APRIL SHOWERS OPEN SPRING SYMPHONY FOR CROP GROWERS

Rains in the week since Wednesday night of last week that were most partial but also most welcome, helped to moisten and loosen up the soil of Floyd and other West Texas counties in a four-day period that lasted through Sunday night.

At Floydada the rainfall as reported by Fire Chief Carl Rodgers at the city hall, was 1.53 inches, but this was not representative of all the area.

Around Lakeview the moisture left in the ground was a half inch or so, W. O. Simpson, right north of Lakeview school, thought he had even less. Eastward toward Pleasant Hill the rain got a bit heavier with some 80-hundredths at the Kinder Parris place. Dougherty report says an inch plus.

One Inch at Lockney

In Lockney and that general vicinity the fall was about an inch, according to the rain gauge measured by G. A. Barton. Around Sterley and Lone Star the general report is in line with this figure, a few less, a few more. South of Lockney the fall was somewhat lighter perhaps.

Toward the west the rainfall was about the same as at Floydada out to the general vicinity of Barwise where it might have been a bit lighter. Starkey, Blanco, a portion of Sand Hill and part of McCoy didn't have so much rain, as little as 4-tenths reported at the W. P. Ferguson place at Starkey.

Measurement reports from the northeast part of the county are lacking.

Campbell, Fairview, Center, Hillcrest, Liberty areas reported varying amounts up to an inch. At Cedar the Sid Browns and the Johnny Lackey report about an inch or more.

Not Enough and Too Early

It was the first rainfall since early October of any consequence. While it sharpened the interest in farm operations, the rain was not enough to wet the ground thoroughly, even where the heaviest fall occurred. It was most helpful where irrigation farming is being practiced.

The rainfall gives wheat that is left a bit of a lease on life. Reports say that this acreage of wheat that is due to produce from little to a lot is something like 80,000 acres out of a planting last fall of more than 200,000 acres.

The rainfall as reported at Floydada: Wednesday night 14-hundredths; Thursday night 6-hundredths; Friday night 1.15 inches; Saturday night 18-hundredths.

Annual Spring Camporee Set

Boy Scouts from Floydada will join those of the other communities in the district Friday evening as they trek to Crosbyton for the annual spring camporee. Approximately 20 scouts are planning to take part in the activity which is to be held on the L-7 Ranch.

Outdoor cooking will be demonstrated to the scouts from other towns in the area by members of the local troop. James P. Potts, district camping and activities chairman, has planned similar demonstrations by the other scout groups.

Other plans for the affair include a fellowship campfire Friday evening which will include songs, stunts, and perhaps a story by one of the old timers of the area.

Parents of the scouts will be invited to the troop meeting next Tuesday night at the Scout hut. They are to be presented miniature pins of the same rank which their son holds. Also on hand will be officials of the Rotary club, who will receive the charter for 1950.

Re-Building Court House to begin soon

After a month of work with men and machinery, during which many tons of brick steel and rubble have been removed from the old building, A. T. Nesbit, superintendent for Dolph Construction company, said this week see the turning point in the job of re-building the court house for Floyd county taxpayers.

Aside from the removal of several thousand face brick from the west and east sides of the structure, most of the work beginning this week will be building instead of tearing down. Nesbit said their tests of the basic structure left standing confirmed those last year of engineers employed by the county that the remaining portions are sound. The job is expected to be completed late this year or early in 1951.

REUES AND MRS. JOHNSKE ATTEND RELATIVES RITES

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. W. Reue and Mrs. W. R. Johnske returned Tuesday from Brenham, Texas, where they attended the funeral rites of Henry Muller, 65, who died Thursday last week at his home in Brenham. He was the victim of a heart ailment.

Mr. Muller was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Reue and an uncle of Mrs. Reue. He and his wife were visitors in Floydada in the month of February for two weeks, guests of the Reue family. Long-time resident of Brenham, former postmaster, and one-time on the advertising staff of the Dallas Morning News, Mr. Muller had just returned from the State of Washington to make his home.

BOOK REVIEW FRIDAY NIGHT

Mrs. N. S. Daniel, Lockney, will review the book, "Star in My Crown" in the Harmony schoolhouse tomorrow night at 8:30. The event is being sponsored by the Carrs Chapel W.S.C.S. No admission fee will be charged, but a silver offering will be taken.

Refreshments will be served by the Carrs Chapel women.

LEAGUE SOFTBALL TEAMS MAY THIN DOWN TO THREE

Floydada Softball association may have only three teams in their league when "play ball" is called on the tentative date set for May 8, says Gene Collins, general manager of the league.

But good luck may come along and bring with it an entry from McCoy and one from South Plains.

Pros and cons of the situation were discussed at a league meeting Monday night.

Teams definitely on the line are REA, Lunch Box and Builders Mart. South Plains is debating whether to go along with this league or some other.

If it develops that only three teams play in the local league this will mean that out-of-town games will have to be matched, home and home basis, and it is possible this would see a good brand of baseball on the home grounds even with the handicap of few league entries. Meanwhile the league will plan and study and certainly work out something, said Mr. Collins.

C - C Campaign Begins; Bright Outlook Seen

Illness and enforced absences have been a hindrance this opening week in the Chamber of Commerce drive for new members, but efforts to date have been 95 per cent effective for those members of the campaign committee who were in position to work.

So says Robt. H. Crowell, manager of the Chamber of Commerce. The goal of the committee is to reach a membership of 500, doubling the present membership of 250.

"There are so many things to do, so much manpower and funds needed to get around to all the big and little matters we need more help" is the point of view. "We are having a number of farmers join up with the organization activities," Crowell said. "Floyd county is an agricultural area and the major portion of our problems have to do with some phase of this industry, which means we need and must have the farmer point of view to carry on successfully with a county development program."

