He Gets His Freedom . . . First Trial in New Court House Successful Habeas Corpus Plea

Robert Travis Hancock, of Crosby grandjury investigation and poscounty, did two unusual things Fri- sible indictment, it was pointed out day of last week-he helped make in the court proceedings, lasting court house and judicial history and he successfully resisted, for the time at least, extridition from Texas to Arkansas to answer a charge of client. Sheriff Roy Hillin, of Crosburglary returned by a Johnson by county and County Attorney county, Arkansas, grand jury. It was thefirst case to come up in a court of justice in which use was made of the new court house.

When the hearing was transferred to Floyd county on Hancock's habeas corpus plea, Judge Chapman a chair from County borrowed Judge Frank L. Moore, and borrowed the use of the new district court room from the contractors. The hearing was carried on while the inspection for final approval of the court house job was being made. There were still hammers going in far parts of the court house as the judge called the court to order. The air conditioning system was not in operation and the court room was stifling hot.

Hancock's plea was sustained by Judge Chapman and the defendant was ordered released. An error, probably in the office of the governor of Arkansas, in the writ of extradition, which the Texas governor honored. got Hancock his freedom. Hancock was indicted by the Johnson county, Arkansas, grand jury, but the writ did not so read. It said "information" instead of "indictment." a fine point but important to a man's rights in the United States. You can extradite a man on a charge by indictment of a grandjury. You can't extradite him on "information," which is only the basis for a merce sponsored "Clerk of the Month" contest is increasing daily, as the final deadline for votes to be counted in the July Contest approaches, according to T. P. Collins, chairman of the retail trades committee. Although the actual number of votes received to date has not been determined, Mr. Collins states that his committee is very well pleased with the interest which is being shown by patrons of the retail and service establishments of Floydada in the contest. All votes must be postmarked not later than midnight, July 31 in order to be counted. A similar contest will be conduct-

The winner of the contest will receive a cash award from the Chamber of Commerce as well as other recognition from the sponsoring committee.

Dinner at Harmony

Another project of the committee under the leadership of Mr. Collins is a series of farmer and business man dinners which is being conducted at various rural communities this year. The first of the dinners is slated to be held at the Harmony Community Center on August 3 at? 8:00 P. M. Approximately 50 Floydada business men will take as many farmers as their guests to the dinner which will be prepared by the women of the Harmony community.

officials to see. Here for the requested inspection were S. B. Haynes and M. L. Stiles, of the firm of Haynes and Kirby, architects. No major lacks were found in the construction but minor requirements were set out to be finished before the acceptance. The architects view the building as a good piece of construction work throughout.

Has Outstanding Features Bearing out this statement Stiles said Friday it is a job of construction with which he is proud to be associated. The old structural frame and the new construction have been blended, into the new building in a way to make it quite acceptable as a modern seat of justice. In the Amarillo, planning the elimination of long stairways and steps was one con-

Views and Comment Convenience is not counted among the Is it true that many newspaper editorials are written these days as the result of a thousands of items retailed by the modern temptation for an editor to use the government for a "filler" when he is suffering from a mental vacuum? One critic of newspapers, country newspapers in particular, raises the thought. "Unable to hit on a good idea at deadline time, it is an easy out to start thinking about Washington. No matter how exhausted the editor may be, a mental picture of the goings-on in that city constitutes the necessary shot in the arm to get the editorial column completed before press time." The critic has something there. Newspapermen have a way of taking the easy way out at times the same as others. The supply of things to beef about is inexhaustible, the same writer says, and he wonders "how an editorial page could continue if we suddenly were faced with a heaven on earth-everybody honest, everybody fair, unselfish and reasonable and going about doing unto others as they would have others do unto them." It would be tough. What if every editorial written had to be of a congratulatory or pat-on-theback variety, everybody doing right, no thievery, no chicanery, no sharp shooting. That would get to be a pretty tiresome editorial page, would it not?

Since we are speaking of newspapermen and newspaper making, we mention the matter of war advertising, for which every newspaper has borne a tremendous burden through two wars in the last four decades, with a promise of a third as "inevitable." This is a gripe that will fill up an inch or two of the void of which the newspaper critic speaks. What do you suppose an automobile manufacturer would say if he received a letter from the government reading:

"The United States would like your help in making tanks, but no funds have been authorized for this purpose. We are enclosing specifications and hope you will be able to produce them as a public service, or will find patriotic citizens who will sponsor their production."

