It would be a good idea to take out five minutes and practice writing it right. This is 1952.

This is a candidate year. If you haven't paid your poll tax, this is to remind you that now is the time for all good men (and their wives) to get their poll tax receipts.

The year of 1951 did something besides bringing the greatest cotton crop in history to Floyd county. The twelve-months brought into sharp focus the high cost of farming and the fact that good prices must prevail to make possible the all-out production expense accounts, including high prices for quality seed, fertilizing and spraying, not to mention irrigation water bills. But also the year, we imagine, will be remembered as the year when it was found just how practical the rotary hoe could be when applied to cultivation of young crops. The rotary hoe may turn out to be the solution of the farmers' cry for help when spring weeds hair over the fields. A lot of farmers say they got a better job done when they wanted it done, more quickly and at less expense than if they had worked with hoe hands this year.

The penny postal card is no longer a fact. It is a two-cent card and if you buy more than 50 at a time you pay 10 per cent extra "for paper stock" That's what the book says. Other information on postal rate increases include the information that post and catalogue increases were effective October 1 by order of the Interstate Commerce Commission. (That's also what the book says.) And the postal rate bill passed by congress did not change these rates. These increases which you have already been paying are about 50 per cent. As to second class rates newspaper will pay 10 per cent extra beginning April 1 of this year, another 10 per cent in April next year and a third 10 per cent in 1954. Free in county delivery still remains. Rates on publications intended to be nonprofit remain unchanged. For third class mail the rate goes up to 1 1/2 cent minimum on July 1 of this year. The matter is still being explored. The total increase is above $200 million as we recall the figures. Postal employees got increases that will widen the deficit in the post office department, however, by nearly $300 million more than the increase.

It will be interesting in the next few months in the realm of traffic regulation in Texas. Among other things the legislature has set up a change in the drivers' responsibility law that will be drastic so far as many people are concerned. There are many automobiles—by the tens of thousands—operating on Texas highways now for which the owners afford no protection against the economic hazards of traffic. If they hurt or get hurt they are sorry (meaning regretful) and that is all. The legislature and the state safety department may change all of that within a few months or a few days, but we doubt it. For the reason there are not going to be enough jails to house the violators, for that matter not even enough enforcement officers to get around to enforcing the law. In our judgment this is just another one of those things that would be a mighty mighty good idea some day. To attempt to burn such a law full-grown and enforceable all at one big swoop was just a dream the legislators hatched out after they got into the matter of trying to "do something about it."

A law that is going to be irksome and, to many more people than you think of average or less than average income, unfair and unworkable is the new inspection law. If, as the law appears to say, all the things have to be done to an automobile to make it safe for operating on the highway then there is not one owner in a dozen that is ready to turn in his application for a license. There are not and won't be enough service stations in Texas to service all of the automobiles and trucks that will have to apply for a license on or before April first. Which makes us think there is going to have to be some winking done by somebody somewhere somehow. And besides that there are a lot of people, believe it or not, who can not afford to do all the things to the kind of automobile they are able to afford. This is not to say that any of these people are against safety on the highway or that they ought not to obey the law. It is simply that the law is too big for our britches, in much the same manner that the highway drivers' responsibility law is more than many Texas people can chin.

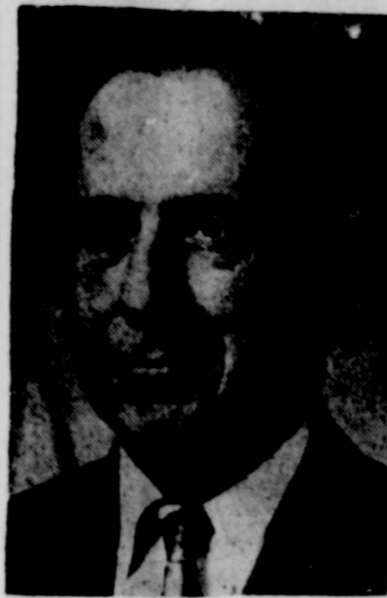

With all this global aid it seems that a cannon fired any place in the world is sure of at least hitting the American taxpayer.

The exchange of Christmas gifts ought to be reciprocal, rather than retaliatory!

W. L. Stangel Is Texas Man of The Year in Agriculture Annals

LUBBOCK, Dec.—Texas Tech's dean of agriculture, W. L. Stangel, has been named by Progressive Farmer magazine as "Man of the Year in Texas Agriculture."

In its Dec. 26 edition, the Southern farm publication honors Dean Stangel with his new title, pointing to his many years of service to Texas agriculture at Texas Tech and Texas A&M, his leadership in livestock feeding and marketing, and his aid to young agriculturists.

The publication's 12th man of the year, Dean Stangel headed the animal husbandry department at Tech when the school opened in 1925. He became dean of agriculture in 1945.

Under the dean's direction, the Tech livestock program has grown from two work mules on the Tech farms in 1925 to balanced herds of Herefords, Aberdeen Angus, sheep, swine, chickens, and turkeys. A foundation herd of Brahman was added recently. The animals and fowls furnish classroom data and experimental information for agriculturists of Texas.

