

Governor Jester Speaks
Governor Beauford H. Jester appeared promptly at 2 o'clock on the third of July for his address to the people gathered for the opening day of the American Legion celebration. His speech was dominated with the thought of good Americanism as evidenced in Texas being the kind of ism that would see the country through the tough competition ahead for democratic government of for and by the people as opposed to ideologies prompted by those who believe in bureaucracies with autocratic authority.

"So long as our government sees and recognizes the place that God has as the supreme ruler, so long shall our flag wave over a land of free and happy people who are carving out a destiny in freedom and democracy," said the governor. He spoke to a crowd that filled the court house lawn and spilled out into the adjacent streets. In competition with the biggest and most valuable wheat crop ever harvested in Floyd county the governor of Texas came out a good first.

Governor Jester was presented to the assembly promptly at 2 o'clock by Senator Sterling J. Parrish of Lubbock. The formal welcome was made by Mayor F. C. Harmon of Floydada and by Commander L. W. Chapman, of McDermott post, American Legion. Linn Colville was master of ceremonies.

Week of Big Events
Governor Jester's visit here was one of four engagements he filled in a week of travel away from his official place of business. First at Stamford, then Floydada, Amarillo and Dallas. His Amarillo visit was for the Range Riders' Waddy week and in Dallas he addressed the state bar convention. Sandwiched in on his day in Floydada was a few minutes spent at Lubbock at a coffee Thursday morning widely attended by hotabots of that community.

The governor's address here had an audience over the air through Station KVOP, Plainview.
R. F. Stovall and J. M. Willson officially escorted Governor Jester to Floydada from Lubbock, where he landed by plane from Stamford because facilities are not available here for an airplane of the size made available to the governor.

For lunch at noon the governor and his party were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Stovall at their home 591 West Missouri street. Traveling with him were Col. Paul Wakefield and Donnie D. Duran, of the Austin bureau of the Dallas Morning News. Local dignitaries present at the dinner included Floydada Mayor F. C. Harmon, McDermott Post Commander L. W. Chapman, Linn Colville, secretary of the 4th of July celebration committee, and the J. M. Willson senior and junior. Sterling J. Parrish of Lubbock also shared in the bounty provided by the hostess, as did representatives of the State Highway patrol.

Merriment Far Into The Night
The merriment incident in the first day of the celebration continued far into the night with two dances furnishing the principal interest. For the older the old fashioned dance on the court house lawn drew many who do-ze-duced to the fiddle and accompanying stringed instruments. At the Lewton post's home corner Fifth and Virginia, hundreds more youthful joined in the fun dancing to the strains of a more modern orchestra.

The dance program of the first night was repeated on the second night of the celebration.

New Law to Aid Control of Bang's Disease

New law that will make possible control of cattle infected with Bang's disease is now effective in Texas. Passed at the last legislative session and approved by the governor May 23, the law carrying the emergency clause has been in operation since that date.

The law makes it unlawful for any person to sell or otherwise dispose of any cattle for milking purposes when he knows or has reason to believe said cattle are infected with Bang's disease, and makes each separate animal thus sold a separate offense.

Another feature of the revised statute makes it mandatory on the primary representative of the Live Stock Sanitary Commission or of the Texas Secretary of Agriculture who tests an animal to brand the letter "B" on the left jaw of any animal found to be a reactor to the agglutination test, place a metal tag in the ear of the animal and make a record of the number of such tag in the file of the Live Stock Sanitary Commission of Texas. Further the statute makes it a finable offense to sum not to exceed $200 for any person, firm or corporation who shall refuse to allow such authorized representative to brand the letter "B" on the left jaw of the cow showing a positive reaction to the agglutination test for Bang's disease.

The new law, House Bill No. 525, amends an amendment to two sections of the penal code of the state. It is calculated to aid materially in reducing the number of cows infected with brucellosis (Bang's disease) and to prevent the spread of the disease from one herd to another.

The information is being given to stock raisers in general and to county agents and veterinarians in particular.

The following notice was in the papers of a country weekly: "Anybody found near my chicken house might be found there in the morning."

