Doyle Called As Pastor To Portales, N.M.

Rev. L. A. Doyle, who has been pastor of the First Baptist church of Floydada since 1941, has accepted the pastorate of the First Baptist church at Portales, New Mexico, and will take up his work there next week.

The minister, who has pastored the community's largest congregation for eight years, gave the church his resignation last Sunday and said he would begin work in the new field next week. He and his family will move shortly after Sunday, when he will preach his farewell sermons to the Floydada church as their pastor.

Rev. Doyle came to Floydada from the Anson, Texas, church. Along with the membership, he has given much of his time to the construction and completion of an outstanding church auditorium at the intersection of Main and Kentucky streets. Recent dedication ceremonies celebrated the completion of the auditorium and bible school basement as an addition to the education department which had been used for all purposes of the congregation for more than 15 years.

Rev. Doyle had been one of the prime movers in the location of the district camp grounds south of Floydada in the Red River canyon the past two years.

This week Rev. Doyle said he had greatly enjoyed his work in Floydada. "It is a fine town with a great people and hard to leave," he said.

Rev. Doyle is spending a brief time in Portales this mid-week but will return to preach here Sunday, following which the family will begin the job immediately of locating on the new field. The family consists of Rev. and Mrs. Doyle and two sons, Bob and Don. Two other children are a son, Rev. L. A. Doyle, Jr., of Mineral Wells, preparing for departure for South America as a missionary, and a daughter, Mrs. Hal Lacy of Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Rites Mark Passing Of Thos. J. Gill

Funeral rites were held in the First Assembly of God church in Lubbock and burial in Floydada cemetery Sunday afternoon for Thos. J. Gill, 63, father of Mrs. Robin Fortenberry, of Cedar.

Mr. Gill, who had been ill for several months, died Friday at his home 1505 Twenty-first street in Lubbock.

Born in Red River county, November 6, 1883, Mr. Gill came to Floyd county about 1920 and had lived in this area continuously since. He moved to Lubbock from Floydada in 1935. He engaged in farming and business here and at Lubbock until three years ago when failing health forced him to retire.

Survivors include his widow, one son, Elvis Gill, of Henderson, Nevada; the daughter here, Mrs. Fortenberry; four brothers, D. W. Gill of Woodward, C. M. Gill of Lubbock, W. I. Gill of Ruidoso, New Mexico, Gus Gill of Leavenworth, Kansas; one sister, Mrs. Clay Beavers of Brownfield; and his stepmother, Mrs. T. W. Gill, of Lubbock. Five grandchildren also survive the deceased.

It Or Not, Its Soup D. Nelson, Station Operator, Hospitalized When Rim Blows

Nelson hit the side of the building rushed out of Cope's Drive In, showed the injured man in a car and rushed him to Peoples hospital for treatment.

At the present Nelson is taking it as easy as a hurt man can with a cut and bruised right hand, numerous stitches in the throat, and some seven or eight teeth that were knocked loose. At the time this reporter talked to Nelson he was finding more loose teeth every time he looked and hasn't yet determined the number, but he does know they are sore.

Who Now Recalls? Daughter Of J. L. Van Hook Seeks Memento

One of the daughters of J. L. Van Hook, who was a county treasurer of Floyd county in 1903, is hunting for something which her father left as a memento. She was in Floydada Tuesday afternoon for a short time, enroute from her home at Topeka, Kansas, to Lubbock. At the latter place she is the guest this week of her foster-mother, Mrs. Monroe Hobbs.

The daughter is Mrs. Bruce Warner. On her trip to Texas she is accompanied by her charming 18-year-old daughter Jettie.

Mrs. Warner is Margaret, second child of a family of five of the Van Hooks. Mr. Van Hook at the time of his election as county treasurer of the county was proprietor and operator of a tin shop.

The family resided in the residence section of the county jail when Margaret (Mrs. Warner) was born. The jail building was a small iron clad building on the south part of the court house lawn, she recalls. Her father died in 1905 and her mother in 1907, Mrs. Van Hook succumbing at Amarillo. The children were taken by kindly friends of the family, the Monroe Hobbs, one time residents of the southeast part of Floyd county, taking Margaret and rearing her as their own.

Mrs. Warner's visit here is her third in the past 10 years. She still seeks some memento of her father and also some word from some of the pioneer residents of the area who were good friends of his.

An intended visit with some prospective personages who might tell her more of her parents and their life here was interrupted by illness which affected both mother and daughter as they visited in the Hesperian office. Both became faint and the daughter collapsed on the sidewalk as she attempted to leave the office and return to their car. After several minutes they were able to resume their journey.

