1951 Holidays Recommended

The first of five holidays recommended for retail business in Floydada was generally observed on new year's day, when doors of establishments other than drug stores and cafes were closed in 90 per cent of the business district.

Also the day was a slow, draggy one for those which did keep open. An occasional store was found by the reporter where the whole force was working at high speed behind closed doors getting inventories completed and making other changes incident to opening a new set of books with which to begin 1951.

Four More Holidays

While some businesses will observe more than five holidays in the year, A. M. Standefer, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said there is general agreement among managers representing 90 per cent or more of the retailers on observing:

New Year's Day, January 1; Memorial Day, May 30; Fourth of July; Thanksgiving day; Christmas Day.

Drouth Relief Seen in Wet Snow Tuesday

The drouth was not broken over Floyd county Tuesday but one of the best-falling snow in years made a good start toward relief from drouth conditions which have plagued the area since early last September.

Officially registered at 59-hundredths of an inch of moisture by Carl Rodgers at the city hall, the snow was ushered in on a broad, slow-moving cold front that extended nearly 900 miles wide. The moisture began falling about 10 o'clock in the form of a warm shower, which gradually cooled off to wet flakes of snow. These fell intermittently all the remainder of the day and until 10 o'clock at night.

The snow melted almost as fast as it hit the warm ground until dark Tuesday night when it began to cover over. Temperatures recorded at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning was 16 degrees above zero, thawing out after mid-morning.

Farmers generally looked upon the snow as the most beneficial form that precipitation could take at this time of the year. In addition to wetting down slowly it afforded a warm blanket overnight for wheat. Freeder roots of wheat can now begin to run down the way Leroy Durham of Sand Hill, expressed it, and others spoke in similar terms. Moisture also will put many forage feed haulers into fields which have been too dry for successfully moving bundles for weeks.

Medical, Dental Personnel And Facilities Said Ample

Dr. A. E. Guthrie is announcing this week that he will no longer hospitalize patients in the Floydada (Guthrie) hospital, and at the same time calls attention to the fact that facilities of Peoples hospital and Pitts hospital have been offered to him in cases of hospitalization.

Dr. Guthrie said he will continue to maintain his office and clinic at the hospital location at 302 South Main, but will avail himself of the offer of the other hospitals. Changes and re-grouping in local medical and hospitalization circles, principally brought about by the defense program, are due to be completed in February when Dr. Jack Kuhn, graduate of Baylor Dental school, Dallas, will be associated in the practice of dentistry at the Floydada Dental clinic.

Net loss to the community, however, will be one dentist, with the departure of Drs. H. H. Herbst and James D. Wester. Dr. Herbst already has reported for service with the armed forces and Dr. Wester leaves for Fort Sam Houston the latter part of this month.

Other changes in local medical and associated professional personnel include the departure last week of Dr. J. H. Davey, who is taking up practice in Burk Burnett, and the resignation of Mrs. G. L. Martin as business administrator of People's hospital to enter college to complete work on her degree in nursing education.

Apparently the Floydada Area Has Given up all of the Medical and Hospitalization Personnel it Can Sacrifice if Continued Welfare and Health of the Community is to be Considered and Unless the Defense Demands become much more serious the danger of further loss in these professions can be minimized.

However, in some areas selective service boards have had to step in and prevent communities with considerable numbers of families from the loss of their last physician to the armed forces.

More and better automobiles, tractors and machinery are on the farms of the country, and better shod, —far and away better and more plentiful than when we entered our last war era — makes the prospect of being able to carry on more encouraging. Principal worry, right now, to tell the plain truth, is the possibility that we may be entering the war and a drouth period simultaneously. A drouth during the years of first world war, the books tell us, certainly made the years from 1917 through 1920 mighty hard ones for this part of the plains country. People borrowed money at 10 per cent to buy bonds that drew three per cent, and made contributions to the Red Cross whether they could or not. The people are much more war-weary now than they were then. There is no longer any glamor and the realization has come that war does not pay even the winner. Successful as to victory in two bitter, all-out war efforts within a half century, the bitter fact that the victor loses as well as the conquered, has come to be realized. In war everybody loses, nobody wins. What we stand a chance to lose in this particular war and its aftermath is freedom, whatever may be the outcome of the struggle with the tyrants in the Kremlin. We can but hope we shall be fortunate. Would the prayers and the supplications for divine aid result in some miraculous loosening of the chains which the Stalinites have on the people and thus give us victory before we lose all? And a chance to re-construct a new and better world before it is too late? The per centage of knees bent in suppliance to the good Lord may be too few to be heard. A lot of us are still mighty stiff-necked, planning without regard to the sound advice found in Holy Writ.

