

FREQUENT CHECK ON BOLLWORMS AND FLEA HOPPERS IN COTTON ADVISABLE SAYS LEWIS

Bollworms and fleahoppers seem to be on the increase in Floyd county, according to Cecil Lewis, Ass't County Agent. Every farmer should keep a close check on his field to insure that the bollworms do not increase to an extent of knocking off too many of the squares.

new growth. Irrigation farmers are priming to resume watering if the rains do not fall quickly, says reports from The Hesperian's correspondents and others. A good rain this week would obviate this need.

At the moment in the cotton crop gives promise of far and away the biggest aggregate yield in the county's history. Cotton ginners are making their plans on this basis and cotton harvesting equipment is already on order at several local dealers by farmers who do not want to get caught short.

COUNTY MOVING DAY

Tuesday and Wednesday were moving days for the county officials of Floyd county, most of whom since March of 1949 have had their quarters in a barracks type building set on the pavement at the southeast corner of the square. But the moving was not all completed in the two days, with indications late yesterday that property of the offices, the county records, new and old, desks, chairs, typewriters, computing machines et cetera, et cetera, would still be moving from various and sundry storage places up in the day today.

Europe's Need Is Spiritual, Not Political, Says French Preacher

"God's Deadline in Europe" will be the topic of Rev. Boris Bessmertny of Paris, France, when he speaks at the First Baptist church, Floydada.

Boris Bessmertny, Frenchman, says Europe is the powderkeg of the world today.

Moody European evangelistic tours. Bessmertny, who is of Russian-French parentage, predicted the outbreak of the Korean war to the very week and now feels that Europe is the powderkeg of the world today.

"The real need of Europe today is not a new political set-up nor a better economical or social drive, but a spiritual awakening," states the French minister.

"The five million Communists in France could very well take over the key positions in that land and bring the Communist border to the Atlantic unless American Christians realize the spiritual needs of western Europe, a civilized paganism, and fill the vacuum. Soviet Russia has been filling in Europe so far.

Mr. McDermott, was found shot to death at Sixth and Cedar streets in Plainview about 6:30 a.m. Tuesday. Dinner for 100 Friday Night at Get-Together

The Floydada Good Will delegation is completing plans for a visit to the Harmony community in the west part of the county Friday at 8:00 p.m. Approximately 100 men are expected to be present at the community center for the affair. Invitations have been sent to approximately 50 residents of the Harmony area and an additional 50 men from Floydada are expected to be present.

Ladies from the Harmony Home Demonstration Club are preparing a chicken dinner for the men, at which the farmers will be the guests of the Floydada delegation.

The good will trips are under the sponsorship of the retail trades committee of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce. Members of the committee include chairman T. P. Collins, Hershel Sanders, Cecil Hagood, Ray Johnson, Baird Bishop, and H. O. Cline.

The program will consist of some singing, other musical selections, and brief talks by both the business men and the farmers.

Business Houses Begun by Boothe

E. E. Boothe of Lubbock has begun the foundation for two business buildings in Floydada facing Fifth street east of the Conoco station, on corner of California and fifth.

The buildings will be 30x50 feet. The north building will be occupied by Clark Cleaners, when finished, and will be made of concrete blocks.

Large plate glass windows and four large glass doors will be at the front of the buildings, made so as to be divided into four business places or offices.

Formal acceptance of the court house and final payments have not been made by the Commissioners court, but there was no doubt last Friday that the court, the architects and the builders would get together, so the moving date was set and the commissioners gave orders for insurance coverage to be written to insure the building Tuesday morning of this week. Officials of the county were carrying the keys to the building and offices Monday.

Aside from the fact that the plumber had been unable to obtain a needed control for the air conditioning system, the principal hindrance to a final settlement was a claim by the county for penalty on delivery of the building. The contractors—220 day late of their 300-day promise and the architects thought there should be no penalty, and no figures were produced by the architects showing time lost which was not due to unavoidable delay. However, a figure of 90 days was finally hit upon as probably correct. The court asked $25 per day for the 90 days. Offer made Monday by Dolph Construction company was a flat $1,500 as the penalty.

At Friday's meeting the accounts between the contractors, the architects and the county showed the (See MOVING DAY back Page)

Month of Hot Weather, Calm Winds was July

The month of July on the high plains made some kind of a weather record. In addition to ushering itself in with a generous, general rain that exactly pleased everybody, it has been a month of unusual calm throughout and it was hot into the nineties every day and 100 or above for 11 days. The calm winds made it seem the warmest July in many years, say outdoor workers. Calmness of the wind added also to the problems of those who had to get water for their household and stock necessities from a windmill—probably half of the population of the county. Stockwater was a problem on many stock farms.