Eddie Jarrett Injured When Pick-up Crashes

Eddie Jarrett, 20, son of Elder and Mrs. C. L. Jarrett of South Plains is critically injured after narrowly escaping death when his oil truck he was driving overturned and burned about 8 a. m. Sunday at the Lockney cut-off intersection of Highway 207.

He has remained unconscious since the time of the accident. Officials at the People's hospital where he was rushed, said that his injuries are mostly head injuries. He has a fractured skull, shoulder fractures, possible internal injuries and is badly bruised.

The accident occurred about 10 miles north of Floydada. According to Sheriff Leland A. Hart, the truck turned over three times after Jarrett swerved a little too far to the right of the highway and ran off on to the soft shoulder. The cab burst into flames, but Jarrett had been thrown clear.

Here is the architect's sketch of the completed Floyd county court house as they propose to the Commissioners Court to have built, subject to approval of a $200,000 bond issue by the taxpayers of Floyd county on Saturday, September 3. The middle section as shown is the structure now standing after it is given a re-do. On the north and south are the wings which will be added on either side. Note the absence of a long flight of entrance steps. The sketch was prepared by Haynes & Kirby, architects. M. L. Stiles, a nephew of Marvin and George Stiles, of Floydada, who is a member of the firm of architects, delivered the finished plate here this week.

JOHNSON GRASS KILL DARK MOON IN AUGUST GETS TEST

Commissioner Fred N. Clark wants to make a clean sweep of the few patches of Johnson grass on his place in Starkey community and is taking advantage of the plain edict of the almanac to insure complete, 100 per cent kill.

The dark of the moon in August is the only period of the year in which Johnson grass can be successfully combated. To carry out the plan the pesky grass must be cut back under the ground. It will die quite dead if the job is done right in the dark of the moon. Clark's Johnson grass was cut on August 23.

Several years ago, before he moved to Texas, Commissioner Clark was farming in Oklahoma. He plowed his Johnson grass in August when he had his crop laid by. It never came back, but he can't recall the moon phase or the date. What he is trying to do is to hit the same formula again and he hopes that August 23 on the dark of the moon is right.

Feature Farm and Ranch Studies In Program of Extension Service

Events of District II of Extension service set for September, which are of interest to Floyd county 4-H boys, farmers and ranchers, have been announced this week by Bob Gibson, county agent.

On September 16, Field day will be held at the experiment station in Lubbock, for Farmer, Floyd, Dawson, Swisher, Gaines, Terry, Yoakum, Cochran and Bailey counties.

The program will begin at 9:30 o'clock a. m. and continue until afternoon. Everyone is urged to bring a sack lunch for the noon meal. Subjects and topics to be discussed are as follows:

Two types of cotton choppers. (Rotary hoe and go-devil combination); Variety tests on cotton; (grain sorghum showing will be provided at this time); Rate of planting grain sorghum and cotton; Fertilizers and legumes, also some phases of irrigation; Defoliation of cotton; Exhibition of corn hybrid varieties.

'New Look' For Old Court House COURT WOULD RE-DO 37-YEAR-OLD STRUCTURE IF APPROVAL GIVEN BOND ISSUE SEPTEMBER 3

If the taxpayers of Floyd county give their vote of approval the Commissioners court of Floyd county will make use of the structurally sound 37-year-old court house building now on the site salvaged from the fire on March 11, last spring and will add wings to make it adequate for present needs.

Submitted to the people is the question of whether a $200,000 bond issue will be used for the purpose. The balloting will be done on Saturday, September 3, nine days hence.

The fire which destroyed the superstructure of the building with a loss of $103,000, left the basement and first floor in useable condition, revealing the fact that the portion of the building which housed the records of the county was to all purposes a fire-proof vault. A major portion of the officials of the county are housed in somewhat cramped quarters in the building. A temporary roof, laid quickly after the blaze, covers the first floor at this time, saving the county many hundreds of dollars in rented quarters annually.

Making use of the present structure, the court proposes to have a completed building with wings extending to the north and the south, as indicated in the architect's drawing above. The over all length would be 173 feet, the width 70 feet. Two floors, with a minimum of flights of stairs, and the old basement modernized, are provided for.

Of the total estimated cost, $48,000 is included by the architects to re-do the old building first floor and exterior, while $16,000 will be needed to modernize the basement.

The tremendously valuable walls and structural elements of the old building will be preserved intact. The plan calls for eliminating one corridor in the old building. Elderly people will be interested in the fact that most of the flights of steps have been done away with in the plans submitted.