Further mechanization of the country's industry, especially in agriculture, seems inevitable if the materials can be had to manufacture the machines that will be demanded and if the manpower continues to be drained off into the war machine and the defense plants which will support it. One of the principal problems in small cities and towns is going to be that of maintaining something of the air of well-being on the home front. Will the Amarillos and Fort Worths, which have so patriotically rushed out and assured their continued growth and prosperity during a prolonged war effort, drain the flow of business to a walk in the small towns like they did in the war years of the 1940s. It now appears they may. How to meet this kind of a probability can be the principal problem of officials and business leaders in communities like Floydada in the years ahead. The war effort is going to make the country over, they say. How can a small city keep its financial and business affairs in a healthy state against the odds? We do not like to consider this bald question but we had as well cast around and see what can be done about it.

Since about 90 percent of all farms in Texas now have electricity, there is little excuse for farmers to do their chores in the dark.

When the tire supply was so low during the last war it was at a time when the principal sources of raw rubber had been cut off and synthetic rubber was being made only in limited quantities and most of the synthetic rubber plants were still on the drawing board. While it is difficult to forecast anything in such a fast-changing time, with much of our future activities wrapped up in decisions that will be made in the Kremlin, it is a fact that conditions in the raw rubber world and in the synthetic rubber factories, as well as the supply of rubber products are far and away better than they were in the first years of the preceding decade. The country, also, is producing most everything else on far and away bigger schedules than were even dreamed of in 1941. The factories and the minds of the people are geared to much, much greater production than that fateful year. For 10 years or more back in 1941 the whole economy political and otherwise, had been geared to the thought of holding production down to consumption to keep from breaking the backs of agriculture and manufacturing. The austerity which is foreseen by high officials, therefore, is not one of supply in most of the lines where the average man would put his money. It is that the war effort is going to demand so much of one's income that he will lack the money to buy the things he would like to have and may be hard put to it to buy the things he and his family need, after taxes.

Not long ago we wrote in this part of the paper that eggs would be in more plentiful supply and that the consumer would get them cheaper. We meant in 1951, we now remember. Strange that we did not say as much and stranger still that eggs went up right away to a new 30-year high. Now, we make the prediction that tuna will be cheaper in the coming months and that this next to salmon the most popular canned fish food will be a good buy for the woman who has her eye on the budget and also wants the family to have something the members like to eat. We also predict that sugar will be in plentiful supply and that the price will not go up a great deal. Read The Hesperian to keep up to the minute on the outlook.

Water Threat Alerts Plains Users' Assns

LITTLEFIELD — Reactivation of one county organization and formation of another brings to 15 the number of units participating in the program of the High Plains Water Conservation and Users' Association, the group's office here reports.

The Deaf Smith County Water Conservation association, at an enthusiastic meeting attended by 200 underground water users, was reorganized in Hereford. Tom McFarland, manager of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce is president. Other officers are John D. Aiken, vice president; Claude Rickerts, treasurer; and Bruce Miller, secretary.

The new unit is the Hockley County Water Conservation Association, which is headed by Burnett Roberts and Bert Eads of Leveland, both active in the Hockley County Farm Bureau.

Inactive for more than a year, the Deaf Smith group said it was reorganizing to be ready to meet future challenges against local control of underground water. Officers warned of "the constant threat of forces in Austin and elsewhere seeking to gain control of our underground water."

The Hockley group, Roberts said, "wants to carry its share of the burden in this constant fight to safeguard our water rights. The law says the water belongs to the man who owns the land; we want to keep it that way."

Associate members of the High Plains association are in 10 counties, Hockley, Lamb, Crosby, Deaf Smith, Swisher, Bailey, Dallas, Floyd, Castro, Hale, Farmer, Lubbock, Briscoe, and Randall, plus the Petersburg association, which takes in a small area bordering on three counties.

Robin Griffin boatswain's mate, third class, USN of 402 West California street, Floydada, Texas is serving aboard the attack transport USS Henrico.

The ship has been transporting troops and supplies to the Korean area. As a member of the United Nations Naval Forces the navy man has participated in the landing of troops and supplies at Pusan, Inchon and Wonsan.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

GIFT OF DAYS

(Nellie Witt Spikes)

By R. H. Grenville

A NEW YEAR, yes, and something more—

A clean white page, an open door To pathways never trod before! Not twelve months drably cut and dried.