Track and Field Events Floydada High will have entries in five contests, representing District 3-A.

They are Turner and Nelson who will enter the 100-yard dash, also the 440-yard relay team, the mile relay team, Buster Mooney in the mile grind, and Don McGuire in the half-mile run.

Win District Volley Ball

Floydada high volleyball team won district honors at the contest in Tulsa Saturday. This particular interscholastic event is not carried further than district competition under interscholastic rules.

Curtailed Service Forecast For City In P. O. Deliveries

Although an order is expected momentarily for the curtailment of city delivery service in Floydada, Barbara H. Smith, postmaster, said yesterday no order had as yet been received.

Postmaster General Donaldson said Tuesday in newspaper interviews that city mail service would be curtailed and other steps are to be taken by the Post Office department, due to greatly increased costs, to reduce expenses.

Heart Attack Fatal For Doctor Purcell

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Britton attended funeral services in Fort Worth last Thursday for Mrs. Britton's uncle, Dr. N. C. Purcell, a former resident of Floydada. The doctor's death was attributed to a heart attack and came suddenly Tuesday.

The final rites read in the Lucas chapel in Fort Worth were followed by burial in the Rock Church cemetery near Bluff Dale (Erath county).

Dr. Purcell, a chiropractor, and his wife lived in Floydada and Floyd county some 20 years before moving to Fort Worth three years ago. Back in the early days, the doctor taught school at Antelope and in Briscoe county. He practiced chiropractic in Floydada a number of years and was active in his practice at the time of his death.

MUNICIPAL CONCERT ASSOCIATION TO BRING RENOWNED MUSICAL ATTRACTIONS TO FLOYDADA

An annual concert series presenting the world's distinguished artists in Floydada is no longer a dream! The Floydada Municipal Concert Association has been organized for the sole purpose of bringing renowned concert attractions to the community and thus enlarging the city's entertainment, cultural, and social life.

The Floydada Municipal Concert Association is entirely non-profit and cooperative. Membership privileges are open to everyone—adults and children alike. A membership campaign week will soon be announced and during that week the entire citizenry will be entitled to attend all the concert presentations without further admission charge. There will be no single admissions sold for any individual concert.

Floydada now becomes affiliated with other municipalities throughout the nation operating on this same municipal plan presenting outstanding and topflight concert attractions locally. At least three concerts will be presented during the season, and as many more as the association's budget makes possible. In as much as the Floydada Municipal Concert Association is one hundred percent cooperative, the more members in the association the larger the budget, and therefore the greater number of concerts possible.

No additional assessments will be made on the members. Funds accumulated from membership dues will be used solely in the presentation of artists selected by the local association's talent committee. The programs presented will be designed to please the varied musical tastes of the local audiences.

The number of memberships in the association will, of necessity, be limited to the seating capacity of the High school auditorium, and memberships will be available only during the one campaign week. At the conclusion of the designated week, the membership rolls of the association will be closed for the season. Everyone, therefore, is urged to watch for the announcement of the campaign week, and all are advised to secure their memberships then without delay.

The Floydada Municipal Concert Association officers chosen for the first season are to be chosen at a later date to be made known to the public. In order to transact the necessary duties of the organization the membership committee consisting of Olin Watson, Jr., Mrs. D. W. Douglas, and Mrs. Carl L. Minor, Jr., were appointed and Jim Wood was appointed executive secretary.

Orders Moving Big Shipments of Milo Maize

Producers Cooperative Elevator personnel are busy people this week, while they engage in moving some 120 carloads of stored maize and heira they have been holding since last fall for the order of Commodity Credit corporation.

Responsible for the movement of the grain are requested orders from the corporation, giving shipping instructions on more than 12 million pounds of the stored grain.

Manager Roe Jones said Tuesday that the huge bins are being emptied against the possibility of a big row crop of forage feed this fall. "We don't know how much feed we will ship but we do know the biggest acreage of maize, hegar and kaffir in history is due to be planted. If it materializes we'll need the room to take care of the people," said Mr. Jones this week.

While it is some months before a possible maize harvest the shipping orders were asked for now because later storage facilities at the primary markets might not be available, Mr. Jones said.

Scholastic Census Figures Still Below One Thousand

Despite the fact that the area of Floydada Independent School district has been more than doubled in the past year, the enlarged district including consolidations with parts of all of seven other adjacent districts, the scholastic population still falls below one thousand.

Census enumerators working under the direction of Mrs. V. H. Boteler, district secretary, made their final report this week. This report shows 988 scholastics within the confines of the new and enlarged district. This compares with 849 scholastics last year, an increase of 139 school children.

Every additional scholastic means considerable income to the district and the enumerators pretty well combed the area for any youngsters they could put on the rolls, so there are likely few if any that were missed.

Hull Elected Head of School Board

Alva T. Hull succeeds himself as president of Floydada Independent School district board of trustees. He was named last week at the organization meeting of the board, when two new members were qualified.

The two new members are Aaron Carthel and J. K. Holmes.

Five other members remained in the April election, besides Hull, are E. L. Thomas, Jno. W. Reue, J. P. Moss and C. L. Hagood.

Moss is vice-president of the board and C. L. Hagood is secretary.

Enumeration For Seventeenth Census Draws Near To Close

Crew leader Ralph C. Johnston said this week that so far as the towns of Floyd county are concerned the census enumeration has been just about completed. Not many more areas of either Floydada or Lockney are yet to be visited by the enumerators. The enumerators have made good speed and the time is rapidly drawing near when they'll indicate their jobs have been done.

Except for call backs where families were not at home the work of the enumerators might already be completed in the town areas said Mr. Johnston. The agricultural census may require full time up to May 1 to finish although very satisfactory work has been done by the census workers.