To cover the cost of the proposed additions and alterations the architects are telling the Commissioners court that $200,000 will be needed. Of this amount one-third will be provided by the money collected through fire insurance policies held by the county at the time of the fire. The other $200,000 will have to be provided by the taxpayers if the plan goes through.

In forecasting the probable debt service the county will be out on the court house bonds, the court has the opinion of C. M. Smith, dealer in bonds, that the maximum interest rate needed to market 25-year serial bonds readily will be 3 1/2 per cent. The court is encouraged to expect that the earlier maturing bonds can be sold on the market at a rate of 2 1/2 per cent or less. Smith's firm has contracted to supervise all the legal procedure for the county at a cost of $495. Cost of the election, however, will be borne by the county.

A tax levy of 12 cents per $100 of taxable property, based on an $11 million tax roll as at present in this county will take care of the debt service and retire the bonds, the Smith firm has estimated to the Commissioners court.

Meetings held in Floydada last Friday night and in Lockney on Monday night were attended by a few taxpayers from each area. At Lockney the meeting was hampered by the fact that lights were blacked out for several hours in the early evening due to an airplane accident which severed the power lines of the public Service company.

Deadline Aug. 31 on Wheat Crop Insurance

Deadline for all-risk crop insurance of the Federal Crop Insurance corporation for the 1950 wheat crop is mighty near. It is August 31. After that date wheat crop insurance will not be available in this county.

Lawrence Wilde, representative of the Federal Crop Insurance corporation, said yesterday the campaign for new sign-ups to date had resulted in obtaining 30 or more applicants for the crop insurance on wheat. Several business firms of the community are joining this week in urging the availability of this all-risk insurance for the benefit of those who cannot afford to take a complete loss on their crops. Last year's operations under the all-crop insurance plan for wheat saved operators $50,000 or more where various types of risk were covered. E. C. King is among those who have been active in urging the all-risk insurance plan.

Elza Checked In as Consumer Mgr.

Jewel Elza was checked in last mid-week as manager of Consumers Fuel association, succeeding Chas. C. Hucklebee, resigned.

The new manager had been employed with the First National bank since his return from service, and at the time of his resignation to go with the Consumers was assistant cashier. He has been an understudy for the retiring manager for the past 45 days. Mr. Hucklebee's separation from the Consumers follows more than 14 years of service as manager. He had made no plans further than for a rest in the immediate future last week-end.

EDITORIALS

Among the books which will be put on sale during the month of September is one by Lewis Nordyke, of Amarillo, which will be somewhat historical, that is historically true and for which years of research has been made so that page and verse for any statement can be turned to. However, the book will have few footnotes and references and things of the kind, so we hear. It will just tell the story of the XIT spread without getting your mind off on to what Major Whipple wrote to General MacDougal back in 1875. We hear the descendants of Governor Hogg will not be too happy over quotes from his correspondence as to the matter and also it is said some myths that have grown up with the years will be scotched. Mr. Nordyke will be the loser even if the book turns out to be a good selling tome. They pay well for well-written pieces on current affairs in the magazines. That writer has lost a dozen chances in the past five years, we imagine, to write things that would pay fairly good and keep his name before the public. He had to forego these opportunities to carry out a contract he made that called for research and work on a volume which he probably would as soon not have authored. Every writer has to have a "book" behind him, though, to make his other articles click. So Nordyke doubtless thought when he signed to do the XIT thesis. The enthusiasm of the moment often costs the enthusiast, whether in book writing, in a campaign to eradicate Johnson grass or in support of a good roads program. So often the foolish things we do, turn out to be wise. Conversely one's monumental efforts turn to ashes.

What the people are going to do about the court house bond issue we have no idea. A newspaper man, contrary to opinion, knows less than most anybody what people are thinking. The taxpayers did not swarm out to the meetings the commissioners called. We do not know whether that means they are not interested or simply had something else they wanted to do. Night meetings after the fashion of the old-time mass meeting do not click any more as a rule. Some committee work or two or three committees may have sapped up the surplus energy of the would-be, well-meaning taxpayer already. He would like to go to the meeting but he would like to stay at home, too, or go to something more interesting and perhaps less dutiful. So the commissioners may not really know any more this week than they did a week ago about what people are thinking. The plan for the court house improvement as shown by sketches is that of the architects after talking with the commissioners and getting their general ideas. These plans, after they have or have not been worked over and revised are the basis for the $200,000 proposed bond issue which the court has submitted to the people. There is only one must (we assume) which is that the people are going to have to have a place to house their records safely and give their county officials adequate and reasonable working space. In other words we will have to have a court house. When the taxpayers vote on September 3 they can say whether the proposal as presently presented is best in their judgment of whether they would like to think the matter over further and get their commissioners to do the same.