Irrigated pastures, their production and profit in pasturing livestock, was the last general experiment conducted by Dean Stangel.

The test has brought praise from agriculture authorities.

Although a livestock man, the dean believes in raising livestock in a balanced farm program.

"We are pioneers out here (South Plains) in agriculture, and our future lies ahead, but we can't attain our full potentialities on a one-crop system. We must have diversified farming, and through it, we should become the greatest farming area in the world," he said.

Don Mickey of Canyon, formerly of Floydada, has been here visiting Keith Stansell and other friends. Don is in the navy and is on leave visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mickey in Canyon.

Miss Lou Ewing and guest, Miss Jerry Schneider of Plainview, spent Christmas day with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Ewing. Also guests of his parents was Bennie Ewing of Plainview on Christmas day.

Conservation District News

Initial conservation agreements have been signed by Randell King; Bob Ratjen; P. F. Bertrand; Fred Jackson; B. P. Sandefer, all of Floydada; and James Davis, of South Plains. These agreements were signed with the Floyd County Soil Conservation district.

The above named farmers expect to establish one or more conservation practices on their land in the near future, and to use their land within its capabilities and treat it in keeping with its needs.

Initial conservation agreements are partial conservation plans. As more work is done on the farm it is advanced to an advanced agreement. Later, if all conservation practices needed are to be established, the agreement is made into a Basic Conservation Plan.

The above procedure is different from the old way that the District conservation plans were written. Then the farmer agrees to carry out complete conservation plan (basic conservation plan), or else an agreement was not written.

Soil Conservation Services technicians assigned to the Floyd county district have made well locations for Earl Edwards of Lakeview; B. P. Neff of Lakeview; J. H. Waddington of Hart (who is putting down a well on the Bennett land in the South Plains area); and O. L. Beardon of McCoy.

Randell King, of Floydada, is building some level terraces on his Cedar Hill farm. The land to be terraced was washing badly, and a lot of the topsoil had gone into a lake. He plans to drain a small lake into a larger one.

Boyce House Says I Give You Texas

Perhaps the three greatest orators America has produced were Daniel Webster, Robert G. Ingersoll and William Jennings Bryan. All three were men of commanding appearance, of magnetic personality, gifted with the ability to clothe their thoughts in impressive and beautiful words and they were endowed with wonderful voices, that of Bryan being probably the most superb.

Bryan's star first rose in 1896 when he stamped the national Democratic convention and won the nomination for president. From that time until his death, he was the greatest speaker in the nation; and, in the years which have followed, no one has risen to take his place. Perhaps the radio, motion picture and television have produced conditions which mean that the traditional orator will be seen and heard no more. If so, a magnificent figure has been lost from the stage of human affairs.

In his first race for president, Bryan spoke to millions. He made as many as 50 speeches in a day. No other man in the history of the world has spoken (face to face) to as many people in the same length of time as Bryan did in '96.

I heard Bryan speak twice. Both occasions were in Memphis, Tennessee, one in the open air, the other in an auditorium. Both audiences were enthralled. Both speeches were impressive, the first one especially so. The scene was the Red Elm baseball park. The year was 1914 or thereabouts—for the first world war was in progress but the United States was not yet involved and Bryan was secretary of state in Woodrow Wilson's cabinet.

Bryan was fine in appearance. He was of more than average height, portly, had strong features which mirrored his varying emotions as the speech progressed. He wore a dark suit (the coat was long) and a string-tie. He was bald except for a fringe and he had been speaking only a short time until he put on a skull cap. (It was at night; the baseball park was in low ground and the air was damp and chill.) As he donned the cap, he remarked, "They use to call me the 'Boy Orator of the Platte' and now I must wear this to protect my head from the 'evening dews and damp'."

The platform was built in the middle of the baseball diamond. There was no sounding-board of kind and those who had preceded Bryan were compelled to shout. But his sonorous voice—a high baritone rolled forth with effortless ease. Every word carried to those in the highest seats of the grandstand and in the bleachers, which were in left field. In fact, when he turned to face the bleachers, a billboard produced an echo and he eliminated this, when he turned thereafter, by dropping his voice.

Once, he gave the last word of a sentence in a whisper—and it sounded like the swish of a huge whip. He spoke deliberately. To emphasize a point, he would drive the last phrase or two home by spacing out each word. He used few gestures and they were neither meaningless nor mere embellishment but natural accompaniment of the utterances.

FORMER MARINE P.I.O. JOINS FIRST AIR WING IN KOREA

COMMANDANT OF MARINES GREETES OFFICERS OF FIRST MARINE AIR WING IN KOREA.—Col. Luther S. Moore a few weeks ago left his office in the Pentagon, where he had been directing public information activities for the Marine Corps, and returned to active duty with the First Marine Air Wing in Korea. Here he is welcomed by Gen. Clifton B. Cates, Commandant of Marines, with a hearty handshake. Col. Moore, a native of Newtonville, Mass., attended Cornell University and graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in the class of 1931. Left to right, Gen. Cates, Col. Arthur F. Binney, Big Rapids, Mich.; Col. Carson A. Roberts, Madison, Wis.; Col. Moore, and Col. Charles Mangrum, Seattle, Wash.