Want Job to be Complete

Johnston said this week that, whether the numbers of many or few, the crew leader as well as the enumerators want the job to be a thorough one, but Johnston pointed out that telephone calls should not be made to enumerators since they are paid on piece work basis and to hunt down all the persons whom some of the neighbors or friends think may have been missed would work a hardship on them. Rather, says Mr. Johnston, a person who has been missed by any enumerator or thinks of someone in his neighborhood who may have been missed should call him (residence telephone 740-73). Also The Hesperian (telephone No. 8) has volunteered to take this information and relay it to Mr. Johnston as has the Chamber of Commerce, Robt. Crowell, manager (telephone No. 104). The resident should wait, before reporting any believed missing from the rolls, until after the enumerators have worked their neighborhood, before they begin reporting. There are a few call backs and an occasional spot in most every community the enumerator has not yet worked but likely will, in the towns at least, within a short time.

Possibility that the figures on the population of both Floydada and Lockney may prove disappointing to some of the residents is indicated this week in a remark made by Mr. Johnston. He pointed out that there are sizeable little communities on the outskirts of both towns which are not actually within the corporate limits of the towns. Population guessers could be fooled by appearances in this manner, the news writer gathered from the remark. The information as to census figures will not be immediately available and Mr. Johnston is releasing no figures on either town or country totals at this time.

Fullingim Sixtieth Anniversary Day

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Fullingim of Tucumcari, N. M. celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday, April 2, in the home of their daughter, Mrs. J. C. Dyer. All of the Fullingim children were present except Earl Fullingim of California.

Mrs. Fullingim attended the first school in Floyd County. Spending many years in the Sand Hill and Harmony communities, she and Mr. Fullingim moved to Tucumcari, N. M., years ago, where they have made their home.

Mrs. Fullingim is the sister of J. T. McLain of this city.

Interest Grows in Conserving Water Supply

A revival of interest in underground water conservation, and in organizing one or more underground water conservation districts, is reported by the High Plains Water Conservation and Users Association.

With water conservation associations in 14 counties as associate members, the High Plains Association is taking the lead in an educational campaign on conservation. The group estimates that 12,000 wells are now scattered over the 4,000,000 acres of irrigation land which covers one huge reservoir in the High Plains area.

The increase in use of irrigation wells—it has more than doubled in the past decade—and continued new drilling activities are bringing the pumping figures to a record high.

A lot of farmers think it is time to start conservation, by proper spacing of wells, by re-charging the reservoirs and by preventing waste, the High Plains association reports.

They are talking about organization of districts because they know that it won't do any good for part of the irrigation farmers to save water if the rest of the well users keep pumping what is saved out of that same reservoir. They feel that any conservation program would have to be wide-spread.

The High Plains Water Conservation and Users Association has associate members representing county groups in Lubbock, Lamb, Bailey, Castro, Hale, Floyd, Swisher, Deaf Smith, Farmer, Randall, Dallam and Crosby counties and the Petersburg Water Conservation Association.

EDITORIALS

(Editorial contributed by the High Plains Water Conservation and Users association.)

High plains farmers are on the spot. They successfully conducted a long fight to win local control of underground water, which supplies 12,000 irrigation pumps scattered over four million acres of farmland in the High Plains. Ostensibly, the fight ended in victory when, in the spring of 1949, the Texas Legislature passed the Underground Water Conservation Law, which gives underground water rights to individual landowners and provides the means for conserving it.

Secure in their ownership of the water, farmers have neglected to carry out the conservation provisions of the law. Decline in the underground water level in some areas has been slight, and the need for conservation regulations is not deemed urgent at this time.

At recent hearings of the Texas Water Code Committee, a group set up to study water laws and report recommendations to the next legislature, proponents of state control have renewed attacks on the present law. At hearings in Austin, El Paso, Stamford and Pecos, many witnesses testified that they thought the state should set up some kind of agency with broad regulatory powers over users, similar to the powers of the Railroad Commission over oil and gas.

Plains farmers rallied, and on March 20 about 400 showed up at another hearing, in Amarillo, and gave a standing vote of support to the present law.

That's how the farmers got on the spot. Their representatives, questioned by Code Committee-men, had to admit that not a single underground water conservation district has been formed since passage of the law. They had to admit that the conservation provisions of the law are in the hands of the district and don't apply unless a district is formed.

The Water Code Committee adopted a "watch and wait" policy, indicating their willingness to let the present law have a chance to prove itself.

Meanwhile, advocates of state control of underground water have dragged out their old arguments: "Water is water" and the same laws which apply to surface water should apply to underground water. They charge that the local control law is unworkable in that its conservation provisions cannot be carried out.

The farmers are now in a position where they must organize a district, they must apply conservation practices — simply to prove that it can be done.

By their inaction, High Plains farmers are running the risk of losing control of their water. If they fear regulation, they should pause to consider the fact that self regulation would be far better than state regulation. They should also ponder the possibility that under state control, underground water might be prorated on a priority basis in the same manner that the state prorates surface water . . . with municipalities and industries getting precedence over irrigation.

At the present time, there is little risk of the water running out—but there is some danger of control being taken away if the farmers don't prove that they can handle conservation without the state's help.

They should get off the spot and on the ball!