Plainview Tot Has 13 Grandparents

PLAINVIEW, July — It will be hard to convince Tim Thompson, 10 days old, that 13 is an unlucky number. Tim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thompson who live in the Aiken community east of Plainview.

Tim has 13 grandparents, and is the fifth generation in the families of both father and mother.

The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Scott, all of Aiken. Great grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Thompson of Bowie, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Cates of Floydada, and Mrs. E. O. Cates of Whitesboro. The great-great-grand-parents are W. A. Cates of Floydada, Bob Immel of Amarillo, Mrs. Clara Collect of Omaha, Texas, and L. R. CHUMMY WITH MOLOTOV

M. E. (Smoky) Schroeder lives in Oelwein, Iowa (pop. 7,801). He's a friendly fellow as you'd want to meet. A fireman on the Chicago Great Western Railroad, Smokey doesn't get much chance to gab in the cab of a locomotive. So when he's off duty he likes to chin, says Pathfinder.

At the end of a run last week he picked up a phone and told the operator: "Gimme Molotov in Moscow." Four and a half hours later Smokey was talking to the Soviet Foreign Minister.

"Are you," asked Molotov, "in politics? Do you want to talk about international affairs?"

"No," said Smokey. "I'm just an ordinary fellow who wants to be sociable."

Later Smokey reported the conversation: "We talked for a while about railroading and the weather. Then he wanted to know where Iowa was and what sort of state it is. I got in a good plug for tall corn."

After that, Smokey said, "two or three" secretaries "buted in" and asked about Hollywood. The three minutes up, Smokey paid $22.50 plus tax. "The best $22.50 I ever spent," he said.

PINT - SIZE PIANOS

The music instrument industry—lagging these 20 years—is far from asleep. The National Association of Music Merchants' convention in Chicago last month saw such practical novelties as:

A grand piano sized to a small home. When not in use it can be tilted up against the wall to save space.

JUST A MEMORY

An artist painting in the country had a farmer spectator.

"Ah," said the artist, "perhaps you too are a lover of the beauties of Nature. Have you seen the golden fingers of dawn spreading across the eastern sky, the red-stained sulphurous lalets floating in the lake of fire in the west, the ragged clouds at midnight, blotting out the shuddering moon?"

"Nope," said the farmer, "not lately. I've been on the wagon for over a year." —Ex.

TALK FEST

The three men who were cronies became convinced the world was making too many demands on their time and energy, so they packed up, gave up their jobs, and went to a cabin in the North Woods. At the end of the first year, one remarked "This quiet is enjoyable."

A year later the second remarked "Yes."

At the end of the next year the third replied disgustedly, "If you two are going to keep on chattering I'm going home." —Ex.

Hearing Is Waived by Raymond Ford in Homicide Charge

Hearing was waived last Friday by Raymond Ford on a charge by complaint of negligent homicide and Justice of the Peace O. B. Olson set bond at $1,000 to await action of the Floyd county grand jury. Monday the case was transferred to county court.

The charge grew out of the accident on Highway 207 Tuesday night of last week when Cecil Anderson was fatally injured and three others hurt, including Ford. The latter's injuries included severe bodily bruises.

Others injured in the crash were Glen Jarnagin who had cuts on both legs; and Elvis Warren, who was cut in the throat and had to be sewed up and had other bruises and cuts. Both Jarnagin and Warren are gradually resuming normalcy.

Jarnagin, driving the car in which Anderson had his fatal injuries, pulled out from behind a truck load of hay to pass on the highway near the Oliver Allen place 3 miles north of Floydada, when his car collided with that of Ford, traveling in the opposite direction. Ford was on the highway without lights, the complaint alleges.

Laura Sammann Commissioned as Parish Worker

LOCKNEY, July — Miss Laura Sammann, daughter of Mrs. Henry Sammann of the Prairieview community was commissioned as a parish worker of the American Lutheran church, Sunday at 10:30 a. m. The commissioning was held in connection with the regular Sunday morning service at Trinity Lutheran of Providence.

