MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION OF FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Whereas, the president of the United States and the governor of the State of Texas have designated the week of October 5-11 as Fire Prevention week, to combat the loss of lives and property; and

Whereas, the destruction by fire of our natural and created resources is on the increase in Floydada; and Whereas the ravage of fire continues to endanger the lives and material wealth of our people;

Now, therefore, I, Frank C. Harmon, mayor of the City of Floydada, request every citizen to eliminate all possible causes of destructive fire in his home and in his place of business, and I urge that vigilance against fire be extended beyond Fire Prevention Week and continue throughout the year. I invite the Red Cross, civic groups, churches and schools, business organizations, the press and other public agencies to cooperate fully in the observance of Fire Prevention Week with the objective of continuing our battle against destructive fire. In this effort the citizenship will find the agencies of our municipality assisting in every feasible way in arousing the public to the seriousness of the fire problems.

Especially is attention called to the need for cleaning grass and debris from premises where carelessly lit fires are a constant threat to improvements and costly to the taxpayers in responding to fire alarms.

Witness my hand this 6th day of October, 1947.

F. C. Harmon, Mayor, City of Floydada, Texas.

Floydada Joins Fire Prevention Week Program

Floydada is joining in the nation wide study of Fire prevention this week.

From grade school through high school and into the offices and business places of the community the message of saving life and property from destructive fire is being urged by city officials, cooperating schools, civic and business organizations.

This week is proclaimed by Mayor F. C. Harmon (see proclamation in this issue) and urged by City Fire Marshal Carl Rodgers as an educational program to prevent fires and reduce fire insurance costs, and this week-end Fire Marshal Rodgers will make one of his periodical rounds of inspections of public places and establishments to see how well the lesson of preventing fires is being taken to heart.

Empties Building Fast

In addition the city schools are making fire prevention study a part of the week's study, and practice fire drills have been executed in the schools. Since it is too late to plan how to empty a large building quickly without injury to occupants after fire begins, the school has not only conducted drills, but the student body also has studied obstructions, exits and fire hazards in the buildings.

Superintendent Graves said in the first drill after the opening of school the high school building was emptied in an orderly manner in two minutes. However, after the school was organized the time in which the school house was completely evacuated with injury to none was reduced to 40 seconds.

Essays at both high school and the grade schools emphasize the value of fire prevention and the pupils' work in these papers is graded for excellence of thought as well as for the use made of English.

Should Renew Extinguishers

In making his rounds of the public places in the community Rodgers is stressing the need of fire extinguishers which are in good operating condition, with renewed fluid.

Cotton Ginning Gains Headway; Pickers Scarce

Gins of Floyd county were beginning to get ample runs of cotton yesterday to keep them "comfortably" busy, although enough cotton is open ready for the harvest to keep the plants busy on a 24-hour basis if cotton pickers were available for all the fields.

Cotton was coming to the gins with burs full of sap and driers were going full blast. Ginners were getting the lint dry enough to handle good but seed are full of sap and are having to be moved fast to keep from spoiling.

Reports on cotton ginnings at this office were incomplete this morning Floydada gins turned out some 200 bales.

It appears apparent this week that defoliation on dry land farms will not be feasible since the leaves are not in a growing condition. On a number of irrigated farms the defoliation program will be undertaken. Favorable dampness this week has been helpful but wind has blown too many hours per day to permit extensive operations, except in the early hours.

Cotton yields are running one-fourth to one-half bale per acre on dry land fields.

Maize harvest has continued unabated. Many fields are still waiting sufficient reduction in water content to go to market. Many fields will have to await a killing frost before harvest can be successfully carried out. Bundle fields are being put into shocks rapidly.

While practically all of the wheat land has been worked, most fields still have ungerminated volunteer seed, and until this comes up so it can be killed, very little wheat sowing will be done, except what is or will be planted in the dust in hope of rain. Most farmers overlooked the practice of summer fallowing, which figured strongly in last year's crop. But indications now point to the probability that practically all the wheat acreage will be planted back if conditions permit.

Negro Slays Negro Sunday Morning in West Floyd County

James Lee Smith, colored, 32, is charged with murder in Floyd county this week following the slaying of Cummins Butler, 35, about 2 o'clock Sunday morning. The shooting took place at a tenant house on the Ray Barnard farm 14 miles west of Floydada.

Deputy Sheriff Bus Hopper, who arrested the negro, said the slayer gave up on the advice of his employer who lives near Petersburg. The negro's story was that the trouble came up over $150 the Butler negro snatched from his hands some 30 days before. Butler was shot four times with a pistol of the Luger type and was killed instantly. His body was claimed by a funeral home of Plainview Sunday morning. His home was at Plainview.

Yesterday afternoon no effort had been made to obtain bond by the Smith negro. He is held in Floyd county jail.

Justice of the Peace O. B. Olson held an investigation of the shooting at the scene of the killing, examining several witnesses. A considerable number of negroes, male and female, were at the place when the trouble occurred, said Deputy Hopper, but few of them could give any helpful testimony.

Wurlitzer Organ Concert Date Is Wednesday Eve

To fitly observe the receipt after long delay of their new Wurlitzer organ and its installation in the main church auditorium, the First Baptist church this week is announcing a concert for Wednesday night of next week, in which the organ will be featured in a program of hymnal music.