Farmer, Lunch Box to Battle Tonight's Game

Farmer and Lunch Box, both shown as winners in the upper bracket of the Floydada Softball tournament, will meet tonight in the elimination battle for first place and a prize of $100, which is due to be climaxed Tuesday night of next week.

Monday night Cities Service administered the second tournament defeat to the Wildcats 11 to 5, to eliminate that team from further play, while the rampant Farmer team took Abernathy for their first loss 7 to 4.

Tuesday night Cities Service could muster but seven men of their team at play time and had to forfeit to Rudy's on the lower bracket and bowed out of the running.

Friday night Rudy's will play Wards or Abernathy to see which team is the next to be eliminated.

Crowds have been fair to good at most of the games, said Gene Collins, general manager of the tournament. Second prize team will draw down $50, third $30 and fourth $20.

A note of urgency in the president's address to the American people last week impressed as the overtone in his talk. So many people now are making a joke of their president and the commander in chief of the armed forces that they may overlook the fact that, after all, he is the president and he does possess much knowledge of world affairs that we do not have. The press of largely increased taxes, now urged by the president and foreseen by the congress, lends a natural antagonism to any program that may increase the load without prospect of a fair service. Thus, with antagonism in one's mind he may overlook a very important and needed message from the leader. The president says, among other things, that the Russians are engaging in true and diplomatic matters now to give themselves time for a build-up of forces around the world to keep the western people harried with wars and war talk with satellites. It is a situation which must be met and which the president considers a grave one.

In this issue of The Hesperian are printed five proposed amendments to the Texas constitution to be passed upon by the electorate in Texas in November of this year. Read the proposals and investigate so that you may vote intelligently when the time comes. Believe it or not, such matters are important. Your vote, your belief, on whether or not these should become part of the organic law of the state is important. Voting on them, the same as for or against W. Lee O'Daniel, is important, a duty and a responsibility, and thank goodness, a great privilege.

Senator Connally about the tidelands: "There is a lot of loose talk about three states — those who have been sued thus far — wanting a 'gift' from the government. When you have owned something for more than a hundred years and someone is trying to take it away from you, you don't consider it a gift if the robbery is stopped." Also, "the charge that an oil lobby is advocating state ownership is untrue and ridiculous. The only oil lobby involved is opposing state ownership in order to obtain cheap federal leases." Also "The question is whether the federal government is going to become a common claim jumper."

It's all right for an athlete to know the score, but not before the game is played.

What are the American people going to be able to do about the louder and louder growing vilification, half truth and smear that bulk so large in the news of public life in the country? We ask the question but we have no answer for it immediately. It has become an art that would not have been countenanced short years ago. With the smear has come the slanted propaganda the printed half truth, which seem to have invaded the attitudes from the lowest to the highest places in the land. Maybe, we have thought, it is because the make-up of the country's population is changing, that the new blood injected into the nation's veins in the past 40 years is now come to age and is fashioning the pattern of the nation's life, with deafening noise, abuse, tirade and we might as well add billingsgate and vilification growing ever more wide-spread, and ever more baffling. It is possible that a powerful but irresponsible segment of the press is helping to spread the confusion.

Noting that Lake McLelland near Pampa badly needs repair following the floods of this spring and summer is another reminder that all over West Texas, in scores of places, there is need for lakes of water for fishing and recreation and for impounding flood waters out where they fall instead of permitting them to become flood waters when they reach the lowlands. Some way should be found to dot west Texas with other lakes to serve similar purposes. McLelland was built during the depression as a make labor move for needy people and to serve future generations. It now develops the idea for the lakes was a smarter one than people thought at the time.

For two or three payments on a new automobile, such as most town mortals have in their monthly budgets, most any home in Floydada could have pavement in front of the residence, curbs and gutters, and have residential property that could really be kept nicely. Because paving is everybody's business it is sometimes neglected. Certainly Floydada is far behind many communities in a paving program. Some towns not any larger than Floydada believe in paving so strongly that paving crews have been kept busy for the past year or so. Good streets pay the same as good roads. They pay and pay in reduced travel costs, in enhanced civic appearance, in enhanced commercial value.

Madon Makes Report on Defense Progress and War Situation

Madon, Congressman, interest. Because of the confidential nature of much of the testimony, the hearings were not open to the press. However, about two-thirds of the testimony has been printed and is available to Members of Congress, the press and public. Four volumes containing 3,500 pages, totaling nearly three million words, were required to print the testimony of the 500 witnesses who testified.