One of the interesting experiences the writer had at the press convention in Amarillo last week-end was a brief conversation with a newspaper man who had a three-year experience in a small city with competition. This man is still guessing at what it cost him to put on a successful scrap with a competitor who was a good man, too, in spite of the fact that he cost the town a lot, cost the successful competitor a lot and didn't make any headway himself for the three wasted years. Which prompts us to suggest that any small city which feels it must have two newspapers will find that the burden of it falls inevitably on the people who advertise. If they must have two newspapers, either well or poorly. If about half want one of them, the other half the other, then the field is split half and half and, after throat cutting and money-losing there is nothing left for one or the other to go ahead and try to take care of the situation. This newspaper man said it was his idea that, when and if, the people get tired and out of patience with the newspaper man they have, they should see that a good man buys him out at a fair price and get rid of him that way. The old "competition" method as a matter of practice works out to cost the business community a lot and break both of the competitors. Competition is a good thing within reason, but this contemporary thinks there should be reason, and consideration, also, of the fact that sometimes competition costs individual firms and the whole community as well as the firms whose fortunes are tied up in the battle of supremacy.

Use shallow cultivation for the rose garden. The young feeder roots that are near the surface of the ground may be destroyed if deep cultivation is practiced.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

The words of an unknown poet is the poem for the week and it will be a good one for your scrap book:

Last eve I passed beside a blacksmith's door,
And heard the anvil ring the vesper chime:

Then looking in, I saw upon the floor
Old hammers, worn with beating years of time.

"How many anvils have you had", said I,
"To wear and batter all these hammers so?"

"Just one," he said with twinkling eye,
"The anvil wears the hammers out, you know."

And so, thought I, the anvil of God's Word
For ages, skeptic blows have beat upon;

Yet, through the noise of falling blows was heard,
The anvil is unharmed—the hammers gone.

My dearest wish has come true:
Ah, yet ere I descend to the grave
May I a small house and large garden have;

And many friends, and many books, both true,
Both wise, and both delightful, too.

My friends from Cone and two from here came this afternoon for the Monday meeting of the Cone

WCS. They brought us a lovely snow-white blanket from the church at Cone. How it warms our hearts as it will keep our bodies warm with its fleecy softness. How dear is the church at Cone and the ones we have worshiped with through the years! Wherever we live or go we know the love and prayers of this little church will be ours and they have shown it by the warm blanket and love and prayers already given us.

And the other dear friends who sent the bedspread that is also white with garlands of beautiful roses for our very soul's delight and our little home more beautiful. Our hearts are the kindness shown us. A thousand friends had no to spare.

Miss Ruth Harmon, of the University of Texas and Stafford of San Antonio recently with Miss Harmon, Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Harmon, Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Harmon, were also guests at the luncheon home.

Candid Camera

Posing in a gay colonial dress with hoops and a high buttoned collar, a pretty little miss with twinkling green eyes smiles at us through a carved picture frame, in the comedy, "Mr. Lincoln's Whiskers", she is Martha Cooper, the charming wife of James Cooper, but in real life this pretty miss is known to all of us as Molly June French. Molly delighted the small town of Shawnee, Oklahoma, with her arrival on February 7 in 1932. (Although she was born in Oklahoma, Molly says she's a true Texan). Now eighteen years of age Molly is five feet and six inches tall, weighs 107 pounds, has long brown hair and a lovely voice that will some day put Lily Pons in the shade.

Molly's likes are sport clothes, people in general, classic and semi-classical music, art, food, ballet, autumn, steak, cherry cobbler, reading, good books, dramatics, and horses.

Her only real dislikes are snakes, hay fever, history, carrot juice, and wearing fussy clothes.

The one thing she's always longed to do is to sing in the opera, "Carmen" at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York City.

Her greatest ambition is just to be a success at whatever she attempts to do.

Molly's great thrill came when she was a freshman and was asked to sing at the 1946 Jr.-Sr. banquet.

She was most scared when she stepped on a snake. As results she went in to hysterics and quickly climbed a hill.

"One Night of Love" and "There's No Tomorrow" head Molly's list of favorite songs.

She loves to draw (confidentially she's very good at it).

The colorful movie called "Till the Clouds Roll By" was Molly's favorite movie and Montgomery Clift, Olivia Haviland, and John Agar are her best liked movie stars.

Her favorite book is "Frenchman Creek," and her biggest weakness is interior decorating and clothes.

Being shy is Molly's worst habit; green is the color that catches her eye; and Baylor is her idea of a perfect college.

Football, tennis, and horseracing are her favorites for sports.

The sweetheart in all her dreams has dark brown hair, grey eyes, and deep dimples. He's 5 ft., 11 inches in height and has that "perfect physique." He is very considerate with a personality that glows.

Molly's perfect day would be spent in Colorado. She'd arise about 6:30 and go for a 30 minute swim. Breakfast would be at 7:00 consisting of strawberries, grapefruit, and milk. After breakfast she'd go walking alone in the woods with a portable wrist radio and listen to beautiful music.

About 9:00 she'd return to her cabin, take a cold shower, and dress in a white linen dress to go riding with her ideal boy in his green convertible. They would journey to a pretty country club and eat lunch of chicken in the basket and ice tea. Following lunch they'd play table tennis for an hour. Molly would then dress to go horseback riding from 3:30 until 5:00. Around 5:30 she and her ideal boy would go to a concert, then to a little Russian cafe to eat dinner and watch the floor show. At 9:00 they'd go yacht riding with four other couples, and Molly would come home around 12:00 so that she could get up early the next morning and spend another day just as pleasing.

Molly, you are a sweet girl whom we all adore. May success and happiness always be yours in years to come.

Will Rogers used to long for the good old days "when you lived until you died and not until you were just run over."

And he remarked, "I wish I could have lived my whole life then and drunk out of a gourd instead of a paper envelope."

He who has a thousand friends has not a friend to spare. And he who has one enemy will meet him everywhere.

Play Cast Contests at Lubbock Saturd'y

The one act play cast, consisting of Dale Roberts, June French, Billee Newberry, Ray Cook, and Barbara Hart, will go Saturday to the regional play contest to be held in Lubbock high school auditorium.

Douglas Whitfill will also go to enter the declamation contest. Mrs. Graves will accompany the group.