The happy event in the congregation's church life will have one of the southwest's greatest organists present and taking part in the concert at the organ. He is John Josey of Amarillo. On the program also will appear Irving O. Tolzein as violin accompanist, who is also promised in one or more solo numbers. Members of the church choir and congregation will have a part in the program also.

Rev. L. A. Doyle, pastor of the church, announced the early receipt of the church's organ, last Sunday and this week Carl Muench said the distributors had promised to have the organ here possibly this week-end and certainly not later than Monday to install. Sound cabinet and chimes also will be included as integral parts of the installation.

The Wurlitzer is an organ in the fullest sense of the word, its total qualities having won the approval of the American Guild of organists.

Road Election Petition Filed First of Week

Petitions for the Commissioners court to call a county-wide road bond election in Floyd county are on file in the county clerk's office this week, and the prospect is that the Commissioners court will act on the petitions either Saturday, when a special session is due to be held, or on Monday when the regular session of the court is due.

Two of the Commissioners, Fred N. Clark of Precinct One, and W. C. Plumlee of Precinct Three, with Judge W. E. Grimes, were absent from the county on a bridge materials building jaunt to east Texas when the petitions were filed. Hunting good timber to use on badly needed bridge re-building in north-east Floyd county they found some mills which may be helpful in this respect, said Judge Grimes. Local lumber dealers are helping the court in their search for the right materials obtainable at an early date.

Farm to Market Program

Proponents of the road bond issue to get money to carry on the farm to market road construction work in cooperation with the State Highway department, are convinced their plan is the only feasible one and are hopeful that two thirds of the tax-paying voters will see it the same way. Road building can go on practically uninterrupted for the next two years if the bond issue carries.

The Chillicothe man told Mr. Hopper he parked his car in front of a place in Vernon and went in to get something to eat Saturday afternoon. When he came out at the cafe the car was gone. He was a mighty well pleased man to have his car back undamaged, Deputy Hopper said.

Attention, Congressman Mahon and those who write Congressman Mahon giving suggestions: In the matter of revising the tax system when congress begins that job again, the best one thing to do is to raise the level of tax exemptions so as to eliminate and excuse the thousands, possibly millions one could easily estimate, who now make returns only to make more work for the Internal Revenue department. After checking these returns of the very small fry the government man then sits down and writes them a check for a refund. Up to a thousand dollars of any working man's, or small business man's, income should not be touched and more taken off for each and every dependent.

With cars traveling Highway 66 bumper to bumper and the road getting rougher and rougher day by day the opportunity presented other good routes to get quite a bit of this business is easily apparent. A recent movement started by civic workers in southern Oklahoma to get this traffic headed by way of Frederick to enter Texas at Vernon and (through Floydada of course) travel by way of Lubbock and Carlsbad would enter New Mexico traveling a better road than Highway 66 affords. The idea is a good one. The travel would be funneled to this route at Oklahoma City. The idea appeals to Floydada interests. However, unless and until Vernon and Lubbock and Carlsbad are sold on the idea and will get on the dotted line local interests are doubtful that the little cities on the route can get the job done by themselves. The minute Vernon, Lubbock and Carlsbad show an interest Floydada will be interested in a big way. This is the story and the viewpoint we get from the Chamber of Commerce.

Since the powers that be in the educational field are leading us further and further into the scholastic transportation business and closing more and more country schools, people of the county are going to have to do something about the roads, and the problem will be increasingly pressing. A little tike 14 miles (or any given number of miles) in the country shouldn't be loaded on a bus in the gray dawn to suffer the rigors of inclement weather incident to the chance that he or she may not reach a warm school house and shelter. Mamas and papas are not going to do it that way, but they'll worry because the little fellow missed that day, which can never return. They could have taken him had he lived within a mile or so of a school house. So that puts them in turn to worrying about better roads, which present the only solution under the present-day set-up. Whether they'll think enough about it to undertake road building on the grand scale that the situation demands is another matter. It is a mighty incentive to try to do something somehow.

The United States, with 403,812 miles of track, has more railway mileage than all of South America, Asia, Africa and Australia combined.

The grocermen rightly call attention to the fact that they are not the guilty hound that sucked the eggs. Charges that the food dealer, certainly at the retail level, which is the one we know about, has had something to do with the increased cost of living are all wrong. There are scores of items you find in the stores—fresh fruits and vegetables, canned goods of practically every kind, are cheaper than they were a year ago. And lard and soap. Perhaps others that we do not now think of. And the grocer's margin is getting closer and closer. And he has been running his meat department at a loss. And this while people who are getting a good deal more than they used to get are sending up a cry of robber. Everybody is hunting for somebody else to be "it." Even the Department of Justice has decided to try to put the bee on several "trusts." Working on the theory, we suppose, that if you take in after the whales the minnows will get scared, too.

It is a bit difficult not to get out of patience with the people of Europe who have had two years since the war to begin to readjust themselves and still say they are helpless and must have help from the United States. They have soil and sunshine and manpower, and that is about three-fourths of the battle. However, a person with a background of Confederate ancestry or of frontier and Indian wars probably will have a bit more patience with the people of Europe than others will. When the Civil war was over the Southerners didn't have anything left but taxes and worthless currency to pay them with. There were not even any seed. Perhaps, if after 1865, the Southern states had been hit by Civil War No. II in 1890 we'd have been pretty well disorganized for awhile. The South, however, had no kind friends with full granaries to turn to. Had there been would our fathers and grandfathers have sat down and gone to whining?