A lot of words and witnesses were involved in the hearing. The issue before us, however, was the $5 billion dollar appropriation bill for the Army, Navy and Air Force, one of the largest appropriation bills in the history of the Nation. Generally speaking one-fifth of the money would be required to pay, feed and clothe the man in service. An additional one-fifth would be required to maintain the installations, aircraft, ships, etc. One-half of the sum would be used to pay for tanks, airplanes, ships and weapons of war. Remaining funds would be used for research and development and many other purposes. We will make savings and reductions wherever reasonably possible. It appears that a minimum reduction of at least one billion dollars can be made safely.

War Seen as Inevitable

Our civilian and military experts are by no means infallible, but it is interesting to note that most of them who appeared before the committee were of the opinion that the world is a global war involving the United States and Russia in 1951. Some of them expressed the idea that the danger of war with Russia would be greater in 1952 and 1953 as the Russian atomic stockpile increases. Many of our military people feel that war between the United States and Russia is inevitable, but our top military leaders do not agree with this conclusion.

The world situation is confusing, complex and explosive. My own view is that some incident or unforeseen development might precipitate a shooting war between the United States and Russia at any time. I think the best hope for peace lies in our military preparedness effort and in the over-all strengthening of our nation and the other free nations of the world. We do not know the Russian timetable, but we know they seem to understand the language of strength.

Inevitable to Let Down

What may happen in the Korean war is still not clear, but in my opinion it would be dangerous and inexcusable for us to let down our guard or disarm our military forces by reason of the cease-fire in Korea. The truth is we are not now prepared for war. Our military build-up is just getting in high gear. We must be strong over a long period of years if there is to be any real hope for stability and peace. On the other hand, we cannot afford to bankrupt ourselves in reckless and wasteful spending.

During the progress of the hearings I was invited to go to the Pacific for the atomic bomb tests and also to Europe to confer with Eisenhower, but my work here was such that I could not leave Washington at the time. Suffice it to say that we have made remarkable strides in the field of atomic warfare, and other highly significant developments are in the offing. Of course, Russia is making progress in weapons development too. For example, the Russian-made jet fighter which has been used against us in Korea is comparable to our best fighter aircraft.

I am supporting the request of our military people for large sums of money to expand our guided missile program. Guided missiles would play a major part in any future war. Of course, the hope of every thoughtful American is that our military preparedness program will be instrumental in preventing the outbreak of a general war.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Olson, Jr., and children of Williams, Arizona, are here visiting his parents, Judge and Mrs. O. B. Olson and other relatives.

Youths Drown; Funeral Rites Held Saturday

Funeral services were held in Petersburg last Saturday afternoon at the First Baptist church for two brothers, Lewis and Don Burns, who drowned in a lake four miles west of Petersburg Thursday.

The family lived in Floydada for a few months last year, and Mr. Burns worked for the S. J. Latta Implement company as mechanic. The family moved to Petersburg the last of February, this year. The Burns boys were swimming across the lake and the older boy had reached the side of the lake, when he heard his brother call for help. He swam back to help him and they both were drowned. Mac and Gaylord waded out of the lake and ran for help. The first aid department of the Lubbock Fire department was summoned, and ambulances and crews from Plainview arrived to help.

Mr. Burns is employed by the Petersburg Implement company. Lewis and Don are survived by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burns, four sisters and one brother and their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Burns of Petersburg.

Sweet Pickled Slices Corrected Recipe

Writing about sweet pickled slices, a favorite pickling recipe of Mrs. Nancy Morckel, electrification advisor of the Floyd County Rural Electric cooperative. The Hesperian last week gave her recipe—but erroneously through an omission. Here it is, again, corrected and revised:

2 quarts of medium sized cucumbers (4 or 5 inch cucumbers about 1 1/2 inches in diameter) sliced 1/4 inch thick. Do not peel cucumbers. (It will take about 12 cucumbers to make this amount). Slice smallish onions to make 1 quart.

Sprinkle combined cucumbers and onion slices with 1/2 cup coarse-medium salt (pickling salt). Lift up so that all slices get salted. Let stand for 1 hour, then drain and rinse with cold water. Drain again.

In an enameled kettle put 2 1/2 cups vinegar, 2 1/2 cups sugar, 1/2 teaspoon turmeric and 1/2 teaspoon black pepper. Be sure your vinegar is high quality. Heat vinegar mixture to boiling. Add cucumbers and onions to the seasoned vinegar and reheat just to the boiling point. Pack in hot sterilized jars. Run a knife down the side to de-bubble; add vinegar-syrup to fill jar.