Of the speech itself, I can recall little. At the outset, Bryan referred to the fact that, prior to 1896, a national conference on free silver had been held in Memphis, which he attended, and then said, "As the train was approaching this city today, it seemed to me that the wheels, as they clicked over the rails, were repeating the words of a speaker of another generation. The past rises before me like a dream." (The speaker quoted was Bob Ingeroll.)

In a reference to his free silver campaign of 1896 and 1900, Bryan made mention of paper money issued by the Republicans administration later, and then he remarked, "They used to say that, if you threw one of Bryan's silver dollars into the fire, you'd have 50 cents left—but if you threw one of their dollars into the fire, you wouldn't have anything left," and the crowd whooped and cheered. The speech held the closest attention during the hour or so it consumed—and it was interrupted by many rounds of applause. Bryan was a master and to have heard him was to have had an experience to remember the rest of one's life.

These lines are being written in the lobby of the Hall Hotel in Stephenville.

It was in this lobby that I, then a young newspaperman, tried to get Dan Moody to announce for governor and thereby give me a "beat." The youthful attorney general had gained fame by his handling of the road contract cases and it was generally believed that he would run for governor—but evidently he did not feel that the time was ripe to state his intentions, so he sidestepped the question.

He did run and was elected.

I was in this hotel lobby when three ladies came in, looked around and then their gaze settled on me with great interest. They were very nice-looking. I was flattered. They came over and one said, "You are a stranger here, aren't you?" I said, "Yes." She continued, "Are you leaving town pretty soon?" "Yes." She went on, "We want you to be a judge."

"A judge?" I repeated. "What kind of a judge?"

She replied, "Of the baby show." I said, "I'm leaving town—but I don't want to leave that quick."

Then I was in this lobby when I heard the news that William Jennings Bryan was dead. He was an idol of my boyhood.

And while in Stephenville to "cover" a murder trial for the old Fort Worth record, I ate dinner in the hotel dining room and then played "42" in the lobby. The other players were the prosecuting attorney, the defense lawyer and the defendant.

Bits of drama take place in a hotel lobby.

James Hughes wrote, "A plain bar of iron is worth $5.00. This same bar of iron when made into horseshoes is worth $10.50. If made into needles, it is worth $3,285, and if turned into balance springs for watches it becomes worth $250,000. The same is true of another kind of material—you. Your value is determined by what you make of yourself."

Joe E. Kellehor, Plainview, Dies

PLAINVIEW.—Joe E. Kellehor, 74 years old, pioneer Hale county farmer, died at 12:40 o'clock December 27 at Plainview Hospital and Clinic foundation. He had been ill for several months.

Mr. Kellehor was born in Austin and had lived in Plainview about 50 years. He worked on construction of the Santa Fe line between Plainview and Amarillo before he began farming operations near here.

He was one of the first wheat farmers on the South Plains and was consistently successful at raising the crop. The success he attained to the practice of summer-fallowing and to plowing the land to prevent blowing.

Mr. Kellehor never believed in irrigation for wheat and he never put down a well on any of his land. He and his brother, the late W. D. Kellehor of Hereford, and a sister, Mrs. Charles C. Gidney of Plainview were among the first Catholic families in the Panhandle.

Mr. Kellehor never married. He had lived at the Hilton hotel here for many years.

Survivors include three sisters, Miss Kate Kellehor and Mrs. J. J. Sinnett, both of Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. Gidney of Plainview; one brother, Charles J. Kellehor of Sherman, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Funeral service conducted at 9 o'clock Friday morning at St. Alice's Catholic church in Plainview. Interment was made Saturday in an Austin cemetery.

HE-MAN'S JOB

Bob was the kind of guy who considered himself quite a Don Juan, reveals True. He continually found reasons to speak of his muscular feats, his chest measurement, biceps, and so forth.

One day at the local swimming pool, he noticed the lack of hair on his chest of a friend, and quickly seized the opportunity to boast:

"To make out with the women, Joe, you've got to have hair on your chest like a he-man—like me."

Joe looked him straight in the eye and replied:

"Bob, you he-man may attract women with hair on the chest, but it takes a helluva good man to keep it worn off!"

Mrs. Green has the flu at this writing.

We invite all the women, new and old, to come to Center Home Demonstration club this year. And to come to Sunday school and church.

Molasses Takes the Cake

The family that likes gingerbread will be enthusiastic about molasses cake. It is fine-grained and moist for which unsulphured molasses gets the credit. This old-fashioned, mellow molasses cuts use of sugar because it is a sweetener as well as a distinctive flavor.