Such a request would seem ridiculous and the tank builder is not going to receive any such request. But the newspaperman has it as steady diet practically in every week's mail. He is taxed to help pay the war cost of others and at the same time asked to produce the war product he manufactures for free.

food store, but nevertheless, it is one of the most important commodities, appreciated by the nation's shoppers. So says a big dealer and big advertiser in the newspapers, adding Hospital Patients. 10-11 a. m.; 2-4 p. m. 7-8 p. m. Clinic open Monday through Sat-urday 9 a. m. to 12 noon, 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. Closed Sunday. Peoples Hespital Clinical Laboratory And Department Of X-ray Approved Clinical Laboratory Tests this point, that convenience is not costing the nation's food buyers more. "Americans are paying less of their income for comparable grocery products than ever before in history." You may want to argue the point with him, but he is the type who does not make statements loosely and he might outpoint you in a discussion because he has the information. "Convenience," for instance, might mean the frozen foods and frozen food concentrates you buy in 1951 which you could not buy in 1945, only six years ago. Hundreds of items undreamed of six years ago occupy prominent places on the grocer's shelves. These new methods of processing and distribution add up to that invaluable commodity-Convenience. 0-

Does it give you a sort of a glow to pick up the newspaperman on an error, especially if it becomes convenient to tell the newspaper force about it? We have run across an editor, who like all editors, frets pretty often about typographical errors in his newspaper. He puts this new angle to the thought, however:

"Sometimes, several readers will tell us about such and such an error, usually on the humorous side. We have never felt so bad about the occasional ones that occur, no matter how much checking is done, since we learned that Chinese editors insert them on purpose because of the inflationary effect they have on the readers ego when he finds them."

There is quite an art to window shopping and those who practice it often spend some interesting bits of time seeing and learning things which you get from a merchandiser and from no other source. In whatsoever line he operates a good merchandiser often puts new ideas into his windows. which is where he tries to entice your eye into viewing with approval. Some of the better merchandisers in Floydada have such windows often. Shop the windows on your evening "excursions" about town, and do it often. You'll enjoy the experience.

Financial Responsibility Law

All indications are that Governor Shivers has now signed the Shofner Bill which will become law on January 1st, 1952.

The stipulations of the bill are namely this: That all drivers or owners of vehicles involved in accidents must promptly deposit with the Texas Department of Public Safety assets which may consist of an insurance policy, securities or cash-to cover damages up to $15,-000. The State authorities will then investigate the accident, fix the blame and assess the damage.

Failure to pay the damages by any one of the three above mentioned methods, will forfeit driver's and car license until damages, either bodily or property are made good.

Although this does not become law until January 1, 1952, the sooner you begin using the coverage the better off you will be. It is our suggestion that you begin carrying liability insurance with $15,000 in limits. to be properly protected when the new law goes into effect.

Our companies stand ready to serve you in any way possible and we invite your inquiries as to any way in which we can be of special service to you.

Yours very truly,

Bible Baptist Church Revival at McCoy

(D. J. Kinard, pastor) Last Sunday was another day of God's bleasings upon us. We receiv-ed four more fine people into our fellowship, for which we thank God. There is much interest taken in Bible study and God is blessing the lives of the people as they study His word. Souls are being blessed and made richer in grace and the knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ.

We study the 10th chapter Genesis next Sunday. Come and study with us. You will enjoy the study of God's word.

Modern Women know you can cook the MODERN way for seven cents a day -- less for smaller family units. Truly, electric cooking is economical. It saves your food dollar-for there is less food shrinkage when you cook electrically. It saves your cleaning dollar-for there is no cooking method that approaches the cleanliness of electric cooking. It saves your time and labor - for electric cooking is automatic and constant - you set your electric range at the heat desired and you know that's the heat you'll have. There are no flickering flames to watch-electric cooking is flameless, constant, matchless.

Yes, electric cooking is economical. It's fast, automatic, dependable, clean, efficient, cool and convenient, too . . . as modern women know! See your electric appliance dealer now.

Civil Defense Chairmen Meet

Projects associated with civil defense were discussed in a meeting of civil defense chairman of Flo County Home Demonstration clubs held in the demonstration agent's office in Floydada Wednesday morning

Mrs. John Hoffman, county civil defense chairman, presided in the meeting.

It was decided that several projects might be undertaken that would be of value to every family at any time. Among activities to be worked on in the near future were:

(1) Get names of people in community with relatives to notify in case of accident;

members of all families, with week | dormitory for petit jurors. These are of September 10-15 as a tentative on the second floor. Practically all as instructor can be found;

(4) Send a member to take first aid nursing course to be taught at Texas Technological college August -10. Mrs. Roy Wilkes of Pleasant Valley was chosen to take the course.