Rev. H. J. Schauer, pastor of Trinity Lutheran, delivered the sermon for the occasion. Rev. Daniel F. Schorlemer, who is a 1947 graduate of Capital seminary, Columbus, Ohio, and who has accepted a pastorate at Amarillo, officiated at the commissioning service. A Christian service flag was dedicated immediately after the commissioning service in recognition of Miss Sammann's full-time Christian work.

Miss Sammann is one of the first parish workers of the American Lutheran church to be commissioned. She has just finished the intensive course of training for this position at Capital university. The course of study requires four years of training. She has accepted a position in the Sunday school of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Toledo, Ohio, where she began her duties July 10.

The parish worker is primarily an assistant to the pastor in the work of the congregation. They contact the homes of Sunday school pupils, whose parents are not members, to achieve greater regularity of attendance, and to win the parents for the church. They maintain constant check on Sunday school attendance and the catechism classes. Other duties include the improvement of the underlying educational program of the church, such as planning vacation Bible schools and week-day kindergarten schools. The parish worker usually has charge of the Lutheran League and other organizations of the church.

Special music for the service was furnished by Mrs. Albert Scheele and Miss Mildred Scheele.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)

The wheat fields seem resting after their bounteous wealth of grain that has been garnered. Well done, thou good and faithful servant, the farmer breathes a sigh of thankfulness and relief as he looks over his land, which he has so carefully tended for this glorious harvest.

The farm families are resting a little more, also. Long hours of worry and not enough sleep, are behind with the wheat crop for awhile, but the row crops are coming on, the wheat land is to be plowed, gardens are getting ready for the canning, fruit is ripening on trees, so I leave the easy chair and a good book with a sigh and dig potatoes with the hot sun on my back or if early or late, a bunch of hungry mosquitoes digging through my dress and thirsty for blood.

Beans are not so easy to pick either. It is much easier to sit in the shade and get them ready to cook. Beets and beans, squash and okra are not so hard to gather. But it is a pleasure when the vegetables are all in the basket to stop a few minutes and see the dahlias bloom beginning to open, to see the zinnias topped with red and pink and yellow and to pick the sweetpeas and smell their delicious fragrance.

I may be sticking my neck out and riding for laughing criticism but I am only telling what I saw. I think it was three years ago. One evening I was sitting in the kitchen, watching the barn to see when the cows were in there to be milked. All at once across the eastern sky there was a large blue object that seemed to be affire. Closer and closer to the ground it sped. I ran outside and it was gone. So sure I was that it was an airplane affire I watched to see the cars going that way. Not over a mile and one half, it looked. But never a word did I hear till one day I mentioned it at Walter Gillons and he had seen the same object, locating it at the place in the sky I did, and as low in the sky, exactly the same time of day. The flying discs seen by many now as reported in the daily papers, recalled this to my mind.

Mrs. Jim Griggs of Tucumcari, New Mexico, sent me some pretty and interesting rock for my collection. There is a piece of rock behind which Billy the Kid hid to shoot Pat Garrett. A shell from New Guinea, rocks from all over New Mexico and some from California. I thank you kindly, Mrs. Helen Griggs, and hope some day to tell you when we meet.

My brother-in-law, Jack Wadsworth of Lubbock gave me a rock of interest. It is from Boulder dam where he and my sister, Josephine visited recently. I am especially interested in ore rocks and am getting many in my shelves.

From the writings of Henry David Thoreau

"The youth gets together his materials to build a bridge to the moon, or, perchance, a palace or temple on the earth, and at length, the middle-aged man concludes to build a woodshed with them."

In the cowboy lingo of my childhood days, we had lick for breakfast. For the benefit for the ones who do not know or think any kind of syrup is lick, we affirm as one who knows that lick is only one sweet made by boiling sugar and water together till it somewhat thickens. And it needs to be herded up from the plate with hot soda biscuits. Lightbread is not much good and by all means do not try a piece of toast.

Thought for the week: Women are wiser than men because they know less and understand more.