This special event cake may be baked in layers or in a square cake pan and then iced with a fluffy frosting. Using your basic 7-minute frosting recipe, omit corn syrup or cream of tartar and add 2 tablespoons of unsulphured molasses for a caramel-like flavor and golden beige color. The square layer may also be served as spicy shortcakes with fruit, ice cream or sauce fillings.

Molasses Cake

1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 1/2 cups double acting baking powder
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup cinnamon
1/2 cup nutmeg
1/2 cup cloves

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup unsulphured molasses
3 eggs, unbeaten
1/2 cup sour milk

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves. Cream shortening, sugar and soda. Gradually blend in molasses. Stir in 1/2 cup flour mixture. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Add milk alternately with remaining flour mixture. Beat batter 1/2 minute. Line bottom of 2 9-inch layer pans with waxed paper. Fill with batter. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) 25 minutes. Cool 2 9-inch layers.

For Square Layer

Cut all ingredients in half using one whole egg and one egg yolk. Add 1 tablespoon sugar and fold in 1 cup apple sauce. Serve over squares of the molasses cake. For Ice Cream Sandwich, cut cake in squares, then halve each piece and put slice of ice cream between

Fountain Service Discontinued by Bishop Pharmacy

Something new in business annals of Floydada is a drug store without fountain service.

Bishop Pharmacy the morning after Christmas discontinued fountain service and announced the store would henceforth be an exclusive pharmacy, jewelry and gift shop, for which Baird Bishop, owner, has made extensive plans. These plans include rearrangement of the store and the enlargement of the gift and jewelry departments.

"We believe the public will like the new store when we have finished re-doing it," said Mr. Bishop, who pointed to shortage in the supply of help as prime reason for the change.

NOT PREPARED

An Advertising Salesman boarded the Chief and took a roomette, according to the Teamster. He carried with him only a small grip, and the porter inquired of his other luggage.

"I have none," said the man.

"Why, I thought you were a salesman," said the porter.

"That's right, I am. But I don't need a lot of luggage; I sell brains."

The porter scratched his head and finally said, "Well, you are the first traveling salesman that ever rode this train without samples."

This Model Plane Beat Russia

Washington, D. C.—The model airplane which ended Russia's monopoly of the model aviation scene twenty-eight months ago and brought a world's record to the United States for the first time has gone on display in the Smithsonian Institution, where it joins such famous planes as the Wright Brothers' Kitty Hawk, the Spirit of St. Louis, the Winnie Mae, and other history-making craft. R. C. Somerville, left, general sales manager of Plymouth Motor Corporation, is shown above presenting the plane to Paul Garber, curator of the Smithsonian's National Air Museum. Somerville announced that youngsters will have another opportunity to try for world records at Plymouth's Sixth International Model Plane contest at Detroit next August. Details of the contest will be announced soon.

GOOD HEALTH

1. I AM FAT PEOPLE WELL NOURISHED

Answer to Question No. 1:

Overweight is the commonest form of malnutrition. Cravings due to the lack of important elements in the diet, along with emotional maladjustment, lead to much of the over-eating that largely accounts for an estimated thirty million in this country being at least 10 percent overweight. A doctor can help the fat person find a diet that is both thinning and nourishing, and will increase his chances to keep well. Fat people are more susceptible to disease than those of normal weight.

Answer to Question No. 2:

While it is harder to set prices on medical services than on some other services and commodities, many doctors are finding that patients prefer to discuss charges in advance, and know, for example, how much of the bill will be due to x-rays, office visits, electrocardiograph, and so on.

Answer to Question No. 3:

The figurative "pain in the neck" may be dispelled by inducing the in-laws to go home, or taking a holiday from the job. Physical pain in the neck may result from exposure to drafts, and will yield to massage or heat. Some neck pains are caused by disease in other parts of the body. If neck pain persists, consult your doctor.

LAFAYETTE'S GRAVE NEGLECTED BY U. S.

A wrinkled, 55-year-old Paris janitor is proud to consider himself an "honorary" American citizen. But last week Eugene Denis sulked alone in a corner of his dark, dusty apartment, suffering from "disillusionment," says Pathfinder news magazine.

Denis is "garden" at the Picpus Cemetery where the Marquis de Lafayette, the "French Eisenhower" in the days of the American Revolution, is buried beside an American flag.

"I've never been to the States, nor even out of France, but I hear the Voice of America daily, and I've always liked the few Americans I've met," Denis said last week, doffing his black beret and putting on an imitation U. S. Army cap. "But Americans never visit us, not even General Eisenhower—nor General Bradley when he came to Paris several months ago."

Denis, who insists he "must not be confused" with Eugene Dennis, U. S. Communist leader, keeps the Stars and Stripes flying daily above Lafayette's grave.

A VERY SHORT STORY

AFRICA'S SNAKE MAN GOES BACK TO WORK

The most photographed man in South Africa, Johannes Molikoe, was back at his old job in Port Elizabeth Snake Park last week after four years of retirement. In 1947, after 35 years of posing with poisonous snakes for thousands of tourist snapshots, 70-year-old Johannes retired to live on a small pension.

