

IWA RAINER QUEEN "1" DAY

I was crowned Queen For a Day (a week). As so many people of our home town are wanting to know how one is elected Queen for a day, I will start with August 4 when I had the honor of being crowned Queen for a Day.

Tickets for the program are secured before the broadcast which usually takes two to ten weeks. You write your wish on one side of the ticket and tear it from the stub, holding the stub corresponding with the number on your wish which is taken at the door of entrance to the studio. All wishes are put into a big fish bowl. They are each read by Jack Bailey, Ford Pearson, and the staff before going on the air. Twenty ladies are picked by "wish" number and called to the stage, my number being 287 and the 17th lady called. Jack Bailey and Ford Pearson then selected four candidates for interview. The remaining sixteen women become the "grand counsel" and vote, eliminating two of the four candidates. Then the audience applause is registered by an electric meter which determines the Queen.

Wished for a Honeymoon
With knees clanking, heart beating as if punching a punching bag, and very weak, Jack Bailey read my wish before me which was a "honeymoon" and said, "You certainly are a deserving person." I gulped and said, "I think so." A check was put on his tab, my being the third candidate for "Queen for a Day."

I can not find words to express how I felt when Jack Bailey said, "I now crown thee Queen Iva, Queen For a Day." I was so weak and shaking so hard that the beautiful jeweled crown would hardly stay on, and I was so excited I wanted to cry aloud with joy, and my poor shaking hands couldn't make up their mind as to which one was going to hold the wand. Finally the four dozen red roses were shoved at me so that solved the problem as things had to be done in split seconds before going off the air.

A whole week of being queen for a day as a guest of the Queen for Day radio program was enjoyed by Mrs. Iva Rainer during August. Wishing for a "second honeymoon" Mrs. Rainer got just that and an out of this world round of entertainment for herself and her husband Norvill. The couple is pictured here while on the trip. Story written by Mrs. Rainer is in adjoining columns.

I was practically flown out of the studio with red crimson robe, crown, and roses to the limousine (by the host) awaiting me in front of the studio. I was driven around the block, up the alley, ushered through the halls, stairways, and rooms, and back to the throne, where I was crowned a few minutes before, for my photographing. During this time all the audience had left the studio.

Even check for Tips
Then I was told what my gifts were: sterling silver scepter, four dozen red roses, Joan Castle Crown pin, hat, gloves, suit, dress, nyions, girdle, shoes, Deltha pearls, Chen Yu kit, a years supply of Alka-Seltzer and Phillip Morris cigarettes, Queen's cake, photograph, Speed Queen washing machine, trip to San Francisco, and to Bob Campbell's White Sulphur Springs of St. Helena, California. Also a tipping check of $15.00.

Mrs. Lula Moore, my mother, was my guest for the day with luncheon at Nickodells. A trip through Stars homes and guest at "Mr. Blanding's Dream Home" where the picture was filmed. A trip to the "House of Westmore" where I received all the beauty works — hair cutting and styling, manicure, massage, and facial. They there presented me with a complete make up kit of their products.

Norvill and I began our "honeymoon" with dinner at "Don the Beach Combers" who is famous for his imported runs, West Indies and South Sea Island foods. The famous spot of Hollywood where the stars and celebrities dine with reservations. Then to the Ambassador Hotel at the Coconut Grove where we were guests of Shep Field's orchestra playing; featuring Frankie Laine as vocalist.

Reaching home Wednesday night, we found all the neighbors and friends seated on furniture and floor and standing for the cutting of the Queen's cake and coffee. What excitement!

Lovely Pheasant Dinner

Thursday, August 5, Norvill and I boarded the early Daylight for San Francisco to be met by whom? We did not know. Yes, the host and hostess greeted us at the station and we were taken to the Mark Hopkins hotel where a suite had been reserved. We had dinner at the famous "Amelia's." A lovely pheasant dinner was served to the four of us. Back to the Mark Hopkins hotel where we were guest of Xavier Cugat in the Peacock Court Ball room. There "The Eyes of Texas" was played in honor of Norvill and me.

Friday, August 6, we had breakfast in bed; in class, too! Then we were met by St. Helena's welcoming committee; Mrs. Bob Campbell, Harley Morrison, and Burns McGowan. We drove to St. Helena, located in Napa county and were greeted at the Springs with photographers, Bob Campbell, Rose Pellegrini, and various others.

Saturday we spent the day relaxing, swimming, mud and sulphur baths, massages, buffet supper by Rose Pellegrini, horse back riding, and an evening of bingo with all the guests of the springs. Excursion by Airplane Sunday we went on an airplane excursion over Calistoga, where natural geysers erupt, St. Helena, Napa Valley, and Colusa, returning by Santa Rosa, barbeque was held in our honor. Queen for a Day

 home of Mr. and Mrs. Burns Sunday evening.
 Monday, August 9, a party toured valley and, being a great wine party, we were guests of Berenger winery, where ten tunnels were packed over 100 years ago by those with eight years work at five cents a day and some rice. The lovely oak and bronze hand were of great interest in the afternoon a party of six drove through the red woods, pines, huge oaks, and mountains near by Robert Louis Stevenson's home where he wrote "Silverado Squadders" to Clear Lake. Here we spent two and a half hours on the water in a lovely custom made speed boat.