That to and fro did sway against a wall,
Our shadow selves, our influence may fall
Where we ourselves may never be

GILBERT HULS CELEBRATES HIS 84th BIRTHDAY

Gilbert Huls, resident of Lockney and associated with Lockney drug, celebrated his 84th birthday Wednesday of last week. The Lockney Beacon reports Mr. Huls as taking a lively interest in things political, and says the spry octogenarian threatens to go to Washington at most any time to straighten things out.

However, Mr. Huls is pretty busy and an important cog in local affairs and hasn't had time to get off.

Now, the best may be had by all!

SENATORS CANT TELL

Into the lap of Congress, Washington's city fathers dumped a major problem. What can be done about the District of Columbia's drunken drivers?

District of Columbia Commissioners suggested a law to make blood tests for alcohol compulsory on motorists the police suspect. But baritone-voiced Sen. William Umstead (D.-N.C.) would have none of this proposed a simpler formula:

Not drunk is he who from the floor, Can rise again and drink once more.

But drunk is he who prostrate lies, And who can neither drink nor rise.

After all, said Umstead, scientific tests would work an injustice on the "man who drinks a quart of bourbon every day" and still does "a normal day's business."

Not quite sure how best to tell a drunk, the Senate District Committee said "no" to the Commissioners' bill. And Umstead's poetic formula got little more than a snicker.

HE MEANT IT

Husband: "If a man steals—no matter what—he will live to regret it."

Wife: "You used to steal kisses." Husband: "Well, you heard what I said."

WELL QUALIFIED

A lady was very much pleased because her husband had called her angel. She was not accustomed to compliments from him and asked him why he had called her an angel.

"Because," he replied, "you are always up in the air, you are continually harping on something, and you never have a darn thing to wear."

Annihilation Of Garden Insects Mid-Summer

BERBOCK, July.—Suggestions for annihilation of insects that have been plaguing gardeners are offered by George Elie, assistant professor of entomology at Texas Technological College.

Most difficult to control are the squash bug, now appearing in droves, and the harlequin cabbage bug that attacks cabbage, collards, mustard, turnips and radishes. Sabadilla, a compound under the trade name of Sabadon, is effective on the young bugs but not always on adults. Its use is in some measure of control, however, since the squash bug produces two generations per season and the cabbage bug three.

The squash bug is a dark brown insect with a flat back that feeds on the underside of leaves but often suns itself on the leaf top. It is advisable to inspect the underside of leaves for eggs of both insects and destroy eggs if found. Cabbage bug eggs resemble small black-rimmed white kegs, Elie said, and squash bug eggs look something like light brown fleas.

The flea beetle, a black jumping insect about the size of the end of a lead pencil, constitutes a threat to area potato growers he warned. This insect chews holes in leaves about the size of a pencil lead. A half and half mixture of cryolite and sulphur is recommended as a control, especially for home gardens. Arsenicals are satisfactory but dangerous, he said, while cryolite is not toxic to humans and is even more effective.

Box Car Blues

(One hot day last week Mrs. Dessie Denison expressed in verse the sentiments of herself and other members of the Troy Leonard elevator crew and of the other elevator people in the county, when she penned the lines below.)

Oh, those box car blues!
Cars we ain't got,
But we could use 'em.
We sit on our trucks
That are loaded with wheat.
It's too hot to sleep,
We have nothing to eat.
If the Santa Fe and the Q. A. & P.
Would bring some box cars
How happy we'd be.
We could unload the wheat
And get another load
Have plenty to eat
Go down the road
To another field
Where the combines run.
The great big yield
Means lots of fun
And plenty for all
But we wait and wait
The cars don't come,
We stay early and late,
Won't you send us some?
Oh those box car blues!

Church has Home After 40 Years

The Primitive Baptist church will have their church home nearly enough completed that they will hold services in it on Saturday and Sunday, July 12 and 13 at 11 a. m., and Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock it was announced this week.

Constituted 40 years ago at Lakeview school house, the congregation will hold its first service in its own home when the Saturday morning service begins. It will be an occasion of general rejoicing for the assembly.

A notice for the press issued this week by order of the church moderator, D. L. Handley, says:

"This notice is to inform all who may be interested that we (the Primitive Baptists) have our church building near enough completed that we expect to have services in our new home Saturday and Sunday, July 12 and 13 at 11 a. m.; and Saturday night at 8:30 p. m."