But Molikoe, a widower for 14 years, found retirement a lonely way of life for one who had been so long in the public eye, says Pathfinder news magazine. Recently he married a woman half his age. Last week to earn enough in tourist tips to buy a wedding present and to make a donation to his church, he returned to Snake Park to pose happily with some of his old poisonous friends.

HERE'S NEW IDEA

A new idea for entertaining informally—serve your friends a salad supper, giving them a choice of three different salads. Make one a hearty tuna salad, one a tossed green salad and the third, a combination of cold, soaked peas, pickles and cubes of cheddar cheese. Hot rolls and coffee and hot mince or apple pie finish the meal. It can be served buffet or sit-down, whichever you prefer.

Think About These in 1952

COLLEGE STATION—Farmers of farm families are faced with a challenge for the coming year that must be met through planning for more efficient production. The price of farm products is edging downward, but the prices of materials, labor and other things farmers buy are edging upward. At the same time, more and more agriculture production is being taken care of at home and to meet the demands.

YOUR TRACTOR IS YOUR FIRST TOOL—COME SPRING

Spring work will soon be here again. That tractor of yours will have to be in peak performance to get that extra job done—with new crop goals ahead. Our company trained service personnel are anxious to serve you. Have your tractor and machinery ready for that first day in the field. Call us soon! Be the first to have your tractor "between-season" checked.

GENUINE PARTS
FLOYDADA IMPLEMENT CO.

This situation, says C. H. Bates, farm management specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, calls for careful planning if the present farm living standards are to be maintained. Crop yields must be increased and every job on the farm should be studied for the purpose of cutting down on expenses and labor requirements, adds Bates.

When the farm plans are made, the specialist suggests that they include the use of the highest yielding adaptable crop varieties. Research workers of our experiment stations are continually introducing new and improved varieties of crop and as these are tested and planting seed becomes available, Bates says, substitute them for the varieties now grown. The new corn hybrids and grain sorghums are examples.

He says the most productive part of the farm should be planted to cash crops. If you are in an area of the state where commercial fertilizers can be successfully used, get your fertilizers early and apply them generously. To help make their use even more profitable, he suggests that before the planting season rolls around that soil samples be submitted to the state laboratory for analysis. Local county Extension agents have detailed information on how to take and mail the samples to the laboratory.

Don't forget to include in your production plans, provisions for taking care of your minimum needs. Planting seed should be treated to control seed borne diseases and then follow through with a good insect control program for better yields and quality in the crops, says Bates.

Another mighty important item is timing. Plan your production program for the farm so that peak labor loads can be avoided and so every piece of machinery and equipment can be used to the best advantage.

Finally, the specialists urge the use of good business methods in managing the farm. Farm records are a must. And Bates points out that detailed records should be the basis for making major changes in farm operations or practices. Complete records are also mighty useful about this time of the year for income tax figuring purposes, he adds.

I HAD TO CALL FOR HELP!

- "Come here, Shorty," I said. "They've got me swamped." It's a sight how fast they haul off this good gasoline and one man can't handle the traffic all the time.
- Shorty was glad I called him. He was fixing a flat on one of those big ten hundreds. Anybody that's got one of that kind on his hands, has got his ear cocked for somebody to call him.
- You come on down and let us fill your tank, too. We fill 'em and fix 'em fast and our transport keeps the road hot to the refinery.

Crager Rites Held Friday Afternoon

Funeral rites for A. J. Crager, 83, of Lockney, pioneer business man, were held on Sunday afternoon in the Lockney Methodist church with the pastor, Reverend N. S. Daniel, officiating. Interment was in Lockney cemetery.

Mr. Crager died Friday in the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. M. Johnson of Plainview where he had spent the Christmas holidays. Death was from a heart attack. He moved to Lockney in 1917, where he had a furniture and undertaking business until 1930 when he retired. He was at one time justice of the peace there and was active in the Methodist church and civic and schools affairs.

Highways Face Deterioration, Survey Shows

AUSTIN.—A new breakdown of road user taxes was released this week by the State Highway Department, and close observers quickly pointed out that the revenue is not enough to build and maintain an adequate road system.

During the fiscal year ending August 31, 1951, there was a total registration of 3,321,736 motor vehicles of all kinds in Texas, the department's report showed.

License fees amounting to $53,225,831.38 were paid on these vehicles, and of this amount the highway department received $32,561,756.94, or a little over 60 per cent. The remainder went to the counties.

Collection from the gasoline tax grossed $115,544,686.98 for the period, with $47,187,511.45, or a little over 40 per cent, going to the highway department.

Other sources of revenue for highways in Texas were $29,875,080.00 in Federal Aid and $15,000,000.00 to the farm-to-market road fund from the Omnibus Tax Clearance Fund.

Jack Kultgen of Waco, president of Texas Good Roads Association, emphasized that the total is insufficient for the state's highway needs.