 Tuesday, August 10, was a big day. We were guests at Rotary luncheon, meeting business people and relaxing in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Morrison where women brought their children to see and hear about the Queen. I'm afraid I didn't quite meet the children's expectations as they expected to see some one like Cinderella or Alice in Wonderland. Tuesday night I was presented three lovely local grown orchids for the banquet and ball held by the Chamber of Commerce in our honor; there the crowning of the queen and king was done again by Charles Conatanti, President of the Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Bab Campbell, wife of the owner of White Sulphur Springs, the "Smorgasbord," and the famous "Steak House" of San Francisco.

Parade and More Tours
 Wednesday, August 11, Norvill and I were guests at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon and we were made honorary members of the St. Helena Chamber of Commerce. Then the parade was featured up and down main street, with police escorts. After the parade we were guests of the St. Helena Sanitarium and hospital and the Pacific Union college. We toured more beautiful country, lakes, and mountains, and of course, more pictures were taken. We had a very quiet dinner with three couples and got a good night's rest.

Thursday, August 12, we were driven back to San Francisco by Mr. and Mrs. Harley Morrison and Mrs. Bob Campbell. There we boarded the "Noon Daylight" for home and arrived Thursday night remembering the most wonderful time ever spent, beautiful country, and people with hospitality just like Texans.

Saturday, August 14, we were guests of David O. Selznick of the Selznick Studios, to see the special preview of "Mr. Blandings Builds his Dream House."

This climaxes the "high spots" of being Queen for a day which turned out to be "Queen for a Week." That week will never be forgotten by Norvill and me for it was a thrilling experience and only happens once in a life time. —Iva and Norvill Rainer.

Madman 'Taken' In Courageous Fray by Negro

Suffering a severe slash in his leg for his courage, J. T. Thompson, Roaring Springs negro, was the hero of the capture of a mad man on the carnival grounds near Roaring Springs early Saturday morning.

Sheriff John Stotts and Deputy Sheriff Ward Rattan were called about 2 a. m. to help subdue a "wild man" brandishing a hammer in one hand and an evil looking knife in the other. A group had gathered around the man who had his back to a canvas wall, warning anyone approaching him that he would use the hammer and knife.

Tall Negro 'Takes' Him

Deputy Sheriff Rattan and a carnival worker attempted to rope the man but he quickly cut their ropes as they tightened. Finally a tall, slim negro, standing in a group of on-lookers, said, "Do you want me to take him, Mr. John?" Sheriff Stotts assured him that he wanted the man "taken." The negro went straight to the insane man. At that instant the lights went out. Witnesses, many seeking cover, heard the negro say, "He is getting me." When the lights were returned, the man was prostrate with the negro in control. The wild man was quickly handcuffed and onlookers held him prone. Thompson had suffered a severe gash in his leg and was taken to Stanley clinic for treatment. The man was placed in jail, where Sheriff Stotts declares he is "raving mad," said the Matarador Tribune.

The carnival owner said the man was not a carnival worker at this time, but that he had worked for the show about 20 years before he was released. He is believed to have followed the carnival to Roaring Springs and arrived about the time the show was preparing to move.

CUB SCOUT NEWS

The B-29s met the Red Raiders, two teams of Pack 37 of the Cub Scouts, in a challenging battle of softball Sunday afternoon. There was to have been a tournament, but the out-of-town teams failed to show up, therefore the den chiefs chose sides and a very successful game took place. The B-29's final score was 14 winning over the Red Raiders 2.

In last week's Hesperian there was a list of scouts who had received awards. The name of Gary Don Carthel was omitted. He was awarded the Silver Arrow under the Bear pin and also the Lion pin.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Battey of Floydada and Mr. and Mrs. Shelly Cook of Amarillo returned Tuesday to their homes after several days of vacationing through New Mexico and Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Gros Lampe have recently moved from Keytesville, Missouri, to the home of Mrs. Lampe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Omar Parish.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Collins returned home last week from Leland, Mississippi, where they visited for a short time with their daughter, Mrs. Ernel Matthews and Mr. Matthews.

A Buffalo Going Into the Oil Business

PORT ARTHUR, TEXAS—Passing the camera like a black streak, this young buffalo bull charges from an unloading chute into grounds of the Gulf Oil refinery. He is one of six hison "employed" probably for the first time in oil industry history—to crop grass around tanks and pipelines. These one-time "kings of the prairie," along with 100 odd Brahma cattle, cows and horses, are being pastured for neighboring ranchers on refinery property, where they save many thousands of dollars in grass cutting bills. But they make risky charges for any but experienced cowhands like B. V. "Bart" Ownby, mounted.

The Deer Hunt

(Contributed Article)

The two men were slowly prodding the slightly timbered hills in central New Mexico trying to run into the trail of a fine, big buck they had seen the day before. While they were hunting, a white face bull which had gotten out of the herd came around the corner of a cedar thicket. Will stopped all of a sudden and said, "Here, Pal, look at this print in the mud. Is this the buck or the bull?"

"Neither," was the reply. "They're too small for either. It looks to me that the way they are staggering along, it is the print of a lost doe trying to get away from a brownie, and that is probably what it is. Here is the heavy print of a bear on the left of the trail. Maybe we can get him and the buck together if we hurry a little. Our buck has probably turned into a doe with her fawn. Maybe we can bear down on them."

Just a quarter of a mile ahead, sure enough there stood a fine, large doe with her front feet raised high over a half grown bear which she had already knocked unconscious. The tiny fawn was slowly partaking of his much delayed breakfast.

Does being on the ban list, the two men looked at each other, grinned slowly, and passed on. They knew that the buck they were looking for was close by taking in the sight with the satisfaction that his mate had already taken care of the danger that had threatened their offspring.