Best of Luck to You, Kids!!!

when Charles N. goes to the army? Is it another boy or the dances? ? ? Better be careful.

Lee, what will John have to say about you getting your ring one night and then having another boy give you a watch the next? Well, well, well, what is this going around about Gordon and Anita breaking up??? Is it possible that at last they have. It was beginning to look like the real thing. Wonder what could have been the matter? Could it have been because Jerry Bob wanted to go with Anita and vice versa.

I wonder what Sherwyn has been doing since Bill has been out of town a few days??? Was she a true blue, Bill???

I wonder just what is gonna happen between Billee and Jerry and Trice? One night you see Billee with Trice and the next with Joe and in the mean time, Trice is going with Dorothy. Boy, what a mess! Boy, was Mary walking on clouds the other day when Ted asked her for a date to the Jr. and Sr. banquet. I guess that that is something to be walking on clouds about.

DE QUACKER

Better make up your mind, Bert, before it is too late. Seems as Denny is kinda sweet on Valdonna too. Better look into this a little closer.

Denny Smally was seen with Carolyn Mc. Sunday night. My, my, how that boy does get around. First it is Nancy and Edith; and now it is Carolyn.

Flash the couple of the week — Jimmy Joyce King and Jimmy Jones. Did you kids have fun the other night in the show???

Could Shirley's ideal blonde be a Freshman instead of a Jr. Come on Evans, give the girl a chance. Why will Joyce Myrick be glad

I am just wondering who is going to be the luck boy that gets to go with the new girl, Nancy?? It looks as though Dan is thought. Come on, kids, make it good, you're a cute couple.

Seems as though Dorothy and Sammie had a good time in Canyon. But who wouldn't with Trice, Jr. and Bobby up there.

Pat and Out sure are making a good go about certain things. That's the way I like to see things go, so why not keep it up a little longer? Joy, did Bill buy you that Fish Supper the other night after you volleyball girls won district?? I heard that he was going to. I hope that you succeeded.

Betty and Earl seem to be getting up quite a case these days. Better look into this a little bit more. How about telling us more, Betty. Mary you are letting Jennie Chowning run away with Bish. You had better get on the ball if you still want to go with him.

Quannah Route Linking Pieces of Floydada

Floydada as an important link in the railway network is being told in a mailing list of people on a mailing list of the Santa Fe and Pacific Railroad every month with a mailing piece that goes as far away as San Francisco, and Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

ing them through this area to save big city terminal delays. Apparently Richardson's idea is paying off for every month many hundred carloads of freight are switched to Santa Fe lines here for the west coast and points adjacent, and from the Santa Fe to the Quannah route for consignment to scores of cities and points on the Frisco and connecting lines of the east and south. Richardson was here last week in company with Quin Baker, vice-president and general manager of the line and Chas. H. Sommer, of St. Louis, president. It was a routine study of conditions on the line, together with reports of drought conditions that brought the railway men here for first hand look see.

"Floydada is named every time we contact a prospective customer and every time we make out a bill of lading covering a shipment by way of this gateway," Richardson pointed out.

The Quannah route in its advertising offers a through service by way of Floydada from points west via Santa Fe and the Quannah line and the Frisco and connecting lines to points in a dozen states east of the Mississippi, and conversely from these points to west coast centers.

"One of the interesting human interest things about the service potential opened up some years ago is the ways that people we contact find of pronouncing Floydada. You'd imagine that most anybody could call it Floyd-ada. But they don't. They call it Flo-dadda mostly and stumble around as though it were a mysterious combination of English pronunciation," said Richardson.

Baptists Drive To Save Souls

J. R. WHITE

First Baptist church of Floydada, in the Baptist simultaneous soul saving campaign, has evangelist J. R. White, of Fort Pierce, Florida, here this week in a series of services that began the first of the week and will continue through April 23.

Twice daily worship includes an early-morning prayer and praise session at 7:30 a. m., and an evening worship at 7:30 o'clock.

Earl Greathouse, of Dimmitt, is song leader during the meeting. Gospel singing, gospel preaching, is the motto of the local church in its contribution to the simultaneous campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clements of Williams, Arizona, spent from Sunday until Friday here with Mrs. Clements' sister, Mrs. N. B. Stansell and family. Mrs. Stansell and son, Barry returned home with them for a three weeks visit.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Boykin and daughter spent Sunday here with Mrs. Boykin's sister, Mrs. Lon Blasingsame and family. Mrs. Blasingsame accompanied them to Santa Fe, New Mexico, where they will spend a few weeks vacation.

Work of completing topping on the road east from Floydada to the Motley county line has been delayed by continued cold, by detours on the highway in Motley County from whence crushed rock must come for the surface treatment. Crews of Field Bros. are expected to begin to be released around May 1 from their Groom construction job and rock hauling will begin soon thereafter, with probabilities that work on actual topping will start early in June.

On Floydada-Silverton WPA project work is being concentrated this week on Unit One to the Briscoe county line.

Six representatives from the First National Bank Floydada, attended the South Plains Bankers association held at Plainview Tuesday.

Miss Audrey Ferris spent from Thursday evening until Monday in Dallas and Fort Worth. She attended the horse races while there. Charley L. Berry made a business trip to El Paso this week.

Rites Held Easter Sunday for 89-Year -old Mrs. Steward

Final rites for Mrs. Margaret A. Steward, 89 years old, mother of Mrs. R. B. Gary, of the Harmony

Floydada Fuel Cooperative Meeting Held

Members of the Consumers Fuel association Monday afternoon named John K. West as a new director and elected E. L. Widener for a place on the board after he had served for sometime by appointment, succeeding B. P. Sandefur, jr.