"And we take this opportunity to express our thanks unto all who made any contribution of whatever kind. And also wish to thank (in advance) all who may hereafter make any contribution.

"We cordially invite all who have a desire to do so, to come and be with us in our first service in our new house.

"We plan to have dinner on the ground together both Saturday and Sunday and invite friends who would like to join us to bring dinner and be with us at these hours."

The church was named New Hope 40 years ago on the second Saturday in September, at Lakeview school house. Decision to select a site and build in Floydada was made several months ago and a part of the school grounds formerly used as the East Ward school was purchased from Floydada Independent School district for the purpose. The building was started soon after the site was acquired and now nears completion.

There are four persons now living who were in the constitution of the church when it was organized in 1907. They are Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jameson of Floydada, Charlie Bolinger of Cone, and Adrian Roberts, of California.

Golden Rites Held Thursday Evening

LOCKNEY, July.—Funeral services for E. J. Golden, prominent Floyd county farmer, were held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the West Side Church of Christ in Lockney. Burial was made in the Lockney cemetery with Crager Funeral home in charge of the arrangements.

Golden's lifeless body was found in a barn at his home near the Cereal elevator Wednesday morning. He was hanging from a rafter in the barn and had a bullet wound in his head just above the right ear. A .32 calibre automatic pistol was found nearby.

Mrs. Golden, mother of Golden, with whom he made his home, was not at home at the time of his death and the body was found by a nephew, Billie Carthel, about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Mr. Golden operated extensive farm lands north of Alken in the region of Cereal. He was 32 and had resided in this section most of his life.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Maude Golden; four brothers, Oscar of Alken; Roy of Petersburg and Joe and Tom of Grand Junction, Colorado; five sisters, Mrs. Garland Sims and Mrs. J. R. Belt, Jr. of Lockney, Mrs. Wayne Carthel, Dimmitt, Mrs. Floyd Tumlison, Canyon and Mrs. Emmett Tierce of Alken.

LOCKNEY AIRPORT ENLARGED

LOCKNEY, July.—The local airport has been enlarged by the addition of a northeast and southwest runway, it was reported this week. The wheat stubble has been burned off the ground and the runway laid out. The addition gives the airport three runways. The east runway and the north-south runway are each 300 feet wide by a half mile long.

City Clean-Up

The city has promised to go along with the committee, said Dr. Kimble. No exact amount the city would need to spend has been determined as yet.

The business district, as well as dwelling premises will be completely covered in the clean-up and the spraying campaign that follows. Alleys, garbage disposals, fronts and backs of buildings — everywhere flies, insects, mice and rats can find harbor — will get a thorough going over. All depending on whether the manpower is available and holds out to finish the job.

Tuesday Night Canvass
The Jaycees next Tuesday night are going to try to assemble enough of their own man-power to make a canvass of the town for pledges and money to carry on the spraying campaign. "We want to make every household in the community clean-up conscious to get a thorough clean-up first and a DDT spraying in the week that follows," said Dr. Kimble. Jaycees have agreed to meet at 8:30 Tuesday evening to carry the campaign with old-time favor to the whole community, all in one evening. Meanwhile those who want to volunteer their pledges and aid can do so by calling Telephone 232 or 254, says Guy Ginn, president of the Jaycees.

Representative Is Floydada Visitor

Judge I. B. Holt, of Olton, representative of the 120th legislative district, who was among the Floydada visitors during the celebration, has shown considerable recovery since his illness during the sessions of the legislature in the spring. In fact, he looks younger and fresher than he did while he was running for office last summer.

Answering a remark that the legislature appropriated a great deal of money, Judge Holt said there wasn't an item appropriated that wasn't demanded by the people of the state. So many things the people wanted had been put off so long they were really demanding action on the part of the legislature.

Judge Holt was here to hear the address of the governor and to renew friendships and acquaintances made during the campaign. He said one reason the State Department of Public Safety got liberal treatment at the hands of the legislature is that that organization is an efficient one and the lawmakers had confidence the funds turned over to department would be handled well to give the people their money's worth.