Kultgen cited a recent survey made by the highway department, showing that an additional $5 million for the next five years will be required to bring this state's roads up to standard.

"We face constant deterioration of our highway systems and programs in every state of the nation, and that is increasingly true, Kultgen said, adding:

"Highway congestion and highway accidents are steadily increasing. Roads are dying from obsolescence."

General Ike Ashburn, executive vice president of the association, referred to a statement by General Ernest O. Thompson that in the past four years only 26 cents of the dollar collected from highway users were spent on state highways. The Texas Good Roads Association official observed:

"We must return to the principal that all this money is to be spent on the roads. We now have going to the counties and county governments and to the available school fund many millions of dollars a year. That is a complete misuse of funds collected for specific purposes and used for unauthorized and unaccounted-for purposes."

"All of the highway department's expenditures are clearly accounted for and are examined by several agencies. No such records are kept of the expenditure of state funds allocated to the counties and for which there is no spelled-out report

KEEPING AN INVENTORY TO KNOW WHAT'S FREEZING

A check on what goes in and comes out of compartment.

Do you know what's in your freezer?

Can you tell in a minute? Or does it mean scrounging around, with freezing fingers, in order to plan a dinner menu?

To avoid all this, Willie Mae Rogers, Director of the Home Economics Dept., Admiral Corp., suggests that a running inventory be kept of the freezer contents. It may be conveniently taped to the freezer door, or placed in a nearby drawer.

This list would include data from the labels of home-frozen food—that is, the amount, how it is prepared (cooked or uncooked), and date frozen. Date of purchase should be listed for foods not frozen at home.

Notation should be made when food is taken from or added to the freezer. Thus an appraisal of the compartment requires only a quick glance.

Frozen foods should have a fairly rapid turnover, with leftovers used within a reasonable period of time. Thus the freezer should be a "checking account," not a long-term "savings account."

RELATIVES HERE FOR RITES OF MRS. W. E. NEILL LAST WEEK

Out of town relatives and friends attending the funeral service of Mrs. W. E. Neill on December 28 were Guy W. Renfro, of Los Angeles, California, Bob Roy and R. L. Renfro and Jack Neil of Greenville, Texas, Nugent Renfro of Wichita Falls, J. W. Renfro of Paris, Mrs. Archie Holleman and Clarice Dodson of Trenton, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hogue of Leonard, Texas, Mrs. Harrison Webb of Caddo Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Hobbs of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Switzer and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Thompson of Plainview, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Johnson of Mineral Wells and Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Stiles of Lubbock.

Ice and Sleet

Smith, who have announced a farm sale for Monday, January 7, had to abandon plans for a swing around the area Tuesday and Wednesday as the roads grew progressively more dangerous to negotiate. They expect the week-end to bring better weather and to complete their tour by Saturday night.

At high school Estel Baker, principal, said that whether school buses operate this morning would depend on the judgement of the individual drivers. Attendance at the opening day of school was not much below par yesterday, it was indicated.

At the sheriff's office it was said that they only heard of only two mishaps on the highways as late as 4:30 yesterday. Deputy Alton May said the Highway Safety department had issued warnings to motorists to stay off the highways unless trips were absolutely necessary.

Great Help to Wheat

At the city hall Fire Chief Carl Rodgers, who also qualifies as weather man, melted down the ice and water in his gauge at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and reported precipitation at 74-hundredths of an inch. This will be great for wheat land and is expected to "set" a lot of wheat in the ground so that it can be grazed late in January and February. Temperatures had not reached excessive lows late yesterday afternoon. Coldest today this week was Sunday morning when the gas company thermometer registered 17 degrees.

Wednesday all the rural route men covered some 900 miles of highways and county roads made their route but were several hours late on account of the slick. They were due to attempt their routes again today. G. N. Shirey has the longest route out of Floydada and made all of its 75 miles, he reported when he reached the office shortly before 5 o'clock.

Mrs. John Hopper, who has been ill for the past several months, is much improved and is now able to be out among her friends again.

The 1952 Studebaker Land Cruiser. Principal exterior changes of Studebaker's new models include entirely new front-end treatment, new wrap-around grilles and bumpers, re-designed trunk lid handles and tail lights. The latter, by appearing to be integral parts of the fenders rather than "added-on" assemblies, give the effect of extending the sweep of the fenders and the impression of a corresponding increase in body length. Gravel pads on the Land Cruiser, as well as on the State Commander, convertible and "Starliner," are of new design.

Sandra Jo Carter Neil A. Walton United Wednesday

In a double-ring candlelight service read Wednesday evening by Rev. Guy Killan at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Carter, 201 Sunset Terrace, their daughter, Sandra Jo, became the bride of Pvt. Neil A. Walton of Fort Bliss, El Paso. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Walton of Bushland.

The nuptial space was decorated with bouquets of carnations, flanked by jade trees and branched candelabra holding white tapers. On the mantle was an arrangement of white gladioli.