C. O. Spence presided at the meeting held in the American Legion hall, where some 200 members attended.

On the speaking list were Tom C. Jones, controller of CCA, Amarillo; George Blair of the Dallas office of the Texas Federation of cooperatives, and County Agent Bob Gibson. The latter spoke on the boys program and developments in the Cow-Sow-Hen annual competition among junior farmers of the county.

C. O. Spence, president of Floydada Consumers, presided at the sessions. Rev. Sidney Johnston said the invocation, opening the sessions of the gathering.

Entertainment for the afternoon included group singing led by Mrs. J. A. Hutchinson with Mrs. D. W. Douglas accompanist; piano numbers by Mrs. Douglas, and songs by a quartet composed of Floyd Johnston, Mrs. J. A. Hutchinson, Earl Rainier and Al R. Fuchs.

Reports were had from J. E. Elza, manager, and from C. A. White, of the auditing company.

The fuel association has had a very good year, the comparative financial statement indicates and the reports of officials reflected this condition.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Jones have returned home from Stovall Wells, near Graham where they have been taking the baths and resting.

Congo, Educated Monk, in Tent Show

Congo, the educated chimpanzee, will appear in the Plunkett Variety Show's three day performance here next week. His trainer, Capt. Plunkett, also will present dogs, seals and monkeys in the vaudeville acts to accompany three act comedies each night.

Ten members of the family which give the show its name will appear here, in a new flame-proof tent. The family has operated a stage show on the road since 1929 and has a tent show in Texas since 1934. Thirty people are in the company, presenting a three-act comedy and ten acts of vaudeville, with a completely different program each night.

On the vaudeville bill are Miss Jerrie Plunkett, songstress; Kennedy Swain and Goofy Gibbs, comedians; Capt. Plunkett; the famous Plunkett troupe on the bounding trampoline; Miss Billie Plunkett and Miss Ricky Miger, aerialists and contortionists. The new U. V. Black lights (Strob-light) are presented each night, and are listed as "something new and worth coming to see."

The Fire Department is sponsoring the local performance, April 24-25-26.

Coons big Varmints says Harlan Cage of West Texas Variety

Coons grow bigger in West Texas and that may be the reason the 15-pound coon reported last week by The Hesperian as a big one was over-rated. That is the opinion of Harlan Cage, of east Floyd county, who has to deal with coons and other varmints in the area adjacent to the caprock in protecting his stock and barnyard fowls from the wily predatory animals which roam at night.

Cage points out that coons weighing as much as 34 pounds have been caught in this county. Cage said a good many men enjoy coon hunting hereabout.

HAIL INSURANCE

This year in Floyd County your Texas Panhandle Mutual Hail Association is writing $1200.00 Hail Insurance for the same premium that all other companies charge you to write $1000.00.

This week Jim Jones opened up the season by insuring 241 acres of wheat for $10 per acre a total of $2410.00 insurance. That's an extra $400 for the same premium.

I'm proud of our record of writing Insurance and paying losses for Panhandle Mutual Hail Association in the past 6 years. I welcome comparisons. Jim has insured with us several years. From experience he knows how we adjust and pay losses.

This week we paid $75.50 wind damage on Weems Texaco Station. We also paid $100 fire loss on a brooder house of Oliver Allen.

For better service to you I have opened a full time Insurance Office in Floydada. We are next door to Chamber of Commerce at 106 West Missouri St. Come to see us. Our new easy telephone number is 345.

$100 Deductible Is Defended as Good Practice

Should the man who buys insurance on his home or business have to pay the first $100 of loss if a hail or windstorm damages it? Texans, who like to brag about their capricious weather and berate its consequences, aren't sure. Since the Board of Insurance Commissioners decided on Sept. 1, 1946, that the policyholder should stand some of the minor damage of storms, there have been arguments pro and con.

Last March 1, in a test case before the Third Court of Civil Appeals, the so-called "mandatory $100 deductible" came to head. The court was asked to decide if the insurance commissioners have the right to demand that Texans deduct the first $100 of insurance claims for hail and windstorm damage. The court ruled that they did.

Some property owners say it's unfair to make them pay the first $100 of loss. The Board of Insurance Commissioners and the companies who write policies say that it is not only fair, but that it will save the average property owner money in the long run.

Other groups have argued that a property owner shouldn't be forced to buy a policy with a deductible clause if he doesn't want it. Why they ask don't the insurance companies offer two kinds of policies such as automobile owners can buy? One would require the property owner to pay the first $100 of loss. The other, although costing considerably more in premium, would pay for every penny of loss, regardless how small.

Good principals of insurance, so the underwriters claim, make it fair for the policyholder to stand the first $100 of loss. They point out that, after all, the only purpose of insurance is to distribute the burden of a heavy loss.

In simple terms, insurance is a plan whereby property owners join to protect themselves and each other.

from heavy loss. The premiums paid for individual policies are small, but together they make a sizeable "pot" to which all policyholders are welcome in time of need.

When one policyholder suffers a heavy loss, he collects to the extent of his policy from the fund thus created by the monies paid in by all. What might have been a crushing loss to an individual is thus spread to the shoulders of many people.

But if a large number suffer the same loss at the same time, what happens? There isn't enough money in the till to go around. So either more money must be paid in or else the policyholders must stand some of the minor losses themselves.

Insurance men believe that the fairest way is to keep premium rates low and let the property owner stand the first $100 of loss. If the property demands full coverage, premiums would be half again as large as they now are and perhaps even more. This would make insurance so expensive that many people couldn't buy it.

As the order now stands, every hail and windstorm policy says that the property owner must stand the first $100 of loss. Why wasn't this deductible clause made optional, as it is in automobile collision policies. Why can't persons have full coverage if he wants it?