"Well," said Pal "That is taken care of without our help. Let's hasten to our bucks and get back to camp before the sun gets too hot for the long walk."

Taking a last long look at the dead bear, the doe licked the fawn on the shoulder, glared at the two men, and trotted down the trail to her mate. She knew the prey of the men with their guns, and she knew she had best go away from any more trouble with bears, men, and guns. Mrs. Deer was no fool at all. She had seen the same sight many times before and was well aware that guns were something she could not cope with, but with other beasts she could hold her own.

At this moment she heard the loud crack of a rifle, and she knew quite well that this was the inevitable fate of Mr. Buck. Sure enough, from out of the trees came the two men with the deer on a cedar limb between them. She sighed sorrowfully and withdrew quickly to the protection of the timber. The fawn followed slowly, not knowing why his mother was so unhappy, quite satisfied with his bountiful breakfast.

The two men looked at each other and then at the doe. Will grinned at Pal and said, "She was a fighting old gal, wasn't she?"

Pal grinned back saying, "Yes, and that is the last time she will be bothered by me. Tomorrow we will change camp and leave her to herself and her little one. Maybe she can find another buck after a short time. So help me God, this is my last deer hunt for several years."

MEAT-STUFFED TOMATOES MAKE GOOD MAIN COURSE

A stuffed tomato that serves as almost the whole first course of a summer meal would be a boon to homemakers in all climates. Reba Staggs, home economist, suggests that this is possible if the tomato is stuffed with a hearty, filling meat salad.

Diced cooked meat is an excellent base for the salad—you might use beef, veal, lamb, or fresh or smoked pork. Or you might dice some of the canned or ready-to-serve meats: canned pork or veal luncheon loaf, pickle-and-pimiento loaf, bologna, liver cheese, minced or cooked ham loaves and even diced frankfurters, for these come in the class of ready-to-serve meats.

To give the meat the spicy overtones of a salad, marinate it in French dressing in the refrigerator for about 2 hours before serving time. Drain, combine with diced celery and carrots, and mayonnaise to moisten, then fill a hollowed-out tomato. Serve with hot biscuits and jam, iced tea and a fruit bowl dessert for a perfect hot-weather meal.

KIDDIES' PARTY FUN FOR SOME AFTERNOON SOON

A party for the kiddies some afternoon soon will be almost as much fun for you as it is for the youngsters. Plan it late in the afternoon if you can, so it will come after nap time and include the evening meal—tiny stomachs can be upset by mid-afternoon refreshments.

Let your own children have a sense of helping, says Reba Staggs, home economist. Discuss the menu with them or encourage them to come into the kitchen while you prepare the food. And by all means let them assist you if they ask to, she adds.

Sandwiches are always popular with small fry. For instance, you might serve peanut butter and jelly sandwiches with chopped bacon added to the peanut butter—children love meat and it will make the meal more satisfying. For another filling, add chopped bacon to a combination of ground primes and carrots. Or combine chopped ready-to-serve meat or cooked ham with Philadelphia cream cheese. With the sandwiches serve milk or lemonade, carrot and celery sticks, and ice cream and cake.

Summer Peach Treat

Peach-upside-down cake is a perennial family favorite but it reaches new heights of flavor and popularity when fresh peaches form the golden fruit topping. So for a perfect summer treat let's serve fresh peach shortcake with a snowy crown of fluffy whipped cream.

The basis for the upside-down cake must equal the perfection of the sun-ripened peaches, so select the cake ingredients with care. A good tested recipe, the finest of ingredients and following instructions exactly will give you the velvety-textured cake you desire and your friends envy.

PEACH UPSIDE-DOWN-CAKE
Yield: 6 to 8 servings

1/4 cup Swift's margarine	1/2 cup milk (about)
2 cups sifted flour	1/4 cup butter
3 teaspoons double acting baking powder	1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt	1/2 teaspoon almond extract
2 tablespoons sugar	2 to 3 cups sliced peaches
1 egg	Whipped cream

Cut Swift's margarine into flour which has been sifted with baking powder, salt and sugar, until the mixture is the consistency of corn-meal. Make a well in mixture. Put egg into measuring cup. Add enough milk to measure three-fourths cup. Stir together. Add to flour mixture to form a soft dough. Turn onto lightly floured board. Knead six times. Roll out to form an 8-inch square. Cut several gashes in dough.

In a heavy skillet, combine butter, sugar, and almond flavoring. Cook until sugar is melted, stirring constantly. Pour into 8-inch square baking pan. Lay peach slices over sirup in pan. Top with biscuit layer. Bake in a hot oven (450° F.) 25 minutes or until biscuit topping is well baked. Turn upside-down out of pan onto serving platter. Serve warm or cold with whipped cream.

his determination to play can't be overlooked. There are a pair of promising quarterbacks, having it out for starting jobs. Bob Finley, a junior letterman, is a little heavier and may get the call, though he will have to hustle if he beats out 135-pound Bobby Bishop, a senior letterman.

Although none were in use in 1941, by 1947 there were 10,000 self-propelled combines in operation on American farms. These combines were one of the many innovations during war years that have made the farm a major factor in today's ever growing use of oil.

There are 15,000,000 farm implements operated by the more than three million tractors now in use in American agriculture. Each tractor on the average runs five tools, one of the reasons for the ever-increasing use of oil.

Don Boothe, 140, a senior letterman has been running at left guard with Johnny Lloyd, 140-pound sophomore handling the right guard spot. The pivot is Aubrey Guthrie, 140, a hustling sophomore.