Wipe off jars carefully, seal tightly. Store jars in a cool dark place.

Matador Ranch Water Users Sale Confirmed Hearing Aug. 9

MATADOR—The Matador ranch is sold. The Scottish-owned empire of more than 800,000 acres stocked with 47,000 head of cattle has been purchased by an American syndicate for about $19,000,000. Details of the transaction have not been completely announced. John Mackenzie, general manager of Denver, has confirmed the acceptance of the syndicate's offer. John Stevens, superintendent of the Matador ranch said the deal has not been completely closed, but that the Matador Land & Cattle Company, Ltd. has accepted the syndicate's offer. Land involved in the deal includes both the Matador and Alamositas divisions. Both the big blocks of land are about the same size. Roland Howe is the present superintendent of the Alamositas ranch, which is used to produce all the horses on both ranches, for steers and cow herd.

Water Users Hearing Aug. 9

PLAINVIEW—Groundwater users from 21 counties will gather here Aug. 9 to tell the State Board of Water Engineers how they feel about the proposed creation of High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1. Irrigation farmers and other interested citizens have been invited to testify at the Board's public hearing, which is set for 10 a. m. in the Plainview Municipal Auditorium. On evidence presented, the Board will decide whether to declare creation of the 10,600-square-mile district. If the district is established, the Board will then appoint a five-man board of directors to supervise an election at which the voters may approve or reject the district. Such districts are in operation on a much smaller scale, in Martin and Dallam counties. They were created under House Bill 162, passed by the Texas Legislature in the spring of 1949. The proposed district includes all of Lubbock, Parmer, Hale and Swisher counties and parts of Armstrong, Bailey, Briscoe, Crosby, Deaf Smith, Dickens, Floyd, Garza, Hockley, Lamb, Lynn, Oldham, Potter, Randall, Terry and Cochran counties.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)
The First Crosby County Court House
The court house was the scene of many activities of the pioneers at Emma and the big court room on the second floor was used for many purposes. Christmas trees adorned with strings of white popcorn laden with gay and beautiful gifts graced the room and the smell of freshly cut cedar from the cedar breaks blended with the hot wax the men were smoothing on the floor in back of the room for dancing later on in the night. As soon as mothers and fathers left with sleepy children and loads of presents, gay fiddle music began and the sound of happy dancing feet kept time to the music.

Weddings were held here. All three of the Elkin sisters plighting their troths at different times. Miss Lu, dressed in satin and orange blossoms in her filmy veil, being married to C. B. Kelly. Some year later Susie stood by Ed Kelly while the preacher read the vows. Rene Elkin married here to Hal Murray, and the room was lighted up with the white of wedding garments and the floors were trod by small feet in white kid slippers. Preachers held protracted meetings in this room. Rev. Paul Bentley's some three hundred pounds shook as he sang, "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder." John Witt held writing schools here and his pupils followed his fine hand writing in their copy books using the long baize-covered tables used by the lawyers for their desks. They used sober jury rooms to play at recess time. Some of them wrote on foolscap paper with spencerian pens. Picnics were held here. Orators spoke to the older ones in the big court room, and their voices carried to the playing children outside and scared the twittering mud dauber birds from their mud nests close under the eaves. Men unloaded big tubs of prepared food from the wagons and women spread it on their best white linen tablecloths, laid end to end on the ground under the shade of the locust trees, while barbecued beef and rich gravy was brought in big dish pans from the pit where it had been slowly roasting since the night before. Babies slept in the county office rooms, children ran up and down the stairs. Young boys and girls went around making love as they do today.

Lawyers and judges of note tied their horses to the fence near the brones of the cowboys and the plow teams of the pioneer. Big rich ranchmen got out of buckboards and watered their horses at the watering troughs. Little boys and girls hauled water to homes nearby from the public well in big square cans set in little red wagons. This court house should have stood proudly somewhere in the county of Crosby. It should have been a memorial to the pioneers where the children of yesterday, today and of tomorrow could go and view the things left by the first settlers: The first shankles and the big oak desk from the courthouse, the printing press of the Crosby County News, the shoe shop machine, the iron kettles and the big black pots; The thick black veils of women and the lace mitts; the buggy whips and raw-hide hobbles, quirts and black-snake whips; the wooden bread tray, the coffee mill; the mastodon bones found in the country and the buffalo and antelope hides; the bachelor stove with its cap litter and its damper. The paper and the books. These should have been preserved as things really used by pioneers of a new-land making history and setting traditions of faith and honesty and of Christian living in a new undeveloped country. But the proud old courthouse was moved to Cedric and used for a short time for a depot then it was sold and torn down, its lumber put into barns. The relics are in other counties. When we should have kept them.