Insurance spokesmen say that the deductible was made mandatory to benefit the property owner, especially the high percentage of persons who have long-term mortgages on their homes. Banks and mortgage companies, because of the large number of real estate loans they make, naturally want the best insurance protection available. In all likelihood, most of them would require that full coverage be carried on mortgaged property.

Because of the much higher rates such insurance would require, the home-purchaser's mortgage payments might be increased to a point where they would be prohibitive.

Both property owners and the mortgage-holders want to avoid that. Too, insurance men argue that the mandatory $100 deductible will decrease premiums, particularly on property outside the seacoast area. By decreasing the number of small claims the companies have heretofore had to pay, the deductible will eventually mean savings in premiums to every policyholder. Lower premiums also may result from the expected decrease in the cost of adjusting claims. Insurance experts say that it costs as much to adjust a $50 claim as it does one for $500. With fewer claims to adjust, the resulting savings can be passed on in the form of lower premiums.

Insurance men are generally agreed that some kind of deductible for windstorm and hail coverage is a necessity. Had the Board of Insurance Commissioners not ordered it, most companies would have ceased writing hail and windstorm insurance altogether or at least refused to sell full coverage policies.

At any rate, the $100 deductible seems here to stay.

Homers in Tenth

Win for Whirlwinds

Floydada High school baseball squad had anything but an impressive showing in their early-spring practice games in anticipation of the opening of conference play on April 14. Many of the youngsters are green hands and are having to learn the mechanics as well as the strategy of the game from scratch.

Last week, however, they whipped out a victory over the Silverton High team, when they displayed some considerable power with the bat. The Winds came from behind in the ninth to tie up the score at 4-4, and went on in the tenth to win 7 to 6. Bill Smith who hit a homer in the sixth repeated in the tenth with two on to tie the score, and Hubert Ring rang down the curtain with a home run after two team mates had fanned out.

Pulston was the winning pitcher, Satterfield the loser.

Conference Games

North half conference games began on April 14 when Floydada met Tulla at Tulla and Lockney played Abernathy at Abernathy.

OPEN CAMPUS DAY

ABILENE—"Open Campus Day" is the new name given the 27th annual senior day program April 29 to be held on the Hardin-Simmons campus at which students of Floydada high school are invited.

More than 4,000 students from Texas high schools are expected. Schools within a radius of 200 miles of Abilene are expected to send their seniors for the day of entertainment and education.

NEW TAX MONEY BEGINS TO ROLL IN TO TREASURY

AUSTIN, April—One million eight hundred thousand dollars receipts under the ten percent tax increases levied by the Special Session of the legislature rolled into the State Treasury in March. All the raises became effective the first of March, but Comptroller, Robert S. Calvert, stated that the payments on crude oil tax and other major taxes are not due until the month after they accrue. For that reason, the full force of the new levies will not be felt until April. Products subject to the new higher rates include cigarettes, cement, sulphur, gas, oil, insurance, automobiles, radios, cosmetics, cards, alcoholic beverages et cetera.

Eugene Mayfield, a student at W. T. S. C. in Canyon, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Mayfield.

Wallace Loyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Loyd, left Monday for El Paso, from whence he will entrain for San Francisco and two or three years service in Japan with the second division of the American forces. Wallace had been visiting for several days with his parents and other relatives while on leave before his take off.

Announce Open House For New Plant April 29

Harry Morckel, proprietor of Morckel Farm Chemical company, announced plans this week for the formal opening at their new location on East Houston street on Saturday, April 29.

The store is already open and business is being conducted there, but Mr. Morckel pointed out the elapsed time would give his organization time to get on the beam, stock up more fully and make some preparations for what he hopes will be a big event for farmers of the area. The use of the new chemicals in farm operations will continue to grow in his belief.

Morckel announced that John W. Buchanan, who has returned recently from the west coast, will be associated with the business as salesman.

Dedication New Parsonage Set For May Seven

With the aid of the stewards of the church the 20 honor guests at the Methodist church supper in the parsonage, last night served the Methodist church members of the church in a fellowship supper. In the afternoon the church is to be dedicated on the Wednesday night. The church members are to be acquainted with the progress of the church for the year.

man, who is a nation-wide travelingly decorated," said the church. Dr. Smith visited here briefly, guest of J. M. Willson.

Rev. R. N. Huckabee, the pastor of the church, smiling behind his hand, suggests he is negotiating for a "long term lease" on the premises.

God Has Not Changed

(By Mrs. Bennie M. Rose)

"Knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of their inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ. But he that doeth wrong shall receive for that wrong that he has done; and there is no respect of persons." Colossians 3:24-25.

God is the same yesterday, today and forever. We acknowledge God to be above all and His Word to be absolutely true. Recognizing the wages of sin to be death and the gift of God to be eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

God is God and sin is sin. In every generation and in our generation sin will blight and destroy the soul of man. "Man looketh upon the outward appearance but God looketh upon the heart." Many people wear tinted glasses. The things of God and the things of the devil take on a similar hue. Their eyes are blinded. They cannot see this life to be a proving ground, with those who overcome the wiles of Satan as the only ones to enter heaven—heaven the place where sin cannot enter.

Too many hold to their pet sins while calling them other names. They say their sins are habits, customs, or take their natures to task for the things they do. "The natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God for they are foolishness unto him, neither can they know them because they are spiritually discerned." - I Cor. 2:14. "Ye must be born again."

Although man has failed to heed God's word, God has not changed. Sin will keep us out of heaven. The last beatitude tells us "blessed are they that do His commandments that they may have a right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city." Rev. 22:14. One sin brings condemnation. "For whosoever shall keep the law and yet offend at one point is guilty of them all." James 2:10.

The world is ever changing. Stocks of great value today may be worthless tomorrow. Happiness today may turn to sorrow before nightfall. Loved ones leave us and go to their reward, our best laid plans are changed. But God continues to call right right, wrong wrong, sin sin, and righteousness righteousness.

"Knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance. For ye serve the Lord Christ. But he that doeth wrong shall receive for that wrong he has done: And there is no respect of persons." God has not changed.

In El Paso last week to attend the convention of the West Texas Judges and Commissioners association were Commissioners Fred Clark and P. L. Hart together with their wives, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Clark, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. May and Judge G. C. Tubbs.

Growing Empire Documented in Film and Sound

Critics have been unanimous in their praise of West Texas Gas Company's "FUEL FOR A GROWING EMPIRE", a film document of natural gas and life on the South Plains of Texas. Filmed during a year of unprecedented agricultural production and activity, this new creative effort is a simple and directly told picture-narrative.

Theme for "Fuel for a growing empire" is based upon the explorations of an eminent army explorer, Captain Randolph Marcy, whose travels carried him across the section of West Texas served by West Texas Gas company. What the captain saw and reported a century ago to his superior later became a congressional report and is now documented in the congressional records.

The camera lens opens on a familiar prairie dog and his West Texas home scenes of the Canadian river and the Palo Duro canyon are then shown, representing the possible trail which Captain Marcy followed during his trip. Skyline views of various West Texas towns appear and as the story progresses, the camera picks up impressive scenes symbolic of cotton production, potato harvest, wheat and maize combining as well as other area activities.

The picture uses map sequences to show the area served by West Texas Gas company. Other scenes show the equipment and facilities involved in the production, transmission and distribution of natural gas.

It is a kind of free verse, so to speak, that can be written about the cities and towns of Carl Sandberg's poetry—it is the kind of film West Texans like and even get a little emotional about the facts and truths of the area.

Bill McCarroll, advertising manager for West Texas Gas company was in charge of the script and directed the making of the picture.

Yessir, Rained Out, Matched Golf Play

Floydada and Crosbyton golf club members paired off as usual with lots of enthusiasm and will to win last Sunday afternoon on Floydada golf course—and as usual a cold shower that wet everybody to the hide and froze them stiff put a stop to proceedings, just as Gene Collins predicted.

The Crosbyton club had some 20 contestants ready for the paring, and the Floydada club had about 30. Some played some nine holes, others got well teed away when the shower fell and the match was postponed to some future date.

The future date will be set for a time that we need rain fearfully bad again, Collins said. The golfers can't have a lot of fun that way but it will help the country, Collins thinks. "We are not complaining and we are not against rain," Collins said in reporting the miscue of the club matched play.

Announce Open House For New Plant April 29

Harry Morekel, proprietor of Morekel Farm Chemical company, announced plans this week for the formal opening at their new location on East Houston street on Saturday, April 29.

The store is already open and business is being conducted there, but Mr. Morekel pointed out the elapsed time would give his organization time to get on the beam, stock up more fully and make some preparations for what he hopes will be a big event for farmers of the area. The use of the new chemicals in farm operations will continue to grow is his belief.

Morekel announced that John W. Buchanan, who has returned recently from the west coast, will be associated with the business as salesman.

In connection with the church is the church on the Wednesday night mission for the church which are acquainted occasions which are the progress of the church for the year.

Christian feasts together have been in high favor since the days of the Apostles," said Rev. R. N. Huckabee, the church minister.

man, who is a nation-wide travelingly decorated," said the church er. Dr. Smith visited here briefly, guest of J. M. Willson.

Rev. R. N. Huckabee, the pastor of the church, smiling behind his hand, suggests he is negotiating for a "long term lease" on the premises.

Old Settlers Meet Saturday afternoon

Members of the official family of Floyd County Pioneers association, who planned to have their first planning meeting for the 1950 annual gathering on May 28, ran into conflicting dates and interests Saturday afternoon and did not get together. They had planned to meet at the office of Mrs. Maud Hollums at 2:30 o'clock.

I. C. Surginer, president, said that the postponed meeting will be held next Saturday, April 22. With the date for the annual gathering now only slightly more than 30 days away he said it is high time the old timers make preparations for the event.

Question of where the meeting will be held will be one of the prominent matters for discussion, said Mr. Surginer yesterday. Some have advanced the idea that the pioneers do not have the meeting this year, he said. These and other matters will be threshed out, he said, when those interested gather Saturday. The hour is 2:30 o'clock, the place Arthur B. Duncan Abstract company office.

citizens efforts, or retain our status quo, because our people are not interested in giving time and effort to develop this area into something great. Today, just as it was in the early days of our history, there are men, farmers, cobblers, storekeepers who will ask, "but why should I contribute either my time or my efforts to such undertaking, it won't increase my profits any?" From a short range point of view this is probably true— they might not see any immediate benefit.

The principals for which our forefathers struggled were intangibles—freedom, independence and self determination. Very few of the men who worked the hardest, ever lived to enjoy the fruits of their work. To them, it was more important to achieve these aims for posterity. What they did recognize was the fact that as men they had a responsibility to their fellow men, to make this country a better place to live, for their having lived.

The above is a way of explaining some of the thinking that is back of an organization like the Chamber of Commerce. Men in the community who knew that Floydada would never "be on the map" without working to put it there, organized a Chamber of Commerce to accomplish this end. They knew that what the town was, reflected on them as people. Call it pride, or call it by any other name. It does remain that it is important to everyone in the community, to work for the advancement and progress of the community.

What is the Chamber of Commerce? The Chamber of Commerce is your community servant—an organization through which civic minded men, and business firms may work together for the betterment of the community. The Chamber of Commerce in Floydada is only as good as the members make it. With the cooperation of even more of the citizens of the community, who become members, the load is lighter on all, while the progress of the community makes even greater strides forward.

Do you belong to the Chamber of Commerce?