The Floydada line will average 150 pounds with the backfield weighing in at 162 per player. The Whirlwinds will be stocked with approximately 20 players of enough ability to break into the lineup occasionally, most of them freshmen and sophomores with a sprinkling of juniors. Gresham, frankly, is building for 1949, and some of the youngsters appear to be great prospects.

The Whirlwinds have tough early-season games with Stalon, Tulla and Phillips in that order before they tackle their always rugged District 3-A campaign. It's a pretty well-balanced club needing only a dynamo to produce a hot spark in the clutch. If Gresham comes up with him, things will look pretty bright in Floyd County.

JUDGE SIRE BY THE SON

The ability of beef or dual purpose bulls to transmit such characters as rate and efficiency of gain to their steer offspring is an important factor in selecting a herd sire, says W. H. Black of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who is in charge of Beef and Dual Purpose Cattle Investigations for the Bureau of Animal Industry.

"In fact a bull whose calves have the ability to gain rapidly may not be the one that makes the best appearance in the show ring," Mr. Black explains. "On the other hand the bull that wins top honors in the show ring may prove to be a costly herd sire when judged by the slaughter weights of his steer calves." In a recent study of gains made by the progeny of several bulls owned by the Bureau, the steer calves by one bull reached market weight of 900 pounds more than 3 months sooner than another bull's calves handled under the same conditions. Not only was this a saving of feed but the faster gaining calves reached the market before the heavy fall run of cattle from the range area.

Mrs. George Mize is spending this week visiting in Canyon with her mother, Mrs. W. N. Garrett, and in Amarillo with friends.

Ordinarily a Class A football coach would have two boys of that size who were good enough to play only about once in his lifetime, but this Lockney squad is an amazing one. On the second string is a runty tackle, only a freshman, but he weighs 247. He is W. L. Rowell, never has played football before but he's hard to move and is quite a prospect.

The Lockney football team in 1947 was the darkest horse to hoof across the Panhandle pigskin sky. It came from nowhere to finish in a tie for the district championship. Curtis Kelley, a Lockney boy and a former West Texas State athlete, superintended the renaissance. To begin with he had a group of boys who had won only one game in two seasons. Under Kelley's coaching they won 7 out of 9 with a lineup that consisted of only one senior.

Not all of them are back, though. Ineligibilities, the eight-semester rule and sundry circumstances over which Kelley had no control robbed him of at least five football players on whom he had counted this year. Yet there's plenty of material for a winner. Operating at left end will be one of the better wingmen in the Panhandle—Calvin Pyle. He weighs 170 and is fast and can palm the ball like a baseball outfielder.

Robert Huckabee, the left tackle, weighs 170, lettered, and is a rangy youngster. Donnie Bybee, center and co-captain, will be playing his fourth season at that position. He's tall and weighs 165 pounds. Charles Hammit, the right guard, is the only newcomer in the forward wall. He weighs 160. Joe Keeter, the right end, is a 160 pounder and played regularly a year ago.

There is only one returnee regular in the backfield, Wingman Jimmy McGowan, senior co-captain. He weighs 160. Figured for starting jobs are Jack Cole, 155, junior tailback, Jerry McCulloch, 165-pound junior fullback, playing his first year, and DeJuan Strickland, 14-year old 160-pound junior, at the blocking back post. Cole looks like a capable passer in workouts and is a cool-headed operator. He had some experience at Kress two years ago, but was ineligible at Lockney last season.

Kelley is being assisted by Metz LaFollette, former football and basketball star at West Texas State, and Robert Foote, who was basketball back at University of Oklahoma during the war.

There's one big stumbling block in the way of Lockney—a schedule snarl. The Longhorns have five of their seven conference games on foreign grids, which is almost suicide in this district.

The club is blessed with fair reserve strength but could use more backfield speed. The keynote of the Lockney attack will be power slashes mixed with a tricky passing attack.

The Longhorns gained at Trinidad, Colorado, and did well in scrimmages with Denver City of District 5-A. The team got in enough heavy work at camp that Kelley hasn't pushed his youngsters too hard since returning to Lockney.

That Longhorn line will aggregate 1,335 pounds for an average of 191. That's five pounds per player heavier than the beefy Shamrock Irish average of 186 pounds.

When you have a schoolboy backfield in which the lightest performer weighs 155 pounds, things should look bright. The team average is 185.

If the Longhorn backs come through, the team that wins the District 3-A title will have to see

SUGAR PLANT SALVAGE

Salvage of one of the most valuable collections of sugar plant breeding material in the world from damage by two hurricanes last fall won a Superior Award unit citation for employees of the United States Sugar Plant Field Station at Canal Point, Fla. Potential value of the sugarcane breeding material which has been collected in the tropical belt and other areas during the past 30 years is reckoned in millions. It is the U. S. Department of Agriculture nursery from which parent stock for most of the improved hybrid commercial varieties of sugarcane has come in recent years. Much of it could not be replaced.

The cane plants in a 20-acre field near Lake Okechobee were flattened by the first hurricane and then flooded when another storm breached the dike holding the lake waters. The second hurricane also uprooted about 100 trees which fell on the prostate cane. Although it involved many hazards and required the most careful planning, underwater salvage by teams of men working from boats offered the only practical method of retrieving the cane plants from the chaotic tangle in the deep water. So efficiently was this difficult and disagreeable task carried out by Maj. Bascom A. Belcher and his eight assistants that more than 95 percent of this stock of valuable cane varieties was saved.

Lockney. Win or lose, Lockney is large enough to play any schoolboy team in the state.