Misses Beth Hinson and Ann Carvajal, of Lubbock, left Monday for San Antonio where they will take training at Brooks field, as civilian personnel analysts for the United States Air force security service.

News of Harmony

(By Mrs. Roy Hollums)

HARMONY, July 31.—Tomorrow will be the first day of August and we are in the middle of one of the hottest summers we have had in many years. Even though we received three nice showers last week we still need more moisture for our growing crops. This will be a very busy month for those who have irrigation wells.

The revival meeting that was in progress during this past week at Car's Chapel closed Sunday night, with a record breaking crowd of 114 people present. There were three conversions and four additions to the church. Brother Krebs brought some wonderful old time gospel messages and every service was wonderful and well attended.

Mrs. C. B. Lyles, Mrs. Donald Pinker and Mrs. Roy Hollums are attending the W. S. C. S. school of missions being held in Lubbock First Methodist church this week.

Next week, Wednesday, August 8, the zone meeting will be held at 8:00. This is for Zone Two.

Brother and Mrs. Krebs and family took Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Byerly and family. They were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tucker.

Harmony has another new citizen, she is Linda Gail Turner, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Turner. She arrived at the Peoples hospital Friday morning, July 27. She and her mother were expected to come home Monday.

Beverly Jeffries and her little brother, Jimmy, had a birthday party last Thursday at their home. Carroll Turner celebrated her fifth birthday last Thursday too.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Foster, of Brentwood, and son Melvin, and Everett Phillips of Lamesa, also Mr. and Mrs. Paul Foster and family of Dallas visited with the Roy Hollums family Saturday and Sunday.

In England, Indian summer is called St. Martin's summer.

Glory Budget Mea's With Ice Cream

It's very comforting in these days of soaring meat costs and the search for budget main dishes to know one favorite old American stand-by is as wonderful, nutritious and economical as ever. We refer to ice cream, of course. No matter that meat portions are smaller and less choice; the meal ends in splendor when there's less cream for dessert. If you buy it at your super market pre-packaged in the pint or half-gallon carton, you'll find the cost per serving right in line with your budget plans. And it goes especially well with the fresh fruits so abundantly available now. For a real, thrifty treat, serve pre-packaged ice cream with cantaloupe, blueberries, raspberries, peaches or applesauce.

PRODUCTIVE BALANCE

Research on the use of fertilizer and methods of soil management have revealed facts that aid farmers to make specific soils more productive, says P. V. Cardon, Administrator of Agricultural Research in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Because techniques based on this research have been put to use on many farms throughout the country, productivity is on the come-back in many areas where yields were falling off because of declining soil fertility. On hundreds of thousands of farms in the eastern part of the United States, the soil is much better today, as a result of good management, than it ever was under natural conditions. On the other hand, there are still many farms on which soil productivity is on the down grade. For the Nation generally, he says, we have not yet fully reversed the downward trend.

BUGOGRAPHY

Just as the traveler was writing his name on the register of the hotel a bed-bug appeared and wound its way across the page. The traveler grimly eyed the bed-bug for a few moments and exclaimed, "I've been bit by Duaneburg fleas, bit by Mariaville spiders and chased by Delanson constables, but I'll be darned if I was ever before in a place where the bed-bugs looked over the hotel register to find out where your room was." —Exchange

Fluorides Do Not Accelerate Cancer Growth

AUSTIN, Texas—Cancer does not develop any earlier in areas where the water contains a high proportion of fluorides than it does in the free areas, morbidity statistics compiled by the Texas State Department of Health and the M. D. Anderson Hospital for Cancer Research in Houston show.

State Health Officer George Cox, in a statement flatly refutes claims by a University of Texas chemist that fluoride in municipal drinking water might speed up development of breast cancer, the M. D. Anderson cancer research center, an adjunct of the University of Texas, completely supported State Health Department's conclusion that fluoride additions to water supplies does not accelerate the trend toward mammary cancer.

The state health agency reports the past two years recommended that municipalities add fluoride to the amount of one part fluoride to one million parts of water as an effort to tooth decay among children.

Also in support of the health department's position is the report of Dr. H. Trendly Dean, director of dental research, National Institute of Health.