THIS IS COMMON SENSE

"The fortunes of the railroads rise and fall, of course, with those of the economy of the country as a whole. But common carriers are far more hotted than most business enterprises in meeting the shocks and strains of business recessions. That is because we fix their rates and prescribe the conditions under which they may operate. It is the part of wisdom for regulatory bodies to consider the long-term needs of the carriers in the matter of rates to be charged and to act promptly in adjusting their revenues so that they may stay out of bankruptcy."—Dallas, Texas News.

Life Lights from Germany

By George Mahon

In my previous report I made reference to England where food is scarce and where life is hard for the people. From London our Congressional committee on Foreign Affairs reported to Germany for three weeks but one of our sub-committees will spend three weeks in Germany.

Generally speaking, Germany at the close of two years since V-J day is still a nation of rubble and it hardly seems possible that it will be rebuilt within a decade. Progress is being made in the rubble and reestablishment of industry but American businessmen have not seen the war in Germany cannot possibly be what German cities look like. At long last the German people with complete certainty war is like.

One of our difficult problems in Germany: Russia and Poland control of the pre-war market of Germany. The United States and Britain have joined in the industrial heart of Europe but our area is far from self-sufficient in food. Under the agreement with Russia, the United States and Britain was operated as an economic unit. Russia has refused to live up to the agreement. Under the law of an occupying power must be starvation in the area occupied. We can escape this responsibility by pulling our troops out of Germany, but if we stay we must maintain order and prevent starvation. If we pull out of Germany a few doubt but that the vacuum would be filled by the Communists, which would mean that the full industrial capacity of the Ruhr would be at the disposal of the Russians.

I saw hundreds of German farms and walked over some of the fields. The farms are extremely well cared for and generally speaking, they have not suffered war damage. Fertilizer and equipment are needed but otherwise I doubt that there is much room for improvement of European agriculture. The farmers apparently use every foot of ground to the best advantage. This year the crops are short because of the severe drought. Some of the Irish potatoes which were being harvested in Germany were little bigger than marbles.

German coal production is the key to economic recovery and coal miners are being given extra food to encourage output of coal. I visited a mine, talked with miners and tasted some of the rations.

If the coal and industrial production in the British American Zone can be sufficiently increased, this will enable the Germans to export enough to get the money to make up the deficit in food. That is the objective now being sought to help the people help themselves.

There is no evidence of happiness in Germany. Indeed, there is little for these defeated people to be happy about. Yet they have no one to blame for their misery but themselves and their leaders. The people are not inclined to be friendly or to smile at passersby. Perhaps I mistook a state of hopelessness and bewilderment for unfriendliness.

Rarely do you see a man or woman on the streets of a German city who does not carry a satchel or small handbag of some kind. They are black-marketing, trading, and trying to devise means for getting food and other necessities. We went into some of their homes in the basement and bomb shelters of their devastated cities where conditions are worst. Their cupboards were almost bare. Of course, there are variations of misery among the people. Some of them live better than others. The people who live on the farms are in better position than the rest of the population.

Prior to the war many of the nations of western Europe relied on Germany for coal and steel and heavy machinery. Germany's neighbors are now in difficulty because those products are no longer available to them. How to permit the revival of Germany without encouraging the future rebirth of German militarism is the big question. The French are very vocal in opposing the revival of German production. America and Britain are trying to work out a level of industry for Germany which will enable Germany to become self-supporting without becoming a menace to the peace of the world. Of course, the Big Three have not yet made substantial progress on the Peace Treaty with Germany and until the treaty is made, makeshift policies will have to be relied upon.

Soothe Bowser, Protect Master

Put DDT in the doghouse. This is what Federal entomologists suggest, not as somewhat out-of-date slang, but as practical advice for health and comfort.

The same applies to the quarters of other pets that roam afield and bring home fleas, and ticks, or that are likely to attract flies, mosquitoes or bedbugs. Such treatment does not guarantee complete protection but is well worth while, say the U. S. Department of Agriculture, in reducing the chances for annoyance or infection. If insects that the pets pick up leave them and come in contact with DDT on the walls or in bedding material the insecticide does its work and the pests do not multiply to cause annoyance to pets or owners, or to act as disease carriers. One special value of DDT is that it remains effective for weeks.

One of the household sprays with a refined kerosene base and 5 percent DDT added is likely to be the most convenient to use for this purpose. Spraying of pet quarters can be made part of the regular spraying with DDT around baseboards and water pipes in the kitchen for control of ants and cockroaches. This has become routine in many households, and includes spraying inside the garbage can and on walls nearby; also any other spots where flies are seen to gather in groups. Some recent experiments indicate that the newer insecticides such as benzene hexachloride chloride and a chlorinated camphene may have similar value in preventing annoyance and disease and may control several pests not controlled reliably by DDT.

Eventually, it may prove possible to combine one of these with DDT to make an even better general purpose spray. But until these have been tested thoroughly for safety and effectiveness, it is best to rely on DDT alone for good protection.

NOTICE!