That twelve hours divided and subdivided, But wings fullfledged and stretching wide.

For what is gift of days to me Unless in truth I learn to see That life is opportunity.

While every dawn that thrills my sight Unfolds in newness and delight.

A resurrection of the night. I am sure that all are wishing and praying for a peaceful year. Peace for all nations and for the peace of God which fills the soul when working in full harmony with Him.

We had such a fine Christmas. Beautiful greeting cards cheered us and brightened our book shelves. With a sigh and prayer for each one who sent us a remembrance of their love, I put the cards away. They are too precious to destroy now. Our children came and five of the grandchildren were with us. Cary did not get to come with Anne.

The fruit cake turned out well and we have one left so come around and have a bite with us.

Seed catalogues are coming in with their gay flowers and fruits. The income has to be turned in, so we still be busy. Wilma and Paul, Joe and Billy are moving to Cone. They have bought the Vaughan Store Margaret Nell was sick during Christmas and Dale stayed all night with us.

I could not get enough looking at the lights during the holidays. Several times we drove around, enjoying every house with its tree or its pretty lights. We made an enjoyable trip with A. C. Carthel and family to see the beautiful scene near Quitaque. We sat there with reverence in our hearts and felt something of what filled the hearts of the shepherds and wise men so long ago at the sight of the bright star over a stable. Wise men still find the star and the Christ that it points to.

May this New Year of 1951 bring you peace, joy and contentment. Peace for all the world. May it bring the pleasure of work well done, the joy of serving humanity and the blessing of God to you all.

Holiday guests in the Floyd Ballard home were Messrs. and Mmes. A. J. Ballard, of Odessa, W. C. Boren of Corpus Christi, W. L. Hallmark and children of Lamesa, Ted Lawson and son of Lubbock; Charles Ryals and children of Amarillo, W. A. Baker and children, Floyd Lawson and children, and Gene Lawson all of Floydada, and Mrs. Lewis Ballard of Crowell.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Boren of Corpus Christi, have been here visiting relatives and friends including Messrs. and Mmes. L. G. Withers, Floyd Ballard, Bob Kingston, Jess Shurbet, and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Boren in Lubbock.

Sorghum Sweety

Dehydrating sweet sorghum, a new variety of an old crop, promises a better way of feeding one of the storage crops in the central Plains.

Each of the sugar in the sorghum is lost when the crop is cured whether or made into silage. Instead black-strap molasses is added to sorghum fodder to make the palatability and energy of the roughage, or is used in feed supplements. Recent tests have shown that sorghum has its natural sugar when the crop is dehydrated. This dehydrated product may have 10 percent or more sugar and is sweet as cookies.

Several commercial companies in Kansas are already dehydrating and pelleting sweet sorghum. They use alfalfa dehydrating equipment. By adding sorghum to their operations, dehydrating can do double duty. The equipment is in use with alfalfa for less than three months a year—late May to August. Sorghum can be dehydrated until into Oct.

The recent introduction of improved varieties by sorghum breeders of Kansas and the U. S. Department of Agriculture is contributing heavily to this new development. Several new sorghum varieties are especially sweet and are ideal for dehydrating. They range from early to late in maturity. Early varieties, such as Ellis, mature in August, but the later varieties such as Kansas Sourless, matures in September and October.

Sorghum pellets are nutritious and palatable to cattle. They are particularly valuable when other feeds containing protein and mineral supplement are added to the dehydrated sorghum meal before pelleting. Dehydrated sorghum meal pellets are easy to handle, store, and

Ladybeetle Is Farmers' Aide

The term "cache" has often been used in connection with the hiding place of valuable. Entomologists have accepted it to describe the place where ladybeetles gather to winter. L. P. Rockwood, retired entomologist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, emphasize the value of these wintering quarters. They should be protected from fire. Also, the increasing use of some of the new chemicals may be a hazard to the ladybeetles, because someone who does not realize their value might use poison to get rid of a lot of "bugs."

Ladybeetles are friends of the farmer. They prey on aphids or plant lice that attack many crops. Mr. Rockwood has given special attention to several species that help to hold in check the pea aphid of the Northwest which is a pest of peas and also attacks other important crops such as alfalfa and vetch.

Ladybeetles are so useful in the fields that great effort have been made at times to colonize them. Their habits of wintering in colonies has made practical this whole sale collection. Mr. Rockwood concludes, however, that colonization is not likely to be worth while because the beetles scatter when liberated. They also scatter widely from the winter "caches" and are likely to go into fields where aphids are so plentiful as to be a pest.