We were all set to make the Johnson Grass kill on our place and would have rigged up pretty quick if the telephone had not rung and we had to go see a feller. As we trod back toward the house and the telephone call we looked over the fence into the bar ditch and the county had not killed the Johnson grass there; also, we recalled that the neighbors all had as much or more in their fields as we had. It went through our minds looks like we shouldn't have to do the Johnson grass task all by ourselves, seems the commissioner and the county and our neighbors ought to help out a little. We shouldn't have to undertake the job all by ourselves. And now Monday has gone and Tuesday along with it. And they haven't done anything about it. Besides it is too late for this year now with the moon started the other way. Probably to try to do anything with the Johnson grass would make it just grow that much faster and seed out again before frost. Now, if the government would just put on a program and have us all come in and sign up to let them save the soil or something of the kind, we could get rid of the Johnson grass and get a good practice credit, and that would be grand!

Automobile hint: Get your radiator fluid now and be forehanded next winter. Some good brands are on the market at this time and can be had for the buying at most of the dealers places. When the first cold spell hits and you want radiator anti-freeze so will all your neighbors. Buy now and put it up. It will not be boarding and it might save your engine. Nobody knows the price may not go down, although dealers do not expect it to do so. But assuming that it goes down half you haven't saved a lot when winter hits and turns the water in your radiator to ice, should you decide to take a chance to save a dollar or so

Plans in the Making For Flower Show

Plans are in the making and the date has been set for the annual fall flower show sponsored by Our Home Garden club. At a recent meeting, it was decided that the show would be September 17 in the American Legion hall. The schedule is nearing completion with expectation that the show will be better this year than last.

For the benefit of men who are interested in flowers, the club will feature a special "men only" booth in which any man may exhibit any flower in a container of his own selection.

Children will again be able to compete for awards in the junior exhibits division.

There will be a classification for members of the Garden clubs in which special awards will be offered the exhibitors.

More definite information about classifications, awards and judges will be announced at a later date.

MEDLEY OF ERRORS

In a medley of errors last week The Hesperian afforded those who read the paper to "see if they got it right" a chance to point out several errors. The Grentlins were at work while the writers and proofreaders nodded.

Among these was an item intended to record the fact that N. A. Armstrong and his daughter, Mrs. Wanda Banker, visited at Coffeyville, Kansas. The types had it that "Mr. and Mrs." Armstrong and Mrs. Banker made the trip. Mr. Armstrong is not re-married.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Snell of Lubbock spent Sunday in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McKinney and Mr. and Mrs. W. Snell.

Plane Slices Power Line Near Lockney

Electric power service in Lockney was interrupted three hours Monday night when a light plane piloted by S. J. Williams failed to clear a high voltage power line. Williams later said the plane run had out of gas and he was trying for the landing field when he hit the 22,500 volt line in an emergency landing.

Crashing and burning within 25 feet of a house, Williams managed to free himself from the flaming plane.

Williams was taken to Lockney Co-op hospital for emergency treatment. Due to the blackout, some time passed before x-rays could be taken to determine the extent of his injuries. He received a broken collar bone, broken rib and flesh burns about the arms, legs, and hips.

The electric current was off in Lockney from the time of the accident at 7:55 until 11 o'clock. Silverton, on the same line, was without lights 40 minutes, while the city's auxiliary light plant was being put into operation.

Quarter Million New Buildings At Crosbyton

CROSBYTON.—Approximately one-quarter of a million dollars will be spent in Crosbyton this fall for new construction, repairs and improvements, a check this week by The Review revealed. This does not include approximately $100,000 of new building which is already under construction at the present time, or has just been completed.

New projects are a mammoth new concrete grain elevator to be built by J. W. Catching Grain company, a new church building by the Crosbyton Church of Christ, an addition to the First Baptist church, improvements at Crosbyton gins and a number of residences.

Already under construction is the new $65,000 Cheftian theatre building and a modern brick home being built by Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Collier. A building to house the Crosbyton Washateria and several new residences have already been completed.

ROLL YOUR OWN

You can roll a baked-enamel look right onto your kitchen walls with the combination of two new products this smart housewife is using. She is applying a new, highly-scrubbable paint for walls and woodwork, called Kem-Glo. It dries in four hours, leaving an attractive, durable coating that looks and washes like the finish on your refrigerator. To do the job quickly and easily, she is using an inexpensive, simple-to-operate roller-coater made of lamb's wool.