To Our Friends and Customers:

We are, reluctantly, closing down our gin due to the fact that we have failed to get delivery on some new equipment that we had planned to have installed and ready for operation long before now.

Due to shortages of some materials we have failed to get this needed equipment and feel that we cannot give the type of service that we are due to render without it.

We prefer to close down our plant rather than ask our friends to favor us with their ginning when we are just not satisfied with the job we would be doing.

So we are closing down until we can buy and properly install a good cotton drier and be ready to take care of any business that might be intrusted to us.

We most assuredly appreciate the nice business that you have given us down through the years and we want to continue to merit your friendship and to share a portion of your business.

Whirlwinds Lose Game But Learn Football Lesson

Last Friday night Floydada fans saw the other side of the Floydada Whirlwinds win or lose games for the first time this season. Up to now fans have seen the Winds win their games by very safe margins. Phillips helped them write another chapter last week. 38-19 is a part of the story that was written, but lets look at the other part first.

Phillips is one of the strongest teams in this region, rated by many writers as the team that will win the regional title, whereas, Floydada is expected to have a hard time in their own district race.

These ratings, though possibly wrong, made a very nervous Whirlwind team in the first half of the game and even helped the Black Hawks make their first four T. D.'s. However in the second half, after the Winds had decided the opposition wasn't really so tough it was a decidedly different story. The Winds came back very strong and out-scored the heavily rated Phillips eleven, and assuming that the Phillips team had reserves in play at the last half (which they did a few at a time, and not very long each time) Floydada still made the same number of points they did knocking off one T. D. for the reserves.

Actually Phillips had reserves in the backfield on only one of Floydada's scores and the others they just seemingly couldn't stop. On the other hand the Phillips backfield was an extremely shifty one and it seems that the Winds could not prevent the scores they made.

Phillips Line Charges Fast

Hale took credit for a great number of fumbles, but actually the Phillips line charged so fast and hard that sometimes he was hit in the process of passing the ball, a time which a fumble is most likely to occur. On the whole the lines were even with Phillips having the edge in spots. Both lines charged hard, and as a rule neither team made a great amount of yardage over the other.

Facts on the Quarters

Floydada won the toss and elected to receive for the start giving the advantage of the wind to Phillips but giving themselves the first crack at the ball. After three plays left them in need of three yards, Floydada had to kick out of danger with Griesby doing the honors. Phillips took the ball on the fifty yard line and made a steady march to the goal with the ease of a team that is used to doing just such. Smith took the ball over but missed the try at conversion.

Again Floydada received the ball and again after three plays were forced to kick out of danger. This time Phillips went a little slower but had put themselves into position for another score when the quarter ended.

The Black Hawks went wild in the 2nd quarter, with three T. D.'s, which started with the one they had set up in the first quarter.

At that the Winds held them for five plays between the five yard line and the goal, a tough job for any team. Again in this quarter Floydada received the ball and after three downs were forced to kick. Griesby made beautiful punts that put Phillips very deep in their own territory, only to have Smith break loose on a long run from his seventeen yard line for a touchdown and after the next punt McClellan took it on his twenty nine and ran most of the way back to the 'Winds goal' handing the ball off to Smith on the twenty to block a Floydada tackler.

Whirlwinds Begin Scoring

After the half Floydada seemed to have decided that Phillips was not as bad and tough as expected and came back to score three touchdowns to the Phillips two. Floydada took advantage of a fumble to send Griesby around end for ten yards and the first score for Floydada. Conner took the skin through the writhers to make the tally seven. On the other hand Phillips took the ball and after a steady thirty-five march Smith took the ball over, but missed the try for conversion.

In the fourth period Floydada fumbled and Phillips scored a touchdown on the next play with a lateral pass and the fifty yard run to the goal.

Two long passes Hale to Griesby and plunges by Hart and Jeter sent Jeter over for one tally. Gaining the ball on downs on the Phillips twenty set up the plunge from the five by Jeter. Conner missed both points, one on a run and one a place kick.

The score ended 38 to 19, but more than that, more than the score, the Whirlwinds have learned that any team, no matter who, is made up of high school boys and not supermen as they had expected. The Winds lost the game but gained in experience, the thing that makes a good team better.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)

These are such lovely mornings. I like to go to the garden as soon as I get up and just look it over and just give thanks to a loving Father for His beautiful blessings. This Sunday morning I found my friend, the mocking bird, already there and I listened as he gave his thanks, looking at me from his perch on a dead limb near. His throat almost burst with the melody as he gave thanks for the purple-red poke berries, spread lavishly all around him on long slender stems.

There was a row of lettuce gone to seed which he particularly liked. He sang about this. A bite from an October peach tasting almost like a sweet wine, fat worms and red and black bugs, a dead limb, a pair of swift wings, all these he told me about, orange pyracantha berries stolen from the front door, tweaking the hair of a cat, his song poured fresh and sweet.

And as I came back in the house I realized I had heard a glorious song about summer and a promise that altho my friend was leaving for the sunny south, he would be back when the poke began pushing up, the lettuce stitches the brown dirt with green thread and the peach trees are like ladies dressed in pink silk perfumed and ready for spring.