As a prelude, Mrs. John Warner, pianist, played "Serenade" by Schubert and "Nocturne" by Chopin. Dwight Elliot sang "Because" by D'Hardelot. "Clair de Lune" was played as the vows were being solemnized and the traditional wedding marches were used.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of Chantilly lace over ivory satin. The ensemble featured a bolero jacket encrusted with seed pearls and long sleeves terminating in petal points outlined in seed pearls. The bouffant skirt was accented by scalloped panels. Her full-length veil of illusion fell from a pearl trimmed Juliet cap of ivory satin. She carried a white orchid atop a white prayer book, showered with stephanotis and satin ribbon.

Mrs. Duane Allred was matron-of-honor. She wore an antique gold ballerina-length gown of taffeta shantung. Her veiled hat was of black velvet and she carried a bouquet of Talisman roses.

Duane Allred was best man and ushers were Kenneth Lamph and Jerry Middleton. Candles were lighted by Bill Anderson.

Mrs. Carter chose for her daughter's marriage a pale blue crepe dinner dress studded with rhinestones and crystal beads. Her corsage was of gardenias. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a bronze-colored dinner dress. Purple accessories and a gardenia corsage completed her costume.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony. The table was laid with a nylon net cloth caught at intervals with garlands of maid-enhair fern and gardenias. Miss Martha Sides and Miss Ida Anderson presided at the serving table. For the wedding trip to Mexico, Mrs. Walton traveled in a pink knit suit with purple accessories.

The bride was graduated from Amarillo High School and attended Amarillo College. Private Walton was graduated from Amarillo High School and attended Amarillo College, where he was a member of the Sixth Column. He is in the Army, stationed at Fort Bliss. ## Floyd County 14 Years Ago

(Taken from the files of the Hesperian, issue dated January 6, 1938)

Floyd County enjoyed one of the best, if not the best years, financially speaking, since the depression from 1929 until 1934, according to the annual report made out by the County Agent D. F. Bredthauer, which will be sent to the Extension department. Wheat crop figures were at 4,980,000 bushels and 32,000 bales of cotton estimated raised in the past year.

The first candidate to announce for an office for this year's campaign was Winfred F. Newsome, present county attorney, who is asking for a promotion to the district attorney's office for the 110th Judicial District. Kenneth Bain and Alton Chapman have formally announced for district judge.

Funeral rites for R. H. Conway, 82, Floyd county citizen, were held on Friday afternoon in the Lakeview Baptist Church, with burial in the Lakeview cemetery.

J. W. Chapman left last night for Waco, where he will attend the insurance convention of the Amicable Life Insurance company. Mr. Chapman was awarded the free trip for producing the required quota for the company during 1937.

Mrs. Richard Stovall honored her son, Franklin, on his third birthday, last Thursday afternoon with a birthday party. Fourteen little friends were present.

Miss Amy McRoberts, daughter of Mrs. S. G. McRoberts, became the bride of R. C. Patton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Patton in a single ring ceremony solemnized on New Year's morning at 7 o'clock in her home, with Reverend Vernon Shaw officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Verner Norman were the attendants.

Joan Daily returned home from Altus, Oklahoma, where she has been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Kizzlar.

Miss Elizabeth Ann Hopkins and Keith Arnold were united in marriage on December 26, in San Angelo, in the home of John Sharp with Reverend A. D. Foreman officiating, in the presence of their families. Miss Hopkins is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Hopkins of Miami and a sister of Mrs. Jack Henry of Floydada.

Mrs. Harmon Jenkins of Clovis, New Mexico, has returned to her home after a visit with her parents, Judge and Mrs. Jeff D. Ayers.

The 1938 annual stockholders meeting of the Floydada National Farm Loan association will be held on Tuesday, January 11, it was an-

The children received stockings filled with nuts and fruit.

The gifts from beneath the Christmas tree were presented and appreciated by all.

Visitors present were Miss Leila Petty and Mrs. Luna Bolton. Club members were Mrs. Earl Edwards, Mrs. Roy Fawver, Mrs. L. D. Gollightly, Mrs. Fred Jones, Mrs. J. A. Kencheleoe, Mrs. R. L. Nichols, Mrs. Orvus Shearer, Mrs. H. M. Thomas, Mrs. Paris Wheeler and Brenda and Linda, Mrs. Verlon Wright, Leon and Betty Lou, and the hostess Mrs. Wayne Russell.

Simpsons Grateful To Many Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Mose Simpson are grateful to a great many people, considerable number of whom are unknown to them.

Smoke was still rising from the embers of their pre-Christmas fire at the H. E. Whitaker place when help began to reach them from numerous sources. They were preparing to move to a location they had bought at 228 West Tennessee street when the fire ignited from a gas pipe connection and burned the house they were preparing to leave. All their effects went up in smoke or was ruined.—Kitchenware, furniture, clothing, bedding, silver, household appliances. "It was pretty bad, we thought, but before we got to our new location help had already started to arrive. From that time for days all kinds of things including food and money, continued to arrive until the public had set us up to housekeeping again," said Mr. Simpson. This kind and generous attitude of the public has impressed the couple very much. Their appreciation is broadcast through The Hesperian to unknown as well as known friends.