BOYCE HOUSE "GIVES YOU TEXAS"

A good many years ago the West Texas Press Association was holding its annual banquet in Big Spring. Max Bentley of Abilene, the toastmaster, said, "We have with us tonight, his excellency, the lieutenant governor of the State of Chihuahua, Mexico." A handsome, dark complexioned man, wearing a dress suit, arose, bowed at the applause, and said:

"Ladies and gentlemen, I do not speak verve good the English language but eet ees a great-t-t pleasure to be here."

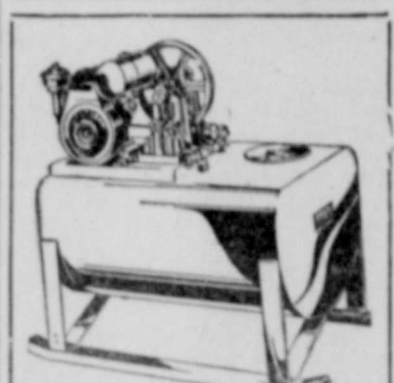

Then he poured out about 200 words of Spanish with gestures and wound up the burst with, "George Washington." That was the only thing that any of us understood but we guessed he had been praising the Father of Our Country, so we applauded.

Came another flow of Spanish, this time ending with "Abraham Lincoln" and again we applauded. A third volley of Spanish, winding up with "Woodrow Wilson!" and we clapped again.

Then the speaker began to get worked up and gradually he grew excited and shouted angrily in Spanish, winding up in English with, "You can all go to h---", and sat down.

We were dumbfounded. Bentley arose and said, "Ladies and gentlemen, you have just been listening to Dorrance Roderick, publisher of the El Paso Times."

A man dreamed that he could inanimate objects and bring them to life. To try out this gift, he touched the statue of a general and the general came to life and climbed down off his horse. The man asked, "Where are you going?" and the general said, "I'm going to get me a gun and kill about a million durned pigeons."

Cheap Cotton Seed Offers Feed Bargain

AUSTIN—Farmers, here's a bargain!

Dr. A. B. Cox, University of Texas cotton marketing professor, points out that an exceptionally large supply of cottonseed meal and hulls resulting from an expected bumper crop may offer farmers a bargain in these feeds.

This is the situation, he says. During the past five years, the wholesale price of three pounds of cottonseed meal and four pounds of cottonseed hulls in Fort Worth averaged 35 per cent of the wholesale price of a gallon of milk. In some places in Texas this unit of feed can now be bought wholesale as low as 23 per cent of the price of milk.

Research has shown that three pounds of cottonseed meal plus four pounds of hulls fed to dairy cows on pasture will result in the production of one gallon of milk.

In some places in Texas, he says, three pounds of cottonseed meal can now be bought wholesale for nine cents, and four pounds of cottonseed hulls for six cents.

Ormans Re-Union

The reunion of the children of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Orman, sr., was held in Elwood Park, Amarillo, Sunday, August 21.

The reunion is always held annually on the Sunday nearest their parent's anniversary, which is August 22. Forty-one relatives were present.

The immediate family present were eight of the nine children of the deceased parents, which are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Orman, jr., and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. O'Neal of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Hamer Orman and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ramsey of Borger; Mr. and Mrs. Syd Brown, Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Calahan and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Orman, all of Floydada.

The daughter that was unable to attend is Mrs. Gayle Ramsey of Dallas.

Geneva Boyd returned home recently after spending the summer in Oklahoma City visiting her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Day.

ONE BILLION IN FIFTY YEARS

The one billionth bearing turned out by the world's largest manufacturer of tapered roller bearings is a feature of the Open House held by The Timken Roller Bearing Company as they celebrate fifty years in the business of smoothing the progress of American industry.

An interested visitor, pretty Phyllis Lee, watching Harry Craig make a final check on a large mill bearing in the special inspection department, was amazed when told the bearings were checked to tolerances of thousandths of an inch. "Not like cooking when I use a pinch of this and a pinch of that," said Miss Lee. "And the final inspection is the satisfaction that shows on the faces of those eating." Little Judy Cramer, 4½-year-old onlooker, thought the bearings were wheels for oversize roller skates, and wanted a set.

Timken started making bearings when buggies were the principal mode of transportation and the company has grown, in fifty years, to see the stage where practically all wheeled vehicles, from roller skates to locomotives, run on anti-friction metal bearings.

Bob Smith Again

President Smith - Brown Cousins

Bob Smith, of Floydada, was again named president of the Smith-Brown Cousins association last week when the families, numerous of their kinsmen and friends gathered at the home of Mrs. John Smith at Addington, Oklahoma, for their annual reunion, at which 151 persons were present. Also Mrs. Clinton Fuller was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

A delightful grove of trees for camping, bountiful food supply and many friends remembering the gathering with gifts of one kind and another made the gathering a pleasant one throughout, local members of the clan said upon their return from Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith, sr., C. B. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Fuller, Grover Smith and son, Grover Warren Smith attended from Floydada. Others from this area included Mrs. Louise Kidd and son Joe of Plainview, Bert Smith of Lorenzo, and Mr. and Mrs. Hal Lattimore of Lubbock.