"When we were children," Mrs. Emma Fullingim of Petersburg says with her nice smile, "Mamma was awfully scary. When we went anywhere in a wagon, she sat in the back with her feet hanging out, ready to get out if papa let the horses reins slack up and they acted as if they might run. Now mamma goes to Dallas to visit if any of us are going that way and comes home in a plane."

Well folks can change if they live eighty six years as Aunt Katie has done. Reading the old stories about thrift and saving things has had such an influence on my life that I save too much.

I recall how the boy saved a strong cord and won the arrow contest when his string broke. I save string till no one can find anything in the kitchen drawers for everything is wrapped in yards of string. No need to save bolts, these young farmers run over to town and get one before one could be found in a box of assorted odds and ends.

Mother and I touched our fingers to an "Alladin Lamp", perhaps just a door bell to others, but it let us into a treasure house of beautiful memories of days long gone by but these precious memories are not on paper, they are the beautiful things once some woman loved and treasured, and now in an antique shop. Milk glass as white as milk, milk glass as blue as a bit of sky, plates and teapots, cups and saucers with roses as fresh as today's gathering. Wouldn't be so bad to be sick if one could be served on such china! We caught the mellow light in the silver display, loved the little figurines that once were someone's delight. I wanted a blue tiny pitcher, then I chose a bottle with a cut glass stopper.

A wedgewood pitcher was hard to resist. Choosing and wanting and wishing. Going from one thing of beauty to another till at last Mrs. Allensworth of 16th Street, Lubbock, took us into her bedroom where a gorgeous French mirror made us gasp and opened a china cabinet of cut glass. How it sparkled and gleamed! Pitchers and bowls glasses and trays and salad plates, and the one I fell in love with and have kept in my heart as a precious dream was a tall, slender pitcher of honey-comb cut glass, the first of this I had ever seen. If it were mine, I say to myself, I would never need another thing to hug close to my heart in the way of what man has wrought with materials which a loving Father has placed here for our joy.

Mrs. F. C. Harmon spent the latter part of last week in Lubbock, visiting with her daughter, La Nell Harmon. Miss Harmon returned home with her mother on Saturday night and spent Sunday here.

Doris Vinson spent the week-end in South Plains visiting with friends.

We Face Tomorrow'

Sally Butler, president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, Inc., and also president of the International Federation, surveying the world tomorrow.

Challenges of the Future

(by Sally Butler)

Before we can face tomorrow it is necessary to review the accomplishments and achievements gained by women over the past years. What we have done in the past can be made to our future gains provided we look at the record.

Women may seem to have all the things for which business and professional women have been working twenty years; suffrage, freedom of action and the choice of occupation. It is true that we have these things but our main problem is to get on to them.

We will hold the privilege given us with suffrage only as we show ourselves able to measure up to the responsibilities of this suffrage. We must carry out our privilege of suffrage by exercising the full right of citizenship by regular voting support of needed legislation, of able leaders, many of whom can and should be women.

Training for Public Trust

Business and professional women realize that despite the number of years in which we have exercised the right to vote, the time is comparatively short when figured against the time our country took to become a nation of 48 states. Because we realize it is impossible to accomplish many things in a short time, we are willing to undergo training for office holding, to withstand criticism so that we can meet the test and work our way into the policy making posts.

Over the past years our Federation has developed and trained women to work together, to stand by one another, and to achieve new aims as a group. Our work tomorrow must continue to interest through constructive action business and professional women who as yet

One of Every 10 Farm Fire Costs A Person's Life

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 9—National observance of Fire Prevention week has brought out the startling fact that 100 farm fires occur in the United States each day, killing ten farmers.

The Texas A. and M. College Extension service is cooperating with the National Fire Protection association and the U. S. Department of agriculture, in an attempt to cut down this loss of life on farms in Texas, and is urging farm people to guard themselves and their farmsteads against fire.

What are the most dangerous causes of fires?

The careless smoker still is Public Enemy No. 1, on the strength of his smoking in bed and in the barn and discarding lighted cigarettes and matches. The thoughtless housewife ranks second on the list, by continuing to stack papers, magazines, old clothing, broken toys and discarded furniture away in the attic closets, basement, the barn and other buildings.

Dangerous storage of gasoline and kerosene, and the use of flammable cleaning fluids take a high toll of

All Ages Thrive on Purees

Home-canned purees are excellent items to have on hand in your pantry. They're nourishing foods for infants and everyone finds them delicious served up in cream soups and souffles. A puree may be made from green peas, asparagus, lima beans, or spinach, etc. Select fresh vegetables and prepare as for cooking. Steam until soft or cook in the smallest possible amount of water. Press through a fine sieve. Add boiling water, if necessary, to make the puree about the consistency of thick cream. Do not salt purees intended for infant feeding. Use one teaspoon salt to each quart of puree to be used by adults. Re-heat to boiling and pour into hot Ball jars. Process quart jars 60 minutes at 10 pounds pressure, half-pint jars 50 minutes at the same amount of pressure.

life and property.

Children playing with matches cause 26,000 fires annually.

Dirty and improperly operating lanterns are a big threat, as well as dust and cobwebs around motors, appliances and frayed electric cords.

The Extension service is asking farm people to remember this: that every tenth fire that breaks out on a farm results in a death.

Eddie Conner going Great Guns at WTC With Buffalo Team

CANYON—(Special)—Eddie Conner, former Floydada High School football star who is playing his first year on the West Texas State College team, tied with Charles Kitchens of Childress in the squad voting to select the most valuable players to the team in the Texas Tech game last week.