Wheat Movement

Two of the places from which wheat were stolen last week are the Woodrow Wilson field 3 1/2 miles north of Floydada on the Silverton road, and a field operated by Tomlinson and Golden near Aiken.

At the Wilson place a six-wheeler backed up and took a real load upward of 500 bushels. The thieves covered their tire marks cleverly by scattering wheat in the soft ground and scraping dirt over it. The wheels did not leave any discernible pattern in the stubble. The thief cut a fence down field from any residence to get in and out.

The wheat at Aiken was stolen by the use of a bobtail truck, and was stolen while E. J. Golden, one of the partners, was a corpse following his untimely demise Tuesday. There are no clues to work on that have been turned up yet, said Mr. Hart.

"It's the little things in life that tell," said the young lady as she yanked her small brother from under the sofa.

ILLUSTRATED WEIGHT

A bearded hillbilly came out of the mountains for the first time in his life and went to the city. He saw people stepping up on a weighing machine, putting pennies in it, standing motionless, and receiving pieces of cardboard from the slot. After watching for an hour, he got up enough courage to step aboard himself. He dropped in his penny and out popped a card with Van Johnson's picture. He studied it closely, then stared in the mirror of the machine for several moments. Then he turned to an onlooker and said: "Shucks, this contraption don't take a very good picture, does it?"

CARE AT CALVING TIME PAYS BIG DIVIDENDS

A whole year's profit on a cow may hinge on the care given that cow at calving time.

Livestock health authorities point out that a cow which calves normally and without trouble will be ready to begin a year of profitable production and will present a well-developed, healthy calf as an extra dividend. On the other hand, a cow neglected at calving time may give birth to a dead calf or suffer injuries that will result in decreased production during the lactation period.

The precautions are simple ones requiring little time and costing practically nothing extra, but they pay well.

One of the most necessary things at this time is to have the cow near the farm buildings, so that she can be watched constantly for signs of difficult parturition. It is highly important that delivery be prompt once labor begins.

Another item of care is the feeding of a laxative ration, preferably one rich in bran, molasses or oil meal.

If the weather is unfavorable for calving out of doors or if a suitable grassy plot cannot be provided near the buildings, special care should be taken to provide comfortable quarters inside the barn. Dryness, cleanliness, good bedding and good lighting are required, and extra forkful of straw insures protection while the cow is uneasy. Adequate amounts of clean, fresh water should be readily available.

Perfect Score on 100 Targets Wins Okla. Open

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 6—J. O. Dudley, Floydada, Saturday won the Oklahoma open championship trophy in the 48th annual state trapshooting contest here.

Dudley broke 100 straight targets for a perfect score. Tied in second place with 99 each were Julius Peterson, England, Ark., Joe Davison, professor from Alton, Ill., and Berne Brownlee, Wichita, Kan.

Merced Tenille, Shreveport, La., L. Lewis, El Reno, Oklahoma, George Kennitz, Houston, and Tom Clifford, Fort Worth, were dead-ended in third place with scores of 97.

Dudley who has engaged in many trapshoots throughout the southwest and on occasion at more distant points all the way from the Gulf coast to Indiana, told a newsman about eight years ago he had about given up the idea of being a winner in trapshooting but that he kept it up because he enjoyed the sport. Always he was well up in the topflight and his winnings generally would be one shot, difficult or not, that he would miss to put him one or two down the list.

Evidently his skill and luck got together in the Oklahoma City contest to make the perfect score possible. Had he missed one of the 100 dices he would have been in a four-way tie for first, and a miss of two would have put him way down in the list.

Polluted Waters May Harbor Virus of Polio

A third precaution among six simple health rules that should be observed during the polio epidemic season is to avoid swimming in polluted waters, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis cautions, through its local chapter.

While proof of direct infection by this means is lacking, the National Foundation points out that research financed by March of Dimes funds indicates that the virus causing polio is often found in sewage.

Consequently, wherever sewage may find its way into waters used for swimming, such waters should be avoided. To be sure, consult your local Health Department.

Take no chances and don't swim in waters known to be polluted.