Home-grown Tomatoes: At last home-grown tomatoes are showing up on the home market. Having to eat the synthetic type of tomato you get from way south and way east and from a certain other state where cactus are said to grow,—having to eat these for weeks and months during the winter and spring sorter dulls your appetite for tomatoes until one September morn you get one from Floyd county! Then does your ear prick up, your taste buds quicken, your interest in life become keen again! Ah, my! Good old Floyd county and her tomatoes and all the other things Floyd county is best at. Makes you wonder why people ever, ever do move away.

Just so much malarkey: We have never known for sure what it meant when you spoke of something as malarkey. But, speaking of tomatoes, the kind that really have the zest and the horsepower and where they are grown to greater perfection, reminds us of the fact of life as regards Elberta peaches. Except for certain portions of Oklahoma and Arkansas and a few counties in central Texas, there are no really perfect Elbertas grown anywhere in the nation, west of the Mississippi, equal to those grown in the deep, deep sand of good old East Texas. And the best way to eat them is to pull them off the tree just after they are exactly ripe enough—not before, not over 48 hours after. This is the main reason, if you'll probe an East Texan's inner consciousness, why a fellow from Titus or Van Zandt or some of those other counties never really get over it. An Elberta just right is fit only for the gods and the sons of men who have tasted. The others who think well of peaches from the mountains, peaches from this place and that, are well-meaning people, of course. This is about as much as a real East Texan can say for them and their taste.

Glad It Tallied: It would have been nice if somebody's county had come in with an official report to give old Coke Stevenson a good, substantial lead over that young Austin lawyer whatever his name is for the United States Senate. However, we are most glad there was no change in Floyd county from the unofficial report when the official one went into the state committee. It would be a sight on earth to be dug around from this place to that and having the lawyers making you out a low-brow scoundrel that had no intention of doing the right thing in the first place. And especially if some of these $4 a day election holders had to have something of the kind to do. Sure would be easy to get some help two years from now if they were choused about like that!

Keep Your Friends: Continuing along election lines, we suggest that in the probable bitterness of the next few months over the U. S. Senatorial matter, you keep in mind that after the affair is all settled you may need still some friends, folks you'd like to like you, people you'd like to be able to ask to help you get things done. If you are keenly partisan and sure you are right and can't be wrong, if you are sure you won't need any friends, sure you won't ever want them to feel kindly toward you again, sure your digestion is good and has nothing to do with the things you are about to say, just have at it. Otherwise, remember that while the mills of the gods grind slowly they grind exceedingly fine. Twenty, even thirty years hence, a broken link in a long friendship may cause you to toss in bed when you ought to be sleeping. Something your blasted mouth said when you were talking might as effectively have been your ears listening. What we mean is the courts will grind it out. Somebody will win. Somebody will lose. Not being a principal in the case you can be a loser and still be a winner.

No Doubt About It: In any county, in any election, in any state, there are some irregularities in the voting. We mean if there is really no intent. We mean there will just be enough coincidental errors creep in that in most any box you pick up there will be an illegal ballot or so, or something else wrong that will make a bit of a change. It could be so, we know, in Floyd county, and the others need not tell us it is any different in their bailiwicks. But for deeply fair, substantial voting and recording of the vote you won't find anything particularly wrong in this part of the world. That kind of people are not presiding at the elections in Floyd county.

From the Scott City, Kan., News-Chronicle:

A current issue of the Lions club bulletin included this quib:

WE HAVE OFTEN THOUGHT—
That women are like newspapers:
They both have forms.
They always have the last word.
Back numbers are not in demand.
They are well worth looking over.
They have a great deal of influence.
They carry the news wherever they go.
Every man should have one of his own and not borrow his neighbor's.

Officials Favored in Jury Verdict on Road Bond Issue

CROSBYTON, September — The jury in the district court case Andy Wooten vs. Crosby county and others, Monday returned a verdict favoring the county.

The question presented to the jury by the judge, special issue No. 1: "Do you find a preponderance of the evidence that on or prior to the entry of the order dated May 1, 1948 defendants, the Commissioners Court and County Judge of Crosby county, Texas, failed to hear any evidence that the construction of the road as proposed, would be a benefit to all the taxable property within the road district No. 1?" The answer was No.

A bond election was called by the commissioners court on June 5, 1948. The issue called for the construction of 16½ miles of road and the issuance of $132,000 in bonds. The issue carried in the district by a vote of 214 for the bond issue to 74 against. A two-thirds majority was necessary to approve the election.

Unsolved Reaper Mystery

This 74-year-old Triumph reaper was found recently in a New York state barn in its original shipping crate. It had never been used. Efforts to learn why it was left unpacked for almost three-quarters of a century have so far uncovered no clues. This reaper shown above in comparison with a present day combine was exhibited at the Ford Tractor and Dearborn implement press demonstration held at Deer Lake Hills Farm, Clarkston, Michigan, by Dearborn Motors Corp., Detroit.

Continual Check Aids Prevention of School Fires

AUSTIN, Aug.—Fire prevention will be more of a responsibility for school authorities who already feel akin to the old woman in the shoe, predicts Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner.

With most cities and towns reporting expected increased enrollments, fire hazards become more frequent in Texas public schools. Crowded conditions present more of an exit and panic hazard in case of fire and also more effort in teaching fire prevention and performing good fire drills.

"Before schools open, buildings should be checked thoroughly and if any fire hazards are found, they should be corrected before children enter school," Hall strongly recommended.