Becky Jo Murry of Fort Collins, Colorado, Mrs. Phil Merry and daughter Linda, of Denver, Colorado, were among the guests.

Roaring Springs will be the site of next year's gathering of the Smiths and Browns, and the date will be the second Saturday and Sunday in August.

Conservation District News

Morris W. Alford, who farms five miles northwest of Aiken, harvested a little over six acres of brome grass seed from a pasture mixture that was mostly brome. It yielded 3640 pounds and was sold to a seed company in Plainview for $30 per hundred.

The Soil Conservation Service technicians have assisted C. M. Meredith of the Center community in building a diversion to control erosion on a sloping corner by the Johnson farm. By changing the course of the water the old gullies will be allowed to heal and washing rains will not cut through the topsoil in the future.

B. E. Harris is working on a drainage ditch to drain a 65 acre lake on his farm operated by C. H. Farish one mile west of Lone Star. The Soil Conservation Service field crew is engineering the lines.

The Taylor brothers have put in a diversion terrace to supplement a terrace system they have been using for some time on Mrs. Pay Taylor's section of land northeast of South Plains. The runoff water will be thrown in a grass waterway and the area below the diversion will be put back to grass.

AIRPLANE RANGE SEEDING

Need for covering the seed limits the usefulness of the airplane in seeding run-down ranges in the West, says the U. S. Department of agriculture. Seeding by plane can be extremely helpful in some critical situations when speed is essential in getting some kind—any kind—of green cover started quickly after a burn. In California, the Forest Service has used planes to sow mustard over brush and forest fires areas almost as soon as the ashes have cooled.

In some rough areas with aspen as the main growth, the forage has been improved materially by sowing from a low flying plane in fall just before the aspens drop their leaves. The leaves provide cover for the newly planted seed which sprout in spring.

An experimental device that has given favorable results in a few early tests is the planting of "pelleted" seed. Seed is mixed with soil formed into small balls like small marbles or large shot. Each pellet is roughly a quarter inch in diameter and contains about half a dozen grass seeds. This method is so new that forecasters have not yet had time to test it thoroughly or to make counts of the grasses that result from such seedings. But the pellets can be scattered evenly by airplane, and the small balls of earth break down to provide some covering material for the seeds.

Seeding by plane following fires is more successful in proportion to the depth of the ash. Timber or heavy brush fires leave considerable ash to cover seed. Grass fires leave the soil almost bare and seeds broadcasted by plane are not likely to make a stand.

Up to the present the Forest Service tests show that on much of the vast area that needs reseeding in the West the familiar ground methods are much more reliable. In many tests ground reseeding has increased the forage on run-down ranges from 5 times to 50 times.

In general, small planes are more useful than large ones in reseeding rough country.

SLI Dividend Applications Ready Monday

Monday, August 29, will be the day of distribution of applications for the National Service Life Insurance special dividend to be paid to veterans who had their GI insurance for three years or more prior to January 1, 1949.

Application forms will be available at post offices, veterans' service organizations, American Red Cross, Veterans' County Service Office and throughout the West Texas area served by the Lubbock Regional office of Veterans Administration, Manager Robert W. Sisson announced.

These simplified blanks are in form of a three-fold card; the veteran will retain one third of the card, which contains the instructions, and after filling in his full name, service number, C-number if available, and address, he will place a one-cent stamp on the remaining two-fold card and mail to Veterans Administration, Washington, D. C.

It is expected the dividend check distribution will begin in January and will be substantially completed during the first six months of 1950.

Not necessarily assure early receipt of the special dividend," Mr. Sisson emphasized.

Beneficiaries of deceased veterans who are presently receiving annuity benefits will not be required to make application for the special dividend.

Veterans administration will mail checks to beneficiaries of deceased veterans whose insurance was not in force at time of death, the necessary application form for any accrued dividend payable.

The application only is necessary though the veteran may have had more than one policy of insurance more than one plan of insurance. It further pointed out that where the insurance number is unknown, the veteran's application will be identified through his service number.

The Spike Jones Musical Depreciation Revue of 1950 has been booked for the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 8 - 23, after breaking box office records in 90 per cent of the huge civic auditoriums and theatres in which it has appeared this year, Julius Schepps, chairman of the Fair attractions committee, has announced.