Dr. Dean says he and Dr. B. A. Anderson (unidentified) carefully evaluated the data in respect to the alleged relation of fluoride water to an accelerated rate of the development of mammary cancer, and are of the opinion that evidence does not warrant modification in the policy of recommending fluoridation of public drinking water supplies.

Dr. F. A. Bull, director of health in Wisconsin, in a letter to Dr. Cox, wrote that the Wisconsin health department has been contributing to the cancer research for the past six years.

"We're going ahead, despite deterrents, with fluoridation," Bull said.

Dr. Cox said the same contentions came up years ago when chlorine, now a common additive to drinking water, was first used to disinfect water supplies.

"Further postponement of studies in water would penalize the public unnecessarily," the health officer said. "They deserve its preventing properties, and the Department of Health will continue to recommend its use by any cities in the proper proportion."

Congo Watermelon Has Double

The new (two years ago) Congo watermelon has high quality resistance to anthracnose. The ease injures the melon for and is one of the worst producers known to commercial growers. Congo is likely to have rivals tend with, according to Dr. Andrus of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Vegetable Research Laboratory, Charleston, S. C. This variety was originated. So these rivals are other watermelon varieties that could sail for under Congo's colors.

Congo, with its disease resistance from Africa, the original watermelon, is the only variety not subject to anthracnose. Planting Congo on an estimated 40,000 acres in the principal States this spring was to be in the opinion of Andrus but now on, he says, is the time to out for pretenders to Congo's qualities. Andrus mentioned the fair competitors by name.

T. Jones, District Deputy Lionism, Takes Up New Duties

T. Jones, Floyd County Attorney and past president of the Lions club, was recently elected as deputy district governor of the Lions club of the Floyd County district. The appointment was made by the district governor, J. C. Burleson, at a convention at Hereford, Texas, following the election of the district governor at Hereford. Jones will have charge of the district which embraces portions of the counties in West Texas.

Jones was graduated from Baylor college in 1939, after which he served in the army air corps for four years. He was stationed at Fort Worth for some time, where he was sergeant-major of South Texas Army Air field. A native of Texas, it was at this time that he decided to make his home in Hereford after completing his education. These plans were completed when he received his law degree from Baylor university in 1948 and came to Floydada.

Jones is now serving his second term as county attorney of Floyd County. His hobby is international bridge which he is making a study of at present time. He says that he is the globe circling influenza virus in the region 5 beside the club in Floyd County.

DEARBORN SWEEP is another convenient thing to have. A necessity during the winter when help was scarce, the sweep rake is even more popular now. Farmers agree that it is the fastest, most economical way of hauling hay to barn or the stack. Many also use the sweep rake for bringing feed grain to the threshing machine. It is in bringing feed grain to the farm or feed lot that it is most useful. The weather is right, try a well made and thoroughly tested sweep rake.

MATADOR—Ten-year-old project of the Matador Lions club is near realization. The blinker light on Highway 70 (Bailey street) is going to be changed from orange (slow) to red (stop).

The blinker light was installed about three years ago with the understanding that the orange on Highway 70 could later be changed to red. The four-way red light will mean that all traffic on Main street and Highway 70 will come to a complete stop at the intersection.

COOL COOKING

Of course it's Electric!

It's electric because electricity is coolest of all heat producing methods. Only when you cook electrically does all the heat go into the cooking job. For only on an electric range do you have pan-bugging heat, with the utensil setting right on the heating element. And only in an electric range oven do you have complete six-sided insulation, for only matchless, flameless electric cooking can be completely insulated—without oxygen because it's without flame.

September 11, 749 Register 12 X-Ray Dates at Encampment For Floydada

A good crowd was present in the county court room of the new court house Wednesday morning to hear Charles Hoover of the State Board of Health at Austin, talk on the campaign for chest X-ray, which will be held in Floydada on September 11 and 12. Enos Jones, called the meeting to order and introduced Mr. Hoover.

In June, 1949, over 18 hundred people in Floyd County had their chests X-rayed, and in October, 1950, more than two thousand people registered at Lockney and Floydada for the X-ray test.

Twenty-seven cases of T.B. were found out of the two thousand and 25 cases was found out of the 18 hundred registered.

"Citizens should have this test once every 12 months," said Mr. Hoover, "and the most important event for 1951 in Floyd county, should be the TB X-ray test."

Lockney will have two days this year, instead of the one day as in previous years. Mrs. M. W. Wiley will be the General Chairman at Lockney, and Wayne Robson general chairman for Floydada, with Enos Jones named as general chairman for the county.