"Such things as adequate exits and fire escapes, fire doors, flawless heating and lighting systems, are the best insurance against a fire and the loss of life hazard in case of a fire in school," he said.

Since there have been 26 school fires in Texas from January through July of this year, which caused a loss of $128,000.00, he suggested that inspection be made once each month by a representative of the local fire department so that a continual check can be kept throughout the school year.

"There will be no expense to this type of survey," Commissioner Hall stated, "and although good housekeeping is of prime importance in the prevention of school fires, all too often teachers themselves are not qualified or do not have the time to inspect a building for fire hazards. Local firemen, trained in this type of work, will conduct inspections upon request."

American Milking Shorthorn Society Establishes Independent Registry

The American Milking Shorthorn Society has recently set up its own independent registry office for Milking Shorthorn cattle. This was done upon the unanimous vote of the member breeders and, according to Secretary W. J. Hardy, because this branch of the Shorthorn breed had made such rapid growth in the past decade that it was felt to be in the best interests of the members to record and promote their cattle under independent direction.

This branch of the Shorthorn breed should not be confused with the Beef Type Shorthorn, although formerly all the registration work had been handled by the American Shorthorn Breeders' association.

The new organization makes its debut with 8,000 member breeders who are highly enthused and full of plans for the future promotion of their chosen breed.

Mr. Keith King is the president—an active breeder who resides at Victoria, Ill. King also is one of the inspectors on selection of cattle for the forthcoming National Breed Show and Sale at Dallas, Tex., Oct. 18 and 19. This is perhaps the biggest feature among the many plans for promotion and is unique in the fact that it will be a show of "State Herds," something no other cattle breed has ever done. The first show of its kind was held at Kansas City last year and was highly successful.

In the picture is President King (in dark suit) looking over a likely prospect for the national event where these dual-purpose cattle will be showing for $5,000 in premiums and which, after the showing, the best animals will be selected and sold at auction. The first annual meeting of the society will be held at this time also and more than 1,000 members and delegates are expected to be present.

Offices of the American Milking Shorthorn Society are located at 4122 S. Union Ave., Chicago 9, Ill.

Committee in Report

This year the number will probably exceed the 500 total districts eliminated last year.

Faults that have been listed by the people of the present set-up in the administrative units include:

1. Too many very small districts.
2. Too many high schools which do not have pupils enough to justify a varied curriculum.
3. Transportation routes are not well mapped out and the systems are not carefully supervised.
4. Too many small classes in small and middle-sized high schools make the cost entirely too great.

According to the Citizens' Advisory committee, there is no general law permitting countywide consolidation of districts. A special law exists which applies to counties of certain sizes. A general permissive law for all counties has been suggested to the Gilmer-Aiken committee.

The Gilmer-Aiken committee has not made any proposals to the people of Texas. Such proposals will be made only after careful study.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Burgett and family, of Lamesa, were here Saturday to Monday visiting relatives, including his brother, R. N. Burgett.

Mid-West Holds Wool Appraisals

Midwest Wool Marketing Cooperative last week held a series of appraisals in its Kansas City and St. Louis warehouses, offering some one and a quarter million pounds of wools for sale on an appraisal basis to the Commodity Credit Corporation under the Wool Price Support Program.

These are wools shipped by growers and to which the growers hold the beneficial interest based on these sales. The wools are from the states of Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Arkansas and the Panhandle of Texas, which is the operating territory of Midwest.

Wool Attractively Displayed

The grading floors of Midwest were arranged with the view to best displaying the wools by large piles well arranged to permit complete inspection. The wools have been carefully prepared and graded with the view to securing the maximum returns to growers under the Support Price Program. The Appraisal Committee of the C. C. C. inspected and appraised fleeces from all the piles and as the wools were all graded exactly to proper specifications the top prices were granted for each grade. This makes the fourth year in a row under the Support Price Program in which Midwest has had none of its grades rejected by the C. C. C.

Large Pool Involved

These wools were part of a large pool handled by Midwest this year. Other wools in the same pool will be sold on the free market, especially those of fine and 1/2 blood grades. Frank C. Rice, general manager of Midwest reports that it is expected sales will progress to permit final settlement on this pool to be made toward year end. Prices of medium wools are somewhat higher this year.

Mr. Rice reports fine wool on the free market have shown a rather substantial increase. Last year the best type fleece fine went to the C. C. C. at about $1.25 clean basis, this year the current market being about $1.60.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Carmack and sons spent last week at Red River and other mountain points in New Mexico.

Buffalo Campaign Begins Sat. Night Against Flagstaff

CANYON, Sept. 6—Coach Frank Kimbrough will herd his West Texas State College Buffaloes into the Border Conference football season Saturday night, September 11. The Flagstaff, Arizona, State College Lumberjacks will be the opponents. The game will start promptly at 8 p. m. under the new lights in Buffalo stadium.

Coach Kimbrough and Odie Crowell, his line coach, predict the Buffaloes will be ready for the Lumberjacks, but will not be near the point of perfection the coaches would prefer.

Kimbrough said his squad of 41 candidates has a great team spirit. With only nine days of practice behind them, the Buffs will not have a wide variety of plays for the opening game. To, they naturally are going to save something for the Texas Tech game in Lubbock on September 18.

Panhandle fans will see the famed Double C combination of Sophomores Bill Cross and Eddie Conner, halfbacks, in plays with no punches pulled. Cross is the Canadian lad who was a sensation in 1947 as a freshman. Conner, the Kid from Floydada, also starred last year as a freshman. Kimbrough is building a tricky set of plays built around these two carriers, Cloyce Box, big long-passing quarterback, and Lloyd Johnson, Wheeler, at full-back.