August Record All-Time High For the City

Floydada's municipal water and light departments have made a new all-time record in volume of business during the month of August, and possibly are going on this month to set another record said B. K. Barker, city secretary, following completion of readings by the meter men for both the water department and the light department.

"Our volume in both of these departments of the city are breaking all records this month," said Mr. Barker. "We have broken all volume figures he said as he tabulated readings of the meter totals.

It is entirely possible that the next 30-day readings will break the record again, especially in the water department. Hot and dry makes the water men watch his gauges in Floydada. Scores and hundreds of air conditioners and other cooling appliances also make the meters spin faster for electric energy.

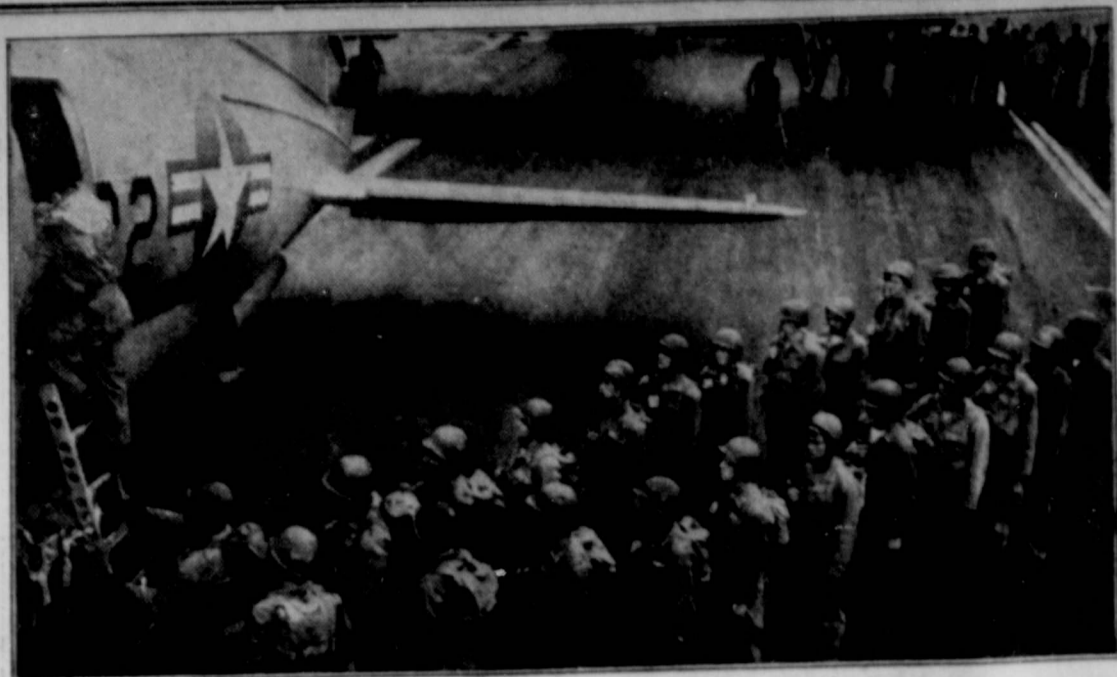

No Shortages Recorded

The city is sitting pretty so far as shortages are concerned at this time, both in power available and in volume of water which the municipality's water department can put into the mains. Both are ample for all needs and the citizens are being urged to use all the water they need for keeping lawns and shrubs through the prolonged dry spell. While the neighbor areas all are getting plenty of moisture in all directions Floydada lawns and gardens figuratively are panting, and the city is urging the citizens to pour it on to keep flowers, lawns, trees, and shrubs in good condition.

In the electric department the big power unit is being supplemented with juice from one smaller auxiliary and two others are standing by ready for any emergency or heavy increase in demand.

Mr. and Mrs. James Word and children returned home Tuesday from an extended trip that took them to Austin and Corpus Christi among other points downstate. In Corpus Christi, they were guests of Mrs. Word's grandmother, Mrs. R. B. Cousins.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Hickerson and daughter, Pat, left Monday morning for Clovis, New Mexico, for a visit with Mr. Hickerson's sister, Mrs. Elmer Dasey and Mr. Dasey.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)
Through years of silent waiting. The drab gray century plant Hoards the gold of the sun For one lavish spending— Then life's course is run —Don Blanding
We found the mockingbird singing as sweetly in Eastern New Mexico as he does in the Lone Star State. The cactus I brought home from there are beginning to do well. I meant cacti. They are very small ones for tiny pots and funny holders. They do not require so much attention as do other plants, are very interesting and the blooms are exquisite.