Although the Buffaloes lost that game, 21 to 13, they gained a lot of prestige. A great deal of the praise won by the Buffs was due to the stellar playing of Conner assisted by Johnny Cardinal, end, and Bruce Womack, guard, also former Floydada players. Duane Byars, of Lockney, is a regular in the line and has made the Buffaloes a prime hand.

Conner injured his left hand in the Tech game but is expected to play in the Buffs' next contest which will be played in Canyon Saturday night against the Texas Miners of El Paso.

This game will start at 8 p. m. and will be the first home game of the Buffaloes 1947 schedule.

Conner, a halfback, figures prominently in Coach Frank Kimbrough's offensive plans, and Eddie will see lots of action against the Muckers if his ailing hand permits.

The game will start at 8 p. m. Both reserved seat and general admission tickets are available for this contest.

Several Floydadians have made season reservations for the Buffaloes home season.

in the barrels ready for use. Prompt action in the first minute after a fire breaks out is much more valuable and less expensive than a great deal more effort put forth to extinguish a blaze that has taken hold.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property in the community is practically irreplaceable at this time, and the loss of just one little residence will serve to aggravate a bad housing situation, Rodgers points out.

City officials are stressing the need for cleaning alleys and premises of weeds, grass and rubbish. Weeds and unneeded grass right now is as dry as tinder. They constitute a menace to hundreds of homes in the community. Weeds and grass that are carefully raked and burned will not only reduce hazards but will as well save "runs" by the Fire department.

Plugs for Good Streets

City Fire Marshal Rodgers put in a plug for improved streets in discussion of the fire prevention and fire fighting problems of the community. Every street that is given an all-weather topping—whether clay and gravel or whatnot—reduces the fire hazard and adds a point in favor of a reduced fire insurance key rate, he pointed out indicating that many streets in the city represent a hazard to the property owner that he rarely counts in summing up his advantages. "If you can't get to a fire for the mud in the street or accumulation of debris in an alley, you don't have much chance of saving a man's house," said the Fire marshal.

Whirlwinds Bow To Black Hawks

The Floydada Whirlwinds fought gamely the first quarter Friday night allowing the Black Hawks only one score. Smith, a wheel horse all night, climaxed a long downfield drive by crashing across from the four yard line. Phillips led at the end of the first quarter 6-0.

The Whirlwinds, slacking up were repeatedly caught off guard in the second canto as the Phillips crew of oil riggers racked up three more touchdowns. A 65 yard punt return by McClellan ran the score to 12 - 0. The kick this time was good and Phillips led 13 - 0. Minutes later Smith circled around end and galloped to another six points caught his breath, and took an intercepted pass all the way to edge Phillips 25 - 0.

Returning fresh from the half, although a clipping penalty held them up for a minute or two, Phillips pushed another score across and then led 31 - 0. The conversion was wide.

A slashing tackle by Amburn resulted in a recovered fumble by Jarboe. Right here Jones, Hirt and Jeter, pushed goalward to set up the first Whirlwind tally by Grigsby on an end around. Conner's conversion was good. The third quarter ended with Phillips 31 - 7.

Early in the last period Sullivan slashed across for Phillips last score. The conversion was good and they led 38 - 7.

The Whirlwinds erupted late in the fourth quarter and scored two touchdowns in about 5 minutes with Jeter slashing across for both scores. This ended the scoring for the game and found, for the first time this year, Floydada on the short end of a 38 - 19 count.

To Ralls Friday Night
 Friday night Ralls entertains the Whirlwinds in Floydada's first conference tilt. Judging from Ralls' previous encounter with Levelland a team that beat Brownfield of district 1 AA, it should be a good game. Let's all be at Ralls to help the Whirlwinds in their first conference game.

WE SURVIVE

How are we poor students to struggle through the school day with all these conveniences we have to endure? What are we to do? How can we survive this cruel world without all these conveniences? We would even accept them. Other modern schools are why don't we?

We are abused! We are down-trodden! We have no reclining chairs. We have no cushions on our desks. After the battle of the lockers, cushions will make sleeping so much more enjoyable.

We are mistreated! We are under-estimated! We have no doormen to open the doors when we make our way to school. We have no servants to carry our books. We have no mirrors in the rooms; not even a box. We have no drinking fountains in each and every room. Amusement during the wearing of our uniforms should be attended to immediately.

At least, Child Labor should be obeyed in this school. Imagine making the poor, undernourished students carry heavy and burdensome corridors around. Something should be done! Such abuse of the students is unconstitutional!

We feel these major improvements would be a great aid in bolstering the morale of our students. Also, they would be more comfortable!

New Library Books Cover Wide Range

The library has received one hundred and fifty new books. They are being checked out now.

The new books cover a wide range: there are fiction, non-fiction, history, and English.

The reference books are all straightened out, so now the students can get their reference work done in a hurry.

The library staff is asking you, the student body, to help them take care of all these new books and the old books as well.

Field Trip

Twenty-four first year Ag boys made a field trip out to Douglas Hill's farm where the boys studied culling hens by observing the physical characteristics of the layers as compared with those of three-layers. The farm lay-out for study was studied and many of the boys saw their first broad tail Karakul sheep.