Sadler's Big Tent Destroyed by Fire

Fire destroyed the tent and all stage equipment of the Harley Sadler tent show at Littlefield Tuesday night of last week.

The blaze was believed to have started from a cigarette. It took only 20 minutes for the "big top" to go up in a puff of smoke. Several hundred chairs were saved by the Littlefield Fire department.

Sadler was presenting the McKennon stage show in a three-day schedule stand. No immediate estimate was made of the value of equipment lost but an official of the show said it probably would run more than $20,000.

President Coolidge commuted the federal sentence of Gerald Chapman so that he might be hanged for a state offense.

Lt. Jones and Family Home From Germany

Lt. James Jones, his wife and four children, arrived in Floydada the first of the week from occupied Germany where Lt. Jones has been in the service of the Army Air Corps for the past two and a half years, and where he was joined by Mrs. Jones and their four children 18 months ago.

Lt. Jones is home for re-assignment after two and a half years of foreign service. They have been making their home at Erding, which is near Munich.

James has been getting in all the flying time he needed, he said yesterday. He has been one of the pilots flying supplies into Berlin and recently had the interesting experience of a flight to Palestine. He has been handling a C-47.

One of the problems of an army family is getting their effects from one point to another when their assignments shift. The Jones family left Germany by plane Thursday morning of last week. They were in the states Friday morning and on into Floydada the first of this week. They brought with them 65 pounds of personal effects for each member of the family. The remainder is to reach them here when it gets here by boat. "No telling when that will be" said James.

They liked their situation in Germany well enough, the young army man said. He can be at home as long as 30 days, but expects to take any new assignment as quickly as it is received so he can save some leave time for Christmas holidays.

CHAPLAINS WHO MADE SUPREME SACRIFICE—in the annals of the United States Army there is no record of greater personal heroism than that of the courage of four young chaplains who gave their lives to other men on a sinking troop transport and bravely went down with the ship. It was on February 3, 1943, when the USS Dorchester was torpedoed off the coast of Greenland. They have since been awarded posthumously the Distinguished Service Cross and a memorial postage stamp was issued in their honor. Above, left to right, they are George L. Fox, Methodist; John P. Steak Broiling a Simple Art, Indoors or Out

There is an art to broiling steaks, both indoors and out—and that art is simplicity itself. A few words on behalf of those steaks you include occasionally in your menus are offered by Reba Staggs, well-known food authority.

Indoors, steaks are most frequently prepared in the broiler. If you have no broiler, it may be welcome news to you that you can panbroil a steak just as successfully in a heavy frying pan. If you are planning to broil steaks outdoors, you can arrange a grate over an open fire, cook each steak individually with picnic racks, forks or sticks, or use a charcoal broiler.

First of all, the problem of which of the many different kinds of steak to buy often arises. If you intend to broil the steak whole on your broiler or over charcoal, then carve and serve it with a flourish, the porterhouse or T-bone steak should be your choice. Remember that these steaks can be cut to any thickness you desire, and that you should allow one-fourth to one-third of pound of meat per person. If you want individual steaks for broiling indoors or out, club or rib steaks are the best buy. And if you want larger steaks, to cut into individual serving portions before cooking, select sirloin steak or top round from good grade beef.

In any of the cooking methods, the rule is: take it slow and easy. Use very low heat, brown the meat first on one side and then the other, turning only once, and the steaks should be done to perfection. If you are cooking your steaks indoors, the temperature can be controlled by placing the meat about 2 or 3 inches from the heat. In pan broiling the temperature can be controlled by adjusting the heat.

Outdoors, low heat is just as easily achieved. If you are cooking the steaks over a fire on a grate or with broiling racks, a fork or even a stick, wait until the flames turn to coals. The effect is the same as with low indoor heat. With charcoal broiling, the heat is always low, for the charcoal burns as coals.

That famous "charcoal-broiled" flavor is a result. So keep the heat low, whether indoors or out, and your steaks will be tender form the surface right on through, whether they are rare, medium, or well-done, says Miss Staggs.

Endurance Is Challenge Rotarians

A modern-day challenge that asks, as members of a world-service organization, must act in terms of good understanding is "Live to understand or die." Our responsibility is not so much to try to get our fellows to understand us, but to try most earnestly to understand them.

It was the message of Dr. Ira Woods, Governor of District 127 of the International, in addressing the Floydada Rotary Club on an annual visit. He addressed a luncheon meeting of the club following a meeting with Club officers, committee chairmen, and one of its principal members "to encourage and foster mutual understanding through the fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service. Rotary promotes a common ground for the men of the world, regardless of creed.

color or government under which they live, to promote and nurture understanding," the District Governor emphasized.

He said that Rotary's objective of international good will predates a provision of the United Nations charter in virtually the same language, and that at the San Francisco Conference the leaders included seven Rotarians as well as 39 members of the service club on the staff of consultants.

Indorsing the United Nations program, Dr. Woods declared, "Even if the United Nations Groups meet only to disagree, they still meet and that is a step which holds hope. Surely, no nation will risk its all to fight the world. The United Nations serves as that check."

Crop Country People's Way; Gifts-in-Kind

Governor Beauford H. Jester by proclamation is urging Texans to give gifts-in-kind "from the bounty of your fields and the fullness of your hearts" to Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP) which began September 1, and will continue in operation until every interested citizen of Texas has had full opportunity to take part in it.