Rockwood and other entomologists have observed and studied these "caches." But they still know comparatively little about them. "The caches of these ladybeetles are more common and widely distributed than is generally known," he comments, "and no one knows where the beetles come nor where they go." He and others have observed, however that the caches areas are likely to have great hordes of ladybeetles in the fall after aphids have been serious pests in crops. Also, they note that when ladybeetles become abundant in fields in spring, a visit to a cache area will show that most of the beetles have cleared out.

Individual beetles do not live to return to the wintering grounds. But the same species returns to a cache area year after year. The cache areas, as a rule, are not what a human mind would rate as a sheltered winter in marshy and boggy areas.

Methodist Join in Mid-Century Prayer for Just, Lasting Peace

Local Methodists joined Sunday (December 31) with the denomination's nearly nine million members in a national mid-century prayer for peace, it was announced today by the Rev. R. N. Huckabee, pastor of the Floydada Methodist church.

He said the call to special prayer was sounded by the Methodist council of bishops and the church's general board of evangelism in view of the "exceptionally grave condition of the world today."

In a letter to pastors of 42,000 Methodist churches, the board urged every congregation to unite in "a chain of mid-century Sunday, beseeching God's guidance in converting a world crisis to a just and lasting peace."

Declaring that "mankind's hope for freedom is in desperate jeopardy," the plea for prayer coincided with a similar request by the president of the new National Council of Churches, Episcopal Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill, of New York. He urged all protestants to offer prayers on December 31 for "a peace which is the fruit of righteousness."

The letter to pastors, stressing individual and group participation, stemmed from the following call by Methodist bishops:

"With a sense of deep urgency we call our fellow Methodist and all others who will to join us in special prayer.

"Let us pray daily for the leaders of our country and of the United Nations, that God will give them wisdom and courage to seek and to do His will.

"Let us pray for all who are under the shadow of war; for those who do battle for us; the homeless, the hungry, the children. Let us pray for our enemies that God may lead them in the way of righteousness and peace."

Medical Groups

H. Pitts, Dr. H. H. Best, and Dr. A. E. Guthrie, dentists are Dr. C. M. Thacker, Dr. James D. Wester and Dr. Perry Smith.

Laboratory facilities and equipment for hospital treatment and surgery in the community have been greatly expanded in the past 18 months, which will be helpful during the emergency.

After an extended Christmas visit in Texas with relatives, including Mr. Surgeon's parents here, Dr. and Mrs. L. C. Surgeon, the Leslie Surgeons left Sunday for their home in Arlington, Virginia. Mr. Surgeon is the chief of the first division, Rural Electric Administration.

Miss Hester West of Abilene, who spent the holidays with her father, John L. West, returned home last Friday.

Road, Bridge Jobs Progress

Road and bridge jobs in Floyd county are resuming activity this week, following the Christmas and New Year slow-downs.

Activity was high during the good weather of December by the present road and bridge jobs athwart the terrain in northeast Floyd county. The highway department, constructing the road some seven and a half miles south from Quitaque across the Languish and Quitaque creeks, had fills already up on both sides of the Languish creek job, said Resident Engineer James F. Potts Tuesday.

Meanwhile Bell, Braden, Barker and Gilvin, the two-river bridge contractors, had nearly all their piles poured for the Languish creek job and ready to start driving. The Quitaque creek piling will follow. The contractors have this job at $83,000 in round figures.

Dougherty Work Soon
Work on hard-surfacing the road south from Dougherty to the Crosby county line is due to start quickly. P. N. Lambert, Albuquerque, New Mexico, contractor, has his crusher and shovels here for the caliche work. In addition to this 8 1/2 miles of pavement Lambert also has the contract for the 3 1/2 mile Farm to Market road at Gasoline in Briscoe county. He has these jobs at $85,000. The Dougherty road is a 75-25 000. The Dougherty road is a Floyd county and the State Highway department, the county's portion of the money being provided out of the county road bond issue.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Nichols had their sons and families at home with them for the Christmas holidays. They were Mr. and Mrs. Claud Nichols and children from Boulder City, Nevada, and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Nichols and Billy from Harrold, South Dakota. They returned to their home last of the week.

Judge and Mrs. O. B. Olson had their son O. H. Olson of Tulla at home on Christmas day for Christmas dinner.