The apary was visited and Doug explained to the group how the bee is developed and handled, how the bees make cells for the raising of honey. Bettie, the 'Coop' and, was of interest to the group.

Selecting projects is the main theme this week and many of the boys have already chosen their projects.

The third year Ag boys have had seats from the rodeo grounds to the football field. A field trip for management and beef cat-management will be made Friday.

Reservations For Stock Show Trip

Hotel reservations have been secured for 20 boys who plan to attend the Fort Worth Fat Stock show on January 30 and 31. A deadline October 24, was set and no Ag. boy will be allowed to go with the Chapter unless he makes arrangements before that date, Mr. Barber said. A boy must be a future farmer to make the trip with the group.

JUNIOR BOX SUPPER

The Juniors had a box supper Tuesday night, September 30, at the Andrews Ward Gym. The benefits of this supper went to the junior queen, Christena Jones. Mr. Cogdill and Gene Jackson were the auctioneers.

The bidding was started with Mrs. Baker's take. The most outstanding bid, which brought the highest bid, was prepared by the junior queen. There were many beautiful boxes and all contained delicious food.

There was a nice crowd and every one enjoyed it. The box supper gave the Juniors a good start. We thank you all for coming. Yes, Juniors!

Candid Camera

The scene is a white house with a green top almost engulfed in snow. The wind blows swirling snow into a veil almost hiding the house now and then, again we see a pale light peering out into the semi-darkness. The time is 5:00 a. m.; the date February 1, 1930. Suddenly a great, white bird appears into the flurry of the storm. A few minutes later a hideous, inhuman, blood-curdling, pulse-stopping scream is heard bursting forth from the house, even above the blast of the storm. Yes, dear readers, R. Fred Conner was brought into the world that very morning: the place Eckert, Colorado.

Ah, but today we see quite a different effect taking place where-ever Fred goes. His humor, sunny personality, and sly mischievousness make him a welcome member of any group. Intelligence and very quick witted, Fred is admired by his classmates and liked by his teachers.

At the right guard position, Fred is a valuable member of the Whirlwind team. Proof of his ability is the fact that he acted as line captain in the Phillips game. Fred is not only active in football but also in other various school activities such as the "Sweet Sixteen", (a good tenor voice is an asset to anyone.)

Brown hair (previously very curly) in the current fashion, 5ft. 6 inches 140 lbs., interesting brown eyes

USED FAT HELPS PAINT

With an assist from "Young Guy," age 4 1/2, Mrs. Guy Reigler, Kew Garden Hills, N. Y., paints the picket fence in her backyard. Mrs. Reigler is conscientious in saving used cooking fat that helps make soap and electrical appliances as well as paint.

long eye lashes, distinguished features, broad shoulders, a "certain winging gait" and an optimistic personality make a good description of Fred.

Fred likes fried chicken, friendly people, the color brown, cherry pie (the kind that gets all over your face), women, football (best of all) and English. He enjoyed "Two Years Before the Mast" more than any other motion picture he's even seen, and Alan Ladd and Jeanne Crain are his favorite actor and actress respectively. Loafing is Fred's only hobby. June is his only pet. He loves to wear levis but he detests wearing a shirt. The best pastime Fred can think of as pleasurable is swimming and diving.

A girl 5 feet 4 inches, 120 lbs., "cute" brown hair (with a small amount of blonde, too), big lovely laughing, yet thoughtful, brown eyes with long, thick eyelashes, and a figure you dream about is Fred's idea of a perfect girl. She has a "sweet but always laughing and being mischievous" personality that it takes to enjoy being around.

Turnip greens and mushy squash head the list of dislikes in Fred's opinion. Flat tires, silly girls, maroon and white, (Tulia, Ralls, and Lockney's school colors), people who argue with him, and wind sprints in football practice, also, are listed in Fred's dislikes.

Yes, like all people, Fred has a secret desire (not too uncommon itself). It is for the Whirlwinds to have a second chance to beat Phillips at Regional. His greatest ambition is to drive a racer in the races at San Bernardino.

To start a perfect day, Fred would sleep until -- say -- 15:00. After a huge meal of trout, iced tea, and cherry pie, he'd go out to his private pool to practice diving until time to get out the big, white Mercury convertible with red leather upholstery to take June to Ciro's.

Here's luck to you, Fred. We like your way of getting things done.

Geography Has Bearing on Rate of Cancer Deaths

ST. LOUIS, Sept.—The cancer death rate is higher in the North than the South. It's higher where there are more doctors, but also higher where there are more telephones, or sewer pipes or what have you.

New Figures Given
Some of these challenging new figures on cancer death rates, their strange coincidences, and possible meanings were given in an interview today at the fourth international cancer research congress by

Dr. E. Culyer Hammond, director of the statistical research division of the American Cancer Society. Cancer in 1946 killed about 181,000 persons, and by 2,000 A. D.—unless some cure is found—will kill 324,000 annually. It is the second greatest killer, second only to heart and circulatory diseases, which also affect older people more. And the proportion of older persons is steadily increasing.

The low death rate states are all in the South. The rate is higher in the Northeastern states, the Northern Middle West and the Far West.