L. H. Connellee, of Dallas, and Mrs. Aubrey Fawver, of Fort Worth, were among the holiday visitors in Floydada. They were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Connellee. Eugene Connellee, of Houston, also was here with his parents for a few days between Christmas and New Year's day.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Breed and family, of Anson, were here for a short time last week for Christmas, guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brintz Breed.

Mr. and Mrs. Cullen Riley and son, Thurman of Harlingen were here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thurman, last week. Mr. Riley was called to his father, Z. T. Riley, who passed away at Pampa last Thursday, December 27. Also guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thurman, were Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Fulkerson of Amarillo and Mrs. R. J. Rodgers of Harlingen, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Fry have returned home from Midland where they spent Christmas with their daughter, Mrs. Hugh McCullough and family.

Francis Wester and son, Mike of San Diego, California were weekend guests of his uncle, J. C. Wester and Mrs. Wester and other relatives.

Our Twenty-Fifth Anniversary

The firm of Goen & Goen with the beginning of the New Year had rounded out a quarter of a century as a business partnership in General Insurance, Farm Loans and Real Estate. The partnership was entered into on January 1, 1927 a father and son team composed of A. C. Goen and M. P. Goen.

The occasion affords us an opportunity to express to our friends and our customers throughout this area our appreciation of what their patronage has meant to us through the years. Twenty-five years is a short time, as time goes, but the two and a half decades have covered the worst depression in the history of our country, followed by World War II and the inflation of post-war years, so that we have seen both the low and high—so far.

We Want to Express Our Thanks

For your loyal patronage throughout these changing years, and to hope that we may continue to serve you as we enter the new year of 1952. Whatever it may bring in a business way, we want you to know we are anxious to handle your general insurance, farm loan and real estate deals. Our Insurance agency represents some of the best companies in the world, and our farm loans are handled on an efficient basis for the borrower. We deal in all types of farm, ranch and city property in our real estate department.

If we can serve you let us know, and thank you again for the many favors of the past 25 years.

Urged For March of Dimes

Gov. Allan Shiver emphasized the impact of the family, community, and nation in officially designating the period from January 2 to the 1952 March of Dimes. An official memorandum, bearing the Seal of Texas, which was signed December 26, the Chief Executive cited the heavy expenditures of the March of Dimes funds by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in combating four consecutive years of heavy polio infections as a result of these attacks. Governor Shiver's statement, which was read to patients from previous years as well as approximately 100,000 of those stricken during 1951, required financial assistance from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. He can predict when this epidemic curve of polio incidence will subside.

March of Dimes

County chapters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis continue to spend annual sums of money in patient care and health education. During the March of Dimes, its source of revenue, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis requests generous voluntary contributions to continue its laboratory, professional and health care, and patient care program.

The color used in the roof follows the Belvedere's streamlined contours around the spacious rear window and down over the rear deck, giving the car the continental look. ## MarbleSlab Missing from Court House Grounds Is Sought

A marble slab which once graced the front corridor of Floyd county court house is being sought by Sam Thurmon. The slab became the property of Mr. Thurmon when the old court house was dismantled. It bore the names of the builders and architects, who were uncles of Mr. Thurmon.

When Mr. Thurmon left Floydada in the spring to spend several weeks in Mineral Wells for his health the slab was on the ground adjacent to the agriculture building. When he returned home it was not there. Mr. Thurmon planned to put it to use and it also had a sentimental value to him. Among other things it is reminiscent of the days when he was carpenter foreman of the court house construction job. Did you carry it off or know where it is? Thurmon would greatly appreciate its return.

GOOD HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1:

Minor burns are painful and annoying and should be properly cared for. If large areas of skin are burned it is apt to be very serious and sometimes fatal. Then expert medical attention is required. Modern methods and new drugs make it possible to save many who are badly burned. With burns, an ounce of prevention is worth a ton of cure. It is especially important to see that children cannot reach heated grates, hot flat irons, and kettles full of hot fluids.

Answer to Question No. 2:

It is important that the public health service in every community check food handlers in restaurants, groceries, and butcher shops, for they can transmit diseases such as the common cold readily, and possibly more serious diseases. Besides requiring food handlers to have periodic physical check-ups, some communities provide courses where workers are taught sanitation to protect both themselves and customers, as well as care of food to prevent spoilage.

Answer to Question No. 3:

Children still can contract diphtheria, but the disease is largely controlled. In 1921 there were 206,939 cases of diphtheria in the United States as compared with 5,931 cases in 1950, lowest figure of any year on record. This gratifying reduction has been achieved by "shots," better quarantines and greater vigilance of doctors, parents, school nurses, and teachers. For a sore throat, especially in children, consult a doctor. It may be diphtheria.