Mrs. Leroy McDonald and daughters, Betty and Diane of Tulla visited last Thursday with her parents, Judge and Mrs. O. B. Olson.

John and Kinder Farris and son, George, and Edward Wester attended the football game, in the Cotton bowl in Dallas on Monday.

Mayel Orman, Teacher in the school at Umbarger, spent the holidays with his father, P. L. Orman and Mrs. Orman and other relatives.

Farming Texas Style, Versus California Way

(By L. A. Marshall, 629 South Wall Street, Floydada)

Good morning neighbors! I'm a very happy this morning, this beautiful snow is falling so nicely. Each snow flake is making a grain of wheat.

I enjoy visiting with my neighbors via The Hesperian. My sincere desire is to do something that would help the farmer to be happier and to make more money. Our nation is slowly realizing that the farmer is one of the main cogs in our wheel of economy.

The farmer is the biggest buyer of whatever you are trying to sell in our nation. When our farmers have money the nation is prosperous. They have money when they can sell their products at a fair price. If not they stop buying and the wheels of our nation start squeaking and stop turning and we have what we call a depression. My idea is when we help the farmer to get more money for his products we are helping our nation and ourselves also.

Farmers Advisory Board
I have recently returned from a visit to California. The county commissioners there give their farmer more aid than ours through their county agent. Only they call theirs the Farmers Advisory board. They furnish free soil analysis and laboratory, plant, seed, fertilizer and inspection departments.

They all have irrigation and with the above assistance, the banker will loan the farmer (who will work) all the money he needs because he will pay off.

Our farmers here are just beginning to learn to use fertilizer. There is quite a bit to learn about how to get best results. California farmers would no more think of trying to raise a crop without fertilizer than they would try to raise a crop without water.

Quite a bit of our grain sorghum is going to the west coast for chicken feed. Farmers here is a thought for today! The California farmer lets Texas farmers raise his grain sorghums because California's farmers get 500 to 1,000 dollars per acre for what he raises. Texas farmers get one to three hundred dollars per acre for his (as the Californian calls it, Oyp Corn, meaning our grain sorghum). They say when one buys our milk for corn they get gyped.

Handling Lots of Money
The outlook for good prices for farmers products was never better. If you can produce you can handle a lot of money. The picture is, Uncle Sam pays you a big price, you put the money in your front pocket, the income man takes it out of your back pocket, but it is a lot of fun.

You can never lick a man who keeps smiling.

I wish to say to the wheat farmers of this county, I believe you have the best set up of any farmers I have ever found. You have nice clean, fertile smooth land, spend about 3 months out of the year planting and harvesting a crop. You do not make much money per acre but you have no labor troubles, stumps, rocks, ditches etc. Your west coast neighbors have to work practically around the calendar. He make about five times as much per acre, but it is not easy. They must use migratory labor, principally Mexican. Regardless of what you pay there, when a bunch comes on your farm, as soon as they can elect a spokesman, they sit down and stop your work with, "We want more money!"

Money is not everything even in farming. Even I like to do a little fishing.

Mrs. Katie Conner

the pastor, R. Earl Allen, officiating at the services. Burial was in Floydada cemetery under the direction of the Harmon Funeral home.

Pallbearers were grandsons of the deceased—Robert Conner, W. T. Conner, Fred Conner, Stanley Conner, Jay Fortenberry and Charles Higgins.

Federal Crop Insurance Aid As Stabilizer

For 1951, Floyd county farmers have been asked to plant increased acreage of cotton since it is in this area that such increases can be made with the least expenditure of manpower and equipment. The federal government is requesting this increased planting to meet the requirements of the "emergency" which has been declared. Such was the statement from the local PMA office this week.

Ray S. McEntire, Administrative Officer of PMA, said, "With the increased cost of production, farmers are looking for some means of eliminating the possibility of complete failure in the event the cotton crop is destroyed by causes beyond the control of the farmer."

He continued in discussing the all-risk insurance: "Federal Crop insurance is the only protection of its kind available for farmers. It is backed by the federal government in order to meet a need that has existed and been recognized since farming began. Through it, the producer can add a basic principle of good business—protection of the investment of his operations. It provides protection comparable to that which has long been available to business men through private companies and is considered an essential part of business operations."

The service that crop insurance renders goes beyond the producer and his family. Crop insurance not only protects the well-being of the farm family, but it cushions the impact of crop failure on the local business community, the stability of the nation's agriculture and the national economy.

Interested producers should contact the local PMA Office where rates and applications are available.