An extensive advertising campaign is to be staged both in the press and on the radio.

Mr. Robson and Mrs. Wiley will have a meeting with the general county chairman and the various committees will be announced later.

The Brotherhood encampment of the Plains Baptist Assembly Monday and Tuesday was highly successful. There were 749 men registered from District 9 and a number of visitors. An all-night prayer meeting was held Monday night.

The Brotherhood voted to promote the paving of the road from the Highway to the Camp grounds and parking area inside the camp. They hope to have this project finished before camp season next year.

The Harmon ambulance was called and carried Mr. Battey to the hospital. He was released after X-rays were made and Wednesday afternoon was at home, just a bit sore and nervous, according to Mrs. Battey.

Bible Baptist Church

(D. J. Kindard, Pastor)
The Lord is still blessing in the study of His word. Last Sunday was one of our greatest, as we studied the 10th chapter of Genesis.

In this portion of God's word, we got the foundation of the nations of the world, and you will never know your Bible unless you know the people first.

We urge you to study God's word with us. We teach it as it is to men as they are, and God is really blessing the lives of those who study it.

We had two more young people to come into our fellowship last Sunday.

From time to time we will be bringing messages on the second coming of Christ which are timely for the hour in which we live.

Grain Used as Weight

Grain, the unit of weight, is supposed to be the average weight of a seed or grain of well-ripened wheat.

Fire Insurance Seen as Great Social Force

Fire insurance must be viewed as a great social force. Without it, our present social and economic structure is unthinkable.

Here are some of the things which fire insurance does:

1. It lifts a crushing burden of risk from the individual and apportions it lightly upon millions of individuals.
2. It provides a well-recognized foundation for the entire credit structure of the United States.
3. It safeguards the home with all that this means to the stability of society.
4. It guarantees business permanence in the face of disasters that formerly meant ruin.
5. It reduces interruptions to business caused by fire through providing resources for quick resumption.
6. It stimulates enterprise by permitting business men to keep their funds productively employed instead of in reserve against disaster.
7. It protects community welfare through the quick restoration of solvency after otherwise crippling conflagration.
8. It is an important adjunct to the healthful circulation of funds throughout all parts of the country.
9. It fosters the work of banks, public service corporations, and all industries by investment in their securities from accumulated reserve.

Several important branches of public service have grown out of fire insurance during the past generation, such as the improvement of building codes, the formulation of electrical codes, the promotion of safety engineering, fire prevention education and the like. But even without them fire insurance in itself is a social service.

Experts Detect Parasite Control Means More Meat

The picture of the lean figure of Sherlock Holmes holding a magnifying glass before his eyes to examine "clues" is an old favorite with readers of detective fiction. Some of the later sleuths seem to place less reliance on the hand glass, but in real life it is one of the basic tools used by U. S. Department of Agriculture specialists in enforcing the Federal Seed Act. This law is for the protection of farmers against those who seek a dishonest profit in selling seed that is mislabeled.

Use of magnifying glass figured in recent cases dealing with marketing of alfalfa seed. In the northern States farmers need hardy alfalfa to withstand cold winters. If they plant alfalfa seed adapted only in the irrigated areas of the Southwest, most of the plants may be killed by winter freezes. Thus the farmer loses the use of the land for a year or more and wastes the expense and labor of preparing the field and seeding it. Growers are willing to pay a substantial premium for seed that produces hardy plants. The law provides for truthful labeling of such seed and penalizes frauds.

The magnifying glass helps detect just such frauds. The seed specialists admit that they can not distinguish by sight an alfalfa seed grown in Montana or Canada from a seed of Alfalfa grown in New Mexico or Arizona. But when they scan painstakingly a sample of seed offered as northern-grown and find in it the distinctively different seed of such common weeds as silversheath knotweed, Johnson grass and Bermuda grass, they have convincing evidence of fraud. They know that this lot of seed is not of northern origin because they know that these weeds do not grow in northern alfalfa fields, but are common weeds of alfalfa fields in the southwestern States. The magnifying glass plus years of specialized experience with the plant science of seed identification makes the evidence conclusive.

The seed laboratory has other ways of detecting false labeling, but the magnifying glass is one of the important tools.

Ode to Content

(From R. & W. Bulletin—Pocatello, Idaho)
Breathes there a man with a dead, who never to himself said:
"My trade of late is getting better, try another one inch Ad."
If such there be, go mark him for him no bank account swell;
No angel watches the golden gate, welcome home a millionaire.
The man who never asks for a local line or Ad display, Cares more for rest than gain, and patronage but him pain,
Tread lightly friends, let no sound disturb his solitude found;
Yet let him live in calm repose, sought, except by men he loathes, that naught may break his peaceless sleep.