Has Fewer Old People
Why is the South lower? For one thing, the South has a lower percentage of older people. Dr. Hammond corrected the figures to eliminate size variables and drew a new map based on the rates that would occur in each state if they had the same composition of men and women, white or negro, according to age groups, as the nation as a whole has.

The southern states still were lowest. On this basis, Arkansas had the lowest rate, the District of Columbia the highest.

The states with the highest rates have the greatest proportion of cities and of wealth, of doctors, and of telephones, of automobiles. But they also have the lowest rates of infectious and parasitic diseases.

Differences in Diet
There are several suppositions which might possibly explain the differences, Dr. Hammond said.

One is differences in diet between various sections of the country. There is some experimental evidence to indicate that diet may be a factor in the development of cancer.

Texas has a low over-all death rate from cancer, but has a very high rate in skin cancer, usually non fatal since it can be caught early and effectively treated. New York state has one of the highest over-all death rates, but one of the lowest skin cancer rates. Can climate, and especially the amount of exposure to sun, be responsible?

The next thing, Dr. Hammond said, is to try to test these various possibilities. Studies of epidemics, including statistical figures, supplied clues leading to solution of such disease as malaria, yellow fever, and typhoid fever. Similar studies of cancer might likewise come up with some lead pointing the way toward solving some cancer riddles, Dr. Hammond said.

Pair Injured When Car Crashes on 70

Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Mixon, of Plainview, suffered bruises and cuts which were treated in Floydada Monday afternoon, when they crash into a culvert standard and a truck on Highway 70 one mile east of the Dougherty corner.

The car went out of control of the driver about 100 yards west of r side road, said H. D. Payne, who was driving the truck, in his report to the Highway department on the accident. He was turning into the side road to the left, Payne said with a load of butane fuel in a tank truck. The car hit the rear of his truck but damaged it only slightly. The car was practically demolished. Mrs. Mixon was treated for cuts and a wound in the scalp was sewed up.

Payne was driving the delivery tank truck of the Hickerson-Strickland Butane company. The accident happened about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The Mixon car was a 1947 Pontiac.

Rev. Gordon G. Voight, of Shreveport, Louisiana, left Monday returning to his home after a visit of several days with friends here.

Bob Snyder, of Hollywood, California, spent Sunday night here guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wester.

Homogenized Milk Added at Patton's

Roy Patton's dairy this week-end is adding facilities to their plant among others a homogenizer, which will make available homogenized milk from this popular supplier for the first time.

Several years ago, in the process of making constant betterments and enlargements Patton's added pasteurization, and in line with improving technique suggested by the State Department of Health has continued to make other changes and additions to keep in step with the times.

Roy Patton, owner of the dairy plant said last week that the threat of a milk shortage which looms larger in some communities most likely would be avoided here. Several of the better herds of the territory are suppliers of milk for the dairy.

PRECOOLING HELPS SAVE FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Fruit and vegetable refrigeration research has been revealing the importance of precooling, and of the various changes that occur if the products are not cooled, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Fundamental in the whole problem of transportation and storage of the products, according to W. T. Penzer of the Bureau of Plant Industry, Soils, and Agricultural Engineering is the fact that plants respire (or breathe). This is true of the fruits and vegetables, whatever parts of the plant they may be, that go to market—fruits, roots, buds, shoots, leaves, stems. All respire, and, as a rule, the warmer the temperature the higher the respiration rate and the faster deterioration.

Green vegetables, says Penzer, have high vital heat values and must be cooled quickly to prevent the yellowing that results from the breakdown of green coloring matter. Most of such vegetables kept at 60 degrees F. develop enough heat in 24 hours to raise their temperature—if none escaped—by as much as 30 degrees. But cooled to 32 degrees, they develop only about one-fifth as much vital heat as they do at 60 degrees. The principal changes brought about in fruits and vegetables through respiration are: Loss of sugar which is burned up and creates most of the temperature problems; changes in pectic substances in the cell walls of apples, pears and peaches which reduce firmness; and often conspicuous damage caused by molds and bacteria.

Precooling, according to the Bureau research men, may save on the cost of refrigeration. But it also saves greatly in sugar and quality. The sugar content is outstanding in fruits and in certain vegetables notably asparagus, peas and sweet corn. These lose sugar rapidly at temperatures from 60 to 85 degrees F. When the temperature of storage was increased from 32 to 50 degrees F. the increase in the burning up of sugar was 27.5 times for peas, 5.3 times for asparagus, and 3.9 times for corn.

The evidence on precooling was developed to improve commercial handling of the crops, but to it who grow and use fruits and vegetables, the experiments show that it pays to keep them cool or use them before respiration does its damage.

Sunday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Fugua were Mr. and Mrs. Armales Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Strickland, of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hunter and daughter Beverly Gav, of Plainview, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Geahlin, of Coldwater, Texas and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ashton, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dron and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fugua, of Floydada.

Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Sauerer returned Friday from a trip that took them to Washington, D. C. where they visited with their son Leslie Sauerer and wife. From Washington the two families went on a sight-seeing tour of New York City. The Sauerers visited other points of interest in Louisiana, Maryland, Delaware and Pennsylvania before returning home.

Mrs. William J. Rynkiewicz of Omaha, Nebraska, has been visiting her brother, Tom Hodge, and family, and her uncle, George W. Hodge, for the past three weeks. She will leave the latter part of the week for home.