CROP is an organization sponsored by all the church denominations, agricultural associations and other interested groups for the purpose of accepting and receiving gifts-in-kind such as cotton, corn, rice, peanuts and other farm products, for overseas shipment to the starving peoples of the war-torn countries.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)

Once more we have had our feet under my sister's well-set table at Bushland and we enjoyed the things of our youth as well as the happenings of the present, Mr. Spikes and I went up for the wedding of George Hill and Mary Jean Burkhalter. It was such a pretty wedding and as we talked we reviewed the Saturday night scenes. The altar was backed by woodwardia trees and flanked by baskets of white gladioli and seven-branched candelabra. Candles tied with fern and white satin bows marked the processional aisle and completed the decorative setting.

It was such a happy wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Josey, organist and violinist played beautiful music and R. A. Swenson sang such tender songs of love and sweet promises.

Pat and David Hill, Edna's grandchildren four and six, marched down the aisle and took their seats with other relatives. Edna and Carl came in—Edna so pretty in black dinner dress and Carl in white coat and dark trousers and we waited with eagerness for the wedding procession. George Hill came in with his brother Carl, then the five bridesmaids came down the aisle wearing aqua taffeta Empire style dresses. They carried American beauty roses tied with same color ribbons.

We did not need to hear the strains of the wedding march to know that Mary Jean was coming toward the altar where she and George would pledge their vows.

Delighting in an afternoon picnic snack on the lawn of the Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children in Dallas, these young patients enjoy recreation and companionship while undergoing corrective treatment.

Three of these girls are recovering from the devastating effects of polio at the Scottish Rite Hospital, the remedial center of Texas for that dread disease. George's face lit up like a candle and the smile broadened on his face as the lovely bride in white lace came nearer. We all smiled in sympathy and no tears marred the happy occasion.

At the reception the wedding cake was as good as it looked and the three tall tiers were soon gone as guests talked and laughed and admired the handsome gifts in the Burkhalter home. Gone are the three long hard years George served his country as a lieutenant in the infantry. We pray that a happy, peaceful future will be the lot of this fine young couple.

Edna and I had lunch with Miss Laura V. Hammer in the Herring hotel and I was delighted and thrilled! For many years she and Edna have been friends and this was my first visit with this distinguished author of several books and well known for her fine radio program "Light and Hitch", with early day folks and happenings. I like her happy laugh and her love for our beautiful land. Fine paintings hang on her wall and I am sure each one has a history and shows some one's admiration for the magnificent work she has done for gathering up and setting down in writings pioneer history, especially the Panhandle which she loves so well. Thank you Miss Hammer for a very lovely day.

We were very pleased and flattered that Lewis Nordyke came out of seclusion to give us some time for a nice visit with himself and his family. Mrs. Nordyke was as gracious and fascinating as she has always been. Nan has grown and is so very pretty and so is Trilla. They are both sweet and I love to hear them call me, "Aunt Nellie". Nan is a good cook. You should have had a chance at those good chocolate chip cookies which melted in your mouth and especially baked for friends! My, oh my! Lewis took Mr. Spikes and I to visit in his new room in the back yard which he uses for writing. We were carried back to years long gone as he played tunes on the graphophone with the morning glory horn. How dear and sweet were the days when these records were first heard, and the days are still dear and sweet as friends and kin are so loving and kind. I liked the old black dinner pot which was now clean of soot and holding waste paper instead of a "biled dinner". Mr. Spikes admired especially the typewriter which will bring forth stories for the many magazines. Lewis works with the lawn mower, too, as the velvet lawn shows and Mrs. Nordyke also has a hand in the beauty of the yard with a handsome magnolia tree and red-bud. Only a couple of hours or so as the clock runs, but the hours will run on and on in our lives giving us joy as we recall each happy moment spent in the Nordyke home.

We visited with Lowell and Ida, Joe and Mary, Carl and Edna. My two brothers, Joe and Lowell and our sister, Edna. We spent the night with Irene and John Conley and their daughter, Judy. Each home a joy and a great pleasure to visit. We spent a night in the home of Lorenza and Idegert Wirt in Canyon which we enjoyed very much. You will recall she was a Dale girl at old Edacado.

We decided to go to the Palo Duro park and was I tired? My arms ached from the turning of the steering wheel as we went around curves and up and down the hills, across the creek seven times and back up the long, long hill to the top. The scenery was magnificent and we were awed at the sight. I hope to go again when someone else is at the wheel and I can look and look.

A new twist on the old story about the coldness of Amarillo! We were in the desert coming the southern route from California. "It is hot," we said to the man at the station.

"Only about one hundred and twenty" he said. "But I tell you," he said, "the hottest I ever got was in the town of Amarillo, Texas. I liked to of died with heat."

Somewhere between Ralls and Amarillo we crossed the Johnson and Stevenson line. Friends had patted us on the back and said you are just right, when we talked for Lyndon before we left home. Friends on the other side of the line looked at us when we did not hold up for Coke with unbelief in their eyes as if to say, why I just thought you wouldn't have done it.

Better not go a visitin' at election time.

Gold Band Ring Passed From Finger of President J. A. Hill After 30 Years As Head of West Texas State College

When the late R. B. Cousins retired as the first president of West Texas State, he placed a gold ring on the finger of his successor, Dr. J. A. Hill. This ring was passed on July 5, 1948, by Dr. Hill to Dr. James P. Cornette, who assumes the duties of President on Sept. 1. The ring, explained Dr. Hill, is symbolic of "solid merit in the institution." Citizens of the Panhandle paid tribute to Dr. Hill in this meeting.