At Lovington I saw again the old "chist" that once was my grandmother's pride. I rubbed my hands on its old smooth surface and thought how many times grandma's work worn hand had lifted the lid to get out more quilts because Margaret and John and the children had come. Sometimes we hid in it when we played hide and seek, holding the lid open with a tiny crack to let in air. I am glad it has a home where it is still loved and made useful, for it was a needed piece of furniture in a large family and held quilts sewed and pieced by busy hands.

Trains always call me and anywhere I am when I hear the bell or listen to the crossing signals I always want to get on them and go To Chicago, to Chicago, To New York, to New York, come and go, come and go. See the world, see the world, I will take you, I will take you. I'm an iron horse, I'm an iron horse, cross the rivers, cross the rivers, through the cities, through the cities, o'er the plains, up the mountains, come and go, come and go. . . . But I always have to stay. . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Murry of Floydada came to see us this afternoon and brought me some rocks from a wonderful trip they had to Colorado to visit Lloyd and his family. They brought a big rock from Horsefoot dam and Rebecca Joe, the pretty little granddaughter, sent me some rocks she waded in Bennet creek to get. This is in the Roosevelt forest where beautiful trees of aspen spruce and pine stand on the sides of the mountains. I am sure the shiny rock shines no brighter than the bright eyes of the girl who picked it up for me. Some of the rocks are brown with darker stripes, some white and gray. Thank you, Rebecca Joe for making me happy with more rocks for my fence.

"At one place on the mountain," says Mrs. Murry, "We were 9200 feet high. We sat on a big rock and that is where I got the big one for you. I did not feel very well. My ears were stopped up and we had to go down to lower elevation." We enjoyed the Murry visit very much. Clara says she helped her father gather and build the many rock fences he had down in the canyon.

All you old timers remember Brother Joe Day and that he came to Emma on horseback to preach at the schoolhouse.

Happiness
By T. O. Davis
Happiness is a tender thing— A crocus bud in early spring, Silent prayer, a kindly thought, Glimpse of sky a pool has caught, Hands of toil that move with grace, Blue dinner plates on fine old lace, Patch work quilts, a treasured book, A berry bush, a merry look, Talk by fire burned low and red, A horse's nod when he is fed, Happiness is a tender thing— It gives the heart a right to sing. Thought for the week: "Trust your desire to find life good and wonderful. Then begin to look for the colors only an artist sees, listen for songs only the musician hears, practice the faith only the saint knows. Find beauty by looking for it. Touch God by reaching for Him. Know yourself by practicing greatness."

Mr. and Mrs. K. Terrell and son, Aubrey K. left Friday for Elkins, Arkansas, where they will visit old friends, the W. L. Morgans, former residents of Floyd county. Enroute to Elkins, the Terrell family will visit with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wooten and son, in Fort Worth.

Cleon Daily and family are in Denison this week, where they are guests of relatives while on a brief vacation. Mr. Daily is employed with the Floydada Bakery.

Unusual Plays As Tournament Ended Friday

This past week marked the end of the softball association's official games and the close of softball in Floydada except for the few games that individual teams may and probably will schedule in the next week.

The associations tournament ended last Friday night. This tournament, one of the best in this part of the country, was marked with unusual plays, exceptionally low scores as a whole, and some of the better teams and pitchers in this part of the country performing for larger than usual crowds of fans.

Triple Play at Home Plate
The outstanding play of the tournament and a play that few people will ever see came in the game between Ward's Grocery of Plainview and Tulla. Ward's team was at bat. The first two men singled to left field, a wild pitch put them on 2nd and 3rd.

Next batter up hit back to the pitcher who threw to the catcher for the out. The batter started to second and the catcher threw to 2nd baseman who turned the runner back and threw home to make the man at third, who was trying to steal home, out.

The man on first tried to steal 2nd again and the catcher overthrew 2nd base. The runner kept going around and was tagged at home base when the center fielder made a perfect throw to the catcher. Three outs resulted at home base on the one pitch, constituting a triple play at home base.

This was only one of the many highlights of the tournament and even with this kind of playing Ward's went ahead to win the game.

The tournament winners without a loss, were Builders Mart of Floydada, surprising most of the fans to take top money of $75.00.

Second place went to McCoy to the tune of $50.00; third place to Flash - O - Gas of Plainview, $30, and fourth place to Merchants of Floydada, $20.00.

Gene Collins the real man behind all the softball play in Floydada, who kept the field in condition, chased balls, plowed up weeds to lessen mosquitoes and in general turned out to be "care taker," though out of town the first of this week, has at various times expressed appreciation to all fans, managers, teams, and anyone connected with the cooperation and help in making the association year of ball the success it was.