Wherein no clamor may disturb quiet that he loved so well. And that the world may know his place on his grave a wreath of moss;
And on the stone above, "Here A chump who wouldn't advertise."

The pumping station, razed a century ago, is still in operation.

Fly Eliminates Spots

Texas—Thousands of flies are carried by the fly. Typhoid, tuberculosis, polio, summer cholera, intestinal and frequently death following the trail of the common fly.

Control of the fly menace is one of the top of the list of necessary health measures which are being applied by every city and county in the State," urged Dr. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Most effective measure for fly control is to prevent breeding. "Do not allow flies to breed in filth. Flies breed in filth. Flies are required to live in filth. During her life cycle, one house fly lays 600 to 1000 eggs. Thus, one fly can produce a new generation in the spring of the year. The breeding of house flies, the breeding of other insects, and other organisms, are being destroyed. Manure and other organic filth furnished the requirements of warmth, moisture, and food necessary for the propagation of the fly. Flies should be kept from contact with food or drink or utensils in which such food and drink are prepared and served. Likewise, they should be kept from access to privy vaults where they pick up the infections, which they later spread to humans by contact with the food and drink, and by unwashed hands and utensils.

"See that your windows, doors, and porches are screened so that the stray fly from some careless neighbor will not molest your family. See that your grocer keeps meat, vegetables, and fruits screened from flies.

"Organize health measures to destroy the breeding place, control the flies' access to your home and food, and establish standards of cleanliness in your community that will eliminate the fly."

All-Risk Crop Insurance Plan Offered Again

Reports from the Floyd County PMA office indicates that increased interest has been shown in the all-risk Federal Crop Insurance on wheat that is now being offered in Floyd county and has been for several years.

The insurance is an attempt on the part of the federal government to protect the wheat farmer against production risks that he cannot control. It does not cover losses resulting from avoidable causes such as neglect and poor farming practices. The protection begins at the time the wheat is seeded and continues until harvest.

The program in effect operates as a county mutual so that farmers can build their own crop insurance business. It is expected that over a period of years, premiums will cover the losses paid under the county program. Actual county experience over the years will determine the cost of protection. Insurance isn't a profit program. Profit must come from good crops and prices. Insurance will keep him from losing the money that he invests to make a profit.

Floyd county farmers should investigate this insurance.

August 31, 1951 is the final date for writing the insurance.

How Treatment Affects Soils Noted in Test

A group from the local Soil Conservation Service and Production and Marketing Administration offices made a field trip Monday of last week to study and observe the difference that crop and treatment makes in the soils. The party was composed of Ralph R. Cogdell, work unit conservator, who directed the study with the assistance of Billy Payne, soil scientist of Plainview, Thomas J. Hutchins, administrative officer of PMA; O. B. Johnston, from north of Lockney, Buck Sams, who lives just south of Lockney and J. C. Ginn of Cedar Hill community.

A hole was dug twenty inches deep in two different fields and a soil profile was removed with a tile spade and laid side by side for comparison. The first sample was taken from a plot of deep, fine textured soil on a farm where he soil was in poor condition due to having a plow sole, crust and deteriorated top soil. The second was taken from a field across the road where the soil was in good condition, the difference being due to the fact that alfalfa had been on the second plot for years. The topsoil on the first plot, which was in poor condition, was sandy, cemented together and the subsoil had a layer of clay particles. A crust could readily be seen in the clod from the first area. The soil from the land in good condition did not have these factors.

A test was also run as to the amount of water that would pass into the soil in a given time; with exactly the same details of testing being used in the two experiments. The alfalfa land took water at the rate of two to three times as fast as the soil in poor condition.

The depth of moisture penetration was also compared and the good condition soil had a penetration of fourteen inches while the other had only seven inches.

A clod from each area was bathed in water to show the breakdown of soil by water erosion. The clod from alfalfa land did not break down and muddy up the water as did the other sample.

After seeing the difference in these two samples of soil, which were originally the same, the group had a greater appreciation for the value of work done by the deep rooted legumes. Alfalfa and the clovers also add nitrogen to the soil, which is very valuable on irrigated land, but that is only a part of their purpose. The deep rooted legumes are nature's way of chiseling the soil as well as replenishing and conditioning it to receive and use all available moisture, according to the soil analysts.
